Eighteen violent deaths were reported in Eastern Canada during the weekend, a survey by The Canadian Press showed today.

Nine of the victims were fatally injured in traffic accidents. Four persons were drowned and others, including two new born baby girls, died from a variety of causes. Both the infants' bodies were discovered under circumstances indicating foul play and police launched investigations.

The body of one of the babies was found by a workman in a field in the north end of Halifax. Medical Examiner Dr. F. V. Woodbury said the infant had been strangled a few hours after birth by a wad of newspaper jammed into her throat.

At Chatham, boys found the other body in the Thames River. Police said wire was twisted around the neck and part of the body, which was partially decomposed.

The most serious traffic accident occurred at Lavaltrie, Que., 40 miles northeast of Montreal, where Laurent Bailin, 23, and Jobin Chasse, 23, both of Quebec and Dolores Bourgeault, 18, of Montreal, were killed when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a tree. There were no survivors.

Fatally Injured

George Terry, 55, of Brome Corners, Que., and Rosaire Carrier of Mansonville, Que., were fatally injured when the truck in which they were driving struck a tree at Bromo Corners, 60 miles south of Montreal.

At Tralalgar, 20 miles west of Toronto, Russell Brain, 30, of Norval was killed in a car-truck collision, in which six others were injured. Kenneth Campbell, 27, a taxi driver, died of injuries suffered when his cab collided with a truck near Malton, Etobicoke township, near Toronto, four year old George Gordon was killed when struck by a car. Mrs. Rose Dunn, 53, of Detroit was killed near Windsor, when a car driven by her daughter overturned.

Drowning Takes Lives

Drowning took the lives of Gordon Floren, 18, of Toronto at Orr Lake, Ont.; Marguerite Verdon, 23, of Montreal at St. Maurice, Que.; two year old Thomas Martin at New Aberdeen, N.S., and Lyn Kearney, aged 3½ years, of Kingston, Ont., at Severn Falls.

Louis Mountgrain, 55, of Champlain, Que., fireman on a construction train, died of scalding in an engine room accident while the vessel was at Kingston.

Therese Ouillette, 35, of St. Johns, Que., a nurse, was asphyxiated when a small fire broke out in her Montreal home.

Mrs. Sidney Scarboro, 55, of Toronto died after suffering a fractured skull when she fell from a chair on which she was standing on the verandah of her home.

BARD OF WALES

Wearing the traditional emerald green robe and hood of novitiate, Princess Elizabeth, Britain's future queen, is pictured after she had been admitted to the exclusive circle of the bards of Wales at the National Eisteddfod in the South Wales mining town of Mountain Ash. The Princess was given the Welsh title of Elizabeth of Windsor. Twenty-five thousand persons witnessed the initiation and welcomed the Princess with Welsh songs and tumultous applause.

PETERBORO MINISTER DIES

Peterboro, Aug. 12 — (CP) — Rev. Samuel Johnston, 41, minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian church here, died Saturday at Chisholm Lodge, Haliburton, where he was vacationing. Death followed a heart attack Friday night.

Mr. Johnson came to Peterboro less than two years ago from Queen Street East Presbyterian Church, Toronto. Previously he held pastorates at Rockwood and Eden Mills. He was graduated from Knox College, Toronto, in 1937.

Capital Cleavages

By JACK BRAYLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 2. (CP)—Canada's problems are a hobby for John B. MacNicol, perennially youthful veteran Progressive Conservative Member of the Commons for Toronto Davenport, and his latest program embraces vital factors in the economic life of the Maritimes.

Mr. MacNicol, who can take part in any debate in the Commons and recite chapter and verse with a greater personal knowledge than most ministers of the Crown, is going on a motor tour of the Maritimes and Maine.

Seated in his office the other day, his blue eyes sparkling and a happy grin on his face, he traced the route he will follow as soon as Parliament prorogues—possibly August 8.

He wants to investigate the headwaters of the St. John river with a view to estimating conservation possibilities as related to power development. And he also wants to mark the shortest route from the Maritimes through Maine to Montreal with a view to supporting an express highway project which would facilitate the handling of freight between the seaside provinces and the big central Canadian markets.

Mr. MacNicol has been finding out about everything from the Northern Alberta tar sands and prairie irrigation to the Arvida aluminum project and Northern Ontario mining development ever since he first came to the Commons in 1926.

Mr. MacNicol doesn't impose himself on any part of the country and neither does he try to pass himself off as the genius of new movements.

Senate Snickers

A Senate committee was seriously engaged in arguing the Canada Day Bill the other day. Speakers who thought July should be called something else spoke with some passion and those who wanted the status quo spoke in similar vein.

The Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) rose and said he thought the country was fiddling over the whole thing. He thought if Quebec members were so urgently desirous of change in the name, the rest of the country should make its contribution to the benefit of unity.

After all, the whole thing reminded him of a story of a giant Welsh coal miner. One day the miner was crowded in a corner being belabored with a broom by his diminutive wife. Asked why he allowed himself to be subjected to this, the big miner replied: "It please her and it don't hurt ; I." Senator Euler thought the Senate could take a leaf from this philosophy.

PICTORIAL TIES OF 15-YEAR-OLD CATCH ON FAST

Lakeview Youngster's Hobby of Painting Cravats Booms Into Thriving Business

By ALAN VICKERY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, (CP)—"Ah! yes sir, your tie is finished. Was yours the picture you like, cocker-spaniel on it, or was it yellow with the picture of the glamor girl?"

Whatever design you may choose, 15-year-old Marguerite Thorpe of nearby Lakeview will paint it in oils on your favorite tie—and, but good. For this teen-aged kind, kind-eyed youngster has gone into business for herself so that she may earn enough money to go to art school.

Marguerite first gained the idea of hand-painting ties when friends from New York visited her home, and one, an ardent fisherman sporting a natty-designed tie—$10 in New York—asked her if she thought she could paint a fish on one of his ties.

Marguerite agreed to try and the result excelled all expectations. The finished painting showed the fish fighting the line on the water's surface, and the friend was so pleased he rewarded her handsomely.

Young Miss Thorpe decided if one man would pay for a design of his hobby on his tie, others would, and so she started designing ties for her friends, and their friends, until orders started to come from all over the district—Long Branch, New Toronto, Mimico and Toronto. Roller skating clubs frequented a large order with Marguerite for designs of skaters waltzing, in ballet costumes, on winged-skates and various other poses.

Golfers, bowlers, archers, duck-shooters have placed orders too, but one of the most unique orders came for a birthday-gift tie for a returned veteran, who had spent a great deal of his time in England. The result—a dart board with three darts protruding and underneath, a stein of mild and bitter, with frills and all.

Marguerite purchases her ties from Toronto, buying plain colors for the background effect, and then awaits orders from her rapidly growing clientele — which doesn't take very long.

Now in the first form at Lakeview Beach school, Marguerite first showed signs of promise at the early age of six, and her paintings and drawings made in Grade two and up were entered in competitions at the National Exhibition and the Cooksville Fair. The ribbons won are some of her treasured possessions. Her mother shares and encourages her daughter's enthusiasm as she too "dabbles" in oils.

BROCK BROCK

Employment Goal Reached

Washington, Aug. 12—(AP)—In less than a year of peace the United States has topped the so-called "full employment" goal of 60,000,000 jobs, the Census Bureau reported yesterday.

Council Outlines Terms for R.C.A.F. Housing Project

Trenton (Special) — The complete text of the offer made by the town council to a group of local builders in connection with a fifty-house project to assist R.C.A.F. personnel stationed at Trenton to secure accommodation is as follows:—

That this council agrees that the 14 acres owned by the corporation on the east side of Sidney Street be set aside for a housing plan of 50 houses or more to help overcome the serious housing shortage in the town under the following conditions:

1. The air force to supply surveyors to lay lots out 60 by 90, with no cost to the town.

2. Lots to be sold to builders at $50 a lot.

3. Lots to be sold along one street on both sides until the street is filled.

4. At least 50 houses to be completed before winter.

5. The town to supply services on the streets as fast as materials can be produced, and, in this connection, the air force is to assist in getting priorities for the procuring of materials.

6. Until the promoters of this particular housing scheme advise that their project is complete, and no further lots required, the town is to reserve and agrees not to sell lots in the sub-division to anyone else, but, should all lots not be required for this scheme, the town has the right to use any balance to other returned men at the same price of $50 a lot, providing they are prepared to build homes in accordance with those already built.

Car Hits Tree

A car owned and driven by Alan J. Lott of 93 Front Street, Belleville, was proceeding north on Front Street, when near the curve at the Evergreen Cemetery road the driver applied his brakes, which failed to stop the car. The car went into the ditch and then back on the road again striking a parked truck owned by the Bell Telephone Company and driven by John H. Bateman, 15 Albion Street, Belleville. The truck was badly damaged on the left rear fender, frame, bumper and grill. The car was damaged considerably on the grill, bumper, right front fender, axle and radiator.

No Serious Damage.

On Saturday firemen received a call that a chimney fire was in progress at the home of James Moon on Wragge Street. No serious damage was done.

TWO MORE SHIPS

(Continued from Page One)

Adding to the uneasy air was the fact that 24 members of the so-called "Stern gang" were scheduled to go to trial before a military court in Haifa this morning on charges of participating in a raid on the Haifa railway shops June 17. Nine members of the underground organization were killed in the raid.

Jerusalem Like Armed Camp

Jerusalem resembled an armed camp. Additional military guards were placed around government buildings and new barbed wire barricades were thrown up at strategic points.

Violence broke out in the port city of Jaffa yesterday when 5 men, officially identified as Jews, were routed after they exchanged shots with guards during what was described as an apparent attempt to free Jews detained at the government hospital.

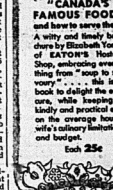
In Jerusalem, a mysterious telephone call saying that a bomb would be exploded in the Palestine broadcasting station caused police to order 100 persons from the building. The area was closed off, but no bomb was located.

On the political front, a leading Jewish newspaper said that federalization of Palestine would be accepted by the Jews only if the plan guaranteed a highly industrialized Jewish economy geared to export production.

REPORT SOON COMPLETED

Ottawa, Aug. 10 (CP)—Report of the Royal Commission on coal will be completed "at an early date," Reconstruction Minister Howe told the Commons today. The minister read a letter from the commission saying that a large part of the report had already been completed and it was expected to finish at an early date. The commission started its investigation early in 1945..

Tuesday Features At C.D.S.



"CANADA'S FAMOUS FOODS and how to serve them"

A witty and timely brochure by Elizabeth Yorke of EATON'S Hostess Shop, embracing everything from "soup to savoury" . . . this is a book to delight the epicure, while keeping a kindly and practical eye on the average housewife's culinary limitations and budget.

Each 25c

C.D.S. Main Floor

Little Boys' Cotton Suits

Boys' sturdy cotton slub wash suits for summer days of play. Practical styling with short sleeves and round collar. Gay stitched fronts with button waist. Colour: powder blue only. Sizes 1, 2 and 3 years in the group.

1.98

Each .....C.D.S. Second Floor

Clearance Of Summer Ties

Men's handsome summer ties in colorful stripes for dress or casual wear. Good quality rayon in cool shades for warm weather. Regular price 1.00

50c

Special, Tuesday, August 13 .....

C.D.S. Main Floor

EATON'S CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES

Everyone likes to Look Smart And Cool These Days

and the one sure way is to have your clothes cleaned the "Modern" way. Our exclusive formula restores the lost color to heat wilted fabrics.

PHONE 2277
MODERN
CLEANERS and DYERS LIMITED
225 Pinnacle Street

"LORNE McDOUGALL WILL HELP ME"

Your best friend is your insurance agent, for he helps you at a time when you need help most.

Bring your insurance problems to us. They receive our prompt, personal attention at all times. Call us today for expert insurance advice. No risk is too large — none too small.

LORNE McDOUGALL INSURANCE AGENCIES LTD.
Belleville's Largest Insurance Office
OPPOSITE THE CITY HALL — PHONE 168

A14-8

√√ It's Double Checked!
SUPERTEST GASOLINE
COSTS NO MORE THAN THE ORDINARY KIND

CLIFF MURPHY
SUPERTEST SERVICE
DUNDAS ST. BELLEVILLE PHONE 1254

JUST A JOCKEY AT HEART

Lanny, wire-haired fox terrier, has no ambition to be a galloping gee gee, such as he sees his master, Jockey Mike Corona, riding. He is happiest when Master Mike lets him don his riding togs and jockey cap, as shown here. Maybe Lanny is angling for a fast and furious ride around the track, astride one of the "big-fellas."

Probabilities

Lake Ontario Region: Wednesday, clear and a little warmer. Low 54, high 74.

Temperatures

Max. M
Today ... 72
One Year Ago ... 84
Weather: Partly cloudy.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 13, 1946

3c Per Copy, 18c Per Week

BRITAIN DEPORTS 1,000 JEWISH IMMIGRANTS

Postmaster General Tells of Signing Letter Of Recommendation

Acted in Good Faith On Behalf of Brandes

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—(CP)—Postmaster General Bertrand said today in the Commons he had signed in 1936 a letter recommending that one William Brandes be granted Canadian naturalization papers.

(The Montreal Gazette said today that Brandes was a Russian agent who had used a Canadian passport to go into Britain for "nefarious activities.")

Mr. Bertrand, Liberal member for Stormont, Cornwall, since 1935, said he had been deceived by the late Aaron Marcovitch who had worked for him in his election campaign and by Brandes himself whose story of being the son of a man naturalized in 1913 seemed "plausible."

"There was nothing but absolute good faith in my behavior," he told the House.

Mr. Bertrand said he had never met Brandes. He had written a letter to the officer in charge of naturalization in Ottawa and decided that the name of Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive member of Parliament sentenced to six years for espionage had been on the same letter.

"I did not know him (Rose) until long after September, 1936,? he said.

Mr. Bertrand said he had come to trust Marcovitch through the latter's efforts in his behalf in the 1935 election campaign. Details Mr. Bertrand had furnished the naturalization officer "had been furnished to me by Marcovitch and Brandes' himself who accompanied his supposed cousin to my office.

These forms showed the number of Brandes' father's naturalization papers obtained in 1911.

"I had no reason to doubt Marcovitch's words as he had always acted properly during the time I had known him.

Marcovitch died Nov. 11, 1944, he said.

The minister gave this as the text of the letter he sent to Ottawa in 1936:

"Officer in Charge of Naturalization,
Parliament Building,
Ottawa, Ont.,
Sir:

"I hereby recommend to you Mr. William Brandes, who is leaving his papers to obtain Canadian naturalization. Mr. Brandes has been living in Montreal ever since he arrived Canada at the age of eight years old. He is employed as professor of, the Hebrew Studies Tax Act, the Special War Revenue Act, the Excise Act, and the Customs Tariff Act. Consideration of the main bill was postponed until today.

At the night sitting, the Chamber completed study of public works estimates and Royal Mounted Police estimates and had discussion on estimates of the transport department.

Shortly after the House rose, Justice Minister St. Laurent announced that because government business had progressed on the order paper the House would be called back at 8 p.m. its session with a private member's bill aimed at changing the name of "Dominion Day" to Canada's National Holiday.

Senate Mute Briefly

The bill, sponsored by Fidèse Cote (L — Matane) and changing the name of the holiday to "Canada Day," passed the Senate early in the session and went to the Commons after the name was changed to "the National Holiday of Canada." Senate amendment had been reported back to the Commons for approval.

The Senate met briefly and gave final reading to two bills sent to it with the House of Commons in the closing days of the session.

Mr. St. Laurent also said the government hoped to be able to introduce, possibly next session, a bill to amend the R.C.M.P. Act as that service in the Second Great War may be counted for pension purposes in the same manner as the First Great War.

(See Insurance Plan)

CHANGING NAME—Page 2

Postmaster General Tells of Signing Letter Of Recommendation

CHANGING NAME OF DOMINION DAY BEING SHELVED

Justice Minister Says Government Business Has Precedence Over Private Member's Bill

By GEORGE KITCHEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 13 — (CP) — A day-long debate on the proposed taxation of co-operatives and income taxation generally, is expected to develop today as the Commons turns to study of the main bill to implement budget tax changes.

Yesterday, the House dealt in short order with five quickly-contentious budget measures relating to the Succession Duties Act, the Income Tax Act, the Special War Revenue Act, the Excise Act and the Customs Tariff Act. Consideration of the main bill was postponed until today.

At the night sitting, the Chamber completed study of public works estimates and Royal Mounted Police estimates and had discussion on estimates of the transport department.

Shortly after the House rose, Justice Minister St. Laurent announced that because government business had progressed on the order paper the House would be called back at 8 p.m. its session with a private member's bill aimed at changing the name of "Dominion Day" to Canada's National Holiday.

Senate Mute Briefly

The bill, sponsored by Fidèse Cote (L — Matane) and changing the name of the holiday to "Canada Day," passed the Senate early in the session and went to the Commons after the name was changed to "the National Holiday of Canada." Senate amendment had been reported back to the Commons for approval.

The Senate met briefly and gave final reading to two bills sent to it with the House of Commons in the closing days of the session.

Mr. St. Laurent also said the government hoped to be able to introduce, possibly next session, a bill to amend the R.C.M.P. Act as that service in the Second Great War may be counted for pension purposes in the same manner as the First Great War.

(See Insurance Plan)

CHANGING NAME—Page 2

Russia Proposes Black Sea Treaty On Dardanelles

Moscow, Aug. 13 — (AP) — Russia announced today she has proposed to Turkey that the Black Sea powers take full authority in drawing up a new treaty governing the Dardanelles and that the U.S.S.R. and Turkey should organize defence of the straits jointly.

The Russian note said the 10-year-old Montreux convention, whereby Turkey was granted the right to militarize the straits, "does not correspond to the interests of security or the Black Sea states and does not in the guarantees conditions preventing the use of these straits with aims inimical to the Black Sea powers."

Istanbul, Aug. 13 — (AP) — Informed sources said last night the Russian note to Turkey on the Dardanelles amounts to a formal demand for bases along the straits. The sources said their administration is a matter for the Black Sea powers only.

Some press reports went far beyond this and said Russia had asked for at least 2,000 acres of land for bases, with which she would control the straits in common with Turkey. Russia also asked for authority to station as many troops there as she desired, to build airfields and to have a fleet of her navy, the newspaper accounts added.

Turkey is expected to refuse the demand categorically, but probably not until after conferring with Britain and the United States.

Molotov Against Delay Completing Italy Peace Terms

Says Future of Trieste Must Be Decided at Once

By WILLIAM R. KING

Paris, Aug. 13 (AP)—Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia today told the peace conference that "Fascist Italy began a tremendous resegregation" but that "does not mean that Italy should be let into importance as a power in the Mediterranean."

Speaking in response to pleas for Italy's democratic future by Premier Alcide De Gasperi of Italy, Mr. Molotov paid tribute to the "anti-fascist democratic forces" in Italy, but said the Soviet people were "scandalized" that the agenda had been provided for Italy's democratic future.

He added, however, that Mr. De Gasperi's views was an attempt to evade the fundamental problems of Italy's democratic resurgence.

"The head of the Italian delegation failed to mention Trieste," he failed to make a single remark against the work of Marshal Tito."

The Russian foreign minister said Mr. Gasperi's suggestion for a years' delay in completing the peace terms, especially with relation to the future of Trieste, "can meet with no support from this conference."

Attempt to Exploit

He said Italy's demand for postponement was an attempt "to exploit divergencies in the views between the Allies," and was based on the hope that "it will be possible to upset certain commitments of the foreign ministers' council."

Mr. Molotov charged that "certain circles" in Italy carry on propaganda and said both countries should "find responsibility as Mediterranean states."

To stand on its feet, Mr. Molotov said, Italy must carry out radical changes. The new Italy must have the support of all nations."

He said the assertions of Mr. De Gasperi were the claims of the old imperialist Italy and not of the genuine new democratic Italy."

Noting that Italy has 1,500,000 unemployed and that Premier De Gasperi's "claims do not represent the true interests of the Italian people, especially in trade and agriculture and Italian economy."

He expressed the hope that "every nation will help in creation of a new democratic Italy."

Praises Yugoslavia

Mr. Molotov paid tribute to Yugoslavia which he said "occupied a glorious place beside the Allies who defeated the Axis."

He said Yugoslavia's claims to Istria "are more valid than those of Italy."

Italy's claims have nothing in common with international justice.

Before the Russian foreign minister mounted the rostrum to open the afternoon session Premier Italian peace plans he complained that delegates had not been provided with copies of the day's agenda.

"The Soviet delegation insists," he said, "that the day's agenda be distributed right now."

State Secretary Byrnes of the United States, presiding, said an agenda had been provided for Italy's democratic future.

He added, however, that Mr. De Gasperi's views was an attempt to evade the fundamental problems of Italy's democratic resurgence.

"The head of the Italian delegation failed to mention Trieste," He failed to make a single remark against the work of Marshal Tito."

The Russian foreign minister said Mr. Gasperi's suggestion for a years' delay in completing the peace terms, especially with relation to the future of Trieste, "can meet with no support from this conference."

Attempt to Exploit

He said Italy's demand for postponement was an attempt "to exploit divergencies in the views between the Allies," and was based on the hope that "it will be possible to upset certain commitments of the foreign ministers' council."

Mr. Molotov charged that "certain circles" in Italy carry on propaganda and said both countries should "find responsibility as Mediterranean states."

To stand on its feet, Mr. Molotov said, Italy must carry out radical changes. The new Italy must have the support of all nations."

He said the assertions of Mr. De Gasperi were the claims of the old imperialist Italy and not of the genuine new democratic Italy."

Noting that Italy has 1,500,000 unemployed and that Premier De Gasperi's "claims do not represent the true interests of the Italian people, especially in trade and agriculture and Italian economy."

He expressed the hope that "every nation will help in creation of a new democratic Italy."

Praises Yugoslavia

Mr. Molotov paid tribute to Yugoslavia which he said "occupied a glorious place beside the Allies who defeated the Axis."

He said Yugoslavia's claims to Istria "are more valid than those

L.W. Brockington Declines Comment On Strike Situation

Hamilton, Aug. 13—(CP)—Leonard W. Brockington, government-appointed mediator in the Hamilton steel strike, today left for Ottawa late last night after a brief visit which included a conference with the Canadian Bound Steel Company of Canada officials. He had been confidals of the United Steelworkers of America, C.C.L., who called the strike in support of demands for a $23.80 minimum for a 40-hour week.

Mr. Brockington declined to make any statement on the strike situation.

Soon after Stpartus unconfirmed reports were circulated that Steico was "preparing to call out of the Hamilton works by boats. The steel firm has piled up a heavy production maintained by the attendance of 1,500 men who remained in the picketed plant 24 hours a day since the strike started.

Meanwhile, police investigated two reports of violence and damage. Neville Lewis, 45, of Hamilton with obstruction, as-sault and damage to property in connection with one of the incidents. He was arrested after G. Carr of Dundas had been taken to hospital to stitch a fance to enter the Steico property.

Also being investigated was the report that three union men that they heard shots on a car they patrolled Hamilton Bay in the U. S. W. A. launch Whisper.

Two Dozen Circuses in Germany Show Signs of Post-War Days

By JAMES DEVLIN

Hartford, Germany, Aug. 13 — (AP) — Without peanuts and pink lemonade, two dozen circuses are bringing some cheer to the civilian population and occupation troops in Germany's drab, ruined cities.

The estimate is that of Mario Mayerhoff, manager of the Althoff Circus playing here.

The young Berlin-born veteran of German circuses before the concentration camps spoke ruefully of hardships under which the circuses operate. On account of bomb damage, few have any wild animals left, which, though, leaves plenty of trained horses.

Food is scarce for both artists and animals. Transportation is a constant problem. Much of the equipment is old and battered.

Yet, the show goes on.

The Althoff circus is typical of the post-war show. On one tent is surrounded by, the usual platters in which the performers eat.

The music is provided by an old Wurlitzer organ. Its calliope growns are vocal, often halting to the accompaniment of relying solely on pantomime.

Most comedy was provided by "Pips," a little fellow who walked on his front feet alone, without a scooter and rode a bicycle.

Horse acts predominated in the one-ring show, including one in which three horses gave themselves a well-balanced ride on a see saw. Cilly Feindt, blond star of the show, rode a horse which danced a foxtrot to "Lili Marlene" and a waltz to "Blue Danube."

TRANSJORDANIAN, IRISH U.N. BIDS ARE SIDETRACKED

Firm Russian Opposition Develops — Afghanistan Tentatively Approved

By CHARLES E. GRUMICH

New York, Aug. 13 — (AP) — The applications of Ireland and Transjordan, which would vote the United Nations were sidetracked today by Russian opposition.

The fourth of yesterday's meeting of the Security Council's 11-power membership committee were Afghanistan and Iceland were given a clean bill out of the first five of the applications under consideration. The committee has scheduled afternoon meetings scheduled for today.

Some quibbling may remain over Afghanistan's request for Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, to withdraw his opposition to a mild reservation. The World Court, which the government agency, also volunteered a memorandum charging the Kabul government had said to be living in Afghanistan.

Ireland Hailed

A controversy in the committee shaped up over the Russian-proposed resolution to admit Albanian and Mongolian Peoples Republics. The U.S. has already tabled during the committee's deliberations information on them, and the bids from Transjordan and Ireland, which have been held up by vetoes in the United Kingdom — and now the Soviet Union.

Soviet representative Andrei Y. Vishinsky told the committee that Russia had no diplomatic relations with either Ireland or Transjordan and would vote against their admission; but he said Russia would not veto it by reserving the right to review their applications later.

Egyptian representative Mahmoud Fawzi entered a formal reservation on Transjordan with a declaration that while Egypt supported the application the government questioned the validity of a treaty of alliance between Transjordan and Britain which doubled that it conformed to the U.N. charter provisions.

He said an openly detailed treaty providing for consultation should undertake certain commitments to maintain international communications and that Britain was contributing to the cost of Transjordan Arab armed forces — declared without prejudice to U. N. membership.

One line of communication in which Britain has a vital interest is the ground-level pipeline from the Kirkuk oilfields in northern Iraq to the Mediterranean, a leg of which passes through Transjordan. Transjordan en route to Haifa.

CIVILIAN LABOR FORCE IN CANADA NOW 4,828,000

Increase Estimated At 290,000 Since Nov. 17, 1945—at June 1 128,000 Unemployed

Ottawa, Aug. 13. (CP)— The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today estimated Canada's civilian labor force, aged 14 years or over—at 4,828,000 on June 1, an increased of 290,000 compared with Nov. 17, 1945.

Corresponding to this increase in potential manpower was an increase of 336,000 in those actually working, and a decrease of 46,000 in the number of unemployed.

The figures were based on a sampling survey which the bureau has conducted in this field in three successive years. Representatives of 25,000 households in 100 different centres scattered across Canada were interviewed to provide material for the estimates.

"It is to be expected that there will be a gradual reduction in the permanent labor force as women and students, who entered the labor market during the war emergency, again resume their normal activities, such as keeping house, and attending school the bureau said.

"Since the end of the war, however, the retirement of temporary wartime entrants into the civilian labor force has been counterbalanced by the influx of ex-service personnel.

The total civilian labor force at June 21 was estimated to comprise 3,732,000 men and 1,096,000 women. Of these, 1,851,000 were in Ontario and 1,223,000 in Quebec. The number actually employed at June 1 was estimated at 4,782,000, an increase of 1,412,000 at Feb. 23, 1946, and 4,368,000 at Nov. 17, 1945. Details of employment between November and June were reported in agriculture, manufacturing, construction, trade and services while there were decreases in forestry, fishing and mining. Transportation and communication was reported unchanged.

The bureau also enquired into the marital status of women holding jobs. At June 1, 1946, there were 1,078,000 married women and 1,027,000 were single, 312,000 were widowed, divorced or permanently separated.

Of the 128,000 persons unemployed at June 1, 108,000 were seeking and 18,000 were awaiting jobs. Of the 108,000 seeking jobs, 33,000 of the total unemployed had been looking for work only a part of the length of time they had been unemployed, 21,000 for periods less than one month; 54,000 one to three months; 30,000 four to six months and 19,000 seven to 12 months.

Based on their most recent civilian job 43,000 of the unemployed had 18,000 were engaged in manufacturing; 14,000 in trade; 13,000 in construction and 10,000 in transportation and communication. There were 28,000 who gave no industrial attachment, including those who had never been previously employed.

Mobs Aroused By Outlawed Radio Riot in Streets

Rioters Stone British Troops Guarding Docks and Police

Haifa, Palestine, Aug. 13 (CP) British today reported 1,000 illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus aboard two troopships while mobs of Arabs were aroused by the outlawed Hagana radio, stoned in the troop-filled streets.

But another 650 illegal Jewish immigrants arrived off the harbor of this half-Jewish, half-Arab port aboard the sloop Empress.

The rioting Jews stoned troops of the British 1st Infantry Division, guarding the docks, and police.

The Hagana radio called on residents of Haifa to "storm the streets" and break the curfew which British authorities imposed when the Jews were being loaded aboard ships for deportation.

From the Arab quarters in Haifa joined in defiance of the curfew. The Arabs, however, limited their disturbances and ventured only outside their own homes.

Called Into Action

Jewish residents of the half-Jewish, half-Arab city streamed down hillside streets toward the docks a few minutes after the last refugees were loaded.

The British, 1st Infantry Division, called into action, quickly threw a cordon around the dock area, but only after nearly 2,000 persons streamed down King's Jewish parallels the quays.

Further breakers, mostly young men, buried stones at police and infiltrated around the entrances to the docks.

The demonstration began, however, only after the troopships had been loaded and got under way.

Approximately 500 illegal Jewish immigrants who had spent 33 days "arrested" were the first to sail this morning.

According to Announcement

The sailing, in accordance with an announcement last night in London that the British government intends to halt all illegal immigration to Palestine and to deport arriving Palestine ports without proper papers would be commenced in Cyprus at some other detention point.

Those aboard the first deportation ship, the passengers from the dingy little auxiliary schooner Empress, arrived yesterday after a trip from southern France.

The refugees were advised by loudspeaker at dawn of their impending transfer to the British troopship Empire Royal and were urged by British officials to go peacefully aboard the Empire Royal, where they were promised fair treatment.

Eire Govt. Considering Legislation To Boost Agricultural Production

By MICHAEL ROONEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Dublin, Aug. 13 —(CP)— The Eire government is considering legislation to strengthen its policy of compulsion in agriculture, but is seeking to establish a voluntary principle first. It will impose no unreasonable burden on farmers.

A white paper embodying the government proposals to show what power will be sought to enable the holdings of defaulters to be taken over by the state is one of the minister of agriculture.

Among other things the board could acquire, operate and erect buildings and plant, and regulate the marketing and export of pigs and pig products.

Babies: Infant mortality in Eire is a "major problem which we must tackle with all our resources," Health Minister MacEntee told the Dail.

The infant mortality rate in 1945 for the whole country was 52 deaths per 1,000 live births and 82 in 1943, but it was still too high, he said.

Mr. MacEntee blamed the death rate on large towns and cities, Dublin, Cork, Limerick and Waterford. Only in these cities did the rate per 1,000 over 10 years last average 104. He said the department was preparing a plan to combat infant deaths. Dublin's three maternity hospitals under which the state would bear 50 per cent of the cost of building and of the capital charges, providing 300 beds, including cots for children, for clinics, for special treatment, for day and night emergency service.

LABOR MINISTER RENEWS SUPPORT OF PRICES BOARD

Claims Wage Increases In Excess of 10 Cents Hour Would be Disastrous to Control

By JACK WILLIAMS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—(CP)—The commons industrial relations committee appeared likely today to buckle down to the job on formulating the opinion which will be the basis of its report to parliament.

Last night the committee concluded questioning Labor minister Mitchell. The minister reviewed his support to the report taken by Donald Gordon price board chairman, that wage increases in excess of 10 cents an hour would probably be disastrous to price control but he said in expressing that opinion he was not stating government policy.

Thus, since the committee started taking evidence last week it had heard two basic views expressed in agriculture, Mr. Gordon and acting finance minister Abbott placing an approximate 10-cent limit on the amount of wage increases price control can stand; and labor organizations arguing in favor of a 15-cent or 20-cent increase to be granted without inflation.

Mr. Mitchell told the committee yesterday he did not think 10-cent present price structure could stand an increase with a 10-cent limit.

A. Accord (CCF—Vancouver East) put the blame on the government's insistence on a 10-cent limit for present industrial unrest.

LABOR MINISTER—Page 2

An hour later, however, the immigrants had made no move to comply, and the British troops boarded the Yagur and forced them to leave the ship.

Refugees Cry "Nazi"

Cries of "fascist" and "Nazi" arose from the refugees during the transfer.

The Empire Royal was equipped with barbed wire cages for the voyage.

A physical examination was given the refugees on the dock before they were taken aboard and found too ill to make the trip to Cyprus would be sent to hospital in Haifa.

The docks bristled with armed troops and armor during the ship-to-ship transfer. All Haifa had been placed under strict curfew beginning at 1 a.m.

Nearly a dozen tank destroyers were among the armor in evidence—the first time they have appeared in this area.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Aug. 13.—(CP)—Synopsis at 7:30 a.m. Eastern Daylight: conditions prevail throughout Northland Lakes region this morning with considerable cloudiness and a few showers. Temperatures are lowered by a high pressure system and the air is cool and bracing. Temperatures will be below normal but the trend will be for warmer weather tomorrow as this air mass moves eastward and a low pressure area in the Prairie is replaced by a south or southeasterly flow.

Coming Events

NEAR WILLIAM R. BROWN (NOT Wednesday, Aug. 14—Public meeting, speaker at Green Chapel, Foster, 8 p.m. Everybody welcome. Rev. Mr. Liberta. Warmest welcome to all.

City and District News

PEDESTRIAN TAKES NUMBER OF CAR

Alertness of a passer-by resulted in the identification of a hit-and-run driver in Belleville on July 14, was riding his bicycle on Front Street when he was struck by a motor car. A pedestrian took the number of the car as the driver allegedly sped away and Constable Hamilton who was investigating the affair.

MOTORISTS SHOULD TRY TO IDENTIFY CARS

Motorists should be more careful. They should, according to the police department, at least try to identify a car before they nearly crash into it.

One of the police cruisers was parked at a spot on North Front St. last night, when it was nearly struck by a motor car. That was a little too close for comfort for the officers, so they accordingly caught up with the erring driver and discovered that the driver's friend had gazed on the wine when it was red.

The couple were brought to the police station where the convenional fines were paid.

STATION CJBQ WENT OFF AIR DUE TO TECHNICAL TROUBLES

Due to technical difficulties, Station CJBQ went off the air about 9:15 last evening. Studio engineers remedied the trouble and the station resumed broadcasting this morning.

PAT McLEOD GIVEN SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

Pat McLeod, no address, was sentenced to six months in jail by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in city police court today. McLeod had pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted theft of an automobile near the Bush Funeral Home on Aug. 6th.

In view of McLeod's lengthy police record, Crown Attorney R. C. Dumond recommended a two year sentence, but the bench deemed six months sufficient with the warning that the next time the sentence would be more severe.

"KNIGHTS OF SATCHEL" TO HOLD EXCURSION

The "Knights of the Satchel," or in other words the Hot Stove League of the Commercial Travellers Association, will sail from Cobourg Wednesday evening at 8:30 on a moonlight excursion with Dixie Belle as the steamer.

The party will embark on one of the Victory Ships and there will be an orchestra, dancing, refreshments, bingo, and entertainment for the ladies.

C.G.I.T. CAMP AT OAK LAKE

The C.G.I.T. camp being held this week at Oak Lake with Mrs. G. Gorman Young of Grafton, Ontario as leader and girls from the Colborne area in attendance is being instructed each evening in swimming and life saving by an official instructor of the St. John Ambulance Society, who, after giving the final afternoon instruction at a school in Grafton, comes on to Oak Lake for the evening. The instructor is a Mr. Warren, a fifth year medical student at Toronto.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ATTEND CONVENTION

Sovereign Great Priory of Knights Templar has just completed a most successful convention in Chatham, Ontario. King Baldwin Preceptory of Belleville was represented by Messrs. E. Davey Diamond, PGM, Sid Sandham, O. G. Alyea, John Willmick, and W. P. Youdale, the last named being elected Provincial Grand Prior of the Kingston-Ottawa District.

SUMMER COLOGNES

RUBENSTEIN
Apple Blossom, Eschaute $1.25

HENLET'S
Country Garden $1.25
ADRIENNE & Co. $1.10
LOTUS $1.35 $2.25
TAILSPIN $2.25
BALALAIKA $1.50

McKEOWN'S
DRUG STORE
Phone 1135
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

FLOOR SANDING
New Floors SANDED and FINISHED
Old Floors RESURFACED and MADE LIKE NEW.
GLEN ELLIOT
186 Dufferin Ave. Phone 2082

Clothing Stolen From Parked Car, Soon Discarded

The clothing shortage for men is having far-reaching effects. In fact, in the future, there may not be safe for a fellow with a passing good suit to appear in public.

Take the case of Gordon Cowell. Last night he parked his car near a railway siding at the Reliance Aircraft plant. Hanging inside the vehicle was a brown suit and a light brown sheepskin coat.

Someone at the present unknown, spotted the clothes, helped himself to his own property and decided a trade was in order.

The car was loaded, on the nocturnal trader, fully intent on profiteering by this method, smashed a couple of windows, reached in, grabbed the suit and shirt — and left his own sheepskin in exchange.

But apparently the shirt and suit were the wrong size, for shortly after Cowie lodged his complaint at the police station the convenional fines were paid.

Marmora Man Pleads Guilty To False Pretences

Pleading guilty to a charge of obtaining under false pretenses, Lloyd Vesterveit was remanded for sentence by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in city police court today. Vesterveit pleaded guilty to two charges of operating a car with faulty brakes. He was fined $5 and costs on each charge and $10 and costs on the second.

Sergeant Douglas Ellis, who investigated the false pretenses charge, stated that Vesterveit had secured a tire and tube from a service station on the pretext that they were for a friend. The amount of the cheque was $23 and the accused had received $3 change. The cheque later was found to be worthless.

On default of payment of the charges laid under the Highway Traffic Act, Magistrate Wills ordered that Vesterveit be sent to jail for seven days on each count, sentences to run consecutively.

Deseronto Legion Branch to Hold Field Day Next Week

The Canadian Legion Branch No. 220, Deseronto, will hold a gala field day on August 21st at Deseronto Memorial Park grounds and this event will be in aid of those who served overseas.

Games, including bingo, will highlight the day and many prizes, such as mantel radio, smoking stand, table lamp and a homemade quilt will be given to lucky winners.

Says Russia Plans Similar A-Tests 'In Measureless Future'

San Francisco, Aug. 13 (AP)— Dr. Semyon Alexandrovov, one of two official Russian observers of the Bikini atom bomb tests, said yesterday that Russia planned to hold similar tests and that the observations at Bikini would be helpful.

Asked as to how soon Russia would hold the tests, Dr. Alexandrov said, "in the measurable future."

Then, with a chuckle, he added that the Russians would invite one American reporter to the tests. That, he said, was the number of Russian correspondents invited to Bikini.

Dr. Alexandrov was among 21 United Nations observers from 11 countries including Canada who arrived Sunday aboard the U.S.S. Panamint. Twenty-two Russian scientific observers also were aboard.

PURE SPICES
Fresh and Fragrant
PAROWAX
ALUM
PARKES CATSUP FLAVOUR
FRUIT KEPE
MENBA
MENBA SEAL
SALICYLIC ACID
JAR RINGS
GEEN — DRUGS
Motorcycle Delivery

Huff Family Will Hold Reunion At Kent City, Mich.

Allan Miller History will be made in Kent City, Michigan next week when eleven members of the Huff family, who are now scattered parts of the U. S. and Canada, will meet and probably shift last family residue.

The entire group with an age range of 33 to 78 years will be in Kent City to celebrate, what the Huffs claim is a first gathering before has the entire family been together in the time.

Two members saw each other for the first and only time in 1916; five members are over eighty years of age and there has not been a death in the eleven Huff family in 56 years.

Mrs. Florence L. Post of Clarkdale, Hastings county and Miss Minnie A. Huff of Orange Beach Alabama are the only members of the Canadian members of the family who will attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walsh of Toronto spent the week end with friends in this vicinity and at Wesley Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Les McKeown visited Mr. and Mrs. F. McKeown on Sunday.

Mrs. Fred McKeown spent Wednesday with Mrs. Arthur Reid.

Mr. Chas Wellman entertained the ball team to a picnic on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons is visiting his brother Milford and Mr. John Lain.

Friends in this community were shocked to learn of the death of Mr. Arthur McComb at his home in Beresford, Manitoba. He was found by neighbors on the road, having been killed by an animal. He was a son of the late Wm. McComb.

Mr. Cecil Howe spent a few days with friends in Cobourg, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood, Peterborough spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wood.

LABOR MINISTER

(Continued From Page One.)

Does Not Agree

"I wouldn't agree with you," Mr. Mitchell replied, "that the utter disregard of the regulations established for the control of prices by a group of organizations deliberately circumventing the regulations is one of the worst things. They are saying: 'One law for him and another for me.'"

Mr. MacInnis said a pattern of 15-cent increases had been set and it was too late to say increases could not exceed 10 cents.

"Nobody in this committee has said 10 cents is maximum," Mr. Mitchell said. "If we are going to take the lid off we have to our eyes wide open and not do it by subterfuge."

Studies Is Merited

Replying to Cecil Merritt, V.C., Conservative member for Nelson, Mr. Mitchell said that while it now was the government's policy to continue price and wage control he could not say what the policy would be six months or a year from now.

"If the nation goes on a rampage there is not much you can do about it," he said. "The whole thing relies on the self-discipline of Canadian people."

At last night's session the matter of wage differentials in various parts of the country came under discussion from two points of view, Angus MacInnis, C.C.F.-Cape Breton South), referred to rates at the strike-bound Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., Sydney, N.S., being five cents lower than in Ontario plants.

He asked whether it was government policy to maintain such differentials between sections of Canada. Mr. Mitchell said the War Labor Boards were organized on a provincial basis and it was a matter in their jurisdiction.

Mussolini's Body Is Discovered, Two Monks Held

Milan, Italy, Aug. 13—(CP)— Police announced today that two monks were taken into custody in investigations following the discovery of the body of Benito Mussolini. Soldiers April 30 found an unmarked grave in a potter's field here, in a trunk at a Fascist monastery. Three laymen also are held.

The two monks held were identified as Padre Alberto Parini and Padre Vito Zucca. Police said the three laymen previously taken into custody were Lucial Domenico, Antonio Faronzi and Fausto Gasparini.

Padre Alberto, a monk at Sant' Angelo Dei Minori Monastery, had confessed yesterday to police where the body was hidden, He said that one of the laymen had disclosed the secret to him at confessional. He said he had been released from his pledge to secrecy on the confessional and could tell what he knew.

The other monk, Padre Enrico, was first questioned several days ago in widespread rumors here as knowing where the body was located. However, police said he denied this knowledge when questioned by police yesterday.

Pistol Packin' Parson Shoots Bottom Out of Canoe When Dispatching Lunge

This is the story of the pistol-packin' parson, and the snake which he shot in the bottom of a kallong. Alas, Mirada is now deceased—and thereby hangs his tale.

According to a story from Gilchrist Island, Florida, and about to shove off in his canoe, on a personal fishing trip, when from the inside of the craft stepped a tall gaunt figure, a full-blown Big Miss Mississippi, the while collet of the minister, try.

The guide stared, first at the tall sombre-looking man, then at a bulge apparent over his left chest. He could not be, he thought "some one is disguise short to women as a fish."

The preacher humbly asked if he could go along for the ride. The guide consented, and they took off.

A half-hour later, not a word had been spoken. The passenger sat in the bottom. The guide became uneasy.

Then came the strike.

Still that tall gaunt figure in the other end of the canoe made no movement, now twenty minutes later a huge fish was floundering in the bottom of the canoe. It was Mirada Big Mississippi Muskie.

She took a quick look at the silent figure in the front of the craft and figured thinks looked pretty bad. Maybe a case for a wedding. So she objected quite strenuously.

But the guide had other ideas.

Harmony, Reciprocity, Good Feeling Important in Realm Of Commerce Rotary Club Told

Principal A. Stephenson of Lima, Peru, Special Speaker at Luncheon

Important changes that have replaced the old system of doing business in Latin America, the forging stronger business and industrial ties between the countries of that area and the United States and Canada, Principal Stephenson, of the Lima Academy of Basic English, Lima Peru, told members of the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon meeting today.

Speaking to the Rotary Club of its weekly luncheon he said that such things as harmony, reciprocity, good feeling and understanding were important in the realm of commerce and commercial relations.

"The South American politicians and diplomats have learned a great deal at the many conferences they have attended and there has been, during the past few years, a constant stream of politicians, business men etc. etc. going to and coming from Canada and the U. S. A. carrying and bringing with them pledges of friendship, mutual tolerance and integrity, and there is an increasing understand and appreciation of each other's particular problems and mentalities."

Chinese Warned

Principal Stephenson warned the diplomen against the unfortunate habit of misinformed foreigners with South America of thinking and are deceived that the natives are inferior. Certain historical, geographical climatic, economic and other factors have had their impress on the patterns of life on the South American continent, and the fault that there are sectional differences in customs, habits, likes, language and dress, in addition to racial prejudices.

The principal kind of postwar foreign business and executive will be needed, he stated and he urged that the Chinese bear in mind that the new problems and the new conditions created there cannot be met by old ideas and methods. They need a fresh point of view and a new orientation in business procedures. He must dedicate and will have to capitalize on whatever specialized training he can get, including the study of cultural interchange. He must have knowledge of the language of the country to which he is assigned, for only then will he have now assumed new and special responsibilities, and the future plans of the actual government for commercial, industrial and trade development, are extensive and important. Peru, he went on, has very important and manifold natural resources, her most important characteristic being that she can develop a large number of varied industrial activities at the same time. She has no "king" product as Cuba, Bolivia, Venezuela and Chile. This is a guarantee as well as as an advantage in all those willing to invest their money in that country. Well-meaning and enterprising capitalists and business men are always given a hearty welcome there.

Touching upon the subject of harmony in Peru, Principal Stephenson said that public industrial unrest was giving way to a more practical footing than before. The study of the English language has propagated extensively. Courses of the Inter-American Association of the Professors of Languages and Literature, Peruvian Associations in Arequipa and Lima.

Ambassador Is Guest Flytar.

He was very enthusiastic about flying in Peru, especially in regard to the Peruvian International Airways. He predicted that within the next few months there will be established a direct air service between Canada and Lima and specially designed planes will be ready to take Canadians with all speed and comfort from the Canadian centres to the Peruvian capital and vice versa. The government of Peru, he said, had given an agreement on March 15th of this year.

CHANGING NAME

(Continued from Page One)

He disclosed that it was intended to increase the strength of the force, now 2,464, by 690 as suitable manpower is available, and explained that 200 of the new men needed have so far been enlisted.

It also was planned to have H. C.M.S. coastal craft operate on the Great Lakes as well as on the coasts and a three-man harbor craft will be established at Cornwall, Kingston, Sarnia, Sault Ste. Marie and Owen Sound. Coastal patrols generally, which were suspended with the beginning of the war, were being reorganized and extended, the Ranger maneuvers and Fairmiles

The R.C.M.P. ice breaker Wolfe was being re-established and five aircraft already had been obtained.

Transport Minister Chevrier told the House Wednesday, consideration of his estimates that nothing would be done about the establishment of free ports until an interdepartmental committee, representative of the transport, trade, reconstruction and finance departments, had completed its study of the matter.

Obituary

LATE MRS. ANNIE FLEMING

The funeral for the late Mrs. Annie Fleming was held from the Grant Funeral Home, North Front Street on Saturday afternoon, Rev. C. Amos of Bridge Street United Church conducting the service in the Funeral Chapel and also the last rites at the graveside in Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were David Fleming, Ernest Fleming, Ross Fleming, Volney Richardson, Alfred Symington and Ernest Hall.

MRS. MARY LONILA DESHANE

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Lonila De Shane was held on Monday afternoon from the home of her son-in-law, Albert Hall, 324 Albert Street in the presence of a large number of immediate relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. C. Amos of Bridge Street United Church officiated at the service in the home and at the graveside, interment being in Albury cemetery.

Pall bearers were Fred Carscallen, Clinton Cleman, Edward Hall, Clarence Hall, Howard Hall and Ernest Hall.

WILLIAM ALBERT LONT

After an illness of ten years, William Albert Lont, a well known resident of Ameliasburg, resident of Ameliasburg died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert Hall, late Monday afternoon. He was born at Carrying Place, 81 years ago, being the son of the late Joseph and Mrs. Lont and has resided in the community for 81 years and was formerly resided at Carrying Place. He took a very active interest in municipal matters in his younger years and served on the township council for many years being deputy reeve in 1906. He was a member of Ameliasburg United Church and took an active interest when health permitted.

Surviving are his wife, one son of Ameliasburg, two daughters, Mrs. Etta Hall of Albury and Mrs. Aletha Fox, Ameliasburg, one grandson Gerald Hall and granddaughter Marie Lont, also his wife the former Mary Ella Humphrey predecessed some years ago.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this issue.

LATE LYLE J. CURTIS (Tweed)

Tweed — Lyle J. Curtis, who was instantly killed in a car accident on Highway 62 was born in Madoc Township 21 years ago, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Curtis. He has resided in Tweed for the past five years and previously lived in Madoc. He enlisted in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment two years ago last March and served overseas in Italy and Germany up for Pacific duty but was not called for. He is a member of St. John's United Church and attended Madoc and Tweed High Schools.

Surviving besides his parents are two brothers, Ross of Centre of Peterboro and Charles Curtis of Tweed.

The funeral was held from Bush Funeral Home, Tweed, on Monday afternoon, the Rev. A. L. Sisco conducting the service. There was a large display of flowers, interment being made in White Lake cemetery. The bearers were Everett Moorecroft, Kinnear Kellar, Richard Jones, Milton Elliott, Everett Boldrick, and Arthur Monds.

ALEXANDER McCURDY (Stirling)

West Huntingdon—Alexander McCurdy, a highly respected resident of Huntingdon township died suddenly early this Tuesday morning at his home when he was stricken with a heart attack. He was in his usual good health on Monday doing the regular routine of his farm. His was born at West Huntingdon, 53 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan McCurdy and his life spent there he took an active interest in the social, municipal and church life of the district. He was a member of the West Huntingdon United Church and served as chairman of the Board of Stewards. He was much interested in community welfare. Surviving are two sons and one daughter, Mrs. Ross Hall, Stirling all at home; three brothers, Ross of Stirling, Jonathan of Toronto and George of Stirling and two sisters Mrs. Ray Humphrey of Consecon and Mrs. Ida Wilson of Stirling.

Lying-in-state at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ross Hall, Stirling, from where the funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon with Rev. Steven Abbey Church of Stirling officiating.

BIRTHS

DESJARDY—At Belleville General Hospital, on Aug. 10th, to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Desjardy, (nee Ruth Avery), a son.

DEATHS

McCURDY—Suddenly early Tuesday morning, Aug. 13th, 1946, Alexander McCurdy, West Huntingdon, aged 53 years.

LONT—At the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert Hall, Ameliasburg, on Monday, August 12th, 1946, William Albert Lont, in his 82nd year.

IN MEMORIAM

LANG—In loving memory of Mary Ann Lang, who passed away on Aug. 13, 1941.
Long years have passed and gone,
Memories fade but never die,
Upright and just, to the end of her days,
Kind
Sincere and true, in her heart and ways.
Always remembered by husband, J. Lang.
Always remembered by daughter, Mrs. Eugene Rogers.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Noble A. Church wish to thank the Rebekah Chapter for floral tributes and kindness during the illness and death of our husband and father.
Mrs. Church and family.

Vita-Ray
LIPSTICK & ROUGE
REDUCED IN PRICE
The regular $1.35 size now sells for 75c
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138
Motorcycle Delivery

DR. WALTERS
Will be the Doctor on Duty
WED., AUGUST, 14th
NECESSARY CALLS ONLY
PHONE 1270

Know the future — Consult
MADAME CLEO
Handwriting Expert
Palmist Card Reader
22 Station St.* Phone 2323M

DR. BRADT
IODIN RATION TABLETS
$1.50 bottle
GEORGE PAULEY
DRUGGIST PHONE 185
We Deliver

SELDON'S
DRUG STORE
WILL BE OPEN WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON
and
EVENING
UNTIL 8.00 P.M.

Angus McFee
JEWELLER LIMITED
SINCE 1860
TERMS IN ACCORDANCE WITH WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD REGULATIONS

Mayor Follwell Ready to Defend Trophy at Fair

That man's here again!

Today Mayor Frank Follwell, fresh from his track victory over Deputy Aaron Bald wits of Cornwall, in the recent 100-yard dash at the Mayors' Limpic Stakes, and proudly carrying the Ontario Mayors' Championship Cup, issued a challenge to any chief magistrate in the province to compete with him for the trophy in a 100-yard dash to be held in the Fair Grounds here on September 12th.

The race, if the challenge is accepted by any municipal head will be one of the features attractions during the last day of the Belleville Exhibition, Secretary Eric Denyes said today.

There are no conditions to the race which will be run in heats, the only requirement to mayors weighing over 350 pounds, stripped. In fact they will be permitted to wear outboard motors.

Manzanza, on the northeast coast of the Dominican Republic, has felt the full force of the devastating earthquakes which shook the country. Many buildings which withstood the previous shocks, crumpled during the 40-second tremor. Devout natives, led by a priest, CENTRE, gather together to pray for deliverance. At LEFT a man holds an infant in his arms during the service.

For four days the all-Jewish city of Tel-Aviv was occupied by some 20,000 British troops who clamped a curfew on the city while they searched for hidden caches of arms and clues to the perpetrators of the bombing of the King David Hotel in Jerusalem. Breaks of two hours and another, of 2½ hours were permitted each day to allow the residents to buy food and provisions. The photo at RIGHT was made during such a break. People are buying milk brought in from farmlands outside the city. At LEFT, the end of the four-day curfew brought huge crowds into the streets as they shopped for what they could, when no stores would be open.

TWEED

Tweed Lodges Attend Annual Memorial Service

Tweed, Aug. 13 — On Sunday Tweed Subordinate Lodge No. 290 Independent Order of Oddfellows and Tweed Rebekah Lodge No. 2 met for their annual Decoration and Memorial service. Visiting members were present from Stirling, Madoc, Springbrook, Thomasburg, Havelock, Cantons from Belleville, Trenton, Stirling were present also.

The members gathered at the hall and headed by the High School bugle band marched to Victoria Cemetery.

The Salvation Army Band played a number of hymn tunes while the flowers were being placed on the graves.

A memorial service was held after which flowers were placed on the graves of the following Rebekahs in Memorium. "Gone but not forgotten" Sister Cessation, Logan, Addie Huyck, Eleanor Bartlett, Nettie Graham, Edith Bennett. Bro. Robt. McGuire.

Buried Elsewhere: C. Davis, Annie Thompson, Fannie Wells, Edna Backus, Mercy Bradshaw, George Bradshaw.

The Oddfellows assisted by Brothers Dr. Beatty and Percy Holland of Madoc conducted their Memorial Service and placed flowers on the graves of the following deceased members:

Brothers John Stokes, Sr., Robt. Maguire, Wellington Hardy, Norman M. Lloyd, Charles Moon, J. O. Molyneaux, David Beatty, F. A. Bartlett, John Ray, Lyman Godfrey, John Pratt, James H. Clare, Sidney Christie, J. J. Wilder, J. W. Logan, James Thompson, John Marsden, Wm. McCammon, J. W. Easterbrook, Jas. Holdcroft, E. R. Huyck, W. G. Arber, Ford Elliott, J. F. Stokes, Jr., Dr. W. M. Mather, C. F. Varty (Temple Lodge man), Joseph Mills, J. J. Bartlett, F. Hoskins, Austin Francis, J. L. Newton, T. S. Rath, W. E. J. Leal, Thos. H. Slush, (Buried elsewhere) W. T. Hinds, Charles Shaw, Charles Porter, Louis Dunbrusky, Thos. Watson, W. C. Benn, Dr. R. C. Kindred, W. H. Rollins, William Way, Dr. J. A. Thompson, George Bradshaw.

MARMORA

Legion Members Observe Annual Decoration Day

Marmora, Aug. 13—The annual Decoration Service and decoration of graves in the two Marmora cemeteries was carried out by Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion on Sunday afternoon. Stirling band was in attendance. The fall in took place at the new Legion headquarters with about seventy of the ex-service and service personnel on parade. Major Percy Gray was in charge with Comrade Albert Bartlett acting as Standard Bearer. The public school grounds were first visited where a service was conducted by Rev. J. M. Brownlie, assisted by Rev. C. H. Ball and Rev. O. J. McPherson. Mrs. L. R. Rundle was pianist for the occasion. Following the singing of "Abide With Me" the invocation was offered by Rev. R. O. Hall, Rev. O. J. MacPherson followed with the reading of the 14th chapter of St. John's Gospel. After the singing of "O God Our Help in Ages Past," Rev. J. M. Brownlie gave an appropriate address and pronounced the benediction.

The parade then proceeded to the Sacred Heart cemetery where an impressive address was delivered by Rev. H. J. Farrell and twenty-seven graves were decorated. "Last Post" and Reveille were sounded by Comrade G. Brooks, who later performed the same duty at the Protestant cemetery and at the Memorial Hall. At the Protestant cemetery the graves of fifty departed comrades were decorated. Returning to the Memorial Hall, wreaths were placed beneath the two memorial tablets by Capt. R. J. Scott and Comrade L. R. Rundle.

Black Preceptory Attends Service

Marmora, Aug. 13 — Golden Star Royal Black Preceptory No. 746 held a church parade to St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday afternoon. The line of service being deferred one hour so as not to clash with the Legion parade and dedication service. Sir Knights of the following preceptories were in attendance as visitors, Wellmans 97, Frankford 631, Havelock 946, Eldorado 1005, Peterborough 261, Foxboro 383. The Grand Master of Ontario East, Right Worshipful Sir Knight H. Holden of Peterborough, was present while another noted visiting Sir Knight was Dr. W. J. Stevenson of Belmont Manitoba. Orange lodges represented and were Marmora L.O.L. 319, Springbrook L.O.L. 442, Wellmans' Corners L.O.L. Tanner L.O.L. 509, Nickle L.O.L. 385, and Foxboro 383.

The Spencer Klitts Band was in attendance, and the main streets were paraded from the Orange Hall to St. Andrew's. At the church members of St. Paul's choir joined with those of St. Andrew's and led in the singing of familiar hymns. George Woodhouse sang "The Old Rugged Cross." Rev. E. M. Cadigan who officiated, spoke on the life of Joseph from the text "Behold this dreamer cometh." A special offering was taken for the missionary funds of the church. On the return parade to the Orange Hall a pause was made at the Memorial Hall for the Grand Master to deposit a wreath there after which Rev. E. M. Cadigan offered prayer and a two minutes' silence was observed. On return to the Orange Hall short appropriate speeches were given by visiting Sir Knights. Over one hundred participated in this parade.

Personals.

Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Smith and son, Peter, of Belleville, visited Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Brownlie on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Leavitt of Wellington were the guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Brownlie on Thursday and Friday.

Miss Elaine Gehan of Tweed is visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Byrnes.

Misses Vera Nayler and Betty Monahan of Peterborough spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Nayler.

Miss Mary Murray of Toronto has been spending a vacation at her home here.

Mr. Michael Sweeney of Ottawa is visiting Mr. James E. Gehan.

Mrs. S. McQuaig of Smiths Falls spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Corrigan and family are visiting relatives in Kingston this week.

Mrs. Jack Fobert of Toronto is spending the week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rice at their Crowe Lake cottage.

Rev. and Mrs. Claude A. Winters of Brockville spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Winters.

Mr. Wes. Richardson of Toronto spent the weekend with Deloro friends.

Miss Viona Bartlett of Hybla spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Walker.

Miss Iris Hannah of Peterborough spent the weekend at her home here.

Guests at the Royal Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nies, Buffalo, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maseer and son, Paul, of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

News was received by relatives here on Saturday of the death of John Quinn of Campbellford, a native of Marmora township. The funeral was held in Campbellford on Monday morning.

Stirling

Stirling (Special) — Miss Alice O'Donnell of Toronto, is holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Donnell.

Mr. Ed. Warren, of Marmora, visited at the home of Mrs. Michael Shea over the weekend.

Mrs. Harold Maker spent the weekend in Marmora visiting her mother Mrs. M. Crawford.

Mr. James F. Day of Trenton, was in town on Thursday evening.

Members of the Grace Tabernacle enjoyed a picnic at Crowe Lake on Friday.

Stirling district suffered a severe thunder storm on Friday night. One house on Edward St. reports the lightning was conducted into a bedroom, via a dresser lamp, causing the lamp to be ruined and marking the dresser. This was accompanied by a blue flame and a blazing noise which gave the occupant a severe fright.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Duff and family of Toronto, are spending three weeks with Mrs. Duff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Spry.

Mrs. Edward Gorman and infant son Peter returned home from the Campbellford hospital on Monday.

Miss Molly McAvoy is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ryan of Glen Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Warren and Mary Jean of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wannamaker Sr., of Eldorado, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wannamaker last week.

Mr. Jim Montgomery, of Toronto, is the guest of Mr. Douglas Wannamaker this week.

Mrs. Ivan Thain and Garnet and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eggleton attended the Old Boys' Reunion in Madoc last week.

Mr. Louis Genore and Michael Courneyer of Stoco, were in town on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Shannon of Reid, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. Forrestall.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin are on vacation this week and enjoying a motor trip through the Georgian Bay district.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howard of Smith's Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Conley of Madoc called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hulin last week.

Miss Grace Osborne, of Bronte, Ont., spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Spry.

Miss Rosa Spry of the staff of the local Hydro office is on vacation this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Skinner and family of Toronto are spending three weeks with Mrs. Skinner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kerr.

Guests of Mrs. Nora Wescott and Mrs. Nina Morton, Oak Lake are, Mrs. N. Fox and Miss Sadie Fox of Pontiac, Mich; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Harsden of Detroit, Mich, and Mrs. M. Farrell of Toronto.

Mr. Frank Sarles of Henry St., reported the theft of 40 chickens last night.

IVANHOE MISSION BAND

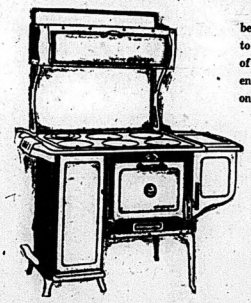
Ivanhoe Mission Band held their August meeting in the form of a picnic on Saturday afternoon. A short Worship service was conducted by Doris Twiddy. The Scripture lesson was read by Eleanor Reid. In the absence of the Secretary, Wanda Reid read the minutes of the last meeting and the roll was called showing an attendance of ten present. The World Friends were given out and the collection was taken amounting to 55 cents.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Recreation followed with the singing of some songs and by playing several games. Later everyone gathered in a circle and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

ohoreaflooiwo

DON'T DELAY
IF YOU WANT A
RECAPPING OR VULCANIZING
Job done, because due to the shortages of materials, if you put it off you may be disappointed
UPTOWN TIRE AND BATTERY SERVICE
382 FRONT ST. PHONE 2288

If your hobby is making things!
DONNACONA HARDBOARD
You can make it quickly, easily and economically with Donnacona Hardboard. Donnacona Hardboard is easy to saw, nail and apply—will not split or crack and is highly resistant to moisture. It will take any finish desired or can be left in its own smooth attractive surface. There are several types —ask for information.
ARTHUR A. SILLS
285 COLEMAN ST. PHONE 1584

BE WISE—LOOK AHEAD!


Due to steel strikes, coal strikes, etc., there will be a definite shortage of sufficient stoves and heaters to go round this fall. We have just received a portion of next fall's allotment of stoves, in white and ivory enamel finish, and we strongly urge you to buy at once. Delay might mean real disappointment later on.
BUY NOW AND BE SURE OF YOUR STOVE!
The New PRINCESS PAT
The Princess Pat has a reputation second to none. Oven 18" wide, 20" deep, 11" high. Oval fire box 16" deep, 10" wide and 16" long. With end linings removed and wood bottom grate in, gives you a firebox for wood burning 25" long, 10" wide and 12 inches deep. Beautifully highly polished top with six 9-inch covers. Top in sections to prevent warping, front section lifts. Five-gallon copper reservoir. Blue polished steel body electrically welded, ivory enamel panels and high closet. CHOOSE YOURS TODAY.
$88.35
CHRISTIAN'S ELECTRIC & HARDWARE
210 FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE PHONE 820

DON'T MISS THE GIGANTIC AUGUST FUR COAT SALE
NOW GOING ON AT DELANEYS
Exclusive Furriers
17 CAMPBELL ST. OPPOSITE Y.M.C.A.
GREAT SAVINGS UP TO 50%

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
Regular Established 1861 Semi-Weekly Established 1870
Published Daily by the
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, LIMITED
Ottawa, Ontario.
Subscription Rates:
By carrier in Ottawa, 15c a week; $3.25 for six months; $6.50 for one year.
By mail in Canada, $3.25 for six months; $6.50 for one year.
By mail in U.S.A., $4.50 for six months; $9.00 for one year.
Member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association
Member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations
Newspaper Rights: The publication(s) entitled to the use, for republication, of all the local news published in the newspaper(s) in which this notice appears, as well as all AP news dispatches.
All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

Telephone Anniversary

In seventy years the telephone has conquered worlds that Alexander the Great never dreamed of conquering. In the course of time the telephone was to come. It had to await the appropriate time, with a world waiting for the connecting link that would tie continent to continent and the earth to planes flying in the stratosphere.

On August 10th., 1876, Professor Alexander Graham Bell at Paris, Ontario, stood at the lower room in Robert White's boot and shoe store and listened to a one-way call put in by his father, Alexander Melville Bell, in the old Dominion Telegraph Company's office in Brantford, eight miles away. Earlier in that momentous week there had been successful telephone conferences over shorter distances and earlier in that year, on March 10th., the inventor had successfully transmitted some words from one room to another within the same building in Boston, Mass. But the Paris-Brantford call was the first long distance transmission.

The place in Paris, Ont., where the first long distance transmission was heard was marked on Saturday by a plaque to commemorate this event which will be a herald of the great networks of telephone lines in nearly every part of the earth. Today there are telephones in airplanes, which is just one instance of the great change which has come through the success of this invention taken up by another invention — the plane. A whole new world in social life and science has been opened up with the telephone. The spark under Graham Bell's idea had the germ of multitudes of discoveries and inventions wrapped up within it, making the way easy for the inventors of yesterday, today and of the future, with ever modern applications.

Two men, now aged, one of them who took part in the experiment when a boy of fifteen as telegrapher and another who was a listener in the early experiments were given a place at the dedication of the plaque Saturday. To most persons the telephone is something they have always had access to and it is natural that it would seem impossible that so great an advance should have been made in the telephone as has taken place since 1876 on that day in August when the first long distance message passed over a wire. The time seems long ago but that great scientific achievement took place within the memory of people still living.

Nearly Perfect

Canadians cannot go far wrong in planning according to "Probs" for an analysis of weather in July for seven cities in the Dominion showed forecasts, 95 per cent correct, according to the officials of the Meteorological Division of the Federal Department of Transport. In that month Victoria, B.C., reported weather was exactly according to the predictions. Toronto, Ottawa, Edmonton and Winnipeg had only one off-prediction. Such results will give assurance in the exactness of today's forecasting. During the war collection of exact data was a paramount necessity for the services and it was raised to a high standard of service. People of today are profiting by the thoroughness of this "science" developed during the war.

It used to be said at times that "Probabilities" were quite often astray. But now that cannot be said. Modern weather-forecasting is a valuable aid to the observer of nature who is able to tell in a general way what is to come. The modern system gains exactness through scientific measurement and the collection of a vast amount of figures and a complete survey of the atmospheric conditions over Canada and the United States.

Man is not able to make the weather bend to his whims but he now knows what is coming a day or two ahead and often more than that and can take advantage of it.

Nature Changes Arctic Industry

Dr. Max Dunbar, acting consul for Canada in Greenland since 1941, has arrived at McGill University to become assistant professor of geology and bring a story of research work carried on in Greenland and of a temperature change off West Greenland.

This change has been caused by a startling change in the Gulf Stream and eddy currents with the result that the whole economy of West Greenland has been changed from hunting to fishing, codfish in vast numbers being now seen far up the Greenland coast where they had never been seen before. Whales and seals have moved northward to escape the warmer waters.

The present change has lasted for about thirty years. There are records of two previous changes but they were of short duration — in the 1920's and again in the 1940's, each lasting about a decade. These rises in temperature were followed by drops in warmth. The present change has lasted far longer than in the previously recorded changes and appears to be on a more permanent basis.

The world has reached this stage that knowledge of climatic conditions and atmospheric conditions is necessary. This is shown by Dr. Dunbar's remark that one of the chief "exports" of Greenland is meteorological information for knowledge of the Arctic air currents in the Greenland area is of vital importance to Northern Europe and in a lesser degree to Canada and the United States. He says that future transports may well cross the Arctic Circle and this of course will change people's ideas of the north.

Birds Have a Past

Most lovers of the out-of-doors are ready to admit that birds are among nature's most beautiful creations. How many are aware that at one time in the history of the world, not so very long ago geologically speaking, the feathered creatures did not exist. In the Royal Ontario Museum one may see, among the many decorations representing prehistoric landscapes, illustrations of the oldest birds. They appeared at first, as far as the fossil record shows, about the middle of the age of dinosaurs, which dates back over a hundred million years. Only three examples of these ancient birds have been discovered. They differ from modern birds very distinctly in that they possessed in their jaws definite characteristic links them with the flying reptiles. The remains of the skeletons indicate that the bird was about the size of a full grown crow.

Coat-of-Arms

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery who was raised to the peerage after the close of the Second World War has chosen a conventional shield as his coat-of-arms. The field proper shows two lions and lilies and is surmounted by a helmet and broken spear, which have been featured for centuries in the coats-of-arms of Montgomery families. The motto "Guardes Bien" (Guard Well) is shared with the other Montgomery families. But besides this there is the evidence of Montgomery himself in the choice. On one side is a crusader which is reminiscent of the Crusader's badge of the famed Eighth Army and the other modern sign is a British Tommy in battle dress wearing a black beret of the type favored by the Field Marshal.

Benefits Unrecognized

A man wished to sell his home. He asked an estate agent in the paper an advertisement describing the property. The agent wrote it and then read it to the man. "Read that again," said the owner. The agent did so. The man exclaimed: "Why I have been looking for a place like that for years and I did not know I owned it."

Most of us are in the same position. God daily loads us with benefits which too often go unrecognized and unacknowledged.

—Bristol (Eng.) Evening Post.

Inflation at the Seashore

The public can expect to get no relief from the high cost of living by running off to the mountains or seashore. Returned travellers report that vacation resorts have heard all about inflation and have laid in a good supply, says The New Yorker.

Newspaper Facts

Proof that people look to their daily newspapers for coverage of local events was afforded during the Alcatraz riot when the San Francisco daily had an increase of 30,000 in circulation during the event.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

WORK AND HOT WEATHER

Work is the source of bread and meat,
And the laziest fellow likes to eat.

Work is the price that man must pay
For a suit of clothing, blue or gray.

Work is the only means I know
For the right to the barber shop to go.

And the only means to purchase pills
To cure and comfort our various ills.

But this I'll say when the weather's hot:
I don't care whether I eat or not.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

"She's engaged to a chiropodist."

ED REED

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

August 13th., 1926

Mr. H. Reason is spending a vacation at Richmond, Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Deyman of Toronto are visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Slork have left on a two weeks' motor car trip to Washington and other American cities.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith of Brooklyn, N.Y., are the guests of Mrs. Amy Handley, Octavia Street.

Mrs. T. H. Morgan of Rochester, N.Y., is visiting her sisters, Mrs. David Joss, Coleman Street, and Mrs. A. Duncan, Frank Street.

Miss Hattie E. Read of Tempworth and Miss Norma Frester of Napanee, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Reid, Queen Street.

30 YEARS AGO

August 13th., 1916

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morton of New York City are visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cummings of Flint, Mich., are visiting relatives here.

Mr. G. A. Powell of Brantford is visiting his parents at their home on Mill Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott of Winnipeg are visiting Mrs. Scott's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Irwin, Clarke Street.

Miss Jane Backus and nephew, Lawrence Baker, who have been visiting friends in the city, have returned to their home at Baldwinsville, N.Y.

Lieut.-Col. Barragar is home from Brantford Camp on a short leave.

40 YEARS AGO

August 13th., 1906

A branch of the Standard Bank will be opened in this city shortly. Temporary quarters have been secured and next April the bank will occupy the premises of the southeast corner of Bridge and Front Sts. Mr. F. E. O'Flynn has been appointed solicitor for the bank here.

Dr. Robert VanAllen of Rochester, N.Y., an old Belleville boy, is spending a vacation here.

Prof. Dan A. Cameron has returned to the city after spending some time in New York City.

"Pilgger" the small black spaniel belonging to Mr. J. V. Jenkins, has returned home after being missing for several days. It was thought that he had disappeared with the circus, but happily this was not the case. The little dog in a great favorite and all connected with Hotel Quinte are pleased at his return.

50 YEARS AGO

August 13th., 1896

Mr. A. W. Carscallen, M.P., Marmora, was in town today.

Mr. George Kingston of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, is in town.

Miss Higden of Deseronto is visiting friends here.

Mr. T. O. Belger, city engineer of Kingston, is a visitor in town.

Dr. James B. Meacham, Toronto, is visiting his father in this city.

Mr. Daniel Thompson of Queensboro, is the guest of Mr. Thomas Wiggins, West Bridge Street.

THESE ARE THE MOST IDENTICAL TWINS

There are identical twins — and identical twins, and according to the father of these handsome boys, Billie, LEFT, and Barry Valentine, three-year-old, of Melbourne, Australia, they are the most identical twins anywhere in the world. So sure is he of his statement that Mr. Valentine has offered $25, to be donated to charity, if his boys do not stand out in any identical twin competition. So far the boys have 16 first prizes, two second and one third prize to their credit. Their mother says that even she has difficulty in telling them apart.

$300,000 Estimate For New Furniture Debated in House

Ottawa, Aug. 13 — (CP) — A skirmish developed on consideration of works department estimates in the House of Commons, after which the House came to the last item — $300,000 — for furniture for the purchase of new furniture for government departments.

Progressive Conservative members sought a breakdown of the total item and when Public Works Minister Fournier was unable to produce it, John Diefenbaker (Prince Albert) moved an amendment, later defeated, that the item be cut to reduce the item to $1.

Mr. Fournier said the item represented only an estimate of what might be expended during the year for purchases of furniture and he could not give a breakdown of what would be required by the various departments before they made their requisitions. In the past, his department was only the purchasing agent.

Veterans Minister Mackenzie, House leader, pointed out that a year ago and said he never had been "so amazed and astonished" at the ignorance manifested in my life as by the silliness of this amendment.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he was not satisfied with the explanation of the expenditure and could not see why government departments could not take over some of that which had been declared surplus by the

Dr. Robert VanAllen of Rochester, N.Y., an old Belleville boy, is spending a vacation here.

Prof. Dan A. Cameron has returned to the city after spending some time in New York City.

"Pilgger" the small black spaniel belonging to Mr. J. V. Jenkins, has returned home after being missing for several days. It was thought that he had disappeared with the circus, but happily this was not the case. The little dog in a great favorite and all connected with Hotel Quinte are pleased at his return.

Mr. Fournier explained that when his department received a request for new furniture it first applied to War Assets Corporation to see if any could be had over by a disbanding department and if it was available there and if it was not then it was bought. However, all requisitions first were approved by the Director of economics.

During a later discussion, Mr. Fournier disclosed that his department, upon advice of Speaker Gariepy, had conducted to Speaker Gaspard Fauteux that a committee of three, to associate it with some of the noblest characters I have ever known, and with the saintist Miss B. whose

Son is Charged With Killing Mother

— Thomas Henry Brown, 29, was charged with killing his mother, Mrs. Annie Dixon Brown, 67, after he summoned police to Toronto home today with the statement "Come over and you'll find something funny."

The woman's body was found on a day bed in the living room of the dominion. Dr. Herman C. Sands said. Indicated she had been strangled.

Police quoted the son as saying:

"I just murdered my mother. I had been drinking. I did it for the welfare of the citizens at large. I'm insane, Queenboro, is the guest of Mr. mentally and commercially and unsuccessful, in politics, having twice run for the State Senate.

Labor Congressman Dies

Rochester, Minn., (AP) — Representative William J. Gallagher, Minnesota Democratic-Farmer-Labor congressman, died early today at Rochester, Minn., from a heart attack suffered seriously ill since Sunday, when he was taken to the hospital after in an ambulance from Minneapolis.

Severe Storm at Edmonston

Edmonton, Aug. 13 — (CP) — A severe electrical and rain storm which swept over Edmonton last night caused heavy damage to property and disrupted electric light and communication service throughout the city for several hours.

TO REICH FOR JOB

Ralph K. Betz, 26, of Willoughby, Ohio, a veteran of 43 months who is being detained in Jail in Germany while awaiting deportation to the U. S. The former Army black-lister is back to Germany because he found jobs scarce and prices high in the U. S. He came into Germany without a passport by the simple method of stowing away on a troopship. "When Europeans break into the American zone illegally, they set up a camp for refugees but an American can throw in jail," Betz remarked wryly.

Six U. S. Soldiers Burned Fatally in Berlin

Berlin, Aug. 13 — (AP) — Six American soldiers were burned fatally and three others injured last night in a fire that broke out in a military police motor pool, the United States Army Provost Marshal's office, announced today. One of the injured was reported in critical condition.

A preliminary report said the fire occurred while the soldiers were cleaning a garage building in the motor pool, located in the borough of Neukoln.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Only limited letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to diseases, will be answered personally. Inquiries should be addressed to Dr. Brady at a stamped self-addressed envelope in confidence. Letters will be answered only in the order of their receipt and the number of letters received will not be increased here. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to the foregoing rules. Address Dr. Brady in care of this newspaper.

WE CAN'T PAY TEACHERS S AND HAVE BOOZE TOO

In one year those of us within the continental United States spend—

(1) $8,300,000,000 — for alcoholic beverages.

(2) $2,400,000,000 — for tobacco.

(3) $2,900,000,000 — for public elementary and secondary schools — the schools where teachers serve at low pay.

There is something rotten about a way of life that makes it not only possible but even "respectable" for the detectives, the degenerates, the criminals and the drunks to squander more than twice as much for the narcotic as we pay for elementary education.

It is nothing less than a dreadful conspiracy against the health, sanity and happiness of youth to launch the future citizens and society of the nation that we, the people, fail to tax alcoholic liquors beverages at a sufficiently high level to provide a fund to pay the wages of teachers in our public schools.

If we, the people had a fair sense of honor, self-respect and decency we would tax the alcoholic beverages of our children to the charity of whatever teachers may be employed for the miserable pittance we pretend is all we can afford to pay.

It is time that teachers organized in a national union and go on a strike for a living wage. What other group, class or category of workers in the United States today that continues to serve under the same exploitation that teachers endure?—what other group, even housemaids for the wives of the directors of economics.

During a later discussion, Mr. Fournier disclosed that his department, upon advice of Speaker Gariepy, had conducted to Speaker Gaspard Fauteux that a committee of three, to associate it with some of the noblest characters I have ever known, and with the saintist Miss B. whose professional and private life was one of extreme self-denial and poverty so that she could use her time and her money to help associate the word also with health and happiness in the school; whose fine personality and dignity inspired her many students. Sometimes I wonder whether teaching today attracts men and women of such calibre.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Formaldehyde

I work in a wall-paper plant. A layer of formaldehyde is used to coat the paper and make it waterproof. Working under the layer I have to breathe some of it. Can you tell me whether this is harmful to health. (S.W.W.)

Answer—The vapor of formaldehyde itself is very irritating to the nose, and especially to the eyes, but not poisonous. Commercial formaldehyde solution sometimes contains considerable wood alcohol and inhaling wood alcohol vapor is dangerous, may cause blindness.

Stage Fright

I used your remedy for stage fright with great success two or three times a day for about a week before my recital and I felt very much relieved when I got one could with. But I find a wide difference in the results I get by different stores — one was round and pink pills, another white oval pills and a third chocolate coated tablets.

(A.G.L.)

Answer — Makes no difference whether oval, white or brown, pill, tablet or capsule, it is all the same quinine. Do several days' experimenting to prevent stage fright or examination. Then I suggest taking one grain of quinine with one grain of aspirin (before or after food) for two weeks before the ordeal.

(Copyright, 1946, by John F. Dille, Co.)

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

YOUD BE SURPRISED H thatf What is the capital of The Netherlands?

Many people is the "capital" of The Netherlands in the American sense of the term. It is the seat of the national government, the place where the parliament meets, the place where the official residence of the sovereign and of all foreign diplomats accredited to The Netherlands government.

Most of the Netherlanders regard Amsterdam as the capital of their country because it is historically, intellectually and commercially their chief city.

The Dutch point of view is illustrated by the following comment made by a native of the Commonwealth of the Royal Netherlands Legation at Washington: "I am a native author: "Amsterdam is the capital of The Netherlands. The Hague is the sovereign's residence as well as the seat of government."

In the United States "capital" is applied to a seat of government irrespective of its relative size or importance, while in many European countries the term is applied to the metropolis or most important city whether or not it is the seat of government. The Hague is called the capital of The Netherlands because it is the seat of government, just as Paris is called the capital of New York State and Washington, D.C., is called the capital of the United States, but many Europeans regard New York City as the American capital.

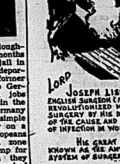
Amsterdam, which is the province of North Holland, is on the Amstel, a canalized river flowing into the Y, an arm of the Zuider Zee.

The name literally signifies "dike on the Amstel." The Hague, with the definite article, is the correct English form of the Dutch 's Gravenhage. The French also retain the definite article in their name and call it "Le Haye." Informally The Netherlands often refer to it simply as "The Hague."

In 1280 Count William II made The Hague a favorite and its importance increased until it became the home of the princely family. In the 17th century Amsterdam was the dominant city of the United Netherlands, but because of the jealousy of other provinces most of the sessions of state were conducted at The Hague. From 1806 to 1810 Louis Bonaparte, a brother of Napoleon Bonaparte, was King of Holland, and in his time transferred his residence and the central government from The Hague to Amsterdam. After Holland freed itself from French control the Prince of Orange was proclaimed sovereign at Amsterdam, but soon afterwards he moved to The Hague. But the constitution then adopted by United Amsterdam the legal capital and provided that the rulers should always be crowned in that city, and the present constitution, although it does not designate Amsterdam the legal capital, requires that all royal baptisms, marriages and coronations must take place there.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT



Loop

JOSEPH LISTER, AN ENGLISH SURGEON (1827-1912) REVOLUTIONIZED SURGERY BY THE USE OF HIS DISCOVERY OF THE CAUSE AND PREVENTION OF INFECTION IN WOUNDS

HIS GREAT WORK IS KNOWN AS THE ANTISEPTIC SYSTEM OF SURGERY

SCRAPS

SICKNESS IS ATTRIBUTED TO INFLUENCE OF EVIL SPIRITS BY MANY AFRICAN TRIBES

A DIABETIC IS LED TO BELIEVE HE HAS BECAME POSSESSED BY THE GHOST OF A DEAD ANIMAL IS SUPPOSED TO BE EXORCISED BY

WHEN HIS SON HAS BEEN INITIATED INTO THE MYSTERIES OF MANHOOD

THERE ARE OVER 8,000 VARIETIES OF DAHLIA

Endearing Young Charm

By ALICE ALDEN

IT WON'T be long now before college wardrobes and attractive school outfits will be the prime concern of all younger daughters. This bellhop-inspired suit is ideal for junior wear. The fabric is gray wool and a green grosgrain vestee makes a nice color contrast for this slick, New York designed suit. Tiny silver buttons fasten the nicely cut jacket, and unpressed pleats give fullness to the skirt.

The Pet Dinner Dress

Fashion Flashes

THE TRIUMPH of reason shows itself in the new Fall fashions, with emphasis on the finely-handled black frock, devoid of glitter and exaggerated design, but beautifully cut and draped.

The easiest way to dress up a simple little wool or silk frock is with a novelty belt. Flexible gilt metal mesh is used for a narrow belt of the tie-lored type with neat gilt metal bow buckle. Nice for a black frock.

Ready for display are glitter dickies designed to give a lift to simple suits. A white crepe dicky is splashed with blue and silver sequin butterflies. Pushed and silver sequin butterflies are used for a similar design on black velvet.

New beauty appears in new alligator handbags. One model has folds of blue or red alligator cut and draped to resemble a large version of the tulip petal, the skins shirred to a large metal frame. Long broad handles and fine suede lining are other specifications.

Good ideas lend interest to new gloves. One designers has made a shortie of capeskin and with this comes a series of bows, easily placed or detached, made of makeskin in various colors, and all capeskin lined.

Wine Preservers

A quick wipe of the plane keeps you a soapy stick should be part of your wine-making equipment. Use it to remove all stains, and use a mild solution of water (one pound will dissolve two sticks) under the keys and cover them to prevent rusting.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

She's Worried Because He Hasn't Kissed Her Yet

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am deeply in love, and my boy friend says he loves me.

His friends say he has not the courage to kiss me. He has taken me out several times, yet has not offered to kiss me. Should I ask him to kiss me, or shall we go on like we are?

H. W.

Half the girls who write me complain that men except too many kisses too soon, and the other half complain because their boy friends are so slow about kissing!

It's my idea that the boys who take their time about getting to the kissing stage are the ones to count on. At least you know they don't take such things lightly, and you ought to find that very reassuring, don't you think? When they do get to it, it's likely that they really mean it.

So don't be impatient about being kissed. And I don't think I'd ask to be kissed, either. Wait until it comes about naturally. Just go on being friendly and sweet, and one of these days, if this boy friend really does love you, you may be sure he'll find the courage to kiss you. And you'll like it much better if it was his idea than if he did it because you asked him to.

He's Going Steady. She's Going Steady, But She Wants To Start Something

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 15 years old and like a boy very much who is very shy. He has a girl and has been going with her steady for three months. Ever since the first time I saw him, which was a year ago, I have liked him very much.

I have a boy friend and am going steady for about a month. I like him very much, but not as much as do this other boy. I don't know how this other boy feels about me, as he is so shy he won't say hello when he meets me on the street. I have given up many boys for him.

I don't think I am good-looking, but my boy friend thinks I am. I don't know what boys see in me to make it is just personality. My girl friends envy me because I can get these boys if I just say the word, and they can't. Do you think I could ever have a chance with this other boy? What do you suggest I do to try to get him?

Popular and Lovesick

Whoa, sister. Let's back up and start over again. Because it seems to me your bump of conceit is running away with you, and you're not making very good sense into the bargain.

You say all you have to do to get any boy you want is "just to say the word". Yet here you are, asking me to tell you how to get a boy who won't notice you! Your stories just don't hang together, do they?

And of course if I could give you a step-by-step program for getting this boy away from the girl he's "going steady" with, I wouldn't do it. Even if you like me to tell another girl how to get your boy friend away from you! Of course you wouldn't.

You see, you what I'd suggest. Well, what I suggest is that you mind your own business and let the boy friends of other girls alone. Also that you don't let that head of yours get too big for your hat. Otherwise, you may be surprised some day to find yourself put in the shade by some girl that the boys think has even more personality than you have!

TWO CARS BADLY SMASHED

Preston, Aug. 12 (CP)— Two cars were badly smashed and four persons injured as a result of a headon crash here between cars driven by Ronald Beechey, Galt, and George Hawley of Port Hope.

Mrs. Jack Thrush and Miss Florence Spencer, Preston, passengers in the front seat of the Hawley car, suffered facial injuries and cuts and other injuries.

Mrs. Francis Moss, Galt, passenger in the Beechey car, suffered a slight facial cut and Ronald Beechey a sprained hand. Police said a charge of careless driving has been preferred against

Rainy Day Dividend

Two-piece rain suit

By VERA WINSTON

HONESTLY, it's getting so that we welcome a rainy day as the opportunity it affords of getting all dressed up in pretty and mighty smart and becoming raingogs. Water-repellent faille is the prosaic fabric tag of this pretty two-piece rain suit. The top has tremendous sleeves cut in one with the bodice and it is snugly belted, with an exaggerated peplum corded at the bottom. The collar can be turned down. The skirt is a slim wrap-around model.

Mrs. J. W. Snell, Wabun St., Port Hope, writes: "Super Suds is my helper. In all my housework I find it a grand for washing clothes. It makes them so soft and white. Another thing Super Suds is safe. It makes the dishes her house and my colored things always look fresh. Super Suds gets the dirt out quickly and easily and never hurts my hands."

Thank you, Mrs. Snell, for your grand letter. Yes sir, Kiddies, Super Suds is Concentrated. Super Suds actually gives you far more washing-power . . . livelier, richer suds and whiter whiteness. And Super Suds costs no more than ordinary washday soap.

By PRUNELLA WOOD

EVERY now and again one particular frock comes along which takes everybody's fancy, and which seems to flatter a lot of assorted sizes and figures. The dress shown here is a likely candidate for this Summer for high standing on the most likely to succeed mode.

This reporter has see nit a dozen times already . . . yet it always looks individual and becoming, has anything but the effect of a run-of-the-pile casual. (It's not a really cheap dress, just reasonably priced.)

The fabric is crepe, vertically striped with a broken blot line, and the wide sash girdle is all black. The peplum hipline makes it a good model to pop on over a girdle-less, cool, under dressing.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

A good-looks and charm test

Reflections in the mirror lead a woman to her beauty secret, but a few reflections inside the old head are likely to bring even more gratifying results. If a woman is willing to accept cold facts, even a few defects and weakness, she can formulate a fairly accurate self-analysis. Then she is in form to correct whatever it is that disqualifies her from standing in the charm circle.

Pretty women have an advantage, good-looks being a sort of passport. Yet, after all, it is personality that gets the high rating. One is sized up by manners, by the tone of the voice, one's attitude toward one's fellow creatures, one's qualities of mind and heart. If one is also pleasing to the eye, that's just so much velvet.

We offer today a personality questionnaire, suggesting that the members of this beauty class answer their truthful. No sidestepping. No hedging. "Fuss up. You're just talking to yourself, you know, so there's no sense not being frank and above-board.

Do you make it a never-to-be-broken rule to keep a friendly, good-natured tone in your voice? There are several ways of saying "Hello". One means "Greetings and welcome". Another one means "Scram!"

Are you careful never to hurt another persons feelings?

Do you make an effort to make your conversation interesting, even in the family circle, avoiding recitals about how you happen to feel or what you like and don't like, or repeating anecdotes that you have told many times before? It is possible to make oneself extremely attractive conversationally. A sense of humor is a help. Remember that it is foolish to be too serious all the time.

Do you practice emotional control, being careful not to get upset about trifles? What if the woman next door didn't speak to you? She may have a heart ache at the moment. You can't tell. Her mind may be elsewhere. What if the dog did track in mud? That's part of a dog's temptation.

Are you trying your level best to learn all you can about the art of living, benefitting by our mistakes? Are you winning out against your shortcomings, or do you think you're perfectly grand as you are? If so, you will not improve with the years! One must constantly adjust oneself in this world, else one will be a social misfit.

Are you tolerant? Do you realize that other human beings are justified in their beliefs and opinions, even when they conflict with your own, and that they are as likely to be right as you are?

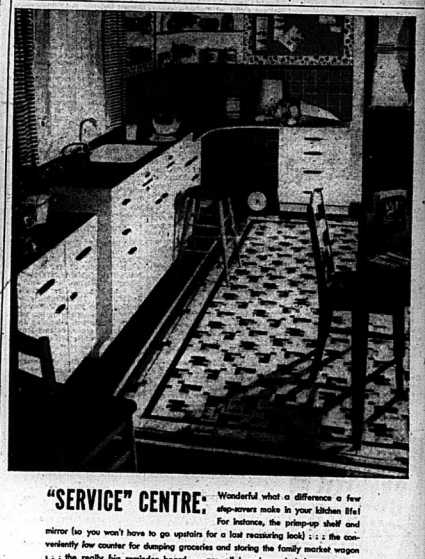
We don't know why, but costume jewelry made to resemble musical instruments is a fashion that is fast gaining ground. Gold-washed sterling is used for a rhinestone-studded violin with crossed bow. Four black enamel strings. Black enamel outlines the border. Matching earrings.

There are several ways of saying "Hello"

NURSES!!

This fine medicine relieves distress to relieve pain, nervous headache, backache and weak, "tired-out" feelings due to the "certain days"—when due to female functional monthly disturbances. Worth trying!

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND



"SERVICE" CENTRE: Wonderful what a difference a few step-savers make in your kitchen life! For instance, the pring-up shelf and mirror (so you won't have to go upstairs for a last reassuring look) . . . the conveniently low counter for dumping groceries and storing the family market wagon . . . the really big reminder board — are all housekeeper's helpers. But the greatest service lies in the color-bright Gold Seal Congoleum rug! Nothing can beat it for ease-of-cleaning . . . dollar-saving economy . . . and heavy traffic durability. For Gold Seal Congoleum is built to last! It has a wear-layer of heat-toughened paint and baked enamel equal in thickness to 8 coats of the best floor paint applied by hand. So, be sure to look for the familiar Gold Seal before you buy. You'll be surprised how much quality you can buy for so little money.

CONGOLEUM CANADA LIMITED, MONTREAL

CONGOLEUM RUG

The Majority Say

"Best in Coffee" is MAXWELL HOUSE

MAXWELL HOUSE is bought and enjoyed by more people than any other brand of coffee in the world.

MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE

A Product of General Foods

M-0776

LIPSON'S Furniture House

249 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE — PHONE 1672

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

264 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE — PHONE 2000

The NEW PERCIVAL FURNITURE Co.

300 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE — PHONE 2265

MODEL HOME FURNITURE CO.

312 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE — PHONE 526

THOMPSON'S

296 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE — PHONE 295

FARRAR'S HOME FURNISHINGS

170 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE — PHONE 793

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Murton Rubble, 3rd Consession of Ameliasburg, is in Belleville Hospital and recovering from a recent appendectomy.

Friends of Mrs. P. Van Dusen will be pleased to learn that she is progressing favorably after a serious operation on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair McAvoy and son, also Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McAvoy, all of Detroit, Mich., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lee, Cedar Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hubbs, 13 North Front St., and Russell McMurray, have just returned after spending a week's holidays in Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y.

Friends of Mr. E. Leeman will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from a recent illness in the Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wesley and sons, Bill and Bob, Meyer Avenue, are spending their vacation at Belmont Lake.

Miss Elizabeth Stone, 181 George Street, and Miss Joyce Hudson, Toronto, have returned from Montreal, where they spent the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Hannah, Ann Street, have returned home after two weeks' vacation at Aylen Lake, near Algonquin Park.

Miss Marilyn Seldon returned from Toronto today where she has been spending a holiday with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Middleton have returned home from their vacation after visiting Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thomson have just returned to the city after visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Partridge, Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Singer, Detroit, Mich., have returned home after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Insley of Point Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. William Insley

USE SKEETER SKATTER
Now and Improved
FOR BLACK FLIES, MOSQUITOES

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Insley, Point Anne and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Singer, of Detroit, have returned from a motor trip to Hamilton and around Lake Ontario.

Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Cooke, Arthur and Edith, of Blenheim, Ont., are revisiting their former parish at Foxboro. He will preach at all services next Sunday on the circuit.

Mrs. G. E. Ekrton and daughter, Helen and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Overton and Muriel and Victor, of Toronto, have returned home after spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Little, Shannonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walmsley and daughter, Bernice and Mr. Edward Carmac and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Croft, of Toronto, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Little, Shannonville.

Miss Mary Huff, Bloomfield, Miss Laura Harrison, Trenton, and Miss Margaret Donaldson, Belleville, have returned from an Intermediate C.G.I.T. Camp at Ahuhunqoong on the Lake Simcoe, where they were leaders.

Mr. W. G. Heath, registrar of Alberta College, United Church Theological School at Edmonton, Alberta, has returned home after a three weeks' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Heath at R.R.1, Stirling.

Miss L. Musgrove of New Zealand, and Mrs. W. J. Watts, of Belleville, have returned home after spending a week in Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Breach and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carter and Marilyn, returned home after spending the past week touring through Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Rochester districts, returning home via the Peace Bridge and Cornwall.

Miss Vi Osler, of the staff of the Bank of Montreal, is visiting friends in Detroit, Mich.

WEDDINGS

PIERCE—ACKERMAN

In century-old White Chapel on the Bay of Quinte at Picton, Ont., the first wedding in 73 years took place last Saturday when Kathleen Winnifred Ackerman, of Oshawa, and Archie Willard Pierce of Belleville, were united in marriage by Rev. A. E. McCutcheon, B.A., B.D., in the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Fred Ackerman of Picton, and the late Mrs. Ackerman, and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pierce, of Cherry Valley.

The church was decorated with vari-colored daffodil and lilies. Professor F. E. Walden, of Picton, played the wedding music on the quaint old organ and Miss Hazel Rundle of Oshawa, sang "Love's Coronation" just before the ceremony and "O Promise Me" at the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white faille, fashioned with a peasant bodice, short sleeves, drawstring neckline, fitted midriff and floor-length fullness, and a matching bouffant skirt. A shirred Mary Stuart headdress held her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion. She wore a strand of pearls and carried an arm bouquet of red roses tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Joan Nash, of Oshawa, was maid of honor, and was gowned in Elizabeth blue crepe, styled with shirred drop shoulders, short sleeves, fitted bodice shirred at the waist line and long full skirt. She wore a matching sweetheart headdress and carried a bouquet of pink roses with satin ribbon ties.

Seaford Thompson of Picton, attended the bridegroom as best man and George Welsh of Picton, was usher.

Parents and Summer flowers decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett DeLong, the bride's uncle and aunt, where the reception was held. Mrs. DeLong received with the bridal party, wearing a fuchsia street-length dress accented with white, black accessories and corsage of white carnations. For travelling the bride chose a blue silk jersey dress, with accessories and gold three-quarter-length coat. The bridesmaid's gift to the bride was a gold locket.

WILLERTON—WRIGHT

On Saturday, August 3, at 11.30 p.m., the wedding took place in Christ Church, of Lillian Mae, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright, Marmora, Ont., and Edward Willerton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Willerton, Belleville. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Smith.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a pale blue net floor-length gown, with white accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. She was attended by Miss Betty Tweedy, Belleville, who wore a matching blue dress and a corsage of mixed flowers.

Mr. Thomas Coon, Belleville, was groomsman.

Later a reception was held at the home of the groom where the groom's mother received wearing navy blue lace assisted by the bride's mother, who wore navy blue crepe.

For travelling the bride chose a blue-grey suit with navy blue accessories. The bride and groom will reside in Belleville.

DUFFY—BELL

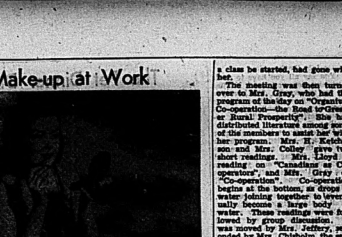
A quiet ceremony held on Wednesday, August 7, unlined in marriage, Helena Mary, daughter of Mrs. Wilson Bell, and the late Mr. Wilson Bell, of Trenton, and Angus B. Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armond Duffy, Belleville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Wells in St. Aimer Chapel at St. Mary's Cathedral Kingston, at 11 a.m.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Sgd.-Ldr. J. H. Pearson, of Trenton, wore a charming street-length dress of heaven blue crepe and carried on old-fashioned nosegay.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Marion Bell, of Trenton, who was attired in an American Beauty crepe dress and also carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

Mr. John Code, of Trenton, was the best man.

The reception was held at the home of Mrs. C. G. Williamson, Brock Street, where the wedding breakfast was served from a table covered with an ecru lace cloth and centred with the three-tiered wedding cake topped by sprays of bouvardia in a crystal glass and surrounded by pink tulle and Sweetheart rosebuds. Mrs. Wil-



Use make-up sparingly at the beach and let it enhance your natural beauty rather than hide it

By HELEN FOLLETT

MISS Good-looking is taking a step forward when she tones down the fashion blushes, selects with care the color of the rouge she uses, piles the powder pad lightly, does her lipsticking with discretion. Or she is to be of the mode she must realize that make-up is not going to run riot over her map.

She'll be a slicker with the pitch easily. Street-length is the exotic type went out when girls went into the army. Severe-dressed, bedizened lashes look useless, especially when overpainted in the beach or pool. The boys are not one bit crazy about them.

Frailed Out Look

An excess of complexion bath makes a girl look all frazzled out. The purpose of beauty aids is to impart freshness to the skin, to make up for nature's lack of coloring. They can attain that purpose if restraint of application is employed.

Lipstick and rouge compact are a clue to started, had gone with her.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Clay, who had the program of the day on "Organized Co-operation—Its Best Methods in Rural Prosperity". She had distributed literature among some of the members to assist her with her program. Mrs. R. Ketchenson said Mrs. Clay was very short readings. Mrs. Lloyd reading, "Co-operation and co-operators", and Mrs. Grey on "Co-operation". Co-operation begins at the bottom, as drops of water joining together to eventually form rivers, Mrs. Clay followed. These readings were followed by group discussion. It was moved by Mrs. Jeffery, seconded by Mrs. Chisholm, the secretary write to Mr. Fair for information on co-operative canners, as might be profitably established by the W.I. and used by all.

Mrs. Frank Phillips thanked the W.I., for cards sent her while in the hospital.

Mrs. Ketcheson moved a vote of thanks to the hostess. Following the singing of God Save The King, refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned.

U.P.E. WOMEN'S CLUB

Favored with a lovely afternoon, over 100 members and invited friends of the U.P.E. Women's Club held their annual picnic at Sandbanks Camp on Thursday last.

Those invited all to quickly with games, sports and contests, with lovely prizes given for excellence of performance.

Six tables were placed together in one long line and all enjoyed the variety of delicious eats. There was plenty of time for a social get-together and all declared the gathering the picnic one of the best.

TYENDINAGA EAST W. I.

Tyendinaga East Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. John Craig, Consecon, on Friday, August meeting. A quilting and pot luck dinner preceded. Mrs. Mowray's later part of September. Currents Events were given by Mrs. R. Lloyd and Mrs. F. Kimmerly was in charge of the program and read a number of readings by Mrs. Cameron Russell, Mrs. R. Tucker, and poems by Mrs. R. Harvey and Ruth Tucker. Mrs. Bell gave a splendid delivery reading, "Convention Mrs. Tucker conducted a (Snow) contest with Mrs. C. Wright receiving the prize. Mrs. Craig donated $1.00 to Institute. The committee served refreshments.

Mrs. R. Harvey moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for a pleasant afternoon.

BAYSIDE W. M. S.

White's District—Mrs. Walter Jones was hostess to members

PLAYWRIGHT, STAR IN SURPRISE WEDDING

Kitty Carlisle, famous star of stage and screen, and Moss Hart, celebrated Broadway playwright, join hands as Justice of the Peace John Johnson officiates at their marriage in New Hope, Pa. The couple planned to motor back to Harts estate, Fairview Farm, where they will spend their honeymoon. The marriage is the first for both the bride and groom.

and visitors of Bayside Woman's Missionary Society on Wednesday afternoon with the president Mrs. Glenn Meyers presiding. A short business session was held when Mrs. Walter Jones was named as Mission Band Leader and a discussion regarding a Mission Calendar as a means of making money took place. The travelling apron was passed along. Mrs. George Clapp then took charge of the meeting and prayers were offered by Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. Cecil Jeffrey, Mrs. Leonard Young and Mrs. J. Brown. Selections were read by the leader. A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess for the use of her home. Refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed.

Verneaals

Mr. and Mrs. W. Boulton have returned to Toronto after spending the weekend at the home of Mr. J. Megginson.

The many friends of Mr. Alex Vandervoort are pleased to know that he is recovering from the mumps and pneumonia.

Many tourists are passing through this district now and Mr. Hockaday and Mr. Dudley local tourist cabin owners are kept very busy.

The Dutch Mill Inn is also open for business and friends wish the young veteran couple of World War II every success.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Meyers and family attended the Dumpbell reunion picnic in Consecon on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Young visited relatives in Frankford and in Stirling district on Sun-

For A Consistently Well Dressed Appearance

It's up to you to see that your suits receive the best of care. Regular "Modern" cleaning will keep them in top condition.

PHONE 2277

MODERN CLEANERS and DYERS LIMITED

225 PINNACLE STREET

Here and There in P. E. County

DROUGHT

The meadow grass is parched and brown,
And from a cloudless sky,
The sun sends pitiless lances down
While flowers droop and die.

But at the lake the air is cool,
And there the shelterin birches shade,
Where trees around the shining pool,
Are in green garb arrayed.

When earth lies panting in the heat
And calls in vain for rain,
We turn us to the waters sweet
And find relief again.

—Helen B. Anderson.

Owing to the long-continued drought, the countryside lies brown and the fields between the green corn glistens. Pastures and meadows are badly affected by the drought and the dry weather still continues. Threshing machines are operating in the Consecon Lake district. W. M. Anderson, Jack Fenton and Douglas Palmer being out with their threshing outfits.

Mr. J. Wickson spent Sunday with friends in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Anderson who are holidaying in their summer home in the village, are to entertain her brother, Mr. Griffin and Mrs. Griffin from the U. S., this week.

During the thunderstorm Friday last Mr. Orland White, Gilead, lost his barns, when destroyed by lightning. Fortunately his fine brick residence was saved.

Mrs. W. H. Anderson returned home on Saturday after spending several weeks in Gilead.

Mrs. Rowena MacDonald, Gilead, spent a few days with friends in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Zufelt and daughter, Ottawa, are enjoying holidays with his father, Mr. Wesley Zufelt, North Lakeside.

Mr. Elmer Osterhout is assisting Mr. Cooper Bailey, Wellington, with his threshing outfit.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kinnear and Gladys Anne, Melville, have returned home after spending a few days with friends in Rochester.

Mrs. Albert Chamberlain and daughter, Mr. Frank Benway, Pleasant Bay, are spending holidays with friends in Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Gamble have been entertaining summer visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Weese, have purchased the farm of S. Anderson farm for some time occupied by Orchard at Pleasant Bay and will take up residence there in the near future. Their many friends wish them success.

Ode, with Mrs. White at the piano, followed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Minutes of the June meeting were read and approved. Correspondence was read regarding the Institute's decision to hold the short course of their choice this Fall.

Re the Blue Cross Hospital plan—all those intending to join must hand their names and fees to Mrs. Nicolson by the August meeting.

The roll call, insect pests and their eradication was well responded to.

Mrs. Sine suggested all members who have pine shall wear them, and we will get more pins for the annual Day held at Stirling. Five of the girls who would be attending here should

BACKACHE May be Warning

Backache may be a signal your kidneys are failing to filter excess acids and poisons in your blood. If backache, dizziness, Kidney Pills help relieve this condition, stimulate kidneys to normal function, theumatic pains or disturbed rest. Doan's contain no habit drug. Get Doan's Kidney Pills to-day. 138

Women's Activities

WALLBRIDGE W. I.

The July meeting of Wallbrige W.I., was held July 31, at the home of Mrs. R. Nicolson with 19 ladies present. The meeting opened by singing the Club

Zeller's
RETAILERS OF THRIFTY CANADIANS

"DEBUTANTE" TOILETRIES

12¢

- CREAMS—2 oz. Cleansing, Lemon Cleansing, Vanishing, Cold.
- FACE POWDER: natural, rachel, brunette.
- Fragrant Lotions 3 oz.: lemon, witch hazel, almond.
- BRILLIANTINE 3 oz. liquid.
- WAVE SET: 6-oz. bottle.
- COCOANUT OIL SHAMPOO
- SKIN BALM

"Beauty-Maid"
HAIR REMOVER

An abrasive mitten that will keep legs satiny smooth and free from hair. Easy to use. Buy the Econ-omy pkg. for 29c

Shampoos That Give That Added Lustre

DRENE SHAMPOO
Your choice of Drene Regular or Drene "Extra" for dry hair with hair conditioner added. Two sizes . . . 39c 67c

"HALO" SHAMPOO
Colgate's "Halo" Shampoo for normal, oily or dry hair. Three sizes. 15c 29c 49c

STORE HOURS
Daily 9.00 a.m. to 6.00 p.m.
EXCEPT WEDNESDAY
9.00 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.
SATURDAY
9.00 a.m. to 9.30 p.m.

Values in Toilet Goods

Shop at Zeller's for your Summer and Fall supply of Toilet Goods! Assortments are extensive and prices are low!

FACE POWDERS! CREAMS!

Famous Brands!	Zeller-Value!
WOODBURY'S FACE POWDER: in Summer shades of brunette, windsor rose, rachel, flesh. Two sizes	16c 25c
WOODBURY'S FACE CREAMS: Foundation, Facial, Cold and Cleansing. Delicately scented.	16c 25c
"LADY ESTHER" FOUR-PURPOSE CREAM: Keeps skin fresh and pretty, Vacation and Regular sizes	29c 55c
POND'S CREAMS: Vanishing, Cleansing. Two sizes at	34c 59c
POND'S FACE POWDER: your choice of natural, rose cream, rachel No. 1.	19c 29c
HINDS' HONEY & ALMOND CREAM: a popular choice for softer, smoother hands	45c

POWDER PUFFS

Fluffy-and-soft Velour Powder Puffs in delicate shades; 3-in. and 4-in. sizes. At 10c 15c

LIPSTICKS

WESTMORE LIPSTICK: Pepper Red, Glorious Red, Garnet, Debutante, Strawberry Blonde, Danger Signal, Jewel . . . At 39c

POND'S LIPSTICK: Honey, Rasal Red, Heart Throb, Dither, Dark Secret, Bean Bait. 19c 39c 55c

NOXEMA
Skin cream: Medicated and soothing. Three popular sizes. 17c 39c 59c

ZELLER'S LIMITED

"SALADA" TEA
Quality You'll enjoy

Tasty TwoSome—flavorful, nutritious
NABISCO SHREDDED WHEAT
and oh-so-good fresh peaches!

The original Niagara Falls product baked by THE CANADIAN SERVICE WHEAT COMPANY, LTD. NIAGARA FALLS, CANADA

ESCAPES INJURY IN PLANE ACCIDENT, ICE SKATER "WILL FLY AGAIN"

Peggy Ram, internationally known ice figure skater, escaped serious injury when her monoplane nose-dived into the ground after striking a tree branch at Niagara Falls, Ontario. Miss Ram, who suffered only bruises said she will fly again.

PEREZ TAKES OFFICE AS PRESIDENT

Dr. Mariano Ospina Perez, Conservative party candidate, is shown, LEFT, taking the oath of office to become the first Conservative party president of Colombia since 1930. The 58-year-old millionaire business man will serve a four-year term. The oath is administered by Dr. Jose Jaramillo Giraldo, president of the Colombia Congress. The inauguration was witnessed by a joint session of the Congress and 36 diplomatic missions.

ASSISTANT COACH LEAVES OTTAWA

Ottawa, Aug. 13 — (CP) — Law Barnes of Philadelphia, head line coach and long assistant to coach Fred (Baldy) Baldwin of the Ottawa Rough Riders, has left the team because he said he "did not like the system put in or the blocking laid down for it."

Baldwin, former coach of the colorful "Aggies" of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ont., came here to succeed Ron Trimble of Toronto as coach of the Inter-Provincial Rugby Football Union club last spring. He brought Barnes with him to continue the coaching partnership which gave the Aggies frequent intermediate titles and fame for their flashy, crowd-pleasing hip-per-dipper style of play.

"LORNE McDOUGALL WILL HELP ME!"

Your best friend is your insurance agent, for he helps you at a time when you need help most.

Bring your insurance problems to us. They receive our prompt, personal attention at all times. Call us today for expert insurance advice. No risk is too large — none too small.

LORNE McDOUGALL
INSURANCE AGENCIES LTD
"Belleville's Largest Insurance Office"
OPPOSITE THE CITY HALL — PHONE 168

A15-6

Windsor Wreckers Defeat Stratford In Two Contests

London, Ont., Aug. 13—(CP)—A double triumph and a brilliant batting chore marked last night's championship contest with Al Doumouchelle pitching Windsor to a 1-0 win over Stratford Nationals in the opener and going the distance in the nightcap for a 7-5 victory and the Canadian Sandlot Congress baseball championship.

Doumouchelle went the route in the opener, fanning five and giving up only three hits. Harry Fisher turned in only a slightly less effective performance, fanning five and allowing five hits.

Windsor's lone run came in the seventh inning when Tourangeau was walked and then banged home by Hodgins' single.

Eston Jones of Windsor led the batting with two hits in four trips to bat.

Doumouchelle gave up 11 hits in the afternpiece but stayed to capture the title for the Windsor squad. His opponent of the opener, Fisher, started for Nats but was yanked in the second inning after giving up two runs.

Windsor took an early lead with two runs in the second inning and three more in the third. The winning runs came in the fifth frame.

Spriglev of Windsor hammered in four of the seven runs but Whitey Menard of the same team was top hitter with three for 3.

Jo Jo Kaminsky led the Stratford batters with three for four. One of his hits was a homer in the 5th inning.

In the five day series Windsor won five games and lost one. Their championship triumph entitles Windsor to represent Canada in the international series against the United States sandlot champions at Wichita, Kansas, in September.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

With a view to developing a world organization for hockey which would be completely isolated from all other branches of sport, governing bodies laid the basis for the International Hockey Association at a meeting in New York yesterday attended by delegates from Canada, the United States, Great Britain, France and Sweden. The proposal was made for the staging of world championship tournaments alternating between Europe and North America, with the olympic ice competitions to be continued.

The new world organization would propose a merger with the Ligue Internationale de Hockey Sur Glace at the latter's annual meeting of Zurich, Switzerland, Sept. 1, it was announced. The Canadian delegation to yesterday's New York meeting was headed by Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton.

After a wartime lapse, grand circuit racing returned yesterday to the state fairgrounds at Springfield, Ill., with Don Pronto of Midwest Stables sweeping all heats of the featured Illinois breeders futurity for three-year-olds.

Manager Art Chapman of the Buffalo Bisons in the American Hockey League last night announced the signing of a working agreement with Montreal N.H.L. Canadiens. The pact will give the Bisons first choice of all Canadiens' excess players.

President A. E. Houghton of the Canadian - American Baseball League of Schenectady, N.Y., yesterday suspended outfielder Pat Riley of the Rome, N.Y., club for a further 10 days for a repetition of profanity directed at umpire Fred Ripley.

Miss Jean A. Burrill of Toronto was eliminated in yesterday's second round in the women's invitation tennis tournament at Manchester, Mass., when she was defeated in two sets by Gloria Rustum of Maplewood, N.Y.

Righthander Al Tichel, a 190-pounder standing six-foot-five, was yesterday released on option by the Boston Braves to the San Diego club of the Pacific Coast League.

Player Suspended For Betting on Game

Columbus, Ga., Aug. 13.—(AP) — Outfielder Hooper Triplett, who has been banished from the Columbus club of the South Atlantic League and fined $500 for gambling on a game, says his bet was "just a joke."

The suspension of the highest paid player in the league by Columbus Cardinals was upheld by the league directors in Augusta, Ga., Sunday. The case now goes to Judge W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, for review.

The Columbus Enquirer quoted president E. M. Wilder of the class A South Atlantic League as saying the suspension was over a $20 bet placed Saturday, Aug. 3, when Columbus was playing Columbia, S.C.

The newspaper quoted Wilder as saying "in fairness to your club, it should be said that Triplett bet on the Columbia clubs." Columbus defeated Columbia, 5 to 3.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Aug. 13 (AP) — From here on in, baseball attendance likely will show whether this year's crowds are due to the popularity of the game itself or to the "showmanship" that has turned up this summer.... The American League pennant is just about decided and only two clubs are in the National League race and in an ordinary season the crowds would begin falling off in other cities....But with MacPhail and company in charge at Yankee Stadium, Bill Veeck at Cleveland, and three "steam shovelers" reviving the Braves, Bob Carpenter just getting some action with the Phillies and Frank McKinney, Bing Crosby, and others taking over the Pirates, almost anything can—and probably will—happen.

Time to Quit

Roy Funkhouser, lately a Kitty League umpire, was driving from Hopkinsville, Ky., to Mayfield to work a game recently when his car struck a jersey cow on the road....The cow was killed, Roy's car was wrecked and the ump, who suffered only an injured knee, decided to resign... "If I can't see a cow on the highway, how am I going to see a little baseball whizzing across the plate?"

Sports Before Your Eyes

Walter E. Smith, who bought the Hambletonian winner, Chestertown, for $40,000 a few days before the race, gave driver Tommy Berry a $3,000 cut of his $58,047.56 winnings, $1,000 to trainer Harry Whitney and $500 to caretaker Howard Knowlton. And seller Bill Cane passed out checks to Whitney, Knowlton and Harry Fitzpatrick after receiving Smith's $40,000....Fight fans will be soaked $1.50 on week days and $2 on weekends to see Tami Mauriello train for Joe Louis.; At least they'll have a chance to see Tami on his feet.

ACQUIRE COMMUNICATIONS

Canberra (CP)—Information Minister Arthur Calwell has introduced to parliament legislation for a government commission which would acquire overseas communication services operated from Australia by private companies (Amalgamated Wireless of Australasia Limited and Cable and Wireless Limited). The measure is described as part of the Labor plan to operate a single communications corporation.

ALKALIZING AND REFRESHING
ABBEY'S
EFFERVESCENT SALT

Buy CANADA'S NO. 1 TRUCK TIRE

UP TO 50 per cent more miles per dollar on start-stop routes — that's what operators report when using Firestone "City Commercial" Tires. Built with 33% deeper non-skid tread — and sidewalls reinforced against curb scuffing, they're Canada's Number One tire for low cost city delivery service.

1st FOR TRACTION MILEAGE SAFETY

For Complete Tire Service Drive in and See

Firestone City Commercial TRUCK TIRES

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Brooklyn: Jerry Fiorello, 150, Brooklyn, stopped Johnny King, 154, New York (5).

Pittsburgh: Juste Fontaine, 132, Pittsburgh, stopped Mike Raffa, 126, Newell, W. Va. (5).

Boston: Irish Johnny Flynn, 208, Rochester, N.Y., outpointed Pat Comiskey, 218, Paterson, N.J. (10).

West Springfield, Mass: Eddie Glowa, 137 1-2, Philadelphia, outpointed Chester Rico, 137 1-2, New York (10).

New York: Joe Baksi, 218, Culpmont, Pa., knocked out Henry Jones, 207 1-2, New York (5).

Omaha: Jackie Burke, 164 1-2, Grand Rapids, Mich., outpointed Deacon Logan, 164, St. Louis (10).

San Francisco: Fred Apostoli, 158, San Francisco, stopped Pedro Jiminez, 160, Vallejo, Calif., (4).

RUBBER TIRED
FARM WAGONS
COMPLETE WITH ROLLER BEARINGS

LOCAL DISTRIBUTOR
BILL DELINE
3 Coleman St. BELLEVILLE Phone 338

THE PROVINCE OF PROMISE...

Central ONTARIO'S rich pasture lands have, from the earliest days of settlement, sustained larger herds of dairy cattle than were necessary to the Province's own needs. In these 'earliest' days, which were not much more than a century ago, dairy production was exceedingly primitive, but the 1891 census disclosed the existence of 1,565 cheese factories in the Dominion, of which Ontario had 893. Today, this great showing is paralleled in every branch of Canada's dairying industry.... Tomorrow, the Province's facilities will be more than equal to the demand for milk and its growing diversity of products.

Published by THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

A CORNER ON CONES

Nearly six billion pounds of milk are consumed or processed annually in Ontario; the yearly value of Ontario dairy products runs around $140,000,000; Ontario butter and cheese production is about 200,000,000 pounds a year. The chief credit for these fat figures, which are about one-third of the totals for the entire Dominion, goes to Ontario's 1,200,000 milk cows—themselves a third of Canada's dairy herds. The Province's 8,000,000 gallons of ice cream, however, amount annually to 50% of the nation's "cone-boat"—which may explain the conscientiousness of young Ontarians.

Blitz 11 Wins B.A. Trophy In Division One of 225 Class On Canadian Vacation Circuit

Flame - Scarred Veteran Finishes Second in Final Event at Valleyfield

Bob Bogle, of Brooklyn, N.Y., first-class rated young veteran of the U.S. Army Air Corps, driving his red "Blitz II" crack 225 cubic inch hydroplane won the British American Oil Company Trophy, emblematic of the Division 1, 225 Class championship of the Canadian Vacation Circuit of the American Power Boat Association Regattas when he finished in second position in the final event of the series at Valleyfield, Que., on Sunday afternoon.

"Blitz II", won the trophy by virtue of his series points total of 3927. In second place was Dr. Walter Robinson, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., driving "Mr. Dockit" with 3509 points and third was Gibson Bradfield, Barnesville, Ohio, in "Buckeye Baby" with 3244 points.

A broken drive shaft stood between the coveted trophy and title and the Robinson boat on Sunday. While 30,000 people looked on in beautiful Beauharnois Park on Francis Bay, at Valleyfield, the speedier "Mr. Dockit" roared over the finish line in first place in the first two heats, another first in the third and final heat, and the trophy and title was his.

Smashed Drive Shaft

But bad luck injected itself into the picture and "Dockit" smashed her out in the last heat when she was holding a commanding lead over the flying "Blitz II" and the gallant young veteran in the red speedster went on to win the heat and the title. "Buckeye Baby" was second.

Mike Skelton, Grand Island, New York, who feuded through five regattas with Harvey McFarland, Jr., Canadian champion of the Class D Runabout Division and highest point maker of the circuit, won the Class E Runabout division.

Broken Steering Column

Jimmy Middlesworth, Surfside, California, who trailered across a continent to take part in the circuit series was forced out of the 135 Class race at Valleyfield with a broken steering column, but had amassed sufficient points at other regattas to win the Canadian championship in his class, and the B.A. Trophy.

In this class, Milton Dee, Buffalo, drove a sensational three heats in his "Donna Bob" winning all three in easy fashion, to take the race and second place

Warren Bockwinkle, popular wrestling matman with Belleville fans who will take on the villainous Karl "Krippler" Davis in the semi-final at the Hume Arena Friday night. Steve "Crusher" Casey, huge Irisher and a brotch of a boy will attempt to tame the wife Lee Henning in the main bout.

'CRUSHER' CASEY, IRISH ROCK TO MEET HENNING

The charter members of the "We Rate Lee Henning" Society (and their name is legion) are asking for relief. And they want it in big quantities, now! In other words they want someone to come here who will give the said Mr. Henning a terrifying or even fifth or sixth thorough thrashing. And by dint of some really good match-making on the part of Walter Geroge it looks as if something at last may happen.

Manager Walt Gerow announced today that he has been able to secure as opponent for Henning for next Friday's grunt-and-groan other than Steve Crusher Casey, the Emerald Isle Giant. Casey is one of the "name" greats of wrestling. Since leaving the Emerald Isle some years back the rock-ribbed Irishman has smashed his way methodically to position to plant himself sky-high in the championship ranks.

Just now in a current dispute with Frank Sexton for the partial recognition—which Sexton holds as World Champion, Steve Casey has the dangle of a great matman which impresses everyone as a natural for the title. The Irish Powerhouse has the largest hands in the world and special allizes in a deadly double wristlock setting—reported cheat for a list of heavyweights as long as your arm. When he ties into Henning the fans here can look to see some terrific action.

Karl (the Krippler) Davis gets another chance to prove up on the claim that he is "the toughest of them all". Davis has agreed to meet Warren Bockwinkle in the semi-final. He is the third handsome Frankie Taylor of Holmwood wrestler Jan Gotch, the Pole.

SACOS DEFEAT FLASHES 9 TO 5 IN PLAYDOWNS

Second Game on Wednesday to Decide Who Shall Go Into Provincial Playoffs

Stephens - Adamson SACOS, city league softball champions, swung heavy war clubs in their last league game with the Belleville Navy Flashes at the Fair Grounds last night, laying down a barrage of fifteen hits, three of them homers, to defeat the Maroon and Yellow by a 12-7 count in the first game of the three-of-five series to decide a city Intermediate "A" league baseball title.

Umpires Bawden and Jack Boyle called the game on account of darkness in the last half of the eighth inning when SACOS had scored three runs, and had the bases loaded with two out. The score reverted back to the seventh innings and goes down in the official records as SACOS 9, Flashes 5. The second game of the series will be played Wednesday night at the Fair Grounds at 8.15.

Flashes pounded the offerings of youthful Jack Adams, SACO starting pitcher for eleven hits during his seven and two-thirds innings of work. Flashes got seven two- runs in the eighth, when Vern Gyger hit a triple and Lundberg had pounded out his fourth hit of the game, when Manager Max Peoples rushed Jim Hunter into the breach with two out. Hunter retired the next batter and the side.

SACOS started an eighth inning rally and scored three runs off four hits when the umps called the game on account of poor visibility.

Although Adams was touched freely, Flashes were unable to get a rally started. They failed to hit in the important clutches and were blanked in the 2-3-4 and 5th innings.

They counted two runs in the first, sixth and eighth innings with a single in the sixth. Rex Young on the mound for the Maroon and Yellow did not whiff a man and walked three.

SACOS scored four runs in the first inning on a pair of hits, one of them a homer by Gene Lebourne and Jimmy Barriage's single. Two walks aided the cause.

They came through with three more markers in the fourth innings on Sword's four-base clout, Jimmy Barriage's second hit of the game and an error. They got two more in the next heat when Reid poled out a circuit smash, Woods hit a double and Temple came through with a single.

Lundberg, Flashes right fielder was the star clouter of the game with a double and two singles for four. Vern Goyer hit a triple and a single and Harold Reid connected for another three-bagger. Ronsky, Williams and Moon came through with singles.

Barriage, Sword, Reid, LeBonne and Temple got a pair each for the winners with Hunter, Blaker and Woods getting singles.

Score by innings:

SACOS .. 400 220 02x—12 13 3
Flashes .... 200 003 120— 7 11 4

Game called on account of darkness with SACOS batting. Three on and two out. Score reverts back to seventh innings, 9-5, the teams:

SACOS: Barirage, lf; Sword, sc; LeBonne, cf; Reid, rf; Blaker, 1b; Woods, 2b; Temple, c; Ward-haugh, 3b; Carson, 3b; Adams, p; Hunter, p.

Flashes: Ronsky, 2b; Murray, lf; Williams, as; Goyer, c; Reid, 3b; Moon, 1b; Young, p; Lundberg, rf.

Umpires: Bawden, plate; Boyle, bases.

TYPICAL GIFT

Alexander Graham Bell once gave Queen Victoria a pair of ivory telephones.

RARE GEYSERS

Geysers are found only in the United States, Iceland and New Zealand.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

Toronto, Cobourg and Peterboro sportswriters have been paragraphing lately about an OHFU Intermediate football group in this district, comprising Peterboro, Cobourg, Oshawa, Trenton, Kingston and Belleville. Tom Foley scribe suggested the grouping, but the Toronto sportswriters come out flatly that such a group will be organized.

. . .

Insofar as an intermediate squad from Belleville is concerned, the story is a lot of crewash, balderdash, malarkey, or any other name that smells as rotten. The immediate gridders in this city are scarcer than agreements between labor and management, and ditto goes for sponsors.

. . .

The only pulsation in the hardened arteries of the intermediate scene is the COSSA setup as outlined in this pillar a few weeks ago. There is a remote possibility of a junior OR FU squad being organized — but it is extremely remote unless one of those fairy sugar daddy miracles happens.

. . .

The Nevada Juniors baseball squad will play in Belleville on Saturday, Aug. 17, that is, if the Belleville junior squad of that city in the first game of the first round Junior OBA playdowns. The game is called for two p.m. as another diamond battle is slated for the same afternoon. Arrangements have been completed with the Peterborough management to adjust the games here on Wednesday, August 21, in the Memorial Park at 2 p. m. OBA convener Ernie Hammers announced last night.

. . .

Trenton Flyers are well out in front in the Belleville Senior baseball league pennant race for the standing released today. The "Moose" Matthews' gang have completed 13 wins for three losses and with three games to play, besides a tie tussle, have like the squad to finish on top of the schedule. Batawa are in second slot with 10 wins against four losses and five games to play. They can edge the Flyers by winning all their remaining games providing the latter lose to any three of their remaining four games.

. . .

The real battle of the loop looms between Batawa, SACOS and Kiwanis Juniors for third and fourth playoff slots. SACOS have the edge in that they have six games to play with Kiwanis and Juniors five. The teams are closely clustered and anyone of the three may finish and SACOS both took the measure of Juniors who are

How They Stand

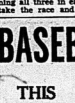
Following is the standing of the Belleville Intermediate A League up to and including August 10:

	W	L	T
RCAF Flyers	17	12	3
Batawa	15	10	3
SWACOS	14	7	6
Latta	14	7	6
Kiwanis	12	7	5
Napanee	15	1	14

EXPENSIVE POLISH

Diamond dust saved from cutting is used for fine polishing.

BASEBALL THIS WEEK



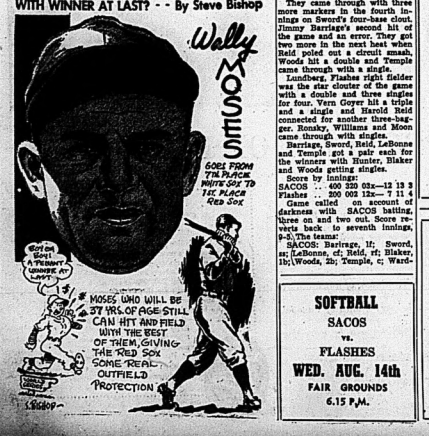
TONIGHT
Aug. 13—Open Date

WEDNESDAY
Aug. 14—Napanee vs. SWACO at Alemite

THURSDAY
Aug. 15—Bata vs. Juniors. at Alemite

Aug. 15—Swaco vs. Napanee at Napanee

ALL GAMES 6.30 P.M.
Admission 25c. Children 10c



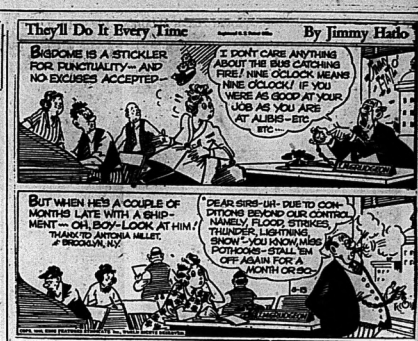
BOXING

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14th
HUME ARENA
MAIN BOUT — 5 ROUNDS
BILL WESTFALL vs. LAC D. LAPORTE
147 lbs., Trenton RCAF Mt. View, 147 lbs.
SEMI FINAL — 4 ROUNDS
"SOUP" MONDEVILLE vs. ERNIE MAJURIE
Belleville District 147 lbs champion Diamond A.C. Toronto
6 OTHER GOOD BOUTS
Tickets on Sale at Bill Cook's Cigar Store
FIRST BOUT STARTS PROMPTLY AT 8.30
A15-tf

WRESTLING

HUME ARENA
FRIDAY AUGUST 16th
MAIN BOUT
STEVE CRUSHER CASEY vs. LEE HENNING
KARL KRIPPLER DAVIS vs. WARREN BOCKWINKLE
JAN GOTCH vs. FRANK TAYLOR
DOORS OPEN 8 P. M. BOUTS AT 8.45 P. M.
Popular Prices — Tickets, Cook's Tobacco Shop

SOFTBALL
SACOS
vs.
FLASHES
WED. AUG. 14th
FAIR GROUNDS
6.15 P.M.



Baseball Results

(By The Canadian Press)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Brooklyn	66	42	.611
St. Louis	64	41	.610
Chicago	57	46	.553
Boston	52	52	.500
Cincinnati	51	53	.490
New York	48	59	.449
Philadelphia	45	59	.433
Pittsburgh	42	63	.400

Monday: New York 2, Brooklyn 1; Cincinnati 2, Pittsburgh 3; St. Louis 3, Chicago 0.

Tuesday: New York-Brooklyn; Philadelphia-Boston; St. Louis - Chicago; Cincinnati-Pittsburgh.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Boston	77	33	.700
New York	63	45	.583
Detroit	60	46	.566
Washington	55	55	.500
Cleveland	52	57	.477
Chicago	48	61	.440
St. Louis	47	60	.439
Philadelphia	32	77	.295

Monday: Detroit 3, Cleveland 2; Chicago - Louis postponed, wet grounds.

Tuesday: Washington - New York; Boston-Philadelphia; Detroit-Cleveland; Chicago - St. Louis (2).

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Montreal	80	41	.661
Baltimore	63	55	.534
Buffalo	61	57	.517
Newark	62	58	.517
Syracuse	61	60	.504
Toronto	55	67	.451
Rochester	49	71	.408
Jersey City	44	76	.367

Monday: Newark 4-0, Toronto 6-1; Baltimore 1, Montreal 8; Rochester 6-7, Syracuse 3-0; Jersey City 4-3, Buffalo 0-4.

Tuesday: Newark (2) Toronto (2); Baltimore-Montreal; Rochester - Syracuse; Jersey City-Buffalo (2).

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Aug. 13 — (CP) — One of these days Canada may be able to lay partial claim to producing a brother baseball battery to rival the great Cooper combine.

True the Ersaut Brothers learned most of their diamond manners in the United States but both Eddie of Hollywood Stars and Joe of Toronto Maple Leafs were born in Vibank, Sask.

Eddie is the pitching half of the battery and Joe does the catching. Although our Pacific Coast scouts couldn't learn much of his chucking record, brother Joe's reports right-handed Eddie has been sold to Cincinnati Reds for $50,000 — and Eddie receives half of that largeish wad.

The 23 and two years elder than his brother, Joe Ersaut is playing sparkling ball behind the plate for the Leafs after serving with Uncle Sam's army. If he can fatten his batting average as should soon be heading for the big time to join Eddie.

Business-like Beak Buster:

Toronto's Jack (Spider) Armstrong who recently made an unsuccessful bid for the world featherweight crown, not only manages himself across the border these days but has acquired a stable of four other scrappers. Middleweight Tommy Bland and featherweight Ted Swain, fellow Torontonians, are among Spider's charges.

Retirements unlimited: When Ottawa Rough Riders lost Lou Eisenda's all-time football greats the scribes with probably include the name of Annis Stukus, if for no other reason than the placement-kicking backfielder has supplied them with retirement stories for eight successive seasons.

Around Dominion-final time each year big Stuke decides his elongated frame has taken enough battering and some sport scriven-er with an ear to the dressing room keyhole breaks the story that Annis has hung up his cleats for keeps.

Last year Stuke's former boss and Ottawa Star) Lytle, scooped the "scoop" but when Toronto Indians staged their first workout the other night Annis was among those present.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Minneapolis 9, Toledo 3; Milwaukee 8, Indianapolis 4; Kansas City 2, Louisville 10; St. Paul 2, Columbus 3.

D'J'EVER?

DAWES BLACK HORSE BREWERY

SHAVING'S A CINCH With Minora Blades!

★ For comfort and speed, you can't equal Minora's in its class. It's the quality blade in the low-price field!

FITS YOUR DOUBLE-EDGE RAZOR

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Famous Player

This bridge rule of playing third hand high is a good basis to work from. In the absence of something better, use it. Cover with your winning card when partner leads and you are thus third hand.

Experienced players, however, diminishes that rule with a few adjustments. They fit the rule to what they see and know. In some cases they save tricks by playing third hand low.

In the east you have kid spades and south becomes the declarer at three no-trump. The spades in that deal are as shown here:

NORTH
♠K Q 10

WEST — EAST
♠8 4 — ♠A J 9 5 3

SOUTH
♠7 6 5 2

Your partner in the west leads the spade nine. This tells you he has less than four spades. If dummy plays the queen, suppose you play ace and third hand high to win that trick. See what happens.

Dummy retains a stopper in that suit with the king. It will be the third round of spades until before you get in again. Partner may not have that many spades to lead or that many entries to lead.

On the other hand, suppose you refuse to take the first trick. Go third hand low. Now your dummy queen keep that first trick. Now see what it can do for your side.

The next time partner gets in and leads a spade, your ace and jack are over the dummy king and ten. You are in a position, too, if declarer leads the second round of this suit.

You can cover any cards in spades played by dummy on the second round. Lead your highest remaining spade to pick up the dummy's third card. Now your fourth spade is another trick.

A rule is intended as a guide to help you win the most tricks for your pair. If you see a way of making more some other way, go to it. Check a rule overboard if you must.

Give it the works.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 13 —(AP)— Knocking the movie town in an international pastime, participated in by such diverse personalities as Russian Journalist Ilya Ehrenburg, Conductor Sir Thomas Beecham and members of American women's clubs and the House of Commons, George Murphy wants to do something about answering them.

BLACKHEADS

simply disappear and disappear, by this one simple method. Just wash with Resinol Soap, the cream of specialist prescription soaps, and then apply Resinol Ointment. Clear, fresh skin usually results promptly. Inexpensive; sold by druggists everywhere. Resinol will help you.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION

ONTARIO CAR FERRY

From Cobourg Dock

WED. AUG. 14th

8.30 P.M. D. S. T.

Under Auspices Travellers' Holstore Club
Tickets available at Belvedere Hotel, Cook's Cigar Store or Boat
DANCING — Ticket 75c — ENTERTAINMENT

East to West OGDEN'S Rolls Best

Easy to roll—delightful to smoke

AT THE McCARTHY — Gene Tierney and Henry Fonda are starred in "The Return of Frank James," which, along with "Jesse James," will be presented on the same program at the McCarthy Theatre starting today. Tyrone Power is starred with Henry Fonda in the latter film. Both pictures, acclaimed as two of the greatest Westerns ever filmed, are 20th Century-Fox encore triumphs.

The dancing actor, who is president of the Screen Actors Guild and a leader in the community, says that answer to such criticism is helter-skelter and ineffective; that some people get the impression actors are wife-beating opium eaters and the industry is controlled by (1) the capitalists, or (2) the communists.

"It is strange," said Murphy, "and in a town which abounds with press agents, that no agency to promote public relations for the industry as a whole.

So he is proposing a motion picture public relations bureau with a governing board including representatives of all phases of the industry. The bureau would inform the world of constructive activities in Hollywood and answer the town's international critics.

Paul Henreid is burning at Warners because of the billing on "Human Bondage," which topline Bette Eleanor Parker, although he is the obvious star . . . Fast pocket work by Bob Hope saved his house from burning down. Fancy candles singed part of a room before he snuffed the smoke, he tells me.

The National Safety Council has requested movie producers to show safe driving at all time on the screen. Gene Autry drove about his mind on the road. Even if Gene Turner is sitting beside him?

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Stan Musial, Cardinals — Collected four hits against Cubs, running streak to 23 hits in 14 at bats, as St. Louis blanked Chicago 5-0.

Pete Reiser, Dodgers — Singled home Dick Whitman with winning run in seventh inning of 3-2 edge over Giants.

Ed Hahn, Reds — Scattered 7 hits to hand Cincinnati seventh straight loss 3-2.

Fred Apostoli, 158, who once held a disputed claim to the world's middleweight title, started a comeback after 14-year layoff, by scoring a technical knockout at San Francisco last night over Pedro Jiminez, 160, Cuba, in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round fight.

LATTA STRATEGY BACKFIRES AND SWACOS WIN 9-4

Management Switches Hurlers With the Score Tied and Relieving Pitcher Pummelled

It was a ball game up until the fateful seventh. The score was all tied up at four-all with SWACOS scoring three in the first and one in the sixth, and Latta matching the precocious by picking one in the first and three in the sixth.

Then the Latta management decided to take no chances for SWACOS had developed a gleam in their batting eyes. So they yanked lefthander Hall and sent in Joe Marsh to finish the chore. And that is where they erred.

SWACOS' took Marsh's first pitch to the slants of the husky hurler, bounced one for a base hit, plus gifts of two walks and a hit by pitcher, and when the smoke had cleared had scored five runs to win the parties 9-4.

Hall and Comstock Barriage, venerable SWACO hurler had doubled wisely for six innings. Barriage had restricted the Latta bats to two hits and one run up until the seventh. Hall had also lowed but four scratch hits, one run had scored off two of them in the first innings. Latta had shoved one runner across in the third, and two more along until the sixth with SWACOS holding a two-run lead.

Strategy Backfired

The city buckaroos scored another in the seventh and Latta promptly came back with a trio when Dargavel rapped two hits and the game was all tied up.

Then came the Latta strategy of switching pitchers. Relieving Hall on the mound, and the decision, was SWACO meat. Lefthander promptly walked Generaux and Fitzpatrick and Smith and Reid. Rowbotham drove in both runners with a neat single, Fitzpatrick slipped across the centre and Letty Whitman was hit by the pitcher. Latchford smote a safe hit that scored the run that came in. Elliott went out and Fitzpatrick scored on a force-out since at the plate filed out to end the agony.

Generaux was the stick artist for SWACO with a triple and single, Rowbotham connected for a brace. Chapman, Lawrenson, Shannon hit safely for the losers.

Box Score:

SWACO	AB	R	H	PO	A
Generaux cf.	3	2	2	1	0
E. Smith rf.	2	1	1	2	0
Rowbotham 3b.	3	1	2	0	3
Gerow ss.	4	1	1	4	5
Whitman lb.	2	2	0	8	1
Reid c.	3	0	0	5	0
Elliott c.	4	0	0	5	0
Dargavel lf.	3	0	1	0	0
Barriage p.	1	0	0	0	2
xFitzpatrick	3	2	1	0	0
Totals	30	9	7	21	11

xBatted for Donovan in 7th.

Latta	AB	R	H	PO	A
Collins cf.	3	0	0	1	0
Weeks, rf.	4	0	1	0	0
Chapman ss.	4	0	1	2	3
Empson lf.	4	1	1	2	0
Keon c.	4	0	1	7	0
Marsh 3b, 2b, p.	3	0	0	0	1
Shannon 1b.	3	2	1	9	0
Lawrenson rf, 2b	2	0	1	0	2
Hall rf, 2b, p.	3	0	0	0	1
xMarsole c	2	0	0	3	0
zzRogers	1	0	0	0	3
Totals	39	4	6	24	11

xPlayed for Weeks in 4th.
zzBatted and played for Lawrenson in 8th.

SWACO	300 001 5—9	7	5
Latta	100 003 0—4	6	4

Summary: Errors, Gerow 3, Whitman, Donovan, Lawrenson, Marsh, Keon 2; Runs batted in, Chapman, Shannon, Smith, Latchford, Rowbotham 2; Three base hit, Generaux; Stolen bases, Whitman, Donovan, Weeks, Chapman, Shannon 2, Lawrenson, Rogers; Sacrifices, Smith, Barriage; Double plays, Marsh to Chapman to Shannon; Left on bases, SWACO 8, Latta 7; Bases on balls, off Barriage 2, off Hall 1; off Marsh 2; Strikeouts, by Barriage 4, by Hall 3, by Marsh 1; Hits off Barriage 4 for 4 runs in 7 innings; Hall 4 for 4 runs in 1 innings; Marsh 3 for 5 runs in 1 innings; Hit by pitcher, by Hall (Rowbotham, Whitman); Passed balls, Elliott 1, Keon 2; Winning pitcher, Barriage; Losing pitcher, Marsh; Umpires: Plate, Thomas; bases, Pointer, Scorer, B. Shapiro. Time 1.40.

Major League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

NATIONAL
Batting—Musial, St. Louis .375
Runs—Musial, St. Louis 69
Runs batted in—Ott, New York 85
Home runs—Mize, New York 22
Stolen bases—Reiser, Brooklyn 25
Pitching—Dickson, St. Louis 11-3 .786

AMERICAN
Batting—Vernon, Washington .351
Runs—Williams, Boston 110
Hits—Peaky, Boston 151
Doubles—Vernon and Spence, Washington 36
Triples—Edwards, Cleveland 11
Home runs—Williams, Boston 31
Stolen bases—Case, Cleveland 25

Stan Musial's Slugging Spree, Revival of Card Mound Corps May Sound End of the Dodgers

Manager Eddie Dyer Has Pitchers Ready for the Stretch Run

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

Stan Musial's slugging spree of 12 hits in his last 14 tries, coupled with the revival of the Cardinal pitching staff, have put the Cards only half a game or one percentage point, back of the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

Important to the Cardinal pennant aspirations is the record form of pitchers Johnny Beazley and Al Brazle. Manager Eddie Dyer has manipulated his staff all season so as to have Howie Pollet, Harry Brecheen and Murray Dickson ready for the Dodgers and the top team only to have Beazley and Brazle fall him in the last series.

Beazley now has two straight victories and Brazle's three-hit, 5-0 job on Chicago yesterday may be an indication of things to come.

The Cubs find themselves daily getting back closer and closer to the fourth-place Boston Braves. Claude Passeau, who twisted his aching back trying to field Marty Marion's slow bouncer in the third inning, was the loser as St. Louis came up with three runs in the inning.

Brooklyn held the lead by rallying with three runs in the seventh inning for a 3-2 decision over New York Giants homers by Walker Cooper and ex-Dodger Jack Graham had given Ken Trinkle a 2-0 margin until then singles, a walk and an error by Toronto's Goody Rosen changed the picture.

Vic Lombardi recorded his 9th inning in a row over the Giants. He was lifted for a pinch hitter and Ralph Branca finished.

Cincinnati lost its seventh straight, bowing to Pittsburgh's Ed Bahr 2-2. The rookie, righthander scattered seven hits, including three doubles by first baseman Bert Haas, to decision Al Heusser.

Detroit shaded Cleveland, 3-2, in 10 innings in the only American League tilt, moving to within two games of the second place New York Yankees. Al Benton, who got the verdict, and George Caster teamed up on a three-hit pitching job to defeat Joe Berry.

A scheduled Chicago-St. Louis Browns night game was rained out. Others were not scheduled.

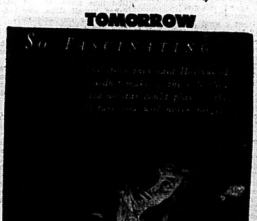
WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE

Water covers 143,000,000 square miles of the earth's 179,000,000 square miles of area.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

B-E-L-L-E	McCARTHY	CAPITOL
"Bad Buccaneer" (Wallace Beery, Margaret O'Brien, Marjorie Main) 2.00—3.30—8.30	"Return of Frank James" 2.30 — 7 p.m. — 10.20 "Jesse James" 4.50 p.m. — 8.35	"Saint Francis of Assisi" 1.30 — 5.30 "Adventures of Chico" 3.55

TOMORROW



DOROTHY McGUIRE
GEORGE BRENT
ETHEL BARRYMORE
The Spiral Staircase
with KENT SMITH — RHONDA FLEMING GORDON OLIVER — ELSA LANCHESTER and RADIO HOUR

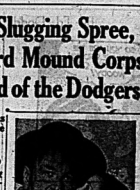
Also — Musical Revue "WALL STREET BLUES" — Belle Newsreel
DONALD DUCK CARTOON
DAILY — 2.30; 7.00; 9.10

BELLE
A FAMOUS FAMILY ATTRACTION



AT THE CAPITOL—St. Francis renounces his wealthy companions in "St. Francis of Assisi" (everybody's Saint) now showing at the Capitol with a special matinee tomorrow at 2 p.m. On the same program "The Adventures of Chico" the most unusual picture of the year.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

(By The Columbian Press)

The Kimberly Clark team of Niagara Falls, N.Y., last night defeated Alan Steele at Welland 5-3 in their best of five series for the Niagara Senior Baseball League championship.

Their win last night made it two straight wins over Welland for the Niagara team.

Jimmy Chambers, Niagara southpaw, was credited with the win although Freddie Webber had to come to his rescue in the eighth frame after a Welland circuit clout with a man on base was followed by a single by Jack Fairs. Webber prevented further damage.

Home run drives by Kimberly's Tommy Rotella and Welland's Bob Milmcroff were batting highlights.

AIR RAID CASUALTIES

Sixty thousand British civilians were killed in air raids during the war.

TORONTO LEAFS WIN TWIN BILL FROM THE BEARS

Joe Coleman Allows But One Hit in Defeating Newark In Second Game

(By The Associated Press)

Newark Bears, one of the International League's leading aggregations fold up like an according tonight when Joe Coleman of Toronto Maple Leafs toes the mound against them.

Coleman, 24-year-old righthander on option to the Leafs from Philadelphia Athletics of the American League blanked the Bears 1-0 on one hit last night after the Leafs had taken the opener of a twin bill 6-4.

The win was Coleman's 10th of the season and his fifth shutout triumph. Four of his victories have been over the Bears including three shutouts. In 36 innings, Newark has garnered only 21 hits off the 195-pound tosser and scored four runs.

Bobby Brown ruined Coleman's bid for a no hitter by singling the second inning.

Buffalo Bisons moved to within one percentage point of the second-place Baltimore Orioles by dividing a doubleheader with Jersey City Giants while the Orioles dropped an 8-1 contest to the league leading Montreal Royals.

After Jersey City's Herb Andrews had blanked the Bisons 4-0 in the curtain raiser, the Bisons came back to take the nightcap, 4-3 when rookie outfielder Earl Rapp belted a grand slam home run off southpaw Digk Hoover with two out in the ninth inning. Round-tripers by Joe Lefels, Dick Lajeskie and Bob Thomas highlighted the Giants' first game triumph.

Portsider Steve Nehy limited the Orioles to three hits and fanned 11 in turning in his 14th victory of the season for Montreal. The seventh-place Rochester Red Wings captured both ends of a doubleheader from Syracuse Chiefs, taking the opener 6-3 and the nightcap 7-0.

Torrid Batting Pace Puts Musial In Top Position

New York, Aug. 113 —(AP)— Stan Musial's torrid batting pace, which added 12 points to his average and advanced the St. Louis Cardinal star from third to first place in the National League, overshadowed all other batting feats during the week ending Sunday.

Although both Mickey Vernon of Washington and Ted Williams of Boston dropped off, they retained their respective positions in the American League race. Vernon topped the heap with a .351 average, including Sunday's games. Williams' second place .346 was eight points better than Johnny Pesky of Boston who was hitting .344.

Musial scorched past both Dixie Walker of Brooklyn and Jeanny Hopp of Boston with a eight-hit day Sunday against Cincinnati.

While the St. Louis outfielder was boosting his mark to .362, Hopp was slipping off to .344 and Walker was nose-diving from the lead to third place at .343, a 15-point drop.

Johnny Mize of New York, sidelined with a broken hand, remained in the National League's fourth place at .339, followed by Phil Cavaretta of Chicago, .302.

TODAY — WED.
COMPLETE SHOWS 7 — 8.45
2 FIRST CITY SHOWINGS

"One of the screen's truly great triumphs! Unanimously proclaimed."

ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI
(Everybody's Saint)

EXTRA ADDED
"The Adventures of CHICO"

Helen Allen in the Dramatic Technicolor role R * * * one of the most delightful animal pictures ever made. Also Chapter 7 of "Charge of a Million Hearts" — The turbulence of real life."

SPECIAL MATINEE WEDNESDAY at 2.15
SEND THE CHILDREN — FREE!
DOORS OPEN AT 1.30

CAPITOL
A 20th Century Theatre

FROM 20TH CENTURY-FOX'S TREASURE CHEST OF HITS!
THE JAMES BOYS RIDE AGAIN!
. . . to thrill you anew in their most exciting adventures!

STARTS TODAY!
COMMENCING 2.00 P.M.
McCarthy

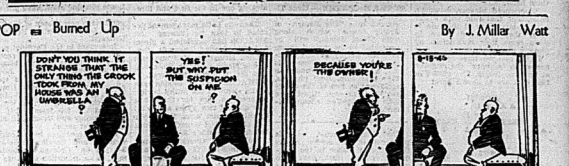
FRIDAY—Walter Wanger's "Canyon Passage" in Technicolor with DANA ANDREWS SUSAN HAYWARD

MARK TRAIL — By Ed Dodd

LIL ABNER — A Fair Trial — By Al Capp

BRINGING UP FATHER — By George McManus

POP — Burned Up — By J. Millar Watt



TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS — By Chic Young

BLONDIE — Get a Re-tale, Dagwood — By Chic Young

JOHNNY HAZARD — By Frank Robbins

TILLIE THE TOILER — A Fine Romance — By Russ Westover

Dotted Line Honeymoon

By Joseph McCord

CHAPTER 7.

"Something wrong?" Larry's heart sank. And just as he had decided all over again that little Jackie was the most beautiful thing in the world. He did love her! He had worked hours over that contract, trying to make things as easy as possible for Jack. What had he done?

He could not know that the girl was wondering what kept her from tearing the pen to bits. She could only nod miserably in answer to the question.

"Tell me, "he begged in a low tone. "It's all right."

"I couldn't...do that," she faltered.

"Do what? Which paragraph is it?"

"Four." Jacqueline managed it with a little gulp.

"Oh...that one! Bgt of course you can! I told you this was strictly a business proposition, until you were ready to make it forgetting."

He dragged a long envelope from that same inner pocket.

"It's only right that you should have security for what you're doing for me. I have to have it one other way. It's the one sensible thing to do. You'll see that when you think it over. You'll find a few government bonds there. They're yours to use as you like. Incidentally, there's a receipt showing they were purchased by me in my own name...from the Guaranty Trust. So you needn't worry about the source. Property of the holder, of course. Do you happen to have a safety deposit box?"

"Yes."

Jacqueline almost could have smiled at that. The memory of that flat tin box in the catacombs of the Second National, safeguarded those garnish Southern Furniture certificates. Mr. Cutter seemed to think that this long engagement might keep company with that other dreadful investment.

"Then you'd better chuck those things in it," he advised. "They have almost the look of money. Better, because it saves going through the banking transaction. There's to be no more discussion about your holding them. That's all settled. I hope there's nothing really serious in that paper! Seriously wrong, I mean."

Jacqueline shook her head helplessly. Then she offered explanation and feminine objection.

"The envelope is too long to go in my bag."

"Then stick it in...Oh, anywhere. Until you get home. Keep the contract, too. All the damaging evidence." Larry essayed a grin. Something told him that the first skirmish in his battle was won.

His smile faded as Jacqueline looked at him steadily to ask, with a little gulp, "Are you sure?"

"Oh...that one! Bgt of course you can! I told you this was strictly a business proposition, until you were ready to make it forgetting."

He dragged a long envelope from that same inner pocket.

"It's only right that you should have security for what you're doing for me. I have to have it one other way. It's the one sensible thing to do. You'll see that when you think it over. You'll find a few government bonds there. They're yours to use as you like. Incidentally, there's a receipt showing they were purchased by me in my own name...from the Guaranty Trust. So you needn't worry about the source. Property of the holder, of course. Do you happen to have a safety deposit box?"

"Yes."

Jacqueline almost could have smiled at that. The memory of that flat tin box in the catacombs of the Second National, safeguarding those garnish Southern Furniture certificates. Mr. Cutter seemed to think that this long engagement might keep company with that other dreadful investment.

"Then you'd better chuck those things in it," he advised. "They have almost the look of money. Better, because it saves going through the banking transaction. There's to be no more discussion about your holding them. That's all settled. I hope there's nothing really serious in that paper! Seriously wrong, I mean."

Jacqueline shook her head helplessly. Then she offered explanation and feminine objection.

"The envelope is too long to go in my bag."

"Then...stick it in...Oh, anywhere. Until you get home. Keep the contract, too. All the damaging evidence." Larry essayed a grin. Something told him that the first skirmish in his battle was won.

His smile faded as Jacqueline looked at him steadily to ask, with a little gulp, "Are you sure that there be in a contract?"

"Why...supposedly. Why?"

"Because you have signed this, but...There's no place for my name anywhere."

"I know that, "he responded with quick gruffness. "I'm not asking you to sign. I told you I wasn't asking for anything...Now."

"But you would be willing to sign...but be fair. I can't do that. I gave you my word. Please make some dotted lines for me."

Larry grinned. Larry reached for the paper and produced a fountain pen. Jacqueline leaned forward and watched him jab a neat row of inky dots just above his name.

When he had finished, he held out the pen. Jacqueline took it, and, with steady fingers, wrote her name in small neat characters. She recalled afterwards how cold her hands were.

"There," he said.

Larry drew a long breath as Jacqueline laid down the pen. "You always would be terribly square about things," he told her in a low strained voice. "I know that from the very first. You can't understand what this means to me...not to be fair. I can't do that. I gave you my word. Please make some dotted lines for me."

Larry grinned. Larry reached for the paper and produced a fountain pen. Jacqueline leaned forward and watched him jab a neat row of inky dots just above his name.

When he had finished, he held out the pen. Jacqueline took it, and, with steady fingers, wrote her name in small neat characters. She recalled afterwards how cold her hands were.

"There," he said.

Larry drew a long breath as Jacqueline laid down the pen. "You always would be terribly square about things," he told her in a low strained voice. "I know that from the very first. You can't understand what this means to me...

"Then you'd better chuck those things in it," he advised. "They have almost the look of money. Better, because it saves going through the banking transaction. There's to be no more discussion about your holding them. That's all settled. I hope there's nothing really serious in that paper! Seriously wrong, I mean."

Jacqueline shook her head helplessly. Then she offered explanation and feminine objection.

"The envelope is too long to go in my bag."

"Then...stick it in...Oh, anywhere. Until you get home. Keep the contract, too. All the damaging evidence." Larry essayed a grin. Something told him that the first skirmish in his battle was won.

His smile faded as Jacqueline looked at him steadily to ask, with a little gulp, "Are you sure that there be in a contract?"

"Why...supposedly. Why?"

"Because you have signed this, but...There's no place for my name anywhere."

"I know that, "he responded with quick gruffness. "I'm not asking you to sign. I told you I wasn't asking for anything...Now."

"But you would be willing to sign...but

TO LET

FURNISHED COTTAGE, RIDEAU, 1 mile from Manotick, 2 bdrs, hot water heat. Phone 2-2-2 Manotick. A12-3t

ROOM WITH OR WITHOUT BOARD. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

FOUR-ROOM APARTMENT TO SUBLET to reliable couple. Apply 1 Bruce St. Telephone 2-4-4 Manotick. A12-3t

4 OR 5 ROOM APARTMENT on Bank St. Suitable for couple. Write Box 80 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

BEDROOM—SUITABLE FOR ONE OR two gentlemen. Phone 2-5-5 Manotick. A12-3t

EXCHANGE RENTAL, NICE 6 ROOM house, Ottawa, for 4 or 5 room house, Belleville. Write Box 81 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

COTTAGE, ONITE, SHORE OF CAT-aract, 2 miles Napanee. Apply Box 82 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

OPTOMETRISTS

NORMAN E. EDWARDS, R.O.
G. S. WONNACOTT, R.O.
OPTOMETRISTS
Optical Dispensers
OFFICE HOURS—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m.
WEDNESDAY — 9 to 12 a.m. 2 to 4 p.m. by Appointment

CONTRACTOR

FRED ELGIE
BONDED BUILT-UP ROOFING CONTRACTOR
Gravel—Slag—Asbestos
BELLEVILLE — 348

OLD TAVERN BAR-B-Q
39 BRIDGE ST. E. PHONE 3138
Have your next Banquet, Wedding, Stag, Dinner or Party, in our Fifteen Dining Rooms.

MEDICAL

DR. LILY B. MATHESON
202 PINNACLE STREET
Phone 32 BELLEVILLE
OFFICE HOURS:
9.30 to 11.00 a.m.
2.30 to 4.30 p.m.
and by Appointment.

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY
9.30 a.m. to 11.30 a.m.
Dorothy Matheson Hall

ACCOUNTANTS

LAVIOLETTE and SAUNDERSON
Chartered Accountants
Monthly audits, financial statements, etc.
Victoria Bldg. Phone 3214
Kingston Bld. 2134

A. M. RICHARDS & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Phone 3232 BELLEVILLE

DAVID STONE & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Income Tax Consultants
EXCHANGE BUILDING — 2 FRONT ST.
Telephone 212

W. S. STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT
205 PINNACLE STREET
(Head of Campbell Street)
Telephone 205

PHILLIPS M. TILL
Certified Public Accountant
Victory Bldg. Phone 3234 BELLEVILLE

MILLER & STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS
210 Front St. Phone 3241
Toronto, Ont. 27 Dundas E. 2
Phone 1256 Phone 2-0614

CHIROPRACTOR

DR. WYATT, D.C., Chiropractor and Neurocalometer. Hours 9 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m. and Monday and Thursday evenings, 7 to 8 p.m. Graduate of Canadian Chiropractic College, Toronto. Registration numbers for Province of Ontario and Province of Quebec. Lady attendant.

INSURANCE

The thought of fire loses half its terrors when you're protected with Fire Insurance.
SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
76 Front St. Phone 888

HALL & EARLE
ACCIDENT and PLATE GLASS
Insurance. Full Coverage
FRONT ST. PHONE 1180

BUSINESS LINERS

Oil burning heaters for sale with G.E. Oil Burners (Hamilton). Apply to member of Heating Contractors Association of Real Estate Board. Phone 2-6-6 Manotick or the City Hall. Phone 98—Local 20. A12-3t

AUCTION SALE

Tuesday, Aug. 13, 1946, at 1.30 just off Foxboro. Mrs. Pat Gallagher, Bear Beach range, hot water front heater, oil stove, kitchen table and chairs, leather settee, settee, spring mattress, bureau, iron bed, mahogany rocker, barber chair, electric lamps, dining table and chairs, tables, kitchen cabinet, ice box, electric washer, leather rocker, chesterfield, 2 leather chairs, 2 occasional chairs, 2 rugs, couch, walnut; 3 walnut bedroom suites, good bed springs, 2 new mattresses, nearly new. Terms cash.
NORMAN MONTGOMERY,
Auctioneer
Phone 1179, Belleville
A7-4t-12-13

WANTED

SEPT. 1ST, 2ND SITTING ROOM, bedroom in East Hill district or vicinity. Apply Box 83 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

SECRETARIAL WORK WANTED. Apply Box 84 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

WANTED TO RENT, 4 OR 5 ROOM house, Belleville or vicinity. Write Box 85 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

GIRL OR WOMAN TO ASSIST WITH housework, 2 in family. Apply 1 Bruce St. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

WANTED GIRL WITH ROOMS TO rent will do housework. Apply Box 86 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

BY SEPT. 1ST, 4 ROOM APARTment or house, with hot water heat. Write Box 87 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

RELIABLE REFINED LADY DESIRES part time. Write Box 88 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

YOUNG MARRIED COUPLE DESIRE to rent 4 room house, Belleville or vicinity. Write Box 89, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

CASH REGISTER, SUITABLE FOR lunch counter, preferably in modern condition. Apply Box 90 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

EXPERIENCED WAITRESS. APPLY to Dominion Restaurant, 252 Front St. Belleville. A12-3t

YOUNG MARRIED COUPLE DESIRE to rent 4 room house, Belleville or vicinity. Write Box 91, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

USED BRICK PRESS, FLOOR MODel preferred. Apply Box 92 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

GIRL FOR HOUSEWORK, SMALL modern home, good wages, permanent position with or apply 301½ Front Phone 3278. A12-3t

SMALL HOUSE BY SEPTEMBER 1ST; to rent, or buy, in or within five miles of Napanee. Write Box 93 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

RELIABLE MAN OR TRUSTWORTHY man for janitor service. Must be interested and able to drive a car. Position permanent if satisfactory. Apply stating age and experience, if married to Box 6, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

YOUNG MAN, AGE 17-20, FOR SHOP room work. Excellent opportunity for advancement. Write Box 11, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED apartment, 3 rooms, minimum 3 months, preferably Belleville. Write Box 12, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

USED CAR BY PRIVATE PARTY FOR cash. Must be in active good condition. Apply stating make, year, price and mileage to Box 13, Intelligencer. A12-3t

GIRL OR WOMAN FOR HOUSEWORK, sleep in good wages small family. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

FURNISHED APARTMENT URGENTly required, approx. 3 rooms. Write Box 14, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

DOUBLE HOUSE, CONVENIENT TO down town or 1 or 2 room house, Belleville. Write Box 15, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

CAPABLE WOMAN TO TAKE charge of fixed kitchen and dining room. Supervisory capacity only. Apply Box 16 Ontario Intelligencer. Experienced preferred but not essential. Good wages and permanent service. A12-3t

URGENTLY ROOMS OR HOUSEkeeping, by quiet couple. No children. Write Box 64, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

10 OR 3 ROOMS FURNISHED OR UNfurnished. Phone 1780 after six. A12-3t

A GOOD STENOGRAPHER AND bookkeeper, by reliable business firm. Must be capable and able to take charge of office. State experience and age. Apply Box 17 Ontario Intelligencer, with right qualifications. Reply in confidence. Interview will be arranged. A12-3t

FEMALE ASSISTANT BOOKKEEPER and cashier. State age and experience if any. References. Apply to Box 23 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

2 SMART SALESLADIES. EXPERience preferred, steady and permanent. Write Box 26 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

TOMATO PICKERS TO HELP PICK on the acres of tomatoes. Apply Gordon Sexsmith, Foxboro. A12-3t

PROTESTANT TEACHER FOR S.S. 13, Sidney. Apply stating qualifications and salary required to Secretary-Treasurer, R. C. Higginbotte, R.R. 2, Belleville. A12-3t

HELP WANTED, MAIN OR FEMALE STENOGRAPHER-BOOKKEEPER. Experienced preferred, for permanent position. Apply, giving complete information as to previous experience, references, etc., to the Secretary, c/o Christian's Electric & Hardware, Oshawa.

LIVE POULTRY, HIGHEST CASH price paid. Orders given prompt attention. Apply M. Marcus, 152 James St., Belleville. Phone 3143. A8-tf

FEATHERS AND FEATHER BEDS of all descriptions, highest prices paid. Write Feather Co., Pauline Apartment, 22 Baldwin St., Toronto.

GIRLS TO LEARN SEWING, EXCELlent working conditions and permanent work. Apply Lathbury's Men's Store. A11-tf

WAITRESS FOR TEA ROOM. PERmanent position. Summer help not considered. Apply Lathbury's Men's Store. A11-tf

MEN WANTED

MAKE A STEADY INCOME SELLING for the World's Largest Health and Household Line. Over 300 products. Experience not essential. We teach you. The only line with a repeat income in your territory. Ted Bell Ltd. Write for further particulars. Nutrilite Health and Beauty Aids, Amherstburg, Ont. A11-tf

Ontario Intelligencer. A7-tf

3 OR 4 ROOMED AUTUMN APARTMENT, heated or unfurnished, urgently needed. Phone Bill Steadman, 621. J2tf

PERSONAL

Rapidor Tablets are effective. 2 weeks treatment 12 weeks $5. At ALL DRUGGISTS. J2tf

AUCTION SALE

Wed., Aug. 14, at 1.30 in village of Foxboro. Mrs. Crawford, several tables, chairs, beds, dressers, stands, kitchen cabinet, kitchen table and chairs, 2 rugs, 2 mirrors, Viking separator, 26 lb., 60 gal. milk cooler, 2 cream cans, steel pails, electric brooder stove, wrenches, plane, steel garden rake, double set harness, 2 collars, etc.
C. BEARNS
Auctioneer

FOR SALE

1 SYRINGUE S.P. 16, 1941 MODEL, 1 Syracuse 14 Derry's Garage, Madoc A12-3t

'39 CHEV. SEDAN IN GOOD RUNning order. Price $500. Apply A. E. Vanduzer, Consecon, Ont. A12-3t

FIRE-FLY HEATERS HANDLY, USED, Phone 1186W or 12 North Front. A12-3t

1 PC. CHESTERFIELD SUITE, GOOD condition, $40. Apply 1 Bruce St. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

DOMINION RADIO-PHONOGRAPHYRADIO, in good condition. Apply Box 94 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

FORD COUPE, SEDAN, MO. 1936, in running order, price $75. L. Smith, R.R. 2, Belleville. A12-3t

TENOR BANJO, TRUMPET, AND clarinet, Martin and Buescher, Reasonable. Phone 3096. A12-3t

TIMDRAY RANGE — COAL AND wood. Apply 1 Bruce St. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

WILDERLY REFINED LADY DESIRES part time. Write Box 95 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

CASH REGISTER, SUITABLE FOR lunch counter, preferably in modern condition. Apply Box 96 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

EXPERIENCED WAITRESS. APPLY to Dominion Restaurant, 252 Front St. Belleville. A12-3t

YOUNG MARRIED COUPLE DESIRE to rent 4 room house, Belleville or vicinity. Write Box 97, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

USED BRICK PRESS, FLOOR MODel preferred. Apply Box 98 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

GIRL FOR HOUSEWORK, SMALL modern home, good wages, permanent position with or apply 301½ Front Phone 3278. A12-3t

SMALL HOUSE BY SEPTEMBER 1ST; to rent, or buy, in or within five miles of Napanee. Write Box 99 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

RELIABLE MAN OR TRUSTWORTHY man for janitor service. Must be interested and able to drive a car. Position permanent if satisfactory. Apply stating age and experience, if married to Box 6, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

YOUNG MAN, AGE 17-20, FOR SHOP room work. Excellent opportunity for advancement. Write Box 11, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED apartment, 3 rooms, minimum 3 months, preferably Belleville. Write Box 12, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

USED CAR BY PRIVATE PARTY FOR cash. Must be in active good condition. Apply stating make, year, price and mileage to Box 13, Intelligencer. A12-3t

GIRL OR WOMAN FOR HOUSEWORK, sleep in good wages small family. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

FURNISHED APARTMENT URGENTly required, approx. 3 rooms. Write Box 14, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

DOUBLE HOUSE, CONVENIENT TO down town or 1 or 2 room house, Belleville. Write Box 15, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

CAPABLE WOMAN TO TAKE charge of fixed kitchen and dining room. Supervisory capacity only. Apply Box 16 Ontario Intelligencer. Experienced preferred but not essential. Good wages and permanent service. A12-3t

URGENTLY ROOMS OR HOUSEkeeping, by quiet couple. No children. Write Box 64, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

10 OR 3 ROOMS FURNISHED OR UNfurnished. Phone 1780 after six. A12-3t

A GOOD STENOGRAPHER AND bookkeeper, by reliable business firm. Must be capable and able to take charge of office. State experience and age. Apply Box 17 Ontario Intelligencer, with right qualifications. Reply in confidence. Interview will be arranged. A12-3t

FEMALE ASSISTANT BOOKKEEPER and cashier. State age and experience if any. References. Apply to Box 23 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

2 SMART SALESLADIES. EXPERience preferred, steady and permanent. Write Box 26 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

TOMATO PICKERS TO HELP PICK on the acres of tomatoes. Apply Gordon Sexsmith, Foxboro. A12-3t

PROTESTANT TEACHER FOR S.S. 13, Sidney. Apply stating qualifications and salary required to Secretary-Treasurer, R. C. Higginbotte, R.R. 2, Belleville. A12-3t

HELP WANTED, MAIN OR FEMALE STENOGRAPHER-BOOKKEEPER. Experienced preferred, for permanent position. Apply, giving complete information as to previous experience, references, etc., to the Secretary, c/o Christian's Electric & Hardware, Oshawa.

LIVE POULTRY, HIGHEST CASH price paid. Orders given prompt attention. Apply M. Marcus, 152 James St., Belleville. Phone 3143. A8-tf

FEATHERS AND FEATHER BEDS of all descriptions, highest prices paid. Write Feather Co., Pauline Apartment, 22 Baldwin St., Toronto.

GIRLS TO LEARN SEWING, EXCELlent working conditions and permanent work. Apply Lathbury's Men's Store. A11-tf

WAITRESS FOR TEA ROOM. PERmanent position. Summer help not considered. Apply Lathbury's Men's Store. A11-tf

MEN WANTED

MAKE A STEADY INCOME SELLING for the World's Largest Health and Household Line. Over 300 products. Experience not essential. We teach you. The only line with a repeat income in your territory. Ted Bell Ltd. Write for further particulars. Nutrilite Health and Beauty Aids, Amherstburg, Ont. A11-tf

3 OR 4 ROOMED AUTUMN APARTMENT, heated or unfurnished, urgently needed. Phone Bill Steadman, 621. J2tf

PERSONAL

Rapidor Tablets are effective. 2 weeks treatment 12 weeks $5. At ALL DRUGGISTS. J2tf

AUCTION SALE

Wed., Aug. 14, at 1.30 in village of Foxboro. Mrs. Crawford, several tables, chairs, beds, dressers, stands, kitchen cabinet, kitchen table and chairs, 2 rugs, 2 mirrors, Viking separator, 26 lb., 60 gal. milk cooler, 2 cream cans, steel pails, electric brooder stove, wrenches, plane, steel garden rake, double set harness, 2 collars, etc.
C. BEARNS
Auctioneer

FOR SALE

1 SYRINGUE S.P. 16, 1941 MODEL, 1 Syracuse 14 Derry's Garage, Madoc A12-3t

'39 CHEV. SEDAN IN GOOD RUNning order. Price $500. Apply A. E. Vanduzer, Consecon, Ont. A12-3t

FIRE-FLY HEATERS HANDLY, USED, Phone 1186W or 12 North Front. A12-3t

1 PC. CHESTERFIELD SUITE, GOOD condition, $40. Apply 1 Bruce St. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

DOMINION RADIO-PHONOGRAPHYRADIO, in good condition. Apply Box 94 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

FORD COUPE, SEDAN, MO. 1936, in running order, price $75. L. Smith, R.R. 2, Belleville. A12-3t

TENOR BANJO, TRUMPET, AND clarinet, Martin and Buescher, Reasonable. Phone 3096. A12-3t

TIMDRAY RANGE — COAL AND wood. Apply 1 Bruce St. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

WILDERLY REFINED LADY DESIRES part time. Write Box 95 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

CASH REGISTER, SUITABLE FOR lunch counter, preferably in modern condition. Apply Box 96 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

EXPERIENCED WAITRESS. APPLY to Dominion Restaurant, 252 Front St. Belleville. A12-3t

YOUNG MARRIED COUPLE DESIRE to rent 4 room house, Belleville or vicinity. Write Box 97, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

USED BRICK PRESS, FLOOR MODel preferred. Apply Box 98 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

GIRL FOR HOUSEWORK, SMALL modern home, good wages, permanent position with or apply 301½ Front Phone 3278. A12-3t

SMALL HOUSE BY SEPTEMBER 1ST; to rent, or buy, in or within five miles of Napanee. Write Box 99 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

RELIABLE MAN OR TRUSTWORTHY man for janitor service. Must be interested and able to drive a car. Position permanent if satisfactory. Apply stating age and experience, if married to Box 6, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

YOUNG MAN, AGE 17-20, FOR SHOP room work. Excellent opportunity for advancement. Write Box 11, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED apartment, 3 rooms, minimum 3 months, preferably Belleville. Write Box 12, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

USED CAR BY PRIVATE PARTY FOR cash. Must be in active good condition. Apply stating make, year, price and mileage to Box 13, Intelligencer. A12-3t

GIRL OR WOMAN FOR HOUSEWORK, sleep in good wages small family. Phone 2-3-3 Manotick. A12-3t

FURNISHED APARTMENT URGENTly required, approx. 3 rooms. Write Box 14, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

DOUBLE HOUSE, CONVENIENT TO down town or 1 or 2 room house, Belleville. Write Box 15, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

CAPABLE WOMAN TO TAKE charge of fixed kitchen and dining room. Supervisory capacity only. Apply Box 16 Ontario Intelligencer. Experienced preferred but not essential. Good wages and permanent service. A12-3t

URGENTLY ROOMS OR HOUSEkeeping, by quiet couple. No children. Write Box 64, Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

10 OR 3 ROOMS FURNISHED OR UNfurnished. Phone 1780 after six. A12-3t

A GOOD STENOGRAPHER AND bookkeeper, by reliable business firm. Must be capable and able to take charge of office. State experience and age. Apply Box 17 Ontario Intelligencer, with right qualifications. Reply in confidence. Interview will be arranged. A12-3t

FEMALE ASSISTANT BOOKKEEPER and cashier. State age and experience if any. References. Apply to Box 23 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

2 SMART SALESLADIES. EXPERience preferred, steady and permanent. Write Box 26 Ontario Intelligencer. A12-3t

TOMATO PICKERS TO HELP PICK on the acres of tomatoes. Apply Gordon Sexsmith, Foxboro. A12-3t

PROTESTANT TEACHER FOR S.S. 13, Sidney. Apply stating qualifications and salary required to Secretary-Treasurer, R. C. Higginbotte, R.R. 2, Belleville. A12-3t

HELP WANTED, MAIN OR FEMALE STENOGRAPHER-BOOKKEEPER. Experienced preferred, for permanent position. Apply, giving complete information as to previous experience, references, etc., to the Secretary, c/o Christian's Electric & Hardware, Oshawa.

LIVE POULTRY, HIGHEST CASH price paid. Orders given prompt attention. Apply M. Marcus, 152 James St., Belleville. Phone 3143. A8-tf

FEATHERS AND FEATHER BEDS of all descriptions, highest prices paid. Write Feather Co., Pauline Apartment, 22 Baldwin St., Toronto.

GIRLS TO LEARN SEWING, EXCELlent working conditions and permanent work. Apply Lathbury's Men's Store. A11-tf

WAITRESS FOR TEA ROOM. PERmanent position. Summer help not considered. Apply Lathbury's Men's Store. A11-tf

MEN WANTED

MAKE A STEADY INCOME SELLING for the World's Largest Health and Household Line. Over 300 products. Experience not essential. We teach you. The only line with a repeat income in your territory. Ted Bell Ltd. Write for further particulars. Nutrilite Health and Beauty Aids, Amherstburg, Ont. A11-tf

3 OR 4 ROOMED AUTUMN APARTMENT, heated or unfurnished, urgently needed. Phone Bill Steadman, 621. J2tf

PERSONAL

Rapidor Tablets are effective. 2 weeks treatment 12 weeks $5. At ALL DRUGGISTS. J2tf

AUCTION SALE

Wed., Aug. 14, at 1.30 in village of Foxboro. Mrs. Crawford, several tables, chairs, beds, dressers, stands, kitchen cabinet, kitchen table and chairs, 2 rugs, 2 mirrors, Viking separator, 26 lb., 60 gal. milk cooler, 2 cream cans, steel pails, electric brooder stove, wrenches, plane, steel garden rake, double set harness, 2 collars, etc.
C. BEARNS
Auctioneer

SECURITY MARKETS

Quotations furnished by BIGGAR & CRAWFORD
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Belleville Office — Phone 3160 and 3161

Quotations at 1.00 p.m. EDST

	Asked
Aunor	6715
Bankfield	153
Beattie	70
Bidgood	31
Brabazon	1.23
Beaulan	455
Buffalo Ankerite	450
Calgary and Ed.	1.625
Can. Malar.	75
Central Patricia	3.18
Chesterville	375
Dome	21.00
East Mal.	170
Falconbridge	490
Francoeur	80
Gillies L.	18
Hardrock	295
Home Oil	2950
Hollinger	13 1/4
Howey	30
Hudson Bay	44 1/4
Jason	48
Kerr Add.	12
Kirk Lake	1.23
Lake Shore	16 3/8
Leitch	190
Little L. L.	210
Macassa	1.35
McIntyre	85 1/4
McLeod	1.25
McKenzie	93
Mining Corp.	650
Montsk	60
Obrien	200
Omega	20
Paymaster	563
Pamour	1.24
Perron	130
Pend Oreille	200
Pickle Crow	223
Pioneer	4305
Powell	74
Preston E. D.	210
Royalite	13
San Antonio	440
Sherritt G.	380
Sisco	70
Sladen M.	44
Sullivan	195
Sleep Rock	270
Sylvanite	235
T. Hughes	235
Toburn	1.95
Venture	11
W. Amulet	4103
Wr. Hargraves	430
U. Canada	255
Madsen	230
Noranda	55 3/8
Malartic	182

TORONTO

Bell Telephone	203
B. A. Oil	24 3/4
Brewing Corp.	23
Bras. Trac.	34 7-8
Can. Cement	33
Can. Ind. Alcohol	22 1-4B
C.P.R.	15 2-8
Canada Car	16
Cockshutt Plow	15 1-2B
Con. Smelting	96
Dominion Foundries	30
Dominion Stores	26 1-2
Famy Farmer	58
Ford "A"	24
Gypsum	17
Imp. Oil	24
Int. Nickel	36 3-4
Inter. Pet.	1 1-2
Imp. Tobacco	14 3-8B
Loblaw	34 1-2B
Massy Harris	29 1-4B
Power Corp.	12 3-4B
Steel of Canada	38
Walker's	158
Walker's pf.	2010
C.P.A.	20 1-8

Maple Leaf 13 1-2B
NEW YORK
U. S. Steel 81

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Aug. 13. (CP)—Trading was concentrated in the mining stocks in the early session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today and gains of .05 for the golds and .05 for the base metals were posted. Industrials sold down .01 and the Western 0il held unchanged. Volume was fairly heavy at 711,000 shares for the first three hours.

Heavy trading in Quemont at a gain of a point or more, featured the Base Metal group. Mining Corporation firmed 50 cents to $6.50 in Quemont's leadership and other strong Base Metals were Sherritt, Lake, Sylvanite, Sleep Rock and Normetal. Hudson Bay and Noranda posted gains of 1-2 point or more.

Most of the gold issues in the neighborhood of Quemont, including Donalda, Kidona, Macdonald and Powell rivers moved. Donalda at 90 was up 15 cents. The Dupont, Fonda and Manitou issues Industrials were stronger and other Industrial groups weakened.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New York, Aug. 13 (AP) Steels, rubbers, oils and special stocks piloted the market toward recovery today although buying timidity still was conspicuous.

Dealings picked up at intervals after a moderately active opening but slowdowns were frequent. Gains of fractions to two points or more predominated near the fourth hour.

Canadian issues generally were strong at mid-day. Distillers Seagram was up 1-8, Dome Mines 1-2 and International Nickel 1-8. Fifteen Walker, an exception, was off 1-3.

$100,000 People's Recommend HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

At Household Finance you borrow $20 to $1000 quickly, privately, on character or humble security needed. Stop in or write. Ask how we have been of service to you per your money the same day.

Household Finance Corporation is loaned

Size	Amount or monthly payment plan
	6	12	18	24	30
$ 20	21.00
30	31.50
40	42.00	22.00
50	52.50	27.50	19.00
60	63.00	33.00	23.00
70	73.50	38.50	26.50
80	84.00	44.00	30.50
90	94.50	49.50	34.00
100	105.00	55.00	38.00	29.00	24.00

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE
Corporation of Canada
Belleville Office is now at temporary location
377 Chamberlain Building
Bridge Street, Belleville, Ont.
Phone 3161 for appointment.
M. E. Holt, Manager
Loans made to residents of nearby towns

$50,000,000 . . . Serving Industry and Investors through Corporate Finance

Furnishing capital to industry, underwriting securities and distributing them to investors — these are basic functions of the investment industry. Business needs capital; the public wants to put surplus funds to work. By underwriting corporate securities, the investment industry supplies both these needs and performs an important service to industry and investors.

For many years W. C. Pitfield & Company, Limited has undertaken corporate financing in a wide industrial field. A measure of this organization's activity is seen in the fact that during recent months we have originated new financing totalling over $50,000,000 — and, in addition, have participated in the underwriting and distribution of many millions more.

Among those companies whose financing we have recently originated are the following:

Anglo-Canadian Telephone Company
Argus Corporation Limited
Avalon Telephone Company Limited
British Columbia Forest Products Limited
British Columbia Telephone Company
Canada Machinery Corporation Limited
Canadian Breweries Limited
Combined Enterprises Limited
The Cockville Company Limited
R. L. Crain Limited
Donnacona Paper Company Limited
Granby Elastic Web of Canada Limited
Great Eastern Corporation Limited
The Lovspring Company Incorporated
Maritime Telegraph & Telephone Company
National Sea Products Limited
Northwest Industries Limited
Rolland Paper Company Limited
Standard Chemical Company Limited
Super Service Stations Limited

Trustees for the Church of the Ascension of our Lord, Westmount

W. C. Pitfield & Company, Limited
MONTREAL
Halifax Moncton Saint John Ottawa Cornwall
Toronto Vancouver London, Eng. New York

HOGS

Toronto, Aug. 13—(CP)—Grade A dressed, hot bacon-hogs were up 25 cents at Toronto $21.25 delivered, in markets reporting early today. Stratford was unsettled.

WANTED

A patient, male or female, who can give monthly reference on acquaintance. Apply Box 2, Bonfield, Ont. Will travel part.

THE LARGE TENTS LIMITED
225 Front St. Phone 888

DIG YOUR OWN POTATOES 4c lb.

MICHAEL RYAN
9th CON. SIDNEY
R.R. 2 HALLOWAY
A12-3t

FOR SALE
KUMAWAE-INN
(New)
CANNING AND EQUIPMENT
Finest Beach location in North Hastings
Apply
Kumawae-Inn, Lake St. Peter, Ont.
A13-3t

RAWLEIGH PRODUCTS
MR. O. COLES
232½ FRONT ST., APT. 5
Phone 2115W
A13-tf

PAINTING
PAPER HANGING
ESTIMATES GIVEN
WHITMARSH BROS.
49 Purdy St. Phone 2136W
A11-tf

801
DIAMOND TAXI CO.
Mike's 195 LeMoro's 460
J27cod2t

WANTED
EXPERIENCED
PLUMBERS
Highest wages. Best possible working conditions. Apply Box 34, Ontario Intelligencer.
A12-3,6,8,10,13

$ $ $

Dowling is the warmest beach in Toronto according to supervisors. Three lifeguards and four supervisors on the beach protect hundreds of children. Free street cars bring children from distant parts of the city.

Broken bottles such as the one held by Supervisor Charles Gillson at Dowling Ave. beach are among the pile of dangerous debris removed from the beach this past spring by supervisors. The result has been the virtual wiping out of foot injuries to the hundreds of children there daily.

Scores of cases of feet cut by broken glass on the sand or in the shallow water are treated every season at city beaches. Here Mr. Gillson attends to a young bather's injured foot.

British Are Contradictory

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

"There are two England—London and the rest. Londoners despise the Northerners as uncouth, and Northerners regard Londoners as snobs." That statement was made to me by one who might be called a Midlander, who apparently regarded himself as a link between the two. That there is a difference between the people of the north and south of England is obvious to the stranger who traverses that country. For that matter there is a difference between the East and West, and between the people of one city and another. This is probably true of every country, but the difference is most striking between Northerners and Southerners in England—leaving Scotland out of the picture for the moment.

In a previous article on London, I said that Londoners were probably the politest people in the world. By that I did not mean to compare them with the Japanese extensive politeness is a subtle mixture of grovelling and deceit. There is no grovelling about the politeness of the Londoner; on the contrary, while it may be a habit, there is a natural dignity and perhaps touch of superiority in the Londoner's address to strangers. The waiter in the restaurant and the porter in the hotel or the railway station may have an ulterior motive in his politeness, but that can hardly be called deceit. Speaking generally (there are exceptions), this politeness is a formal address of respect for the stranger, implying that "You, sir, are a gentleman and I am a gentleman."

• • •

The Northerner, on the other hand, is generally more informal and frequently blunt in his address. I noticed this first on a train as I approached Newcastle. The carriage was crowded, and I was sitting on my valise in the corridor, when a conductor came along. I asked him, perhaps a little peevishly—if there were no vacant seats on the train. He glanced at me curtly and said, as he walked away, "There's lots of room at the other, and, if you'll go and look for it." This may have been an extreme case, but it is typical of the outspokenness of the Lancashireman, of whom Mr. Bevin is an example.

It would be unfair, however, to say that all Northerners or even all Lancashire people are uncivil. They are not generally polite, and where they are not blunt, they are inclined to regard the stranger critically and size him up before committing themselves. This critical attitude renders them more argumentative than the Southerners. They are born individualists, and when they argue for Socialism they contradict themselves by their critical attitude toward the State. They are still in favor of the Labor Government, for which they voted strongly; but their support is tempered by criticism, and one gets the impression that they would take just as much delight in voting that government out as they did in voting it in.

This same may also be said of the people of Scotland, so far as I was able to judge by my briefer and less extensive visit north of the Tweed. The Glasgow man will start an argument without any provocation. He goes around with a chip on his shoulder. I sat next to two working chaps on a street car, one of whom began to argue on politics as soon as he sat down. At least, I guessed that it was about politics, although I could hardly understand a word of what he was saying in his thick Glasgow accent. He poured out a continual stream of talk in which I caught the word "communism", but whether he was for or against it I could not make out. To get LUCY. . . . .stretedopd q off the car still addressing his companion and finished up with a laugh, as if he had enjoyed himself.

• • •

On another occasion on a street car, a man who was standing in the aisle talking aloud to everybody in general, suddenly turned his attention to me. Laying his hand on my shoulder from behind, he somewhat irrelevantly about "going to the races". I was wearing a tourist cap and a raincoat, for it was a wet day. He may have had a "drop too much", but the occupants of the car did not appear to be concerned over this rudeness.

On yet another occasion while travelling on a bus from Ayr to Glasgow, a working man of middle age sat down beside me and began nudging me toward the window. I moved over as far as I could, but he finally got up and said that if I wanted the whole seat I could have it. I was tired and sleepy after a long day's journey to the Burns' country and I told him that I was in no mood for quarrelling. I took hold of his arm and drew him gently down into the seat and we had a very friendly conversation for the rest of the journey to Glasgow. Imagine that because I was well-dressed he had taken me for an aristocrat and wanted to take me down. He was very keenly interested in Canada and said that he had visited Montreal as a sailor. Canada to him was "God's country". I did not discuss politics with him, as I assumed he was a socialist, if not a communist.

There are many of his type in Glasgow and other of the large industrial cities, but they are too aggressively independent to fit into that kind of social system they think they want. The character of the British people as a whole is very complex and contradictory, because they are very human. But they are of our blood and kin; they will drain our dearest veins, but we shall be free.'

Ontario shows our U.S. visitors

the time of their lives!

Visitors from the States bought over 70,000 angling licences in just one season! These guests help bring us prosperity . . . it's up to us to do all we can to make their visits pleasant!

WHAT CAN I DO? The answer is plenty! Here are some of the things anyone can do. The suggestions come from a well-known Ontario hotelman:

1. Know the places of interest and beauty spots in your district and tell people about them.
2. When you write your friends in the States tell them about the places they would enjoy visiting.
3. Try to make any visitor glad he came to Canada.
4. Take time to give requested information fully and graciously.
5. In business dealings, remember Canada's reputation for courtesy and fairness depends on you.
6. To sum it all up, follow the "Golden Rule."

IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS . . . it's good business!

Worth his weight in gold! The Province of Ontario profits to almost the same extent from tourist business as it does from the gold mining industry. It's up to each of us to see that it goes on growing.

This diagram shows how everyone benefits from the Ontario tourist income. Every dollar is shared this way . . . 1. Hotels; 2. Stores; 3. Restaurants; 4. Taxes, etc.; 5. Amusements; 6. Garages.

It works both ways! They treat us royally, when we visit them . . . we can't do less than return the compliment. Remember, that it costs money to take a holiday . . . so let's see they get a good return for every penny they spend.

"Let's make them want to come back!"

Labatt's

PLANNING A HOLIDAY? Tune in "Ontario Holiday" CFRB, 10.30 p.m., Thur., Fri., and Sat.

PUBLISHED IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST BY JOHN LABATT LIMITED

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was reeding his paper and ma was reeding hers, saying, Sandra Beachhouse is getting a divorce from Linwood Sparks for the most proverbial Hollywood reason, so-called mental cruelty. Really, William, I mean really, it would be tragic if it wasn't so ridiculus: They'll both probably be married again to somebody just another case of off with he oud and on with the new right in the scandalized face of public opinion. Mental cruelty, I have to laugh, she said.

Well, perhaps movie artists are more sensitive than wurking people, pop said, and ma said, That's perfect . . . fiddlesticks. Sandra Beachhouse mearely gave a few fictitious sniffles into her hankerchiff and told the judge that Linwood Sparks was in the constant habit of coming home intoxicated at all hours with all sorts of stray companions. Well, why didn't she use her famous intoxicating personality to keep him home, if she wanted him around the house? ma said.

But my dear, wouldn't you consider it mental cruelty if I gambled away half my income playing poker and spent the other half on hard licker instead of soft ferniture? pop said, and ma said, No I wouldn't. I'd realize you must have blizzing worries, and I'd make every allowance, she said.

But for Peet sake you were reddy to walk out of my life forever the last time we played bridge, just because I gently reminded you that it was my trick you were trumping, pop said, and ma said, That was a completely different horse of another color criticizing my bridge in public when any jury of our friends would convict you of playing a worse game than I do, and you're lucky I'm still living in the same house with you every time I think of it.

The result being pop got behind the sporting page claiming it was a women's world.

HEADACHES EVERY DAY? YOU NEED MORE LIVER BILE

Solomon says two pints daily, yet many only get one.

Liver bile helps digest your food and eradicate your body's unwanted poisons. Lack of bile causes headaches, constipation, indigestion, loss of energy. For dependable tone up your liver and get rounded life with proven fruit-a-tives. Canada's largest selling liver tablets. Made from fruits and herbs.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIVER TABLETS

YOU CAN NOW HAVE AN AMERICAN BANTAM ½ TON ALL-STEEL

UTILITY TRAILER

All Steel Construction—Semi-Elliptic Springs
30 Cu. Ft. Body — Tires 600x16
Heavy Channel Frame — Weight 300#

A NEW ALL-PURPOSE TRAILER—ATTACH TO CAR, TRUCK OR TRACTOR—FOR RETAILERS—WHOLESALERS—MANUFACTURERS—FARMERS—FAMILY USE

BUILT BY AMERICAN BANTAM CAR CO.—BUTLER, PA.

BATEMAN MOTORS LIMITED
11 MOIRA ST. WEST. PHONE 2386

J35cTf

C.D.S. HALF DAY Specials

Store Hours Wednesday 9 a.m. to 12.30 Noon

Shop With Confidence: "Goods Satisfactory or Money Refunded"

Men's Sport Shoes

Men's popular summer sport shoes. Cool and comfortable canvas and leather uppers with rubber or leather soles and heels. Colours: Brown and white, beige and brown. Sizes 6 to 11 in the group. Regular price 2.25. Price, pair 1.98

—C.D.S. Main Floor

Children's Wooden Wheelbarrows

Sturdy wooden wheelbarrows for busy little gardeners. Well constructed with strong wooden wheels and legs. Colours: red and blue. Size about 28" long and 14" high. Regular price 3.25. Each 2.25

—C. D. S. Basement

Unfinished Cape Cod Lawn Chairs And Foot Stools

Well constructed, smooth finished Cape Cod lawn chairs and foot stools . . . chairs with wing back, shaped seat and wide arms. Light weight-easily dismantled and re-assembled. Regular price Cape Cod chairs 4.75. Each 2.29

Regular price foot stools 1.50. Each 59c

C. D. S. Third Floor

Unfinished Lawn Table

Attractive and useful tables which should add a cheerful note to your garden or verandah. Plywood tops, folding legs. Size, diameter of table top about 28". Height about 29". Regular price 4.50. Each 2.25

—C. D. S. Third Floor

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Probabilities
Lake Ontario Region: Thursday, clear and warmer. Low 57, high 75.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	82	60
1 year ago	84	60
Belleville—Clear, warm.

Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1946

3c Per Copy, 18c Per Week

BULGARIA CLAIMS WESTERN THRACE FROM GREECE

Britain to Stand By Present Course In Palestine Issue

Two Shiploads of Persons At Cyprus Under Escort

London, Aug. 14 — (CP)—The British cabinet heard reports from the chiefs of the army, air force and navy of a tense situation in the Mediterranean today and agreed, an authoritative source said, to stick to its present course "however much the position deteriorates."

The three armed services will continue to take "whatever measures are necessary" to implement the government's decision to end unauthorized entry of Jewish refugees into the Holy Land, the informant said.

Three persons were killed and seven wounded at Haifa yesterday when mounted Jewish British military cordons guarding the port while 1,000 illegal immigrants were taken off their ships and set aboard troop transports for shipment to detention camps on the island of Cyprus.

While the cabinet was in session a foreign office spokesman said President Truman's decision on the Anglo-American enquiry plan for division of Palestine into four sections possibly would arrive today.

British Note to Washington

The foreign office also announced that a British note "approached" the United States State Department about six weeks ago on the publication of appeals in United States newspapers calling for financial contributions to the illegal Jewish immigration into Palestine.

"The nature of the State Department's response is not known to me," the spokesman said.

One advertisement cited, published in April, referred to "American citizens" who have plotted against "British arms." Another said that $200 would pay for transport of a Jew from Europe to Palestine.

The spokesman said the British note to the State Department pointed out that, in the circumstances, the money was not subject to the neutrality laws, and said the United States government could co-operate with Britain by taking measures to rectify the situation.

Whitehall informants disclosed that the release of Jewish agency leaders (Shertok and Dr. Ben Joseph of June 29) was being discussed at cabinet level.

Their release has been described by Palestine Jewish leaders as a prerequisite to their participation in talks on the Holy Land's future, it was said.

Dispatches from Jerusalem quoted a spokesman for the Jewish agency as saying that the deportation of illegal immigrants to Cyprus had "aroused anger throughout Jewish communities" and that the British government's efforts to justify the action had merely "added fuel to flames".

"Peace in Palestine can never be achieved by such tactics" the spokesman added ominously.

The Royal Navy, the British Army and the Royal Air Force are today united against a few thousand helpless monks who are trying to reach the only country in the world where they have friends, where their families are waiting to receive them and where they could have the opportunity to begin their lives anew.

"Today, 18 months after the defeat of Germany, Hitler's victims throughout Europe are in the same plight as they were on the day of liberation, with only this difference—that the policy of the British government has robbed them of all hope."

In Paris, the Jewish agency executive issued a formal statement condemning the British ban on "so-called illegal immigration" as "an act of grave injustice."

The World Jewish Congress declared that closing Palestine's doors to Jewish refugees fleeing from Europe "is to deny them the last remaining hope of life and the enjoyment of the elementary human right of liberty."

In Jerusalem youngsters stoned military vehicles yesterday as policemen protected by steel shields patrolled the streets of the tense city. A crowd of 1,000 demonstrated in Zion Square last night, shouting "down with the government" whenever a British soldier appeared.

Nicosia, Cyprus, Aug. 14 (AP)—Two shiploads of persons, reported to be the most desperate of those arrested in recent roundups in Palestine, anchored in Famagusta harbor today under escort of the British cruiser Ajax.

There still was no evidence of the arrival of 1,000 illegal Jewish immigrants deported amid riotous scenes from the Palestinian port of Haifa on two troopships yesterday.

The ships reaching Famagusta were in custody of the Ajax, and were described as detention vessels under strict discipline.

The government of Cyprus issued a statement earlier today formally authorizing the detention here of Jews intercepted while trying to enter Palestine illegally and providing a penalty of one year in prison for those who escape.

A similar penalty was provided for persons convicted of aiding any of the refugees to escape.

British headquarters announced while to complete work on the Famagusta camp, the first refugees are expected to disembark tomorrow.

To Meet Requests

He said the government had found it possible to meet requests from that title to be done, it was felt there was sufficient protection to prevent any business from operating under the guise of a co-operative in order to benefit from the tax exemption.

L. O. Breithaupt (L-Waterloo North); W. Ross Macdonald (CCF, Toronto High Park); A. J. Bradshaw (PC-Perth), L. E. Cardiff (PC-Hamilton East) and Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) and Chester McLaren (PC-Kings), urged that farm mutual insurance companies be included, while Cardiff was created by farmers to provide mutual protection against loss, be tax exempt.

Mr. Abbott said that although the Dominion-Provincial Conference had urged that such companies be tax exempt, the government felt it would not be right to have one type of insurance company placed in that category.

Amendment Moved

Mr. Ilsley moved an amendment to make less restrictive a section of the bill dealing with credit unions from borrowing money to fishing and other co-operatives.

The House went into committee on the Estates Tax bill, and the 64 vote called by C.C.F. and Social Credit members. Progressive Conservative members voted with the House two parties against the government.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre, Sask.) said that the discretionary powers of the revenue minister should be extended to deal with the bill, despite protests from various classes in the country.

Mr. Abbott replied that removal of the clause would strike at the principle of ministerial responsibility.

Rodney Adams, (PC-Yorkshire West) and Alex Cockeram (PC-York North) called the better way treatment for Gold Mining Companies (Income Tax Amendment Act Cochrane) also stressed that tax relief was essential if mines were to remain in operation.

COMMONS DEBATE REPEATS ITSELF ON TAX PROPOSALS

Conservatives Charge Govt. Was Over-Taxing Industry And The Individual

By GEORGE KITCHEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 14. (CP)— The Commons heard yesterday what might be called a "carbon copy" debate

Occupying the morning, afternoon and evening sittings, the discussion arose on consideration of the Bill aimed at implementing the taxation proposals outlined in the June 27 budget and featured the same members, the same charges that were heard when the budget resolutions were before the House two weeks ago.

From the left, a bombardment came the same requests that the government put aside its proposals to introduce taxation of co-operatives and Progressive Conservative speakers made the same charge that the government was over-taxing industry and the individual.

The debate was highlighted by an announcement by Acting Finance Minister Abbott that the government had decided that the three-year tax exemption to be granted to co-operatives also will apply to such co-operatives if they take over an existing business

LOVERS MEET TRIPLE DISASTER

Because she married Matteo Mezzanotte, violinist, Claudia Stone, 21-year-old heiress, relinquished a $4,000,000 gift from her father, Paul T. Jones, multimillionaire baldwin piano manufacturer of Chicago. Mezzanotte is in a critical condition in the couple's apartment after taking an overdose of alkaloid pills. Friends said she was despondent over the illness of her husband, who is seriously ill following a triple surgical operation. This picture was taken shortly after their marriage last May.

FREE PASSAGE FOR WORKERS TO FACTORIES ASKED

Wentworth City Council Sends Resolution To Attorney-General And Chief of Police

Hamilton, Aug. 14 (CP)—A resolution that Attorney-General Blackwell of Ontario and Chief Constable J. R. Spence of Grantham be asked to provide "adequate protection for free and unmolested passage to all residents of the county who wish to proceed to their employment at local plants where strikes are in progress" was passed today by Wentworth county council.

The resolution, which called for free passage "both in and out" of strike-bound factories, was passed unanimously.

Reeve Arnold, Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell said he had not yet received notification of the Wentworth county resolution but would give it his consideration when he is advised.

The resolution was proposed by Hiram A. Bowman, reeve of Saltfleet, and seconded by Ivan French, reeve of Glanford.

William A. Wilmin, acting warden of Wentworth county, said he was "not taking sides against unions or against industrialists," that he was "not blaming the workingmen, but some of his leaders."

Mr. Milmine said he sent a situation developing in which "certain leaders" were gaining a following. "I don't like the tactics of these leaders were "leading the men into disaster."

Several municipal reeves cited instances in which workers wanted to return to their employment, and the preamble to Mr. Fletcher's motion declared that "many

FREE PASSAGE—Page 2

Canal Men Allow Passage of Freighter

Cornwall, Aug. 14. (CP)— Escorted by R.C.M.P. officers, the Canada Steamship Lines' Freighter Selkirk met no interference today as it passed through Cornwall Canal en route to Montreal with a cargo of steel from the Hamilton plant of Steel Company of Canada.

Last night canal workers, members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), said they would close the locks to prevent the freighter from passing through the canal. Picketing men, who were quoted as saying "we will not handle a ban" and "go" made no comment as the Selkirk passed them. She is loaded with 3,000 tons of steel—the first shipment to leave Hamilton since the strike began July 15.

Ships officers said they had no instructions to stop at any canal any. The R.C.M.P. escort was withdrawn after the vessel left the canal and entered the river.

Frankly Admits Shameful Alliance With the Germans

Soviet Ukraine Delegate Supports Bulgaria's Request

By WILLIAM R. KING
Paris, Aug. 14 (AP)—Bulgaria formally presented a claim to the Paris peace conference today for the present Greek territory of Western Thrace—and was supported by the Soviet Ukraine delegate.

Frankly admitting a "shameful alliance" with Germany during the war, Foreign Minister Dimitur George Koulishev nevertheless maintained that the Bulgarian army "did not fight on any front against the anti-Hitlerian coalition." He asked that his country be accorded the status of an Allied co-belligerent, the same as that sought recently by Romania, another defeated German satellite.

Western Thrace is a narrow strip of territory along the northern coast of the Aegean Sea which gives Greece a common border with Turkey.

D. Manulikay, chief of the Ukraine delegation, charged that Greek policy was "instigated from abroad" and protested against her "aggression" in the Aegean Sea soil." Saying he supported Bulgarian demands for an Aegean outlet, Manulikay said the Ukraine a return to the Bulgarian frontiers as provided in the treaty of Bucharest of 1913. This would give Bulgaria western Thrace and the general Greek harbor of Alexandroupolis.

Deserves Indulgent peace.

Inventely Raymowsky, chief Polish delegate, also declared Bulgaria deserves an indulgent peace."

Greece swiftly dissented. Her chief delegate, Premier Constantin Tsaldaris, accused Bulgaria of international crimes and declared the draft treaty for the country which was Allied to Germany during the last two wars was "too light on a country which identified herself with the German aggressor."

Mr. Koulishev acknowledged that Bulgaria (traditional Balkan friend of Russia) had not declared war on Great Britain and the United States, but asserted:

"The Bulgarian army was merely used as an occupation force and never fought against Yugoslavia or Greece."

Mr. Koulishev finished his appeal, Wincenty Raymowski

FRANKLY ADMITS—Page 2

Expect Abolition Shortly of National Registration

Ottawa, Aug. 14 —(CP)— Abolition of National Registration is likely to be announced within a few days, it was learned today.

The government is understood to have had this action under consideration for some time and it is considered likely that Prime Minister King will announce the decision when his estimates come before the parliament.

The registration was conducted in 1941 to provide an inventory of Canada's manpower. It applied to all persons over 16 years of age. The Labor department estimates for this year include provision for continuing the registration but if it were abolished the item would be dropped from the estimates.

The registration cards have been widely used by the provinces in identifying drinkers of liquor and beer-ration books.

Search Abandoned In Kingston Area

Kingston, Aug. 14 (CP)— Search for Hence Collins, escaped Kingston penitentiary convict slayer of Provincial Police resident to have stabbed her several times Tuesday morning, was abandoned last night as preliminary officials and police became sceptical of the account of the arrest.

Mrs. Lillian Smith, Brewers Mills, told police she let the identified as Laforture, who escaped Aug. 3, walked into her kitchen and demanded food just before noon Tuesday. When she refused, Mrs. Smith said, he knocked her to the floor and stabbed her in the right leg and left arm. She escaped by hurling a pot at the man as he turned to search the room, she said. Then ran to her husband working in a nearby field, and the man had disappeared when the husband arrived at the house.

Dr. E. A. Young, her physician, reported there were no signs of violence on her throat, where she said the man choked her and that the "scratches on his legs could have been made quite easily by finger nails. Penitentiary officials and provincial police have expressed doubts as to the accuracy of the woman's story, after researched the area, where Laforture was seen last week.

Shortage of Scrap More Serious

New York, Aug. 14—(AP)—The critical shortage of scrap in the steel industry tended to become more serious this week, following decision by scrap industry leaders to seek a $3.50 a ton price increase to $20 a ton for No. 1 heavy melting steel.

The decision, the publication said, was reported to dealers and possibly many producers — withholding scrap shipments in anticipation of higher prices. Production scrap is increasing in volume and flow to the consuming plants, but much of it is being held back in the hope of a price rise.

A production rate of 91.3 per cent of capacity, a new peak rating, was indicated for the industry this week, the Iron Age said, even in the face of shortages of scrap, freight cars and coal.

Two Female Prisoners Escape at Prince Albert

Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 14 (CP)— Two female prisoners escaped last night from the Prince Albert municipal jail, and a scuffling themselves with clothing belonging to the women's warden, Mrs. M. Bodnar.

R.C.M.P. were told the women were picked up a few minutes later outside the prison walls.

The escapees are Margaret Moran, 19, of Regina, and a 17-year-old juvenile from Melville, Sask.

CRUSHED BY WASTE STEEL

Toronto, Aug. 14 —(CP)— William Cooling, 76, of Toronto was fatally injured yesterday when he was crushed beneath seven tons of steel shavings in the scrap forge shop at the Steel Company of Canada plant in suburban Swansea. Police said the accident happened when a cable broke on the crane transporting a pot of steel shavings across the shop.

Records of Mysterious Rays Are Brought Back by 'Flying Lab'

By FRANK CAREY

Washington, Aug. 14 — (AP)— Bearing a precious cargo of cosmic ray records, the specially equipped B-29 bomber, world's spearheaded science's latest attack on one of mankind's oldest riddles winged toward Washington today.

The Superfort "Flying laboratory" was due in at 4 p.m. E.D.T. after a three months' pursuit of the strange cosmic messengers which, constantly bombard the earth from outer space and which possibly hold the key to many unsolved secrets of the universe.

Filled with special instruments for measuring the intensity of the invisible radiation and recording their impact, the high-powered bomber ranged back and forth over the United States at heights up to approximately 6½ miles above earth.

The area of research stretched from the Canadian border to a spot off the coast of North Carolina.

The little-understood cosmic rays from some secret source in space are the most penetrating known form of radiation. They pass through the human body 20 to 30 times a second. They have penetrated lead blocks 75 feet thick. If man could harness their power he might have an endless source of titanic energy.

VETERANS' COST $869,652,526 UP TO MARCH '47

Commons' Committee Has Ended Sessions With 12 Bills Pending House

By DOUGLAS HOW
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 14 — (CP) — A cabinet minister jokingly asked a member of the Commons' veterans committee one day recently when the committee was going to end its sessions.

"It's getting to the point," he said, "where every time I see you guys I leave the committee room I say to myself, 'There goes another four or five million dollars.'"

Faced by sheer weight of statistics, the facetiousness of his remark almost vanished.

In the next fiscal year, that is up to March, 1947, it is going to cost Canada an estimated $869,652,526 to meet her accepted obligations to her ex-servicemen.

The committee has ended its sessions and, without major alteration, 12 of the bills it drafted or worked on have gone swiftly through the House itself. In two sessions of the 20th parliament it has virtually completed the first major post-war review of veterans' legislation.

Insurance Principle Restored

Among many other things, those 12 bills restored the dollars and cents insurance principle to the Pensions Act for home-service veterans; created a system of government-backed bank loans for veterans wishing to re-establish themselves in business or the professions; gave the universities the opportunity to aid veterans' students with loans of as much as $2,000 over four years; extended veterans' benefits to such persons as veterans firefighters and auxiliary supervisors; authorized new grants of $150 to universities for each veteran-student to allow them to better opportunities for training; gave a widow dependent mother right to the re-establishment credit her husband or son died after discharge

$96,000 Discharged

Up to and including the fiscal year 1945-50 the general program will cost $1,500,000,000 out of the treasury. In addition, the Veterans' Land Act is expected to cost $250,000,000 in the next few years; the War Veterans Allowance

VETERANS TO COST—Page 12

KING FOR THREE DAYS

Tehran, Aug. 14 — (Reuters) — Sardar Bayabilan, Khan, 37, King of Afghanistan for three days only January 14 to 17, 1929, died here today. He was the brother of the late King Amanullah who lost his throne when he tried to introduce a number of reforms in the country. Afghanistan from a visit to Britain to and other European countries.

VALLEYFIELD MILL ORDERED CLOSED BY MANAGEMENT

Huge Textile Plant Scene of Violent Disturbance When Efforts Made to Break Strike

By DAVID McINTOSH
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Valleyfield, Que, Aug. 14 —(CP)—The huge textile mill of Montreal Cottons Limited, striking for more than 10 weeks, remained closed down today following two days' violent disturbances which marked the company's attempt to resume production.

Capt. Norbert Labbe, head of the provincial police detachment detailed to guard the plant which normally employs 3,000 persons, announced last night that the mill gates had been closed upon orders from the company and that they would remain closed until further notice.

The announcement came as an anti-climax to an 'eventful day' which saw a fraction of the staff —the company said 400 workers, the union about half this number, attempting to report to work as usual, only to be jeered at and threatened by large crowd which clustered about the plant entrances, and provincial police employed tear gas in efforts to maintain order.

No Arrests Reported

There were no arrests reported and no serious injuries, but hundreds of windows were smashed on the north side of the plant and damage was done to the property of the company's vice-President and General Manager, W. G. K. Aird. Best estimates were that the damage committed by members of the crowd would run into the hundreds of dollars.

VALLEYFIELD MILL—Page 12

Former Nazi Gauleiter And 3 Aides Shot

Strasbourg, France, Aug. 14.— (CP)— Robert Wagner, former Nazi gauleiter of Alsace, and three of his aides were shot to death at dawn today in a fort near Strasbourg for wartime atrocities.

Executed, former Nazi gauleiter, Walter Gaedeck and Adolf Schuppel died with Wagner.

As the firing squad took aim on him Wagner shouted "Heil Adolf Hitler, Heil National Socialism. . . Down with French vengeful justice. Heil German Alsace."

Wagner, accused of the massacre of 30,000 anti-Nazis at a death camp near Struth, in Alsace, and his accomplices were sentenced to death by a French military tribunal, May 3.

Molotov's Speech Interpreted as Plan For Bigger Say in Italian Affairs

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Paris, Aug. 14 — (CP) — Russia's plea to the peace conference yesterday for a voice in Italian affairs shadows an all-out attack by Russia on the democratic control of the Italian draft treaty sponsored by the United States and Britain.

It may also mean a long-range campaign by Communist infiltration of Italy for political purposes.

This interpretation was placed on Mr. Molotov's speech to the conference yesterday by Western diplomatic sources and observers.

It is the opinion here that the attempt to distract attention from territorial clauses in the Italian draft treaty, particularly in regard to Trieste, in order to give a hand of the proposed Trieste settlements — which are adverse to Italy.

In addition, the speech is seen as a step to counter sweeping Soviet reparation demands from Italy of $100,000,000 and demands to be made by Yugoslavia.

Mr. Molotov's address was the most important he has made at the conference. He planned it out and that was why Russia's chief deputy, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, informed sources said, was not permitted to answer Mr. Gasperi.

Mr. Gasperi, for the United States, the foreign minister attacked that country far more than Britain in order to "split the ergin capital" which he said was "the most dangerous thing aimed at the enslavement of Italy.

Mr. Molotov did not mention that Britain and the United States, however, have announced reparations claims from Italy and contributed immensely to the rehabilitation of Italian relief and rehabilitation administration (UNRRA).

These three countries also poured millions into Italy with Canada's total contribution $26,000,000, for which no claims are being made.

Delegates from western countries generally regretted that the United States did not make an answering speech to Mr. Molotov. One diplomat said: "The speech was a shocking distortion of the economic position of Italy."

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Aug. 14 —(CP)—Synopsis at 7:30 a.m. In all our forecast regions skies are generally clear this morning but with scattered showers and thunder still developing during the day. The air has become somewhat milder and cooler temperatures anticipated except in eastern Lake Ontario and Georgian Bay districts where little change is expected. Lake Erie region tonight and tomorrow.

Coming Events

ALL BOAT OWNERS AND FORMER Yacht Club members are asked to attend a meeting at the Belleville Yacht and Aquatic Club, South Front St. on Friday, Aug. 16th at 8 p.m. 211-2t

Civil Service News

TWO ESCAPED MEN SOON RECAPTURED

William Frawley, 28 and Raymond Gillam, 23, two convicts who escaped from the Collins Bay penitentiary Tuesday afternoon, were recaptured a few hours later at Cataraqui's Polo Park four miles west of Kingston.

Frawley had been committed 18 months of a three-year sentence while Gillam had served two years of a six-year stretch. The men escaped by jumping over the prison farm fence. Both are of Toronto.

ADDITIONS TO LIST WAR BRIDES ARRIVING

Additions to the list of war brides who arrived in Canada yesterday on board the S.S. Queen Mary, included Dolores, wife of Major R.W. Theobald, 360 Macdonald Avenue, Belleville and Stella, wife of Pte. A. F. Hoover, Tweed.

MOTORCYCLES MUST BE ENQUIPPED WITH MUFFLERS

Police Chief Walter Probert today issued instructions to the police department especially officers on patrol, to stop and check all motorcycles being operated on city streets to ascertain if the machines are equipped with mufflers and the necessary license plates.

Chief Probert also warned all drivers to operate their machines quietly within the limits of the city.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY FOUND WANDERING

A four-year-old boy found wandering at large in the city yesterday, and subsequently lost, was brought to the police station by an officer where he was awaited the arrival of his parents. The lad did not know his name—or would not tell it—but police officials were forced to wait until the parents arrived.

They arrived later and in their anxiety over joy at finding the wandering offspring went away without a word to police officers.

MAYOR F. FOLLWELL, ALD. H. ARMSTRONG ATTEND CONVENTION

Mayor Frank Follwell and Ald. H. J. Armstrong left today for Port Hope to attend the 1946 Mayors' Convention for Ontario. His Worship, being regional chairman for the eastern district of the Dominion Mayors' Association, will be an active figure in the convention. During his absence Ald. Lorne Rutledge will be acting mayor and will speak for His Worship at the official opening of Radio Station CJBQ at the Collegiate Auditorium on Thursday evening.

MATCHES PLACED IN MAIL BOX

Mischievous children without apparent knowledge of the damage which might occur were seen placing matches in a mailbox at the corner of Dundas and Coleman streets yesterday, according to a report received here by city police.

Some time ago a Church Street resident surprised a group of small boys who were building a pyramid of wood matches at the side of his house. The boys had already set light to the uncompleted pile when they were discovered by the householder.

Police today warned parents to instruct their children regarding the use of matches and warn them of the potential danger in playing with them.

OFFICER'S SWORD FOUND NEAR WELL

An officer's sword, believed to be that of an infantry regiment, was found by Douglas Boyle, 10, Canniffon Road yesterday near the well on Pinnacle Street on the slope to St. Michael's Church.

Boyle brought the sword to the police station where it can be secured by the owner. It is believed to have been removed from an armory or a private home.

SUMMER COLOGNES

—RUBENSTEIN
Apple Blossom, Enchante
4/6c $1.35
—HENLEY'S
Country Garden $1.25
—ADRIENNE 65c $1.10
—LOVTUS $1.25 $1.50
—TALEFIN $1.50
—SALALAIKA $1.50

McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE
Phone 123
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

FLOOR SANDING
New Floor SANDED and FINISHED
Old Floors RESURFACED and MADE LIKE NEW
GLEN ELLIOT
126 Dufferin Ave. Phone 9686
J15-1m

CIVIL SERVANTS IN CITY NOT YET ADVISED OF CHANGE

Civil servants of the city today stated that they had not yet been advised of any change in regulations, announced by Ottawa to the effect that permanent civil servants with 30 years' continuous and meritorious service may now be granted leave over, and above that to which they are normally entitled.

Thousands of persons in the Dominion will be eligible, but this leave must be taken at the convenience of the department.

Civil servants are generally entitled to 30 days annual vacation leave; to sick leave with pay which accrues at the rate of one and one-half days per month of service and in emergencies to special leave. During their first six months of employment personnel are not entitled to leave with pay.

Hotel Proprietors Honor Mrs. Ryan And Miss Power

Tangible expression of years of wholehearted co-operation and friendliness was given when proprietors of the Queen's Hotel and Hotel Quinte, when members of the Belleville Association of Hotel Proprietors presented Mrs. Ryan, hostess of the entire dishes and Miss Power with fine beautiful purses.

The presentation was made on behalf of the organization by Walter Allore, its secretary, and Harry Secord, of the Belvedere Hotel at Mrs. Ryan's cottage at Consecon.

In his brief address of presentation, Mr. Allore emphasized the fine co-operation of Mrs. Ryan, during her long tenure as a member of the association, and the warm friendliness shown by her to all members at all times.

"The outstanding warm regard in which we hold you," Mr. Allore said, "has not been lessened now that you are not one of us in the hotel business."

Mrs. Ryan graciously expressed appreciation of the gifts on behalf of herself and Miss Power. Following the function Mrs. Ryan served refreshments to her surprise guests.

Those present were Mr. Allore were Messrs. Jack Yeomans, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel; Ian Ferguson, Hotel Quinte; Alex Briens, Doctor's Hotel, and Harry Secord, General Manager of the Hotel Quinte was unavoidably absent.

FREE PASSAGE

(Continued from Page One)

residents" of Wentworth county were employed in the textile industries were in progress, and many of these employees were very anxious to be at work providing for the needs of their homes and families.

Rights of Citizenship.

In a fitchcock, he said, there were "a number of residents" who were employed in Hamilton, some with large families, who would get help unless they could return to work.

"I don't want to get into any controversy with the union, but no one who has to look after the interests of our residents, I feel the council must request that these men be given the rights of their citizenship."

Reeve E. H. Wood of Ancaster, said that one Ancaster man beside the Steel Company of Canada plant in Hamilton wanted to visit his home where there was sickness, "but was afraid to leave work for fear of not being able to get back in. He was paying for his home and could not risk unemployment."

Three others, he said, "have not been home since the strike started," and added that they had been deprived of liberty."

Lewis French, reeve of Glanford, told of two men in his township who had been laid off "all through lack of steel."

"I am sympathetic to union organization," Mr. Fletcher said, "but I don't believe in 'dog in the manger,' and I think in a minority is taking that attitude."

"Regardless of where our sympathies lie, the fact is that the law is being broken," said Joseph Plott, reeve of Stoney Creek.

PURE SPICES
Fresh and Pungent
PAROWAX
ALUM
FARKES CELERY FLAVOUR
FRUIT KEPPE
MEMBA
MEMBA SEAL
SALICYLIC ACID
JAR RINGS
GEEN—DRUGS
Motorcycle Delivery
A15,18,14

BIKE BUG BITES FRANCE

In France where automobiles are at a high premium, and where bicycle riding is the thing, we see a typical vacation scene at the Paris railroad station.

Cashier's Alertness Spoils Toronto Woman's Scheme to Get Free Butter

A Toronto housewife devised an ingenious scheme for obtaining butter sans ration coupons and at approximately half price, a visitor from that city stated here today.

It seems the lady in question took a carton that formerly contained shortening, with her to a chain grocery store. There she gently but surreptitiously inserted a pound of butter from the rack, went to the cashier, paid the price of a pound of shortening, and went blithely on her way.

But an alert cashier caught up with the neat dodge.

The lady in question apparently had her duties mixed as to whether the shortening would be available. On this day she duly presented the carton containing the butter to the cashier for payment, with of course, other groceries.

The cashier, aware of the fact that no shortening had been on sale that day, opened the carton, and there lying in its golden wrapper was the pound of butter.

Parked Canned Salmon

On another occasion, the visitor related, a shopper caused a mild furore among housewife shoppers in a chain store, when they noticed two cans of salmon lying on top of the groceries in her basket. The ladies formed a congo line and followed the lady about the shop in an effort to locate the salmon. Questioning brought no satisfaction.

Finally the attention of the manager was brought to the matter and he questioned the lady as to where she procured the salmon, for the cans bore the price marks of his store.

"Oh, that's nothing" she smiled sweetly, "I came here two weeks ago when you had salmon on sale, and hid these two cans behind a stack of brooms."

COUNSEL RETAINED

Windsor, Aug. 14 — (CP) — United Automobile Workers (C. I.O.) officials today announced that J. L. Cohen, prominent Canadian labor lawyer, has been retained to defend three U. A. W. top-ranking officers who are to appear in police court tomorrow on charges of conspiracy relating to illegal picketing at the Chrysler automobile plants in this area.

The accused are George Burt, regional Canadian director of the U.A.W.; Thomas McLean, his assistant, and Harry Rooney, chairman.

SOON DISARMED

Chicago, Aug. 14 —(AP)— A 78-year-old man limped out of a taxi in front of a South Side bank, patted two guns sticking out of his hip pockets, and told the cab driver: "Wait here. I'm going to draw out my $3,000. Then I'll pay you." A policeman standing nearby disarmed him, then learned from the bank cashier that the man had only 65 cents on deposit. He was held for questioning, and the cab driver signed a complaint for his $4.50 bill.

HEALTHY DESSERT

A phit of ice cream has been found to contain more than a milligram of vitamin C and almost half a milligram of provitamin A.

KILTED KING, GRACIOUS QUEEN

The King and Queen congratulate the officer of the guard on the smartness of the guards' attire upon their arrival at Ballater for the Scottish season.

Two Hamilton Youths Charged With Intimidation

Hamilton, Aug. 14—(CP)—Two Hamilton youths will be formally charged in police court with intimidation in connection with the firing of rifle shots last Sunday night at a bus operated by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) at Beckett, Hamilton Bay off the strikebound Steel Company of Canada plant.

Police said they had taken Jack Boate, 17, and Reginal Victor, 18, both of Hamilton, into station charges and were seeking a third.

The arrests reports from three union men that shots had been fired at the steelworkers' launch, Whipser.

Harry Sefton, international representative of the union, was one of the men in the launch. He said the first shot "whizzed by my ear." Then, he said, he ducked and shot and "the three of us dived for the bottom of the boat." Later they had reported to police Sefton said the shots came from a third boat, Sefton.

Police said Boate and Victor had appeared at a hearing in connexion with the incident.

The men were arrested as four strike-breakers and a steel union organizer were convicted on charges arising from fights between pickets and non-strikers at the Ida Mines, Timmins, last week ago.

Joseph Charles George Grieve and Ward Fawcett were each sentenced to two months' imprisonment. Each was ordered to one month, and Giuppe Vicenzo Cecconi and Jack J. Sullivan were each fined $150 and costs or two months. Cecconi and Grieve were fined $100 and costs or three months for intimidation and assault. Lily Ida Grieve, Cecconi and Cincquerra were each fined $50 and costs or one month. They were bound over to keep the peace for a year.

Controller Nora-Frances Henderson yesterday crossed the union picket line at Stelco for the third time since the strike was called July 15. She addressed the striking workers inside the plant.

FRANKLY ADMITS

(Continued from Page One)

chief of the Bulgarian police delivered a brief commentary on the Bulgarian case in which he expressed regret that Bulgaria "deserves an indulgent peace."

Poland extended a friendly hand to Bulgaria and asks others to do so" Mr. Rzymowski said.

Mr. Kulishev maintained that 20,000 Bulgarian soldiers were killed fighting Axis troops in Germans in Serbia, Hungary, Austria and Macedonia. He declared, he said, had been recognized by the Allies as contributing to Bulgaria's war effort.

This, he declared, "in some measure helped to repair the damage caused by the Hitlerian clique which had thrown in Bulgaria at the beginning of the war."

For this reason, Mr. Kulishev added, the Bulgarian people find it difficult to understand exactly why we are described in the peace terms as an enemy state.

Countering Greek demands for a part of Bulgaria, Mr. Kulishev asked for access to the Aegean Sea "by a modification of western Thrace" to Bulgaria.

Fellows Remarks

His remarks followed that of Romania, whose vice premier, Georghiu Tatarescu, yesterday praised Russia's handling of arbitrative terms with Bulgaria at the opening of the peace conference.

Mr. Tatarescu's remarks drew commendation from Andrei Vishinsky, Russia's deputy foreign minister, and a tribute from Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian foreign minister.

In contrast, Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia assailed Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi's pronouncements concerning the Mediterranean and the Trieste problems while voicing "Mother Russia's" century-old solicitude for the Slavic pan-Danubian, Balkan area of Europe.

DRUNKARD'S MEMORIAL

The Drunkard's Hotel in Western Australia is surrounded by a four-foot fence made of empty beer bottles, known locally as "dead marines."

One Year Ago War in Pacific Came to End

Ottawa, Aug. 14. (CP) —The first anniversary of the announcement of Japan's unconditional surrender of one year ago will be just another working day for Canadians.

Although President Truman has proclaimed Aug. 15 as "Victory Day" in the United States, no official recognition has been accorded the anniversary of the end of the Second Great War by the Canadian Government.

As in the United States, however, a two-minute thanksgiving will observe the day privately. A year ago, Canada's Pacific force —an over-sized volunteer division of some 25,000 under Maj.Gen. J. V. Hoffmeister of Vancouver, was assembling to take part in the Pacific campaign; under United States command.

Washington, Aug. 14. (AP)— Without formal pause, the United States observed the first anniversary of victory over Japan today as the Second Great War.

One year to the day after proclaimed Japan's unconditional surrender, President Truman asked Americans to dedicate the first "Victory Day" to prayer and thanksgiving.

"The cause of justice freedom, peace and human decency goodwill shall be advanced with undiminished and unremitting efforts, inspired by the memory of our heroes, of the armed services."

While military men and civilians were paying tribute to the men who fought and died to bring the war to its conclusion, Mr. Truman's reconversion director toted up the "progress we have made."

Chester Bowles told in the Second Great War.

Obituary

LATE SIMEON HERBERT ELLIS

The funeral of the late Simeon Herbert Ellis was held from the Belleville Burial Company's Funeral Home on Tuesday afternoon. The service was conducted in the chapel by Rev. M. Hall, pastor who also performed the last rites, interment being made in the cemetery at Madoc. A large number attended the funeral and the many floral tributes bore testimony to a small measure to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The bearers were Clarence Wess, William Ashcroft, Fred Ellis and Percy Derry.

FREDERICK MICHAEL LENAHAN

After an illness of several years, Frederick Michael Lenahan, 63 Benjamin Street of Belleville, died in London Sanitarium on Tuesday last. He was born in Ireland, 69 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lenahan and came to this country at an early age. He has resided in this city for the past 40 years and was employed as sided at Owen Sound. While in the city he was employed at the Corbin Lock Company and the Stephens-Adamson Company and enjoyed the friendship of his fellow employees and employers. In the First Great War he served overseas and his illness was attributed to his war service.

Surviving are one daughter, Miss Gertrude Lenahan, one sister Mrs. Alice Lenahan, Belleville and one brother, William, of Owen Sound.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. GLADYS LAURA (Bryce) JORDAN

In ill health for some years, Mrs. Gladys Laura Jordan, died in the Belleville General Hospital late Tuesday evening. She was born in Belleville, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Bryce and has resided in Sidney township all her life, where she was well-known and highly respected. She took an active interest in all community activities in which she participated. She was a member of St. Peters-in-the-Chains Church at Frenton and was a devout and faithful member.

Surviving are her husband, Martin Jordan and six children, John, Mrs. Williams, Lorne, Peter and Marjory all at home.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

MARGARET E. MYERS (Toronto)

The death of Miss Margaret Elizabeth Myers took place suddenly of a heart attack at her home, 2704 Yonge Street, Toronto at dawn Tuesday, August 13. She leaves three brothers, Rev. Dr. Charles and William of Toronto.

News of the death of Miss Myers came as a great shock to her friends in Belleville, where she lived during the pastorate of her brother the Rev. Dr. A. C. William Myers at the Tabernacle Church.

Miss Myers was a fine Christian character and gave herself to many activities in the city. She was a great reader and lover of good literature.

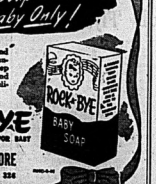
The funeral service will be held in the chapel of the Trull Funeral Home, 2704 Yonge Street, Toronto, at three o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Interment will be in Park Lawn cemetery.

INSECT KILLER

One gallon of a concentrated mixture of insecticide will cover as much as an acre of cerlins, types of foliage.

PARK PAVILION
DANCING
TO-NIGHT
● MUSIC BY THE COMMODORES
● BELLEVILLE'S SMART-EST DANCE SPOT.
● DANCING EVERY WED., FRI., AND SAT.
M.S.W.W.D.

The Baby Soap...made for Baby Only!



Here is an extremely pure and gentle soap, specially formulated and processed to keep Baby's skin radiantly soft and lovely. Rich in Lanolin. Delicately scented.

ROCK-A-BYE
THE NAME YOU CAN TRUST FOR BABY
DOYLE'S DRUG STORE
221 Front St. Phone 326

TUNE IN TO STATION
CJBQ
EVERY MONDAY, TUESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
At 8.00 to 8.05 a.m.
And Hear
"FARM FAIR"
A program of farm news and helpful information, built to appeal to the forward marching Canadian farmer and his wife.
MacKENZIE & SON
47 FRONT STREET, SOUTH PHONE 219
Makers of The Famous CHOW-MIX FEEDS

BIRTHS

MANGANELLA—Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Manganella, (nee Mary Laurel) 79 Bartlett Ave., Toronto are happy to announce the birth of their daughter, Rose Marie, at the Mercer Nursing Home, on Wednesday, August 7th, 1946.

PRUNTER—Mr. and Mrs. R. Prunter are happy to announce the birth of their son, Roger Allan, at the Belleville General Hospital, on Monday, August 12th, 1946.

DEATHS

LENAHAN—At London Sanitarium on Monday, August 12th, Frederick Michael Lenahan, 63 Benjamin Street, Belleville, in his 70th year. Funeral service will be held from the Chapel of the Belleville Burial Company, Funeral Home, on Thursday, August 15th, at 2.30 p.m. Interment Belleville Cemetery.

JORDAN—At Belleville General Hospital, on Tuesday evening, August 13th, Gladys Laura Bryce, beloved wife of Martin Jordan, in her 59th year. Funeral from residence of Corriere and O'Brien Funeral Home, until Friday morning, at 9 o'clock, thence to St. Michael's Church at 10 o'clock, interment in family plot in St. James' Cemetery. Please omit flowers. A1-2-3

CARD OF THANKS

Miss Elsie Clarke and Mrs. Roger MacCullough wish to express their appreciation of the kindness shown them by their friends, cards of sympathy, acts of kindness and floral tributes during the recent and bereavement of their young son.

The family of the late Mrs. Lemuel Bonter wish to thank their friends and neighbors for their kindness and help during the illness and death of Mrs. Dellbaze, also for the many beautiful flowers and words of sympathy.

Mrs. Agnes Mason, 18 Morney St., wishes to express her sincere thanks to the doctors and nurses and for beautiful floral tributes, cards of sympathy and kindness shown during the illness of Dr. R. A. Woodcock, during her recent stay in hospital.

Mrs. William Allison and family wish to sincerely thank their friends and neighbors for the acts of kindness, floral tributes and cards of sympathy received during their recent bereavement.

I GAVE UP FOOLING WITH A BAD ACID STOMACH

"I found it real to my sorrow that a bad acid stomach is no joke. Then I learned about Bell-ans. Now I eat what I please, when I please, and as much as I please. Bell-ans is the only stomach remedy I've ever used that did all it claimed to do. Bell-ans is my stomach's best friend."

Bell-ans relieves sour stomach in a jiffy because it's one of the quickest acting antacids known to physicians. Bell-ans is a combination of 9 of the most effective antacids. Bell-ans is so pleasant to take, you don't even need water. Get Bell-ans today. Only 25¢ a package.

Bell-ans for Acid Indigestion

Come to be FIRST Double and Triple Gifted

DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 128

Know the future — Consult
MADAME CLEO
Handwriting Expert
Palmist Card Reader
21 Station St. Phone 3823M
A15-3t

HEXONICON
New Hair and Scalp
Preparation
$3.00
Guaranteed
George Pauley
Druggist Phone 105
WE DELIVER

Preliminary examinations were begun in from studious, reserved college student who Chicago by noted psychiatrists into the mind a killer, that changed 17-year-old William Heirens!

Premier Escapes Serious Injury

Red Lake, Aug. 14. (CP) — Premier Drew of Ontario had a narrow escape from injury escaped injury from a 15-pound rock which crashed at his feet after he had set off a charge of dynamite during a visit to a road camp on the new Red Lake Highway near here.

The charge was reported to have contained more than 1,000 sticks of dynamite. It blasted rocks more than 600 feet into the air. One, the size of a man's head, fell within a few feet of the Premier.

Mr. Drew visited the road gang shortly after he arrived here from Kenora. He is making an extended speaking tour of northwestern Ontario. Construction men said the incident marked one of the few times of heavy blasting in the Red Lake area has resulted in a "shower" of broken rocks. They said the Premier had "an extremely close shave".

Kingston Lawyer Dies Suddenly

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 13. (CP) —William O'Brien Dwyer, prominent Kingston lawyer, died suddenly last night of a heart attack.

Mr. Dwyer was vice-president of the Ontario Liberal Association and secretary of the Kingston Liberal Association. He was a former Kingston alderman.

A graduate of Queen's University, he was for many years an electrical engineer in Pittsfield, Mass. Later he studied at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and returned to Kingston in 1934 to practice law.

Mr. Dwyer's wife predeceased him. He is survived by a son, John, a student at Cornell University, Ithica, N.Y.; four sisters and two brothers. Another son, William, was killed in the Second Great War while serving with the 101st Airborne Division of the United States Army.

Bear Attacks Bush Man In Search of Meat

Port Arthur, Aug. 14. (CP)— The story of a struggle with a 400-pound black bear last Thursday afternoon to save the life of Jimmy Bush worker who was mauled by the animal at a timber camp north of Gudson, was made known here yesterday when the injured man arrived at a Port Arthur hospital.

Frank Nemamich, 43, his scalp in ribbons and his arms clawed to the bone, was taken to Hudson by boat and driven to Port Arthur, where he underwent an operation.

Fellow workmen said Nemamich had first seen the bear trying to force its way into a meat house, a short distance from the main buildings of the lumber camp. He approached the animal warily, and swung his axe threateningly in an attempt to frighten it off, but the bear had smelled the meat and apparently didn't intend to depart without it.

Nemamich hit it again twice, and the angry animal turned on him. George Burns, another lumberman who was working nearby, saw the fracas and ran over, armed with an eight-foot pole. He struck the bear a heavy blow on the head, stunning it and giving him time to pull Nemamich out from underneath. The animal was killed later with a hatchet knife attached to the end of a long pole.

Girls Who Served In Forces Follow Feminine Arts

Ottawa, Aug. 14 (CP)— When girls in uniform chewed the fat during the war they planned on using their re-establishment credits for everything from setting up an advertising business to learning to make crab-apple butter commercially but their final decisions during the last year have been for the traditionally feminine trades that mean something about.

The Veterans' Affairs Department, which handled 40,000 individual cases of feminine re-establishment up to the end of June, reported that cupid had taken a hand in the work and thousands of the girls had used their credits for furniture and household requirements.

"The female heart is ever in the home," added an announcement released through the army.

Re-establishment of women veterans appear to offer few of the difficult complications connected with the re-establishment of men. Most of the girls know what they want, are quick to make up their minds and stick to their decisions.

Although only 11 women up to the end of July used their credits to buy a business, 1,062 have taken courses in the last seven and half that number are taking vocational training in nursing, art and music.

2,333 Continue Education

Of the 2,333 former service-women who are continuing their education, the largest number signed up in commercial courses, hair styling and dressmaking classes are the heavily attended a number of the graduates in these two trades plan to open up little shops of ther own.

Other education-minded girls are studying a variety of vocations.

Those at the universities are studying law, medicine, engineering, household science and economics, journalism, industrial relations, commerce and finance, pharmacy, architecture and occupational therapy.

At centres controlled by the Veterans' Affairs Department other girls are deep in jewellery repairing, practical nursing, ceramics and pottery, horology and draughting.

The wide open spaces have attracted 26 former servicewomen who have taken small holdings.

TO HOLD TRACK MEET

Berlin, Aug. 14 — (AP) — An Inter-Allied track and field meet, to be held in Berlin's Olympic Stadium Sept. 7 and 8 under the auspices of the United States and other Allied occupation forces, has drawn entries from 14 countries.

Britain, Russia, Belgium, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, France, Holland, Greece, Poland, Luxembourg and Norway have accepted invitations, officials say.

The meet, which also will be open to German athletes, will be the first international sports event since pre-war times, the sponsors announced.

INN FOR FELLOWSHIP

Chesham, England — (CP)— Somersetshire villagers crowded the local public-house to greet the new Anglican bishop of Bath and Wells, Dr. H. W. Bradfield, who said "a well-conducted village inn ought to be just as much a home of fellowship as the parish church."

2nd Thurlow

2nd of Thurlow— Miss Flora Furmidge, Cannifton, spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Mansely Mitchell.

Miss Jessie Weller, Carrying Place, spent a few days last week with Miss Freda Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Jordan, Oshawa, spent a few days with his brothers, Messrs. Hector and Burrows Jordon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bush and children, Sidney, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Greatrix spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Bailey, Madoc.

Mrs. Marie Dickinson, Donna and Faye, Carmel, spent Tuesday with Mrs. F. Haight and Leona.

Mrs. Kisby has returned home after spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. D. Whalen and Mrs. H. O'Dell.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson, Oshawa, were Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Jordon.

Miss Kathleen Whalen, Regt. N., Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Whalen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Jarrell, Ridgeway called on Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell.

Miss Freda Mitchell spent a couple days with her grandmother, Mrs. R. M. Mitchell.

Several from this line attended the lawn social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bush, Sidney, on Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fortner and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Conners, Jr., Toronto, were with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Conners.

Miss Freda Mitchell spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Gordon Woods, and Mr. Woods, Sidney.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cross, Rossmore, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Woods and Dawne, were Saturday night callers of Mr. and Mrs. M. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Jordon and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson, Oshawa, Mrs. Westlake, Belleville, called on Mr. and Mrs. Westlake, 3rd Thurlow, on Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Freda Mitchell spent Monday night and Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. G. Woods and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doxtator were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sandercock at their cottage, Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Atkins and Ronald, were Saturday night callers of Mr. and Mrs. H. Jordon.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Mitchell and Miss Vera McKnight, New Liskeard, Miss Jessie and Peter Wickens, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wickens were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jordon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Jordon and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jordon, Belleville, were Sunday night callers of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Jordon.

Mr. and Mrs. Manley Mitchell and baby daughter visited with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pound on Sunday.

Mrs. D. Atkins called on Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Donaldson on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bolderick had tea on Sunday night with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Atkins.

Mrs. George Young and Mrs. McClintock, Cobourg, spent a recent weekend with the former's sister, Mrs. Jordon and Mr. Jordon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pound and Marion, were Wednesday night visitors of Mr. and Mrs. M. Mitchell.

Miss June Kelly is visiting with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Craig and family, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Duggan, Trenhow. Mrs. Craig remained for a couple of days and attended the Old Boys' Reunion at Madoc on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wright, New York, were recent guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haight and Leona.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leavens and children, Toronto, spent Friday night with the latter's mother, Mrs. R. Mitchell, en route to their summer camp at Clayoe.

The executive of the Milk Producers' Association met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell on Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fortner, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Conners, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Conners, Sr., were Friday night tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mitchell, Front Road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig and family, spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. Sherwin, Hillier.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell, Freda and Mrs. Gunnage had tea on Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. G. Woods, Sidney.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell and girls, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Weller at Carrying Place. Loraine Weller returned home with them after spending a couple of weeks with her aunt, Mrs. R. Mitchell and other relatives.

Mr. Donald Mitchell spent Sunday with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Leavens, who are holidaying at Maxinay Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkins were Wednesday night callers of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Grills.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell and girls, were recent Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. S. Grills.

Mr. Chas. Leavens, Toronto, spent a couple of days with his cousin, Mr. Garnett Mitchell, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell, Freda, Mrs. Gunnage, Mr. and Mrs. S. Grills were Sunday night callers of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mitchell.

Competitive Prices and Personal Service.

I.D.A. DRUG STORES

Independent Druggists' Affiliation

SPECIAL VALUES AND REMINDERS for Thursday, Friday and Saturday

We reserve the right to limit quantities.

SAL HEPATICA 30c, 59c $1.15

A. S. A. TABLETS 5 grain 300s 49c

WILDROOT Cream-Oil 59c

FOR BETTER HEALTH

Alka-Seltzer 29c, 57c
Chase's Nerve Food 69c, 1.50
Morse's Indian Root Pills 23c
Eno's Fruit Salt 59c, 90c
Bromo-Seltzer 25c, 49c, 95c, 1.25
Bayer Aspirin 19c, 39c, 79c
Bile Beans 47c
Ekovah Salts 39c, 79c
Pepto-Bismol 59c, $1.09, $1.89
Sloetzer Tablets $1.09, $2.09

FOR ACHING FEET

CORN PADS 39c
SCHOLL'S ZINO PADS 25c, 35c
Minnen Quinsana 39c
Freezone 59c
Nu-Foot Insoles, pr. 25c

Marathon Athletic Ointment 50c

Gaby Suntan Lotion .. 15c, 65c
Skol 53c, 75c
Palm Beach White Shoe Cleaner 25c
Sunset Dyes .... 15c, 2 for 25c
Rexall Cleanser .... 2 for 25c
"Ti" White Shoe Cleaner 15c, 35c
Theresa Finnis with wick 19c
All-Purix Thinx Dyes ..... 15c, 2 for 25c
Johnson's Baby Powder 25c, 55c
Lysol 35c, 65c, 1.25

60 sec.

A POWDER that Clings

You'll love Three Flowers Face Powder when you discover it not only clings longer and will not "cake" or "coke". There's Three Flowers smooth-textured lipstick and rouge, too.

BROMO-SELTZER

Stops pain, soothes nerves, relieves headaches, settles upset stomach. 29c, 49c, 95c, 1.59

I. D. A. HEALTH SALTS

English Style

A refreshing effervescent saline. Cooling pleasant tasting.

59c

16-ounce can

I.D.A. Brand

WAX PAPER

EXTRA HEAVY

100 ft. roll

Special 22c

NEW! AUTOMATIC DOT APPLICATOR and SUPERFAST DOT Insecticide

Save 5¢

FOR CARE OF THE HAIR

DRENE SHAMPOO 39c, 67c, 1.10
HALO HAIR DRESS 25c, 49c
OLIVE'ON HAIR DRESSING 49c, 55c
HEKONICIN For baldness in women and men $2.00

Hollywood Waves set 15c
Vera Cremo Shampoo 75c
Brylcreem 35c, 49c
Nestle Colorinse

FITCH Dandruff Remover Shampoo 35c 69c 98c

FOR ORAL HYGIENE

Pepsodent Antiseptic 29c, 49c, 89c
Colgate Dental Cream .. 25c, 49c
Kleen-Or Antiseptic .. 25c, 79c
Maclean's Tooth Paste... 29c, 47c
Fasteeth 29c, 49c, 89c
Pepsodent Dental Cream 29c, 45c
Double-Duty Tooth Brush ... 59c
Stera-Kleen 25c, 75c
Corega Plate Powder 23c, 41c, 69c

HYDROGEN PEROXIDE I.D.A., 8 and 16 oz., reg 25c and 39c .. 19c, 29c

OINTMENTS I.D.A.—Boracic, Carbolic, Zinc, Sulphur, reg. 25c 18c

BORACIC ACID I.D.A. 8 ounce, regular 15c 11c

MILK of MAGNESIA Phillips, large size ..... 39c 3 for 75c

WILD STRAWBERRY COMPD. I.D.A.' 2 Ounces, Regular 25c 19c

BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets—12s, 24s and 100s .. 18c, 29c, 79c

HAY FEVER

NEW Treatment! QUICK Relief!

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Take one to two Allergi-tabs and discomfort vanishes. Sneezing, sniffling, nasal congestion, nasal drip, runny eyes relieved. Get Allergi-tabs from your druggist today. Follow directions in folder. Get Children's Allergi-tabs today from your druggist. 49c

ALLERGI-TABS

HEADACHES COLDS RHEUMATIC and PERIODIC PAINS Quickly relieved by ANTALGINE

DON'T FORGET after Indigestion is relieved a dash of ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT

ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT

WHEN CHILD GETS STOMACH-SICK

Bring Relief This Simple Way

Just try Children's Own Tablets—Purely vegetable laxative. Mothers rave about how quickly they relieve stomach upsets, colds, sour stomach, feverishness and other disturbances. Thousands of enthusiastic users. Get Children's Own Tablets today from your druggist. 35c

L.D.A. Brand Home Needs

There's a wide range of I.D.A. products that are day-to-day necessities in the home. Here are a few specially priced for this week-end.

ASTRINGENT MOUTH WASH		18c, 53c
POWDERED ALUM	4 oz. reg. 10c	8c
SALT PETRE	4 oz. reg. 10c	8c
CREAM of TARTAR	2 oz. reg. 20c	16c
WORM SYRUP	2 oz. reg. 35c	27c
ROCHELLE SALT	2 oz. & 4 oz.	11c, 19c
EPSOM SALT	1-2 pound	8c

DR. MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS

23c

Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD 60's 60c 120's L50

ABSORBINE JR.

Also QUICK RELIEF for Sore, overworked muscles. To relieve swollen feet. Insect bites!

Two sizes 98c L95

Duration Leg-do 49c
Diexagen Cream 30c, 60c
Hindu's Beauty & Almond Cream 25c, 45c
Apple Blossom Soap ..... 15c, 2 for 25c
No-Sin Liquid Leg Make-up 65c
Wood's Bath Oil 60c, 1.00
Cashmere Bouquet 3-purpose 35c, 49c

Evelyn Howard PERFECTION COLD CREAM 1 lb., reg. 69c 54c

POND'S Make-Up Trio Face powder, lip and Cheek rouge $1.10

REYNOLDS "400"... PEN Writes 4 years without refilling $14.36

PENSIONS

FOR YOUR EMPLOYEES

A sign of the times, and contributing much to social progress, is the increasing number of Pension Plans which are being established by employers to provide retirement income for their employees.

The various forms of Pension Plans available and the different degrees of control, flexibility and benefit which each affords, make it difficult to choose the most suitable Plan, without careful study.

Our experience in the field of Pension Trusts extends over many years and embraces the planning and administration of a number of such Trusts, including the operation of a very flexible and economical type of Pension Fund for our own employees.

We offer you the benefit of our experience in selecting and setting up your Pension Plan and the advantage of our services in connection with its operation.

You are welcome to discuss your Pension Plan problems with us, without obligation.

THE ROYAL TRUST COMPANY

CORPORATE SECURITY — PERSONAL SERVICE

TORONTO

64 KING ST. W., AD 7341

E. L. CROSBIE, MANAGER

DOLAN'S PHONE 138

LATTIMER'S PHONE 67

GEEN'S PHONE 131

DOYLE'S PHONE 326

SCHRYVER'S PHONE 49

PAULEY'S PHONE 105

Motorcycle Delivery Available At All Stores

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Ontario Established 1821 — Intelligencer Established 1837

Published Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday by
THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, LIMITED
Belleville, Ontario, Canada

Telephone No. 68, Belleville, 128 a week.
By mail in Canada, Rice per year; $3.00 for six months; $1.50 for three months.
By mail in U.S.A. $5.00 per year.
Member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association

Member of the Canadian Press.
The Canadian Press is exclusively entitled to the use, for republication of all news despatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein. All rights of republication of special despatches herein are also reserved.

Radio and the Community

To say that radio has played a very important part in the integration of the peoples of the world in the last few years is no overstatement. It has.

Radio can and has played a very important role in uniting the peoples of the North American Continent in particular. Through its medium, we have learned the interests of our neighbours; we have learned to appreciate their varied problems; we have been drawn closer together by our mutual understanding of each others' thoughts and problems.

What can we do then to further the Continent as large as North America, what then can it do for a community? Is it not feasible that it will bind a community even closer together? That is the job for a community station such as CJBQ, the "Voice of the Bay of Quinte," Belleville's new radio station.

Formal schooling is only a very small part of one's education. The newspaper and the radio also play their part. We learn by what we see, hear and read. Our ideas are formed by these mediums. The proof of this statement is in the fact that whereas even a dictator takes over a country, he immediately puts very rigid restrictions on mediums which could influence his subjects' thoughts, namely, radio and the press.

To make the area community conscious; to provide wholesome entertainment for the members of the community; to act as a constant education plan; to perform community service such as news and sport coverage. Such is the job of a community radio station.

We, in the district which CJBQ is to serve, have a lot to be thankful for as location is one of the best in the province. we have more than a good share of industries for our population; we are blessed with very fine people. Our lot is a bountiful one. Why, then, should we not be proud of our community? We should have a community spirit second to none in the country.

CJBQ is part of our community; it is termed the "Voice of the Bay of Quinte." What is that but the voice of our community.

Our community radio station can and will do a lot to engender the community spirit among us, another step in the march of progress to help make our lives more pleasant and us, better neighbors.

Normandy's Affectionate Tribute

In Normandy from which came colonists three centuries ago to settle in Canada there burn a peculiar zeal and enthusiasm and love for Canada. That fact was proven when the Canadian party of Prime Minister Mackenzie and Canadian of the diplomatic and military services recently were received and honored by the people of that part of France as they toured the area of Normandy through which Canadians fought in the year 1944, the year of invasion, to victory, helping to bring the final collapse of the enemy.

The Canadian visitors recently traversed the fields where Canada's sons and their Allies fought, bled and died for freedom. Everywhere was shown by the people a profound appreciation of Canada's service in the war. The ground the party passed over the ground made sacred and hallowed by the highest service a freeman can give and the party was deeply touched by the expressions of affection and remembrance shown by the Norman people for the men who there fought for the freedom of the world.

Pioneer Film Producer

Familiar to many who remember the earlier films was the name of Leon Gaumont, the French pioneer producer, who has now passed away at his home on the Riviera, after seeing the industry, in which he was interested as a young man, become one of the giant industries of the world. He founded the Gaumont Company in London, England, to market French films and in 1902 he began production in London. Sets in those days were not costly. The New York Times recalls that when the heroine of "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" had to climb the church tower to save her Royalist lover, the bell, the tower and the lover fell down and it cost $8 to rebuild the set. From such small beginnings grew the gigantic industry with its sets of every sort to which the world of today has become accustomed.

The newsreel was one of the interests of M. Gaumont. He also introduced music into the movie audience's fare by using a phonograph set on the stage near the screen. He continued experimenting with sound and began trying to make color films. He is credited with having produced in 1910 the first synchronized talking films, produced at the Academy of Sciences of Paris and at the Royal Institute of Great Britain two years later. He was also given credit for producing the first movies by the trichrome method. He established an American company in Flushing, and his leading actresses were these known artists, Alice Ardaty and Lenore Ulric.

M. Gaumont was an artist and a seer who foresaw that the future had a place for the film. To Gaumont and the other pioneers in United States, France and Britain the world owes a debt for the development of a new art which is an agent of progress and knowledge as well as of entertainment.

Gunless Battleship

A battleship without guns will be something new in the navies of the world. But the U. S. Navy now plans to complete the Kentucky, originally designed as one of the huge Iowa-Missouri class, without its 16-inch guns, says The Chicago Daily News.

The battleship has always been regarded primarily as a gun platform, but the Kentucky will be an experimental rocket platform, according to reports. It also may make use of atomic weapons, and for that reason its completion is being delayed until after the Bikini blast.

Possibly what is being planned for the Kentucky will be a future. Possibly the experiments will revolutionize naval warfare. There is continuing talk that the whole battleship idea is obsolete.

In any case, the navy is to be commended for trying to find out. It seems much more sensible than scrapping a navy completed battleship, or building just one more of the conventional type.

Conquest of Fog

Truck drivers, locomotive engineers, and even airplane pilots may soon be roaring through the night regardless of fog and other weather hazards. This is being made possible through the application of a new invention using infra-red lamps and viewing devices.

Even the densest fog which before would have paralyzed traffic and brought it to a standstill now becomes only a minor hazard.

Nearly all the equipment used in this fog-piercing program was war-designed and utilized. That it was effective — of that there is no question: Jap soldiers making tea at night on their regular invisible flame of a Tokyo tea-boiler made a perfect target. Invisible — yes, in ordinary light, but illuminated with the invisible infra-red beam they stood out as a black crow on a field of freshly fallen snow.

—Scientific American.

A Vanishing Scourge

The death rate from typhoid fever throughout the world continues to show an encouraging decline, and has reached a point that indicates that this scourge to humanity is so well controlled in the United States as to be almost eliminated.

The fight against typhoid fever has been long and difficult, and it is fervently to be hoped that the success that has been achieved in this battle will be repeated again and again in the not too distant future against such other enemies of mankind as cancer, poliomyelitis and rheumatic fever.

—New York Times.

Newspaper Facts

Wartime reductions depleted a 50-employee staff of one British daily newspaper to five men, including the editor, one boy and an occasional helper borrowed from another paper.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST
(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

FEARS

I am a man of fears! I dread
A baby falling out of bed.
Though I have heard it oft before,
I hate that bump upon the floor.

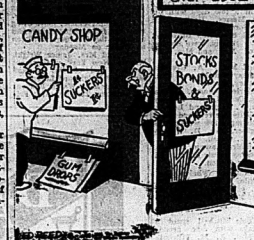
I am a nervous man! I shrink
When youngsters stand on peril's brink,
Or helter-skelter race the stairs,
Or stand tip-toe on shaky chairs.

When boys with matches I behold,
The blood within my veins goes cold.
An open knife, a running child,
With terror almost drives me wild.

But, of the fears to which I'm host,
I think that fish hooks fright me most—
For once I saw, when young was I,
A fish hook in a youngster's eye.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed



"Hey! Which where you stick your signs?"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

August 14th., 1926.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cook and daughter, of Rochester, N.Y., are visiting Mr. Fred Slater and Mr. William Mossman, North Front Street.

Mrs. Frank Foley and children, George Street, have returned home from Rice Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Ford of Rochester, N.Y., are visiting relatives in the city.

The Misses Edna and Bernice Wheeler have left to visit friends in Peterborough, Lindsay and Fenelon Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Palos of Buffalo, N.Y., formerly of this city, are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. J. Marshall of Bridgeburg is visiting relatives here.

30 YEARS AGO

August 14th., 1916.

Mr. Gerome Holton, barrister, New York City, Mrs. Holton and their two children, have arrived here on a visit friends and also spend some time at Presqu'Ile, Point Anne and here by automobile. Mr. Holton is an old Belleville boy.

A Tyendinaga farmer when paying a small account at the office yesterday, remarked that the money he had was part of the sum he had received for his hogs at a price of 16 cents per pound liveweight. A few years ago he said that he received only $3 to $5.00 per hundred for pork dressed and ready for the butcher's stall. Naturally he was well pleased with the price he had made.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Legault, George Street, are visiting relatives in Detroit, Mich.

40 YEARS AGO

August 14th., 1906.

Mr. Fred Foster is home from Chicago on a visit.

Mr. John Day of Toronto is visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nutbrown, Rochester, N.Y., formerly of Belleville, are visiting friends here.

Mr. F. A. Thorpe left today for Sydney, N.S., where he has accepted a position.

Mr. Archibald C. Way, an old Belleville boy, now Assistant Cashier of the First National Bank, Los Angeles, California, is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. F. W. B. Moore, accountant at the local branch of the Bank of Montreal is spending a vacation at the Sand Banks.

50 YEARS AGO

August 14th., 1896.

The dry and hot weather is destroying the root crop and corn. Pasture is also drying up and in many sections water for cattle is becoming scarce.

Yesterday Messrs. Fred Richardson and his son completed the fluting on the top of the ceiling in Bridge Street Methodist Church. The church will be reopened on Sunday.

Mr. Thomas Ritchie is spending a vacation at the Sand Banks.

Mr. P. J. Anderson and family are summering at the Sand Banks.

Mr. F. F. Canniff of the G.T.W.R. Telegraph Office is spending his vacation in Syracuse, N.Y.

Old Country Letter

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

A paradox of Britain's unrest is that acute unemployment exists side by side with an acute manpower shortage.

While industry and agriculture complain that they can not get enough workers and women are being called by the government to take jobs, there are almost 400,000 jobless.

The big majority are in four areas which were the centres of heaviest unemployment through the depression—Scotland, northeast and northwest England and Wales. Wales is in the worst shape with forty per cent out of work. The Labor government has promised to build new factories in troubler areas to expand employment possibilities but this is a long-term project.

The Glasgow waterfront is one three-mile area where so many sign as dock as in 1931.

About 5,000 persons worked on the harbor during the war boom. Now there's work for only 2,500. Tonnage of shipping has dropped to the level of depression years. Even between wars it was at the level but the general cargo tonnage is termed "very disappointing."

The situation is so bad that Michael Byrne, general secretary of the Scottish Transport and General Workers' Union, intends to ask the government for a compulsory distribution of British shipping traffic during the transition period to give a proportional share to every dock.

There now are 72,000 jobless in the Midlands, but most rely primarily on coal fields and heavy industries to employ its people.

In the unlovely Rhondda Valley at least 18 in 100 are without jobs and in Merthyr the figure is as high as 25. At the height of the depression the average for South Wales was one-third of the population out of work. Despite a manpower shortage, the situation is approaching that "dead times" figure.

MACKENZIE'S COLUMN

Britain Believed Heading For Much Trouble if Unilateral Action Taken

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Peace-loving Britain may have a tough time trying to do her lofty balancing act—trying to save many folks are joggling the tight-rope. Unilateral action, by Britain, is contributing to the dangers — probably without malice but nevertheless deliberately—because the rope happens to be in their way. They don't want to get peace fixed—as witness their establishment of a British base in the Pacific to protect her—but having set up the age-guard they now are breaking through the barrier in order to take short-cuts to desired objectives.

There have been numerous instances in recent months of joggling the rope. The latest worry about a joggle from a new source has been occasioned by a British spokesman's statement that Britain stands ready to take unilateral action, without recourse to the United Nations, in quelling any "violent or sudden" threat to his realm. That is the gist of Bevin (Ernest Bevin, Britain's Foreign Secretary) doctrine.

Here's what has happened: Britain, Russia, and the United States agreed to withdraw their troops and missions from Iran, likewise. The Muscovites refused, on the ground that they had a treaty permitting them to remain. Britain's troops there.

British and American soldiers were pulled out. Then came the Iranian governments' appeal to the U. N. Security Council against the presence of Red forces. After many heart-burnings Russia finally announced that she would withdraw her troops by May 6th. Then she announced that she would withdraw her troops by May 6th. Then she announced that she would withdraw her troops by May 6th. Then she

Text of Postmaster General Bertrand's Statement in House

Monday morning in the Montreal Gazette, Page 13 and Tuesday morning's, Page 3, appeared a report signed by Lawrence M. Conroy entitled "Suspicion in false passport ring points to Federal Cabinet member" and "spy aided by false credentials was known as William Brandes."

In February, 1938, Corporal Noel of the R.C.M.P. came to my office and asked me if I did remember recommending one William Brandes who had asked for his naturalization in September, 1936. At first I did not remember but after the officer had described the applicant I said that I did remember a man responding to the description who had come to me accompanied by one or two persons whom I knew well, Aaron Marcovitch and another gentleman whose name I gave to the police. At the time I was not sure which one of the two had been in my office with Brandes to whom I had given the letter shown to me by the R.C.M.P.

Written in 1935

Why did I write this letter? During the election period of 1935 Aaron Marcovitch had presented himself to me as a member of one Marcovitch whom I knew as a perfect gentleman and who was in charge of Sam Jacob's Central Committee in Cartier Division. Aaron told me that he knew the Hebrew element of my district very well, that he was agent for the Hebrew Sick Benefit Association which I found to be correct. He succeeded in convincing me of his usefulness. He placed all my committee all through the elections under the supervision of my campaign managers.

The R.C.M.P. officers went to Aaron Marcovitch's house and the latter admitted that the photo of Brandes was somewhat familiar but that he could not place the man. He denied having had anything to do with the naturalization papers and to convince the officers he offered them to go through his records. They did accept and found out the name of Brandes, his residence, the 22970 and the certificate number of one Schulem Brandes No. 10164, naturalized in 1913, who had been given as Willy Brandes' father.

Profession Given

Later Marcovitch admitted that Mrs. Schulem Brandes was an aunt of Mrs. Aaron Marcovitch.

Willy Brandes' profession was given as Hebrew teacher in the Montreal Hebrew school.

The officers found that a marriage appeared to have been celebrated between Willy Brandes and Mary Stern, by a certain Rabbi, Montreal, two witnesses whose names appeared but both of them denied having ever witnessed such a marriage.

When I was told of the details of the R.C.M.P. inquiry it did help my memory to reconstruct this affair.

The application forms for naturalization were signed as of Sept. 10, and explained the terms of my letter of Sept. 15, 1936, as follows:

"Officer in charge of Naturalization,

Parliament Building, Ottawa, Ont.

"Sir:—I hereby recommend to you Mr. William Brandes, who is filing his papers to obtain Canadian naturalization. Mr. Brandes has been living in Montreal ever since he entered Canada at the age of eight years old. He is employed as professor of the Hebrew school of Montreal and is absolutely recommendable from all angles.

"Yours very truly,

"(Signed) Ernest Bertrand."

Furnished by Marcovitch

These details of my letter, relating to Brandes' stay in Montreal and his profession of school teacher had been furnished to me by Marcovitch and Brandes himself who accompanied his supposed cousin to my office. These forms showed the number of Brandes' father's naturalization papers obtained in 1913. I had no reason to doubt Marcovitch's words as he had always acted properly during the time I had known him.

Marcovitch was a very sick man in 1938 at the time of the R.C.M.P. inquiry and was restricted in his movements by the said police orders. He died on Nov. 11, 1940.

I never added anything else but the letter just quoted. Fred Rose's name is not found on the file. I did not know him except ting after September, 1936, and to say "that the first signature was that of Rose, which it was necessary to cover by another signature who would be like Caesar's wife, above suspicion" is one of the implications that follow, is malicious and untrue.

I am sorry to have been deceived by Marcovitch and Brandes whose story was plausible, but there was nothing but absolute good faith in my part. Should once again I repeat that I never heard of Fred Rose in this affair.

Busy day was spent in the strike-bound Stelco plant at Hamilton, Ont., by Hon. C. D. Howe, Government mediator in the month-old steel strike. Mr. Brockington, shown as he left the plant in a car, conferred with union officials before visiting Stelco. He made no comment on his tour. In the back seat, gesticulating, is J. S. McCullough of the Federal Department of Labor.

'GM' Assembly Line To Halt Friday, Materials Lacking

Oshawa, Ont., Aug. 13—(CP)—William A. Wecker, president of the General Motors Company here, today said that the assembly line at the company plant will halt at 4 p. m. on Friday of this week and "the flow of cars and trucks to Canadian consumers will cease for lack of materials."

Strikes in vital suppliers industries have necessitated this this step, Mr. Wecker said.

At the present time there are about 4,100 factory employees at the Oshawa plant and it is estimated that some 1,500 will remain at work in various departments for indefinite periods beyond Friday.

Continuing But Slower Decline In Unemployment Reported But Strikes Cripple Production

Ottawa, Aug. 14 —(CP)— A continuing but slower decline in unemployment was reported by the Labor Department tonight in a review of Canada's manpower situation, but strikes are also crippling production in many industries and a return of materials bottlenecks are becoming more serious."

These obstacles, the department said, are "curtailing employment in many cases."

There were 160,000 unplaced applicants registered with the National Employment Service Aug. 1 after a decrease of 19,000 in July, and the company plant will halt at 4 p. m. on Friday of this week and "the flow of cars and trucks to Canadian consumers will cease for lack of materials."

Strikes in vital suppliers industries have necessitated this this step, Mr. Wecker said.

At the present time there are about 4,100 factory employees at the Oshawa plant and it is estimated that some 1,500 will remain at work in various departments for indefinite periods beyond Friday.

Unfilled vacancies totalled 106,000 Aug. 1. This represented a decline of 15,000 from the 121,000 vacancies recorded June 27, The review said:

"Seasonal expansion is occurring chiefly in non-manufacturing industries such as agriculture, logging and mining, which are not drastically affected by the current wave of strikes. Heavy demand for male labor exists in all these industries. Expansion in the construction industry continues in the face of material and labor shortages. Hardly recovered from the British Columbia woodworkers strike, the setback due to the dispute in basic steel is playing havoc with the construction program."

Skilled Labor Exhausted.

"The supply of skilled labor is more or less exhausted. Manufacturing industries are more directly affected by industrial unrest, and labor demand has slackened considerably.

"As the existing requirements are chiefly for male workers, unemployed men declined in number more than unemployed women. Female labor demand exceeds supply, but many of the jobs available are, in the lower-paid industries such as textiles and services.

Cancelled on Aug. 1 there were 126,000 male unplaced applicants as compared with 141,- which will add 34,000 to the city's 240,000 population.

Chepstow, Monmouth, England. —Mrs. Mary Hancock, 51, died half an hour after being stung by a bee, the third person to be stung fatally in Britain in a month.

West Axholme, Lincs., England (CP)—Land drainage and pumping schemes in the potato-growing areas here brought 33,-790 acres under cultivation compared with a previous 7,124 acres.

Wigan, England, (CP)—Brides who are late for their weddings cause "discourteous and unnecessary" delays, said Rev. John Lawton in St. Aidne's parish magazine.

London, (CP) — The Council for the Provision of Rest-Breaks Houses for Nurses and Midwives announced receipt of £1,586 (7,930) from the Canadian Nurses' Association.

Leeds, England (CP)—Candidates for an Arts degree at Leeds University no longer have to study Latin or Greek as a compulsory subject.

Two Corvettes Under Seizure In Haifa Harbor

Haifa, Palestine, Aug. 14—(Reuters)— Two corvettes now idle in Haifa harbor under seizure by the British authorities after bringing 2,000 Jewish refugees each to this port.

Palestine authorities say that the Jewish agency bought for $2,400,000 six corvettes — several of them Canadian-built vessels — which were registered at Panama.

British investigators are of the opinion that the corvettes are used for the greater part of the Jews' journey to Palestine and that usually the refugees are transferred onto smaller ships for the last leg of the journey into port.

SHORT TRIBUTE

The Japanese "banzai" means "10,000 years" and is a cheer similiar to the western "long live the king."

24 Polio Cases Added Overnight Survey Shows

(By The Canadian Press)

Four Canadian provinces today reported a total increase of 24 cases of infantile paralysis to bring the Dominion's total number under treatment to 366. Another 25 persons have died of the disease, a survey of The Canadian Press showed.

Montreal now has 206 persons being treated for the dread disease, an increase of 13 over yesterday. Two other new cases in Quebec were at Shawinigan Falls. Others reported yesterday were as follows: Ontario, six; Prince Edward Island, three; Alberta, one.

Provincial totals, with deaths shown in brackets, are:

Nova Scotia, three; New Brunswick, nine; Prince Edward Island, nine (3); Quebec, 336 (16); Ontario, 73 (7); Manitobe, 10; Saskatchewan, five; Alberta, 21; British Columbia, one.

Quebec and Ontario each reported two new polio deaths in the last 24 hours.

Despite a steady increase in polio in the last several weeks, health authorities generally avoided any suggestion that this was an "epidemic year."

Dr. D. L. Pullen, chief medical officer for the Ontario Department of Health, said: "There is no rhyme or reason in such a label."

At Shawinigan Falls Dr. Oscar Chabot, medical health officer of the Health Clinic for St. Maurice County, said pools in two parks had been closed to the public as a precaution against polio. Shawinigan Falls has 12 cases and nearby Three Rivers has 17. Mr. Chabot said he believed that on the basis of population the St. Maurice region was the hardest hit section of the country.

No decision has been announced anywhere in the Dominion to delay the opening of schools as a result of the polio outbreak.

MILK POWDER FOR BOMBAY

Bombay (CP) — The government of Bombay has ordered a quantity of dry whole-milk, full-cream powder from the United States for use in the scarcity districts. Eight hundred tons of this powder have already arrived and the powder will be reconstituted into liquid milk and distributed free of charge to the vulnerable sections of the population.

U. S. ROCKET CHIEF

Capt. Steadman Teller, chief of U. S. navy's guided missile section, reported navy now has weapons "that would seem fantastic even to a highly-imaginative comic-strip artist." Among them, on "immediate prospect list" are: radio-controlled, jet-propelled rockets with speeds up to several thousand miles an hour; anti-submarine and anti-ship missiles that speed unerringly to fast-moving targets; radio-guided glide bombs with great striking power; rockets capable of carrying 500-pound loads up to 130 miles.

TOURISTS SURPRISED

Thorold, Aug. 14 — (CP) — A party of United States tourists who visited this town were astonished to find that United States currency was not used in Canada. After finding the price for a waitress they asked if we used it here. The waitress brought them some Canadian currency for inspection and one remarked "Boy, isn't it cute." They said they had never seen seen anything like it.

AUSTRALIA'S HATTERS

Old recluses in Australia are known as "hatters."

"HOSH! YOUR MEOWING! NO MORE OF MY BORDEN'S EVAPORATED MILK FOR YOU TO-DAY"

Borden's EVAPORATED MILK

Natural content of vitamin D increased by irradiation

Recommended by doctors for baby feeding

Borden's EVAPORATED MILK

"LORNE McDOUGALL WILL HELP ME!"

Your best friend is your insurance agent, for he helps you at a time when you need help most.

Bring your insurance problems to us. They receive our prompt, personal attention at all times. Call us today for expert insurance advice. No risk is too large — none too small.

LORNE McDOUGALL INSURANCE AGENCIES LTD.
Belleville's Largest Insurance Office
OPPOSITE THE CITY HALL — PHONE 168

A12-81

Give Cole Slaw Character ...with Real Mayonnaise

COLE SLAW perks up amazingly, with well-chosen flavor additions—and real mayonnaise for real deliciousness! Shred the cabbage finely; add about half its measure of celery, cucumber or shredded carrots, and enough mayonnaise. Then . . . use Blue Ribbon Real Mayonnaise to moisten well —so blend and mellow and enhance all flavors!

Made with fresh eggs, "Fresh Plant" salad oil, selected vinegars and a secret spice formula, Blue Ribbon is double-whipped for full-bodied, smooth, fluffy perfection. Contains no starchy filler, so you can e-x-t-e-n-d it with cream or fruit juice—never goes watery.

Sandwich-making Hint—

Get acquainted with Blue Ribbon's usefulness as a delightful spread for bread . . . or for making with the grand new Blue Ribbon Salads. Makes meal-wiches taste so much better — serve lunches, too!

HELLMANN'S
BLUE RIBBON
Real MAYONNAISE

it's Really Fresh!

H2-46

Sinus Sufferers

GET QUICK RELIEF

MENTHOLATUM

Clear head and easy breathing when these time-tested Mentholatum checks sinus congestion, relieves nasal irritation. Use daily. 30c.

WHO... IS CANADA'S No. 1 CITIZEN?

IT IS YOU . . . OR SHOULD BE.

If you are a No. 1 citizen, you will be doing your share to ward off the menace of inflation" facing Canada today.

How? . . . By conservation in your personal finances . . .

Here are five ways you can fight inflation:

- Hold on to your Victory Bonds
- Buy only those goods which are in fair supply and save your money for the day when goods now in short supply will be readily available
- Avoid black market purchases
- Keep up your insurance
- Build up your savings account

This is conservation—the first requisite for personal security—the first attribute of good citizenship.

If we all help in all five ways, the threat of inflation —rampant in some other countries and now menacing us—can be beaten and stamped out.

Let us all be No. 1 citizens. Remember, if you are a No. 1 citizen, you will look after No. 1 . . . Save for yourself and you save for Canada.

BANK OF MONTREAL
working with Canadians in every walk of life for 120 years

MY BANK BM

"HOW I LOVE A GOOD SMOKE"

Woman Cobbler Likes Her Job

Vancouver (CP)—Pretty Frances Chambers is a skilful cobbler and cannot understand why anyone should consider shoe-making an unusual occupation for women.

"I wouldn't change with any stenographer," she told an interviewer. "I like cobbling because it requires more talent than office occupations open to women and it enables me to meet so many people."

Mrs. Chambers started in the trade seven years ago and liked the work so well that she learned every phase of the craft. She said that she had never gouged her finger with an awl and has come to enjoy the acrid odor of hot rubber.

Her husband, whom she said she "almost married over a mended boot," is also a cobbler.

Briefs From Britain

By The Canadian Press

Chalfont, England, (CP)—The "Sweetest Lady" over 60 will be chosen during the Bank Holiday fete in this Buckinghamshire village.

Tredegar, Wales (CP)— When offered a flag captured in Burma the British Legion rejected it because "the Japanese were not worthy foes."

Sheltenham, England (CP)—A prefabricated bungalow was erected here by 19 men in 29 1-2 minutes. In one hour, 11 minutes it was ready for occupation.

London, (CP) —The London Transport has arranged for windows in all new buses to be made of toughened glass.

Kingston, Surrey, England. (CP) "Try to reach your objective without another black mark" were the words of the judge when he sentenced a burglar of 88 to six months' imprisonment.

London, (CP)—Women police are to get their new uniforms in November. Some of the features of the new style include padded shoulders, two breast pockets in the tunic and a six-piece skirt instead of a two-piece.

Chalk, Kent, England (CP)—A family of eight gypsies earned £68 ($272) for a week's peapicking.

Cardiff, Wales, (CP)—Cardiff is seeking to expand its city limits to include outlying areas

Continued Slow Decline In Unemployment

Ottawa, Aug. 14 —(CP)— A continuing but slower decline in unemployment was reported by the Labor Department tonight in a review of Canada's manpower situation, but strikes are also crippling production in many industries and a return of materials bottlenecks are becoming more serious."

These obstacles, the department said, are "curtailing employment in many cases."

There were 160,000 unplaced applicants registered with the National Employment Service Aug. 1 after a decrease of 19,000 in July, and the company plant will halt at 4 p. m. on Friday of this week and "the flow of cars and trucks to Canadian consumers will cease for lack of materials."

Strikes in vital suppliers industries have necessitated this this step, Mr. Wecker said.

At the present time there are about 4,100 factory employees at the Oshawa plant and it is estimated that some 1,500 will remain at work in various departments for indefinite periods beyond Friday.

Unfilled vacancies totalled 106,000 Aug. 1. This represented a decline of 15,000 from the 121,000 vacancies recorded June 27, The review said:

"Seasonal expansion is occurring chiefly in non-manufacturing industries such as agriculture, logging and mining, which are not drastically affected by the current wave of strikes. Heavy demand for male labor exists in all these industries. Expansion in the construction industry continues in the face of material and labor shortages. Hardly recovered from the British Columbia woodworkers strike, the setback due to the dispute in basic steel is playing havoc with the construction program."

Skilled Labor Exhausted.

"The supply of skilled labor is more or less exhausted. Manufacturing industries are more directly affected by industrial unrest, and labor demand has slackened considerably.

"As the existing requirements are chiefly for male workers, unemployed men declined in number more than unemployed women. Female labor demand exceeds supply, but many of the jobs available are, in the lower-paid industries such as textiles and services.

Cancelled on Aug. 1 there were 126,000 male unplaced applicants as compared with 141,- which will add 34,000 to the city's 240,000 population.

Chepstow, Monmouth, England. —Mrs. Mary Hancock, 51, died half an hour after being stung by a bee, the third person to be stung fatally in Britain in a month.

West Axholme, Lincs., England (CP)—Land drainage and pumping schemes in the potato-growing areas here brought 33,-790 acres under cultivation compared with a previous 7,124 acres.

Wigan, England, (CP)—Brides who are late for their weddings cause "discourteous and unnecessary" delays, said Rev. John Lawton in St. Aidne's parish magazine.

London, (CP) — The Council for the Provision of Rest-Breaks Houses for Nurses and Midwives announced receipt of £1,586 (7,930) from the Canadian Nurses' Association.

Leeds, England (CP)—Candidates for an Arts degree at Leeds University no longer have to study Latin or Greek as a compulsory subject.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. John Ray, Shiloh, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Helen Audrey, to George Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Curry, of Belleville, the marriage to take place at their residence Sept. 2nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Canfield, of Oshawa, have returned home after two weeks' holidays at Belleville and Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Meagher, of Lawrence Park, Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davidson, Bridge Street East.

Mr. Thomas Crozier is spending a few days in Montreal, visiting his son, John J. Crozier, of the Dominion Bank staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kenny and family, of Bridge Street, Mapleton, are visiting Mr. Kenny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Kenny.

Friends of Mrs. Jack Alyea, of Rossmore, will be sorry to hear that she underwent a serious operation in the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday.

Mrs. Willet Johnston and Donna, spent the past week visiting friends in Peterborough.

Miss Audrey Crane, of Lindsay, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bert McMillan, 31 Octavia.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, Dufferin Avenue, have arrived home after a week's holiday in Rochester, N.Y.

Miss Elizabeth Dandeno is spending the week visiting her aunt, Miss Gerarda Rooney, Toronto.

Mrs. George A. Reid and daughter, Miss Muriel Frankford, Ontario, have left for Rochester, New York, to attend the McGowan-Chase wedding.

Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Cronk and Miss Harriet Cronk, of this city, were guests at the Smiley-Grindley wedding in Ottawa on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Vanwinkle and Mr. and Mrs. A. Orr, of Belleville, enjoyed a motor trip to Pasquaquonoc, Wasaga Beach, Simcoe and a visit with Mr. Orr's relatives at Cremore.

Miss Shirley Mills, 16 Chatham Street, is visiting for some time and spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. N. E. Mills, Dearborn, Mich., is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Mills, 16 Chatham, St.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crosby are the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Crosby, Dufferin Avenue.

Among the guests at the Shales-Lantz wedding in Kingston recently were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hogan and Miss Pat Boyle, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Vivian, of Shannonville, have spent the last few days in Montreal visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vivian, of Delorimier Avenue. They will leave Montreal on Wednesday for a boat trip down the St. Lawrence along the picturesque Gaspe Coast and stop at Quebec City for a short time, returning to Montreal on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl O'Hara and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hunter have returned to the city after spending a week's household help was plentiful and cheap, making the lot of the moneyed class one of leisure, where fish was abundant and fine, and many old squires with a considerable distinction, their delicate blood scars, had, all told, anything but a drab existence.

But, contrary to what some writers would have us believe, in these days they did not dress in correct front, were dark romances, shady affairs, and skeletons in many closets, and the reference to the conclusion that it took more to make a lady or gentleman than ring-tinged hand, lifting an eggshell cup to a rosebud mouth.

However, there were great women, then, as now, who served their day and age, with courage and rich fruit-cake made by their own hands, to friends who came to call.

We don't hear very much, for instance, of the first wife of Sir Rev. William Macaulay, who was rector of the first Anglican Church in Picton for forty-seven years until called to his reward on March 2nd, 1874, in the 76th year of his age and the 56th year of his ministry.

The husband of Rev. Wm. Macaulay was the imposing large brick house now called the Old Mary Magdalene Church and graveyard. The first and second floors of this house consist of us a picture of days gone by.

"I Was Young Then—"

By Genevieve Fournia

Some writers paint a very rosy picture, indeed of "The Good Old Days." They roll the names and dignitaries of other days over their tongues with relish. They tell of the fine clothes and how they surrounded their families, and lingering, they hold their sentences over the names of the genteel parties of those days. Those writers are young and have apparently been greatly in awe and impressed. A few of the ancient diaries, letters, and literary articles with their tongues in cheek, however, and where the descriptions of the affairs of the elect of other days get too flowery, they also hold their pence no longer—and then one gets the inside story of "the genteel-pressed families' and a description of what went on "behind the scenes" in their proud homes, gives a much more authentic picture of their personalities themselves, and of the manners and morals of their time.

Privately, it seems, between the lack of morals among many of the young people of that day, and the lift their hands in horror at customs of today. Well listen to the tales told about the days, and what the escapades of a few of the more "wild" of our young people became colorless and tame in comparison.

Apparently the "Good Old Days" were "good" in the sense that they were full of fun and good

Born 1811—Philip Low—Died 1892.

Son of John Low of Leuchendcuhart, Fifeshire, Scotland, M.P.

An identical stone marks the grave of his wife, Mary Mason Clifford, cemetery, for in this family there was no disagreement about one's religious belief. Mary was a Philip Low, was a member of one denomination, and of another. If they couldn't be buried side by side their graves could be identical.

Not far from these two stones is the old St. Mary Magdalene burying ground is the plain slab that lists the names of the five children of Rev. W. H. Harris, rector of the township of North Marysburg who were all drowned on the same day long ago. The story is that the poor widow had left them playing in the yard of their country home and caught a ride into town with the driver of the butcher groceries. When she returned she found the bodies of her five children lying in the lawn, dead. They had gone out in a boat in the absence and all had drowned.

Often a visit to an old graveyard will lift the veil, and give us

Following the ceremony the guests repaired to the bride's home where a buffet luncheon was served to about forty-five guests. The serviteurs were all school teachers and friends of the bride. Mrs. Cecil Orr, Mrs. Madoc; Mrs. Merle Robinson, Miss Helen Robertson, Pittsburgh; Miss Edna Hannah, River Valley; Miss Dorothy Reid, Halloway.

The house was decorated with streamers of pink and white and the dining room table, laid with a lace cloth using the tiered wedding cake as a centrepiece, was the bride's aunts, Mrs. George Cook and Mrs. Ethel Danford poured tea.

Mrs. Nelson chose for her honeymoon to Quebec City, a gold dressmaker suit with brown accessories. On their return they will reside at Warkworth.

PLUMPTON—BLONDIN

The United Church at Stockdale was the scene of a pretty Summer wedding, Saturday, August 3, at two p.m., when the Rev. H. H. Lacker performed the marriage Ruths Evelyn Blondin youngest daughter of Mr. George Blondin, and the late Mrs. Blondin, of Trenton, Ont., and Clarence James Plumpton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Plumpton, Stockdale.

Mrs. Orville Frost, the church organist, played the wedding music. Just preceding the bridal party, Mrs. Percy Hubbell, of Stockdale, gowned in blue, with a corsage of sweetpeas, sang "The Lord's Prayer", and during the signing of the register, "Because".

The ushers were Mr. Boustead, of Bowmanville, and Mr. Harry Hannah, of Stockdale.

For the occasion the church was beautifully decorated with gladioli. The guest pews were marked with bows of white satin ribbon.

The bride given in marriage by her brother, Mr. G. C. Blondin, of Montreal, was lovely in a gown of white satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves with pointed lace cuffs on bodice, and long full skirt. Orange blossoms held her long embroidered French veil in place. She carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses and fern, with a bow of white satin ribbon.

Miss Katherine Plumton, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, was lovely in a floor-length gown of pink taffeta, with matching headdress and shoulder veil. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Boustead, of Bowmanville, the bridesmaid, was charming in a floor-length gown of deep blue with matching headdress and shoulder veil. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Donna Plumton, the groom's sister, was flower girl and looked sweet, gowned in a long pink taffeta dress over satin, with a basket of flowers and short veil. She carried a nosegay of Summer flowers.

Mr. George Plumton was the groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Plumpton. Mrs. Plumton received wearing a flowered sheer dress with white accessories and corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the bride's sister, Mrs. Hubbell, in a costume dress of turquoise and black and black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The dining room was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers and gladioli. The bride's table covered with white lrish linen cloth was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, with flankedon either side by pink and white tapers in silver holders. Assisting at the table were Misses Ruth Wiley, Marjorie Wall, Vivian Palmer and Loretta Perry.

Following the reception the bride and groom left amid showers of confetti for Montreal and Verdun, Que., for travelling the bride choosing a dubetia costume dress and white accessories. On their return the young couple will make their home in Bellevile.

The groom, a son of Mr. Boustead was a gold pin and earrings to match, to the maid of honor and bridesmaid, gold heart-shaped pins set with their birthstones; to the flower girl a locket and chain; to the organist and soloist, gold pins and to the best man and ushers, tie pins and clips.

Guests were present from Chalk River, Toronto, Montreal, Peterborough, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Port Hope, Belleville and Trenton.

MACFARLANE—BADGLET

A pretty wedding was solemnized at McLaughlin United Church at 2:30 p.m., on Saturday, August 10, when Phyllis Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Badgley, became the bride of Allan Robert, son of Mr. George MacFarlane and the late Mrs. MacFarlane, Rev. A. W. Langford performed the ceremony and Mrs. Chas. Baise played the wedding music. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Arnold Reilly rendered a beautiful solo "Because".

The church was prettily decorated with baskets of pink and white gladioli and Summer flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of white embroidered lace, over pink taffeta red bodice. Her fingertip veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. She was attended by her sister, Marilyn, who was attractively gowned in pale blue taffeta, floor-length with matching headdress and carried a nosegay centred with pink roses.

Mr. Donald MacFarlane, brother of the groom, was groomsman. The ushers were Earl Badgley, brother of the bride and Kenneth Matcheson, cousin of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the bride's home, where a buffet luncheon was served to over 200 guests. The bride's mother received wearing a floor-length brushed nylon dress with white accessories and corsage of pink gladioli. Assisting was assisted by the groom's grandmother Mrs. R. McMechan, wearing a floral print dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The serviteurs were the Misses Frances MacFarlane, Phyllis George, Marjorie and Jean McMechan with Mrs. Earl Easter in charge.

The bride and groom left on a trip to Eastern points. For travelling the bride chose a dress of Queen's blue with grey accessories. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Melrose.

Reception is Held For Rawdon Couple

Rawdon—Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen entertained about 50 relatives and friends at their home on Friday evening, August 9, in honor of their daughter and his bride, formerly Jean Small, of Sunbury on the Terrace.

The house was nicely decorated with cut flowers, ferns, streamers and various bouquets of phlox and snapdragon and Summer blooms.

A buffet luncheon was served to the guests and the serviteurs were Miss Doris Sine, Mrs. Marshall Hubbs, Mrs. Ernest Wilbert Jeffs assisted by Mrs. Clifford Sine.

A short program was enjoyed with the pastor, Rev. Nathaniel Cole, as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Percy Hubble, Stockdale, played a piano selection and also sang a vocal selection and she also accompanied her son, Master Neil Hubble, who contributed a humorous song.

Miss Mabel Sharp, Wellman, gave an appropriate reading.

Mr. Bill Demorest brought greetings from the MacMullen family and Jean graciously received.

Mrs. John Hubbuson expressed greetings in a welcome from the one was bride to another.

Mr. Roger Hall, Colborne, cousin of the groom, gave a brief address telling of the English custom of throwing rice and the "Small Home" when he was one of the Rawdonians who were privileged to represent the MacMullen family in Canada. He paid special tribute to the "Small family", who were absent on this occasion.

Mrs. Marguerite McMullen and Mrs. Hubble conducted a series of community singing following which the Queen and Anthem.

The young couple were the recipients of a nice array of lovely gifts.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Brighton; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Montgomery, Miss Verna Montgomery, Lloyd Cable and Jimmie, Colborne; Reeve and Mrs. George Montgomery, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Montgomery, Marie, Ronnie and Gordon, Stirling; Mr. Sanford Hubble, Sidney; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hubble and Neil, Stockdale, also Rawdon relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Marshall and Mrs. L. Hall, Sidney; Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Bailey and Marilyn, Frankford; Miss Vera MacMullen, Winnipeg, visited the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy The Sidney party spent the noon hour with their cousins, at Marlbro.

Miss Mabel Sharp and her cousin, Mrs. Wm. Montgomery, the former's grandmother on Thursday.

BITTEN BY DUCK

Dallas, Aug. 14 —(AP)— Mail carrier L. F. Wilson complained that he had been bitten by a duck at a residence here and said the bird related a yell on his leg. A skeptical newspaper reporter went with Wilson to the home. There was the duck, standing on the front porch. The reporter approached — and the angry duck chased him out of the yard. Then the duck bit Wilson again.

Work of V.O.N. Fully Explained To Kiwanis Club

The work of the Victorian Order of Nurses in this city and Canada was reviewed and appreciation of their services paid given the local Kiwanis Club was expressed by Miss Adair, superintendent of the Belleville division when speaking to the club on their noonday luncheon on Tuesday at the Hotel Quinte. The speaker was introduced by the Reverend Arthur Smith and Kiwanis appreciation was expressed by Harcus Taylor, Mark Vanzee occupied the chair and Vic White conducted the sing song with Bill Navin at the piano. Lorne McDougall collected the several fines. The President welcomed a number of guests, some of which were Kiwanians from the United States and they were asked to take part in the meeting of the Belleville club to their hopes organizations.

The President admonished the members for leaving the meeting before the speaker had concluded explaining that the Chairman of Program Committee had difficulty arranging the meetings, while the speaker in many instances travelled long distances at inconvenience to himself to deliver the address. Incidentally one member left the room on "Tuesday" after the conclusion of the evening. George Forhan thanked the club for the flowers sent to his wife when she was confined to hospital. The minutes of the last executive meeting was read to the members and approved.

Founded in 1897

Miss Adair told of how the V.O.N. was formed in 1897 as a national nursing service in memory of Queen Victoria and how it owed that Toronto and Vancouver were the only cities outside of Belleville an average size. "So well has the service been received by city that the staff was increased from two to three last year and could be doubled if necessary," stated the speaker. She stated there were 102 branches in Canada with 450 nurses and the National organization shaping all the time.

The speaker told how the fees were raised to Canada the two organizations, the national by private subscription while the local societies were financed by fees from patients, fees from insurance companies, government and civic grants, and public and private subscription. "The nurses are appointed by the National Organization and must have been a registered nurse with one year of public health nursing and Victorian Order training," people think that V.O.N. nurses are only interested in maternity. "Because I have had said to me 'you should go to the V.O.N. because you would make an excellent nurse'".

Miss Adair said the life of a V.O.N. was a busy one because they give bedside care, instructional talks and work on all twenty-four hours a day in all kinds of weather and conditions. Only Branch to Wear Uniforms

Miss Adair stated that the V.O.N. is the only branch that wears a uniform and the government now is granting $75 towards that purchase and many nurses are now purchasing this amount with a further $50.

The speaker outlined the work in this area, which includes the heads of special activities, maternity, medical and surgery and health education. Under special activities child welfare conferences, school nursing service, immunization clinics, pre-natal classes and part time feeding and nursing are carried out and under maternity the V.O.N. gives assistance on pre-natal care, assistance at birth in the home and post-natal care to mother and baby.

The speaker also outlined the day's activities of one nurse which showed that she is busy from 8.30 a.m., until work is completed in the evening. The address was most interesting and instructive.

Young Married Couple Presented With Gifts

Albury — A number attended the shower and charivari at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Brown for their daughter Barbara who was recently married to Harley Bellamy, Mr. Earl Vanderdenk read the address signed by many of the community and Mrs. Don Dempsey and Mrs. Roy Denyes presented the bride and groom with a lovely table lamp and end table. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bellyou, Trenton, Mrs. Cora Brownlee and Helen Walker of Consecon, on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Peck. Mr. and Mrs. Mac Bellyou of Hamilton spent the tea hour at the same home.

A number attended the Ladies' Aid meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Vanderdenk on Tuesday afternoon.

Shower for Bride-to-be

Mrs. Beuford Peck attended a kitchen gadget shower for Miss Marguerite Jackson, a future bride at the home of Mrs. Floyd Huffman, Bayside, on Thursday afternoon. Several contests were enjoyed with prizes given. The bride was asked to the table laden with gifts, to sit in a decorated chair with white and pink umbrella on the chair. The hostess served a delicious lunch.

Miss Hattie Peck entertained company for a few days.

Personals

Mrs. Beuford Peck, Mrs. Roy Williamson, Mrs. Ross Bryant, Mrs. O. Alyea attended the Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. Ray Jackson on Wednesday afternoon, a number of the daughter Marguerite who will be a bride of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker spent several days visiting in this community and staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Peck.

Much sympathy is extended to the family of the late Will Alyea who passed away at Trenton Saturday afternoon. Interment Sunday in Albury Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holmes and Gail of Pink and Lake returned to their home on Friday after spending their holidays at the home of Mrs. Ray Jackson.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Denyes on the arrival of a son in Belleville Hospital on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Southall and boys of Oshawa spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Warner Brown.

END YOUR WORRIES

Worry thrives on concealment of its cause. It usually happens that when the cause is discussed frankly with some trusted person the load of worry grows much lighter. If it does not disappear altogether.

Fashion Flashes

Simple substitution for the way in which fur designers bring forth an endless procession of clever ideas about coats, is what Persian lamb is used for a hip-length coat which has a slim, fitted front and a full, flared back; the latter achieved by carving the waistline sharply with the flares in back. High collar, spread and curled like a wave part way.

The evening scene, come Autumn, will blaze with beauty. A dinner attended by a Persian lamb is used for a hip-length coat which has a slim, fitted front and a full, flared back; the latter achieved by carving the waistline sharply with the flares in back. High collar, spread and curled like a wave part way.

The evening scene, come Autumn, will blaze with beauty. A dinner attended by a Persian lamb is used for a hip-length coat which has a slim, fitted front and a full, flared back; the latter achieved by carving the waistline sharply with the flares in back. High collar, spread and curled like a wave part way.

Out and out glamour marks one of the most charming bypaths of late Autumn evenings. A beautiful, long-skirted dinner suit of fine black woollen, with touches of black satin, is topped by a jet-buttoned long black wool jacket with satin revers, spiked with a removable berta heart of white gardenia that matches a companion beret.

NOW—Use the Tooth Paste Developed Endorsed and Prescribed by Dentists

✓ Leading dentists after years of research have found an all-new type of tooth paste that gives you HUTAX — the product that cleans teeth more thoroughly than any tooth paste that gives you a "scrubbed" sensation — a sweeter, "cleaner" breath!

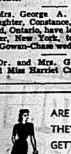
✓ HUTAX is scientifically correct — recommended by the Canadian Dental Association!

✓ HUTAX is Approved by the Canadian Pure Food Institute, Toronto! Buy HUTAX today!

Get HUTAX at 10¢, 25¢, 39¢, 69¢ and 98¢ sizes

Family Size ..... 39¢
Large Economy Size ..... 69¢

HUTAX Tooth Brush, scientifically designed by the C.O.P.A.T. Method, cleans every tooth and tooth more thoroughly the way your dentist prescribed. 25¢



ARE THEY GETTING IN YOUR WAY?

To say nothing of being an invitation to moths! Store those heavy garments with us until the fall season rolls around. Give those garments the protection they deserve.

PHONE 2277

MODERN

CLEANERS and DYERS LIMITED

225 Pinnacle Street

WE HAVE TWO ONLY

17 CUBIC FEET

COMMERCIAL REFRIGERATORS

ONE ONLY 28 CUBIC FEET

COMMERCIAL REFRIGERATOR

The ideal refrigerator for the restaurant, grocery store or the farmer

WE ALSO HAVE A FEW

UPRIGHT ROYAL

VACUUM CLEANERS

Complete with attachments and headlight

$93.00

CHRISTIAN'S

ELECTRIC AND HARDWARE

210 FRONT ST. PHONE 820

A14,15

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL 30 DAY OFFER

FOR THE JUNIOR MISS AND LITTLE MISS

PERMANENT WAVES

Regular $7.00 Cream Oil $4.95
Regular $5.00 Oil $3.95

GODD FROM AUGUST 15th to SEPTEMBER 15th
Satisfaction Guaranteed

ROYAL

BEAUTY SALON

OPEN EVENINGS

330 Front Street Phone 3226

A14,15

ONLY 2¢

YES, 2 ARE ALL YOU NEED

You only need 2 tablespoons of Grape-Nuts to get a full serving of cereal

Because of the concentrated VIGOR in Grape-Nuts you get a complete and full cereal serving with just 2 tablespoons.

Grape-Nuts are still the same as in Grandfather's day — have still a delightful, sweet-as-a-nut flavor.

Made from two grains, not just one, Grape-Nuts are double-baked by a special process, bringing to you the full goodness of sun-ripened wheat and malted barley.

And because you only need 2 tablespoons of Grape-Nuts you can get 14 to 16 servings from every package.

Post's Grape-Nuts

A Product of General Foods

G-11b

ean Look Strictly From Hunger

Slim Dancer Mary Raye, here in shape by exercise with her partner, Naldi, keeps

By HELEN FOLLETT

HEAVYWEIGHTS hugging an overload of silicone tissues belong to slow moving traffic. Featherweights, too skinny for pleasing appearance, still along on a speedway. Quick of movement, highly energized, they are built to go. That's why they are blest with prominent collar bones, slender legs, and thin arms.

They won't keep still long enough for a fat cell to light upon them. They even eat fast which means that nutrition is not what it should be. Their angularity is due to the fact that they half starve themselves and then drive themselves to the limit.

Slender Not Scrawny

It's nice to be slender but slenderness is one thing, scrawniness something else again. If the emaciated darling complains that her sharp elbows cut holes in her sleeves, let her so organize her life that she has a balance of activity and relaxation. Let her set the idea out of her head that she can live on a lettuce leaf a day.

Butter, cream, bread, cereals, cream soups and milk puddings serve us well; spaghetti, sweet desserts, ice cream. Other foods are necessary to provide various elements necessary for well-being, eggs, meat, sea food, vegetables.

Quart of Milk

A quart of milk a day is required. At bed time have a bowl of cracked wheat and milk. Start the day with orange or tomato juice or grapefruit.

Long hours of sleep will help to make the silhouette more pleasing. Exercise out-of-doors properly, it is purging how fast the battle of the bulge is won, or how remarkable the change will be in the upper portion of the thin torso.

Exercises are taken on a mat on the floor—leg-stretching, body-rolling, torso-lifting. Then there is the rolling machine that kneads fat cells into a pulp. A heavy-handed massage is a part of the routine. The finish is a bracing shower.

There are reducing baths, after which Mrs. Plumpie is wrapped in blankets, given a grand old sweat, and emerges several pounds lighter. And that is the precise time when she must mind her groceries, otherwise those deleted pounds will slip right back again.

Facials are a part of the program. When weight is taken from the body, the facial muscles are inclined to follow suit—not knowing that they shouldn't—so there is danger of fine lines forming. That doesn't happen if treatments are given.

Exercises are taken on a mat on the floor—leg-stretching, body-rolling, torso-lifting. Then there is the rolling machine that kneads fat cells into a pulp. A heavy-handed massage is a part of the routine. The finish is a bracing shower.

There are reducing baths, after which Mrs. Plumpie is wrapped in blankets, given a grand old sweat, and emerges several pounds lighter. And that is the precise time when she must mind her groceries, otherwise those deleted pounds will slip right back again.

Facials are a part of the program. When weight is taken from the body, the facial muscles are inclined to follow suit—not knowing that they shouldn't—so there is danger of fine lines forming. That doesn't happen if treatments are given.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JACKSON

Experts Can Mold the Silhouette

With an ear to the fashion wires, we hear whisperings concerning Autumn modes. To carry the sartorial trappings it would seem necessary for the sisters to develop the triangular figure. Though shoulders will not be padded, they will be wide. Sleeves will be cultivated as assiduously as they were in the year 1900. Waists must be neat and tapering. Hips negligible. So there you are—or, thus you should be. If you fear you are not qualified, and you haven't the firmness of mind to carry through a self-help program, you can seek the services of experts whose business it is to thicken the thin dame and slenderize the fat one.

Measurements can be increased or decreased by various means. This indulgence will dig into the checkbook, of course. What price beauty? Plenty, but if the results are satisfactory, what investment could possibly give more happiness and serenity of soul? Incidentally, we wish to add that, in many reducing and figure-molding salons, it is requested that the cash customer come with the approval of old family doc. That custom is proof to any steering skeptic who fancies that beautifying these days is not based on good sense. No monkey business along the pulchritude lines.

Madame, the customer, is told at the beginning of the course of treatments that she must follow diet rules to the letter. She must keep every appointment if the presto-change act is not to be too long delayed. Stop-and-go girls aren't wanted.

Posture correction is accented, no matter whether the patron desires to have six inches sliced from her hips or two inches added to the bust measurement. When a woman learns to carry herself properly, it is surprising how fast the battle of the bulge is won, or how remarkable the change will be in the upper portion of the thin torso.

Exercises are taken on a mat on the floor—leg-stretching, body-

Today clothes give one's figure the look of an inverted triangle

Fireside Lounger

By FRUNELLA WOOD

BRIGHT as the flames which one sparks from drifting fires, this padded crepe lounge coat will keep you cozy and attractive during the chilliness months. Wear it over slacks, as pictured, or over a frock, by night.

The colors are prettily sulphurous . . . turquoise for the outside, mustard yellow for the lining . . . and, whisper it smartly! . . . the lining is of rustling taffeta.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

No Prescribed Form for Birth Announcements

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am going to have my first baby soon, and I would like to know what to do about sending the announcements. What type of birth announcements would be appropriate? If I have cards that are partly filled out, should they be completed and mailed while I am still in the hospital?

L. R.

There is no prescribed formality to be observed in announcing the birth of a baby. Generally the baby's father telephones or telegraphs at once to those most closely concerned with the news, and others may be notified later by letter. Or the birth announcements may be formal ones, a tiny card (engraved with the baby's name and date of birth) attached to an engraved "Mr. and Mrs." card. Or you may use the cards you mention, the ones semi-engraved or printed with spaces left for the information. If convenient these may be filled out and mailed while you are in the hospital; but this would not be necessary. If you elected to buy this kind of card, buy simple ones that have lines only for the baby's name, date of birth, and parents' names. It is definitely not good form to give the weight of the baby, the name of the hospital, or other such information.

Wanted a Guest that He's to be Called on to Speak

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please settle a discussion between my husband and me? He is to be master of ceremonies at a banquet to be given by an organization of which he is a member. This is the first time he has been asked to be a master of ceremonies, and we have been talking over together how he is to conduct the program. Last evening as we were discussing it he said, "And of course I can call on several of my best friends at the dinner to make a few remarks. . . . I won't have to warn them about it, because they have belonged to the club for a long time." I remonstrated with him about this, saying that it is not correct to call on people to speak at a dinner (even though just to "say a few words") without telling them in advance that they are to be called on. He still disagrees with me. Which of us is right about this?

Frances.

You are. It isn't proper, and "it isn't cricket" to call on a person to speak, even briefly, at a public dinner, unless he or she has been warned in advance. While it is true that some people don't mind being called on without warning, most are uncomfortable and self-conscious at this procedure.

Scholastic Degree Not Used with Groom's Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance has a Ph.D., degree. Should his name on our wedding invitations and announcements be given as "John Robinson, Ph.D." or "Doctor (or 'Dr.') John Robinson"? If "Doctor (or 'Dr.')" is used, I should think it might be confused with the medical title, particularly to those relatives and friends who live far away and have not yet met him.

Susan.

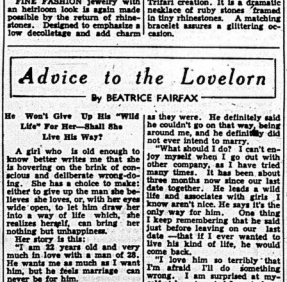
On wedding invitations and announcements the initials or title that indicate a scholastic degree are not used with the bridegrooms name. The bridegroom's name should be given as 'Mr. John Robinson'.

Wife Preservers

For a good dependable, sweet-love but challenging, quite dear and of course delicious meal, look at the ad on page 10 of this issue. The dessert will rate naughty in the best sense of the word, with the main dish particularly on top of it.

First choice of great chefs, H.P., the dish sauce with the real, fruity flavour, makes fine food extra tempting! And food that tastes delicious is easy to eat, easy to digest! So try H.P — at the table and in kitchen—with macaroni; soups; fish; meats; eggs; and salads.

For a Glittering Gala



By ALICE ALDEN

FINE FASHION jewelry with an heirloom look is again made possible by the return of rhinestones. Designed to emphasize a low decolletage and add charm and sparkle to the early Autumn evening scene is this newest Trifari creation. A diamond necklace of ruby stones framed in tiny rhinestones. A matching bracelet assures a glittering occasion.

Fashion Flashes

THERE'S EMPHASIS on the finely- handled coat devoid of fur or any other trim. Lots of fine fabrics, with original detail and superb cut and tailoring such coats are good for several seasons of outstanding service and are a fine background for furs.

The revival of stiff fabrics such as bengaline, faille and moire, has extended from suits and two-piece dresses to one-piece models. Black or brown bengaline with a woven white stripe is used for an attractive one-piece frock, cut on slim lines with a fishtail peplum that develops into a cascading panel. Brass buttons to the waist in back. Sleeves are long and slim.

Feathers fly onto the smartest hats. A Spanish sailor, fashioned of black velours, is spiked with glycerined goose feathers sigrettes that shoot upwards from the centre and outwards from under the brim.

Autumn Accessories

Snakeskin and suede combination

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

THERE'S nothing like leather we opine as we examine some of the shoes and gloves prepared for early Autumn use. Snakeskin, either natural or in colors, makes a decided hit, for example, a smart sandal of black suede. The same leather influence appears in the glove, which is of black suede, with three graduated buttons of reptile. The buttonholes are handsewn, and piped in the reptile leather, and the whole effect is snakeskin too. Snakeskin is used for the platform and bow-trim on a black leather sling-back pump.

It's About Time

By DOLORES BOLAND

IT'S ABOUT TIME to consider this alteration for a dark dress that is much too light. Make an after-five dress of it by using a ruffle for the alteration. Insert two rows down centre front, as indicated. Use more at sleeves.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

He Won't Give Up His "Wild Life" For Her—Shall She Live His Way?

A girl who is old enough to know better writes me that she is hovering on the brink of conscious and deliberate wrong-doing. She has a chance to make either to give up the man she believes she loves, or, with her eyes wide open, to let him drew her into a way of life which she realizes herself, can bring her nothing but unhappiness.

Her story is this:

"I am 22 years old and very much in love with a man of 36. He wants me as much as I want him, but he feels marriage can never be for him.

"When we first met, eight months ago, we saw each other practically every night in the week. He even met me after work in the evenings, and we had so much fun together. Then one night when he brought me home, he said that we had to stop seeing each other. I asked him why, and he said because he was learning to like me too much, and that I was too good for him. He explained that he couldn't have any children, of whom he is very fond; therefore, he didn't ever intend to get married. He said being around me was too great a temptation for him and that he would be better off not to see me any more.

"He told me about the wild life he had been leading, previous to meeting me. I was surprised to hear all the things he said, but it didn't change my feelings for him. I told him how much I cared and practically begged him to keep things as they were. He definitely said he couldn't go on that way, being around me, and he definitely did not ever intend to marry.

"What should I do? I can't enjoy myself when I go out with other company, as I have tried many times. It has been about three months now since our last date together, and he leads a wild life and associates with girls I know aren't nice. He says it's the only way for him. One time when I keep remembering that he said just before leaving on our last date —that if I ever wanted to live his kind of life, he would come back.

"I love him so terribly that I'm afraid I'll do something wrong. I am surprised at myself at how tempted I am to have him come back.

"Temptation."

There is nothing particularly surprising in the fact that you are strongly tempted to go along with this man on his own terms, since you can get him on no others. Anyone as infatuated as you seem to be would undoubtedly feel that way.

But it's one thing to be tempted, and quite another to seriously consider yielding to the temptation. And that is what is surprising—that although you fully realize the depraved character of this man, you can still hesitate, toying with the idea of throwing your life away for the sake of a brief period of excitement.

For there is nothing surer than that it would be brief. The man who lives the type of existence you describe is never satisfied very long with any one experience or individual. He wants to move on continually, in search of new sensations. You would be a very sorry girl indeed if you decided to call him back.

I doubt very much, however, if you would even have that opportunity. Almost certainly, by this time he has practically forgotten you and taken up with someone else. It was probably because he had already tired of you that he suddenly decided to end the relationship. Or if we can assume that he did feel somewhat the sentiments he expressed, then you ought to thank your lucky stars that he had at least that much decency, and put him out of your mind.

CUT DOWN ON TAKING LAXATIVES THIS WAY

See How Regular You Can Be Every Morning

Try taking Carter's Pills this way: Start with 2 and set a definite time every morning. When you get regular, every morning cut down to 2. After a few days, to 1.

Then try taking Carter's every other day. Soon you can get on a regular system without any laxative.

If you don't, Carter's may help you can cut down the dose—from 2 to 1—to fit the needs of your individual system. Without discomfort.

Carter's is the finest all-purpose intestinal tract aid in history, but thoroughly. They are 100% vegetable laxative made with mild, reliable herbs compounded properly for regularity.

Remember, it's not always necessary during this Carter system of Carter's to take pills to get relief from all or any drugstore. Start the Carter graduated method tonight, and jump out of bed tomorrow rarin' to go.

ALSO BLOUSES AND HOUSECOATS AT ½ PRICE

The J. A. McNabb Limited

BELLEVILLE

Phone 444

254 Front St.

McNABB'S

FINAL —

"2" — FOR — "1"

DRESS SALE

Within these final few days the balance of our Spring and Summer stock will be cleared definitely at

"2" — For — "1"

Two Dresses for the Price of One

Pick out any two dresses and all you pay is the price of one. For example if the dress is $10.98 you may pick another at this price or lower and you pay $10.98 for both

NO EXCHANGES NO REFUNDS NO ALTERATIONS DURING THIS SALE

IT'S HOT TODAY!

COOL BABY OFF with a refreshing PALMOLIVE BATH

Most makes kiddies cranky! A mi Palmolive Bath instantly refreshes! It floats away stickiness . . . soothes irritated skin . . . makes baby's life comfortable and happy again!

Sponge Bathe baby often!

Frequent, cool Palmolive Sponge Baths by; good for your baby—because Palmolive is made with Palm and Olive oils, nature's finest skin conditioners.

Take a Palmolive Bath yourself!

A cool tub, shower or sponge bath—with refreshing Palmolive—will calm your nerves . . . ease tired muscles, leave you refreshed!

PALMOLIVE

GET THE GIANT BATH SIZE THRIFTY! LONG LASTING!

Ferriss First Hurler Since Ferrell To Win Twenty Games in First Two Complete Seasons in Loop

Wes Ferrell Turned the Trick for Cleveland in 1929 and 1930

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

Dave Ferriss, labeled "just another wartime pitcher" when he flopped in his first two 1942 starts, is holding down today as the first hurler since Cleveland's Wes Ferrell in 1930 to win 20 games in each of his first two complete big league seasons.

The Boston sophomore's 20-4 record overshadows Hal Newhouser and Bobby Feller and gives him an outside chance at the coveted 30-win season.

Ferriss was not as effective as usual last night in downing Philadelphia, 7-5, with nine hits but he had the big guns of Teddy Williams and Johnny Pesky to help him. Williams' two doubles helped drive in two runs and Pesky's three hits sparked the 11-hit attack on Bob Savage, at Shibe Park.

Feller's bid for win No. 22 fatled when Jeffcoy Trout blanked Cleveland with three hits for a 1-0 Detroit edge. Bob Lemon finished up after Feller was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the 9th.

Chicago climbed to sixth place in the American League by sweeping both ends of the first twilight-night doubleheader of the season at St. Louis. Frankie Hayes' single scored Taft Wright in the seventh enabled Edgar Smith to garner the decision in the opener, 3-2, and Taft Wright's ninth-inning single, cashed in Orval Grove's four-hitter in the second game 2-1.

Lefty Johnny Schmitz of Chicago Cubs prevented St. Louis Cardinals from taking over the National League lead when he blanked them with three hits, 1-0 to outpoint Harry Brecheen, at Wrigley Field. The National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers were rained out.

Cincinnati's slumping Reds dropped their eighth in a row and fell to within a single game of the sixth-place Giants, bowing to Pittsburgh 3-2.

NEW CANADIAN SPEEDBOAT CHAMPION

The smiling young man pictured above is Harvey McFarland Jr., sensational seventeen year-old speedboat driver who won the "D" Class Runabout championship of Canada at the recently concluded Canadian Vacation Circuit of the American Power Boat Association. Driving his Hilborn Special, McFarland won two firsts, three seconds and two thirds in regattas staged at Belleville, Gravenhurst, Barrie, Picton and Valleyfield, Quebec, to amass the total of 5,550 points, the highest obtained by any driver in the Circuit. The boat was built by Lloyd Hicks, of Belleville, vice chairman Region 13, APBA, and was acquired by McFarland previous to the start of the circuit.

BUFFALO BISONS IN SECOND PLACE IN INT. LEAGUE

Win Double Bill From Jersey City Due to Relief Hurling of Appleton

(By The Associated Press)

One of the smartest moves made by Buffalo Bisons of the International League seems to have been the signing of Pete Appleton, after he was released by Washington Senators of the American League in the spring. The 31-year-old righthander has been used entirely in relief roles by manager Gabby Hartnett.

Buffalo advanced over Baltimore Orioles into second place last night by taking a doubleheader from Jersey City Giants 6-5 in 11 innings and 9-8. Appleton appeared in both contests, receiving credit for the opener and saving the nightcap for Vernon Curtis.

Baltimore dropped an 8-1 contest to the pace-setting Montreal Royals and 5½ games back of the Bisons. Glenn Moulder set the Orioles down on three hits as his mates pounded Stan West for 12 safeties with Lew Riggs leading the way with three hits and batting in three runs.

The fourth-place Newark Bears moved to within half a game of the Orioles by sweeping a twin bill from Toronto Maple Leafs 9-3 and 5-4. In the first game the Bears scored three runs in the sixth inning to overcome a 5-4 Toronto lead. Herb Karpel went the distance to gain his 11th victory of the season.

A scheduled game between Rochester and Syracuse was postponed because of rain.

Jack Boyle Assumes Managership of Juniors

Jack Boyle, 1945 manager of the Columbian Squires, Ontario junior softball champions, has taken over the managerial reins of the Goodman Juniors, officials of the club announced today.

Boyle helped pilot the starry Squires to the provincial title in 1944 and with Don Boyle, star hurler of that team, plus several other members of the championship on hand, he feels he can repeat the feat.

The Goodman squad has drawn a bye in the first round of the junior OASA playdowns and await the winner of the Oshawa-Peterboro series. In the meantime they are anxious to get exhibition games. Jack Barrett is the manager of the squad.

PLAYMATES RAVE CHUM

London, Ont., Aug. 14—(CP)—Frantic digging by two playmates yesterday was credited with saving 12-year-old Donald Hammond of London from suffocation in a cave-in buried in a sandbank. The rescuers were Roy McCallum, 12, and Thomas De Actis, also 12.

golf since his meeting with Cobb.

• • •

The Bomber will take things easy at Pumpkin Lakes for a while, and won't begin heavy work until Aug. 18. Then he will start a series of fifteen boxing sessions with sparring partners. Louis will leave camp only twice. Next Friday he will attend a dinner for Truman in Washington, and on Sept. 1 he will supervise the opening of a Harlem restaurant in which he has a share.

• • •

Long Time, No See

Incidentally, a New York song writer has dedicated his new song to Tami Mauriello. Its title? "Dark Eyes."

British A.A.A. Opposes Plan To Pay 'Amateurs'

(By The Canadian Press)

The British A.A.A. has come out in opposition to a proposal that amateur athletes be permitted to accept payment for 'broken-time' and for expenses. Sir K. J. Holt announced at London yesterday. The recommendation is scheduled to come before the meeting of the International Amateur Athletic Federation at Oslo, Norway, next week and is expected to be supported by several European countries.

The move would enable athletes to receive compensation for the period from normal employment while they are participating in international competitions.

Approximately 900 golfers have been entered for the United States amateur championships at Springfield, N.J., Sept. 9-14, making the qualifying field the third largest for the tournament. The last amateur competition in Canada in 1941 had 637 entries.

Freddie Mills, British, light-heavyweight champion, required only one round last night to finish off John Nilsson of Sweden in their scheduled 10-rounder at Brighton, England.

—Von Petra of France, recent singles winner at Forest Hills, Wimbledon champion Guernsey of Orlando, Fla., battled to an 11-11 deadlock in the finals of the Newport, R.I., tennis tournament yesterday before rain terminated their match.

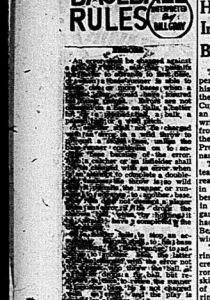
Continuing his verbal barrage against the former Brooklyn catcher, Freddie Fitzsimmons, of the Mexican Baseball League has quoted as saying yesterday the departed Mickey Owen had received a salary and treatment in Mexico that he had never before experienced. Pasquel added that Owen's batting stars would be coming to Mexico.

After drawing with Warwickshire at Smethwick cricket, Yorkshire yesterday moved into the lead in the county standing with 20 points to Middlesex' 19, the only four points behind in second place.

Forty horses sold for $181,500, an average of $4,537, at yesterday's opening session of the Saratoga yearling sales at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. Top price of $15,000 was paid by J. S. Sylvester, Hanover, Mass., for a black colt by Joan Valjean.

"So, yes have been havin' trouble wid this spalpeen Leo Hanalan have yes," guffawed Steve "Crusher" Casey a broth of a lad, if the truth was ever, when he learned that the Iowan Cornhusker had run up a string of victories here since his first appearance. "Sure, and for nearly yer hearin yer troubles are over. Och, from what I've heard, the smallness is not so long, he nearly lightens the laddies, itself, in the pants their troubles are over. Sure, and twill be a different story Friday night when I lay me hands on him." Easy as that, Steve? Be the wily Mr. Henning threw back his blonde hair-do wrinkled his face into one of those rare smiles, and said nothing. And when he maintains such an ominous quiet—there's trouble brewing for someone. His slogan is an old one, "The bigger they are, the harder the fall." And there's nothing the blonde slugger loves better than to be a fighting Irisher, especially when he's mad. So there'll be a lot the in the old town Friday pleasantly. On the same card, Karl "Krippler" Davis meets clever Warren Bockwitzki, while the dashing Holly woodian, Frankie Taylor clashes with willowy Jim Golch. Remember the first bout starts at 8.45 instead of nine o'clock.

BASEBALL RULES



Canadian Sport Snapshots

By EDDIE WILLIAMS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, Aug. 14 — (CP) — If Manitobans haven't a pretty fair share of places on the total Canadian Bisley team, it won't be the fault of the Provincial Rifle Association, officials say.

Ten the Association holds its three-day prize meet early in September entries will be restricted to members of the tournament or reserve army.

This move is designed to eliminate, for the time being, the crack shots of pre-war days and encourage younger men and newcomers to the rifle range.

The prize fund for the meet won't equal the $2,000 awarded in 1939 — year of the last shoot. Only about $700 will be available unless unexpected contributions pour in.

The only rifle allowed will be the Mark IV Lee-Enfield used by the Canadian army in the Second Great War. Straight, elevation operation sights without any gauge will be used and slings will be permitted.

• • •

Wes Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who last Saturday won the Canadian Professional Golfer's Association championship at the Niakwa Golf and Country Club here, evidently has total "custom authorities" complex.

On his journey enroute to Winnipeg he was stopped by Canadian customs officials at the international border and charged $23 import duties on five dozen "excess" golf balls he was carrying for the tournament.

This incident was evidently still on his mind when he was presented with the Gerhard Kennedy Trophy, emblematic of the C.P.G.A. championship, last Saturday. Said he: "Gerhard should have had this trophy made of lighter metal because if I have to pay duty on this . . ."

BASEBALL
WED. AUG. 14th
MEGAN-FOX STADIUM
KINGSTON
Granby Red Sox vs.
Kingston Ponies
Floodlight game at 8.30 p.m.

Hamilton Rink In Semi-Finals Bowling Tourney

Toronto, Aug. 14 (CP)—Skipper William Brown yesterday of his Hamilton Roselawn rink into the semi-finals for the Eaton Gold Cup after a long, hard battle to an extra end against E. B. Cartwright's powerful bowling crew from Toronto Boulevard Club in the second day of play in the Provincial Lawn Bowling Tournament.

The Hamilton rink was the only team from outside Toronto to reach the semi-final round, and in a match that was one of the best of the day, they managed to tie the extra end to take the game, 13-12. Cartwright's rink had previously eliminated E. D. Berry, of Ottawa last year's cup winner.

The only other out-of-town rink, H. Heys' Hamilton Roselawn crew, was ousted earlier by Toronto Balmy Beach's rink, skippered by J. Taylor by a score of 207. All remaining American rinks were defeated in yesterday morning's fourth round play.

In the third round play for the Marshall Pendrow Trophy, for those who were eliminated in the first round of the Eaton Cup, Brown's Hamilton rink skipped by S. Eidsen continued to set the pace, winning over A. Salisbury of Toronto Kew Beach, and capturing their fourth round match by 10-9 from R. Archibald of Oakville.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

Kiwanis Juniors baseballers leave for Fetherbee 11 a.m. Saturday to take on the Lifiock City youngsters in the first game of the Senior OBA playdowns. Game called for 2 p.m. Latest reports from Conveners Ernie Summers is to the effect that the return game scheduled for the Alemite Field here for Wednesday night, will start at 4 p.m. instead of 2 o'clock as formerly announced. Fetherbee couldn't make it, or something of that nature.

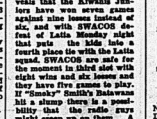
• • •

Trenton Flyers baseball squad suffered a loss when they lost the services of "Bobby" Robertson, crack outfielder who suffered a fractured leg in an exhibition game at the station on Monday night. Seems the officers and the Joes were playing a "grudge" diamond tilt, and things were going along nicely when Bob crowded in on both sides, when suddenly the game developed into a serious affair.

• • •

Score was 5-3 for the officers in the last innings when Bobby Rowe pulled the trig ning run was at the plate and was rounding second as steal. He slid into second and it happened. His leg twisted under him and he was taken to hospital with the member fractured. It is doubtful if he will be available for the playoffs and the Flyers will miss his services especially with that tough series with Batawa looming over the playdown horizon.

• • •



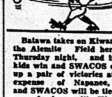
A check-up of the City Baseball League standing reveals that the Kiwanis Juniors have even games against nine teams instead of six, and with SWACOS defeat of Latta Monday night that puts the kids into a fourth place tie with the Latta squad. SWACOS are safe for the moment in third slot with eight wins and six losses and they have five games to play. If "Smoky" Smith's Batawan hill a slump there is a possibility that the radio guys might creep up on them. A SWACO win and a Bata loss will have the city spokesmen breathing cold draughts down the Shoemore' necks.

• • •

In any event the struggle for second and third spots will be a tight one from here in. Both Latta and Juniors have four games to play with Latta having a tie game to its credit. Flyers, Latta, Batawa and Kiwanis are girding their loins for their respective OBA playdowns, and from here to the wire the fans should see some outstanding diamond battles, as all squads would like to hang that city championship scalp to their belt.

• • •

SWACOS can creep a notch nearer Baja, if only temporarily by defeating Napanee tonight at the Alemite Field. The squads hook up again on Thursday night in Napanee in a postponed game. However, tonight should sets a stirring battle as the Napanee kids, who are also in OBA playdowns are anxious to increase that meagre "one" in the win column.



Batawa takes on Kiwanis at the Alemite Field here on Thursday night, and if the kids win and SWACOS chalk up a pair of victories at the expense of Napanee, this and SWACOS will be tied for second place with Kiwanis leap-frogging Latta for 3rd.

SACOS - FLASHES TONIGHT

Frank Sedore's Flashes are ready and rarin' for the fray at the Fair Grounds tonight when they take on the saucy SACOS city champions in the second tilt of the three-of-five series for the Intermediate "A" championship. SACOS dunked the Yellow and Maroon on Monday night, and incidentally the Flashes' pitches are out to make it two in a row. Jim Hunter will likely be the starter hurler, while Flashes will have to rely on plucky Rex Young to do the flinging.

• • •

Flashes haven't been hitting up to par lately and such biz artisans as Harold Reid, Vern Coyer, Moon, and others have been merely picking at the ball with a mere semblance of a stick. They are liable to break out in a hitting spree any minute and if and when they do, the pyrotechnics will start. However, SACOS feel confident that their 9-man hurling staff is quite sufficient to anaesthetize the batting attack of the Red squad — and there you have it.

• • •

Due to the fact that the days are getting shorter, and in order that a full game will be played, the Softball Softball Association executive has ordered that all future games of the series start at 6:15 of the clock instead of 6:45. The extra half-hour should see the squads through without any rallies to lengthen the game.

• • •

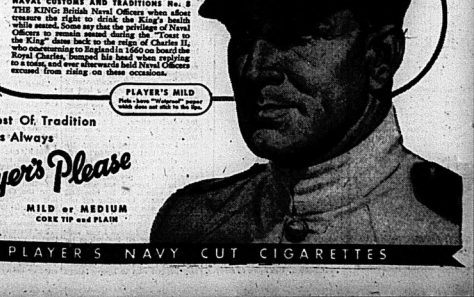
No official dates for the Napanee-Prince Edward and Latta-North Hastings O B A playdowns have been set as yet, Convener Ernie Summers said today. Trenton Flyers and Batawa two will resume their Belleville League duel in the first round of the Intermediate "A" series, have come to no date decision as yet.

• • •

Training For What?

Joe Louis returned to New York yesterday from his home in Detroit to begin training for the next defence of his title, against Tami Mauriello of the Bronx at the Yankee Stadium on Sept. 18. The heavyweight champion visited Mike Jacobs at the latter's Twentieth Century Sporting Club office, and then went on to Pompton Lakes, N.J., where he will do his training.

Louis said he weighed 219 pounds, only three more than he did for his last fight, against Billy Conn on June 19. He attributes his good weight to the fact that he had been playing considerable golf since his meeting with Cobb.



BOXING TONIGHT

HUME ARENA

MAIN BOUT — 5 ROUNDS

BILL WESTFALL vs. LAC D. LAPORTE
147 lbs., Trenton RCAF Mt. View, 147 lbs.

SEMI FINAL — 4 ROUNDS

"SOUP" MONDEVILLE vs. ERNIE MOURIE
Belleville District 118 lb. champion Diamond A.C. Toronto

6 OTHER GOOD BOUTS

Tickets on Sale at Bill Cook's Cigar Store
FIRST BOUT STARTS PROMPTLY AT 8.30

A10

By SAM GORDON
The Intelligencer Bridge Editor

The endless variety of bridge hands are practically uncountable. Yet that humble number of combinations are guided by a comparatively few rules and their branches.

One of the good rules of bridge is: Don't underestimate your partner. This refers to when your partner has led a suit. It means you should play from your hand the card most likely to win the trick.

There are several branches to this rule. One branch deals with a case where partner has led a suit that he will soon trump. With no other entries, hold up your winning card until the second round.

South is a declarer at a contract of three no-trump. The table at that deal are distributed as you see them here:

NORTH
♠J 9 8

WEST
♠7 2

EAST
♠A Q 6 2

SOUTH
♠K 10 5 4

When your partner leads a club, it is customary for you to play third hand high. Consequently, you play the deuce. Dummy's ace on the first trick. At least, this is the way he would say.

But suppose your hand is trickless outside of these clubs. Even if you return a club at once, you may never get another chance at it. You may find your side, Partner may not get to trump either.

At such a time, play the queen on this first trick. That is not playing third hand high. It is finesse against your partner. And you know enough not to finesse on the first trick with the king.

However, if the declarer gets in again, he will lead his last club. Pounce on it, and if you can, cash about back a club, if partner still has a trump, he can use it to ruff this third round of clubs.

Of course, by this time partner may not have any trump left. Or it may not be enough to defeat the contract. There are quite a few several other things that may happen by that time.

But what will you lose? And it you have nothing to lose, it is a good time to try something that may win.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 14 —(AP)— Don't worry about Bob Hope doing a "Dick Tracy" Attorney or a "Take It or Leave It" on his radio show this fall. He is going to change the format, but not to that extent.

Despite the fact that he has long had the largest radio audience, the Bob Hope show received considerable sniping from critics last season. It was little surprising when the word got around that he was altering the half-hour.

"I decided with everything in the country changing since the war ended, I'd better change, too," he told me.

Does that mean the opening monologue will go?

"Oh no, we'd be lost without that."

Will there be more characters?

"No, Fibber McGee before us and Red Skelton after us have character shows. It would be too monotonous. Frances Langford and Skinny Ennis will be gone, but Colonna and Vera Vague will be back."

Less noise, then?

"No, people expect the slambang style."

What's so different then?

"After the monologue, the rest of the show will be a well-developed skit. That'll give the writers more to play with. It will make the situation more logical." As if that were possible.

"You know," he mused, "it'd be funny if the whole country said 'This new show stinks.' But I don't think he's worried.

Ish Kaibibble was having dinner at a swank night spot the other night when a flighty waiter dropped a plate of soup on his jacket. After the jacket was removed for cleaning, the head waiter came and said: "You can't eat in here without a coat on." No. Ish didn't sing him.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Salem, Mass.: Tommy Grsh, 122, Boston, outpointed Teddy Swain, 127, Toronto (10).

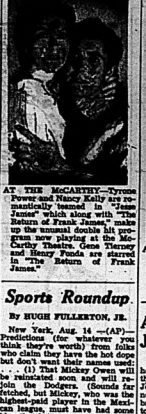
Brighton, England: Freddie Mills 179 1-2, England, knocked out John Nilsson, 175 4-5, Sweden (1).

Binghampton, N.Y.: Gunnar Barlund, 207, New York, outpointed Joe Maini, 200, Endicott, N.Y. (10).

Los Angeles: Carlos Chaves, 128, Los Angeles, outpointed Juan Lezcano, 129, Torreon, Mexico (10).

BEST IN LEAGUE

By Jack Sords



AT THE McCARTHY—Tyrone Power and Nancy Kelly are romantically involved in the "Jesse James" which along with "The Return of Frank James" make up the unusual double bill program now playing at the McCarthy Theatre. Gene Tierney and Henry Fonda are starred in "The Return of Frank James."

AT THE CAPITOL—Stars Claire Trevor placing a restraining hand on her co-star, Albert Dekker, who portrays the famous gunmaker, "Bat" Masterson, in "The Woman Of The Town" the colorful musical film during now on the Capitol Theatre screen. At extreme right, Henry Hull and Porter Hall. On the same program, Jimmy Wakely in "West Of The Alamo."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 14 —(AP)— Predictions (for whatever you think they're worth) from folks who claim they have the hot dope but don't want their names used:

(1) That Mickey Owen will be reinstated soon and will replace Ben Chapman, Senators farfetched, but Mickey, who was the highest-paid player in the Major can league, must have had some idea that he'd get back before the left Mexico) . . . ; (2) That Bob Feller will receive a blank cheque from Tex Rickard, this the one offered Ted Williams, during the season. (3) That Cecil Ravia, first approached in training and approached since then in the Washington dugout by a Pasadena agent, will sign a five-year contract to play in Mexico Beach next season.

Unanswered Question.

The New York Post's Jerry Mitchell propounds this one: "How can Frankie Stanley, who walked 148 times to set a new baseball record, and who also is leading the league again with more than 80 bases on balls, object to walking around George Magerkurth?"

Sharts and Shells.

Bernard Debrenaz, a member of the French prime minister's staff, claims he'll play better tennis in the United States than he did at Roma because he won't have to worry about diplomacy . . . Ben Foster, new Pitt football coach, not only is taking his players to camp but also is sending his Fitz band out for preseason practice.

Major League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting: Musial, St. Louis .374. Runs: Musial, St. Louis 81.

Runs batted in: Slaughter, St. Louis 85.

Hits: Musial, St. Louis 133.

Triples: Musial, St. Louis 13.

Home runs: Ott, New York 23.

Stolen bases: Reiser, Brooklyn 25.

Pitching: Dickson, St. Louis 11-3 .786.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting: Vernon, Washington .351.

Runs: Williams, Boston 111; Keltner, New York 111; Williams, Boston 104.

Hits: Pesky, Boston 154.

Doubles: Vernon, and Spence, Washington 36.

Triples: Edwards, Cleveland 11.

Home runs: Williams, Boston 31.

Stolen bases: Case, Cleveland 23.

Pitching: Ferriss, Boston 20-4 .833.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Johnny Schmitz, Cubs—Hurled the Chicago Cubs to a three-hit 1-0 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

Dave Ferriss, Red Sox — Became first pitcher to win 20 games in first two complete seasons since Wes Ferrell in 1930 by subduing Athletics 7-5.

Dizzy Dean, Detroit — Outpitched Bobby Feller in blanking Cleveland with three hits for 1-0, before 46,748 fans.

Much Interest Centred Around Westfall's Return

Much interest in centered around the return of Hamilton's Bill Westfall to the Belleville ring tonight. Westfall meets Lac Demiselle Laporte of Mt. View air station in the five round main "go". Tex Trenton meets Jimmy Doyle in a ring great guns this spring, knocking his opponents out right and left; then he ran into Larry Thompson of Toronto, one of the smartest boxers to show in this district for some time. Westfall was defeated by the Thompson ring stars. In his next bout, he didn't look nearly the boy that he looked during his long string of victories against Laporte.

Laporte has made one previous Belleville appearance. Last week he met George Polmanter and dropped the decision. He made a very good showing and will certainly give the "Pride of Trenton" a run for his money.

In the semi-final event, the Belleville 118 champ, "Soup" Mondeville will tangle with Ernie Mackie of the Diamond A, of Toronto. Mondeville, fresh from his decision over Calaway's Fred Harding last week, will have to step to take the measure of the Toronto scrapper. Youngster has improved a lot since he made his last appearance here.

In the three-round preliminaries, Belleville "Bantlin" Gus Wilson meets Bill Graham of Toronto; "Paddy" Young of Belleville makes punches with Toronto's Gus Rubicini; Belleville's "Jumping Jerry" Dorman meets Toronto's colored thumper, Joe Reilly; Carl Clapper of Belleville tangles with Trenton's Chuck Dawson and Cecil Anderson meets Roy Ayres of Trenton. One other bout has yet to be announced.

The first bout will get underway at 8:30 tonight instead of the usual 9 o'clock.

SEVEN IN CAR INJURED STRIKING BLACK BEAR

North Bay, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP) —Seven persons were injured—one seriously—when an automobile struck a black bear on the Ferguson highway three miles north of the city limits and collided with an oncoming motorcar. The bear was killed.

Baseball Results

(By The Canadian Press)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Brooklyn	66	42	.611
St. Louis	64	42	.604
Chicago	56	49	.533
Boston	53	52	.509
Cincinnati	48	57	.457
New York	46	59	.448
Philadelphia	43	59	.422
Pittsburgh	43	61	.408

Tuesday: New York-Brooklyn, rain; Philadelphia-Boston postponed, rain; Cincinnati 2, Pittsburgh 3; St. Louis 9, Chicago 7.

Wednesday; New York-Brooklyn (2) at St. Louis-Chicago; Philadelphia - Boston; Cincinnati-Pittsburgh.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Boston	78	33	.703
New York	63	45	.583
Detroit	61	46	.570
Washington	56	55	.500
Cleveland	53	59	.473
Chicago	50	61	.450
St. Louis	47	62	.431
Philadelphia	41	78	.321

Tuesday: Boston 7, Philadelphia 5; Detroit 1, Cleveland 0; Washington-New York postponed rain; Chicago 3-2, St. Louis 9-1.

Wednesday: Washington-New York; Boston-Philadelphia; Detroit-Cleveland.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Montreal	81	41	.664
Buffalo	67	57	.540
Baltimore	63	61	.508
Newark	64	58	.525
Rochester	61	58	.508
Toronto	55	69	.444
Rochester	51	71	.409
Jersey City	48	76	.387

Tuesday: Baltimore 1, Montreal 5-2, Toronto 5-3, Rochester 2; Syracuse postponed; Jersey City 5-8, Buffalo 4-3.

Wednesday: Newark - Toronto (3); Baltimore-Montreal; Rochester-Syracuse (2); Jersey City - Buffalo (2).

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

St. Paul 1; Columbus 5; Milwaukee 9, Indianapolis 3; Minneapolis 11, Toledo 12; Kansas City 0, Louisville 2.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE

Oakland 3, Sacramento 2; Seattle 2, Hollywood 1; Portland 5, San Francisco 3; Los Angeles 11, San Diego 6.

PITCHES PERFECT GAME

Hastings, Neb., Aug. 14—(AP) —Paul Menging, Fremont, Neb., was credited with a perfect no-hit game last night as he pitched his team to a 1-0, 10-inning victory over Cheyenne, Wyo., in the second game of the four - state American Legion junior baseball tournament.

Menging struck out 21 men and was given perfect fielding support.

Airmen Adopt Jewish Children

Montreal, (CP)—The story of how 23 Canadian airmen, seven of them Montrealers, "adopted" 23 Jewish children while stationed near Hamburg, Germany, and brought them back to health, was told here recently by one of the airmen, LAC. Sam Kirshner of Montreal.

Kirshner told how he and a friend, Cpl. Mickey Goldberg—both members of the all-Canadian Spitfire Unit which is believed to have topped all others in Europe in downing enemy planes prior to VE-Day—learned Interest in 20 other Jewish men on their airfield at Uterson, west of Hamburg, to aid the children by distributing the greater part of their parcels from home among them.

The need was so great, the servicemen soon found their parcels far from sufficient so they wrote their families, friends and various organizations asking for more parcels of food and clothes.

So successful were their appeals, that men who had been receiving one or two parcels a month were soon getting as many as 30 in the same period.

The parcels were remade into 12-pound lots, one being given periodically to each child. The donations, however, were not made haphazardly as the airmen had earlier investigated and written down the case histories of each youngster and knew just what each one needed.

Lord Rowallanwn, Chief Scout, Will Visit Canada

London, Aug. 14 (CP Cable)— Lord Rowallanwn chief scout, will tour Canada starting in Ottawa Sept. 1, it was announced.

AIRCRAFT DISPLAY

London — (CP) — Two hundred companies will show their products at the first post - war flying display and exhibition organized by the Society of British Aircraft Construction, it will be at Radlett, Herts, Sept. 13-13.

Sino-Soviet Friendship Pact Not Working Out

By HAROLD R. ISLES

Nanking, Aug. 14 (AP) — One year ago tomorrow the Sino-Soviet treaty of friendship and alliance was signed in Moscow and in that year relations have changed far from intimate to bitter or the spirit of that pact.

Chinese leaders now contend that they signed the 30-year agreement giving Russia great concessions in Manchuria only because of pressure from other United Nations—even though they consider Moscow has violated the agreement almost from the day it was signed.

There is no doubt that relations between the two countries have grown worse rather than better, principally because of the conflicting claims of Nationalists and Communists.

The latest indication of friction was a Russian effort to bar China from participation in the Paris peace conference as a sponsoring nation.

Two major accusations are made against Soviet forces which occupied Manchuria:

1. That Russians looted Manchurian industry of all moveable equipment during the prolonged Soviet occupation, and thereby robbed the country of its opportunity for rapid recovery from the havic of eight years of war.

2. That the Soviet occupation forces permitted infiltration of Chinese Communists armies into Manchuria, and allowed the seizure of vast arsenals and supply dumps by Chinese Communist forces.

Despite the treaty of friendship, there is little expectation here that China and Russia can become good neighbors until the Chinese Communist question is settled.

There is no direct evidence that Russia is giving the Chinese Communists any physical support whatever, but the Communist press in many forms that the Chinese Reds have the complete moral support of Moscow.

Communists propaganda activities in China are closely geared to those of Moscow.

Glen Ross Defeats Stirling in Playoff

Stirling. —In the first game of the finals in the Rawdon Softball League, Glen Ross defeated Stirling on the former's home mound by a score of 9-7. The game started off with each team batting in four runs in the first innings and from then on it was nip and tuck. Star features of the game were Fraser catching a hard hit ball back of the second base in the 3rd inning, with Fryear doing the same in the 8th. Mayhew suffered an injury to his ankle in the 5th inning and was replaced on 3rd base by Shannon. Stirling put themselves in the lead in the 7th innings by gaining two runs but Glen Ross came back with three runs' in the last half of the 7th. The game went to darkness. The next game will be held on Wednesday night at the Stirling Fair Grounds.

Stirling—Ketcheson, P; D. Rodgers c; Armstrong, 1st base; Fraser 2nd base; Mayhew 3rd base; Eggleton rf; Batley lf; Dafoe cf F. Rodgers ss.

Glen Ross—H. Brown c; R. Fryear 2nd base; D. Fryear ss; H. Brooks p; G. Fryear 1st base; B. Reams cf; Y. Brooks 3rd base; Leverty rf; G. Bush lf.

Umpires—Plate, Percy Boston; base, G. Tulloch.

Turkey Refuses Soviet Demands On Dardanelles

Istanbul, Aug. 14 — (AP) — Usually well informed sources said last night that Turkey had refused categorically the Soviet Union's demands that the Dardanelles be placed under joint Russian-Turkish defence and that the control of that vital strip of water be handled by the Black Sea powers.

The Turkish reply, these sources said, was understood to have contended that the Soviet demands, as contained in a note delivered last week, exceeded the limit of the Montreux convention and left Turkey no choice but to reject them.

The sources said Turkey's reply asserted that the Soviet demands, which amounted to permission to set up bases along the Dardanelles, were predicted not on international security, but solely for the benefit of three nations.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

B-E-L-L-E	McCARTHY	CAPITOL
"The Spiral Staircase"	"Return of Frank James" 2.30 — 7 p.m. — 9.20	"Saint Francis of Assisi" 7.15 — 9.30
Dorothy McGuire Gloria Stuart Ethel Barrymore	"Jesse James" 1.00 p.m. — 4.55	"Adventures of Chico" 5.45
2.05: 7.35: 9.30

AT THE COOL
BELLE
DAILY 2.30: 7.00: 9.30
A FAMOUS PLAYERS THEATRE

On The Same Program
Donald Duck Cartoon
Smart Musical Revue
"Full Steam Ahead"
Belle World News

SATURDAY—Maureen O'Hara, Dick Haymes, Harry James in the 20th Century-Fox Technicolor musical 'DO YOU LOVE ME'

MARK TRAIL

By Ed Dodd

LIL ABNER

By Al Capp

BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

POP

By J. Millar Watt

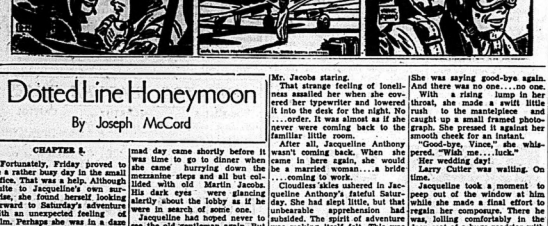
TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS

BLONDIE — Get a Rebate, Dagwood

By Chic Young

JOHNNY HAZARD

By Frank Robbins



TILLIE THE TOILER — A Fine Romance

By Russ Westover

Dotted Line Honeymoon

By Joseph McCord

CHAPTER 8.

Fortunately, Friday proved to be a rather busy day in the small office. That was a help. Although quite to Jacqueline's own surprise, she found herself looking forward to Saturday's adventure with an unexpected feeling of calm. Perhaps she was in a daze still. At least, it was not uncomfortable.

Her only item of preparation for the event was a call upon Mr. Archibald Potter in his office on the morning. She wondered if there would be an objection to her closing the office for the forenoon. She would like to attend to . . . "some business."

"I hope you're not gambling again," was Mr. Potter's good-humored comment.

Gambling!

"You're not very busy Saturday morning's as a rule, are you?"

"Oh, no."

"I should think you might do it. I'll leave word at the desk and street to have one of the girls up here take care of any emergency cases. Go ahead. Have a good time."

The crowning touch for her mad day came shortly before it was time to go to dinner when she came hurrying down the mezzanine stair and all but collided with old Martin Jacobs. His dark eyes were glaring alertly about the lobby as if he were in search of some one.

Jacqueline had hoped never to see the old gentleman again. But things were different today. For some reason she could not explain, she paused and bestowed a pleasant smile upon the visitor.

"Were you looking for me, Mr. Jacobs?"

"How's that? Oh . . . Miss Anthony! No, my dear. I'm sorry to say my trip to the city today does not include that pleasure. How are you?" He lugged uncertainly at the mustache.

"I'm fine." A malicious spirit seized her. "What do you hear about our stock?" she asked innocently.

"Southern Furnace . . . you mean? Well, my dear, it seems to be in a temporary decline. I'm holding my shares and intend to. I hope the little . . . little manipulation hasn't worried you?"

"Oh, no. Not in the least. It's just one of those things."

Jacqueline walked on, leaving Mr. Jacobs staring.

That strange feeling of loneliness assailed her when she covered her typewriter and lowered it into the desk for the night. No . . . order. It was almost as if she never were coming back to the familiar little room.

After all, Jacqueline Anthony wasn't coming back. When she came in here again, she would be a married woman . . . a bride . . . a stranger.

Cloudless skies ushered in Jacqueline Anthony's fateful Saturday. She had slept little, but that unbearable apprehension had subsided. The spirit of adventure was making itself felt. This was a real adventure, one that few girls had undertaken. And, strangest of all, it began to assume a slightly humorous aspect. Jacqueline was somewhat shocked at that, not realizing that it was one relief offered her taut nerves.

Breakfast proved to be a distasteful thought, but she made coffee while spending a little extra time in arranging her shining hair before th's mirror. She was glad she had gone to the hairdresser only a few days ago. It did look rather nice.

Before she put on her dress, she stood at the sink shelf in the kitchenette and drank two cups of black coffee. Her wedding breakfast . . .

Almost eight! She must hurry, not keep Mr. Cutter waiting. Her forced gaiety forsook her as she paused for a last look about the room, her hand on the door. She was saying good-bye again. And there was no one . . . no one.

With a little lump in her throat, she made a swift little rush to the mantelpiece and caught up a small framed photograph. She pressed it against her smooth cheek for an instant.

"Good-bye, Vince," she whispered. "Wish me . . . luck."

Her wedding day!

Larry Cutter was waiting. On time.

Jacqueline took a moment to peep out of the window at him while she made a final effort to regain her composure. There he was, lolling comfortably in the deep seat of a huge roadster with its top folded back, showing no sign of anxiety whatever. His hands were nowhere near the horn button.

She opened the door and walked down the few steps to the street.

"Good morning, Mr. Cutter." Her voice . . .

The exclamation died on Larry's lips as he looked up and saw the little figure in brown coming to meet him. His first glimpse of her in the daylight. How beautiful she was . . . little Jack. His little Jack! He scrambled out of his car with but one desire in his heart . . . to snatch her up in his arms. To hold her close . . .

Instead, he stood very erect and managed an almost formal bow.

"How are you, Miss Anthony." Then he assisted her into the car, walked around the machineat that good-looking hotel yonder."

"I would . . . please." That was thoughtful of Larry.

He left her in the lobby after jotting down a few notes regarding, 'what he termed, the bride's fancy race and previous condition of servitude."

He was back at the hotel within the hour, smiling and tapping the pocket of his coat.

"All set, Jack. If you're ready. My word! I never thought to ask you! I've located a minister, or perhaps you'd rather have a civil ceremony."

"Oh, no. I'd much prefer a minister."

"Good! So would I. Wish, for your sake, we could do it in church with all the trimmings. Nerves all right?"

"Yes."

"You are rather wonderful. Come ahead."

That next hour was more than ever like some dream. There was a neat white house next door to a little church. The minister proved to be a rugged-faced young chap wearing a sack suit, not at all formidable. He glanced over the license with a businesslike air and found it satisfactory.

"I'm afraid we'll have to find another witness," he suggested. But with hurried next door and returned in an unexpectedly short time with a pleasantly flustered woman.

Jacqueline had a distinct recollection of being shocked by the minister's casual query as to whether a ring ceremony was desired, being even more shocked by Larry's prompt, "Oh, yes. Please."

And there he was, fumbling in his pocket.

Then the ceremony. Jacqueline standing beside Larry, conscious only of how huge he seemed. "Dearly beloved . . ." She was being married. Managing composure in some fashion. Feeling the warm clasp of Larry's fingers . . . A ring being slipped over her finger. The bride tried to realize what it meant, the solemnity . . . "I pronounce you . . ."

A new fear pervading the dream. Sudden. Overwhelming. Would Larry kiss her when the last words were spoken?

(To be Continued)

CJBQ

"The Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

CJBQ (1230 k)

WEDNESDAY NIGHT

5.00 p.m.—Children's Story Time
5.15 p.m.—Program Review
5.30 p.m.—Dance Music
5.45 p.m.—Dance Music Two
6.00 p.m.—Time for Two
6.15 p.m.—News
6.30 p.m.—Lum Reach Riders
6.45 p.m.—The King's Men
7.00 p.m.—Quintette by Lebert
7.15 p.m.—Behind the News
7.30 p.m.—Can You Remember?
7.45 p.m.—In the Sportlight
8.00 p.m.—Appointment with Fear
8.30 p.m.—News
8.45 p.m.—Highlights from Parliament Hill
9.45 p.m.—Beauty Glen Club
10.00 p.m.—Book Review
10.15 p.m.—Dance Time
10.30 p.m.—Dance Time Clubs
10.50 p.m.—News Roundup
11.00 p.m.—Reveries

THURSDAY

7.00 a.m.—Overnight News
7.05 a.m.—Up with the Sun
8.00 a.m.—Breakfast Toast
8.15 a.m.—Buck Rogers
8.30 a.m.—Morning Devotions
8.15 a.m.—Church in the Wildwood
8.30 a.m.—Music for Dishwashing
9.45 a.m.—On the Mall
10.00 a.m.—Going to Town
10.30 a.m.—News
10.45 a.m.—Pat Luck
11.00 a.m.—Betty and Bob
11.15 a.m.—Ma Perkins' Good Cheer
11.30 a.m.—Guiding Light
11.30 a.m.—Lukewels and Hawaiians
11.45 a.m.—Backstage Wife
11.45 a.m.—Swing and Sway — Sammy Kaye
12.00 noon—Home Sweet Home
12.15 p.m.—Happy Hollow
12.30 p.m.—Noontime Melodies
12.45 p.m.—Luncheon Music
1.00 p.m.—Markets Quotations
1.15 p.m.—Farm Fair
1.15 p.m.—Melodies Old and His Wildcats
1.30 p.m.—Midweek News in Belleville
1.45 p.m.—Ronald Novis Sings
2.00 p.m.—Music from the Shows
2.15 p.m.—Betty Crocker Kitchen
2.30 p.m.—Holiday for Strings
2.30 p.m.—Studio Party
3.00 p.m.—Afternoon Musical Quotes
3.30 p.m.—Women's Magazine
3.45 p.m.—Symphony of Melody
4.00 p.m.—News
4.05 p.m.—Ten Time Topics
4.15 p.m.—Buck Rogers
4.30 p.m.—Jack Shaw
4.45 p.m.—Monday Children's Story Time
5.45 p.m.—Program Review
6.00 p.m.—Dance Music
6.05 p.m.—Table for Two

Network Programs

WEDNESDAY EVENING

—4.00 p.m.
—4.15 p.m.
CHL, CKOC—Farm Markets
—4.30 p.m.
CHL, CKOC—Hits Time—Hit Tunes
—4.45 p.m.
CFRB—Tom Hunter, News.
CFRB—Children's Hour
WKBW—David Rose Show
—5.00 p.m.
CFRB—Wes McKnight, sports
—5.15 p.m.
WKBW—Lowell Thomas
—5.30 p.m.
CHL—Jack Shaw
CKOC—Did I Say That?
—5.45 p.m.
CKEY—Norma Greene
WKBW—Sopper Club
—6.15 p.m.
CFRB—John W. Vandercook
—6.30 p.m.
WKBW—International House
CKEY—Singin' Sam
CHL, CHML—"Alan and Me"
WKBW—Quiz Kiddies
WKBW—ABC—The Lone Ranger
—6.45 p.m.
CKEY—Easy Aces
WKBW—Ted Weemsborn
—7.00 p.m.
CHL—Brian McCarthy & Co.
WKBW—ABC—Lum 'N' Abner
WHEN—Mr. and Mrs. North
—7.30 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Invitation to Music
—8.00 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Hour of Charm
—8.30 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Sad Sack
CHL—Gospel Singers
WKBW—Buffalo Symphony Orchestra
—9.00 p.m.
WHEN—Lavell Thomas
WKBW—Academy Award Theatre
—9.30 p.m.
WKBW—Holiday for Music
—10.00 p.m.
WKBW—Hoosier Hop
—11.00 p.m.
WHEN—CKTB-CHML—News
—11.10 p.m.
CHML—Rain Orl
CKTB—Collingwood Reade
—11.15 p.m.
CKOC—News
—11.30 p.m.
WHEN—Late Sports Column
—11.35 p.m.—Tucker Orch.
WKBW—Game for Tonight
—11.45 p.m.—Golden Orch.
—12.45 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Invitation to Music

Network Programs

WEDNESDAY EVENING

—4.00 p.m.
WHEN—News; 4.15 Sports
—4.15 p.m.
CHL, CKOC—Farm Markets
—4.30 p.m.
CHL, CKOC—Hits Time—Hit Tunes
—4.45 p.m.
CFRB—Tom Hunter, News.
CFRB—Children's Hour
WKBW—David Rose Show
—5.00 p.m.
CFRB—Wes McKnight, sports
—5.15 p.m.
WKBW—Lowell Thomas
—5.30 p.m.
CHL—Jack Shaw
CKOC—Did I Say That?
—5.45 p.m.
CKEY—Norma Greene
WKBW—Sopper Club
—6.15 p.m.
CFRB—John W. Vandercook
—6.30 p.m.
WKBW—International House
CKEY—Singin' Sam
CHL, CHML—"Alan and Me"
WKBW—Quiz Kiddies
WKBW—ABC—The Lone Ranger
—6.45 p.m.
CKEY—Easy Aces
WKBW—Ted Weemsborn
—7.00 p.m.
CHL—Brian McCarthy & Co.
WKBW—ABC—Lum 'N' Abner
WHEN—Mr. and Mrs. North
—7.30 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Invitation to Music
—8.00 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Hour of Charm
—8.30 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Sad Sack
CHL—Gospel Singers
WKBW—Buffalo Symphony Orchestra
—9.00 p.m.
WHEN—Lavell Thomas
WKBW—Academy Award Theatre
—9.30 p.m.
WKBW—Holiday for Music
—10.00 p.m.
WKBW—Hoosier Hop
—11.00 p.m.
WHEN—CKTB-CHML—News
—11.10 p.m.
CHML—Rain Orl
CKTB—Collingwood Reade
—11.15 p.m.
CKOC—News
—11.30 p.m.
WHEN—Late Sports Column
—11.35 p.m.—Tucker Orch.
WKBW—Game for Tonight
—11.45 p.m.—Golden Orch.
—12.45 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Invitation to Music

TO LET

FURNISHED BEDROOM, BREAKFAST if desired, suitable for one or two gentlemen. 257 Dundas St. East, Belleville. A12-tfc

ROOM WITH OR WITHOUT BOARD, 257 Dundas St. East, Belleville. A12-tfc

BEDROOM—SUITABLE FOR ONE OR two gentlemen girls. Phone 2707. A12-tfc

EXCHANGE RENTAL, NICE 6 ROOM house, bath, electric, hot water heat, for 3 bedroom house, Belleville, Trenton, Brighton. A12-tfc

COTTAGE FOR RENT—CLOSE OF BAY St. Phone 2446. Mrs. Wm. Hall, 257 Dundas St. East, Belleville. A12-tfc

WANTED

GARAGE OR SHED IN FT. X 20 FT. to rent, on or about September 1st. Phone 2707. A12-tfc

FIRST CLASS SHORT ORDER CHEF wanted, steady position, good wages. Apply Canadian Restaurant. A12-2c

WORK OF FARM BY EXPERIENCED married man, with house and kitchen. Phone Wooler 2 r 13. A12-3p

WANTED, MAN FOR BAKEHOUSE business. Permanent if reg. as a Veteran. Apply Bakery, 257 Dundas St., Night's Dept. St.-H-12-13. A12-tfc

HOT SINGLE DISC PLOUGH. APPLY by mail to Box 1, Rural R.R. 3, Belleville, or phone 2 r 13. A12-3p

2 EXPERIENCED WAITRESSES, 5 days a week. Apply Nick's Lunch. A11-3p

FURNISHED APARTMENT 5 - 6 rooms by permanent couple, no children, quiet, adults only. Urgent. Write Box 24, Intelligencer. A11-3p

ICE BOX, MEDIUM SIZE, PREFER Frigidaire, 50861, between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. A11-2c

STURDY TRUCK, APPROXIMATE size 30 x 21 x 28. Telephone 2707. A11-3c

FOR SALE

2 KELVINATORS, 1 YEAR OLD, 27 cu. ft. and 20 cu. ft. Hallowell cooling unit, almost new. Ed Hill's Camp, Carlaw Ave., Oshawa. A11-4c

GOOD BUILDING LOT 80' x 198', AVAIlable 337 Dufferin Ave. A11-3c

NEW HUNTING, DINNER, MORNING (thermoplastically controlled, Hard and Soft Rubber Ltd., Finley Mfg. Co. Ltd., Norwood, Ont., Phone 301. A11-2c

SINGER DROP HEAD SEWING MAchine, good condition. Phone 2158w. A9t

FIRE-PLY HEATER NEARLY USED, 1 year old. Phone 2158w. A9t

NORTH FRONT. A11-3c

2 PC. CHESTERFIELD SUITE, MODERN condition. Reasonable. Apply 213 Church St., Belleville. A11-3c

COTTAGE AT ROSEMORE—HYDRO, ready for occupancy. Write Box 44, Intelligencer. A11-3c

FORD COUPE, SERIAL NO. CA31999, 1934, Dominion Motors, 257 Dundas St., Belleville. Phone 3424. A11-3c

FINDLAY RANGE—COAL AND GAS stove, warming closet and grey enamel. Phone 2r4, Thurlow, R.R. 1, Consecon. A11-3c

KITCHEN SIDEBOARD WITH GLASS doors, kitchen table, chairs, furniture, 39 Tougas St. A11-3c

WOOD FOR SALE, DRY SPRUCE, 16 ft. on Station Rd. 1½ miles from Belleville, cabinet style. Apply Mrs. Wm. Hall, 257 Dundas St. East. A11-tfc

NORTH MAPLE, GOOD WORKING also year old colt, chestnut, Massey 101 Junior, 1 set harrows, 1 set spring harrows for pigs or cattle. Frank Mumby, Foxboro. A11-3c

7 MATCHED TEAM GREY PERCHeron mares, 1 yr., 1800, 1 black percheron mare, 7 yrs., 1800, 1 bay mare, 6 yrs., 1800, 1 set heavy harness; 1 springer Holstein cow, due 19 Aug.; 4 Holstein cows due 2 weeks, Freeman Thompson, R.R. 1, Consecon. Phone 2 r 13. A11-3c

KELVINATOR—36 CU. FT. CAPACITY refrigerator suitable for meat market store or for farmer's use. Phone 2707. A11-tfc

46 SHEEP AND LAMBS. APPLY DENnis Meagher, Read. A12-3c

SINGER RANGE, WATER FRONT, reservoir, warming closet; small couch with cushion; bedroom suite of drawers; other pieces of furniture. Apply 257 Dundas East, after 6p.m. A12-3c

20 YOUNG TURKEYS (3 months old). Mrs. Ernest Coulter, Roslin, R.R. 2. A11-3c

WHITE KITCHEN CABINET, LIKE new, Child's steel crib, full panel, waterfall bed, practically new. Phone 3046W or apply 81 Cluley Dr. A12-3c

200 WHITE GIANT PULLETS AND 200 Barred Rock. Apply J. C. Thompson, 36 N James St. A11-3c

POSSESSION SEPTEMBER 1ST — 7 room solid brick house, hot water heating, bath, 2 toilets, double garage. Apply 52 Strachan St. A11-3c

QUANTITY OF HARD AND SOFT wood slabs. Phone 2555 or write W.C. Lloyd, Bannburn. A11-3c

MOTORCYCLE, "HARLEY - DAVIDson 45", 1942 model. Apply Ted Saunders, c/o Smith Transport. A11f

TO OPEN NURSING COURSE

Toronto, Aug. 14.—(CP)— Ontario Health Minister Kelley said today the provincial government will start a nine-month course for nursing assistants in an effort to ease the shortage of nurses in Ontario hospitals. The course will start Sept. 16. Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 40 years, have Grade 10 education and be in good health. During the course they will receive $60 a month, less the cost of room and board.

LINER LETITIA DOCKS

Halifax, Aug. 14.—(CP)—The liner Letitia with 432 war brides and 432 children aboard docked here last night. She carried Canadian servicemen's dependents from Britain, France and Holland. Two special trains, the first leaving at noon, E.T., and the other at 4 p.m., will carry the wives and children to their Canadian homes today.

TO CONDUCT INQUIRY

Toronto, Aug. 14. (CP) — The Ontario Municipal Affairs Department today announced the appointment of C. D. Wright of Ottawa by order-in-council to conduct an inquiry into a Brockville, Ont., water contract. Hon. C. H. Dunbar, minister of municipal affairs, was not available for comment.

SECURITY MARKETS

Quotations furnished by BIGGAR & CRAWFORD
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Belleville Office — Phone 3160 and 3161

Quotations at 12.30.

Aunor 475B
Bankfield 11 1-2B
Beattie 8f
Bidgood 21B
Brairsrai 11 7-8B
Broulan 45B
Buffalo Ank. 46B
Calgary and Ed. 490
Can. Malar. 23
Central Pat. 225
Centerville 223
Dome 21 1-4
Dome Mines 29
Falconbridge 46f5
Francoeur 40B
Gillies L. 1310
Hardrock 77
Home Oil 205
Hollinger 13 1-4
Howey 33B
Hudson Bay 44
Jason 49
Kerr Add. 13 1-8
Kirk. Lake 165
Lake Shore 16 1-2B
Leitch 135
Little L.L. 206B
Macassa 31
McIntyre 85 1-2
McLeod 140B
McKenzie 93
Minlac Corp. 87f5
Moneta 63
Nipissing 300B
O'Brien 210
Omega 20
Paymaster 61
Pamour 125
Perron 1215B
Pickle Crow 320
Pioneer 430B
Powell 7
Preston E.D. 210
Royalite 123B
San Antonio 435
Sherritt Gor. 296
Sicoe 72
Steden M. 45
Sullivn 200
Steep Rock 285
Sylvanite 205B
T. Hughes 385
Ventures 3 1-4
W. Amulet 430
Wr. Hargreaves 435
U. Canada 54
Malartic 185
Madsen 325

Noranda 55 1-2

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 203
B.A., Oil 27 1-2B
Brewing Corp. 1 1-4
Braz., Trac. 24
Can. Cement 23 1-4
Can. Ind. Alcohol 22 3-8
C.P.R. 15 3/8
Canada Car 16A
Cockshutt Plow 9 1-8B
Con. Smelting 96
Dominion Foundries 30
Dominion Stores 26 1-4B
Fanny Farmer 58B
Ford "A" 24
Gypsum 17 1-2
Imp. Oil 14 1-8
Int. Nickel 37 1-2
Inter. Pet. 17 3-4
Imp. Tobacco 14 1-2
Loblaw 34 1-2B
Massey Harris 17 1-2B
Power Corp. 12 3-4B
Steel of Canada 90A
Walker's 155 1-2
Walker's Pfd 2010
C.P.A. 18 1-4
Maple Leaf 14 1-2

NEW YORK

General Motors 67 7-8
Montgomery Ward 80 3-8
U.S. Steel 91 1-2

TORONT OSTOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Aug. 14 —(CP)— All four index groups showed gains at noon, the 70 mixed stocks leading with an advance of .44. Volume was shaping at 772,000 shares for the first three hours.

Chesterville around 2.90 was up 10 cents and gains of 2 to 10 were held by Sylvanite, Malartic Gold Fields, Sullivan, East Sullivan, O'Brien and Joliet. Among the active and strong juniors were Boycon, Rush Lake, Nib, Homer and Bagamac.

Sherritt touched $3 in the early trading and was up a few cents net at early afternoon. Waite-Amulet, Labrador and Falconbridge were higher. Noranda added ½.

Better prices ruled in the industrial section for the papers, liquors and miscellaneous issues. Canadian Breweries, Anglo Common, Orange Crush and International Paper firmed ¼ point.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, Aug. 14 — (AP) — Selected rails, industrials and utilities rallied from the first anniversary of victory today with a good showing in the closing hour, slight interruption at the start, as union steel exchange employees walked out pending a strike vote. Plus marks of fractions to two or more points predominated near the fourth hour.

Prominent on the upside were M-K-T common and preferred, Norfolk and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio, National Power, Goodyear, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Armour, Woolen Pfd and Schenley. Laggards included Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Anaconda, and Johns-Manville.

Canadian rails were stronger in dealings on the exchange up to noon, Canadian Pacific being up 5/8 at 15 3/8 and Canadian Nat. Rys. 1/4 at 38 3/8. International Nickel 1/4 at 36 7/8 and Massey Harris unchanged 20 3/4 with Hiram Walker an exception, down 5/8 at 152.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

Montreal, Aug. 14 (CP)—Prices were attributed to be about steady on livestock markets here today.

Receipts: Cattle 11; calves 184; hogs 66 and sheep 1,000. Misc. 351.

Heifers brought 7-10.50. Good butcher cows sold at 9.75, common 8 down. Canners and cutters sold 5-7.25. Good bulls were up and bologna bulls 7-8.75.

Calves brought 8-11 according to quality. Choicest sold 7-8.

Good lambs were 14-14.50 and common 9-13. Sheep 5-8.50.

Hogs sold at 21 for grade A and sows 19 dressed.

HOGS

Toronto, Aug. 14 —(CP)— Grade A, dressed, bacon-hogs, were unchanged at $21.75, delivered, unchanged at Barrie $21.25 delivered, unchanged at Stratford, farmers $21.15, to truckers $21.30, delivered.

World Federation Of All Nations Seen as Solution

Montreal, Aug. 14 (CP)—Sir Montague Cave, British patent rifle manufacturer, said in an interview last night the solution for peace and international problems would be a world federation of all nations with a common language, currency, labor laws, police and armed forces and a universal five-day, 45-hour work week.

Sir Montague, here on a business trip, said that "responsible opinion" in Great Britain was in favor of the idea of world federation and that the United States and Canada and the United States experienced in democratic government, should take the initiative in forming such a federation.

Sir Montague said Canada would be in a position of minor importance if she were composed of "a number of self-government provinces with Bedlocked frontiers, instead of being regarded as a potential leading country."

DOUBLE COAL EXPORTS

Johannesburg —(CP)— South Africa exported 4,511,896 tons of coal in 1945, almost doubling 1938 shipments and placing the Union amongst the great coal exporters in the world.

Declares Capone Still Controls Chicago Gambling

Chicago, Aug. 14. (AP)—James M. Ragen, 66, wealthy racing news publisher, recently declared that Al Capone still controlled Chicago gambling, and service, died at 5 o'clock today in the hospital of shotgun wounds inflicted Tuesday night. June 24.

Ragen had told State's Attorney William J. Tuohy he had prepared and filed sworn affidavits of evidence implicating a syndicate controlled by "the Capone family" and that the evidence would be turned over to federal authorities in the event of his death.

Ragen, who boldly defied efforts of a gang of hoodlums to muscle into his business, had offered $25,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the gunmen who had fired upon him from a camouflaged truck.

A previous attempt on his life was made last April 29. Then he eluded death when an auto chase on the far south side, where he lived with his wife and six sons and daughters.

The successful June 24 assault came after Ragen, visiting stores and trailed by his bodyguards, stopped for a traffic light.

An old truck pulled to the right of the guards' car and halted to the rear of Ragen's. Gunmen in the tarpaulin on the left side of the truck sent pellets of foul to deep and landed in jail for their labor.

Police arrested the workers, who were levelling a five-acre tract prior to construction of 100 homes for veterans, on charges they violated a city ordinance which prohibits digging below the city water level.

WAR BRIDE ARRIVES

Vancouver, Aug. 14 —(CP) Mrs. Elizabeth Haggerdorn Morpretty 18-year-old Dutch war bride of five months, arrived here yesterday after a 6,000-mile journey to reach the bedside of her husband who is unaware of his critical condition in Vancouver General Hospital. Stepping from the train Mrs. Morpretty was whisked off in a waiting car and taken to see her husband. Beside fatigue she remained but a few minutes.

FOR SALE
KUMAWAE-INN
CABINS and EQUIPMENT
Finest beach location in North Hastings
Kumawae-Inn, Lake St. Peter, Ont.
A13-3t

RAWLEIGH PRODUCTS
MR. O. COLES
223½ FRONT ST., APT. 5
Phone 2215W
A13-17t

PAINTING
AND PAPER HANGING
ESTIMATES GIVEN
WHITMARSH BROS.
49 Purdy St. Phone 3166W
A13,14

WANTED
EXPERIENCED
PLUMBERS
Highest wages. Best possible working conditions. Apply Box 24, Ontario Intelligencer.
A13,14,15,16,17

160,000 People Recommend HOUSEHOLD FINANCE
At Household Finance you borrow $20 to $600 on your signature, co-maker or chattel security needed. Stop in or write for free booklet. Tell us how much you need, how you want to repay.
Household Finance Corporation
Loans made in convenient payments
Each $ 6 12 15 20 24
Month
$ 20 $4.08 $2.17
30 6.08 3.22 2.75
40 8.08 4.27 3.64
50 10.08 5.32 4.53
60 12.08 6.37 5.42 $3.47
80 16.08 8.47 7.20 4.61 $3.48
100 20.08 10.57 8.98 5.75 4.31
120 24.08 12.67 10.76 6.89 5.17
HOUSEHOLD FINANCE
Corporation of Canada
Loans up to $600 on your signature
127 Charlotte St., Opp. Loblaws
Second Floor, Colonial Block
Phone BIG PETERBOROUGH, ONT.
M. F. Nab, Manager
Loans made in residents of nearby towns

AUTO LOANS
Are Fastest
AT CAMPBELL'S
Phone 2 r 11
When Cash Loans cannot be arranged by Campbell Auto Loans is the quickest way to get it. Any auto loan at the Canada Permanent Trust Co. Office. You can borrow from $20 to $1,000 on owner's signature. Your life is insured at no extra cost for loan purposes. A friendly, personal service. Call, write or privately to select the plan that suits you best. Loans arranged in a few minutes. Prompt Trust and Trade Negotiations. Phone first and drop around later.
CAMPBELL
FINANCE CORPORATION LIMITED
34 BRIDGE ST., EAST
Phone 2020
TED TURKINGTON, Branch Mgr.

CASH LOANS
at
BELLVUE FINANCE CORPORATION
You pay for nothing but a confidential, quick loan service.
Compare These Typical Loans
$100 you repay ... $ 7.07 for 15 months
$200 you repay ... 14.09 for 15 months
$300 you repay ... 21.11 for 15 months
$500 you repay ... 29.12 for 20 months
256½ Front Street
(Corner of Bridge and Seymour Streets)
BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO
OFFICE HOURS
9 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. Monday to Saturday.
Closed all day Wednesday.
WILLIS JACKSON, Manager
Phone 617 Res. 1454-J

CLARE'S TAXI
24 HOUR SERVICE
PHONE 196
A3-1m

MONEY TO LOAN
On First Mortgage on City Property and Farms
at 5%
BELLEVILLE INSURANCE AGENCIES LIMITED
Dominion Bank Bldg. Phone 2977
A3-1m

DIG YOUR OWN POTATOES
4c lb.
MICHAEL RYAN
8th CON. SIDNEY
R.R. 8 HALLOWAY
A13-3t

RENTAL BATTERIES
150 OF THEM.
We cannot afford a fast charger, therefore we recommend a slow 24 hour method of charging.
WILLIS JACKSON, Manager
Fred's Battery Shop
140 FRONT STREET
PHONE 109
J24-1m

USED TRUCK TIRES
FOR SALE
Sizes: 34 x 7; 825 x 20; 900 x 20.
BILL DELINE
FIRESTONE
285 Coleman St. Phone 338
J30eT&Ftf

C. M. CAWKER & CO.
Montreal — Toronto Wire
38 Bridge St. East Phone 2902
STOCKS — BONDS
J31M-W-Stf

FREE ESTIMATES
WE REPAIR
RADIOS — VACUUM CLEANERS — APPLIANCES
ART BOOTH AND SON
PHONE 150 121 FRONT ST.
(WARREN BUILDING)

WANTED
Stenographer for local business office. Experience not necessary but preferred. Good salary and permanent position if satisfactory.
Apply in own hand writing to Box 17 Ontario Intelligencer.
A3-tf

DIPLOMATS CHAT AFTER HEATED VERRAL BATTLE AT PEACE PARLEY

Apparently diplomats have the switching their tempers on and off like a light bulb. Here is Soviet Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, RIGHT, chatting lightly with Hector McNeil, LEFT, British under-secretary for foreign affairs, as they left a session of the peace conference after one of the most heated verbal battles of the parley. MacNeil supported U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in the latter's onslaught on Molotov for his "dictation" tactics at the parley.

COMPLETE INSURANCE SERVICE
WE ISSUE SHORT DATE COVERAGE FOR Tourist Baggage
Tourist Accident
Furniture in Transit
AND EVERYTHING IN INSURANCE
Jamieson Bone & Co.
187 Front Street

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

OPTOMETRISTS

NORMAN E. EDWARDS, R.O.
G. S. WONNACOTT, R.O.
OPTOMETRISTS
Belleville, 214 Front St.
OFFICE HOURS—9 to 12 & 1 to 5
WEDNESDAYS — 9 to 12 a.m.
And by Appointment

CONTRACTOR

FRED ELGIE
BUILDING & STONE CONTRACTOR
Concrete Work a Specialty
BELLEVILLE — 2309

OLD TAVERN BAR-B-Q
Opened for the season
Phone 2236
Have your next banquet, Wedding, Dance, Stag Party, in our Private Dining Room.

MEDICAL

DR. LILY B. MATHIESON
288 PINNACLE STREET
BELLEVILLE
OFFICE HOURS:
2.30 to 10.30 a.m.
1.30 to 3.30 p.m.
7.30 to 8.30 p.m.
WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, THURSDAY, and SUNDAY
9.30 a.m. to 10.30 a.m.
Phone 2707 Residence 2158W

ACCOUNTANTS

SAVOLAYNE and SAUNDERCOCK
Chartered Accountants
Safety audits, financial statements, income tax.
Kingston Bldg. Phone 3154
KINGSTON Dial 3154

A. M. RICHARDS & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Phone 2939 257 Front Street
BELLEVILLE

DAVID STONE & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Toronto Tax Consultants
KEEFER BLDG., 4 VICTORIA ST.
TORONTO

W. S. STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT
205 PINNACLE STREET
(Stone Block) Phone 2600
Telephone 160

PHILLIPS M. TILL
Certified Public Accountant
Bldg. Phone 2894 BELLEVILLE

MILLER & STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS
123 Front St. W. 347 Bay St., W
Corner Bay Toronto, Ont.
Phone 1201 Cables AD-Mill

CHIROPRACTOR

A. WYATT, D.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist. Specializing in all forms of Arthritis, Sciatic, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Headaches, Nervousness, Stomach, Liver and Kidney Disorders. Consultation treatment for these conditions, 10c. Lacy attendant. Phone 1800. Lacy attendant.

INSURANCE

The thought of fire loss but no fear when you're protected with Fire Insurance.
SANDY BURROWS
HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
82 Front St. Phone 22

HALL & EARLE
ACCIDENT and PLATE GLASS
Telephone, Fire, Auto, Sickness
2 FRONT ST. PHONE 1134W

BUSINESS LINERS

Let your prescriptions for sale with H. GORMAN (Redcross) a qualified member of the Ontario Association of Optometrists and Dispensing Association of Real Registered Druggists. 186 Front Street, Quinte Hotel Block. Phone 83—Store 2nd St.

LOST

BLACK LEATHER WALLET CONtaining valuable papers and money. Finder phone 1810. Reward. A12-3c

THE VICINITY OF BELLEVILLE A pair of glasses in brown case. Finder please leave at Lewis Optical, 129 Front St. East. A12-2c

BLACK AND TAN HOUND PUP, 4 months old, left my possession. Finder apply Murray Simmons, R.R. 1, Hallowy, or Phone 128 Belleville. A12-2c

PERSONAL

Doyle's Corn and Callous Salve relieves corns under toes, corns and bunions. 50c at all druggists.

DEADLY TAIPAN

The taipan, an Australian snake, is so poisonous that horses are said to die of its bite within four minutes.

NOTICE

10.00 REWARD

For information leading to the apprehension of parties who removed the "No Trespassing" notice, posted at the entrance of the farm of the property situated on Highway No. 2 at Shannonville, Ont.

E. RITZ
Phone 23-18r2, Shannonville, Ont.
A12-1d

PICTON

Old Evaporator Makes Spectacular Fire at Picton

Picton, Aug. 14 — One of the most spectacular fires seen in Picton in recent years was that on Monday night, destroyed a building formerly used as an evaporator by R. J. Reid, on the line of railway tracks in the west end of the town. The building, used for the storage of empty fruit boxes, IX measured about 95 feet by 30 feet, with a gable roof, and was built 60 years ago. The wood was like tinder and burned at a furious rate, illuminating an area hundreds of yards around. The glow in the sky attracted residents five miles away and nearly 2,000 people gathered in the belief a section of the town was burning.

Several horses are located about 50 feet in front of the scene but were not threatened as there was no wind.

The heat was unusually intense and fire fighters had difficulty getting close enough to wield the hose.

The building was formerly owned by W. J. Benson, but more recently had been sold to F. E. Healy. Cause of the fire is a mystery.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mastin, their home guest, Mrs. Wm. Ryrie of Montreal, Mrs. Walter Reid and Mrs. Gilbert Todd motored to Watertown, N.Y., on Wednesday and spent the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Slover of Toronto were recent guests at Picton Manor and renewed acquaintances in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Carter have purchased Mrs. G. M. Farnsworth's home on Main Street East.

Likely to Admit Sweden, Iceland And Afghanistan

By CHARLES A. GRUMSON

New York, Aug. 14 — (AP) — Sweden, Iceland and Afghanistan will receive favorable action tonight today with a thus-far unopposed push underway for membership in the United Nations.

The application of neutral Iceland and Portugal and the Kingdom of Transjordan, the latter which were involved in the war only the last year or two, faced more stunning opposition. Russia was against all four and Siam also was opposed by France.

The fate of the applications, under consideration by the security council's membership committee, which continued in session today, were from the Moslem and Christian Peoples Republics.

Both are supported by Russia and both are under examination through committee questionnaires.

Poland's representative, Jerzy Michalowski, led the Soviet-supported opposition to Portugal yesterday with the declaration that the Warsaw government believed the Portuguese people were "undoubtedly democratic" but that Portugal was "still harboring German war criminals and German assets."

Mr. Michalowski said the Portuguese regime was closely related ideologically with the Franco regime in Spain which is barred from U. N. membership, and had been assisted to the defeated German and Italian Axis regimes.

Portugal was tentatively opposed also by Mexico, whose representative, Carlos Peon Del Valle, urged closest examination of the Portuguese application. Portugal is supported by Britain, the United States, France, Brazil, China and The Netherlands.

L. W. Brockington To Give First Report to Com.

Ottawa, Aug. 14 — (CP)—The Commons Industrial Relations Committee is scheduled today to receive its first report from L. W. Brockington, the mediator the committee appointed in an effort to end Canada's steel dispute now at the end of its first month.

Mr. Brockington is expected to review his discussions with the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) and representatives of the Algoma Steel Corp., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., Sydney, N.S., and Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton.

The main job Mr. Brockington had was to bridge the gap between a 10-cent increase which had the stamp of government approval, and the 15½ cents asked by the union. Coupled with that was the demand of the union for some form of union security at the Stelco plant in Hamilton, a demand which had met almost unanimous opposition from the company.

While the union is strongly organized at Algoma and Dosco it has only about half the Stelco employees and the Hamilton plant has been in partial operation with non-union employees since the strike started July 15.

Asked for Union Shop

The union originally asked a union shop, which would necessitate every employee becoming a member of the union. Later C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the U.S.W.A. indicated he would be willing to accept the Rand formula which would require every employee to pay union dues but would leave actual membership on a voluntary basis.

Yesterday the committee went into camera and decided no further evidence should be heard. Attention now will centre on drafting the report it will make to the Commons. Reports were that little actual progress toward that was made at yesterday's private session.

Drafting Difficult

With the session nearing an end and the committee faced with one of the toughest problems of the day the drafting of a report was considered likely to be a difficult one. Comments during the committee's sessions, which started July 16, have indicated considerable variance of opinion.

Most basic difference of opinion was on what wage increase price control would stand. Spokesmen for the government had stuck by the opinion that if wages went up much beyond 10 cents an hour price control would be finished. Labor took the stand that increases could be given up to 15 cents.

GOVT. BEING FURGED

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 14—(AP) —George Dimitrov, Communist leader, said yesterday Bulgaria's foreign ministry and all government departments were being purged with an "iron broom."

Dimitrov's statement was made after the government released the sixth recent list of officers eliminated from the Bulgarian army. The release said one officer was purged for "Fascist activity" and 46 others for "lack of interest" in the service.

LINER "LIZZIE" GETS REFITTED

A striking view of the giant liner Queen Elizabeth in drydock at Southampton, England, where she is getting the final reconversion touches before resuming transatlantic luxury trade.

Three Toronto Brokerage Houses Forced to Close

Toronto, Aug. 14. (CP)—The Ontario Securities Commission yesterday announced cancellation of registration of three Toronto brokerage houses, the restoration of another Toronto Securities firm.

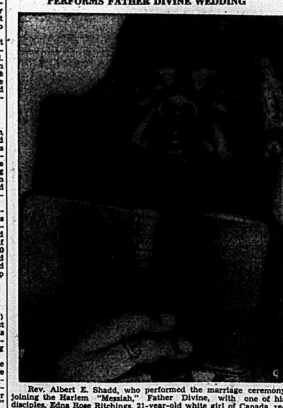
Cancelled were registrations of Redmond Carlisle, Ltd., Hudson Securities (A. E. Bradley and C. D. Wilson) and Alliance Securities (Charlie Wood).

The Commission said the licence of K. V. Gamble and Company and J. K. Gamble of Toronto, had been restored "as a result of rehearing of matter of evidence not before the Commission at a previous hearing". The firm's registration was cancelled some time ago.

The case of one salesman remains undisposed of pending the outcome of a prosecution for violation of the Ontario Securities Act, the Commission statement said.

It added that the registration of H. Den Miller and Company of Toronto had been suspended "pending the outcome of criminal proceedings."

PERFORMS FATHER DIVINE WEDDING



Rev. Albert E. Shadd, who performed the marriage ceremony joining the Harlem "Messiah," Father Divine, with one of his disciples, Edna Rose Ritchings, 21-year-old white girl of Canada, reenacts how he gave out with a "heavenly glow" while presiding over the union of the self-styled "god" and the "spotless lamb."

VETERANS TO COST

(Continued from Page One)

Now Act will cost $85,000,000 in the next five years and pensions in this fiscal year alone will cost more than $100,000,000.

Today, a year after the Japanese surrender, the program has worked out roughly like this in its major fields:

Numbers—Between September, 1939 and July 1, 1946, 906,000 were discharged from the service, leaving somewhere around 100,000 still to come.

Education—Veterans are attending 33 universities and colleges, many other collegiates and high schools. More than 27,000 of them are registered for university training, 10,000 of these in arts and pre-medical courses. Another 36,000 are taking vocational training.

Land—More than 10,000 have been settled under the Veterans' Land Act, including 5,300 in full-time farming, 4,400 on small holdings, about 200 in commercial fishing, about 100 on provincial projects and unqualified for settlement in all four phases: nearly 39,000.

Re-establishment — More than three-quarters of the nearly 200,000 who have taken all or part of their re-establishment credits have used them in varying ways on a home or its contents. Most of the others inject them into efforts to establish a business. At July 1 credits totalled nearly $50,000,000; their average: $413.67.

TRENTON

Trenton —(Special)— Thirty-four cases were heard in Trenton police court on Tuesday afternoon last before Magistrate T. Y. Wills and Chairman Connor K. Donnan.

Gordon Mulligan of Trenton, charged with attempted carnal knowledge and indecent assault has his case enlarged to August 20th.

Gerald McAdams charged with the theft of a watch also had his case enlarged to August 20th.

Claude Waddell, R. R. No. 4, Trenton, appeared on a charge of drunk driving and for having liquor in a public place. His case was enlarged to August 21st.

Maurice La France, 6900 St. Laurent St., Montreal, and Joseph Gioidano, 7057 Delormier St., Montreal, both received 10 days to date from day of arrest. They were charged with stealing a ride on a railroad.

Annie Cooney charged with vagrancy had her case enlarged to August 27th.

Ross William, charged under the Income Tax Act, had his case withdrawn.

John Lee Brown, charged with assault, had his case withdrawn after paying costs of court $2.50.

Five persons who tarried too long in the shrine of Bacchus were assessed $10 and costs each. They were Gordon MacDonald, Trenton; Maurice Martin, Trenton; Roy Hicks, Toronto; Bernard Regan, R. R. No. 1, Frankford; Albert F. Cooney, Trenton. Regan was also fined $12 for having liquor in a public place.

Seven offenders paid $4.50 each for failing to stop for the traffic light, Hampton Williamson, Fred Greenfield, Alex Nichwitch, Arthur Morgan, Robert R. Davis, H. R. Brickman, Clarence Maybee.

Marvyn J. Linton, John Harley and H. S. Campbell each paid $2 for a breach of the parking by-law.

Young Boy Nearly Suffocates Under Pile of Grain

Picton, Aug. 14—Buried beneath an avalanche of threshed grain, Laverne McConnell narrowly escaped with his life as a result of an accident on the farm of his father, Melvin McConnell. Overcome, the young boy was revived by artificial respiration applied by Dr. Ross and Dr. Allison.

The boy with his sister, Gena, was in a grain bin with their grandfather, Elmer McConnell. Threshing operations were being carried on at the farm. The children's father, Melvin McConnell, Grain was being poured into one bin and the trio were in an empty one next to it. Suddenly, the floor gave way and nearly 700 bushels of grain, and the three persons were plunged seven feet to the basement of the barn used as a pig pen. The boy was completely buried beneath the grain and the girl two feet from the surface. Both persons landed on his feet and was not buried.

Threshers were quickly on the scene and soon had the girl pulled out, without ill effects. Fearing they would injure the boy by using shovels, they scooped away most of the grain pile with their hands and recovered the boy whose face was blue as a result of suffocation. First aid was applied and after he arrived, "another minute and the boy would have been dead," a relative remarked.

The avalanche of grain also buried four pigs which were suffocated.

The boy has fully recovered from the effects of his ordeal on Monday.

Relieve Certificate

Mr. Arthur C. Miller, who served overseas five years, has just received a certificate from Field Marshal B. L. Montgomery, Commander-in-Chief, 21st Army Group. The certificate, with the 21st army crest, and personally signed by Montgomery, reads in inscription:

"It has been brought to my attention that you have performed outstanding good service and shown great devotion to duty, during the campaign in North-west Europe. I am pleased to send certificate as a token of my appreciation and I have given instructions that this shall be noted in your Record of Service."

Sgt. Miller served with Hazings and Prince Edward Regiment in Sicily and Italy, as well as in England and on the Western Front.

S. A. Drive Planned

At a special meeting of County Council, Major Harold Chapman of Toronto outlined the forthcoming financial drive on behalf of the Salvation Army. Warden Earl Brummell presided and several representatives of women's and men's clubs were present. It was intimated that the objective for Prince Edward would be about $3,000.

Acting Mayor Nesbitt McKibbon was named head of the committee to plan the campaign. Mrs. E. Gordon is vice-chairman; C. G. Rutter, secretary and D. F. Pyke, treasurer. It was suggested that each township be organized for canvassing with the various reeves named to the committees. The post-war social service work of the Salvation Army was stressed by the speaker in urging support of the appeal.

Death of Wells Brings Tributes To His Genius

London, Aug. 14 —(CP)— London papers today featured news of the death in London on Tuesday of H. G. Wells, on their front page with their editorial columns paid tribute to the writer's position in British letters as a novelist, thinker and commentator on world affairs.

An editorial in the Times said that the 79-year-old Wells, who died yesterday at his London home, was "more widely read than perhaps any other Englishman of his time," and that some of his works had attained "almost to the highest standard." The Times described him as an "essayist if scarcely humble worker in the cause of human progress."

The pro-Labor Daily Herald emphasized that Mr. Wells had remained a socialist, despite the rich reward he had received from his works, and commented editorially on the "scope and majesty" of his contribution to human betterment. The Daily Herald captioned a pencil sketch of Mr. Wells as the "Man who was always right — a prophet of progress."

The Liberal News-Chronicle commented that "it has fallen to few men to wield such influence in their time upon the minds of their contemporaries."

The Conservative Daily Mail described him as a "star of the first magnitude" as a novelist, sociologist and scientific and political thinker, and added that he was among the "giants" of English literature.

Mr. Wells, who dreamed all his life of the coming of a world pax, lived to see the age of the atomic bomb which he foretold as long ago as 1914 in his book "The World Set free."

In 1932, Mr. Wells summed up his philosophy in a broadcast address: "Either we must make peace throughout the world, under one world state, one world pax — or we must prepare to live with the voice of the stranger in our ears, with the eyes of the stranger in our homes, with the knife of the stranger always at our throats, in fear and in danger of death."

VALLEYFIELD MIL

(Continued From Page One.)

Kent Rowley, Canadian Dire of the United Textile Wor ers of America (A.F.L.), whi called the strike June 1 in su port of demands for 40-hour pay was a hopeful sign that th might soon come to terms w the union.

Union officials charged th responsibility for the troub rested with the company wh they said had summoned strike police from Montreal as strik breakers and strongarm men.

Regret Attacked

He denied reports he had l tried seamen from Kingston a Cornwall, Ont., to come to Valle field to join the picket line.

The cemetery said it was "sorry the workers wished to resu their jobs and that the union s out to prevent them from doi so. G. R. Gordon, President Montreal Cottons, said last nig in a statement that "throughout the ceaseless rollers of t city of Valleyfield stood, ask They made no attempt to halt t production of goods and were "acting under orders".

The trouble began Monday when smaller number of workers a ceded to a company request return to work.

Yesterday, crowds of strike and spectators rushed about t gates—they numbered as many 2,000 fit one period—and provi cial police threw tear gas disperse them. Stones were hur and for two hours there was scene of near bedlam.

FILLED WITH BEER

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14. (AP)—A sympathetic bellhop fill with four bottles of beer, wo a blue ribbon yesterday at t Illinois State Fair. The anim plodded solidly into the colise um with the employees of t J. Garrett Tolan Farms, of Pie ton, Ill., and proceeded to bo down the heifer's throat to bl her flanks. Judges picked "t quierer Dell" as champion. A Aberdeen-Angus senior yearl heifer.

AMOROUS VEGETABLE

An early superstition associ ed cucumbers with love. dream of cucumbers meant fe ing in love almost immediately

Congratulations to

BELLEVILLE'S NEW RADIO STATION "CJBQ"

★

Another important addition to the growing field of Canadian Radio

★

We at Northern Electric are proud of the part we've played in supplying this new station with the latest and most modern broadcasting equipment.

Good Luck CJBQ

Northern Electric

26 BRANCHES ACROSS CANADA

CDS

PHONE 2000

Black Meets White In Mid-Season Millinery

Fashionable fine feather wool felts. Attractively styled with sophisticated high draping crowns and demurely veiled with mesh veiling. Colors black only.

7.95 to 10.95

Prices, each

— C. D. S. Second Floo

Clearance!

Women's Summe Shoes.

Wrap-around style, ank strap and open toed styles in simulated leathe and shoe fabric uppers wi leather soles and high slim low heels. Colors: yellow red, green, white, multicol ors and other attracti shades. Sizes 3 to 9. N C.O.D. Regular price 2.98 3.95. Special Thursda August 15.

1.98

— C. D. S. Main Flo

Factory Ends Woven Cotton

Practical good quality woven cotton sheeting, with soft, smoot finish and even bleach. Suitable for making pillow cases or sing bed sheets. Length about ¾ yards to 2 yards. Widths about 63" to 90". Price, yard

46

— C. D. S. Main Floo

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES

RADIO EDITION

The Ontario Intelligencer

PAGES 13 to 24

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1946

RADIO STATION CJBQ IS NOW ON THE AIR

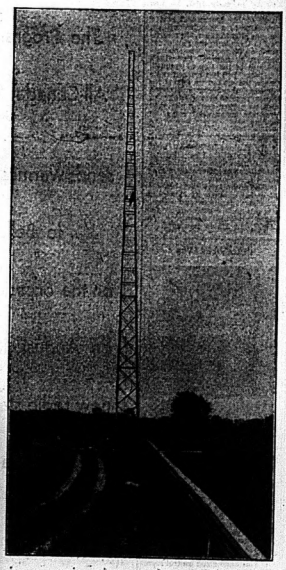
Official Opening

THURSDAY, AUGUST 15th — 8 O'CLOCK P.M.

COLLEGIATE AUDITORIUM

AT 8 O'CLOCK THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 15TH, CJBQ WILL BE OFFICIALLY OPENED BY AN IMPRESSIVE ARRAY OF DIGNITARIES INCLUDING PROMINENT GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, AND LOCAL COUNTY WARDENS AND MAYORS, AND WILL PRESENT AT THAT TIME A PROGRAM OF LOCAL TALENT ON THE STAGE OF THE COLLEGIATE AUDITORIUM. AN OPEN INVITATION IS EXTENDED TO ALL TO ATTEND. DOORS WILL BE CLOSED AT 7.45 P.M.

The attractive and spacious main studio from which local group programs will be broadcast. Sound proof walls and doors, and special floor and ceiling will help in broadcasting a clear exact sound effect.



A perspective view of CJBQ radio towers is shown at left. The towers which are 145 feet high are located 3 miles north of Belleville on the Foxboro Road.

A view of the control room at CJBQ shows Bill Boyle, operator at the control board, with Russ Hawkshaw, chief operator, looking on.

This Supplement Outlines the Work, Materials and Technical Equipment Involved in the Construction of Radio Station CJBQ.

For Your Greater Listening Pleasure — Tune to CJBQ — 1230 on Your Dial

Donald Novis Ever Popular With Radio Audiences

One of the foremost dramatic tenors on the continent, Donald Novis, will be presented by the Georgia Salon over CJBQ every Monday and Thursday afternoons at 1:45.

Charm, personality showmanship and a pure quality of voice have made Novis a sensation in personal and radio appearances throughout the country.

Mr. Novis, now a key figure on radio and stage, has done his finest work in this series of programs, singing the type of songs which give full play to his truly amazing range. Accompanying him, and contributing a group of selections by themselves, is the Hollywood Salon orchestra an organization rich in musicianship.

Conceived and transcribed in Hollywood, "Donald Novis Sings" shows the unmistakable characteristics of Hollywood inspiration, direction and technical excellence.

'Magazine for Women' Gives Much Interesting And Useful Information

Women listeners of CJBQ will learn how to dress themselves, their children and their salads—how to make up lips and menus—how to arrange introductions and furniture—how to run a house and husbands on the "Magazine for Women" program, Monday through Friday at 3 p.m.

On this program will be chatter from Hollywood, the humorous news bits and oddities of daily occurrences and glimpses of the women you want to hear about most.

"Magazine for Women" originating in the studios of CJBQ will cover facts on women who are first in the sporting world, the fashion and social world and the makers of brilliant careers.

BUSY SIGNALLERS

New Delhi (CP)—Beginning six years ago with only one wireless set operated by four men, India's Signals Headquarters has developed into an organization dealing with more than 250,000 words a day. During the last 20 months of the war, this unit handled over 215,000,000 words. In 3,500,000 messages, about one-tenth of which were in cipher.

COMMERCIAL MANAGER

The organizer of Belleville's first "western" entertainers to hit radio, Thomas V. "Tommy" Wilkinson was born in England just before the end of World War I. He came to Canada at an early age where his parents settled in Belleville. Medically unfit for the armed services, Tom joined the Auxiliary War Services of the YMCA and served in several military camps across Canada. He was discharged early this year with the rank of District Supervisor. Tommy has had a great deal of experience in the entertainment world and as a salesman.

'Pot Luck' Show Each Weekday Except Wed.

Belleville and district women will be kept up to date in food selection coupons when commentator Mary Allen Brown goes on the air with the "Pot Luck" show over CJBQ each week day morning except Wednesday at 10.30.

"Pot Luck" will feature music, household hints, bits of news from here and there about this and that.

The program will originate in the studios of CJBQ and is designed to be of interest to all homemakers in the district.

KARAKUL POPULAR

Johannesburg (CP)—South-West African karakul pelts continue to enjoy considerable popularity in world fur markets. A recent sale in New York of 108,000 pelts was well attended and competition was good. Many Canadian buyers were present.

CJBQ One of Best Organized Of Canada's Low-Powered Stations Says H. N. Stovin

"One of the best-arranged and organized radio station layouts of low-powered stations in Canada," was the way in which Horace N. Stovin, head of the national broadcasting sales organization, Horace N. Stovin & Company, described the new studios of CJBQ, Belleville.

"A well-organized and arranged studio and office set-up naturally makes for efficiency, is an inducement for better programming and seems to provide the impetus which insures good listening in a station's area," said Mr. Stovin, who has himself had a long background in radio including operating radio stations in Western Canada and also acting as supervisor of station relations of the CBC for many years before forming the firm of Horace N. Stovin & Company with offices in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg.

Station Representative

Appointment of the Stovin organization as national advertising sales representatives for CJBQ was made recently by A. McLean Haig, licensee of CJBQ. This associates CJBQ in a business way with some of the largest commercial broadcasting stations in Canada.

Of the more than 100 radio broadcasting stations operating in Canada, fully 90 per cent are privately owned and operated and therefore have to depend solely on advertising revenues from the sale of their broadcast time in order to keep in operation. They receive no part whatever of the license fee paid annually to the CBC, it was explained by Mr. Stovin.

"For that reason, if no other, the independently operated station naturally tends to become the voice of its community. Its popularity will depend on what it does for its listeners in bringing them the kind of programs they like," he said.

Interest Big Advertisers

"It will be our endeavour to interest national advertisers— the large companies that do business across Canada—in buying time on CJBQ but, in a large measure, these companies will be guided by what the local advertising dollar of their station. If they support it well, if they constantly remind the salesmen of the large companies who visit them that they are boosters for the local station, then it is obvious that the national advertiser will sit up and take notice that CJBQ is one station he will include in his advertising budget."

With the national advertiser being asked to extend his selling budget to more than a score of new stations this year, he pointed out, it was only natural that he would have to turn the deaf ear to pleas of some of them. It would be the stations he heard most about, through the local advertiser and his salesmen, and he would be most influenced to support.

"The enthusiasm that has already been shown by Belleville and district businessmen for their new station is a good augury for future successful operations of CJBQ", Mr. Stovin concluded.

W. H. STOVIN

CJBQ'S Manager, W. H. "BILL" Stovin, was born into the radio business doing his first broadcasting at the age of seven from Unity, Saskatchewan. After several years of experience in radio stations in Western Canada, Bill journeyed east and joined the staff of CKSO, Sudbury. Enlisting in the RCAF in early 1942, he was commissioned on the completion of his course and proceed overseas as a technical officer, a specialist in radar. He returned to Canada in the Fall of '45 and, on discharge, was appointed as manager of Belleville's "Voice of the Bay of Quinte", CJBQ. Bill has learned radio from the ground up during his lifetime of experience. His wide knowledge of broadcasting in all its phases equips him well for the managerial reins of CJBQ.

CHIEF OPERATOR

Russ Hawkshaw — the red-head of CJBQ is a native of Carleton Place, Ontario. He enlisted in the Glengarry Highlanders early in 1940 but was repatriated to Canada and given a medical discharge in 1942. CJBQ's chief operator has been on the staff of CKSF, Cornwall and comes to Belleville with an abundance of announcing and control room "know-how."

Sunday Players

CJBQ presents to its listeners, "The Sunday Players" dramatized Bible stories in all their richness and quality. Beautiful stories from the Book-of-Books, which have been read and told for centuries. Commencing with the beginning of man in the Old Testament stories, following through to the trials and triumphs of Job. Then the New Testament stories begin with a "Child is Born" and continuing through to the "Resurrection." Unlike other attempts at Bible drama, these do not employ archaic phraseology, but instead, are produced in the simple and understandable language of today. They are intensely interesting and the greatest care was taken to make them absolutely authentic and real in every possible way.

CJBQ Will Fill Great Need Here In Radio Field

"CJBQ, the Voice of the Bay of Quinte, is destined to be not only a great boon to Belleville and the surrounding country but also a valuable addition to the radio facilities of Canada. If any this tribute with a contendence born of considerable experience in the radio field. While with the CBC, I was aware of the great need of a radio station in this area; it was only the dislocation of war that deferred the project," so said Gladstone Murray, former head of the CBC, and BBC, when he addressed a joint meeting of the Belleville Junior Board of Trade and the Belleville Chamber of Commerce at the Country Club early in June.

South Africa Aids "Can-Opener" Wives

Capetown (CP)—"Can-opener wives" have created one of the biggest domestic problems in South Africa to-day. Husbands are finding their newly-wed wives incapable of boiling an egg or cooking a cauliflower.

During the war, thousands of girls who left school went straight into the army or took up business posts away from home. Now they are getting married or returning to homes of their own with no experience in the kitchen.

The South African Department of Agriculture regularly issues pamphlets dealing with the best ways of preparing food for the table.

SYMBOLIC CHOICE

June became popular as a wedding month because it gets its name from Juno, the faithful wife of Jupiter and the goddess of marriage.

PRODUCTION MANAGER

A keen saxophonist and clarinetist in his own right, Bill Arnold received his early education in Ottawa. He enlisted in the RCAF early in 1940 and spent most of his service in the vicinity of Belleville at Trenton, 6 RD and 5 ITS. Receiving his discharge in December, 1945, Bill enrolled in the Academy of Radio Arts from which he is an honor grad. While at this academy, he composed and arranged the "spot" jingle for People's Credit Jewelers which is heard regularly over Toronto's CKEY.

PLAIN SAILING

Gloucester, England (CP)—P. W. Horwood, Worcester boat builder, is busy putting the finishing touches to a 65-foot yawl which he plans to sail from Gloucester to Australia. He hopes to make the trip in four months but is prepared to take 10 months for the 15,000-mile voyage.

Holy Land Magnet For 40 Young Jews

Thaxted, Essex, England (CP) —Thatc castle in Spain is a farm in Palestine and they are doing more than dream about it.

Forty young Jews, the oldest of whom is 27-year-old S. J. Silkern, live set about realizing their ambition the hard way, and are teaching themselves farming.

The teen-aged enthusiasts have taken over a 380-acre farm, of which 254 acres are devoted to crops. Their stock includes 80 cows and 60 head of young cattle.

They live "collectively." Proceeds from the farm go into a pool, from which they draw the few shillings required monthly for pocket money. Highlight of the year is the allocation of £4 ($16) for holiday expenses.

The rest of the money is devoted either to the farm itself, or toward getting immigrants to Palestine, including members of their own community, which is one of five similar communities sponsored by the "Bachad" Federation.

SEEK TRADE AGREEMENT

Johannesburg (CP)— South Africa, badly in need of timber for housing construction, hopes to solve the shortage by obtaining shipments from Sweden in exchange for coal. Sweden at present is forced to burn wood because of a fuel shortage.

CONGRATULATIONS
CJBQ

Best wishes for your future success

THOMPSON & RILEY

PHOTOGRAPHERS

224 FRONT ST. Phone 3157

C J B Q
IS ON THE AIR

AND WE GLADLY WELCOME THEM TO BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT. WE HEARTILY WISH THEM LONG LIFE AND SUCCESS.

FOR YOUR ENTERTAINMENT WE PRESENT

"Yours Sincerely"

A program starring your singing favorite Kenny Baker and other radio stars

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays

FROM 12.15 TO 12.30 NOON

MODERN

CLEANERS AND DYERS LIMITED

325 Pinnacle St. Belleville Phone 2277

Especially Recommended By All-Canada Radio Facilities for Pleasant Listening with Your Dial At 1230

The Program Division of All-Canada Radio Facilities Limited sends warmest congratulations to Belleville . . . on the occasion of the arrival on August 15th of a brand new radio station. May CJBQ grow by leaps and bounds, and may Belleville grow fonder and prouder of its new addition as the days go by.

PROGRAM	SPONSOR
Betty & Bob	CJBQ
Donald Novis Sings	Georgia Salon
Dream Time	Blakey's Hardware & Electric
Kenny Baker	Modern Cleaners
5-Minute Mysteries	Tucker & Coombs
Hollywood Open House	Houston Lumber
House of Dreams	Pinkston Funeral Home
In His Steps	Farrar's Furniture Trenton & Belleville
King's Men	Superior Cleaners
Memories of Hawaii	Superior Cleaners
Mercer, McLeod	West End Motors
Old Corral	Bosiak Tool Supply
Parents Magazine	Roblin's Dairy
Pleasure Parade	Sills' Book Store
Romance & Melody	Superior Cleaners
Songs of Good Cheer	Miles & Stewart
Time Out	Montrose Dairy
Wade Lane	Bonn Motor Sales
Your Hymns & Mine	Pinkston Funeral Home
Fact or Fantasy	Delaney's Furriers
Home Sweet Home	Thompson's Furnishings
Calling All Cars	Drug Assoc.
Sunday Players	CJBQ
Songs of Yesteryear	F. LaPalm
Modern Romances	Christian Electric
Crooanaders	Whalen's Dairy
Home Sweet Home	Wottens

Co-operation of Everyone Can Do Much to Eliminate Radio Interference

Radio interference can do much to upset listening pleasure. Everyone knows how annoying it is to be listening to an interesting broadcast and then have local interference spoil the pleasure.

Certain types of home appliances cause radio interference even when they are working properly. The most severe interference is caused by the operation of switches in public electric trance also by vacuum cleaners, blowers, oil burners, food mixers, washing machines, fans, hose electrical conveyors and electric refrigerators. Interference from fluorescent lighting also may be quite severe although this is more noticeable in business and industrial areas.

The matter of radio interference is one affecting most homes. Interference originating in your own home may ruin radio enjoyment in all your neighborhood. Similarly, your radio outward may suffer because of interfering equipment used in a neighbor's home. Be sure that before you accuse interference is not caused by one of your appliances.

Simple Test

The following simple test will indicate if your equipment is causing radio interference—tune your receiver to a distant station and switch on each piece of electrical equipment in turn. If any of this equipment causes noises in your own receiver it will, in all probability, be interfering with radio reception in the neighborhood and suppressors should be applied to it. It should be remembered during this test that in the case of heating pads, they sometimes take a few hours of operation to produce interference. Once the "culprit" is found however, it is an easy matter to have it fixed. Your radio man can install suppressors in the appliance at a very low cost and these will remedy the situation.

Have your friends and neighbors make the test. If the co-operation of all the consumers of electricity could be enlisted, it would be possible materially to reduce and perhaps completely eliminate interference caused by electrical equipment.

W. J. DEVINE

William John "Jack" Devine, Sports and Special Events Director, brings to CJBQ's microphone a wealth of background in the sports and reporting field. Jack, whose home town is Toronto, will be heard regularly, Mondays through Saturdays at 7.20 p.m., with "Sports Highlights" on national, regional and local pictures. Coverage of other events in the sporting line will be given the "Devine" touch. To back this up, Jack, who served four years in the RCAF as a gunnery instructor, has been an active participant in all sports from softball through marbles to water polo. Having spent two and a half years at RCAF, Mt. View and later reporting for the Ontario Intelligencer, Jack's "beat" has become well acquainted with the local sporting setup.

CJBQ on Air Daily From 7 a.m. Til 11 p.m.

For sixteen hours every day in the week, CJBQ will be "on the air" bringing you the finest in radio entertainment. Broadcasting will begin at 7 o'clock each morning and will be continuous through until "sign-off" time, 11 o'clock in the evening.

This means that your new quality station will provide 11 hours of entertainment a week, a host of listeners.

Develop Power From Zambesi

Johannesburg (CP)—Harnessing of the Zambesi to "develop hydro-electric power for distribution over wide areas of the interior is suggested by director of irrigation L. A. Mackenzie. This power might be used for transport services, electrifying agricultural processes and industries, or pumping water for irrigation, stock and domestic purposes.

The hydro-electric potentialities of the Zambesi might be used for the development of atomic energy in a form suitable for power purposes, which in turn might be used for distributing large quantities of water to parts of the country which cannot at present be developed owing to lack of water.

CASTLE AUCTIONED

Abergele, Wales (CP)—Gwrych Castle, which King George V declined to accept from Countess Dundonald in 1927, was auctioned for £12,000 ($48,000) to J. R. Rennie, Wrexham businessman.

WILLIAM BOYLE

One of the most versatile drummers in this section of the country, William "Bill" Boyle, is one of CJBQ's control room operators. Bill has played three local engagements with Mart Kenny and his Western Gentlemen as well as playing with most of the bands in the district. Bill received an honorable discharge from the Royal Canadian Navy after a little over one year of service.

'Sincerely Kenny Baker' Program Features Many Irish Songs

J. H. MacDONALD

A veteran of nine years service in the R.C.A.F., "Mac" MacDonald is a member of the sales department of CJBQ. Quite a musician, "Mac" played clarinet in the R.C.A.F. band for over four years besides taking time out in 1938 to organize the dance band at R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton. He has played piano and the uke, vocals with several orchestras in the district. During service in Newfoundland, Mac played several USO and dance engagements with the 363rd Army Air Corps orchestra.

When you listen to "Sincerely, Kenny Baker" over CJBQ every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12.15, you will hear Kenny singing many Irish numbers. These Irish selections are famous "once" songs and, as you listen you will discover why Kenny Baker is called America's favorite tenor. It would be unfair to the sponsors, Modern Cleaners, and to Kenny Baker's listeners, if all those great songs which the famous tenors must sing to achieve lasting fame, were not included. You will agree that Kenny Baker sings them more beautifully than you have ever heard them sung before.

In addition, Kenny sings such hit numbers as the songs he sang on the stage in "One Touch of Venus", such current numbers as "If I Love You" from the current New York hit "Carousel." And the new hit songs from Billy Rose's "Diamond Horse Shoe". "The More I See You" and "Close as Pages in a Book" from "Up In Central Park" etc. The programs are really "all request" numbers based on actual letters Kenny receives from his listening audience.

Your favorite master of ceremonies, Jimmy Wallington, is your host on Modern Cleaner's "Sincerely Kenny Baker" program. "Little Miss Rhythm", Donna Dae, formerly of the Fred Waring program, also appears on the show, backed up Buddy Cole and his "Men of Music" one of the finest bands in the land.

"Sincerely Kenny Baker" will be brought to you by Modern Cleaners every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12.15 over CJBQ.

Propose New Bridge For Firth of Forth

Edinburgh (CP)—More than 3,000 vehicles daily would pass over a proposed road bridge over the Firth of Forth, said Sir Frederick Cook, formerly chief engineer of the transport ministry.

This traffic would come from adjacent districts and would not take into account long distance traffic.

CJBQ Located At 1230 on Dial

"1230" should be a very popular number from now on. Why? Because at that "spot" on the dial you will hear the "Voice of the Bay of Quinte", CJBQ. This frequency has been allotted to CJBQ by the Department of Transport.

For the best in radio entertainment then, remember CJBQ is 1230 on your dial.

New Zealand Keeps Kiwi Eggs at Home

Auckland, N.Z. (CP)—The Melbourne Zoo has offered to send the Auckland Zoo a duck-billed platypus in exchange for a kiwi egg, and take the risk whether it hatched out or not, but the deal is off. The Auckland Zoo would like a duck-billed platypus one of the world's queerest creatures which lays eggs and suckles its young, but the Government will not allow it to send the kiwi egg overseas.

The kiwi, New Zealand's strange bird, is becoming increasingly rare. The bird is now fully protected and it is forbidden to send them overseas. The Government fears that if one egg were sent out of the country, zoos all over the world would want them, and the number of kiwis remaining in New Zealand would be still further reduced.

Come to Dinner—Bring Your Bread

London (CP)—This discreet notice to patrons appears in a popular Soho restaurant:

"In view of the new rationing orders, customers wishing to have bread with their meals are advised to bring their own with them. Otherwise we shall be obliged to cut out one course if we supply bread ourselves."

Regulations provide that a meal may not exceed three courses—soup, fish or meat and sweet. If bread is served, another course must be foregone.

'Hollywood Open House' Includes Notable Stars of Radio and Stage

For the first time in radio, "Hollywood Open House" brings to Canadian listeners the grandest collection of radio talent ever assembled into a one half-hour production.

"Hollywood Open House" features Jim Amecke as master of ceremonies with Enric Madriguera and his famous orchestra. The vocalists include the lovely Patricia Gilmore and Harry Cool.

Outstanding guest stars on the program from time to time include such well-known figures in the radio and screen entertainment world as Ray Francis, Jack Benny, Alan Jones, Constance Bennett, Henry Youngman, Glenda Farrell, Wendy Barrie, Fay Wray, Gregory Ratoff and Lulu Rainer.

The "Hollywood Open House" will be heard over CJBQ every Friday evening at 8 p.m. The sponsor is the Houston Lumber Company.

MARRIAGE NO BAR

London (CP)—Fellowcommon no longer need resign when they marry and married women can be taken on strength of British forces. Maternity leave also is provided.

GLITTERING EXCHANGE

The early Britons and Gauls were practical about the business of jewelry; they used rings as currency.

QUALITY WORKMANSHIP

We wish to extend our congratulations to CJBQ and to let you know that we did all the

PAINTING & DECORATING

AT THE RADIO STATION

S. HERRINGTON

PAINTER & DECORATOR

161 Mary St. Phone 291

Dramatizations of Bible Stories Presented 'In His Steps' Program

Produced in Hollywood, "In His Steps", half-hour dramatization of the most widely read book in the world, next to the Bible, will be presented over CJBQ every Sunday evening at 8.30 by Farrar's Furniture Company Stores.

Millions of readers, the world over, have enjoyed Dr. Sheldon's stirring novel and it has the unique reputation of being translated into 21 different languages.

"In His Steps" has everything which is expected of powerful talkies productions. Gayle Gordon takes the leading role and is supported by such well-known stars as Lorene Tuttle, Norman Field, Joseph Kearns, Mary Lansing and many others.

The plots are unusually strong and gripping—with a moral that is unmistaken. Dr. Maxwell, the chief character, believes in practical Christianity. He has no use for the hypocrites who seek to hide behind the cloak of Church Membership, yet who fail to practise the Golden Rule. Maxwell does not pull his punches and is determined in every program to see that Right wins out, even if it may develop to his own personal peril.

Farrar's Furniture Stores present Gayle Gordon in "In His Steps" every Sunday at 8.30 p.m. over the "Voice of the Bay of Quinte," CJBQ.

CONVALESCENTS DEPART

Auckland, N.Z. (CP)—After the fleeing of Java from the Japanese about 900 Dutch subjects who had suffered great privations in internment camps during the occupation, were sent to New Zealand by the Netherlands government to recuperate. Their "cure" completed, the evacuees now are leaving New Zealand.

Presented For Your Listening Pleasure . . . .

THE NATIONAL RADIO PROGRAM

"Pleasure Parade"

A program of song and music—top hit parade tunes with Vincent Lopez, Kay Lorraine, the Modernaires and Jimmy Wallington and Milton Cross as joint Masters of Ceremony.

Every Friday — 9.15 to 9.30 a.m.

OVER RADIO STATION

CJBQ

1230 ON YOUR DIAL

Sills Book Store

222 Front Street Phone 1829

A Welcome to Radio Station CJBQ

Citizens of Belleville and district are pleased that CJBQ has been established and will go on the air tomorrow night officially. CJBQ will fill a long felt need in Belleville and will prove an added medium to serve the community both in entertainment and in the distribution of publicity.

On behalf of the citizens of Belleville I desire to congratulate the management of CJBQ on their decision to establish such a splendid station.

I am confident that CJBQ and its personnel will be welcomed by all citizens and that each and everyone joins with me in wishing this new community enterprise a full measure of success.

Frank S. Follwell

MAYOR

CITY OF BELLEVILLE

Drama on the 'Brown Family' Solves Problems for Parents

How to help a few-months-old baby accustom himself to the strange new world around him, and what to do with a 15-year-old boy who objects to going to bed at a respectable hour, are answered by the entertaining "Parents' Magazine on the Air" program to be heard over CJBQ every Wednesday morning at 10.30.

Based on an article written by Mildred Horton Fleming, the dramatization depicting baby's problems in this new world and how to guide them for him, reveals that loud noises, quick movements and the fear of falling are the elements of living which upset the new-born baby most. The drama shows how to allay these fears.

Following the dramatization of Miss Berne's article is the "Brown Family", a drama in the home of John and Martha Brown and their two children, Tommy and Eleanor. The Browns encounter many difficulties with their family and the drama shows how they go about solving their many problems.

Guest on the "Parents' Magazine on the Air" which is sponsored by Roblin's Dairy, is Mrs. Clara Savage Littledale, editor of Parents' Magazine.

RECEPTIONIST

A graduate of Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School and the Ontario Business College, Margaret E. "Peggy" Doolittle, is CJBQ's receptionist. Miss Doolittle will also be heard on the "Magazine for Women", a program about women and their interests, Monday through Saturday at 2 p.m.

WELL-DRESSED BRIDEGROOM

Leeds, England (CP)—Wedding handcuffs that left him just enough freedom to put a ring on his bride's finger, Pte. Cecil Forster, apprehended as an army absentee, was married at the Leeds Register Office. Military law required him to wear the handcuffs during the ceremony.

TAKE NO CHANCES

Diamond cutters, who serve at least a two-year-trial period before being trusted with a good gem, practise diamond cutting on potatoes.

News Coverage Highlights of CJBQ

One of the most important features of a radio station is its news service. As a result, radio station CJBQ has every intention to see to it that the news is presented in its best form and at times when the average listener can avail himself of this feature service.

One of the beauties of radio newscasts is that listeners get the news when it is new. With good coverage, the listeners are kept up-to-date on world, continental, dominion, provincial and local news.

CJBQ will be no exception. Up to the minute newscasts will be presented regularly during the day and evening and complete coverage will be given to local news.

The news department of CJBQ will use the facilities of Press News, the Radio Division of the Canadian Press. All Canadians know the prestige of Canadian Press, one of the foremost news service bureaus on the continent.

With this service plus complete local coverage, the news department of CJBQ will provide a real service to the community.

Complete news broadcasts will be given thrice daily except on the week at 8 a.m., 12.30 and 6.15 p.m. The over-night news will be given at 7 a.m. and the evening news round-up at 10.30 p.m. Brief newscasts will take place at 10.30 a.m., 4 p.m. and 8.30 p.m.

On Sundays, complete news will be given at 9.45 a.m., 12.15 and 6.15 p.m., and over-night news at 8.30 a.m.; the evening news round-up at 10.45 and spot news at 4 p.m.

Programs will be interrupted for news of a special nature.

TRAFFIC DIRECTOR

A graduate of Albert College, Margaret E. "Peggy" McLean is CJBQ's Traffic Director. Miss McLean will also be heard on the "Magazine for Women" on a program about women and their interests, Monday through Saturday at 2 p.m.

South African Govt. Delays Immigration Plans

Capetown (CP) — Shipping shortages and the mounting housing problem are barring the way to a comprehensive immigration program, Interior Minister C. P. Clarkson said in a recent press interview.

Four thousand South Africans are still awaiting transportation home from the United Kingdom, Mr. Clarkson added, and they will have priority over immigrants as shipping space becomes available. Meanwhile applications from prospective immigrants are mounting weekly and are being considered by an Immigrants Selection board.

What limited immigration has taken place in the last few months appears to have been insufficient to offset permanent emigration which, with the relatively uncomplicated transportation problem, has been progressing smoothly.

Official figures for last April show a total of 664 permanent emigrants from the Union, as opposed to 653 immigrants.

Two companies plan to establish a large cotton industry near King Williams Town in Cape Province. The Industrial Development Corporation of South Africa and the Calico Printers' Association of England will participate financially in equal shares in the project.

The project is expected to be the largest of its kind in Africa with the exception of Egyptian cotton mills.

One-third of South Africa's annual losses are more than 2,000,000 tons annually, Dr. J. C. Ross, director of soil conservation, announced as he disclosed a reforestation plan which will cost the government $400,000,000 in the next 25 years.

Dr. Ross said that with proper care of soil and water resources the Union could comfortably feed its entire population.

Arvest in Europe of Eric Holm, known during the war as the South African Lord Haw Haw, has been announced by the Justice Department. Holm, who made nightly broadcasts from Berlin in Afrikaans, will be brought to South Africa for trial.

Born in South Africa, Holm went to Germany before the war where he became first a translator and then a broadcaster for Germans.

Diabetic Kiddies Doctor Themselves

Walton-on-the-Naze, England (CP)—Forty-seven diabetic children who are, one another's doctors, diagnose one another's condition, prescribe, and even give injections while on a seaside holiday here.

Varying in age from six to 16, the children fill their own syringes, know the "proper doses, are experts in the art of injection, and carry about a lump of sugar to remedy over-strength "shots".

SOYBEAN SOLES

Shoe soles made of soybeans have been invented.

MUREL SCOTT

Muriel Scott, secretary in the commercial department of CJBQ.

Workers, Officials Go To Mining School

Stapley, England (CP)—Members of the National Coal Board, who will supervise coal industry under nationalization, are to attend a summer school on mining problems in this Yorkshire town in August.

Fellow-students will be prospective branch officials of the Union of Mineworkers, most of whom will come direct from the mineface. Worker students will be paid at their usual employment rates.

Theme of the course will be "Principles and Problems of the Coal Mining Industry under Nationalization."

TIMELY REVERSAL

Mossley, England (CP) — The flood walls of two houses crashed into flood water here as hour after the families had been evacuated. A third house, also empty, also crumbled as a culvert underneath the houses was flooded.

TURKISH NATIVE

The Angora goat originated in the Turkish province of the same name.

Pappy Cheshire Famous For His Songs and Stories of the West

Star of stage, screen and radio, Pappy Cheshire is a favorite of thousands of Canadians and Americans who flock to our theatres to see western movies and love the old western songs and stories of the "Old Corral" radio program. Pappy has appeared in Republic Pictures, "Ti, Neighbor," "Swing Your Partner," "O My Darling Clementine", all sonorously sentimental musical productions.

In one personal appearance in St. Louis, Pappy Cheshire and the Gang drew an estimated crowd of 50,000 people to the St. Louis Auditorium. Pappy is loved by his listeners for his art of story telling and for his genial hearty manner as Range Boss of the Old Corral.

Also featured on the "Old Corral" are such well-known radio stars as Sally Foster, "Shuffy" Austin, Wade Ray and Skeets and Frankie.

Listen to Pappy Cheshire and the whole gang on the "Old Corral" to be heard over CJBQ at 7 p.m. every Friday evening. The "Old Corral" show is sponsored by Bostik Tool-Supply.

Songs of "Good Cheer" Chorus Masters Quick Change of Tempo

The demonstration of flexibility of a chorus of mixed voices is a thrilling highlight on the "Songs of Good Cheer" program heard over CJBQ every Thursday morning from 11 to 11.15, sponsored by Miles and Stewart. The imposing group of both male and female voices has an ability to sing almost any kind of song. The popular "Jerry" Sears conducts.

The "Songs of Good Cheer" chorus, singing the familiar melodies of nearly three decades, must adapt itself to the quiet tempos of the old favorites of Herbert, Romberg and Friml and then make an about-face to a dance-time tempo of a more modern hit tune by Gershwin, Porter or the music makers of tin-pan alley. Many of the numbers, arranged for and rendered wholly by voices are done with almost the same colorful result as the use of instruments of an orchestra would produce.

For numbers featuring solos by such prominent guest stars as Kay Lorraine, well-known network artist, and Willard Young, whose tenor voice is new to radio, the chorus produces a background accompaniment simulating the counter melody and rhythm of a band.

Though the acappella chorus is featured on many of the programs, highlighted numbers are often offered jointly by the instrumental music of Jerry Sears and the choir.

The narator on "Songs of Good Cheer" is Larry Elliot, well known to radio listeners everywhere.

366 MERCY MISSIONS

London (CP)—During the first six months of the year lifeboats in Britain were launched 366 times to help vessels and aircraft in distress and saved 381 lives.

ONTARIO PRODUCT

In Canada, hardly any soya beans are grown commercially outside Ontario.

MISS OLIVE WARREN

From Morrisburg, Ontario, comes CJBQ's Librarian and Women's News Director, Olive "Ollie" Warren, a veteran of over three years service with the RCAF Women's Division. On discharge, "Ollie" studied radio and radio writing, announcing etc. at "Rahab" school in Toronto, graduating with honors. Miss Warren also completed a course on fashion designing.

LISTEN TO 15 MINUTES OF DELIGHTFUL MUSIC

EACH SUNDAY EVENING

10.30 p.m.

Sponsored For Your Entertainment By

WHALEN'S DAIRY

57 CANNIFTON RD.

CONGRATULATIONS

CJBQ

Belleville is to be congratulated on her progressive spirit and her new and up-to-date radio station is one more step forward

We Invite You To Listen To Our Program

"5 MINUTE MYSTERIES"

EVERY

Monday, Wednesday and Friday

OF EACH WEEK

OVER THIS STATION

FROM 12.00 — 12.05 P. M.

TUCKER & COOMBS

217 FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE PHONE 772

CONGRATULATIONS

TO

RADIO STATION CJBQ

● We supplied the Hardware, Locks and Accessories throughout for Radio Station CJBQ.

● We have a good supply of all kinds of Hardware and Household Supplies. Come in and look around.

WALKER HARDWARE CO., LTD.

GENERAL HARDWARE

248 Front Street Phone 163

We extend to

RADIO STATION

CJBQ BELLEVILLE

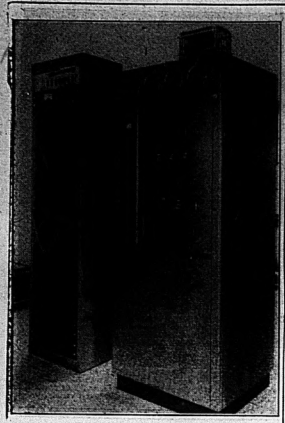
a welcome to the group of independent radio stations for whom we are Canadian Sales Representatives

HORACE N. STOVIN

& COMPANY

RADIO STATION REPRESENTATIVES

TORONTO MONTREAL WINNIPEG

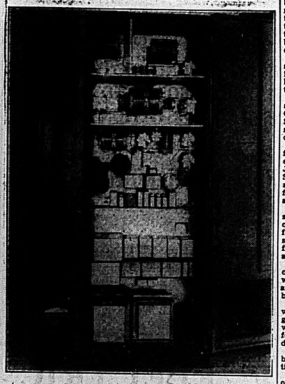


TRANSMITTER AND SPEECH INPUT BAY

The signal from the studio is fed to the transmitter building into the speech bay (shown on the left) from there to the transmitter proper over feeder lines to the tower and on the air.

TRANSMITTER INTERIOR

This view shows the interior of CJBQ's modern tranvsmitter, transmitting tubes, components and various metering and tuning knobs may be seen.



BACK VIEW OF TRANSMITTER

This view shows the rear section of the transmitter. At the bottom are power supplies and cooling devices. The upper section shows the separately shielded tuning compartments.

Lovely Lillian Carlyle, whose rich contralto voice is heard regularly on the "Music of Manhattan" program over CJBQ, Monday and Friday afternoons at 3.30 and Wednesday evenings at 8.30 p.m. (Photo from NBC Radio Recording Division).

20,000 Alberta Farmers Vote On Delivery Strike

By KEN METHERALL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Edmonton, Aug. 14—(CP)—A threat of a delivery strike by more than 20,000 of Alberta's 97,000 farmers to back up their demands for what they term "parity prices" hung over Alberta today.

Whether it comes to pass depends on a strike vote now being conducted among members of the Alberta Farmers' Union, a vote in which union officials say early returns indicate an overwhelming majority in favor of withholding deliveries of farm products to market.

Carl Stempfle, A.F.U. president, said the strike might come by Aug. 24 because already one-quarter of the ballots have been returned and A.F.U. officials advanced the possibility the movement might spread beyond the bounds of the union to a much larger number of Alberta farmers.

Strike ballots have been sent to officials of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture and the United Farmers of Alberta and, it was said, organized farmers in Alberta total some 55,000.

Stempfle even expressed hope of drawing support from the 82,000 membership of the Saskatchewan branch, United Farmers of Canada, and from some 2,500 farmers in northern British Columbia around Dawson Creek and Fort St. John.

"We are working in very close harmony with both groups," he said.

In short farmers are asking for immediate establishment of a fact-finding board to determine parity prices which loosely have been defined as "prices which will give the farmer his proportionate share of the national income."

Swedish Paper Wants Explanation Of Ghost Rockets

Stockholm, Aug. 15— (AP)— The newspaper Aftonbladet said yesterday that a "ghost bomb," bursting over a Swedish lake, had nearly caused casualties and criticized military authorities for their failure to explain the nature of the missiles, which have been reported almost daily by observers for the last two months.

The paper said that two persons boating on the lake, located in central Sweden, were nearly hit by the bomb, which burst into many parts.

The paper also reported that a rocket had been observed near Goeteberg by a group of Boy Scouts, who saw the flying missile turn and then return to its original course.

(From Copenhagen came the first report of a "ghost rocket" explosion over Denmark. Erland Jensen, a night watchman in Struer, West Jutland, said he saw a speeding missile, approaching from the northeast, explode with a blinding flash.)

Swedish military authorities said yesterday that they had received no tangible proof that the frequent celestial phenomena observed over the country resulted from foreign experiments with aerial missiles.

In retort Aftonbladet said "it ought to be possible to state whether they are meteors or not, and if they are rockets, one should be caught."

The paper added that if they were rockets and of Russian origin, as has been suggested, there were two possible explanations for their appearance over Sweden:

1. "Sweden is systematically being dotted in on a Russian artillery map."

2. "Sweden is being used as an object of demonstration, directed not at us, but to the big world."

UNPAID EMPLOYEE

Every Congressman is said to be worth at least $7.50 annually to farmers because of the harmful insects it eats.

Deep River Boys Got Start At Famous Hampton Institute

A quintet of fine negro artists make up the group of talented harmonizers known as "The Deep River Boys," one of today's most versatile quintets. Able masters of the classics as well as lads in pure jive, they pride themselves especially on their authentic interpretations of the old negro spirituals, which they believe should be kept pure and sung as they were in the old days—without "swing," with deep feeling and without accompaniment. Probably no similar group today are greater authorities on the native negro folk music, a fact proved by the large amount of fan mail they receive from very old people who have written that it is the first time they have heard some of these old songs for sixty years.

Devoted to Negro Music

The almost fanatical devotion of the Deep River Boys to the true negro folk music is easily explained by their early training. These boys met while attending the famous Hampton Institute of Virginia, which has been the mecca for singers of negro spirituals since 1865 and has done so much to keep these old spirituals alive and on a high musical plane —true contributions to American music. Singing together first in the school Glee Club, the boys were sent out as a quartet on concert tours to raise money for the Institute, later continuing their vocal efforts to help pay their own tuition. Their success turned their eyes toward Broadway.

Discovered and named by Ray Ingram, "De Lawd" of "Green Pastures," this distinguished vocal group builds their arrangements around the exceptionally mellow voice of their bass, Edward Ware from Virginia. The smallest member of the group, he has the biggest voice—a bass which the boys consider second to none. Also from Virginia is Vernon Gardner, first tenor, while George Lawson, second tenor, hails from Prosperity, South Carolina. The baritone, Harry Douglas, is the featured soloist of the group and he comes from Bridgeville, Delaware.

Talented Pianist

Ray Durant, the arranger and pianist, is the fifth member of the quintet, as good a showman as any of the boys and as much a part of their act. Ray studied piano with the idea of teaching. For several years he was pianist with Claude Hopkins' orchestra and later had his own orchestra at the famous old Kit Kat Club in New York. Without doubt the Deep River Boys owe much of their success to the outstanding arrangements which Ray writes to bring out the natural harmony of their voices.

At the end of six years together, these talented artists have scaled the heights in the fields of concert, radio and stage, and their phonograph records are best sellers. They are noted for their unusual and original compositions, ranging from swing to spirituals and their style is strictly individual, their harmonizing superb. Recently they made their debut in big-time vaudeville, proving themselves able showmen and clicking in a big way. Currently they are heard on the networks and in addition find time to visit many of the Army Camps, and to make concert tours from time to time.

Listeners to Station CJBQ may enjoy the work of these outstanding singer on ... at ... o'clock.

Famous Paintings Found in Germany

Berlin, Aug. 14 (AP)—The United States military government Monday announced the recovery in southern Germany of a number of world famous paintings which German troops had stolen from Italy's Monte Cassino. The paintings including Titian's "Danae" Uhd Peiter Bruechel's "Blind Leading the Blind—" have been placed in safekeeping until restitution is authorized.

BONN MOTOR SALES

Presents For Your Enjoyment

OVER

RADIO STATION

CJBQ

EVERY MONDAY, WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

7.45 to 8 p.m.

"Home Folks"

A program of particular appeal to all featuring WADE LANE, the friendly old philosopher and his "Home Folks." Old time songs by popular songsters.

District Dealer For Willys

JEEPS
CARS
STATION WAGONS

DEMONSTRATIONS ARRANGED FREE OF CHARGE

BONN MOTOR SALES

JACK BONN, Proprietor

COR. FRONT AND DUNDAS STREETS — PHONE 270 — BELLEVILLE

HIGH-JUMPER ... once was seen to clear a nine-
A hunted Australian kangaroo foot fence.

WE ARE GLAD TO ADD OUR VOICE TO THE MANY OTHERS WHO ARE EXTENDING A WARM WELCOME TO RADIO STATION

CJBQ

WE WERE PLEASED TO FURNISH AND INSTALL THE INLAID LINOLEUM IN THE RADIO STUDIOS.

McINTOSH BROS.

DRY GOODS

257 FRONT ST. PHONE 802

Radio Broadcasting Station Must Function With Clockwork Precision at All Times; Behind-Scenes Description of Operation

Jane "Jive" and Bobby "Boogie" want the "hep" stuff. When the "cats" drop in for an evening, they want solid sending for the rug-cutting capers.

Pop and Mom, relaxed for the evening want entertainment of a different nature. Where Mom is doing the dishes, Pop tunes in on a sports broadcast, chuckles if the Yanks win a game, follows avidly the batting averages of Larruping Theodore, the Williams of Boston Red Sox fame.

Mom, the evening dinner job done, sits down, takes up the knitting and rests peacefully under the subdued glow of living room lights with the soft music of Abe Lyman's Waltz Time, or the tuneful melodies of light operetta, the lilting rhythms of gay Gilbert and Sullivan, or perhaps the mind-soothing nuances that flow from the fingers of an artist at the console of a mighty organ.

Fun For Old Folk

Grandpop, busy with memories, recalls the gay "doin's" of his boyhood and early manhood with the rollicking melodies of a hill-billy band. Grandma sighs maybe, when those famous tunes of the early eighties, ballads of the Victorian era, float soothingly, out of the loud speaker.

And perhaps too, they recall that in their hey-day of youth, they were forced to go far afield for musical entertainment unless a modified form was available at the fingers of a talented member of the family.

Today, in this modern age it seems so easy. A quick turn of a dial, a moment's wait, and music, sport, the drama, and many other kinds of entertainment come to the family through the magic of the airwaves and modern science.

But what of the other "end" of that loud speaker.

Everyone Busy

It is a vastly different picture to that seen in the comfortable living room, automobile, or wherever one keeps his radio receiver.

For in the broadcasting studio, such as Belleville's new CJBQ, there is no such thing as relaxation. There is no resting from the job. It is a hive of modern activity that at times would make the proverbial bee a bit envious.

But there is no confusion with all this rush and bustle. There is a clock-work precision, no pun intended, to every job done no matter how big or how small.

Every small cog in the wheel of broadcasting must fit perfectly, be timed correctly or that when John Listening Public wants his favorite program, it is ready for him. And it always is.

How It Is Done

A brief jaunt through the modern studios of CJBQ yesterday revealed the mechanical scientific mystery that is radio broadcasting. At least that is what it is to the layman.

In a glassed-in room sat a young man, that strange instrument that has caused many professional and other nerves to quiver, the microphone, in front of him on a table. Subdued music sounded over the workaday "outside" noise caused by the staff busy presenting a program to the listening audience.

The announcer, his eyes fixed to a small light bulb high on the wall in front of him, sat waiting with a sheaf of papers in his hand. The light flashed red. The music died slowly away, stopped.

Then over the air waves came the voice of the announcer, telling his unseen audience the title of the next selection, or in radio parlance, perhaps a "commercial."

Before this studio, is another glass-enclosed room in which, surrounded by many mysterious controls, gadgets and mechanical mysteries is seated another young man.

Nerve Centre of Station

This is possibly, the heart of the studio. It could easily be called the nerve centre for in it is controlled practically every sound that goes out on the air.

From this control room emanates the signals that inform the announcer he is "on the air." Time is regulated down to seconds. Two turntables are placed there, one on each side of the operator. With skilful fingers, the selections are tuned to the exact second when the "commercial" goes on the air, or when the time of the broadcast is up.

The next selection, in transcribed form, is arranged while the first is being broadcast. Timing is so perfect that scarcely has the announcer given the title of the selection than it flows easily out over the airwaves.

Or it can be "faded" to what is known to the studio as "background music."

In another studio is the equipment for sports, news and other forms of announcement broadcasts.

For News Broadcasts

Here at a small table, microphone in front of him, sits the sports or news announcer, reading up-to-the minute news fresh from modern teletype, or local and district items from specially prepared scripts.

Then there is a third studio from which will be broadcast programs of orchestras, bands, the drama, necessitating several members of the cast, or any feature that calls for a number of performing artists.

But the actual broadcasting studios, announcers, control rooms, operators etc., are not all that make the pulse of the station beat.

There are administrative offices, engineering rooms, rooms for the advertising staff; space where "copy" is written.

Extensive Library

And, too, there is the library, one of the important phases of the studio. Here in orderly racks, so arranged that they can be procured in the briefest possible time, are large numbers of wax transcriptions.

Here in musical terms is everything from Schubert to the Harmonica Rascals. Classical music, semi-classical gems, the opera, operettas, modern "jive" and "sweet" music, famous military bands, instrumentalists, in fact everything in the world of music.

Every transcription is catalogued in such a manner that it can be located in a few seconds. The library is further evidence of the perfect timing and co-ordination that is so necessary to the successful operation of the modern broadcasting studio.

CJBQ is definitely one of the better small radio stations. It is modern in every respect, has an efficient, competent staff, and with, without a doubt contribute much entertainment and enjoyment to those within its listening radius.

A. McLEAN HAIG

A. McLean "Mac" Haig, former President of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce and a Past-President of the Rotary Club of Belleville is the Director of Belleville's "Voice of the Bay of Quinte," CJBQ. This popular business man came to Belleville from Campbellford in 1934 and served in the City Council as an alderman for three years, 1938-39-40. He enlisted in the RCAF in September 1940 in which he served for over five years.

Famed British Author, Writer, H. G. Wells Dies

London, Aug. 14 (Reuters)—H. G. Wells, 79, famed British author of science romances and political writings, died Tuesday.

Mr. Wells' secretary told a reporter that the author had died peacefully at 4 p.m. He had been in failing health for a "considerable time."

Mr. Wells' fame grew with his popularized versions of science and history—both of which he boosted into the "best-seller" class. Along with 90-year-old George Bernard Shaw and Rudyard Kipling, he was hailed on both sides of the Atlantic as a member of the "big three" of modern English literature.

Mr. Wells had 39 publications to his credit, ranging the fields of sociology, political economy and romance. His "Outline of History" had mark in best sellers in Britain and abroad, was translated into almost every living language.

RONALD GRANT

A man with considerable experience in "Little Theatre" groups in Montreal, Ronald Grant is one of CJBQ's operators. "Ron" is a veteran of the RCAMC and calls Kingston home.

CHIEF ENGINEER

A graduate in Honor Science from the University of Toronto, John B. "Buck" Buchanan is CJBQ's chief engineer. On graduation from the Toronto "Halls of Learning", Buck enlisted in the RCAF as a "radar mech." After serving in this capacity on Canada's west coast for over two years, he reentered to pilot training and received his "wings." He was discharged from the service in March, 1945. "Buck" calls Warkworth home and received his early education there and at Campbellford.

One of the finest old time orchestras in the district, the Rhythm Ranch Riders are heard over CJBQ, Monday through Friday, at 6.30 in a quarter-hour of old time and modern music, played just the way you like it. The members of the group are all soloists in their own right and the program each night will feature a solo number by one of them.

Charlie Tilbrook, a veteran with over five years of overseas service to his credit is the man with the piano accordion. "Chuck" was in charge of an Army Entertainment Unit for a time and on one after transferring from the RCA and his playing was heard by the troops in Italy, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and the United Kingston.

Freddy Stone and his "fiddle" need no introduction to the people of Belleville and district. Before enlisting in the Navy, Freddy toured Canada and the United States with "Rusty" Ruben and his Ranch Boys. Freddy will saw off the "squares" in grand style on the Rhythm Ranch Rider programs.

"Johnny" Lloyd, the man with the bass fiddle, also needs no introduction to the Belleville and district residents. Johnny has had years of experience with the "dog-house" and also plucks a mean solo on the banjo. He has played several engagements with George Wade and his Cornhuskers.

Walt Taylor strums the guitar and also gives out with the odd song with the Rhythm Ranch Riders. Walt too, has had lots of experience and is a valuable member of the organization.

Lovely Barbara Diment will also be featured regularly with the Rhythm Ranch Riders. The programs will, as far as possible, be of an all-request variety.

PROFITABLE POACHING

Elgin, Scotland — (CP) — Poachers make a £100 ($400) a week selling salmon and trout from the Earl of Moray's stretch of the River Lossie, says the Elgin Angling Association.

LISTEN TO . . . .

"IN HIS STEPS"

Presented For Your Entertainment By

FARRAR'S FURNITURE STORE

EVERY SUNDAY

8.30 — 9 p.m.

Over Radio Station

CJBQ

A half hour dramatization of one of the most widely read books, Dr. Sheldon's stirring novel of the same name, starring Gayle Gordon.

We extend congratulations to CJBQ. We were pleased to furnish some of the furniture for the offices of the radio station.

FARRAR'S FURNITURE STORE

BELLEVILLE — TRENTON

PINKSTON

FUNERAL HOME

PRESENTS

EACH SUNDAY

(Before Church)

OVER RADIO STATION C J B Q

"House of Dreams"

10.00 to 10.15 A.M.

and

"Your Hymns and Mine"

10.15 to 10.30 A. M.

Congratulations to CJBQ on Their Opening

ELECTRICITY . . .

● The proper electric wiring is essential to a radio station for consistent broadcasting. . . . That is why we are proud that we were chosen to do this work at Radio Station CJBQ. All

TECHNICAL WIRING BOTH IN THE STUDIOS AND TRANSMITTER STATION

WAS DONE BY

MR. NORMAN HARDWICK

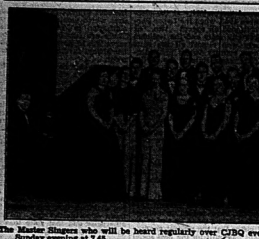
OF OUR STAFF

● We would also like to extend our congratulations to CJBQ along with our best wishes for the future.

FOR ALL ELECTRICAL WORK IT'S

FINKLE ELECTRIC

334 Pinnacle Street Phone 2050



The Master Singers who will be heard regularly over CJBQ every Sunday evening at 7.45.

366-Mile Fence Keeps Dingo Out of Aussie State

Sydney, Australia (CP)—The wild dog, known as a dingo here, is one of the most destructive pests with which Australian farmers have to contend.

Usually brindle-coated, and slightly larger than a sheep dog, he is a cunning and deadly sheep-killer, and is found throughout the country districts of Australia.

Vincent Lopez, whose fine orchestra will be heard over CJBQ every Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 11.45 in "Nola Means Lopez."

Experts say that dingoes' remains are found in isolated regions suggest that they were in Australia before the advent of the Australian aboriginal thousands of years ago.

The destruction they cause among sheep is typified in these two instances. On one New South Wales sheep run recently, dingoes killed 100 valuable sheep in four nights; in Queensland, they reduced one flock from 31,000 to 17,000 in 12 months.

The dingo has become so much of a pest that all state governments offer a bounty for each dingo scalp. In New South Wales, the government pays $10 a scalp, while Queensland and South Australia pay up to $5 a scalp.

The dingo is killed usually either by poison or shooting. Six thousand ounces of strychnine are do their way from Britain to aid the dingo hunt in Queensland, where 20,000 have been killed in the past nine months. In South Australia, 417,000 dingoes have been destroyed in the past 13 years.

In New South Wales, the government has given the lead to other states in dingo prevention measures by constructing a special wire fence round most of its borders to keep the pests out.

The fence runs for 220 miles along the New South Wales-Queensland border, and for 146 miles on the South Australian side. It costs $40,000 a year for upkeep, which is paid by the state government and farmers. It is kept under constant supervision by a team of overseers who use automobiles and horses for this job.

If there were no fence, experts say, hundreds of thousands of dingoes would enter New South Wales and repeat the story of 1912-30 when 19,000,000 sheep in the western districts had no sheep because of their depredations.

Quits Teaching For Race Tracks

Regina, (CP)—A school teacher turned race horse owner and trainer is Jeanine Moore of San Fernando Valley, Calif., who has just completed a successful running of six of her stable at the Regina Exhibition.

Miss Moore has been training horses after finishing them in various parts of the United States including Santa Anita, Hollywood Park and Chicago for the past ten years. This is her first visit to Canada.

She says racing is in her blood because her family have been interested in the sport of kings for generations. Her father, born in England, is at her California home looking after the rest of her string.

It is more than a year since she last saw the San Fernando Valley and she doesn't expect to be home until December. While on the road she bunks close to her horses and superintends all work on the ponies.

Most successful of her horses in the Canadian circuit is Tom Wenk who won at Saskatoon and placed at Regina. Tom Wenk is an offspring of Morovich which won the Kentucky Derby in 1922.

She has enjoyed her visit to Canada and her only complaint is that Dominion racing purses are hardly big enough to cover expenses of transportation.

India to Improve Civil Milk Supply

New Delhi (CP)—To improve the milk supply of India's civil population, the quartermaster-general in India has offered to place the resources of the Military Farms Directorate at the disposal of civil administrations in this country.

He has also expressed his willingness to implement such of the dairy farm schemes of the provincial governments as they may wish him to undertake on their behalf. In addition he is prepared to establish milk production units, each of which will be handed over, when running smoothly, to the governments concerned.

MARINER'S SCOURGE

In early modern times, scurvy was the deadliest of diseases on long sea voyages.

PRAIRIE WHEAT AGAIN GOES OUT BY "BACK DOOR"

Historic Churchill Re-Opens for First Shipping Season Since Start of War

By DAVE McQUEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Winnipeg (CP)—With a history that dates back to the time when fabled adventurers first sought the Northwest Passage, the Hudson Bay seaport of Churchill, 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg, still awaits its first real chance as a major outlet for Canada's grain shipments.

Machinery at Churchill's 2,500,000 bushel elevator, idle during the war, will hum again this summer as between mid-August and early September six British ships pick up 1,800,000 bushels of wheat stored there since 1939. Once again, men will try to prove that Prairie grain should take the shortest route to Europe—the "back door" through Hudson Bay.

Ranged against them are the icebergs of Hudson Bay and the short shipping season lasting usually, from late July to mid-October. Uncertain weather and direction stations have aided sailors in their fight against ice and numerous lighthouses cling to the fog-wrapped shores of Hudson Straight, but marine insurance men, still convinced the route is hazardous, have set their rates high.

A further difficulty is that of obtaining west-bound cargoes for incoming ships.

Treeless Seaport

Bleak, treeless Churchill is one of the strangest of world seaports. Its natural harbor, the estuary of the Churchill River, is excellent, but the inhabitants— there were 444 in the last census—protection against screaming winter gales. Their small houses are huddled scattered along the rocky streets, are stout and warm.

Long a Hudson's Bay Company trading post, Churchill did not gain the status of a seaport until the completion of the 510-mile Hudson Bay Railway in 1929, at a cost of $33,000,000. Agitation for the railway started as early as 1880, but the job was marked-five to private interests, and construction wisely undertaken by the federal government in 1911.

Fort Nelson was to have been the terminus, but as the rails crawled spasmodically over the muskeg, the engineers changed their minds. The terminus was then diverted to Churchill, 125 miles further north.

Work on the dock and elevator installations started in 1928, and was completed three years later at a cost of $13,000,000. Added to this was $6,000,000 already spent at Port Nelson.

Vessel movements started in 1931, when two ships picked up 500,000 bushels of grain. Seven ships called the next year, and the number rose to 15, in 1934.

Early Accidents

Two accidents marred the early trial period. In 1932, the steamship Bright Fan struck an iceberg and sank. The officers later were charged with negligence. In 1936, the Avon River went aground in Hudson Strait, and had to be beached. Ninety-eight others made the trip safely, and 20,000,000 bushels of grain had left the port by 1936.

Now the port again faces its traditional problems—weather, ice and insurance rates; but newly-developed navigation aids, radar especially, may make a great difference.

Members of the Hudson Bay Route Association urge that Churchill be given a real chance to prove its worth. They say western farmers could save millions of dollars by shipping their grain over the Bay route.

Backed by Prairie governments, the Association calls for a western board of management to operate the port and promote its development.

HUGHES LEAVES HOSPITAL

Los Angeles, Aug. 13—(AP)—Howard Hughes, multi-millionaire manufacturer and movie producer, has left Good Samaritan Hospital, attendants said yesterday, more than a month after his critical injury in the crash of an experimental plane he had built for the army. Hospital attendants said he went home Saturday. Dr. Verne Mason, his physician, said he was "improving."

The Jesters, popular vocal trio, who will be heard in "Jesting with the Jesters" over CJBQ every Sunday at 2.45 p.m.

Baptist Head May be Woman

Toronto, (CP)—For the time in his history a lady is in the woman in the chair when the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec reconvenes next year. She is Mrs. J. Edgar Bates of Toronto, who was elected vice-president at this year's convention and stands in line of succession to Thomas Camelford of Dunnville, Ont., this year's president.

Mrs. Bates is the daughter of Rev. Dr. H. R. Hall, late pastor of her husband, Dr. J. Edgar Bates, is also an enthusiastic Baptist worker.

A precedent for Mrs. Bates' elevation was set this year when Mrs. Louis Swain of Rhode Island, president of the Northern Baptist convention of the United States and stepped it successfully through a series of controversial debates.

BURIED TREASURE

A soap factory was found in the ruins of Pompeii, Italy, buried by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in 79 A.D.

YOUNG PREMIER KEEPS DOOR OPEN TO FOREIGN PRESS

By LARRY ALLEN

Warsaw — (AP) — Poland's youthful premier, Edward Rydz-Smigly (Smeegly), has one of the smallest governmental jobs in Europe today as he battles for his country's reconstruction and internal security but he's never too busy to see the foreign press.

Affable and hard-hitting in expressing his convictions, the premier has always left the door open for foreign correspondents to approach him in marked contrast to some other members of the provisional regime.

A press conference with Colonke-Moraweki never fails to produce news. If he has none of his own to hand out — and he usually has — then a question or two often produces the best story of the day. He knows the answers and he unhesitatingly gives them.

He always speaks in his native language, although he knows others, and usually he speaks so clearly that anyone who has even a little knowledge of Polish can't have much trouble getting the cardinal points.

The premier usually holds his press conference in the long spacious palace in Krakowski Przedmiescie, Warsaw's Fleet Street and almost within a stone's throw of the Vistula.

He's always ready for anything and he answers any questions submitted in advance. That's one reason why the answers he gives often make front-page news.

Rydz-Smigly, a veteran of the Polish-Russian war, is one of the strongest personalities in the country. He is largely responsible for the present military preparedness of Poland. Just tell the truth. And come and see me . . . you want to know something.

That's in marked contrast to Foreign Minister Beck, Polish Premier Slavoj Skladkowski and Marshal Edward Rydz-Smigly.

He is frequently seen United States Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane and all other envoys and keeps up to the minute on what's doing here and why.

After he has submitted himself to a barrage of questions from 20 or 30 foreign correspondents that sometimes lasts for as much as two hours, and when he knows he has satisfied the thirst for news, the premier usually asks the newsmen into an adjoining palace room for a glass of wine.

Like his own people, the premier has a reputation for straight-speaking, unquestioned honesty and hard work.

He has gained the respect of correspondents to whom he says "You do not always have to say nice things about Poland. Just tell the truth. And come and see me . . . you want to know something."

That's in marked contrast to Foreign Minister Beck, Premier Slavoj Skladkowski and Marshal Edward Rydz-Smigly.

He is frequently seen United States Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane and all other envoys and keeps up to the minute on what's doing here and why.

After he has submitted himself to a barrage of questions from 20 or 30 foreign correspondents that sometimes lasts for as much as two hours, and when he knows he has satisfied the thirst for news, the premier usually asks the newsmen into an adjoining palace room for a glass of wine.

Like his own people, the premier has a reputation for straight-speaking, unquestioned honesty and hard work.

He has gained the respect of correspondents to whom he says "You do not always have to say nice things about Poland. Just tell the truth. And come and see me . . . you want to know something."

That's in marked contrast to Premier Slavoj Skladkowski and Marshal Edward Rydz-Smigly. He seldom sees the foreign press.

$100,000 CHINCHILLA SHIPMENT

Hamilton, Aug. 13 (CP) — A shipment of chinchillas, said to be the finest ever to enter Canada and valued at more than $100,000 was cleared through customs at Hamilton airport Sunday. They will be used as foundation breeding stock.

INFANT PLAYMATES KILLED

East Howle, Durham, England, (CP)—Margaret Humphrey, 17 months, and Arlene Dewer, 19 months, were inseparable playmates. Both were killed by a train while crossing railway tracks.

TO STATION CJBQ

WE EXTEND A HEARTY WELCOME AND ASSURE THEM OF AN HONORED PLACE IN THE COMMUNITY.

TO YOU —

WE INVITE YOU TO LISTEN TO OUR PRESENTATION OVER THIS STATION EACH

Friday at 5.30 to 5.45 p.m.

OF

"Family Doctor"

SPONSORED FOR YOUR ENJOYMENT BY

LATTIMER'S DRUG STORE

PHONE 67 — MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

THE HOUSTON CO., LIMITED

Welcomes

RADIO STATION CJBQ

We feel justly proud in having a part, to play in the building of Radio Station CJBQ. This milestone in the progress of Belleville is one that should enjoy a front rank position among the many progressive steps that this city has made in the past years.

We supplied the lumber, insul brick siding, tentest, mill work, flooring, glass, lumber, etc., for station CJBQ, and despite shortages are able to give prompt service on almost all building needs.

The completion of Radio Station CJBQ will bring added enjoyment to radio listeners of Belleville and district. With the newest technical equipment radio reception in this part of the country should be greatly improved.

TUNE TO 1230

FRIDAY EVENINGS

8 to 8.30 p.m.

FOR OUR RADIO PROGRAM

"HOLLYWOOD OPEN HOUSE"

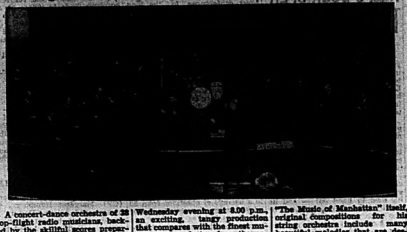
THE HOUSTON CO., LIMITED

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIALS

ST. PAUL STREET BELLEVILLE

A Perfect Blend of Musicianship And Arrangements--Music of Manhattan Orchestra



A concert-dance orchestra of 32 top-flight radio musicians, headed by the skillful scores prepared by 12 outstanding arrangers give to "The Music of Manhattan" heard over CJBQ Monday and Friday afternoons at 2.30 p.m. and Wednesday evening at 8.00 p.m., an exciting, tangy production that compares with the finest musical groups featured on the station's best programs.

Such outstanding musicians as Roland Dupont, Chauncey Morehouse, Ed Vito, Max Hollander and many others make up the personnel of what pianist Sammy Kaye terms "a musician's dream band." And the sparkling arrangements that these men play are written by Paul Weirick, Tom Bennett, Buddy Williams and other top-notch scorers who give this orchestra a character all its own.

Planned Selection

Moreover, the selection of numbers is carried out according to a pre-determined pattern. Aware of the trend toward more melodious music during wartime, Director Norman Cloutier has given assistance to such numbers. He attributes this upswing in tonal conservatism to the absence at war of so many young swing fans, and is watching closely the reactions of returning servicemen to see if former jitterbugs may have revised their tastes in music.

Cloutier considers American popular music not only an integral part of our national character but perhaps the easiest medium for helping veterans return to the familiar pattern of normal living.

Cloutier is a busy composer in his "spare" time. In addition to "The Music of Manhattan" itself, original compositions for his concert orchestra include many beautiful melodies that are destined to be among America's first choice.

Xavier Cugat, the Rhumba King, was discovered by the eminent tenor, Enrico Caruso, who heard the young violinist play in Barcelona, Spain, and brought him to America as his assisting artist for concert tours. Their association lasted for more than five years, until the death of the world renowned Caruso.

Xavier Cugat and his fine orchestra will be heard over CJBQ every Sunday evening at 10 o'clock in a fifteen minute program of Latin-American rhythms.

Arleen Francis, who plays the role of Betty in the "Betty and Bob" program to be heard Monday through Friday at 10.45 a.m. "Betty and Bob" is one of the oldest daytime serials and one of the most successful. For almost eight years this program was sponsored on the networks by General Mills, Inc., and its ability to attract an audience may be gauged by the fact that it was used as the opening program on General Mills' "Gold Medal Hour", a daily broadcast grouping for 15 minute shows. This always popular serial drama is resuming after a summer vacation with a complete refurbishment of script, plot and cast.

EXPLOSIVE GOD

The word volcano comes from the name of Vulcan, Roman god of the fiery elements.

PARTIES EXPECT BITTER CONTEST IN NEW ZEALAND

Election This Year to be Straight Fight Between Labor and Nationalist Opposition

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

Auckland, N.Z. (CP)—Although New Zealand's first post-war election is not to be held until near the end of the year, most of the candidates have already been selected and campaigning has begun in what promises to be one of the most bitterly-fought campaigns in the Dominion's history.

It is clear the election will be a straight two-party contest between Labor, the party now in power, and the National Party opposition. There is no sign of a third party likely to have any influence on the result.

Although side-issues may be introduced, the election will be fought on the simple basis of whether, after 11 years uninterruptedly in office, the Labor government's program of socialization has retained the confidence of the electors.

This very popular group of hillbilly musicians led by Arthur Fields and Fred Hall will be heard on the "Home Folks Frolic," a special program presented over CJBQ every Saturday at 7 p.m. For years Fields and Hall have been leading exponents of hillbilly music and have composed many selections of their own which they use in "Home Folk Frolic." Their most popular number is "Eleven More Months and Ten More Days" which started the craze for that type of song in both America and Europe.

Labor came into power in 1935 on one of the greatest political landslides the country has ever known. Before that election the party had only 34 seats out of the 80 in the House of Representatives. In the 1935 poll, the Labor Party won 53 seats, the National Party, 30, and minor parties and independents, 8.

This victory was repeated in 1938 when Labor won 50 seats, Nation 25, and minor parties and independents, 5. A swing away from Labor in the country was largely responsible for a reduction of the majority at the election in 1943, when the Labor Party retained all except two or three city seats and the National Party won almost all the seats where country voters predominated. Present state of the parties is Labor 44, National 32, Independent 4.

Prime Minister Peter Fraser has told his supporters quite frankly that the coming election is critical. "The next election will prove the Waterloo of either the Nationalists or the Labor Party," he said at a meeting of coal miners. "There is a grave danger that Labor may lose votes and even lose the election. This could be prevented, he said, by maintaining production and keeping industries functioning.

Say Poverty Abolished

Labor party speeches in the final session of the present parliament have tended to enlarge on the claims made by the prime Minister that the present government has built up the best social structure in the world, that "no other country has abolished poverty as we have," and that New Zealand is the first country to give effect to the policy of full employment.

Speakers stress the achievements of the social security program, the state housing program and rehabilitation measures. They predict a progressive easing of taxation and forecast big benefits should the government be permitted to put into effect its 10-year program for opening up the country and developing industry.

The National Party program includes support for many measures which would be termed socialization in most countries. There are few out-and-out conservatives in New Zealand, which has always favored social experiment.

Its speakers have criticized the Labor Party's efforts to avoid inflation. They maintain that taxation relief is long overdue and that only by giving an adequate incentive can production be increased. The National Party claims that its policy would reduce costs, increase production and prevent inflation without reducing wages. It holds that the government is upsetting the country's balance by attracting men from farms to industry. Nationalist members have given pledges to retain many of the government's measures such as social security and state housing, but maintain that there must be more opportunities for private enterprise and that state tenants should be permitted to buy their houses which at present can be held only on a rental basis.

NOT TO BE OUTDONE

More sets of twins are born in Canada than in the United States per million births, but more sets of triplets and quadruplets are born in the U.S.

ESSENTIAL PART

The telephone instrument represents only six per cent of all the plant and equipment needed to provide a customer with telephone service.

LISTEN TO

"Parents Magazine Of The Air"

A friendly program designed to be of service to all parents, with a wide range of features on child welfare, care and training, dramatized for your listening pleasure.

PRESENTED EACH

Wednesday—10.30 to 10.45 p.m.

OVER

Radio Station CJBQ

WE WOULD ALSO LIKE TO EXTEND BEST WISHES TO RADIO STATION CJBQ ON THEIR OFFICIAL OPENING

ROBLIN'S DAIRY

HOMOGENIZED MILK — BUTTERMILK
CHOCOLATE FLAVORED MILK — CREAM

194 COLEMAN STREET — PHONE 1598

CHRISTIAN'S ELECTRIC & HARDWARE

BELLEVILLE — OSHAWA

Presents For Your Enjoyment

"MODERN ROMANCES"

A program of particular appeal to women, featuring a series of complete human interest dramatizations of every day romances. An all-Canada syndicated program.

OVER RADIO STATION CJBQ

1230 ON YOUR DIAL

EVERY MONDAY, WEDNESDAY and FRIDAY

11.15 to 11.30 a.m.

CONGRATULATIONS TO CJBQ

We offer our heartiest best wishes to Radio Station CJBQ. . . . Christian's have enjoyed your patronage for a goodly number of years—in Belleville 4 years, Oshawa 15 years. In appreciation of this patronage we take pleasure in presenting the above program which we hope you will enjoy. Your comments, praise or criticism of our program will be appreciated.

CHRISTIAN'S

ELECTRIC & HARDWARE

BELLEVILLE — OSHAWA

Conservatives, C.C.F. Members Renew Opposition to Budget Proposals Dealing With Mines

Ottawa, Aug. 14 —(CP)—Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. members in the Commons yesterday renewed their opposition to budget proposals dealing with the taxation of gold mines and co-operatives.

The debate arose on second reading of the bill aimed at implementing taxation measures in the budget.

The Progressive Conservatives argued that mining taxation, coupled with the recent revaluation of the Canadian dollar, would force many low-grade gold mines to close while C.C.F. speakers contended that the proposal to tax co-operatives was aimed at putting these organizations on the same basis as ordinary business enterprises.

Rodney Adamson (PC-York West), said the adjustment of the Canadian dollar to parity with the United States dollar was a "blow" to Canadian manufacturers and basic producers.

He said Canadian sales abroad had to overcome "some very serious handicaps" and the 10-per cent discount on Canadian funds had been of assistance to Canadian producers. Lifting of the dollar to parity would only hamper them further.

Means Loss of 10 P. C.

Turning to the effect of parity on Canada's mining industry, Mr. Adamson said it had meant to low-grade producers the loss of 10 per cent of the gross value of their product and this sometimes meant to the loss of their entire profit.

He suggested the government study the relief granted in South Africa, where a "differential tax" was in operation for gold mines with only low-grade ore. Under this system, the depletion allowances increased as the grade of ore increased.

Mr. Adamson said that the situation was serious for the mining industry because when low grade mines closed they did not reopen. Hundreds of miners had left Ontario.

"Hundreds that never should have opened," interjected Acting Finance Minister Ladoucet at Stade Pins.

Joseph Bradette (L-Cochrane) said he too wanted to make a plea on behalf of the gold mining industry.

Lack of manpower had affected wartime production of the mines. When more manpower became available Finance Minister Ilsley had urged the mines to go into full production.

To meet this request many of the mines had dipped into reserves. Now they were faced with losses because of the change in the value of the dollar.

Referring to arguments that good markets for gold existed elsewhere, he said facts had shown that Mexico and Argentina actually would pay less than the Canadian market. India, a possible buyer, was in the sterling area.

He said the government's new measures of relief were a step in the right direction, although he would like to see a further increase in the depletion allowance.

T. J. Bentley (CCF—Swift Current) turned the debate to the taxation of co-operatives and said the bill was aimed at stamping out these organizations. The bill was so complicated not even a lawyer could understand.

POPULAR CLASSIC

Birmingham, England—(CP)—Mendelssohn's Hebrides Overture was the most popular selection when 18,000 Birmingham school children were asked to vote on a town hall concert program. Only two classes mentioned jazz tunes in their choices.

Playgrounds Built Where Bombs Fell

London (CP)—Scores of London's grim scars of war areas where German bombs turned whole rows of houses into a mass of tangled debris have been cleared and transformed into well-planned playgrounds where small children, especially in crowded districts, play safely and happily under the supervision of trained mothercraft nurses.

Mothers working a 30-hour week leave their youngsters at a charge of 20 cents a day. The children play from early morning until sunset in their hearts' content with swings, see-saws, rocking horses and (by daily) still not easy to get to post-war Britain. The daily three meals consist of breakfast (which includes free orange juice), a cooked dinner and tea.

Pleasure Parade

Here it comes—one of the most brilliant radio programs a weary people call for listening enjoyment —"Pleasure Parade" 9:00 to 9:30 every Friday morning, presenting such well-known stars as Vincent Lopez, Kay Loraine, the sensations of the year—Mike Brown and Lillian Cornell. And with such Masters of Ceremonies as Jimmy Wallington and Milton Cross. Also, presented on this same show will be, The Modernaires and Paul Kelly, Irving Miller and his grand orchestra, Bob Kennedy singing the hit songs that so be near than on the stage of Oklahoma. All the latest news from the latest shows. It is one of the greatest musicals ever produced. Remember the time—Friday—9:15 to 9:30 a.m.

TUNNELLING KINGFISHER

Kingfishers generally nest in tunnels in earth banks.

Typical American Town Pictured in Air Drama

Efforts to picture the typical American town, already done on stage and screen in "Our Town" and similar productions, now reach radio in the new "Betty and Bob" serial, which may be heard over Station CJBQ. This shrewd popular serial drama is resuming after a summer vacation with a complete refurbishment of script, plot and cast.

Betty and Bob are now the owners of a crusading newspaper in a typical American city. All the good causes of American life are their causes. Into their lives thrillingly come all the characters and conflicts, all the good and evil, the underworld and the upperworld, the strong and the weak, of a city.

Their newspaper, The Trumpet, is the pulse of the community. Their hopes for American life are the hopes of the great mass of American men and women. Their viewpoint is the viewpoint of the mass. And in Betty and Bob's struggle to achieve for their community the way of life they want they are dramatizing the innermost desires of most Americans.

When the story opens next week, Betty and Bob are returning to their home in the country so that Bob can convalesce from a serious illness. Bob is restless in the country, constantly longing to get back to his paper in the city. Suddenly the news comes that startling things are happening back in the city. There has been a complete and unaccountable change in the city government, the city manager and police commissioner have resigned. Betty and Bob, knowing that these were honest and capable men, realize that the forces of corruption, which they have been valiantly fighting, are behind this ouster.

That's the start of the new "Betty and Bob" plot, eagerly awaited by listeners who have been loyal friends of this remarkable couple for years.

Modern Romances

Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, listening audience of CJBQ will be able to tune to the station at 11:15 to 11:30 and get an all-star cast program which includes some of the biggest names of stage and radio, in the presentation called "Modern Romances." "Modern Romances" is a compelling, fascinating warmly-human radio dramatizations of true life stories from the pages of Modern Romances Magazine, which has a monthly circulation of over a million copies. All the deep, basic emotions of human existence form the warp and woof of these dramatizations of real people, which make up the Modern Romances.

(What constitutes a good story? A good story, according to the experienced, must have the power to entertain, plus making us more fully acquainted with mankind, deepen our insight, and serve in a kind of experience obtained at second hand.

All this, you will find in "Modern Romances". The series are skillfully written; with convincing dramas which are refreshingly different—each story complete in itself, and with varied subjects to meet all tastes. Many of the finest these dramas, which spotlight present day living and its problems, helpful and inspiring, and with such names as Vicki Vola, Julie Hayden, Carl Frank and many others, it should prove to be one of the top programs presented on any station today.

Songs of Yesteryear

Sunday morning is usually the time we like to sit and relax before our radio, and "Billie over the Radio" is one of the features the following week. In order to help you do this, F. J. Laflin, Mercer, at 165 Pinnacle Street, bring to you "Songs of Yesteryear," a 15-minute program at 10:30 Sunday morning, designed to help you enjoy the quietness and peace of the Sabbath Day; gathered in the nostalgic mood the old reed organ, a male quartette sings the songs of "days gone by" while Ma and Pa recall the happy years of their youth. Ma hails and darns. Pa's fingers run idly over the keys, and the quartette joins them in some of those fine old numbers such as:

"I was seeing Nellie Home".
"After the Ball."
"When you and I were young Maggie."
"Just a Song at Twilight."

The mellow tone of a 'cello assists the organ in providing a rich background for the harmonious blending of voices.

BANANAS SAVED CHILD'S LIFE

Pittsburgh, (CP)—The life of little Lucille Tkach is still all wrapped up in bananas—but it may not be too long before she can "take 'em or leave 'em."

At present she is taking them —10 pounds every week.

Six years ago, doctors despaired of the life of the sickly, undernourished child who could't digest food because of a rare coeliac disease. Then they discovered the banana diet.

Now a sturdy, yellow-haired youngster of 8, Lucille is beginning to fulfill predictions that she will outgrow the malady.

ANIMAL RADAR

The cries which a bat emits to direct it in flight vibrate at 50,000 cycles a second, far above the range of the human ear.

Occupation Troops Don't Like Japan

Christchurch, New Zealand —(C)—New Zealand troops who have been on occupation duties in Japan do not like the country, the people nor conditions there. When a draft of 5,000 of these, who have been relieved by a new volunteer force, arrived here they were full of complaints, some bitter, some good-humored and some merely resigned.

They complained of lack of clothing and equipment, of unsanitaries, lack of provision for sport and recreation, and the fact that even when they did get leave there was little of interest to see and do in the war-ravaged part of the country where they were stationed. They did not like the "spit and polish" regimental discipline that prevailed.

The only real amenity we had was beer, and it was not even very good beer," one man declared.

A sharp rejoinder to what he termed "irresponsible some complaints" was made by Brig. R. L. Stewart, who recently returned to the Dominion after relinquishing the post of commander of the force. Brigadier Stewart said he did not claim that the conditions of the troops in Japan were perfect, but it was well to keep in mind that they were not on a holiday.

"I can only say that anyone who complains of too much spit and polish in an occupation force is a bad soldier," he added. Admittedly there were shortages in clothing issues, but that was due to delays and the military authorities had no control over it.

Pictures were provided six nights a week, Brig. Stewart said. There was cricket, tennis, athletic sports, softball and swimming, and three rest camps at beaches. Conditions would improve every week and the relief force would do "for the benefit of the spade" work done by the original troops.

We Welcome The Opening Of Station

CJBQ

"The Voice of The Bay of Quinte"

As one more asset to a thriving city and district and extend a warm wish for their success.

May We Invite You To Tune In to our Program

EVERY THURSDAY
FROM 11.00 a.m. to 11.15 a.m.

"Songs Of Good Cheer"

SPONSORED BY

MILES AND STEWART
390 FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE PHONE 702

STEWART-WARNER-ALEMITE
CORPORATION OF CANADA LTD.
BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO

WELCOMES RADIO STATION

CJBQ

TO BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT

As Belleville's only manufacturer of fine radios, we know the place the radio holds in any community, and with the opening of this fine new station, it furthers Belleville's growing progressiveness in the radio field.

Every Success to CJBQ "VOICE OF THE BAY OF QUINTE"--1230 on Your Dial

Tune in With Any Stewart-Warner Radio And Hear the Difference

A NAME TO REMEMBER
STEWART-WARNER RADIO

The GEORGIA SALON

Welcomes C J B Q

BELLEVILLE'S LATEST EDITION TO HER GROWING COMMUNITY AND ONE THAT WE HEARTILY WELCOME

FOR YOUR LISTENING PLEASURE OVER CJBQ WE OFFER EVERY

MONDAY AND THURSDAY,
AT 1.45 TO 1.50 P. M.

"Donald Novis Sings"

SPONSORED BY

The GEORGIA SALON
226 FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE PHONE 1601

Harry Horlick, Famous Conductor, Braved Parental Wrath to Pursue His Musical Career to Success

Harry Horlick, whose orchestra is heard in an appealing program of waltzes over Station CJBQ, was the youngest son of a family in Cherniyov, Russia. His elder brother was the conductor of the Symphony in Tiflis and the idol of young Harry. His father had tried to dissuade him from becoming a musician because his older brother, although the conductor of a symphony, was not making much money. Because of this feeling Harry was not given the violin that he had asked for time and again. At the age of six, with the will and the desire that fired him he made a violin with his own hands.

Having practised time again out of sight of his father, Harry mastered this home-made instrument. Then it happened that his brother paid them a visit. Harry took him out in the fields and played for him on his violin. The tears streamed down his brother's cheeks. "You are wonderful," he said. "You shall have a real violin." The elder brother finally convinced the father that Harry was gifted in the field of music, and when he returned to Tiflis, Harry went with him.

Fought Against Turks

Five years later Harry Horlick graduated from Tiflis Conservatory, then one of the best up Russia. But he had hardly received his diploma when the war broke out and he was rushed by the Imperial uniform. He fought against the Turks until himself that will not soon be forgotten. For years "Harry Horlick and His A. & P. Gypsies" were one of the outstanding musical programs on the networks and served to establish his popularity. Since that time he has appeared as guest conductor on many other shows, always with success. Although after album of his waltz records have been sold as rapidly as released.

Two Last C.W.A.C.'s Overseas Returning

Ottawa, Aug. 14—(CP)—When Maj. Mara Ada Morrison of Montreal and Pte. Beatrice O. Charles of Halifax land at Halifax Aug. 15 there will be no more members of the five-year-old Canadian's Women's Army Corps serving overseas.

The corps, which celebrated its birthday yesterday, at one time had more than 2,000 girls overseas and a total enlistment of 21,514. Now there are only about 1,500 left in the service and this remnant is due for demobilization by the end of September. A few CWACS stationed in Washington will be their discharged by the end of August.

C.W.A.C. enlistments included girls of 10 nationalities including Chinese, Negroes and Canadians born of German extraction. More than 500 American girls crossed the border to join the ranks while other recruits came from the far Canadian North to enlistment centres.

Members of the corps overseas received 62 awards for exceptional service and 16 others were mentioned in dispatches. At home two C.W.A.C. other ranks received commendation for bravery during an accidental fire.

HARBOR CRAFT FOR CATARAQUI NAVAL BARRACKS

Kingston, Aug. 14 —(CP)— Two 65-foot harbor craft arrived here Monday by flat car from Halifax. The ships were put in the water immediately on arrival and are expected to be running by Wednesday. Each carries a crew or three and from 20 to 30 passengers. The craft are attached to H.M.C.S. Cataraqui Naval Barracks here.

Horace Heidt and His Musical Men Most Versatile of Air Entertainers

Horace Heidt's phenomenal success in music is merely a matter of simple arithmetic! Heidt added variety and showmanship, multiplied novelties and vocal stylings and added the best collegiate musicians from campus surroundings and dividend specialty solos among the boys. It all adds up to one of world's best bands.

The outfit's boast the versatility of the Musical Knights. Their literary ranges through well-sung choral arrangements of "Ave Maria" to creditable swing versions of such standards of "Stompin' at the Savoy." Heidt has assigned trumpets in "Carnival of Venice," to "Old Black Magic." With 14 instrumental men and endless varieties of vocal combinations, Horace Heidt has practically unlimited musical resource at his disposal.

Early Interest in Sports

He was born in Alameda, California, May 21, 1903. His early interest was athletics—not music. Father encouraged his sports activities, but mother insisted on some musical studies. Horace took piano lessons.

However, young Heidt came home from Culver with a collection of athletic trophies, for which he added to considerably at the University of California with his all-round ability in boxing, baseball and football. It was during a tailor pigskin fray that Horace fractured his spine. Once out of the hospital, he faced the future divorced from the sports field.

Heidt solved this problem by forming a band of campus musicians and making his debut as master of ceremonies. Success was hard emerged from orchestra pits to win further acclaim. Heidt's Pontiac and Lucky Radio commercials quickly followed, and the Musical Knights were in spotlighting in the orchestral world.

Chalk Bowling Spots

Among the choice booking spots Heidt has played are the delights have been the Cafe de Paris at Monte Carlo, Les Ambassadeurs in Paris; Kit Kat Club, London; Chicago Theatre in Chicago; Sun Angles' famed Coconut Grove; and the select Bowman Room on the Biltmore in New York.

The Heidt organization has just added a movie to their list of triumphs titled "Pot O' Gold," in which Heidt, with or from the familiar network radio program of the same name which features the Horace Heidt crew. Equally well known to America's listening millions are the Heidt program treasure hunts and "Name Band Night with Horace Heidt". All three are the sparkling and original ideas of this show-minded maestro.

Sergt. Heidt, there already is a Mrs. Heidt, and a pretty little lady she is, too.

New Service Helps Youth Select Jobs

By KAY BEX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto —(CP)— Girls and boys between the ages of 18 and 21, hesitating on the threshold of the business world, are being helped over the hurdles of finding their first job by the Youth Employment Centre operating here under the National Employment Service.

Interest in the centre, which was opened two months ago, has already spread to other cities throughout Canada and plans are underway to develop similar bureaux in Montreal, Winnipeg, and possibly in Vancouver.

It was largely through the work of B. G. Sullivan, Ontario Regional Superintendent of the N.E.S., and of Miss Mary Eadie, acting supervisor of the centre, that this effort to direct Canadian youth into suitable employment was initiated. They saw that not only are young people at a loss to know how to begin when looking for their first job, but also with the return of Canada's war veterans, girls, who during the war took the place of men in banks, stores and offices, found themselves unemployed with the coming of peace. Boys who had dropped out of school to work in war plants found themselves with neither sufficient education nor experience to take worthwhile jobs.

One of the problems of the centre is to help re-educate these young workers to the fact that the high salaries they drew while their workers were only temporary. At the centre they are told that starting into the business world in normal times usually means beginning at the bottom and working up.

Given Good Advice.

"We attempt to give these young persons self-confidence and send them to jobs for which they are suited," said Miss Eadie. "Each youngster is interviewed by a counsellor well equipped to give advice on any subject."

Physical handicaps such as poor eyesight and deafness also are considered and such boys and girls are sent to jobs to which they can most easily be fitted.

Miss Eadie said she hoped eventually young people would be taught in school how to approach a prospective employer. She said for the most part they are timid and many of them seem shy of telling what they are able and like to do in work at.

From the fact that fewer girls have registered at the centre than boys it would seem the girls for the most part tend to continue longer with their education than the boys.

At the present time, Miss Eadie said young people generally are approaching the problem of leaving school "very thoughtfully," and several of them have visited the centre to confer with her before deciding definitely to forsake the classroom for the office.

India to Aid Flying Clubs

New Delhi, (CP)—Aircraft and engines have been loaned and assistance in preparation of landing grounds, hangars and workshops is being given by the government of India to flying clubs in India.

This has been done in recognition of the need for healthy private flying activities to encourage aviation in the country generally and to provide basic training for the pilots required for civil air transport.

The active flying clubs are at Bombay, Madras, Calcutta, Patna, Delhi, Lahore and Karachi. Later in the year, the government proposes to form flying clubs at other centres as well.

Tired Cyclist Swaps 'Horses'

Durban, South Africa, (CP)—Billy Snaiman, who has completed 40,000 miles of travel in Africa on a bicycle, arrived in Durban from his home in Springs, Transvaal—on a motorcycle. He says riding a bicycle makes him tired.

He started touring seriously in 1936 when he rode through Natal, Zululand and the Transvaal. In 1937 he toured South-West Africa and the Cape Province.

In 1939 he rode from Capetown to Uganda, where, he says, "the war caught up with me". In Mombasa he was mistaken for a suspicious person and was locked up in Fort Jesus for 45 days.

On his release he joined the East African forces as a dispatch rider and saw service in Abyssinia. He now is busy planning a motorcycle trip round the world in 1947. He wants to go the United States, Australia, New Zealand and Europe taking educational films on his movie camera.

FAKE FUNNELS

The smokestacks on some modern ships do not really discharge smoke — they are camouflage devices such things as dog kennels or ventilation shafts.

Phone Messages Taken by Robot

London, (CP)—A gadget that will answer the telephone, and take messages 30 minutes long has been developed in Switzerland, says a reporter reaching London.

The inventor claims that if no one is home when the phone rings his gadget answers, gives the tenant's name and asks the caller to speak. The message is then recorded.

The tenant need not go home to hear the message. From an outside number, it is said, he can ring his own house and utter a code word; the gadget then reads him the message.

In case a caller may be surprised by the robot, it waits 12 seconds to give him time to recover, then asks again for the message. The inventor says the device can be connected to six ordinary telephone and firms using it in Switzerland pay .£6 (£24) a month.

In Britain attachments to telephones are forbidden by the post office unless they have first been approved by post office engineers.

Tacit Acceptance of Approaching Internationalization of Trieste Accepted by Yugoslav Officials

By WILLIAM B. KING

Trieste, Aug. 14 —(CP)— Tacit acceptance—at least temporarily—of the impending internationalization of Trieste has come from Yugoslav officialdom, from the communist party and generally in the area and from Trieste's quiet man-in-the-street. Only the Italian government and the vociferous Italian Nationalists who led recent riots in this disputed port city, have shown no signs of concession.

Yugoslav officialdom frankly says that it will not give up the fight for eventual annexation of Trieste, but Marshal Josip Broz-Tito has promised that he will not send his country into "adventures."

Even more interesting was a recent conversation, with a spokesman for the Communist party of Venezia Giulia.

The spokesman, Giuseppe Gusciscich, a prominent party member, said: "The program of the Communist party of the Venezia Giulia region will be co-operation with the international government under the single condition that the city and the area are cleared completely and effectively of the Nazi-Fascists."

Gustinich said the Communist party would not urge acceptance of three main points they consider vital:

1. Prevent all persons brought here by Fascism to replace native-born Trietsini from voting for local administrators or from holding jobs in such administration.

2. Restore to their previous positions all persons whom the Fascists dismissed, deported or imprisoned because of their nationality or political beliefs.

3. Give an equal voice to Slavs and Italians in the city government.

AIRCRAFT SCHOLARSHIPS

Southampton, England—(CP)— Two scholarships for training in aircraft design and engineering have been founded at University College here as a memorial to R. J. Mitchell, designer of the Spitfire.

THE
McFARLAND CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
GENERAL CONTRACTORS

Present

"THE NEWS"

OVER RADIO STATION C J B Q

MONDAY TO FRIDAY

6.15 to 6.30

CONGRATULATIONS
TO
RADIO STATION CJBQ

With the completion of work at station CJBQ we feel that we have accomplished a first class job. It was essential that first class workmanship be obtained to allow for quality and looks plus sound proof effects, and we are proud of the fact that we were chosen for the work.

FOR GOOD WORKMANSHIP
SEE
SAM McCRORY
GENERAL CONTRACTOR
ALL TYPES OF CARPENTRY WORK AND CEMENT WORK
STIRLING PHONE 364

ENTERTAINMENT!

We have enjoyed your patronage during the past year, and in appreciation have arranged that Superior Cleaners should provide for your enjoyment 3 15-minute shows each week over CJBQ. We hope you enjoy our presentations and we welcome your suggestions regarding these programs.

Every Monday — 6.45 to 7.00 p.m.
Memories of Hawaii
Ever popular Hawaiian music presented for your enjoyment.

Every Wednesday — 6.45 to 7.00 p.m.
The King's Men
Radio's Royal Quartette, which you have heard on the Fibber McGee, Marx Bros., and Ed Wynn national programs in a presentation of popular, novelty and classical selections.

Every Friday — 6.45 to 7.00 p.m.
Romance and Melody
A program of romantic and popular numbers featuring Jules Lande and his singing violin.

WE WOULD ALSO LIKE TO EXTEND CONGRATULATIONS
TO
Radio Station CJBQ
ON THEIR SPLENDID RADIO SET-UP

SUPERIOR
CLEANERS AND DYERS
EXCLUSIVE "DRAX" CLEANING
210 Pinnacle, Phone 752 142 Front N, Phone 3090

HOUSEWIVES HELP GATHER MANITOBA VEGETABLE CROPS

By ENID NEMY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg — (CP) — It looked like an unbeatable combination of unbeatable weather and a labor shortage. Finally, after a dry spell that lasted weeks, it rained. All that remained was the help situation.

The market gardeners of Manitoba appealed to the provincial agriculture department. An inconspicuous advertisement was inserted in the newspapers asking for 200 women to work in the gardens. Their overwhelming response saved the vegetable crop.

You can see them daily if you happen to be driving in northern Winnipeg. Their bright kerchiefs and straw hats bob up and down as they patiently weed and hoe the vast acreage. They work in cohorts or slacks or men's overalls. When lunchtime rolls around, they reach for their kits and eat their sandwiches in the field.

R. R. Richardson, director of the Manitoba farm help service, calls them "invaluable."

"Normally, we have school children helping out during their vacations. This year we had a dry spring and heavy frosts left market gardeners didn't know whether they would have a crop until the end of June when the rain came. It was then that helpers were needed and weren't available."

The majority of the women once lived on a farm although they now are city housewives. They prepare the family meals before they leave in the morning and cleaning is done after their return at night.

They have two reasons for spending their days under the burning sun. The principal one is to supplement the family income. Average wage is about $4.50 daily for the 10-hour day. The second reason is that they realize if they do not help out, the family meals are likely to be without vegetables.

Peter Demaar of the Co-operative Vegetable and Potato Growers' Association, says in some respects the women have proved far better than men.

"Men can handle machines better but when it comes to the little jobs that require patience, I'll take a woman. They are more careful and proficient at weeding and hoeing."

That work is far from done. Later on there will be harvesting and the women intend to see the job through.

Thomas L. Thomas, world famous baritone who will be heard on the Bateman Motor Hour over CJBQ every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Also featured on the same program will be such outstanding artists as Vivian Della Chiesa, Mary Lewis and Frank Munn.

The Bateman Motor Hour is designed for all lovers of fine music.

Australian House Broadcasts Rouse Wrath of Citizen

By WILLIAM STEWART
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Canberra, Australia, (CP) — Since parliament went on the air in Australia, discussion has arisen over the question of providing means of reply to private individuals to whom critical references might be made in the broadcast speeches of Members of Parliament.

The matter was raised after Charles Morgan, Labor Member for the new South Wales constituency of Reid, asked questions in the House of Representatives about Jeffrey Blaxland, Liberal candidate in Reid, who will oppose him in the forthcoming general election.

Blaxland immediately approached the Australian Broadcasting Commission which provides the facilities by which Parliament is broadcast throughout Australia and asked for an opportunity to reply to the Labor Member whose question, to which Blaxland took exception, had gone over the air.

The A.B.C. informed Blaxland that at the moment it felt no obligation to give him a right of reply but that the whole matter was to be discussed later on.

Prime Minister Chifley was asked in the House what could be done for persons who felt they had suffered as a result of Parliamentary broadcasts and he promised his consideration.

No Solution Seen

Solomon Rosenwar, Speaker in the House of Representatives, said he could see no practical way of providing for broadcast replies to statements broadcast from Parliament Park. He would inquire further.

Information was sought from New Zealand where Parliament has been broadcast for 10 years but word came back that the problem has not arisen there. Prof. James Shelley, New Zealand Director of Broadcasting, said Members of Parliament "think twice before they challenge a person's reputation."

When the A.B.C. took up the question at a meeting in Sydney it decided "no practicable plan can be devised which might meet the situation."

Chairman R. J. F. Boyer declared the broadcasts had been undertaken by the A.B.C. by direction of Australia's parliament, the commission served merely as the medium by which the proceedings at Canberra were put on the air. He pointed out that the A.B.C. had neither discretionary powers nor responsibility regarding matter that was broadcast.

Discussion was brought eventually to a temporary close by Speaker Rosenwar who is chairman of the Parliamentary Committee on Broadcasting. He said that for the time being the committee would take no action to provide means of reply to aggrieved persons but would recommend that the new committee formed after general elections go over the whole question.

In the meantime, information given in the Senate whose sittings also are broadcast on a schedule alternating with that of the House of Representatives revealed that the cost of equipping Parliament for broadcasting was $17,000. Cost of keeping Parliament on the air is $300 a week.

The broadcasts now go by shortwave to Australian occupation troops in Japan.

Outstanding Maori Is Anthropologist

Auckland, N.Z.—(CP)—Doctor, soldier, diplomat, minister and one of the world's leading authorities on ethnology, Sir Peter Buck is one of the outstanding men produced by New Zealand's native race, the Maoris, in recent times.

Sir Peter, who is known among the Maoris as Te Rangihiroa, qualified as a doctor at Otago University and became a health officer among his own people. They soon acquired such a trust in him that they insisted on dropping his work to represent them in Parliament for one of the four Maori seats.

He quickly came to the fore as a politician and became minister for the Maori Race and Cook Islands and Minister in charge of the public trust. As a speaker he showed typical Maori eloquence and he often surprised the House by the interesting turn he could give to even the dullest routine subjects.

His research work throughout Polynesia in the past 20 years had made him probably the leading authority on Polynesian ethnology and anthropology. His native tongue is fluent and skilled in many of the Polynesian dialects and his understanding of native psychology has enabled him to get far more information from them than a European research worker could hope to get.

FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY IN PARIS STORE

Paris, Aug. 19 —(Reuters)— Three women died in hospital today and two other persons are reported from hospitals, wounded after a shooting affray which began in a Paris store. In a fit of jealousy, a 26-year-old Arab shot down his mistress, owner of the store and also fired on two friends who tried to protect her. He fled from the shop shooting indiscriminately until police, using Tommy-guns, shot him down.

EMERGENCY POLICEMEN

Johannesburg —(CP)—A chain of SOS call boxes is to be established in the Johannesburg central area to enable the public to act as emergency policemen in the drive against crime. These call boxes will operate on a system of direct communication by microphone, with police headquarters.

ACADEMY SITE CHOSEN

New Delhi, India —(CP)— The site for India's National War Academy at Kanakvasla Lake near Poona now has been approved. When completed, the academy will house 2,400 cadets, as well as teaching staff and medial staff, with their families.

HOME SWEET HOME

Sydney, Australia —(CP)— After travelling 2,000 miles by horse and buggy in search of a home, a man and woman and their four children have been given temporary accommodation in a military camp no longer in use.

ARTFUL DODGER

London —(CP)— The skipper of a fishing smack, just in from the North Sea, told of dodging five waterspouts in one storm. "A black cloud over Dogger Bank divided itself into five. Though cut with a razor" and the five spouts developed.

New Zealand Wives Would Stop Divorce

Wellington, N.Z. — (CP)—New Zealand wives of United States servicemen whose husbands are seeking divorces in American courts made representations to President Truman and to Prime Minister Fraser of New Zealand, for facilities to defend the actions.

In reply to a reputation of wives which put their case up to him, the prime minister expressed deep concern and sympathy. He gave an assurance that the government would do everything possible to assist and would consider means of providing legal aid in the United States.

It would also make further strong representations for shipping facilities for those who could not get permission to land in the United States.

TWO BIBLES—$20,000

London — (CP) — The first edition of the printed English Bible known as Coverdale's Version, published in 1535, was sold to Mr. Maggs, and the Great "1549" Bible to Mr. Robinson, of Pall Mall, each for $10,000 at Sotheby's, London.

CONGRATULATIONS
TO
CJBQ
We are proud that we were chosen to do the entire PLUMBING
AND EAVES TROUGHING
TO BUILDING
CHAS. L. HYDE & SON
LIMITED
292 Front St. Phone 38

CONGRATULATIONS
TO
CJBQ
Belleville's Voice of the Air
FROM
JOHN LEWIS COMPANY

John Lewis Co., was privileged to install the modern and dependable heating plant in the new radio station. This automatic, oil fired, hot water system is designed to provide complete heating service in a location where uninterrupted operation is essential.

Throughout Belleville and the surrounding area an impressive array of installations in homes and prominent buildings bears eloquent testimony to the engineering ability and workmanship of John Lewis Co. Scrupulous care to ensure the finest materials and craftsmanship is the reason why heating equipment and other supplies distributed and installed by John Lewis Co. are the ultimate in service and satisfaction.

QUALITY PLUMBING AND HEATING SERVICE SINCE 1849
JOHN LEWIS COMPANY
265 FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE, ONT.

"Presented for Your Enjoyment"
OVER
CJBQ
EVERY SATURDAY — 8.15 TO 8.30 P.M.
THE NATIONALLY FAMOUS MUSICAL PROGRAM
"Time Out"
with
ALLEN PRESCOTT • FELIX KNIGHT
TED STEELE and the NOVATONES
CONGRATULATIONS
TO
RADIO STATION CJBQ
PROGRAM SPONSORED BY
Montrose Dairy
55 Front Street Phone 374

Consul's Secretary Wants to be Model

Montreal (CP)—To be a model is the ambition of green-eyed, titian-haired Montrealer Doris Quinn, private secretary of a vice-consul in the local office of the Consulate General of the United States

She's not dissatisfied with her present position, on the contrary she likes it very much. But like most pretty 19-year-old girls she is looking to the future—and she would look pretty on the cover of your favorite magazine

Born in Boston, Doris obtained her early education in Waltham, Mass. She came to Montreal with her family in 1939 and resumed her schooling at St. Paul's academy where she took a course at the Notre Dame Secretarial School. On completing it she stepped right into her present job.

Doris is a great wrestling enthusiast and well she might be, because she's the daughter of Edward "Vesuvius" Quinn, wrestling promoter.

She once had a fling at tap-dancing, but never wanted to make it a career. Occasionally she flies to Boston or New York and loves it. Saturday night you can see her around the local better-known dancing spots.

TWO-CENT MEALS

New Delhi — (CP) — A meal for only one anna, (two cents) consisting of chappatis, (wheat cake) dal, (pulses) and iced water, will be one of the amenities provided for workmen of the N-W Railway mechanical workshops, Lahore, at cooked food canteens which will be opened by the railway administration recently.

YOU'RE INVITED.....

TO ATTEND OUR

OFFICIAL OPENING

Thursday, August 15th - 8 p.m.

COLLEGIATE AUDITORIUM — BELLEVILLE

"Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

CJBQ

BELLEVILLE

To The Public:

Radio Station CJBQ goes on the air, officially, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. We have been broadcasting, as you know, all this week, but our official opening will be held at the Collegiate, and we are inviting you to come and hear us.

We want you to feel that CJBQ is YOUR radio station, and we plan to present a variety of programs that will appeal to all . . . world wide news . . . symphony orchestras . . . popular music . . . dramas . . . local news . . . local talent . . . local events of importance. CJBQ will bring them all to you. We are anxious to provide the entertainment you want, and so we welcome your criticism and also your praise. Listen to CJBQ then phone or write us your opinions of our presentations.

Yours truly

W. H. Stovin

Manager.

Program

The Program Will Include Numbers by:

THE BELLEVILLE MUNICIPAL BAND

Under the Direction of Ross Hunter

THE THREE BLUES — Local Trio

MISS ETHEL SMITH — Accompanied by LEONA RIGGS

THE RHYTHM RANCH RIDERS

Official Guests Will Include the Wardens of Surrounding Counties and the Mayors of all District Towns and Others

PROGRAM STARTS AT 8 O'CLOCK SHARP!

AUDIENCE MUST BE IN AND SEATED AS DOORS WILL CLOSE AT 7.45 P.M.

RADIO STATION

CJBQ

BELLEVILLE

"Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

1230 ON YOUR DIAL

DIAL 1230 ON YOUR RADIO

Probabilities

Lake Ontario Region: Friday, cloudy. Not much change in temperature. Low 60. High 78.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	79	53
Year ago	72	55

Weather: Fair

Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 15, 1946

3c Per Copy, 18c Per Week

REGULATIONS ON NEW CAR SALES RESCINDED NATIONAL REGISTRATION ENDS IN CANADA

Wartime Measure Helped to Solve Manpower Issue

Prosecutions For Violation Of Order Will be Dropped

Ottawa, Aug. 17 (CP)—National registration has been discontinued effective today, Labor Minister Mitchell today informed the Commons. Further prosecutions would not be entered into for infractions of the registration regulations and pending cases will be dropped.

The Order-in-Council abolishing the registration also provides for dropping charges for violation of security mobilization regulations. The number of men not located by March has been reduced to 1,853, out of a total of 1,820,811, all dealt with under mobilization regulations, but almost all these accounted for were men who had left the country, died, or who were registered under two names. The number of actual deliquents was placed at 1,000.

Wartime Necessity

"I am happy that we have reached the day when we are able to dispense finally with these registration and mobilization regulations, and I am sure that the admirable manner will agree with that sentiment," Mr. Mitchell said. "These measures were vitally necessary for war purposes, and every Canadian, over many of our manpower difficulties, but they represented one of the fairest and most equitable administration which a democratic public tolerate will ever expect, but which the same public very properly feel is not in accord with the peacetime machinery necessary in the government of a free people."

The minister recalled the circumstances under which the registration had been framed in 1940 to enable Canada to make the most efficient use of her manpower. With the assistance of volunteer registrants, there were completed by 7,862,920 persons under the War Services Department. In March, 1944, the registration was transferred to the Labor Department.

8,000,000 Changes

Since 1940 the job of keeping the records up to date involved about 8,000,000 changes, including new addresses, marriages, deaths, corrections and new registrations.

Information yielded by the registration was used for military call-up, procurement of skilled workers for war industries, and indexing technical personnel, listing doctors and nurses, identifying individuals for a variety of purposes and listing certain foreign nationals of Allied origin available for military service under Canada's control.

The minister expressed appreciation to postmasters and the registration staff and to those who served on and with mobilization boards.

In addition to their official uses registration cards found wide use for identification purposes. Police organizations had urged that they be retained as a means of identification. The certificates were used by the police also in identifying holders of liquor ration books and also were frequently accepted by banks to identify persons cashing cheques.

Weather Synopsis

at 7.30 a.m.: Over the states of the Atlantic seaboard, southern Quebec and the eastern part of southern Ontario weather is clear this morning. Over the Lake Superior southwestern Ontario and the upper Great Lakes region it has become overcast with widely scattered showers and a few thunderstorms reported. In the southern flow of air over our forecast regions temperatures were higher yesterday than on the previous day but will not show much increase because of the cloud cover moving in from the west.

Mysterious Projectiles Seen Over Helsinki

Helsinki, Aug. 15 (Reuters)—Mysterious projectiles, believed to be similar to those which have recently passed over Sweden, were observed over this Finnish capital yesterday. One is believed to have exploded over Tampere (Tammerfors), a town 100 miles north of Helsinki where workmen saw a blinding flash in the sky and heard a loud explosion. No fragments of the projectile have been found.

Number of Polio Cases in Dominion Totals 443

(By The Canadian Press)

One new death from infantile paralysis and 22 new cases of the disease were reported yesterday to bring the Dominion's totals this year to 443 cases and 31 deaths.

A survey by The Canadian Press showed 15 new cases in Montreal, four in Quebec city, two in New Brunswick and one in Manitoba. The death was that of a 11-year-old girl in Gloucester County, N.B., who had been ill a week and died the day a doctor was called.

Totals by provinces, showing the new cases now under treatment, with deaths in brackets, are as follows:

Nova Scotia, 16 (1); New Brunswick, 12 (1); Prince Edward Island, nine (3); Quebec, 264, (30); Ontario, 80 (7); Manitoba, 11; Saskatchewan, five; Alberta, 21; British Columbia, none.

Four cases have been reported cured in Nova Scotia.

In Quebec City, Dr. Berchmans Paquet, director of the Municipal Health Bureau, asked authorities to obtain a Biddle. The Biddle absorbently took the crippled vessel in tow.

The writ also claimed remuneration for the salvage service gallantly rendered to the S.S. Farmer by the American Ranger and Biddle, it was alleged, wrongfully dispossessed the Alcadian of her salvage prize.

FEDERAL FOOD PLAN ANNOUNCED AFTER LONG STUDY

New Beef Contract Under Negotiation Between Britain And The Dominion

By GEORGE KITCHEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 15— (CP)—Government policies in the sale and export of wheat, beef, bacon and milk formed the basis of discussion in the Commons yesterday as the estimates of the Agriculture and Trade Departments came under review.

The policies were questioned—and explained — as Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Trade Minister MacKinnon teamed up to pilot through committee kindred estimates in their departments dealing with products of Canada's farm industry.

In a day-long study of the appropriations, the ministers made these statements:

1. The subsidization payment to western wheat growers on their 1945 crop will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

2. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

3. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

4. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

5. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

6. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

7. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

8. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

9. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

10. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

11. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

12. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

13. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

14. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

15. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

16. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

17. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

18. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

19. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

20. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

21. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

22. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

23. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

24. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

25. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

26. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

27. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

28. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

29. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

30. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

31. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

32. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

33. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

34. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

35. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

36. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

37. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

38. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

39. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

40. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

41. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

42. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

43. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

44. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

45. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

46. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

47. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

48. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

49. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

50. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

51. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

52. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

53. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

54. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

55. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

56. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

57. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

58. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

59. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

60. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

61. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

62. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

63. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

64. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

65. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

66. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

67. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

68. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

69. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

70. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

71. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

72. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

73. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

74. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

75. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

76. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

77. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

78. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

79. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

80. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

81. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

82. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

83. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

84. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

85. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

86. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

87. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

88. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

89. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

90. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

91. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

92. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

93. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

94. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

95. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

96. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

97. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

98. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

99. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

100. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

101. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

102. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

103. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

104. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

105. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

106. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

107. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

108. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

109. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

110. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

111. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

112. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

113. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

114. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

115. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

116. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

117. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

118. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

119. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

120. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

121. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

122. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

123. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

124. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

125. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

126. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

127. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

128. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

129. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

130. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

131. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

132. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

133. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

134. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

135. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

136. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

137. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

138. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

139. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

140. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

141. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

142. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

143. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

144. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

145. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

146. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

147. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

148. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

149. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

150. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

151. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

152. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

153. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

154. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

155. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

156. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

157. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

158. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

159. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

160. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

161. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

162. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

163. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

164. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

165. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

166. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

167. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

168. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

169. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

170. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

171. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

172. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

173. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

174. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

175. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

176. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

177. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

178. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

179. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

180. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

181. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

182. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

183. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

184. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

185. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

186. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

187. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

188. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

189. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

190. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

191. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

192. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

193. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

194. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

195. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

196. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

197. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

198. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

199. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

200. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

201. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

202. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

203. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

204. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

205. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

206. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

207. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

208. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

209. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

210. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copenhagen.

211. Information available indicates that egg will be "considerably higher" than the 16 cents previously estimated while the payment for 1943 will be "relatively lower."

212. A new beef contract is under negotiation with Britain and the final touches may be applied to it when Mr. Gardiner visits the United Kingdom shortly en route to the World Food and Agriculture Organization meeting in Copen

City and District News

SIXTY GIRLS AT C.G.I.T. CAMP

With upwards of sixty girls in attendance the Intermediate class of the C.G.I.T. started their annual ten-day camping session at Mosk Lake today. Mrs. Ray-ner is the Intermediate worker and Miss Wanda Sine is the Camp Mother.

DATES SHANNONVILLE FAIR ARE CHANGED

Originally scheduled for September 30 and 31, the "Little World's Fair" at Shannonville will be held on dates two weeks, 14 fair directors announced today.

The change in date was made in co-operation with officials of the Picton Agricultural Society who found it impossible, due to the canning situation, to hold their fair on any other dates than Sept. 30 and 31. Shannonville directors immediately agreed to change the dates of their fair to those mentioned above.

LARGE QUANTITIES VEGETABLES ON MARKET

Large quantities of red ripe tomatoes were available on the city market this morning with prices getting a slight decline from Saturday levels.

Eleven-quart baskets were quoted at 75 cents with six-quarts offered at 40 and 45 cents.

Potatoes sold at 55 cents the peck and corn from 40 to 50 cents the dozen ears according to quality. Astrakhan apples sold well at 40 cents the half peck with a good quality Yellow Bellflower selling at 35 cents for the same quantity.

Peaches, imported, were offered at from 65 cents to $1.30 the six-quart basket and the last of the season's crop of gooseberries were noted at two boxes for 25 cents. Montmorency cherries demanded $1.45 the six-quart basket with Seedless plums quoted at 60 cents the same quantity. Table squash moved at 10 cents each or 2 for 25 cents with vegetable marrow priced at from 10 cents up. One vendor, with raspberries at 30 cents per box.

CHARGES PENDING AFTER DOG KILLED

A hit-and-run driver struck and killed a black and white dog the property of a Station Street resident named Meeks yesterday.

The vehicle that is alleged to have been the scene of the accident was a large transport, and the driver was later identified by police. The case is being investigated and police said today charges are pending.

SEA CADETS REVIEWED BY LORD ALEXANDER

Swinging smartly along the street in spic and span uniforms the Belleville Quinte Sea Cadet Corps, now in camp at Rotary Island near Gananoque, drew plaudits of a large crowd as they marched in review before Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Canada's Governor-General, at Kingston recently.

The corps rated to be one of the smartest in the island camp was complimented by ranking naval officers and dignitaries following their parade.

CONTINGENT OF WAR BRIDES GIVEN OVER THE LADY NELSON

Included in the list of war brides arriving in Canada on board the S. S. Lady Nelson which is expected to dock at Halifax approximately August 19 are the following:

Phyllis Ada, wife of Sgmn. J. W. Cummings, 207 Station Street, Belleville; Elizabeth, wife of Sgt. K. M. Dickson, Belleville; Pearl, wife of Gnr. R. F. Macaluso, Consecon; Blanche, wife of Cpl. G. B. Faulkner, Stirling; Williamina, wife of Pte. W. R. Bush, Trenton; Ivy Barnes, wife of Gnr. V. J. Johnson, Trenton; Irene, wife of Pte. P. N. Hicks, and Sylvia Ann, wife of L.A.C. C. D. Perrit, Tweed.

SUFFERS INJURY WHILE LOADING BULL

Burton Pearsall, well-known Prince Edward political figure suffered injuries to his ribs and back while loading a bull into a truck the other day.

The animal threw Mr. Pearsall against the side of the truck pinning him there and injuring ribs.

FISHING LINES CAUSE CLOSED CIRCUIT

Fishing lines out of order, the other day at Black River Bridge in Prince Edward County. A telephone company lineman, investigating the cause, found a fishing line wrapped around the wires causing a closed circuit which put the local phones out of commission.

Obituary

LATE WILLIAM A. LONT

The funeral of the late William Albert Lont was held from the Campbellville Baptist Church Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon, a large number of intimate relatives and friends being in attendance. A number of floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Rev. Mr. Lewis of the Campbellburg United Church conducted the service in the chapel and also at the graveside, interment being in Mrs. Allsop Cemetery.

The bearers were Greer Black, Cecil Blakely, Cyrus Fulford, Ivan Humphrey, Harvell Humphrey and Gerald Hall.

MRS. EMMA ROBLIN

(Associated Press)

An aged and highly respected resident of Amelia burg for her entire life in the person of Mrs. Emma Roblin, 94, died here early this Thursday morning. She was born at Wolfe Island 93 years ago, being the daughter of the late George John Yott and Dorothy Davis and as a young girl moved to Prince Edward where she has since continuously resided.

She was a member of Redners-ville United Church and active in the work when health permitted. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Angenora Dustin, Amelia burg, two sisters, Mrs. Peter Baldwin of Kelowna, B.C., and Mrs. Stephen Gibbons, Mrs. Roblin is also survived by one brother, Mr. Orville Landry of Amelia burg. A son, Raymond Roblin and her husband, Lawrence Roblin, predeceased her some years ago.

The funeral arrangement is made elsewhere in this edition.

STIRLING

Thresh 2,642 Bu. Oats in 12 Hours On Sidney Farm

Stirling.—On the farm of Arthur Fryer, Concession 8, Sidney Township, Mr. Stanley Steele threshed 2,642 bushels of grain in 12 hours with a 20 inch Steel engine which is 29 years old and a Dedrick-Wilson, 20 years old. The oats ran from 38 to 44 lbs. to the bushel. Much credit goes to the men, who were all from Glen Ross and whose co-operation and hard work made this record possible.

Personals

Mr. James O'Donnell of Peterborough, is visiting his brother, Mr. J. E. O'Donnell and Mrs. W. Conway.

Mr. Clinton McGee, of Whitby, spent the weekend with his family at Oak Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Terry, of Frankford, visited at the home of Mrs. W. Jones on Sunday.

Mr. Noel Baker is building a new home on the corner of North and Victoria Streets and construction looks to be well under way.

Stirling Band journeyed to Marmora on Sunday to supply martial airs for the Legion Parade and for the decoration of the graves. They also attended the Foxboro Lawn Social on Tuesday evening but due to the heavy downpour of rain were forced to cut their program short.

Sister Mary Bernadette of the House of Providence, Kingston, and Sister Mary Berna of Picton, are spending a few days with the latter's brother, Rev. S. Lesage.

SUMMER COLOGNES

—RUBENSTEEN
Apple Blossom, Bachante Eau $1.25

—HENLEY'S
Country Garden $1.35

—ADRIENNE $1.10
—LORTIES $1.25
—TAILSPIN $1.50
—BALALAIKA $1.50

McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE
Phone 125
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

FLOOR SANDING
New Floor SANDED and FINISHED
Old floors RESURFACED and MADE LIKE NEW
GLEN ELLIOT
326 Dufferin Ave. Phone 3091
218-tfn

READERS DIGEST
7 months for 1.00
including Free Book
Order Your McCALL'S MAGAZINE Before Price Advances
GEEN DRUGS
Motorcycle Delivery

TAKING NO CHANCES

To make sure her husband, Lieut. Jack Schneider, couldn't miss her as he disembarked from troopship, Mrs. Schneider used this sign at the Staten Island, N.Y., pier where the liner docked.

Rev. H. V. Walker and Mrs. Walker are spending a few days in Bath by visiting their son, Rowan Walker.

Rev. Mr. Laverty and Mr. Fred Eggleton motored to Toronto and Hamilton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Duff of Toronto and Miss Dorothy Eggleton and Miss Rose Espy visited Clayton, N.Y., on Tuesday.

BLOOD PLASMA TO STARVATION VICTIM

Doctor of United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration gives blood plasma to a young starvation victim in China's Hunan famine area.

IN MEMORIAM

LOADMAN—In loving memory of a dear father who passed away August 19th, 1947.
Sadly missed and remembered
Of a father dear and kind
And the ones who think of him to-day
Are the ones he left behind.
—Always remembered by Rena, Hazel and grandchildren.

BYRNES STATES

(Continued from Page One)

the last war. Indeed, it is easier to appeal and to thank generous benefactors than years ago in the sweat of one's brow.

There was loud applause in the conference chamber when Mr. Byrnes said in his address that the United States would offer "reciprocal friendship to any nation."

Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia listened intently as Mr. Byrnes spoke in a firm voice, occasionally punctuating it with one hand.

The American secretary praised both Italy and Greece and objected to recent speeches by Russian and other Slav delegates giving the "impression that other countries were more democratic than Italy because they have hastened their views with the Russians."

Cries of "Hear, hear" sounded from the benches of English speaking delegates when Mr. Byrnes referred to Italy's new "democratic government."

Clear Reference to Russia

There was a clear reference to Russia when Mr. Byrnes said that the Soviet treaties permit every country to exploit its own resources and to allow the free flow of goods between countries."

There was ringing applause when he said, "An equal open door policy will not cause exploitation but will bring benefits."

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky pilloried Secretary Mr. Byrnes, declaring the state secretary "carried his discussion backward and not forward," then launched into a diatribe against Hungary.

"We have the right, the legal right, to demand indemnity for our losses," he said, but "the Soviet Union takes a lenient attitude to make it easier for the former enemy states to pay their respective debts."

"One of the reasons for the difficult position of Hungary is the enormous amount of material which was transferred to Germany shd is now in the American zone and has not been returned."

23 Killed in Japan As Train Derails

Hiroshima, Aug. 18 — (AP) — Kyodo news agency today reported 23 persons were killed and 27 injured seriously Tuesday when an electric train derailed on a mountain close to Kinosho village, near here. Fragmentary reports were that the train left the rails and the train sped backward out of control downgrade until it crashed into the mountainside.

First Reaction To U.K. Shipping Plan Unfavorable

By JOHN DAUTHINNE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Aug. 18 —(CP)— Inland transportation interests, facing nationalization under the Labor government's public ownership program, have drafted substitute proposals for co-ordinating freight movements by rail, road, coastal steamship and canal.

First reaction to the scheme, laid before Transport Minister Alfred Barnes for his consideration, was unfavorable. Neither was there any indication that the government will postpone, let alone cancel, submission of a nationalization bill.

These are main points of the industry's plan:

1. The road haulage industry for the first time largely accepts the obligations of a public service, undertaking to provide reasonable and regular services and to accept any traffic offered.

2. Area organizations will be set up to provide road conveyance for goods which cannot be handled by individual hauliers under the terms of their licence.

3. A road-rail tribunal will be established to settle conditions of carriage, establish uniform classifications of merchandise, and correlate road and rail rates schedules.

4. Observance of rates and conditions of carriage will be a statutory obligation on railways and road hauliers alike.

The Times of London said the plans had "a certain quality of other-worldliness," and was at best a "stop-gap," not a real solution.

Actors Favor R. Montgomery

Los Angeles, Aug. 18 — (AP) — The nominating committee by the Screen Actors' Guild (A.F.L.) has proposed Robert Montgomery for president. George Murphy is completing his second term as president. Other nominees are Franchot Tone, Dick Powell and Ronald Reagon for vice-president.

C.P.R. Trainman Instantly Killed In Fall From Car

Trenton (Special)—Joseph F. Blair, 33, of 17 Smith's Falls Ave., Smith's Falls, Ontario, trainman for the C.P.R., met instant death from a head injury on Tuesday night when he fell from the end of the caboose of a freight train in the C.P.R. yards, about 700 feet west of S.D. road on the outskirts of Trenton.

The train had pulled out and was going at a considerable rate of speed. Blair attempted to give the fireman the usual with his lantern indicating that everything was O.K. and he proceed ahead. As he did so the train gave a lurch and threw him off the end of the caboose. It was presumed his head struck a switch stand. The deceased had married but has no children. He had served 4 years in the armed forces, having been discharged last March.

Dr. W. B. Crowe, Coroner, was called to the scene of the accident. A preliminary inquest was held on Wednesday and adjourned to August 31st.

Britons Have Become Docile, Dumb People Thinks M.P. From Edinburgh

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Aug. 18 — (CP)—Sir William Darling, 64, who was a private in the Black Watch in 1914 but who won his commission and eventually became Lord Provost of Edinburgh, clings to the broad ties and high collars of another generation, but his opinions are stated in up-to-date language.

In the House of Commons, where he came as Conservative member for South Edinburgh in 1945, Sir William sits in a seat far down from the chief spokesman for his party but his Scottish voice sounds clearly inside and outside the chamber. At a recent club luncheon, he said the time had come for British people to make a bonfire of their identity cards.

"I say we should throw these things onto a bonfire and announce to the world we have done so," said Sir William, scowling.

"We have become a docile, dumb people — a nation of subservient cattle; a people who take orders and who have or care to have as we are told.

"That is the direct result of the prevailing trend for no personalities. That is the way civil servants like it to be."

No Escape: Philip Noel Baker, Minister of State, has a stream of constituents his friends say was handed down to him by his Ontario ancestors. He says he was in Geneva recently he was invited to an informal-private lunch, the menu included fish, fish and rice cooked in cream.

Mr. Noel Baker, as hungry as any other Briton in a land of plenty, said it would not do to set rice and thus encourage the import of rice and consume a commodity for the lack of which millions in Asia were starving.

The rice was removed and replaced with fried potatoes.

At the end of the meal the proprietress raised the blind. On the public station across the road was a sign reminding Swiss this was only one of their meatless days.

TRUMAN SIGNS INDIAN BILL

President Truman signs a bill creating a commission to handle Indian claims, and in doing so expressed the hope the measure "will mark the beginning of a new era for our Indian citizens."

LISTEN TONIGHT
CJBQ
1230 On Your Dial
GOLDMAN'S BAND
Theme number of the program is "International Patrol" by Belleville's own Reg Hinchey
7.00 P.M. to 7.15 P.M.
Presented by
RIGGS MOTOR SALES
LIMITED
FORD, MONARCH DEALER
224 Pinnacle St. Phone 116

ATTENTION VETERANS
SUNDAY AUGUST 18th
DECORATION—DAY
FALL IN ARMOURIES LAWN 1.45 P. M.
Belleville and Kingston Salvation Army Bands in Attendance
A18-19

BIRTHS

KUNTZE—To Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kuntze, Trenton, on Monday, August 16th, a daughter, Jean Elizabeth, (Jeanie) Registered Nurse, Toronto, at Belleville General Hospital.

DONOGHUE—At Belleville General Hospital, on Thursday, August 19th, 1948, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Donoghue, 144 Lane Avenue, Trenton, a son (Terrence Patrick).

DEATHS

JORDAN—At Belleville General Hospital, on Tuesday evening, August 17th, 1948, Ellen Jordan, beloved wife of Martin Jordan, in her 68th year.
Resting at Carrigan and O'Brien Funeral Home, Bridge Street East, Belleville. St. Michael's Church at 9 o'clock Friday morning. Interment Belleville cemetery. A19-1c

ROBLIN—At her home in Ameliasburg on Thursday, August 19th, Emma, (Nee Davis), widow of Theodore Roblin, age 94 years.
Funeral at the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Home, Everett Street, Belleville until late Friday, when she will be taken to Redner's Church for service at 2.30 p.m. Interment Ameliasburg cemetery. A19-1c

Know the future — Consult
MADAME CLEO
Handwriting Expert
Palmist Card Reader
23 Station St. Phone 2833M
A19-2c

HAY FEVER TIME IS NEAR Get Relief
HAY FEVER DROPS ... 50c
Relieves itching eyes and nose
ALLERCAPS 1.00
HAYTONE 25c, 50c
HAYTONE TABLETS ... 25c
K-V-PAK 1.00, 1.50
ALLERSOL 1.00
CANADA NASAL SPRAY 50c
BEVERIDGE INHALERS 60c
NOSE DROPS 25c
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138
Motorcycle Delivery

SALE!
USED RECORDS
SALE!
Visit KRESGE'S Music Shop. Wonderful assortment of recent hits, at 25c EACH
HIT PARADE FAVORITES
39c EACH
Listen To "HIT TUNES OF THE WEEK" with "Hanie" MacDonald 4.00-4.15 p.m.
FRIDAY, AUGUST 16TH
CJBQ
KRESGE CO.
LIMITED

Dr. C. H. Craig
Announces the opening of an office for the general practice of
DENTISTRY
134 Front St. Phone 3288
Over Shaw's Clothing Store
A18,19,20,23,24

POLI-GRIP
New cream which holds dentures firmly all day
39c 73c
George Pauley
Druggist Phone 105
WE DELIVER

CURTAIN SALE
COTTAGE SETS, scrim, assorted colors, set $1.98
COTTAGE SETS, marquisette, with red 'puff' dot, set $2.25, $2.75
COTTAGE SETS 'MID 42" wide, red, green and blue, set $2.98
Frilled Curtains 3¼ yds. long, scrim, Pr. 98c
Frilled Curtains 3¼ yds. long, plain white marquisette. Pr. $2.98
Frilled Curtains, 3¼ yds. long, rose and blue marquisette, Pr. $3.98
Frilled Curtains, 3¼ yds. long, organdy, white, rose, blue. Pr. $4.50
Frilled Curtains, 2¼ yds. long, marquisette, white with rose, blue or green dot, Pr. $4.98
Curtain Material by the yd., cotton net. Yd. 79c
Curtain Material, by the yd., cotton net. Yd. $1.25
Curtain Material, by the yd., cotton net. Yd. 85c
Curtain Material, by the yd., cotton net. Yd. 69c
Cheese Cloth, could be used as curtain material. Yd. 19c
Ready Made Drapes, homespun. Pr. $4.98
Ready Made Drapes, damask, in wine and green. Pr. $11.95
Special Axminster Rug, 6'9" x 9' wide $67.50
IT PAYS TO SHOP AT THOMPSON'S
196 FRONT ST. ..... (Opp. Victoria Ave.) ..... PHONE 196
Dry Goods ..... House Furnishings ..... Floor Coverings

Mayors, Reeves Ready For Work At Fort William

By WILF GRUDSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Fort William, Aug. 15 (CP)—A crowded three-day agenda, with the keynote address delivered yesterday as the starting point of tomorrow, began today for more than 1200 delegates to the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves meeting here in the Dag-decked civic auditorium.

Less than two hours after the majority of the members arrived here aboard the S. S. Keewatin from Port McNicoll, Ont., the first of the three conference sessions on today's agenda was called to order by Mayor George B. Inglis of Niagara Falls, association president.

Ontario Premier George Drew, winding up a swing-back of the Thunder Bay district, is one of the three provincial cabinet ministers to address the conference. He will be guest speaker at the dinner tonight.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will broadcast the speech throughout the province at 9:30 p.m. E.D.T.

Following Mayor Inglis' presidential address and the presentation by Mayor Stanley Lewis, of Ottawa, of his report as treasurer, committees on resolutions and nominations were to be appointed at the first conference session.

At the second, executive secretary Emily Eakins of Toronto was to present his report on association activities.

Garfield Anderson, mayor and C.C.F. member of the Ontario legislature of Fort William, was the conducted the delegates. He said the meeting represented one aspect of true democracy for among them were representatives of many political and economic creed in Canada meeting to discuss common problems.

STRIKE OF C.I.O.

(Continued From Page One.)

Curran blamed the companies for the strike and said the operators had "indefinited since the beginning that they wanted a strike."

Demands Discarded.

N.M.U. officials said original demands for a 40-hour week had been discarded along with wage increases of 10, 15 and 18 cents an hour for beginners and certain rates and premium and preferential hiring through union halls.

A flat seventeen rate that would vary with ratings was substituted for original overtime demands for Saturday and Sunday work, union representatives said.

H. W. Collins, of Detroit, representative of the Great Lakes Transport Company, said the walkout was "just an organizational strike" and added it broke a contract recently signed which was to run until December.

GROCER SALESMAN DALY'S ORANGE PEKOE TEA

NEW COURSE IN VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

The Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School will offer at the opening of school, Sept. 3, under a special instructor, a course in Agriculture in Grade IX particularly for boys who intend to follow farming as an occupation. This course can lead to a Graduation Diploma.

Parents and students interested are urged to arrange for an interview to secure full information. Telephone 795.

A15,16,17

Public School Kindergartens
Birth Certificate Required

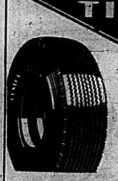
Parents desiring to enter pupils in the Public School Kindergartens are advised that a new regulation of the Board of Education requires that on proof of age, a birth certificate must be provided for inspection by the Principal.

Children may be admitted to Public School Kindergartens who are five years of age on or before Oct. 31, 1946. Exceptions cannot be made.

A15,16,17

TOUGH as they come
SAFE as they're made
PLUS a longer run for your money

DUNLOP
ARMORIZED
TIRES



Here's a real investment for you in safer, money-saving motoring. Dunlop Armorized Tires are reinforced at every point of wear by a special "Armorizing" process that makes for smooth riding and carefree driving, for greater resistance to cuts, shocks, wear and tear. This increased strength and dependability means many extra miles of service.

See us now about Dunlop Armorized Tires with the Famous Safety Cord Construction

DRACUP'S TIRE SALES
181 FRONT STREET PHONE 2343

Hastings County Boys' Calf Clubs Hold Meetings

The three Boy's Calf Clubs met individually within the past month with the Supervisor at each of the meetings.

The Rawdon Calf Club met at Mr. Allan McIntosh's farm, Stoneview, on the evening of August 7th, the Madoc Calf Club at Mr. Philo Harris', Madoc, on August 7th and the Hallowell Calf Club at Mr. Geo. Burkitt's, Frankford, on August 12th.

Besides judging a class of dairy cattle the boys were given a demonstration on clipping and showing of their calf as well as a few hints in the preparation of their calf for show by Mr. Harry Burns, Assistant Agricultural Representative.

The Achievement Day for the different clubs will be as follows: the Madoc Calf Club at Madoc Fair on Sept. 2nd; the Rawdon Calf Club at Stirling Fair on September 11th and Sidney Calf Club at Belleville Fair on September 25th.

A great deal of interest has been shown by the boys in calf club activities this year and it is expected that there will be some very keen competition for top honors in the various clubs.

Freighter Loaded With Steel Tied Up at Lachine

Montreal, Aug. 15 — (CP) — The Canada Steamships Lines freighter Selkirk, carrying 3,000 tons of steel from the strike-bound Hamilton plant of the Steel Company of Canada, lay tied up today in the Lachine Canal where it was halted by a force of several hundred men said to be members of the United Steel Workers (C.I.O.).

The Selkirk, which passed without incident through locks at Cornwall, Cotsau Landing and Cascade Point, was prevented from passing through the first lock of the Lachine Canal by the force, said to be employees of the Canadian Tube Products, General Steelwares and Dominion Bridge.

The vessel, which was to have unloaded part of her cargo at Lachine before proceeding on to Montreal, backed up and was tied alongside the canal only a short distance from her first unloading point.

A spokesman for the steel-workers, who described the demonstration as "spontaneous picketing," said if any Montreal steel plants were used as unloading points, the workers "might walk out in sympathy with the strikers at Hamilton."

Stoppage of the vessel was "orderly and without violence" following an agreement with C. E. Ivy which "no steel is to be unloaded in return for orderly behavior of the steelworkers," Raymond Lapointe, international representative of the U. S. W. A., said.

Crew members were not molested although at one time, the crowd was estimated to number some 2,000 persons.

Russia Expected To Exert Pressure Against Turkey

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP) — The possibility that Russia will begin using military demonstrations soon in an effort to "persuade" Turkey to accept Soviet demands for a share in control of the Dardanelles is receiving serious consideration by diplomatic authorities here.

Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala said today that the Russian troop concentrations along the northern border of Iran might be used against his country in event Britain sought to move into Iran from the south to protect their Agadan oil interests. Ala made clear that in respect to Iran he thinks that the initiative is up to Britain rather than the Russians.

The Iranian ambassador and other diplomatic informants here emphasize tha: increasing prospects for an international upheaval in the Near East will centre around Turkey.

Dieppe Memorial Service to be Held

Hamilton, Aug. 15 (CP)— A Dieppe Memorial Service on the fifth anniversary of the Canadian-led raid on Nazi-held France will be one of the highlights of the weekend reunion of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry. Many former members of the unit will take part in the program which opens Saturday. The joint church parade and memorial service of the regiment and R.H.L.I. Veterans' Association will be held Sunday, Major John Foote, V.C. will conduct the service.

MOVING WEST

M. Rawlinson Limited regularly make up and ship Household Furniture, Commercial Cars to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Calgary, Alberta. Information and rates on request. Write, wire or phone for prompt reply.

Kingsdale 3138

450 Yonge St., Toronto.
MOVERS, PACKERS, SHIPPERS AND STORAGE

Turkey Willing To Consider Russian Desires

Ankara, Aug. 15 (AP)—Premier Recep Peker said last night that Turkey was willing to consider Russian proposals for revision of the status of the Dardanelles, but only in consultation with all the countries which signed the Montreux convention in 1936.

"This is an unchangeable point" the new premier declared in an address to the national assembly outlining Turkey's position with respect to Soviet proposals. The Russian proposals are for a new convention which would be formulated by the Black Sea powers and which would charge Russia and Turkey jointly with the defense of the strategic straits.

"Turkey is loyal to her international agreements and we hold above everything else the integrity and sovereignty of our nation," Premier Peker said. "The Turkish government has taken a note of Soviet demands and is ready to study the 1936 Montreux treaty with interested countries."

The other parties to the Montreux conventions are Russia, Bulgaria, France, Britain, Greece, Japan, Romania and Yugoslavia. Military control of the straits is now vested solely in Turkey.

Premier Peker announced the fully mobilized status of the Turkish army and added:

"We consider this to obtain duty to keep the army ready by air, land or any other means to defend the honor and security of the state. The Turkish state stands on duty."

Premier Peker lauded Turkey's 1239 pact with Britain as the kind of union upon which his government would base its policy in the future.

Labor Contract And Higher Wages Wanted by Union

Valleyfield, Que., Aug. 15 (CP) —R. Kent Rowley, Canadian Director of the United Textile Workers of America (A.F.L.), last night told a mass meeting of striking workers that U.T.W.A. is determined to continue the strike at Montreal Cottons Limited now in its 76th day—until higher wages and a labor contract are obtained.

Montreal Cottons, a subsidiary of Dominion Textile Company, reopened the plant Monday saying a large number of employees had indicated in a recent referendum a desire to return to work. Flare-ups Monday and Tuesday, however, forced closing of the plant for an indefinite period.

Mr. Rowley said present union terms for settlement of the strike were: signing of a labor contract; a wage increase; a 50-hour work-week with 45 hours straight time and five hours on an overtime basis of time and a half; a signed contract before a return to work. He added that would be forwarded to Quebec Minister of Labor Barrette.

During the flareups, crowds estimated to number up to 5,000 persons at times, buried showers of stones through plant windows besides throwing tomatoes at returning workers. Last night's meeting "was orderly.

NEGRO "COLLEEN" WINS IRISH DAY JIG

Fort Stanley, Aug. 15 (CP) — A black-haired negro "colleen" took an Irish jig award, a Scottish piper supplied the entertainment, and a wee lass by name "Kozachok" won baby show honors here today, but it was still a great day here for the Irish yesterday. A cosmopolitan crowd of 3,000 turned "Irish" for the day to caper at the 70th annual Irish Benevolent Society picnic.

Wartime Buildings Doing Their Bit In Housing Shortage

Ottawa, Aug. 15 (CP) — Even when they can't be used for emergency housing accommodation, wartime temporary buildings which mushroomed up all over Canada during the war are doing their bit now in today's battle against the housing shortage.

Careful demolition of wartime temporary buildings and salvage of their materials is one of the lesser-known projects of War Assets Corporation, F. H. Berry, President of the Corporation, revealed today. And the salvaged items are providing a worthwhile contribution to housing projects across the country.

"We take over a surplus camp, take it down carefully and salvage all that's possible — and," Mr. Berry said.

"Since it is generally a priorities officer attached to the camp who allocates the materials to contractors in his district who are building houses. Some also goes to Wartime Housing and the Veterans' Land Act."

Some of the items reclaimed from these demolition projects and their quantities to date are: Lumber, 4,938,761 board feet; composition wall board, 1,209,748 square feet; galvanized water pipe, 32,204 ft.; water intake pipe 32,204 ft.; soil pipe, 6,444 ft.; toilets and tanks, 294; basins, 165; sinks, 65; electric wire 340,508 ft.; reflectors, 2,266; nails, 11,000 pounds; doors screens, doors, 180; windows, 3,614; storm sashes, 963; screens, 1,267; rock wool, 28,-130 pounds.

JACK DEMPEY'S MOTHER DIES AT AGE OF 87 YEARS

Murray, Utah, Aug. 15 (AP)— Mrs. Cecile Dempsey, 87, mother of Jack Dempsey, died at her home here early today. The former heavyweight champion was at the bedside when his mother passed away, having returned from Los Angeles where he had been vacationing.

3 REASONS FOR GETTING THE JAVEX

BACK AGAIN!
Big Economy Pack

Lipson's AUGUST SALE
Summer Frocks

Marvellous value in ladies' summer Dresses, beautifully styled from the finest quality materials, including seersuckers, crepes, slubs. Lovely summer shades. Sizes 12 to 20. 38 to 44.

GROUP 1
Regular Values to $5.95
REDUCED TO
2.88

GROUP 2
Regular Values to 8.95
REDUCED TO
3.88

GROUP 3
Regular Values to 10.95
REDUCED TO
4.88

Sale! 50 Pairs Ladies' Play Sandals

Clearance of about 50 pairs of ladies' summer play Sandals. Suitable for beach or sport wear. Reg. 2.95 value. White and two color combinations. Mostly leather soles, also a few with composition soles. Sizes 3 to 7. Sale, pair,

2.95 Value, Reduced to Pair - - - 1.89

Lipson's

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Ontario Established 1841 — Intelligencer Established 1927
Issued Daily by the
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, LIMITED
Belleville, Ontario, Canada

Subscription Rates:
By carrier in Canada, $6.00 per year.
By mail in Canada, $5.00 per year. $3.50 for six months.
By mail to U.S.A., $8.00 per year.
Member of the Canadian Newspapers Association
Member of The Canadian Press
The Canadian Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news despatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.
All rights of republication of special despatches herein are also reserved.

Western Wheat Crop

Harvesting of the new grain crop in Western Canada has begun at a number of points, the season having been advanced by the extremely hot weather which forced grain to maturity. In a few days it is expected that harvesting will be general over the southern half of the Prairies. Prospects remain fair to good, according to reports, and general rain would be welcome to ensure proper filling out of late-sown crops.

Already the first of the grain of the new crop has started on its way, according to a news story from Montreal. However there were only ten cars in this shipment—mere drops which began moving across the Western Prairies to the lakehead ports. Officials at Montreal say that this is just the beginning of the movement likely to be some 300,000,000 bushels, much of which will be going on consignment to the United Kingdom and Empire Countries. A Montreal story says that as soon as the bins are cleaned of the old crop, the new loads will be moved in for transshipment into lake freighters. The lake movement will get off to a start a week ahead of the usual time for the inauguration of the Fraser River movement eastward. The full movement will not get under way until the middle of September.

News that the wheat is being cut is cheering to the old World where foodstuffs are so badly needed.

Passing of H. G. Wells

An outstanding figure in English literature has gone in the death of Herbert George Wells at the age of 79 years. To no others has been given to write on such so many interests in this age of man, to write prophetically of the tank, the airplane and of atomic power, to write of science. He could tell stories as few writers can tell them. At the same time he wrote works of monumental character of which one has been of interest to millions, "Outline of History," giving in brief a view of the course of the development from the dawn of life on this planet.

H. G. Wells had an unusually wide range of interest. In this respect he was thoroughly modern for he was able to grasp something of the completeness of life as others cannot.

His life was naturally one of intense activity in thought and in writing.

His stories will live as long as possess vitality. His life was one of great success achieved by the merit of wide interest and tireless energy.

Stolen Children of Europe

To help in tracing some of the "lost" children of Europe, who have been driven with their relatives the BBC, in agreement with UNRRA and the British Red Cross, is introducing a series of broadcasts in its Home Service.

Agents from the many children found in the Nazi camps, UNRRA workers last year heard persistent rumors that the Germans had been kidnapping Allied children and hiding them in camps. An intensive drive in Germanising the most robust. It has been ascertained that they took at least 10,000 in this way — from Poland, France, The Netherlands, Belgium, Norway and Czechoslovakia. Those with the poorest physique were sent to laboratories as specimens for experiment.

And about these children the Germans are still lying. In March of this year a thousand were found in the U. S. zone, despite the local Burgomaster's denial says BBC Service.

Twenty Child Centres are tackling the work of restoration. Through the Tracing Bureau many children have been restored to their families, but others are still without known relatives. One group of special interest to the United Kingdom consists of fifty-seven homeless boys and girls who believe they have relations in Great Britain. These orphans could give UNRRA little information but what they could give has been carefully investigated and sent to London.

In the broadcast the BBC is giving the names of relatives and their descriptions at a fixed time weekly, until a call has been made on behalf of each unclaimed child.

Buried Treasures

The hoard of Roman silver found lately near Mildenhall is a reminder of the unprecedented way in which, in this land of ancient history, memorials of the past, great as works of art, or valuable as records of bygone ways of living, are constantly revealing themselves.

It is only some seven years since, in the same county of Suffolk, the Sutton Hoo ship burial gave up its splendid treasure of Byzantine silver and Saxon gold inlaid with garnets. Now comes this latest find, which has lain unsuspected since, near the end of the third century of our era, some Romano-British family, fearing perhaps the onslaught of barbarians, sank its valuables in the edge of the fen, hoping no doubt to retrieve them when calmer times returned.

It is indeed true that you never can tell what will turn up next in this country, and the point is emphasized again by a letter from the City Librarian of Canterbury, who tells of the finding in a long-locked cupboard of twenty-five packing cases containing lost archives of the city, going back to the Fourteenth Century.

Unhappily in this instance neglect and damp have done much damage — a warning which should send any owner of inherited and unexplored boxrooms and cupboards quickly to see whether, by chance, something equally precious may not be housed under equal dangers. In such a search every man's imagination and hopes will be influenced by his own interests.

The collector will long for such a cache of Elizabethan literature, like that once found at Lamport Hall, including that copy of "Venus and Adonis" which was afterwards sold for £15,100. The stamp collector will no doubt hope to be as lucky as the Duke of Buccleuch, whose secretary only the other day chanced, in an old leather writing-case, upon a sheet of 48 two-penny blue stamps of 1840.

Perhaps the searcher's mind may be set on lost manuscripts, such as the Boswell papers found at Fettercairn House some ten years ago, or Trahern's poems, recently found in a barrow on the site of London. A comparatively modest desire might be to come across the drawings of George Stubbs, sold soon after his death and never since seen.

But, whatever a man's tastes, there is nothing so fantastic that he may not dream of its turning up somewhere, in the son of a meadow, or in a locked cupboard, or bricked up in the wall of an ancient house.

Somewhere, maybe, there even exists the letter which Columbus, in danger of shipwreck on his return to America, entrusted to the waves. If its discovery is likely to remain a dream, no harm will be done to the dreamer.

—The Times, London, England.

Hat Symbolism

Where anyone wears his hat is between him and nobody else. It is the mark of the man.

On the back of his head it marks a certain cultivated devil-may-caredom, a humor to look thing over and then either take them or leave them.

On the side of the head the hat is the outward symbol of an inner man who is up to no good; rakish, knowledgeable.

Straight on the head, it recommends the occupant as one who always takes his overshoes with him on rainy days, and who will come promptly for dinner at six — if "recommended" by his hat.

Tipped to the front signifies that the wearer's spirits are out to lunch and may not be back till late afternoon.

—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

"You are a scoundrel, a cheap-skate and a bum," was the eloquent and unminced hand-bill issued by Alderman from war veterans. There will be universal agreement with His Lordship, comments the Ottawa Journal.

Newspaper Facts

The drawing power of daily newspaper classified advertising was demonstrated recently in one metropolitan centre when two 3-line ads about apartments drew 40 answers within an hour of publication, and 362 replies by noon the following day.

Childhood shows the man as morning shows the day.—Milton.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

SOLICITATION FOR MERCY

None ever asks the dead to give
Or seek their service, great or small.
'Tis only on the ones who live
Solicitors for mercy call.

They never ask the idler out.
They know to ask his help is vain.
They scorn the bumpkin and the lout,
And from the miser they remain.

Begrudge it not when asked to give.
It is high compliment they pay.
'Tis recognition that you live,
Are honored, or they'd stay away.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Sand

"Oh, hello—I'm feeling fair and warmish and how are you?"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

August 15th., 1926.

The Rev. H. C. Kenny is spending his vacation with his sisters, Mrs. W. Chase and Mrs. W. Locie at Consecon.

Mr. Edwin VanBuskirk of the Royal Bank, Montreal, is home to spend his vacation.

Mrs. Thomas Thompson, Albert Street, is visiting her parents in Hamilton.

Exactly 24 years ago yesterday, August 14th., Mr. Arthur McGie, well-known merchant tailor, commenced business in this city. He is still doing business in the same location on Front Street.

A gang of men are work on the new Belleville-Peterborough highway.

Mr. John Maldens has left on a two months' business trip to the Maritime Provinces.

Mr. Charles Jeffrey is home from Detroit, Mich., to spend his vacation.

30 YEARS AGO

August 15th., 1916.

Yesterday afternoon in the vicinity of Nigger Island, F. C. Sharpe and W. Hodburne caught seventeen fine specimens of black bass. Four of the fish weighed three and a half pounds each, and the remainder from two to three pounds each. It was one of the best catches of bass made this season.

Mr. Ed. S. James has returned to Detroit, Mich., after visiting his mother and sister here.

Mr. Arthur Hopkins of Syracuse, N.Y., is the guest of Mr. Edward Taylor, at the City Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. James Conlin of Montreal are visiting friends in the city.

A shower-out of the shower which was held recently at the armouries. Fifty pairs of socs were sent by the women of Belleville to the French soldiers.

40 YEARS AGO

Aug. 15th., 1906.

Mrs. James McCourt and Mrs. Jack McCourt are announcing at Grass Point.

Mr. R. C. Lawrence left today for Western Canada and will locate at some place there in the drug business.

Mr. William Moxam and family of Chicago, Ill., are visiting at the home of Mr. James Moxam, Bleecker Avenue.

Messrs. Sam Bongard, W. Haslett and C. Dolan are spending a few holidays at Crowe Lake.

Mr. W. G. Anderson, M.A., of Iroquois, Ontario, has accepted the position of Master in Classics at the Belleville high school and will enter upon his duties in September.

Messrs. Arthur McGie and James H. Reid had excellent sport trawling in the bay yesterday. They landed several fine pike.

The Merchants Bank will be located at the northeast corner of Bridge and Front streets in October next. The building is now undergoing alterations.

50 YEARS AGO

August 15th., 1896.

Mr. W. R. Gordiner, president of the Belleville Electric Company, and former resident of this city for twenty-five years, is renewing acquaintances in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin of Picton are visiting friends here.

Mr. W. B. Goodwin and wife of Bowmanville are guests at the home of Mr. Stanley Lockwood.

Mr. Herbert Hulme of Toronto is home on a short visit.

Mr. Alex McDonnell, formerly of Ponton & Morden's law office, and now of Montreal, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. H. Moon of Madoc was a visitor here today.

Radioactivity

(New York Times)

Though we are going to wait for some time before the Navy issues some findings of the effect of the second atomic bomb on the ships anchored in Bikini, the account that Hanson W. Baldwin has been sending to this newspaper bear out the early expectation that designers of warships and their officers must face a new menace in radioactivity in any future war. Even if a battleship, cruiser or destroyer should survive the explosion of an atomic bomb, a large percentage of its crew would succumb to radioactivity after reaching a base. The effects of the bomb dropped on Hughes with roentite, a fire-extinguishing fluid, and to wash down other target vessels with sea water had only limited results, Mr. Baldwin reports, in a reduction of radioactivity to ninety-six times the safe effect.

Some of the animals subjected to both atomic bomb tests were smeared with nonradiolite ointment were protective clothing. How efficient this "protection" was we have yet to learn. Since gamma rays, one of the products of an atomic bomb's explosion, are highly penetrating, it is not likely that the "protection" was efficient. Several naval architects are able

SPECIAL PETS TO INVALID BOY

Accidentally shot in the spinal cord while playing with his brother, Nathan, RIGHT, Warren Hale, 16, Detroit, Mich., gamely accepts the possibility he may never walk again. His two pets — a toy bulldog and a parakeet — help keep him in good spirits.

VIGOROUS POLICY OF IMMIGRATION URGED BY COM.

Requests Immigration Star as Soon as Shipping Space Available

Ottawa, Aug. 15 — (CP) — Following a visit to study the Senate Immigration Committee yesterday emerged with the recommendation that Canada should start receiving immigrants from other lands as prospective citizens as she should go out and get them.

This vigorous policy was the keynote of the report presented in the Senate by Senator Cairine Murdock (L — Ontario), chairman of the committee. It urged that immigration be started as soon as shipping space is available and involve as many persons as can be secured from the country, subject to practical consideration of transport and establishment.

To avoid delay after shipping space is available, the report urges, a program should be embarked upon, an extensive publicity campaign should proceed both in Europe and Canada.

Europe should be canvassed by immigration and inspection officers, and officials should have in view to meeting and selecting the most desirable prospective citizens. Surveys in Europe should determine where immigrants may be found and conditions met. overcome. Canada's immigration should be flexible to meet the appropriate foreign countries with explanations for the unavoidable delay.

In Canada, a survey should be undertaken to determine agricultural and industrial resources which will be available to absorb immigrants and conditions and requirements necessary. The whole Canada should study and plan for the immigration movement and make prompt steps to implement such a policy.

Carefully Selected

The committee reported that all of the evidence it had heard during its sittings had emphasized the importance of carefully selected and that adequate provision be made for a large number which can be absorbed from time to time without creating conditions of unemployment, reducing the standard of living or otherwise undermining the Canadian economy.

Consultation with the provinces should be part of the preliminary studies, the report said, the land suitable for immigrant farmers was owned by the provinces, industrial immigrants should be selected with a view to attracting "key personnel" who will help can do things with our resources and potentialities not yet used or who can improve on methods now in use."

Technical, artisan and manufacturing classifications would increase materially the value of attracting work away from those already here, it said.

The report urged that "any suggestion of discrimination against either race or religion should be scrupulously avoided both in the act and in the administration, the limitation of Asiatic immigration being based of course on problems of absorption."

While shipping priority should remain with servicemen and their families for the year only preference should be given recent relatives and friends of Canadians who have given valuable service in the armed forces.

The committee said that they will withstand anything but a near-atomic explosion, and even that will still puzzle them. It is impossible to test a ship hermetically. And even if hermetically sealed were possible, ventilators would have to be opened. Inside bulkheads and decks would still be drenched and the protection of sea water, for thing has come from Bikini on the surface, would be destroyed by the explosion on the steel armor and superstructures. Did the metal become radioactive? That is another menace is presented.

There also is doubt that the certainty that radioactivity may be just as dangerous as the bomb is sea. Atomic bombs are not likely to do away with high explosives in a future war on land, for the reason that the cheaper "block buster" will be more destructive enough when dropped on a railway junction and a munitions plant. But why should it not be possible to use radioactive substances over whole regions and thus destroy all plant, animal and human life? No doubt the Atomic Energy Commission of the United Nations will have to study such matters. To outlaw merely the atomic bomb as such is clearly not enough.

WOOLER PHYSICIAN DIES

Toronto, Aug. 15 (CP) — Dr. Thomas Henry Callahan, about-to-be surgeon associated for 38 years with the Wooler area's dental here, died last night at his home.

He was a native of Wooler, Northumberland County. Out, and attended high school in Trenton, Ont. He was graduated from the University of Toronto in 1907 and until 1916 practised in Kitchener. During the war he was abdominal surgeon for St. Mary's Hospital.

Dr. Callahan was a member of the Ontario Cancer Commission.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS

The Physical education program in junior highschool stresses such endurance contests as running for a mile. Let the mother of a boy in his early teens, would like to have him increase his manual skill, develop his sense of fair play, body activities other than running and soccer, but the boy finds that he doesn't get the chance, she doesn't understand such things as "just another week" to train for the sake of the school, you know. As a result of this strenuous competition, the mother says, we see in brilliant, wiry and always worry. She noticed my statement in this column that highschool football I had medicine for any normal boy in his teens, and she hopes the boy will head my advice if I will write to him.

No, no, I can't do that. If this boy or any other boy or girl asks for my advice I am happy to give the best advice I can, on the basis of the information that the respondent submits. But please do not ask me to write to your catapaw in any circumstances.

Activities or athletic training reasonably suited to the age of growth and physical development of boys in their early and sprinting (100 and 220 yards, out not in pairs or groups) jumping both high and broad jumping, baseball, swimming, diving, tennis, skating, pole vault, base-ball throw, and for boys past the age of 16, put the 16 pound shot, 12 pounds or over, putting the 56-pound shot, bowling and boxing.

In all of these athletic activities there is room for a good deal of training under the supervision of instruction and supervision of the instructor. Only by faithful adherence to the instructor's advice and regular training can one learn the lessons assigned by the instructor, can the boy hope to excel in his particular sport. In each instance the skill, agility and co-ordination that he acquires throughout such applications determine in the course of a season or two whether the boy has athletic ability.

Every high school age are generally not fully grown and developed and should not be allowed to train for endurance contests of any kind. Football is particularly harmful for growing boys—especially "big" games between rivals of technical, artisan and manufacturing classifications would increase materially the value of attracting work away from those already here, it said.

The report urged that "any suggestion of discrimination against either race or religion should be scrupulously avoided both in the act and in the administration, the limitation of Asiatic immigration being based of course on problems of absorption."

While shipping priority should remain with servicemen and their families for the year only preference should be given recent relatives and friends of Canadians who have given valuable service in the armed forces.

The committee said that they will withstand anything but a near-atomic explosion, and even that will still puzzle them. It is impossible to test a ship hermetically. And even if hermetically sealed were possible, ventilators would have to be opened. Inside bulkheads and decks would still be drenched and the protection of sea water, for thing has come from Bikini on the surface, would be destroyed by the explosion on the steel armor and superstructures. Did the metal become radioactive? That is another menace is presented.

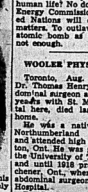
There also is doubt that the certainty that radioactivity may be just as dangerous as the bomb is sea. Atomic bombs are not likely to do away with high explosives in a future war on land, for the reason that the cheaper "block buster" will be more destructive enough when dropped on a railway junction and a munitions plant. But why should it not be possible to use radioactive substances over whole regions and thus destroy all plant, animal and human life? No doubt the Atomic Energy Commission of the United Nations will have to study such matters. To outlaw merely the atomic bomb as such is clearly not enough.

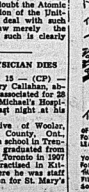
JET-PROPELLED CAR AT HAMILTON SHOW

Hamilton, Aug. 14 —(CP)— First appearance in Canada of a jet-propelled automobile will be highlight of a week of racing show here Aug. 19, 20, and 21.

SCOTTS SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT





By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Some players seem to have been born with a brilliant knack of playing the cards. Call it card sense if you like. To meet with success, most of us must have the ability by study or ...

Good rule is: Play third hand high, play high in the suit led by your partner. To this rule are attached several branches. If you have, when to apply a branch, the play is brilliant.

...with is a declarer at a contract of four spades. The dis... cards in that deal are distributed as the four hands as shown

NORTH
♠ K J 10

WEST
...
EAST
♠ A 9 8 6

SOUTH
♠ Q 6 5 4

...est starts out with the open... lead of the diamond seven. It ...ually the top of a worthless ...htest of three or two; or ... be a singleton.

...this case east can read it as a singleton. If it was, south ...ld have had a biddable suit of diamonds. Consequently, east ...ssumes it is either a double... or tripleton.

...either case, east must hope ...eir side taking more than ...diamond trick. It is with his ...there is, however, reason to ...e that west may trump the ...round.

...mmy plays the ten on first ... East would play the ace ...knew if only the rule ap... It would be the customary ...of third hand high. However ...n see no advantage in this. ...ace will always take a trick ...e second round of the suit. ...ould drop one of his smaller ...on this first trick. Then, as ...as he or his partner gets the ...seat, wins with the ace.

...he can return a third ...of diamonds for west to ... The least you can say for ...is that it will not lose any... by applying the branch. ...the switch may gain some...

...switch in time may work out

...ssica Dragonette ... star of the radio ... and down-fully recommend ... Arrid never leaves a ... on clothes. That's why I ... Arrid regularly.

New
...ream Deodorant
Safely
...ops Perspiration
Does not irritate skin. Does not rot dresses or men's shirts. Prevents under-arm odor. Stops perspiration safely. A pure, white, unscented, cream-like vanishing cream. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering—harmless to fabric. Use Arrid regularly.
10¢ also 15¢ and 39¢ plus tax
BECAUSE MANY WOMEN USE
ARRID
STAINS ANY OTHER DEODORANT

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 15 —(AP)— "Directed by Ray Milland" that billing may soon be emblazoned on movie screens.

Most actors talk about directing, but few (Orson Welles, Robert Montgomery) ever do anything about it.) Ray Milland is beating his guns on the matter these days and he is the kind of guy who usually gets what he wants. (Remember what happened to last year's Oscar?).

"Do you think I want to be an actor for the rest of my life?" he asked. He is currently in "Golden Earrings," going strong in his 13th year with Paramount. "I've always thought of directing," he continued, "in fact, I mentally direct every picture I'm in." His problem is in finding the right story.

"And when I find it, I'll pop into the front office and tell them I want the chance. I know I can do it."

Among the things he would like to do are a Welsh story and a picture of the ballet world. His musings were interrupted because he had to make up for the next scene.

"Another thing," he added, "directing would mean I wouldn't have to look at myself in the mirror any more."

One movie company is going all-out for authenticity. The outfit is making a gambling picture and has $50,000,000 of gambling equipment on the set.

The company has hired real gambling men to work the tables. When a publicity man suggested having the head of the sheriff's gambling detail over, one of the men told him: "If - - - - no! He probably looking for most of us."

Joan Crawford is getting penicillin twice a day for her flu ailment but should be back at work next week. . . . Winnipeg-born Deanna Durbin, starting "I'll be Yours," has lost 18 pounds and is back to a size 12.

FEDERAL FOOD

(Continued from Page One)

Early in the sitting, Defence Minister Abbott said in a statement that two Montreal civilian firms had dumped surplus army shoes at the Pointe St. Charles dump in Montreal and that neither the army nor War Assets Corporation were responsible for the action.

Consult with Department

Labor Minister Mitchell said he would consult with the Finance Department on the maintenance of production in bee factories in the interior of British Columbia. The controller appointed during the recent lumber strike was withdrawn Aug. 10.

Justice Minister St. Laurent said investigation still was being made into alleged irregularities and waste in connection with the construction of a group of veterans' houses at Boucherville, Que.

In the Senate, Senator T. A. Crerar (L—Manitoba) urged that the government's bill to continue the war-born Exchange Control Board be "thrown out" because it was "inherently unsound and opposed to the very principles of liberalism we all believe in."

Discussing the new beef contract in the Commons, Mr. Gardiner said the government hoped to put all farm prices on a basis "where we can try to stabilize the return for farm products over a period of three to five years."

All on Same Basis

"We have contracts for pork; we have contracts for cheese; we have contracts for butter; we have contracts for milk, and they are all on the same basis for a long period of time at a stabilized price."

Now there was the wheat contract and a new beef contract in the offing.

On the question of milk, Mr. Gardiner mentioned that Provincial Milk Board representatives were meeting the government here and said some persons had suggested that some part of the producer subsidy be paid beyond Sept. 30, the date upon which it is to be discontinued, and that some of the extra cost be taken over by the consumer.

"These questions are being discussed this week," he said.

BUY NOW and SAVE!

DELANEY'S
FUR SALE
IS NOW IN FULL SWING
Hundreds of New Coats to Choose From
This is the biggest sale in the history of our business. All prices slashed to rock bottom. Be wise, buy now.
DISCOUNTS UP TO 50%
Fur prices are going up. This will be your last opportunity to buy at these figures. 4 ways to buy—CASH, CHARGE, BUDGET, LAY-A-WAY, in accordance with W.P.T.B.
DON'T MISS THIS GIGANTIC SALE!

Layaway a Fur Coat Now for Next Year
Put one of these 1947 originals in the layaway right now. It will be in the height of fashion next season.

COONEY COATS DYED RABBIT - - - $99.00
LEOPARD COONEY DYED RABBIT - $99.00
RUSSIAN SQUIRREL - - - $549.00
MOUTON LAMB - - - $149.00 PROCESSED LAMB
PERSIAN PAW - - $149.00
RACCOON - - - $199.00 UP
ELECTRIC SEAL DYED RABBIT - $139.00 UP
PERSIAN LAMB - $385.00
Sable Blended Muskrat $249.00
Mink Blended Muskrat $398.00
HUDSON SEAL DYED MUSKRAT - - - $398.00

SPECIAL
3 ONLY
VISCASHA COATS
THIS WEEKEND ONLY
$54.00

A SMALL DEPOSIT WILL HOLD YOUR CHOICE

Trade in Your old Fur Coat
Receive a liberal allowance on a 1946 original!

DELANEY'S
EXCLUSIVE FURRIERS
Opp. Y.M.C.A.
17 Campbell St.
Free Storage Until Purchase is Delivered

PREFERRED

...for that Real Graham flavour

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lutz, of Mc-Tavish, Saskatchewan, announce the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn Louella, to Raymond Huycke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huycke, of Toronto. The wedding will take place August 24th, at the Church of Christ, Yellow Grass, Saskatchewan.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harris announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Lorraine, to Joseph Michael Shapcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chapcott, of Bentley, Ont., the marriage to take place August 21st, at St. Michael's Church, Belleville, at 9 o'clock.

Miss Shirley Mott, 17 Forin Street, is visiting friends in Prescott and Ottawa.

Miss Betty Flint, Queen Street, is spending a few days at the cottage of Miss Lynne Meeker.

The many friends of Mr. Harold Carruthers, Wilam Street, will regret to know he is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Miss Isobel McCullagh, Foxboro, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital, and is undergoing tuversby after an appendectomy.

Miss Loraine Hopkins, 210 John Street, is vacationing in Toronto this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor and son, Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mal, have returned home after spending Old Home Week in Cornwall and visiting in Montreal, N.Y., Ottawa and Smiths Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Reddick, Detroit, Mich., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Lafferty, Pinnacle Street, on their way after a cruise around Georgian Peninsula.

WEDDINGS

BALDRICK—HORNE

A pretty June wedding took place at Crofton, Ont., at 3 p.m., August 3rd, when Major Earl, of the Salvation Army, united in marriage Helen M. Horne, daughter of Mr. Harold Horne, and the late Mrs. Horne, of Carlton, to John Edward Baldrick, son of Mr. John Baldrick, and the late Mr. John Baldrick, of Wadesville.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Harold Horne, the vows took best place on account of to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. Goodman.

The bride was radiant in a gown of white satin with lace insertions and shoulder-length veil of white net caught to her head with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of gladioli and carnations.

Miss Elsie Horne, sister of the bride as bridesmaid, was gowned in a heavenly blue double net over satin. She carried an arm bouquet of gladioli.

Mr. Russell Baldrick, of Plainfield, brother of the groom, was best man.

A buffet luncheon was served with Mrs. M. Horne, grandmother of the bride, receiving in a gown of grey and white, and a corsage of Summer flowers. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing grey and black, with a corsage of Summer flowers.

For travelling the bride chose a suit of navy and white, with a small veiled hat with black accessories and corsage of sweet peas and carnations.

Guests were present from Belleville, Montreal, Sandy Creek, N.Y.; Oshawa, Plainfield and Roslin.

ILLARBY—WARDLE

On August 14, a lovely afternoon wedding was solemnized in the Salvation Army Citadel in Belleville, Major John Smith of Kingston, performed the ceremony before an altar banked with ferns and gladioli, when June M. Wardle, daughter of Mrs. Wardle and the late Fred Wardle, was united in marriage with George H. Illarby, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Illarby, Mrs. Jack Green played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. R. A. Wardle, the bride wore a gown of white silk embroidered Swiss georgette over Moire taffeta with fitted bodice and skirt with panel front and full sweep ending in a slight train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a headdress of Moire taffeta. She carried a white Bible with white satin floor-length streamers knotted with bouvardia. Her only ornament was her late sister's gold-piece.

Miss Dorothy Green as maid of honor, wore a long gown of pale mauve embroidered organza with sweetheart neckline and full skirt, her shoulder-length veil was caught to a flowered headdress and she carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Miss Janet Wardle, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore a long pale blue dotted swiss dress with sweetheart neckline and full skirt. Her headdress of veil was caught in a halo of flowers and she carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

Mr. Eric Hatfield, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Allan Austin and Mr. Douglas Mason.

Following a wedding reception at the home of Mr. R. A. Wardle, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a black printed sheer dress with black accessories and corsage of mauve gladioli. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a maroon dress with black accessories and a corsage of mauve gladioli.

For traveling to the Brenner Hotel at Glen Island, the bride wore a grey ornaine crepe dress with navy accessories and corsage of red roses.

20 PIGLET, IN LITTER

Brantford, Aug. 15 — (CP)—A sow owned by Thomas Adams, of Glanford, Wednesday gave birth to a litter of 20 piglets. Fifteen are still living. Two were born dead and three others died when their mother rolled on them. It is the sow's first litter.

"CURVACIOUS" CLEVELAND QUEEN

Luscious 31-year-old, red-haired Eileen Kelly will represent Cleveland, Ohio, in "Miss America" beauty contest in Atlantic City next month. She was selected from 130 contestants.

West Huntingdon

West Huntingdon.—The members of the Young People's Union held a splendid meeting at the home of Miss Jean Haggerty on Friday night. Mr. Russell Sills presided and Alex. McCurdy was in charge of the Scripture lesson, while Mr. Kenneth Stewart offered prayer. Mrs. McCurdy and Phyllis Hammond sang a duet with guitar accompaniment. Readings were given by Miss Marjorie Wright and Messrs. Don and Ken Runnals. A splendid paper on "Courage, Patience and Perseverance", was interestingly given by Mrs. E. Hough. Refreshments were served at conclusion of the program

Friends here were shocked on Tuesday morning, when it was learned of the sudden passing of Mr. Sandy McCord. The late Mr. McCurdy was one of the outstanding citizens of the community and he will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends.

The recent showers have delayed the stook threshing but have been of great benefit to hoe crops and pastures.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Wilson and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison and family, and Mrs. Geo. Barragar, attended the funeral of the late Miss V. Moorcroft at Tweed on Tuesday.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bishop of South Trenton Street, were Mr. and Mrs. R. Wismer, and Mr. and Mrs. Chidine, of Hamilton.

Mrs. Foster Wilson, Sarah and Arthur Morrison attended the funeral of late Mrs. William Preston of Havelock.

Rawdon

Rawdon. (Special)—Miss Ruth Donnan is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers.

Rev. McMichael, of Johnson, of Roseville, Michigan, and Mr. Osborne Smith, Peterborough, spent the weekend with Mrs. Gilbert Smith and made several calls on Rawdon relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray White, Bannockburn, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White and Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Gibson accompanied them home for a brief holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Boyd (nee Peggy Delauney) of Tampa, Fla., "Miss New York City" from 15 are spending their honeymoon finalists.

with Mrs. Boyd's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips and Peggy was bridesmaid at her cousin's wedding on Monday, August 5.

Mr. Fred Weaver, Detroit, is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver.

Mrs. Gilbert Smith entertained on the holiday weekend Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Smith and Joan, of Peterborough, and Miss Mary Jean Hamilton, of Toronto.

Miss Wilma Telford, Peterborough, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Sharp, Mrs. Gordon Lucas and Ruth, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver and Lois and Mrs. Reuben Weaver and Mrs. Don Campbell attended the Nelson-McMullen nuptials at Eggleton church last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips and Carleton, attended the funeral of Mr. Harold Worley in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer and Mr. Don Spencer were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hobbert, Meira.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmes, Toronto, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Dinah Holmes.

Rev. Nathaniel Cole of Renfrew, moved last week to Rawdon parsonage and Mrs. Cole plans to arrive in Stirling this week.

Mr. Lorne White is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Percy White at Brantford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormel MacMullen enjoyed a trip to Ivy Lea on Sunday.

A heavy electric storm and downpour of rain visited Rawdon on Friday evening and a quantity of hail fell.

Mrs. Ralph McMullen and Ronnie, Trenton, have been holidaying at Springbrook.

Mr. Jack Sharp and his mother, visited their friends near the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Woodcock, Markham, visiter their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan and family, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Forestell, at Madoc.

Mr. Merle Spencer and Mrs. G. F. Spencer spent Thursday at Warkworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Glover, of Belleville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Spencer visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer and Mr. Bert Spencer at Ryiestone.

Mrs. Marguerite McMullen sang the solo in the choir selection on Sunday evening at Mount Pleasant.

Sergeant Marian Phillips returned to Montreal, and expects to receive her discharge soon.

Miss Pauline Holbert, Moira, Misses Patsy and Jean Wallace, of Foxboro, have been holidaying Burnbrae, have been holidaying with the Spencer families.

Mount Pleasant Sunbeam Mission Band held their August meeting at the church and Mrs. Ron Hoard played quiet music Mrs. Cyrus Summers conducted the worship period and the study chapter entitled "The Hunt".

"MISS NEW YORK 1946"

Eileen Henry, Brooklyn, N.Y., was selected to represent New York City in the "Miss America" finals at Atlantic City in September. Eileen, 21, a model who has studied dramatics, took title of

"MISS CHICAGO 1946"

From a field of 14 contestants in Chicago, Cloris Leachman, 20, Evanston, Ill., was chosen as "Miss Chicago." She'll compete for the title of "Miss America" in Atlantic City, N.J.

Marmora

Marmora.—Mrs. James Hogeboom, son, Russell, and daughter, Leona, accompanied by Miss Audrey McIlroy, of Peterborough, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Lr. Rooks at Maynooth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee of Toronto, are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Halliwell at Crowe Lake.

Mr. Ray Osborne, who has been undergoing treatment at Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, is convalescing at his home here.

Mrs. Ella Parker, of Bloomfield, and Mrs. Stella Burns, of Toronto, are visiting their sister, Mrs. G. W. Henderson and Mr. Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tice and family of Trenton, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Osborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Reid of Hollaway, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Fleming.

Mrs. M. Clement of Detroit is visiting Miss Laura Bray and other relatives here.

Mr. Ernest Auger, of Campbellford, spent Sunday with relatives here.

HE HASN'T EATEN FOR 85 DAYS

Los Angeles, Aug. 15 (AP) — Claude L. Baxter was getting around pretty briskly today for a man who hasn't eaten for 85 days. Baxter, who says he is on a 100-day fast to focus attention on Europe's starving, walked on his wife after a neighborly card game early yesterday, and a few hours later turned up in Pershing Square, a downtown park. Baxter told a reporter he'd had a "satisfying his wife, and was going to a hotel.

Point Traverse

Point Traverse. — Some members of the Picton Kiwanis Club and their friends, making this picturesque spot their afternoon to partake of sports and enjoy a delectable fish supper served by Mrs. R. L. Mester.

Mr. S. H. Howard and Mr. Jones, of Ottawa, are guests at "House of Quinte" at Point Traverse. Mr. Howe is active at "Golf and Rest", and reports good fishing in local waters.

Are Your Slacks Showing The Aftermath Of Your Many Hours of Fun In The Sun?

A theron Modern cleaning will restore their fresh new freshness

PHONE 2277

MODERN CLEANERS and DYERS LIMITED

225 Pinnacle Street

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL 30 DAY OFFER

FOR THE JUNIOR MISS AND LITTLE MISS

PERMANENT WAVES

Regular $7.00 Cream Oil $5.95
Regular $5.00 Oil $3.95

GOOD FROM AUGUST 15th to SEPTEMBER 15th
Satisfaction Guaranteed.

ROYAL BEAUTY SALON
OPEN EVENINGS
330 Front Street Phone 3226

A14,15

ZELLER'S

BAGS for Summer Elegance

Plastic Patent, Black Brown

"THE BAG THAT QUALITY BUILT" Shiny Plastic Patent that's sleek and soft and durable. Styled for many seasons to come, and distinguished by the kind of workmanship that gives long life to a Handbag. Fitted with change purse and mirror. Black. Handsome clasp. Zeller-Value 5.89

GLOVES FASHIONED FOR FALL

Stylish Fabric Gloves that put "dash" to your new fall ensemble. Black, brown, navy, beige or nature with contrasting stitching. Sizes 5 to 8. Zeller-Thrift Priced 1.00

ZELLER'S LIMITED

"SALADA" TEA BAGS

No waste

Master Ray Sharp read the Bible lesson and almost $1 offering was taken up. Mrs. Sharp played the Donnan.

Mrs. Thomas H. Rowe, Campbellford, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Merle Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Demorest, Mr. and Mrs. Ormel MacMullen enjoyed a trip to Bancroft and spent a short time with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson and Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Moore at Detlor.

3rd Thurlow

3rd Thurlow—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tweedy and Mrs. Arthur Tweedy enjoyed a weekend motor trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Brownson and Elaine of Madoc, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Casey.

Master Earl Sills of Salem, and Master Douglas Gibson, of Mount Pleasant, are visiting their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Casey.

Miss Pauline Lawson, of Bellcville, spent last weekend with Miss Ivy Lawson.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton called on the former's sister, Mrs. Shaar, in Belleville, on Sunday.

Mrs. Morley Davidson, Massassaga, spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. Clayton Eggleton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Casey called on Mr. Frank Casey, Gilead, and Mrs. Lydia Way, 4th Line on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Mifflin visited friends in Morganston on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Casey spent the ten hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carman Gibson, Mount Pleasant.

1904 CAR STILL GOING

Los Angeles, Aug. 15 — (AP) — George C. Green isn't worried much whether automobile manufacturers get back on the pre-war beam. George pulled into town yesterday from Lambertville, N. J., in the 1904 model (Oldsmobile) he bought second-hand in 1907 for $185. It was his second cross-country trip in the one cylinder model. He says he gets 30 miles to the gallon and the old buggy does up to 25 miles an hour.

"SALADA" TEA BAGS

No waste

32ND YEAR IN BELLEVILLE

WOODLEY'S AUGUST FUR SALE

MUSKRAT THE FUR OF THE YEAR

Everybody is interested in a suitably styled Muskrat Coat that fashion has decreed "large" the last winter as well as now—the new subdued pastels dyes—the treatment known, the new collar and cuff lines and the low August prices. Come in and see how much it can save at Woodley's.

PRICES START AT $169.00

BUDGET OR LAY-AWAY PLAN (W.P.T.B. Approved)

WOODLEY + FURRIERS

213 FRONT ST.

BIG JEWELLERY CLEARANCE

Hundreds of Pieces for Choice! Novelty and Fine Jewellery! Prices Cut in Half!

Come one! Come all! Be good and early to see the best of this huge collection of reduced jewellery. You'll find just what you want in matching sets . . . necklets . . . lapel watches . . . brooches . . . bracelets . . . earrings . . . rings . . . hair barrets and a host of other pieces. Choose your jewellery in sterling silver . . . gold plate . . . plastic composition . . . enamelled metal . . . white or coloured pearlstone . . . white or yellow metal. Many one of a kind pieces . . . all lovely with dresses, suits, coats. Don't miss this "Buy." At the

50c TO 22.50

ELITE CREDIT JEWELLERS

301½ FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE PHONE 137

The Real Meaning o. Beauty

The smart woman uses a. sooth ing complexion cream to soften facial lines

By HELEN FOLLETT

SURPRISING how good looking are many of those women who have attained eminence in the arts and professions. Women in politics, women lawyers, airplane pilots, doctors, professors, scientists, are entitled to places in the beauty chorus, as well as the glamor girls and the lovely deities of the screen.

Seems from where your reporter sits that good looks are not merely an artistic ideal; they go right along with brains and efficiency.

If a woman is smart enough to attain a high place for herself in the world she's smart enough to know that good appearance counts.

Manners and Personality

A beautiful piece of anatomy, moving with grace, sporting the alabaster complexion, ambrotial locks, owned by the susceptible male, envied by the sisters, is no longer the accepted type. You have to have nice manners, a pleasing personality.

The standard gets higher every year, with the result that women are more attractive to the eye, in dress is a revelation. Smart clothes give one confidence, impart a feeling of self respect.

Look Our Best

We are most efficient when we look our best because we have more spirit and energy, are better able to carry on. Life looks richer than it does to the don't-care woman who neglects her complexion, lets her hair go shaggy, takes on figure bulges. By perking up, a discouraged woman will often regain some of her lost illusions.

Fighting the effects of the birthdays requires time and thought, but it is well worthwhile to make the effort. There is no virtue in wrinkles. You don't have to get them if you keep well physically, mentally, spiritually.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

It's Incorrect to "Congratulate" Fiance or Bride

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Is it proper for a young man's mother and sister to congratulate his fiancee when he gives her her engagement ring? If so, how?

2. Which should be the first to congratulate the couple after the ceremony . . . the bride's family or the bridegroom's family?

3. Is it proper for the groom to provide the wages for the mothers, and the flowers for the altar?

H.S.

1. It is not correct for anyone to "congratulate" an engaged girl or a bride . . . it is the engaged man or the bridegroom who is "congratulated". To the girl, fiancee or bride, we give our "best wishes". And it is entirely proper and natural for the young man's mother and sister to comment enthusiastically about the engagement ring, and to say perhaps something like this, "Our dearest love to you, Betty, and may every happiness be yours."

2. It is the bride's parents who are customarily given the opportunity to be the first to offer best wishes to the couple.

3. It is the responsibility of the prospective bridegroom to provide the corsage for his bride's mother and one for his own mother. But it is the bride's family who provide the flowers for the altar as they provide the rest of the church decorations.

Asking Groom Their Church Preference

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

This is the first Summer we have lived in our new house, and the first Summer we have been able to have weekend guests. One question is bothering me. We are Protestants and when we have Protestants guests of a denomination different from ours, should we just take it for granted that they will attend our church (if they wish to go to church) or should we try to make it possible for them to attend a church of their denomination?

Emily

I advise that you have a straightforward talk with your guests about their church-going preference. Tell them your plans, and say that if they wish to go to church, you would like to have them go with you, or if they prefer to go to the church of their denomination this can be arranged. Your guests will probably choose to go with you to your church . . . but it isn't gracious that you take this for granted unless it isn't convenient to offer the other arrangement.

Naming Their Baby for Father's Hero Twin-Brother

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am expecting a baby in a few months, and I wish you would please answer a question about the name. If it is a boy, my husband and I want to give him the name of my husband's twin brother, who died overseas in a prison camp. Would the name be "John David Smith, II" or just "John David Smith"?

Mother-to-be

In this circumstance, the baby's name would be "John David Smith". (If the uncle for whom the baby is named lived, the suffix "II" or "2nd" would be correct after the baby's name.)

NO INTEREST IN COINS

Chicago, Aug. 15 — (AP) — Inflation note: Scant interest was noted among people watching guards gathering coins from a bag which split open on the street. In fact, not a single one of the coins, totalling $1,000, was missing.

The coins were dimes.

Wife Preservers

Edna Maw

When threading a sewing machine needle, put a piece of white cloth or paper behind eye of needle, and it will be much easier to see. The back piece is useful in threading ordinary needles, too.

Questions and Answers

Readers may direct their questions, giving their name and address and mentioning the name of this paper to Information Branch, WPTN, 400 Sussex Street, Ottawa, Ont.

Q.—When will the new ration books be distributed? I will be away from home from August 15 to September 10 and would like to make arrangements to get mine before I leave.

A. — The No. 6 ration book will be distributed between Sept. 9 and 16 and you will be able to get yours at the nearest distribution centre to wherever you happen to be at the time. If you prefer you can fill out the application card in the back of your present ration book and leave the book with card attached with some responsible person so that they may pick up your new book.

Q. — Am I allowed to take food into the United States? I will be spending a few days there and would like to take my friends some food and better.

A. — Canadian visitors to the U. S. are allowed to take fresh meat and preserves up to the value of $5. Anything over that amount requires an export permit.

Q. — Last summer we spent our holiday at a summer cabin. When we applied again this year we were advised that the rent would be four dollars more a week. Is this allowed?

A.—Certainly not . . . summer accommodation comes under Rentals regulations the same as any other type of living accommodation. Owners are not permitted to increase the rent unless they have secured permission from the Rentals Administration. If they have obtained permission to make an increase a card should be in your hotel room or cabin stating the approved price for the space.

Q. — We have been saving meat coupons during the warm weather and now they will not be of any use after the end of month. Is this correct?

A. — No . . . meat coupons M40 to M50 will expire on August 31 . . . Butter B10 to B17 also expire at that time.

Allisonville

Allisonville — Mr. and Mrs. Clare McFaul of Toronto and Mr. Charles McFaul and Mr. Arnott McFaul were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McFaul at Wellington.

Mr. Douglas Palmer's threshing machine has been engaged on our street this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kinneer were Sunday tea hour evening guests at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kinnear and Gladys Ann.

Miss Vivian Ferguson and Mr. Bruce Ferguson also Miss Beth Davis returned home on Saturday after spending part of their holidays at the home of Miss Davis' sister, Mrs. Harold Smith and Mr. Smith of Ridgeway.

Set For September

For Early Autumn Wear

By VERA WINSTON

THE FIRM fabrics, such as faille, bengaline, and moire, are very much in the vanguard of early Autumn fashion for suit dresses and for beautifully detailed dressmaker suits, the latter using pure silk fabrics For early Autumn days there's this neat suit dress of rayon bengaline, the fabric silk used horizontally, vertically and diagonally. The bloused jacket has deep armholes sleeves that taper down to a slim three-quarter length. It is shown with the V-shaped flap buttoned down. If desired, the flap can be worn open to reveal a pretty lace dicky. The peplum is slit in front and the skirt is slim and straight

Smartly Striped Shirt

By ALICE ALDEN

THE BOLDLY striped sports or casual type blouse atop a slim skirt, linked by an impressive belt, is a favorite fashion formula with bright young things There is plenty of color in this blouse which features red, kelly, green and deep blue. The fabric is rayon in a fine broadcloth weave. The deep armholes are ideal for action wear, and the neckline can be tied cowboyfwise, or left open in a deep V. Concealed buttons fasten the front

Family Reunion Held At Tweed Memorial Park

The Holmes family gathered at Tweed Memorial Park recently for their twenty-second annual reunion. The weather was perfect for a picnic and by 1 o'clock over eighty members of the clan had gathered and all did justice to the chicken dinner provided by the ladies. After dinner the gathering was called to order by the president George McCoy of Belleville and the secretary's report given by Mrs. E. Groves, Madoc.

One death was reported since last year, Mrs. Cecil Wartman, Warkworth; one marriage, Bernice Sager to Kenneth Cassidy; five births were announced as follows: Pauline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Holmes, Sydenham; Gerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Holmes, Tweed; Wm. Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lowe, Tacoma, Wash.; Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Holmes, Cooper, and Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailey, Cooper.

Mrs. George Holmes got the prize for the oldest person present, being far her eighty-seventh year; while her great grandson, Donald Bailey, took the prize for the youngest member present.

Prize to the recent bride, Mrs. Kenneth Cassidy; to the one having the most grandchildren present, Mrs. Geo. Holmes.

It was decided to hold reunion next year at the same place and near the same date in August.

The officers elected were: Honorary president: Mrs. George Holmes, Queensboro; president, Wm. L. Holmes, Queensboro; 1st vice president, Arthur Holmes, Queensboro; 2nd vice president, Gordon Holmes, Cooper; secretary, Effie Groves, Madoc.

There were races for the children, and the junior members had a ball game.

Elmer Holmes, recently returned from overseas entertained the company with music and singing. Messages came from several other members of the family who had returned from service overseas, but who found it impossible to be present at the reunion.

Bergen-Belsen, Germany: This memorial was erected on the site of the former Nazi concentration camp at Bergen-Belsen, on the anniversary of its liberation by Jewish displaced persons now living in an U.N.R.R.A. camp here. Rabbi Jacob Eisen of Edmonton, Alta., formerly senior chaplain with the R.C.A.F. overseas and now on staff of the Canadian Jewish Congress doing relief work in Germany is shown laying a wreath on the memorial. On the opposite side of the stone is a similar inscription in the Hebrew.

IF IT'S ABOUT YOUR EYES . . . SEE McFEE

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Sagging Facial Tissues

Every woman, whatever her age or condition of living, wants to look fit. She desires to appear healthy, vibrant alive. Then a woman notices that the tissues of her face are softening, that wrinkles are appearing, that cells rebellious against the hand of fate, or whatever it is that robs us of youthful bloom. Why must such things be?

It is no consolation to her that she has played a part in the wrecking of her portrait. She has not lived wisely, or she has not lived bravely. With perfect health of body, mind and spirit, feminine face should remain fairly smooth until old age approaches.

Malnutrition will cause wrinkles, because tissue cells do not receive the necessary groceries. Let the finicky eater beware; she must have all the food elements— including mineral salts and vitamins—that are needed for well-being. Loss of sleep, continued for any length of time, is a detriment; the fibres have no chance to rebuild. Lack of exercise and fresh air may be at the root of the trouble, because not enough oxygen is pumped into the lungs to keep the circulatory system active.

Worry puts its mark upon the face

Worries that agitate the soul put their marks upon the face. Constipation will remove the resiliency from muscular tissues, cause it to crumple and sag as surely as rubber will decay. destroy the lifs of a hand-of elastic.

The first need in overcoming the early signs of facial dissolution, is to organize one's life, creating a plan for mental and physical health, following it to the letter. Be resolved to keep cheerful and courageous. Vow that unpleasant events won't down you, get their ugly heels on your neck.

Get out of doors as much as you can. There is strength and happiness to be found in fresh air, sunshine and healthy play. Drink plenty of water. Bathe daily. Do deep breathing exercises before you go to sleep; you will rest better.

Every night, wash your face with warm water and a bland soap. Rinse with tepid water, dry, and apply a heavy massage cream, one of a consistency that will not permit the fingers to slip and slide.

Start at the collar bones, working upward with flattened fingers. Do little circles over the forehead. Place the first finger on the eyelid, close to the nose, sweep to the temple, come back under the eye. Then slap and pat briskly.

In the morning, lave with cold water, dry, and apply an astringent.

SOCIETY QUEENS or SCRUB WOMEN

Rich or poor alike—this fine wardrobe is very similar to ordinary pale and pimply skin, healthy face, or one marred by blemishes due to female functional disorders.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

EDUCATIONAL FORCES

Gipping, Suffolk, England — (PC) Newspapers are the greatest educational forces in the country "and we must walk with them hand in hand," Rev. W. G. Hargrave Thomas told a rural council meeting.

Ivory Satin Bridal Robe

By PRUNELLA WOOD

BEATING the gun on the permanent peace, brides everywhere are choosing classic satin wedding gowns, in joyous relief after seeing other brides step to the altar in the most casual and practical clothes during the war years.

In case you haven't an heirloom great-grandma's satin cached away for yourself up-a-stic (or what's more to the point. . . in case you can't possibly fit inside it, although it's on hand) here is a typical example of what modern designers can supply in ready-made heirloom satin. Chantilly yoke, draped skirt, three-fin long train, are good details. The fulle hat and veil in flower strewn.

HALF-MAST DIAPER

Really, it's more than anyone can bear! Imagine the embarrassment of Patty Lou, age one. There she was, about to pose as "one of the prettiest babies" at the Rosella Foundling and Maternity Home, Pittsburgh, Pa., when the bottom fell out of her plans — or something!

2. My boy friend here at home likes me, I'm sure, but yet my girl friend tries to make me jealous of her. She has tried to get him away from me, and I believe that he would like her. Please advise me for me, too.

"Worrisome"

Know what I think, "Worrisome"? I think these are not two problems but just one. I think what you're really wondering is whether you hadn't better drop the boy friends here at home before he drops you and takes up with your friend. I think that situation has you scared. If you were quite sure of this you'd hardly be worrying about his ever doing the other girl a moment's thought, now would you? use 3 yqtkn3yoork.

FORMER WARDEN DIES

Brockville, Aug. 14 — (CP) William Kelly, retired clerk of the United counties of Leeds and Grenville and a resident of the Ontario Municipal Association, died at his home here today.

He had been a warden of the counties and was clerk for 33 years.

IS THAT PALE YOUNG GIRL YOUR DAUGHTER?

Parents should not ignore the dangerous symptoms of anaemia. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a tonic that helps to build rich, red blood. Start your daughter on this treatment at once.

If her health at this stage is not materially helped by a combination of good diet, fresh air, sunshine and exercise, then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be given a fair trial.

By adding new, rich red corpuscles to the blood these pills help to drive away that pale, sickly appearance. Many mothers have found that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a splendid tonic for growing girls, helping them to overcome the weakening fatigue of adolescence and to enjoy health and vigour. Get a box of these pills from your druggist today, or send 50 cents to The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will be sent you postpaid. Don't waste time—get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

"LORNE McDOUGALL WILL HELP ME"

Your best friend is your insurance agent, for he helps you at a time when you need help most.

Bring your insurance problems to us. They receive our prompt, personal attention at all times. Call us today for expert insurance advice. No risk is too large — none too small.

LORNE McDOUGALL INSURANCE AGENCIES LTD
Belleville's Largest Insurance Office
OPPOSITE THE CITY HALL - PHONE 169

A13-tf

It's About Time

By DOLORES BOLAND

IT'S ABOUT TIME to use velvet ribbon to alter a too-tight dress of crepe. Open the centre front and sew the ribbon over this let-out seam. Mors velvet down outside of sleeves. Let these out if too tight. Trim neckline as indicated.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Five Years is a Long Time to Wait

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Two years ago I divorced an unfaithful husband. Needless to say, it took some time to restore my faith in human nature, but about a year ago I met a serviceman and have been "going steady" ever since.

He has been more kind and thoughtful to me than anyone I have ever known, and I really love him very much.

At first I was content to have a nice sweetheart to take me around, but now I begin to wonder about the future. He often talks of our future together when he gets out of the service, but he has five more years to go and can't see leaving a wife home waiting for him. Definitely five years isn't too long to wait, but when one is 33 it is' sort of a problem. We are about the same age, and he has never been married.

Helen

I'm on your side, Helen! I think five years is not only a long time to wait, but too long, and I don't see any reason, in what you wrote, for doing so.

What's wrong with leaving a with home waiting? Lots of wives get well used to getting it home in the past five years. And isn't it a far more comfortable situation on both sides to know that you're safely tied up to the one you love, if you've got to be separated?

You don't think; do you, that there could be any possibility that this bachelor of 33 is a little afraid of being "safely tied up" after the years of complete freedom? Seems to me I'd make certain on this important point, and if you find it's not the case, then do some convincing talking and see if he won't come around to your point of view. I should think there'd be nothing in the world quite so nice for a man in service as to know he has a happy wife waiting for him.

This High School Junior Has Two Problems

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a junior in High School, and I have two problems that I would like answered.

1. I like two boys. I would like to drop one and I don't know which one. One is overseas, and the other is here at home. I have never gone out with the one in the armed services, but I have constant dates with the other. Please solve this for me.

2. My boy friend here at home likes me, I'm sure, but yet my girl friend tries to make me jealous of her. She has tried to get him away from me, and I believe

Flavour-FULL Sunkist Oranges

First choice for Juice and Every Use

Grown in sheltered valleys nestling amid snow capped mountains . . . Sunkist Oranges get their extra rich flavour from a rare combination of fertile soil, warm days and cool nights.

Vitamin-FULL

Don't skip your California Orange juice at breakfast—a 6-ounce* glass fills your day's quota of Vitamin C—supplies many additional health benefits as well.

*Canadian Government Standard

Juice-FULL

Sunkist Oranges are filled to bursting with delicious tangy golden juice—the perfect "wake-upper" in the mornings . . . cooling and refreshing as a breeze from the sea!

Health-FULL

Rich in Vitamin C, Sunkist Oranges also give you calcium and other minerals valuable to health. As refreshing as they are health-full . . . ideal for summer salads, orangeade and for eating whole.

Sunkist Oranges are the finest fruit from 14,500 cooperating California and Arizona citrus growers.

Sunkist

APPETIZER SALAD

Arrange sections of 6 Sunkist Oranges in flower-petal pattern (1 orange to each serving) on crisp, cold salad greens. This is an ideal year-round fruit course. (Serves 6)

Sunkist
CALIFORNIA ORANGES

FIRST FOR JUICE - and Every Use!

Announcing

A NEW SERVICE TO ALL FORD MERCURY AND FORD TRUCK OWNERS

We have received a large stock of repair parts to service all Ford products. Our shop has been equipped with the necessary specialized tools and equipment to enable our mechanics to render efficient work in the shortest possible time to all Ford products.

Our parts manager, Mr. Geo. Purvis, has had several years experience in the parts department of the Ford Motor Company and can adequately handle your parts problems.

YOUR PATRONAGE WILL BE APPRECIATED

Belleville Motor Car Co., Limited

MERCURY-LINCOLN CARS AND TRUCKS

Cor. Bridge and Coleman Sts. Phone 111

A. C. "Al" REYNOLDS, Prop.

FOR HOT SUMMER DAYS Try... A&P ICED COFFEE

EIGHT O'CLOCK COFFEE

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859

CUSTOM GROUND TO YOUR OWN METHOD OF BREWING, THEREBY ASSURING YOU TRUE COFFEE FLAVOUR AND FRESHNESS

FOOD STORES

BOKAR Vacuum Tin 1 lb. 35¢

8 O'CLOCK Mild & Mellow Tin 1 lb. 31¢

Owned and Operated by The Great ATLANTIC & PACIFIC Tea Co. Ltd.

OUR OWN BLACK TEA	lb.	49¢
OLD CANADIAN CHEESE	lb.	33¢
PERFECTION COCOA	lb.	24¢
O'CEDAR POLISH	Bot.	23¢
WOOLSOL CLEANER	20-oz. Bot.	55¢
CROWN SEALERS	QUARTS Doz.	99¢
PLY SWATTERS	ea.	5¢
KELLOGG'S ALL BRAN	2 Pkgs.	23¢
NORVALL'S MALTED MILK	Tin	69¢
FALSTAFF SOAP	Giant 3 for	23¢

ANN PAGE MILK BREAD OVEN FRESH 2 24 oz. loaves 15¢

PEAS STANDARD	2 20-oz. Tins	27¢
FLOUR ROBIN HOOD TEA TIMES	Pkg.	30¢
CORNFLAKES QUAKER	2 Pkgs.	15¢
SOUP CLARK'S MUSHROOM	3 Tins	25¢

GARDEN FRESH Fruits & Vegetables

Oranges	Cal. Valencia 344's doz.	25¢
GRAPES	California Red Malaga lb.	29¢
GRAPES	California Seedless lb.	25¢
YAMS	Louisiana No.1 Grade 2 lbs.	25¢
Carrots	Canada No.1 Grade 3 lbs.	14¢
Lettuce	Head Can. No.1 Grade 2 for	15¢
Celery Stalks	No.1 Pascal 2 for	19¢
COLORADO FRESH PEAS	Large Full Pods . . . 2 lbs.	29¢
CANADA No.1 GRADE POTATOES	75 lb. bag	10 lbs. 29¢ 1.93

A&P RED or BLUE BRAND BEEF

STEAKS or ROASTS

POT ROAST	Boneless	lb.	21¢	Rolled Brisket	lb. 21¢
PORTERHOUSE	lb. 55¢	WING	lb. 51¢	SIRLOIN	lb. 49¢
LAMB FRESH KILLED	LEGS	lb.	49¢	FRONTS	lb. 29¢
BOILING FOWL	GRADE A				lb. 33¢

FISH SUGGESTIONS

COHOE SALMON FILLETS	lb. 49¢	FRESH COD FILLETS	lb. 29¢
SMOKED FILLETS CUT UP	lb. 33¢	SMOKED KIPPERS	lb. 25¢
LEGS & THIGHS	lb. 79¢	CHICKEN BREASTS	lb. 79¢
WINGS	lb. 35¢	NECKS & BACKS	lb. 19¢

Woman Detective Has Unique Job

New York —(AP)— Grace Sullivan Lagay, a house detective at the Commodore Hotel and, as far as anyone knows, the only woman house detective New York ever has had, was a suburban housewife in New Jersey until three years ago when she took up lie-jitsu, psychology and statistics, and became a policewoman.

Some families run to lawyers and some to doctors, she says, "but with the Sullivan clan it's cops."

Her mother is Mary Sullivan, director of the women's bureau of the New York police department until she retired last spring. Her mother's sister was in the shoplifting squad; two uncles were in Scotland Yard; three more are retired members of New York's force; three cousins are still on the force.

As a lady "dick," Mrs. Lagay's job is to prevent things from happening. Spectacular "pinches" are all right on street corners, she says, but not in hotels. She prefers "verbal persuasion." When suspected deadbeats, comedienne men of prostitutes slow into Mrs. Lagay's bailiwick, she watches until they light and then nails them out with a quiet word.

"You can handle them smoothly," she comments, "with verbal persuasive powers than by knocking your brains out. I never know what I'm going to say until the time comes but usually I'll just ask, 'Don't you want to powder your nose?' or 'Haven't you an appointment somewhere?' Her cardinal rule is "never put your hands on a suspect!"

Husband Sam Suggs.

On her eight-hours-a-day job, Mrs. Lagay roams from floor to floor, the public rooms and the back of the house. She checks errands to make sure they don't depart with anything they didn't bring with them. Her favorite gag is the quite high but she cracked, "It's no bed to watch the guests" one time when the linen supply was rebuilding.

Mrs. Lagay has had her present job only four months but says: "My powers of observation have become keener since I'm being paid for them. When I used to have to wait for anyone in a hotel lobby I got bored to death. Now I hear everything that's being said. My ears wiggle."

A tall, broad-shouldered, blue-eyed brunette, Mrs. Lagay "grows on" a customer. There is a family joke about one night when she was on duty at Pennsylvania Station guarding the departure of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor for Miami. The floral couple waited for the train in their automobile and the detective, dressed for a party, was going to later, passed the platform with a fur coat slung over her shoulders.

When the Duke got out, he stopped to speak to her and evidently told the Duchess who she was because the Duchess called her over and complimented: "My dear, your disguise is perfect today." An old guard on duty overheard and commented: "Why didn't you tell her you look this good every day?"

Foxboro

Miss Grace Juby spent holidays at the home of her uncle, Mr. Garnet E. Juby and Mrs. Juby, of Toronto.

Mrs. Cooper and daughter, of Toronto, spent Tuesday at Mr. J. W. Daniels'.

Mrs. J. Chappelle and Sharon, returned home after spending some holidays with her sister, Mrs. Robert Woods, Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Hicks visited recently at Mr. George Hicks'.

Mrs. J. J. Sills spent the week at Mr. Frank Clarke's, Bay.

A W.A. Group meeting was held at Mrs. Hayton's on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Will Coulter spent last week with Mrs' C. Foster, Belleville.

Miss Edythe Cook, of Blenheim, is a guest of Miss Marion Daniels.

Rev. and Mrs. N. Patterson are visiting at the home of the latter's sister, Miss Nellie Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Chappelle and daughter, were Sunday guests at Mr. Delbert Fleming's, Springbrook.

Rev and Mrs. E. M. Cook, of Blenheim, were Tuesday evening guests at Mr. J. W. Daniels'.

Mrs. Everette Sills, Mrs. Ira Sills and Miss Lena Sills, Toronto, were Sunday visitors on Mrs. J. G. Sills.

Miss Margaret Shaw, Onemee is spending holidays at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Ed Clarke.

Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Cook and Mr. Budd Cook were Sunday guests of Mrs. Wanda Files.

Everyone welcomed the heavy rain of Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Montgomery attended the reception on Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mt. Pleasant, Bawden in honor of

THREE PLUS TWO EQUALS PARENTAL HEADACHE

Fourteen months ago these girl triplets were Macatee gave birth to twins, both girls. Father is a bus driver.

Here are the twins who followed "in the family diapers" of the triplets, ABOVE, all of whom are girls!

Queensboro

Queensboro — Rev. and Mrs. Patterson and children of Newcastle spent the weekend calling on friends in Queensboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McLaughlin and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark, Eagle, Wis., U.S.A., spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Clarke and Will Bentley.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sager, Ottawa, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Leslie.

Miss Marion Love, Madoc, spent the weekend with friends here.

Mrs. Leggard Summers has gone to Peterboro and secured a position there.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hulsman and children of Deloro spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Laffin.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sager, Ottawa, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sager and attended the Old Boy Reunion in Madoc.

Mr. Walter Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ling and family of Oshawa spent the weekend with Mrs. Annie Kincaid.

Mrs. Patten, St. Johns, Newfoundland and Mrs. Foote and children of Toronto are visiting Rev. and Mrs. Geo. Patten at the parsonage.

Mrs. E. A. Manchester and Miss Minnie Green spent Friday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Holmes and Mr. Arthur Sager are spending this week with relatives in Wolcott, New York.

Mrs. Harry DeClair has returned home after spending the last six weeks in Toronto.

Miss Kathleen Boyliss has returned to her home in Toronto after spending last week with Mr. and Mrs. Will Hulsman.

Mrs. Lillie Gray, Peterboro and Mrs. D. Moore, Toronto, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. John Moore.

Mrs. Tessa Keene, Hamilton, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. John Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Countryman, Miss Dorothy Wolcott, N.Y., and Mrs. Walter Barr, St. Petersburg, Florida, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. C. McMurray, spent Saturday afternoon in Belleville attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Clarke.

Mr. John Lyon has returned home after spending last week with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyon, Clyde Forks.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holmes and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ashe, Madoc.

Miss Pearl McMurray, Gilmour is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. C. McMurray.

Mr. Douglas Lynn, Tweed, spent last week with Bobby Lynn.

A number from here attended the Holmes' Reunion at Tweed Park last Wednesday afternoon.

Malone

Malone—Mr. and Mrs. A. Ireland and daughter, Evelyn and Miss Joyce Mitchell, spent the weekend in Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Deline and daughters, Doris and Jean, spent Sunday evening in Havelock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong and daughters, Elena and Arlene, of Batawa, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. Long.

Mr. D. Robinson had dinner on Sunday with Mr. Bill Long.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Deline and daughters, Doris and Jean, also Mrs. H. Long, spent Thursday evening in Madoc.

Mr. Cecil Long spent Friday afternoon in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Kelly and daughter, Brucie, spent Sunday in Marmora.

Mrs. A. Lucas and daughter, Evelyn and Miss Joyce Mitchell, called on Mrs. H. Long one evening last week.

Burrs

Burrs.— The ice cream social held at the hall at Allisonville under the auspices of Burrs' W.A. on Wednesday evening was well attended. Rev. Vasilvick in the chairman's remarks commented on the value of such social gatherings to a community. Miss Pauline Burr accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Will Soble sang two solos. Mrs. K. Wood and Miss Muriel Carley gave humorous readings. Miss Doris Thomas and Miss Lela Fox sang a duet with guitar accompaniment and Mr. Ray Diggins favored with three saxophone numbers. Ice cream and cake were served at the close of the program. Proceeds were over $34.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks was hostess to the August meeting of the W.A. at her home on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Stanley Brooks, Mrs. Chas. Brooks, Mrs. Will Soble, Miss Pauline Burr, Miss Marilyn Maxwell and Miss Thelma Boston, were visitors attending. Following the devotional period a letter of thanks from Mrs. Ida Moran was read. Patches were removed from the travelling apron which revealed $4.52 gained by its travels. Readings by Mrs. Huffman, Mrs. R. Hall and Mrs. D. Harris were much enjoyed. The September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. M. Adams.

Mrs. Floyd Huffman entertained at her attractive home at a pre-nuptial shower for her friend, Miss Marguerite Jackson on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Lorne Burr met with a painful accident on Friday when her arm was cut by a broken glass milk bottle. Some medical attention was required.

Following a week of heat and dry weather, a wind and electrical storm broke early Saturday morning. No extreme damage resulted but much fence, stooked grain and many trees were blown down. The Hydro power was disrupted for a few hours.

Threshing operations are underway with the grain harvest being very good.

Mrs. Floyd Huffman was guest on Wednesday afternoon at a trousseau tea for Miss Marguerite Jackson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson, 2nd Ameliasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Harman Montgomery and Margaret, entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Anderson, London, and for the birthday of Mr. Robert Worden at a dinner, Sunday evening.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. S. Werden, Mrs. Earl S. Anderson, Mr. S. La Fontaine, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr and Mr. Ronald Burr

Mrs. Libby Burlingham, Wellington was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Val Squire and of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Purtelle, the past week. Miss Lois Squire accompanied her to Mrs. Purtelle's where she was also a guest.

Miss Barbara Dick and Mr. David Dick were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Werden for a week returning to their home at Gilead, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Moran, Larry and Mary Myrle, entertained Mrs. J. E. Moran and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr, Sunday on a drive to and at dinner at Pembroke.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Parks, Donna, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hough, Ronald, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall, Sharon and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Huffman enjoyed a picnic outing at Barcovan Beach, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Campbell and niece called on Mr. and Mrs. R. Harris on a recent evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Soble entertained weekend guests from Peterborough.

Miss Doris Blakely returned to her home from Toronto, on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Harris and Mr. and Mrs. G. Harris were guests at the Forrester-Pearsall wedding at Wellington United Church, Saturday afternoon and at the reception following at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Pearsall, Gilead.

Miss Lillian Anderson in com-

BETTER THAN EVER
But Costs No More!
Double doom for flies and mosquitoes! Here it is in Fly-Ded, now made with amazing DDT . . . ready for immediate use in your home.
Double doom—that's exactly what it is! Fly-Ded kills insects en masse, as it always did—the favorite insecticide of housewives everywhere. And now in addition—Fly-Ded also leaves an invisible, stainless residue of DDT that keeps on killing flies and mosquitoes for weeks after a properly applied spraying.
Buy Fly-Ded for flies and mosquitoes. Get Fly-Ded for flies and mosquitoes. Get Fly-Ded for double!
Now on sale at leading stores
Fly-Ded KILLS FLIES AND MOSQUITOES
Fly-Ded 43¢
BOYLE-MIDWAY (CANADA) LIMITED · TORONTO

AT THE McCARTHY—Teamed romantically in Universal's Technicolor release, "Canyon Passage," starting tomorrow at the McCarthy Theatre are Dana Andrews and Susan Hayward who portray leading characters in the spectacular and thrilling drama produced by Walter Wanger.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Tex Hazlton, Red Sox—Limited Philadelphia to four hits in pitching Boston to a 3-1 victory.

Pete Reiser and Joe Medwick, Dodgers — Reiser stole home for the sixth time this season to save tie-breaking run in the afternoon victory over the Giants 8-6; Medwick's pinch single drove in a run that beat Giants in the night contest 2-1.

Dan Ditthwler, Braves — His two-run homer gave the Braves a 5-1 win over the Phillies.

Marty Marion, Cardinals — Scored twice and drove in a run with a double in Cardinals' 6-4 victory over Cubs.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

B-E-L-L-E	McCARTHY	CAPITOL
"The Spiral Staircase"	"Return of Frank James" 1.30 — 4.00 — 8.30	"Woman of the Town" Claire Trevor
Dorothy McGuire Georges Brent		1.30 — 4.30 — 8.30
Ethel Barrymore
2.05: 7.35: 9.30	"Jesse James" 3.00 p.m. — 6.35	"West of the Alamo" Jimmy Wakely 1.30

TIME: New Picture ... "Walter Winchell Confidential Testing Secret Weapon" Jimmy Durante in the picture "Two Guys From Texas" Fast, quick, temporary relief. Unlike bulky, clinical, external methods, Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads, the brilliantly engineered medication-cushioning and lost no magical after-effects.

Tomorrow
All the Greatness ... all the Excitement that thrilled millions in the Saturday Evening Post
Serial and Best-Selling Novel!
WALTER WANGER'S
In-Var-Co D.D.T. Barn Spray
Eliminates flies, mosquitos, wasps, and other insects for months in one application
• This new and powerful insecticide, is a sure riddance to insect pests. In-Var-Co offers it in convenient, deodorated form in quart, gallon and 5-gallon cans.
SPECIAL FEATURES:
1. One application stays effective for months.
2. Kills flies, mosquitoes, wasps, other insects.
3. Elimination of insect pest will increase your production of meat, milk, butter, etc.
4. Special ingredients eliminate unpleasant odours.
AT MOST LEADING STORES
If your dealer cannot supply you, mail this coupon to the nearest branch of International Varnish Co., Limited.
Branches located at Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver.
Name.....
Address.....
Please send to my nearest dealer—
..... GALLONS @ $2.65 per gal.
..... QUARTS @ 75 per qt.
INTERNATIONAL VARNISH COMPANY, LIMITED

Schmoo says two pints daily, yet many get only one.
Liver bile helps digest fat and aids flow of bile into body's natural laxative. Lack of bile causes indigestion, headaches, constipation. Use 2 pints for digestive health tone up your liver and get nourished bile with green. Fruit-a-tives, Canada's largest selling liver tablet.
FRUIT-A-TIVES LIVER TABLETS

2 IN 1 was originated to combine a cleaning action and the polishing action of a wax paste in one product—so you can give your shoes a fast, sparkling shine. A single test will prove this.

BLACK, BROWN, TAN, OXBLOOD PASTE
ALSO 2 in 1 WHITE
5-47

SWACOS DEFEAT NAPANEE 11 TO 6 IN LOOSE GAME

Losing Squad Blows in Sixth to Allow Four Runners to Tally

Breaking out in a scoring rash in the fifth and sixth innings after Napanee had tied the score three all, SWACO's baseballers rammed home eight runs at the Almeda Field last night to defeat the Gilbertville nine 11-6 and creep a notch near the second spot in the loop standing now held by the Batawa Shoemen.

Loose fielding featured the game with SWACOS bobbling four times and Napanee donating six errors to a lost cause.

Thus, slim SWACO right-hander started in neatly for the pitching job for the Gilbertville nine but was yanked in favor of Switzer. The SWACO batsmen took kindly to the Switzer-slants hitching four ten cleats for as many runs in four heats.

Both teams scored in the second inning and SWACO went out in front when they tallied two in the third. Napanee scored a single in the fourth, tied the score in the fifth and had the sacks loaded for the kill, but failed to come through with the timely hit.

The Napanee squad blew in the sixth as four city runners gallopped across the plate and they repeated in the last innings with a similar number.

Jack Elliott, SWACO catcher, was the big man with the hickory smashing out three clouts, Latchford, Donovan, and Smith, got a pair each while Switzer's timely triple drove in three runs.

Murphy and Leary accounted for two hits each for the losers.

Napanee	AB	R.	H.	PO	A
Vick, 1b	4	0	0	8	0
Turner, 2b	4	0	1	2	3
Switzer, 2b, p	4	0	2	0	1
Murphy c	3	2	0	2	0
Curry, c	1	0	0	3	0
Jocko, p, 2b	4	0	3	1	7
Leary, lf	4	0	2	1	0
Holmes, rf	4	0	2	0	0
Butcher	4	1	0	0	0
Totals	33	3	10	18	9

SWACO	AB	R	H	PO	A
Barrage, w	4	1	1	0	4
Fitzpatrick, 2b	4	1	1	2	2
Rowbotham, 3b	3	0	0	1	4
Gerow, lf	3	0	0	1	0
Latchford, 1f, cf	4	1	2	2	0
Donovan, cf, rf	3	2	2	1	0
Moore, rf	3	2	1	0	0
Elliott c	4	3	3	10	1
Titus, p	3	0	0	0	1
xSmith, p	3	1	2	0	2
Totals	34	11	13	21	9

xSmith for Titus in 8rd.

Napanee 0 1 0 1 2 2 — 6 6 6
SWACO 0 1 2 0 4 4 — 11 13 3

Errors—Napanee (3), Butcher (2), Fitzpatrick, Moore, Turner, Holmes, Jocko, Vick; Runs Batted in: Fitzpatrick (4), Smith (3), Holmes (3), Curry, Turner, Switzer (2), Latchford, Donovan, Elliott, Barrage, Gerow, Titus; Two-base hits: Fitzpatrick, Moore, Jocko, Vick; Runs Batted in: Fitzpatrick (4), Smith (3), Holmes (3), Curry, Turner, Switzer (2), Latchford, Donovan, Elliott, Barrage, Gerow, Titus; Two-base hits: Fitzpatrick, Moore, Jocko, Vick; Three-base hits: Donovan, Elliott; Stolen bases: Barrage, Fitzpatrick, Rowbotham, Gerow, Latchford, Donovan, Moore, Elliott, Titus, Smith, Turner, Holmes, Butcher; Sacrifice hits: Barrage, Fitzpatrick, Rowbotham, Gerow, Latchford, Donovan, Moore, Elliott, Titus, Smith, Turner, Holmes, Butcher; Double plays: Turner to Vick, Jocko to Vick, Jocko to Vick; Left on bases: Napanee 6, SWACO 6; Bases on balls: off Switzer 2, off Jocko 1, off Titus 1; Struck out: by Switzer 1, by Jocko 2, by Titus 3; Hits: off Switzer 6 in 4 innings, off Jocko 7 in 4 innings, off Titus 0 in 1 inning; Hit by pitcher: by Switzer (Rowbotham), by Jocko (Barrage); Wild pitches: Switzer, Jocko; Passed balls: Curry, Elliott; Umpires: Hall and Hunter; Time: 2.15; Attendance: 200.

SACOS REPRESENT CITY IN INT. A. OASA PLAYDOWNS

Defeat Flashes 9-3 in Second Game of Series at Fair Grounds

Tall Jim Hunter picked up the threat of victory, when he was dropped it the other night against Frank Sedore' Flashes, and hurling a neat four-hit job at the Fair Grounds last night led his SACO Marines to their second straight win in the three-of-five series for the right to represent the city in the O.A.S.A. Intermediate "A" playdowns. The score was 9-3.

The Flashes war-clubs were again impotent against the fine pitching Manager Manie Pepple has tossed at them. Hunter was in top form and was only in minor trouble on a couple of occasions but he bore down on the Flashes rallies failed to materialize to any great extent, The Hunter-coated was excellent and nary a Flash got a free ticket to first base. He fiirnished the first.

The Yellow and Maroon got their first run in the fifth when Harold Reid galloped in first on a SACO error, stole second and scored home when Timmy Williams' poked out a single. They got the remaining pair in the seventh when Vern Goyer drove a double to deep centre field and scampered home on Williams' third single of the pastime. Moon got aboard on a fielder's choice and scored on Bill Wesley's single.

SACOS got to Wazar's delivery for eight hits, but his team bolstered the ball around o nocasions especially in the eighth when the winners scored three runs off one hit, two errors and a walk. They got one more unearned runs in the second innings and scored another in the third when Reid doubled and drove in LeBonne who had walked ahead of him. Hunter Gets Pair

Jim Hunter who got a pair of hits in his team cause pounded out a single in the sixth and reliable Jimmy Barriage came through with a time double to score the elongated checker. Jimmy pounded home Fitzpatrick a Flashes error a minute later.

Manie Pepple's Flashes cracked out a two-bagger in the eighth to keep things moving but went out in order, Hunter fanning three of the Flashes infield Sword. LeBonne was the only second on the ballots and lose hit.

Hunter, Blaker and Craven got two hits each for the winners with Timmy Williams, Flashes centre-fielding leading the attack for his team with three clouts. Vern Goyer's double was the only other hit collected off the Hunter tossing.

Score by innings:

Flashes	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	0
SACOS	0	1	0	1	0	0	3	0	4

Behind Time Table in the Canadian Golden Gloves series owned AMAZING GIRL LOCATED

Toronto, Aug. 14—(CP)—Joyce Noble, 16, missing from her home here for almost a week was located yesterday at Rockwin Inn, Geocde Lake, near Bur's Falls. Police at Burk's Falls, reading news accounts of the girl's disappearance, remembered she had called at the police station seeking a job. They had found her employment.

TO SPONSOR BIG SHOW

Cardiff, Wales — (CP) — The South Wales and Monmouthshire Industries Association will sponsor a big industrial show in London in August and September, 1947.

A spray and a shake—and your razor's ready to put away for the next feather-touch Pal shave! No wiping—PAL HOLLOW GROUND BLADES are rust-resistant to make those marvelous flexible edges last longer. Ask by name for PAL HOLLOW GROUND. 4 for 10¢.

"Coca-Cola" and its abbreviation "Coke" are the registered trade marks which distinguish the product of Coca-Cola Ltd

TOCA-COLA LTD.

AT THE CAPITOL—Beautiful Claire Albert Dekker in this poignant s Town. The colorful and exciting at the Capitol Theatre tonight, th the same program Jimmy Wakely

BLUE AGAIN WINS CANADIAN DERBY IN RECORD TIME

Daisy Gratian of Brighton Wins $500- Stake Before Large Crowd

New Hamburg, Aug. 15. (CP) Blue Again, bay gelding owned by R. W. Leatherdale, of Windsor, Ont., stepped the three fastest heats ever paced in Canada over the half-mile track to win the 11th annual Canadian Pacing Derby yesterday before the largest crowd ever to attend a harness meet in the Dominion.

More than 25,000 jammed this Western Ontario village of 1,500 population and saw Blue Again, winner of the $50,000 Hambletonian derby last Spring, pull to victory in every heat, closely pursued by another great pacer, Count B, owned by J. W. Brown, of New Liskeard. Count B. was the defending champion, having won the event when it was held in 1944 and 1945. The purse was $2,100.

Blue Again, holder of world record pacing time for 1 1-4 miles, was driven in all three one-mile heats by Harold Wellwood. The veteran Chappy Chapman was behind Count B. Veteran harness men termed the event the best race they had witnessed in 40 years and more.

Time Tabla, owned by L. Drolet of Quebec and driven by Lloyd Milton, finished third in the standing. Time Table was 3-4-3 in the heats.

Blue Again's times for the three heats were: 2:05 1-4; 2:04 and 2:03 1-4. The winner sped the last quarter of the final two heats in just 30 seconds each, one-quarter second faster than over the last quarter of the first heat. In the first and final heat Blue Again paced the last half-mile in 1:01 flat and the last three-quarters in 1:32 3-4 for the last half in the second heat.

Behind Time Table in the Canadian Golden Gloves series owned

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

WHAT, NO MONKEYS?

Bill Veeck, who with others recently acquired the Cleveland Indians is rapidly gaining the name of being the most furious man of the major leagues. Veeck is introducing pre-game entertainment novelties for the fans that would make a three-ring circus perfection look green with envy. In fact some of the fun have already the show the "Veeck Varieties."

And this with the Indians enjoying a ten game league lead that is just a few short, thus far, of an all-time record.

Here's a typical sample of the Varieties which was presented on the baseball diamonds of Tribe fans before the Yankee-Cleveland game the other night. It started off with a fireball spectacular fireworks show that had the faithful goggle-eyed.

The pyrotechnics included a blazing Indian, a fire-fountain and a fiery-tailed pin-wheel-an, the display being climax by Veeck's version of the dropping of an atomic bomb from a plane, fastened to the top of a fire-wheel-and on a battleship rolling in the bleachers below.

After the fireworks, Veeck staged a 7th inning circus to give the pitchers time to warm up. Performers took the field from all rings simultaneously. At first base was Aldrich the juggler, at second Adelson, an accordian dancer. At third were Body and Soul, a man and his dog, while a home plate the tumbling Paxton Brothers performed. On the pitcher's mound was a baton-twirling drum-major.

And now "Barnum and Bailey" Veeck has added another attraction in his three ring circus. He's Jackie Price, a baseball trick-ster who will be at the plate as Veeck Varieties the turnstile tally at the big league. Price is a regular baseball player, a shortstop who helped Veeck win the pennant when he was managing the Milwaukee squad. Besides being a baseball clown, the guy is a whiz, a pheonm, a wonderful player, says Veeck.

* * *

According to the Tribe's new owner, Price, with one and the same hand and at the same time, can throw a curve to one catcher, and a fast ball to another catcher, at once, that's only a warm-up. He can hit with both hands suspended upside down over home-plate. He'll ride a jeep around the outfield catching flies en route, even if he has to climb out on the hood to make the stab.

* * *

The new Indian "chief" has captured the imagination of the fans because he is one of them. He roams the stands, sits down and talks baseball with whoever happens to be next to him. He roars encouragement at the team, yells at the umpires with all the fervor of a biased Brooklynite.

* * *

He started his night shows, mildly on July 23 by presenting his own 10-piece band, costumed and war-painted and scooping it upon in deep centre field. The band played at every game. Every night there are fireworks, between step quartets, good sized pie-eating, hot dog eating contests, wheelbarrow and xylene.

Veeck personally handed out 561 pairs of the stockings to holders of rain-check stubs during a Ladies Game with Boston.

He's driving the Indians back to the fans — and the fans are taking them back.

* * *

Edwards Jacinto faces a stiff test at the Alemite Field tonight when they meet the second-place Batawa Shoemen in the kids' last diamond tilt before that important OBA playdown game in Peterboro' on Saturday afternoon. The Shoemen have the fact that the fast-stepping SACO squad has been walking down their necks in the loop standings, with the pair but one victory "blood" as all-in-all tonight's tussle looks like one of the season's best. "Play Ball" will be shouted at 6.30. Swacos had no Napanee at the latter's diamond tonight.

* * *

President Nels. McGaffin, of the Kingston Ponies is offering a novelty to his baseball stadium on Saturday night. Before the Ponies meet the Ogdensburg Maples in a flood-light free baseball tilt, 8.30 "Jumping Joe" Mallette, one of baseball's funniest clowns, will strut his stuff. Mallette's performance is worth the price of admission alone, and those who attend are assured of a fine evening's entertainment, for we understand there is no diamond love lost between the Ponies and the Maples.

* * *

There is a strong possibility, so this desk is informed, that the Kingston Frontenac Peterboro game played in the Liftlock City next Saturday afternoon will be broadcast over Station CHEX, Peterboro. The game is scheduled for 2 p.m. so in all likelihood the Kiwanis will start at that time. More about that later.

* * *

If Steve "Crusher" Casey, the boxing man from County Cork, whose muscles, bedad, would make up his reputation, M'Sieu Leo Henning, he of the low-cunning brain, is behind a handful of cornmeal come the end of the main event at the Arena tomorrow gloaming. "Somewhere there's a villain laid out. Somewhere the children shout; And tonight there's joy in store, For somewhere a villain is laid out" will be Casey's answer-cry after the bout, so the big Irisher claims. But the crafty Henning smiles quietly to himself, and warbles in rebuttal "He may throw me once, try it twice, but before they count me out — 'Twill be a long, long time." But don't be fooled by the overtures of these smiling Irishmen. It should be a grim gory battle tomorrow e'en.

* * *

Bullpen Hurlers of Dodgers Keeping Brooklyn in Fight For National League Flag

Have Rescued 25 Victories and Saved 13 Other Games During Season

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

There is no mystery about what's keeping Brooklyn Dodgers at the head of the National League — it is their bullpen hurlers.

Of the club's 110 games this season, the relief corps has come to the starting pitchers' rescue 76 times and has emerged with 25 victories against only 10 defeats besides "saving" 13 other games.

The brilliant work done by the Dodger relief corps is best illustrated by the won and lost record of Hugh Casey, whose 10 victories, all gained in relief and in a second only to starter Vic Lombardi's 11 triumphs.

Brooklyn starting pitchers, who have completed only 36 games, or less than one third of their starts, needed only one win yesterday to daw 5-4 and 2-1 victories over New York Giants. The two triumphs increased the league leaders' margin over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals to 1½ games. The Cards won their game from the Cubs 6-4 in Chicago.

Hank Behrman represented the bullpen brigade with a scoreless 4 3/4 innings mound stint to receive credit for his eighth victory in the first game, his third in a relief assignment. Southpaw Joe Hatten needed no assistance in winning the night contest, the second half of an afternoon-night doubleheader, the first of its kind in the major leagues.

Red Sox Continue Parade

Boston, Red Sox continued their pennant parade with a 3-1 victory over Philadelphia Athletics, their 13th victory in 15 games with the American League cellar-dwellers.

Floyd Bevens, Giant New York righthander, also notched his 11th victory when he was pitched the Yankees to a 4-1 triumph over Washington Senators under the lights at the Yankee Stadium.

Manager Lou Boudreau stepped out four hits including two doubles, his second two-bagger, helped by an outfield error, bringing in Heinz Becker from first with the run that gave Cleveland Indians a 12-inning 6-5 victory over Detroit Tigers.

Boston Braves went over the .500 mark for the first time since May 25 when Mort Cooper pitched them to a 3-1 victory over Philadelphia Phillies in a home night contest.

Nick Strincevich pitched Pittsburgh to their fifth straight victory and only 1 1/2 games out of seventh place as the Bucs shaded Cincinnati Reds 2-2.

The New Browns and Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

NEWARK BEARS DEFEATED TWICE BY THE LEAFS

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By LAURIE GRAHAM
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Edmonton, Aug. 15 (CP)—News of the appointment of Lt.-Col. Clarence S. Campbell of Edmonton as assistant to Mervyn (Red) Dutton, President of the National Hockey Leagues was no surprise to most hockey fans.

Around these quarters the news has practically become a household topic and sportsmen here almost say "a good choice for a tough job."

The 41-year-old Canadian army veteran and former N.H.L. referee when asked about the appointment and his future plans had very little comment to make.

"I'm very pleased with Mr. Dutton's expression of confidence and I only hope I am capable of helping him in the splendid job he has already done at the helm of the N.H.L." he said.

If there was any question as to the capabilities of his new assistant, the league president who is eager to get back into a more active hockey role—which is reviving his Brooklyn Americans—hasn't any. In fact, he feels sure when the time comes the former Edmonton lawyer will succeed him as chief of big league hockey.

"To this statement Campbell would make no comment. He merely smiled and remarked that's really looking into the future."

Just what will happen in either case will be known following the semi-annual meeting of the N.H.L. big-wigs Sept. 4, when final arrangements for Dutton's new assistant will be completed. Nothing is certain, however, and that is Edmonton sportsmen will be eagerly waiting for the official dope.

A new record for the Mayfair Golf and Country Club course scene of this week's Canadian Amateur Golf Champions has been set by long-hitting Glen Gray. Gray who didn't show much in the C.A.G.C. competitions, recently toured the layout in a five-under-par 65. The previous record of 66 was established in 1939 by Pat Fletcher now of Saskatoon.

The 132-pound Montrealer set the pace from the start of the fight and floored his opponent for a nine-count in the third round. He continued to press his advantage throughout the fight and was never in trouble until the 10th round when Poirot landed his right to the jaw.

QUEBEC BOXER DIES AFTER BOUT

Quebec, Aug. 15 (CP)—Rolland Prairie, 18-year-old Montreal lightweight boxer, died in hospital here early today of a cerebral hemorrhage—result of a knockdown suffered at the hands of Kid Point of Quebec in a boxing match last night.

Prairie, who lost a unanimous 10-round decision over Point, hit the canvas for a four-count in the last round when Point connected with a right to the jaw. He staggered to his feet a few seconds before the bell but lost consciousness on the way to his dressing room.

A coroner's inquest was scheduled to be held today.

BASEBALL
MEGAPHIN STADIUM
KINGSTON
Saturday, August 17
at 8 p.m.
Ogdensburg Maples
vs
Kingston Ponies
Floodlight game at 8.30 p.m.
Special Attraction is "Jumping Joe Mallette" baseball clown.

Proud winner of the Kentucky Derby, The Preakness, and on June 1st the 79th and richest Belmont Stakes, this deep chested colt takes his place with six other great sons of the turf who have conquered the Triple Crown. Assault also won the $50,000 Dover Stakes at Aqueduct on the 79th. He has boosted his earnings to $329,720. The 13th biggest prize winner in history, he came on all counts he raced The Champion.

SWACOS DEFEAT NAPANEE 11 TO 6 IN LOOSE GAME

Losing Squad Blows in Sixth to Allow Four Runners to Tally

Breaking out in a scoring rash in the fifth and sixth innings after Napanee had tied the score three all, SWACO's baseballers rammed home eight runs at the Alemite Field last night to defeat the Gibbardville nine 11-6 and creep a notch near that second Ed in the loop standing now held by the Batawa Shoemen.

Loose fielding featured the game with SWACOS bobbling four times and Napanee donating six errors to a lost cause.

Titus, slim SWACO righthander started the mound job for the planters and lasted until the third innings when he was relieved by Ernie Smith. Titus allowed three hits for one run during his mound sojourn while Smith scattered seven clouts for five runs over the remainder of the game. Smith struck out five and walked three while Titus whiffed four and issued one free ticket to first.

Jocko cashed the mound duties for the Napanee squad and yielded three hits for one run in two innings and was yanked in favor of Switzer. The SWACO bats took kindly to the Switzer-slants nicking them for six safeties and as many runs in four heats.

Both teams tied in the second inning and SWACO went out in front when they tallied two in the third. Napanee scored one single in the fourth, tied the score in the fifth and had the sacks loaded for the kill, but failed to come through with the timely hit.

The Napanee squad blew in the sixth as four city runners gallopped across the plate and they repeated in the last innings with a similar number.

Jack Elliott, SWACO catcher, was the big gun with the hickory smashing out three clouts, Latchford, Donovan, and Smith, got a pair and Fitzpatrick's slashing triple drove in three runs.

Murphy and Leary recounted for two hits each for the losers.

Napanee	AB	R	H	PO	A
Vick, 1b	4	0	0	8	0
Turner, ss	2	1	1	1	4
Switzer, 2b, p	3	0	2	0	1
Murphy c	3	1	2	3	0
Curry, rf	4	0	0	2	0
Jocko, p, 2b	4	0	2	1	7
Leary, lf	4	0	1	1	0
Holmes, rf	4	0	2	0	0
Butcher	4	0	0	0	0
Totals	32	2	10	15	8

SWACO	AB	R	H	PO	A
Barrage, ss	4	1	1	0	4
Fitzpatrick, 2b	4	1	2	2	2
Rowbotham, 3b	2	0	0	1	4
Gerow, 1b	4	0	0	9	0
Latchford, lf, cf	4	1	2	1	0
Donovan, cf, rf	4	1	2	2	0
Moore, rf, lf	4	2	2	0	0
Elliott c	4	2	3	10	1
Titus, p	1	0	0	0	1
xSmith p	2	1	2	0	2
Totals	34	11	13	21	9

xSmith for Titus in 3rd.

Napanee 0 1 0 1 1 2 1— 6 6 6
SWACO 0 1 2 0 4 4 —11 13 0

Errors: Barrage (2), Rowbotham (2), Fitzpatrick, Moore, Turner, Holmes, Jocko, Vick; Runs batted in: Fitzpatrick (4), Smith (3), Holmes (2), Curry, Turner, Titus, Elliott, Rowbotham; Two-base hits: Latchford, Curry; Three-base hits: Fitzpatrick; Stolen bases: Fitzpatrick, Rowbotham, Donovan, Elliott, Titus, Smith, Barrage, Murphy. Butcher; Sacrifices: Rowbotham, Moore; Left on bases: Swaco 11; Napanee 9; Base on balls: Titus 1; Smith 3 Jocko 1; Switzer 2; Strike-outs: Titus 4; Smith 5; Jocko 1; Switzer 1; Hits off: Titus 3 for 1 run in 2 1-3 innings; Smith, 7 in 3 runs for 4 2-3 innings; Jocko, 3 for 1 run in 2 innings; Switzer, 10 for 10 runs in 4 innings; Hit by pitcher, by: Jocko, Fitzpatrick; passed balls: Elliot 1; Murphy 1; Winning pitcher Smith Losing Pitcher: Switzer. Umpires: Schneider, plate; Young, bases; Scorer: John Francis .Time 1:47.

SACOS REPRESENT CITY IN INT. A. OASA PLAYDOWNS

Defeat Flashes 9-3 in Second Game of Series at Fair Grounds

Tall Jim Hunter picked up the thread of victory where he dropped it the other night against Frank Sedore' Flashes, and hurling a neat four-hit job at the Fair Grounds last night led his SACO Marines to their second straight win in the three-of-five series for the right to represent the city in the O.A.S.A. Intermediate "A" playdowns. The score was 9-3.

The Flashes war-clubs were again impotent against the fine pitching Manager Maxie Peoples has tossed at them. Hunter was in top form and was only in minor trouble on a couple of occasions but he bore down and the Flashes rallies failed to materialize to any great extent. The Hunter control was exceptional and nary a Flash got a free ticket to first base. He struck out six.

The Yellow and Maroon got their first run in the fifth when Harold Reid slugged to first on a SACO error, stole second and raced home when Timmy Williams poked out a single. They got the remaining pair in the seventh when Vern Goyer drove a double to deep centre field and Lionel Blaker followed with a single of the pastime. Moon got aboard on a fielder's choice and came in with the ninth run when a SACO infielder bobbled Rutherford's bid for a hit.

Showed Lack of Control

Manager Sedore tossed in a dark horse for hurling duties in the person of Hibbert outfielder Gerry Wise. The colleagan, who will be seen in action with the Queen's football squad this fall, showed lack of control, to be expected when he had not pitched for some time. He walked five.

SACOS got to Wagar's delivery for eight hits, but his teammates fed the ball around o nocasions especially in the eighth when the winners scored three runs off one hit, two errors and a walk. They got their other two runs in the second innings and scored another in the third. Hunter doubled and drove in LeBonne who had walked ahead of him. Hunter tied Reid.

Jim Hunter who got a pair of hits to help his own cause pounded out a single in the sixth and reliable Jimmy Barrage came through with a time double to score the elongated chucker. Jimmy galloped home himself on a Flashes error a minute later.

Lionel Blaker crashed out a two-bagger in the eighth to keep things moving but went out in a comedy of errors staged by the Flashes infield Sword, LeBonne and Reid scored on the bobbles and lons hit.

Hunter, Blaker and Carson got two hits each for the winners with Timmy Williams, Flashes shortstop heading the hit parade for his team with three clouts. Vern Goyer's double was the only other hit collected off the Hunter tossing.

Score by innings:

SACOS	.....	021	012	030	—	9	2	3
Flashes	.....	000	010	200	—	3	4	5

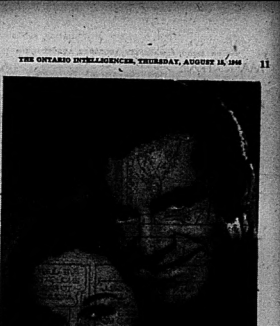
Umpires: Thomas, plate; Bawden, bases.

BUY'S NAPANEE CHARTER

Toronto, Aug. 15 —(CP)— L. J. (Julie) Mendelsohn, of Toronto, well known in Ontario racing circles, has purchased the charter of the Napanee, Ontario, Driving Park Club and plans to build a new race track in the Toronto area, it was learned here yesterday.

AT THE CAPITOL—Beautiful Claire Trevor cannot hide her love for Albert Dekker in this poignant scene from "The Woman Of The Town," the colorful and exciting dramatic film slated to bow in at the Capitol Theatre tonight, thru United Artists release. On the same program Jimmy Wakely in "West Of The Alamo."

AT THE BELLE—When a mysterious murderer threatens to kill heroine Dorothy McGuire, Kent Smith, who portrays a doctor in love with her, offers his protection. With Miss McGuire as co-star George Brent and Ethel Barrymore in the superb romantic melodrama, "The Spiral Staircase."



AT THE McCARTHY—Teamed romantically in Universal's Technicolor release, "Canyon Passage," starring tomorrow at the McCarthy Theatre are Dana Andrews and Susan Hayward who portray leading characters in the spectacular and thrilling drama produced by Walter Wanger.

BLUE AGAIN WINS CANADIAN DERBY IN RECORD TIME

Daisy Gratian of Brighton Wins $500- Stake Before Large Crowd

New Hamburg, Aug. 15. (CP) World Champion Blue Again, owned by R. W. Leatherdale, of Windsor, Ont., stepped the three fastest heats ever paced in Canada over a half-mile track to win the $10,000 annual Canadian Pacing Derby yesterday before the largest crowd ever to attend a harness meet in the Dominion.

More than 25,000 jammed this Western Ontario village of 1,500 population and saw Blue Again, favorite at 50,000 Derby Anita Derby last Spring, pull to victory in every heat, closely pursued by another great pacer, Count B, owned by J. P. Brown, of New Liskeard. Count B. was the defending champion, having won the event in 1948 and 1947.

The purse was $2,100.

Blue Again, holder of world record pacing time for 1 1-4 miles, broke even in all three one-mile heats by Harold Wellwood. The veteran Chappy Chapman was behind Count B. Veteran harness men termed the event the best race they had witnessed in 40 years and more.

Time Table, owned by L. Drolet of Quebec and driven by Lloyd Milton, finished third in the standing. Time Table was 3-4-5 in the heats.

Blue Again's times for the three heats were: 2:05 1-4; 2:04 1-2 and 2:05 1-4. The winner sped the last quarter of the final heat in two heats just 30 seconds each, one-quarter second faster than over the last quarter of the first heat. In the first and final heats Blue Again paced the last half-mile in 1:01, compared with 1:01 3-4 for the last half in the second heat.

Behind Time Table in the standing was Audrey Scott, owned and driven by Richard Scot, of Toronto, who was 4-3-4 in the heats, with Gratian Lee, owned and driven by Harry Ingles of Brighton, Ont., fifth and last in each heat.

Canada's world pacing event brought harness enthusiasts flocking to this tiny village's race track from throughout Ontario and Quebec and from Michigan. The race was run under ideal track conditions, although the crowd was so great it took hours before the track was cleared after the final event.

In one of the three other events on the card, Daisy Gratian, of Brighton, won the $500 McCall derby. The F. S. Scott Memorial trot, with a stake of $400 for three-year-old and .28 trotters, was taken by Norn Lee.

A Canadian horse scored at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., yesterday when Top Dollar, from the Addison stable, Toronto, won a $2,000 race to pay $101.10 for 1st. Cornish Knight, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, finished second in the 34th Sanford Stakes.

Balmy Beach Rink Wins Eaton Gold Cup at Tournament

Toronto, Aug. 15. (CP)—Jim Taylor's Balmy Beach rink yesterday won the coveted Eaton Gold Cup in the Provincial Lawn Bowling tournament here and wiped out the memory of last year's defeat in the finals by E. D. Berry's Ottawa Cosmos in a close match. Balmy Beach won over their East End bowling mates, Tom Hunley's New Beach crew, by a score of 23-11.

Several hundred watched the brilliantly-played game at the Boulevard Club greens, lead changing hands until the 15th end when Taylor's rink took the lead 14-13, and held it until the finish of the 21-end match. It was the first time since the cup was presented in 1931 that a Balmy Beach Club has won the trophy and the ninth time a Toronto rink has turned the trick.

Three other cup finals were run off yesterday. The Marshall Produce Trophy was fought between two crews from Toronto's west end—Frank Scott's Runnymede rink and William Evans' West Toronto outfit. Scott's rink, winner last year of the Old Toronto Cup, defeated Evans, 18-11, to take the newly-presented Marshal Trophy for the first time.

Out-of-town aggressions, which failed to make the finals of the first two cups continued to run into bad luck in the Remington-Band trophy race when Louis Vallins of Windsor, bowed out 29 to 9 to Alex Mackenzie's powerful Toronto Kew Beach rink. Mackenzie first to win the new Remington Cup, made it three bowling cups for the Queen City in the day's sweep.

London Rink Wins

In the Robert Simpson trophy matches, rinks from the United States and Ontario predominated. London Elmwood's team led by J. Smith entered the finals after eliminating J. Christie of Detroit 15-11. They had previously defeated Chicago Columbus rink, skipped by H. F. Harris in the semi-finals today. E. B. Bell, of Lindsay in the semi-finals and went on to oust E. Pound of Toronto Canoe, entered the final round against London Elmwood.

H. Brend of Fort Colborne, carried off the Eaton Consolation prize by overwhelming C. Lambie of Toronto Withrow 38-11.

The doubles Competition, which began yesterday, attracted over 250 entries, over half of which were from Toronto, Hamilton and this province and the competition for the Townsend Silk trophy was keen.

One of the first round winners in the doubles was W. J. Hutchison, of Toronto Withrows, and his partner, A. Eaton.

Hutchison probably has something of a record in bowling competition here, having never missed a tournament in 38 years. The rink he skipped Tuesday, reached the third round of the Marshall trophy event before going down to defeat.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Tex Hazlenn, Red Sox—Limited Philadelphia to four hits in pitching Boston to a 3-1 victory.

Pete Reiser and Joe Medwick, Dodgers — Reiser stole home for the sixth time this season to score tie-breaking run in the afternoon victory over the Giants 8-6; Medwick's pinch single drove in run that beat Giants in the night contest 2-1.

Dan Ditthiller, Braves — His two-run homer gave the Braves a 5-1 win over the Phillies.

Marty Marion, Cardinals — Scored twice and drove in a run with a double in Cardinals' 6-4 victory over Cubs.

There's DANCING at the YACHT CLUB
STOCO
EVERY Saturday Evening
9 TILL 12
Good Music — Admission 25c
A15-2t

DANCING
RILEY'S PAVILION
(Located on No. 2 Highway between Belleville and Trenton)
EVERY
WED. AND FRI. NIGHT
Featuring the
TRENT VALLEY RAMBLERS
Eastern Ontario's Finest Modern and Old Time Orchestra.
ADMISSION 50c

FUN FOR ALL AT THE CARNIVAL
RIDES — AMUSEMENTS — GAMES
at the
C.P.R. Station Grounds
SOUTH CHURCH STREET
Aug. 19th to 24th
A15-1Y

TIME: New Picture — "Whistle Stop" (Technicolor) George Raft, Ava Gardner, Victor Mature, Tom Tully, Jane Greer, Leif Erickson, Tony Barrett, Porter Hall, Directed by Leonide Moguy. Produced by Walter Wanger. Universal. Feeling harried? Overworked? Jittery? Get ahead on the price of time? Try Canyon Passage for quick, temporary relief. Dulls bridge, cocktail, the panic and over-eagerness to get to the topic, this brilliantly engineered movie is without fanning and has no nagging after-effects.

ARTFUL SUSPENSE! DARING REALISM! ....UNLIKE ANYTHING YOU'VE EVER SEEN!
THE STORY THEY SAID COULD NOT BE TOLD!
DOROTHY McGUIRE
GEORGE BRENT • ETHEL BARRYMORE
The Spiral Staircase
KENT SMITH • RHONDA FLEMING
ELSA LANCHESTER
ON THE SAME PROGRAM
DONALD DUCK CARTOON
EDGAR KENNEDY COMEDY
"WALL STREET BLUES"
"SCIENCE GOES FISHING"
Informal Fun Entertaining
BELLE
DAILY ... 2.30: 7.00: 9.30
SATURDAY—A Joyful, Tuneful, Romantic Musical — aglow with Stars and Songs.....
In Technicolor
MAUREEN O'HARA
DICK HAYMES
HARRY JAMES
Do You Love Me
YOU'LL NEVER FORGET HER! ... The strongest woman ever to hit town—and the loveliest! The women loathed her—the men loved her—but everybody talked about her!
Woman of the Town
Claire Trevor
Albert Dekker
TREVOR DEKKER
BARRY SULLIVAN • HENRY HULL
PORTER HALL • PERCEY KILBRIDE
Today! Capitol
ON THE SAME PROGRAM
Jimmy Wakely in "WEST OF THE ALAMO"
ALSO: Color Cartoon, Chapt. 6 "WHO'S GUILTY"

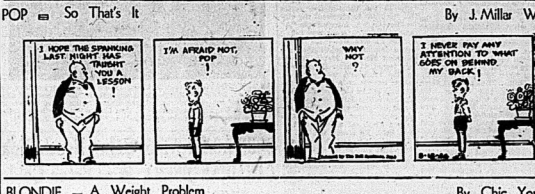
THEATRE FEATURE TIMES
B-E-L-L-E
"The Spiral Staircase"
"Return of Frank James"
2.30 — 7 p.m. — 10.30
McCARTHY
"Woman of the Town"
"Jesse James"
1.00 p.m. — 4.35
CAPITOL
"Woman of the Town"
"Jesse James"
1.00 p.m. — 4.35
"West of the Alamo"
Jimmy Wakely
1.30
Tomorrow
All the Greatness ... all the Excitement that thrilled millions in the Saturday Evening Post
Serial and Best-Selling Novel!
WALTER WANGER presents
DANA ANDREWS
BRIAN DONLEVY
SUSAN HAYWARD
PATRICIA ROC
CANYON PASSAGE
in TECHNICOLOR
with
HOAGY CARMICHAEL WARD BOND
ANDY DEVINE STANLEY RIDGES
LLOYD BRIDGES FAY HOLDEN
VICTOR CUTLER and the
Devine Kids, TAD and DENNY
COMFORTABLY COOL
McCarthy THEATRE
TODAY ONLY! JESSE JAMES plus THE RETURN OF FRANK JAMES

MARK TRAIL — By Ed Dodd

LI'L ABNER — Like Pappy, Like Son — By Al Capp

BRINGING UP FATHER — By George McManus

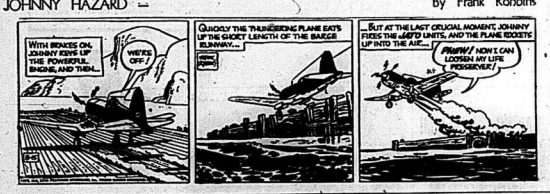
POP — So That's It — By J. Millar Watt



TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS — By Frank Robbins

BLONDIE — A Weight Problem — By Chic Young

JOHNNY HAZARD — By Frank Robbins



TILLIE THE TOILER — Bad Publicity — By Russ Westover

Dotted Line Honeymoon

By Joseph McCord

CHAPTER 9.

He didn't! Just drew her to him with an instinctive move, then released her. And the bride was conscious of an instant's resentment. It was perilously akin to disappointment.

She could not know that her new husband had put up the most gallant fight of his life when he resisted the temptation to claim that kiss. But he had promised to play the game.

Jacqueline felt a tug at her skirt. She looked into a pair of soft brown eyes. It was a little girl with a big doll.

"I wants kiss the pretty lady."

The bride dropped to her knees and gathered the small form in her arms. When she looked up, she was smiling. But the dark blue eyes were wet.

"Now what?" was Larry's vague question, after he had seated himself in the car beside his wife.

"Home, I suppose." Jacqueline's voice shared his uncertainty.

Hmm. . . . As George as though we might do something to celebrate our wedding day. What do you say if we go to a movie?"

"Why. . .Of course!" Jacqueline caught at Larry's suggestion with undisguised relief.

An hour or more in a darkened theatre would give her a chance to reconcile herself to a situation which already had surpassed the bounds of imagination. Best of all, it would preclude any attempts at conversation. . . .or should. She never could be sure what this amazing man might do or say. In spite of his promises, he might feel that his new status carried a prerogative of sorts.

He had said that he considered himself a gentleman. He was proving it. . .so far. . .Beautifully. But his bride still was a little fearful. Still more so, when Larry announced his intention of leaving the car on a parking lot and doing a little exploring on foot. That done, his next offering was: "How about something to eat now, Mrs. Cutter?"

"Please don't!" It came out in a swift, frightened tone. "I couldn't eat."

"I'm sorry. Won't do it again. That was just a slip. . .But I do have papers to that effect. Here it is." He halted and took the certificate from his pocket. "You'd better take this and keep it with the other exhibits."

Larry smiled contritely and moved on. He was trying to be nice, Jacqueline thought. And this big, alert faced man was her husband.

"Oh. . . .Jack!"

"Well?" She smiled up at him forgivingly.

"I'm famished. Would it be terribly selfish if we went over to that diner and had some hot tea and coffee? It will do you good."

"Let's."

They were the only patrons in the lunch car and, like two children, they sat on stools and had their first meal together. Larry was in a high good humor and Jacqueline did her best to match his mood. He was good company, even when he demanded, "Bring it all right?"

Jacqueline's left hand suddenly disappeared under the counter and her cheeks flushed delightedly. Larry had discovered this. . . .

"How did you know the size?"

"Easy. Didn't I tell you I was an engineer? I'm especially good at surveying. . . ."

Then Larry's face sobered. Once within the theatre, Jacqueline removed the slender wedding band from her finger and dropped it into her bag. The symbol had served its part in the little drama. In a few hours, it would be over. She might as well begin now adjusting herself to the next act. Larry would be behind the scenes after today. For how long?

Larry took a look at him. He seemed to be staring impassively at the screen with the moving figures and amplified voices. His profile showed clear-cut against the glow shed by a cluster of wall lamps. It was a good profile, stable and strong. He was a man of whom any woman might be proud, if only. . .

Jacqueline Cutter's heart gave a frightened little jump. She was as startled as if some one had spoken that name in her ear.

She was going to miss Larry. . . . miss him.

And, before she could turn away her face, he was looking directly at her. Smiling.

"Like it?" he asked in a low voice.

"Oh, yes. . .Interesting."

Larry's head nodded, after all. Jacqueline tried to centre her attention on it. It was a little difficult to understand what it all was about, not having seen the beginning. A romance. A leading man who reminded her of Larry. Misunderstandings of a man and his wife. Jealousy and conflict. The woman was a butterfly. . .not deserving of the hero's love. The hero was "Larry," by this time. He either would be killed or perform some gallant sacrifice before his wife would appreciate him. The end. . . .

"Larry" didn't die, but almost. The last close-ups showed his eyes peering so wistfully from underneath his head bandage that Jacqueline felt almost dependant as the butterfly wife and furtively groped in her bag for a handkerchief.

The first thing she touched was that ring. She slipped it back on her finger. Larry might feel hurt and. . .after all.

After Larry and Jacqueline had left Terryville behind, he turned and discovered his spirits. He had "spotted" a very good looking inn on the way over. They would stop and celebrate with a real meal, if Jack were willing.

"Not in any special rush to get back are you?"

"Oh, no."

"Thought you might have a date." He chuckled quietly, as the significance of his last words struck him. Rather quaint, when you come to think of it, isn't it?"

Jacqueline laughed in spite of herself. "I think that's the word I've been searching for all day," she decided.

The roadside inn fulfilled Larry's fondest hopes. Even Jacqueline discovered that she was hungry sitting at a cozy table lighted by shaded candles. About them was the low hum of conversation white-jacketed waiters moving about unobtrusively, left straight alone at last.

"Will you join me in a little something. . . .to our united health?" Larry suggested.

Jacqueline was startled from her reverie by the question. "No, thank you. I don't. . .I'm not a very good sport. But you order something for yourself."

"Of course I won't. Didn't I tell you that I never took a drink alone. Here's to you. . ." He lifted his glass of water with a smile. The waiter, by the way, was the perfect host and entertainer to his bride.

Their waiter, a phin Negro with flashing white teeth, brought up the memory of an incident in Egypt, a trip up the Nile in a dahabeah with a friend.

Jacqueline leaned forward to ask breathlessly, "It wasn't Mr. Allen, was it?"

Larry's heart laugh-caused many diners to regard him in mild surprise.

"No. This is straight goods."

"I'm so glad. Then you have traveled."

Larry's father. On fig dad's bounty at first, spent most of my vacations going about. He was very strong for things. I wanted to make a big strike, win a good pot."

"And you, Vince, Jacqueline thought. Then she asked, "Has your father been dead for some time?"

"Thirteen years." Larry's mouth set in a sudden grim line. "Rather a er tough, too. Lost everything he had and. . .as a matter of fact, he killed himself."

"Oh, please, I'm sorry."

"That's quite all right. I'll tell you about it some day, if you care to hear it. Not to-night."

Then he was talking again of his mining quests. Making a stake here and there, moving to new fields. Mexico. Down into Dahlia where they were finding diamonds out of the river gravel. Over into Bolivia. Back to Chile. Back to the States for a try at gold panning in California.

Jacqueline followed the Ancold with shining eyes and bated breath, almost forgetting to eat in her excitement at uncovering so great a mine of information. For the time being, the earlier affairs of the day and their significance were forgotten. She was seeing the Land of Heart's Desire almost through her own eyes.

"I'm afraid you got me wound up," Larry remarked with an apologetic laugh, glancing at his wrist watch. "I didn't mean to deliver such a travelogue."

Jacqueline's eyes, as well as her lips, said that. It all was very wonderful. . . .And so over with. Larry was signaling the waiter to bring the bill. No more talks like this. It seemed just a little sad.

When they went out to the car it was very nearly dark. Larry produced a light leather coat from the trunk and insisted that Jack wear it.

"You'll find it cooler on the way back," he explained.

Those homeward miles were covered in almost complete silence. Both the riders were busy with their reflections, finding relief in each other's willingness to refrain from speech.

Larry knew he was fighting down desire, his jaw grimly set. Here was the end of his happiest day. . . .Forced to hide by the rules he had drawn up. . . .Caught in his own code. He would play the game to the end but. . . only because he must. It hurt, Jack, here in her mind as well. It all was so unreal.

Courtland street at last. The roadster stopped before the door of the Cutter home. Jack already formulated a plan of procedure.

With a quick move, she opened the door and stepped out and closed it behind her.

"Good night. . ." she began. Then she gave an unsteady laugh. "I came very near saying that I didn't have a nice time, I did!"

"Thank you." Larry's hands were grasping the wheel hard. "I will see you soon. . . .But you needn't worry about anything."

And Jacqueline was gone. Into the vestibule where she fitted her key into the lock with trembling fingers. Down the long gloomy hall. Home again.

(To be Continued)

GET RELIEF FROM PILES This Amazingly Easy Way

Many persons have found relief from the torment of simple piles, thanks to a single, easy-to-use, internal medication. Here's how to relieve this condition. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is specifically designed to relieve pain directly by one of these two ways. It gives you the relief you want—or your money back! Don't suffer another day! Get Hem-Roid from your druggist today. Follow the easy directions in the package. Relief from pain, itching, irritation, and discomfort due to simple piles should be yours in a few days—or your money back! Don't delay! Get Hem-Roid today! Only 60c at druggists.

Proved by a Practical Model!

Hem-Roid is a practical model of Dr. Leonhardt's Hemorrhoidal Suppository Treatment, which has been used in Canada for over 20 years. Hem-Roid relieves pain in two ways: (1) by a local anesthetic which relieves the pain almost instantly, and (2) by a healing ointment which relieves irritation and discomfort. Hem-Roid is guaranteed by complete satisfaction or your money back.

Try Hem-Roid today! It must relieve simple piles to your satisfaction in a few days (1) or your money back! Only 60c at druggists.

CJBQ

"The Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

CJBQ (1230 k)

THURSDAY EVENING

4.00 p.m.—Table for Two
4.15 p.m.—News
4.30 p.m.—Trentonian Ranch Riders
5.00 p.m.—Table for Two
7.00 p.m.—Goldman Band
7.30 p.m.—Behind the News
7.30 p.m.—Do You Remember
8.00 p.m.—On the Spotlight
7.45 p.m.—Piano Moods
8.00 p.m.—Billy Cotton's Operatic Programme
10.00 p.m.—Under the Clubs
10.30 p.m.—Dance Roundup
10.45 p.m.—Reverie
11.00 p.m.—Serve the King

FRIDAY

7.00 a.m.—Overland News
7.05 a.m.—Up with the Sun
7.30 a.m.—Morning Police
8.00 a.m.—News
8.05 a.m.—Sweet Toast
8.30 a.m.—Melody Hour
9.00 a.m.—Morning Devotions
9.15 a.m.—Pleasure Parade
9.30 a.m.—Music for Dishwashing
9.45 a.m.—On the Mall
10.00 a.m.—Going to Town
10.30 a.m.—News
10.45 a.m.—Pet Loud
11.00 a.m.—Betty and Bob
11.05 a.m.—The Waltz Lives On
11.30 a.m.—Melody Time
11.45 a.m.—Noontime Serenade
12.00 noon—Noon Means Lopez
12.30 p.m.—Five Minute Mysteries
1.00 p.m.—Checkered Rhythms
1.15 p.m.—Farmers' Exchange
1.30 p.m.—News
1.45 p.m.—Afternoon Music
2.00 p.m.—Melody Matinee
2.15 p.m.—Farm Fair
2.30 p.m.—Music Makers Range
3.30 p.m.—Shopping News in Belleville
3.45 p.m.—Norman Cloutier Orchestra
4.00 p.m.—Today in Parliament
4.15 p.m.—Melody for Strings
4.30 p.m.—Sandy Dee
5.00 p.m.—Magazine for Women
5.30 p.m.—Music of Manhattan
6.00 p.m.—News
6.15 p.m.—Tea Time Topics
6.30 p.m.—Melody for Tea
7.00 p.m.—1-2-3 Club
7.30 p.m.—Canadian Story Time
8.00 p.m.—Western Review
8.30 p.m.—Hits of the Day
9.00 p.m.—Hit Tunes of the Week

Network Programs

THURSDAY EVENING

4.00 p.m.
CBL—Victory Parade
WBEN—News, 615—Sports
4.15 p.m.
CFRB—News; Farm Markets'
4.30 p.m.
CBL—News Time—Hit Tunes
4.45 p.m.
WBEN—Jack Haley, Eve Arden
WBEW—Children's Hour; Sid Collect
CFRB—Home on the Range
CHSC—Dance Band Remote Show
5.00 p.m.—George Hicks Show
CBL—News; Photographer
5.30 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—Vaughn Monroe
CBOC—CBC National News
6.00 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—Phone Again Flanagan
CFRB—Dinner Music
CHSC—Dance Band Show
6.15 p.m.
CFRB, WBEN, WKBW—News
6.30 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Mr. Keen
CBOC—Captains Industry
CFRB—Lum an Abner
WBEN-NBC—Professor Quiz
WBEW—Johnny Morgan Show
7.00 p.m.
WBEN—The Frontiersmen
7.30 p.m.
CBL—Radio Repertory
WBEN-NBC—Grandad Playhouse
CFRB—Hi-Variety
WGR-CBS—Suspense
8.30 p.m.
CFRB—Mark Warnow Orch.
WBEN—Meredith Willson Orch.
CBL—Stage and Screen
WKBW-ABC—Town Meeting
9.00 p.m.
CBL, CBOC—Rise Stevens
CFRB, CKTB—Dick Haymes Show
9.30 p.m.
WBEW—Jack Haley, Eve Arden
WKBW—Children's Hour; Sid Collect
CFRB—Home on the Range
CHSC—Dance Band Remote Show
10.00 p.m.—George Hicks Show
CBL—News; Photographer
10.30 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—Vaughn Monroe
CBOC—CBC National News
10.45 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—Phone Again Flanagan
CFRB—Dinner Music
CHSC—Dance Band Show
11.00 p.m.
CFRB, WBEN, WKBW—News
11.10 p.m.
CFRB—John Collingwood Reade
11.15 p.m.
WBEN—Joe Wasp Ironic Reporter
WKBW-ABC—Dance Orch.
11.30 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Guy Lombards Orch.
11.45 p.m.
CFRB—Tommy Tucker Orch.
CBL—Concert of Nations

LUMINOUS DIAMOND

A diamond rubbed or laid in the sunlight for a while will glow in the dark.

TO LET

FURNISHED BEDROOM, BREAKfast room, kitchenette, bath, $40 per month. Apply 163 Ann St., or phone 3693 after 6.

EXCHANGE RENTAL, NICE 6 ROOM modern house, Kingston Road district, for Belleville property. Apply Intelligencer. Write Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer. A15-tf

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

OPTOMETRISTS

NORMAN E. EDWARDS, R.O.
G. S. WONNACOTT, R.O.
OPTOMETRISTS
Belleville Ontario
OFFICE HOURS—10 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m.
WEDNESDAYS — 10 to 12 a.m.
Phone 3693 for appointment.

CONTRACTOR

FRED ELGIE
BONDED BUILDER AND ROOFING CONTRACTOR
Residence and Office
BELLEVILLE — 3226

OLD TAVERN BAR-B-Q
HIGHWAY NO. 2
Have your next banquet, wedding or party here. Phone Parks, in our private Dining Room.

MEDICAL

DR. LILY B. MATHIESON
Phone 342 BELLEVILLE
OFFICE HOURS:
2.30 to 3.30 p.m.
7.30 to 8.30 p.m.
Wednesday, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY
2.30 p.m. to 11.30 a.m.
Dr. Mathieson will be away from August 1st to August 15th.

ACCOUNTANTS

LANGLEITE and SAUNDERSCOOK
Chartered Accountants
Belleville, Financial statements, Audits, Income Tax
Kingston Bldg. Phone 3724
KINGSTON Dial 9724

A. M. RICHARDS & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Phone 3228 Front Street
BELLEVILLE

DAVID STONE & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Investment Tax Consultants
REGENT BUILDING — FRONT ST.
Telephone 111

W. S. STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT
209 PINNACLE STREET
BELLEVILLE
Telephone 3409

PHILLIPS M. TILL
Certified Public Accountant
BELLEVILLE
Phone 3276 Belleville

MILLER & STONE

CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS
2 Front St. 514 Dundas St. W
Belleville Toronto
Phone 1186 Phone AD-2815

CHIROPRACTOR

A. WYATT, PH.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist. Office and residence, 251 Bridge St. E. Phone 3602. Office hours, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Consultation, manipulative surgery and electrotherapy free. Graduate of Canadian Chiropractic College, Toronto. 329 Holmes St., Belleville. Phone 3602. A15-tf

INSURANCE

Fire insurance effected on any risk at the lowest rates in first class companies. Fire loss settled promptly.
SANDY BURROWS
HOWARD FROST
LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
9 Front St. Phone 68

HALL & EARLE
ACCIDENT and PLATE GLASS
and Insurance, Fire, Automobile
FRONT ST. PHONE 118W

BUSINESS LINERS

FOR SALE—Cutters for sale with or without horses. Apply to Fred Goodman (Realtor — Auctioneer — member of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards and of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards), 166 Front Street, Belleville, or phone the City Hall. Phone 95—Home 3226. A15-tf

LOST — Lost, between Belleville and Trenton, on Highway No. 2, a Ladies' Wrist Watch. Finder please return to Intelligencer Office. Reward. A15

LOST — Lost, on Saturday, August 10th, a Ladies' Leather Wallet containing money and valuable papers

Dehydrated Biographies

(The Chicago Sun)

We are prepared to join a movement for the dehydration of autobiographies. With the typical memoir you could fell an ox at 10 paces — and the effect on the reader is often the same. Rambling and repetitive prolixity seems to be an earmark of the art. Why so? Is there any reason why a book should be badly edited and badly constructed simply because it happens to deal with a public figure's personal experience? We are not counseling the book-ends to capsulize. The "digest" formula has gone far too far, already. But there must be a golden mean. Let the autobiographer submit to a good, tenhearted copyreader—just enough to deflate the hot air, squeeze out the excess matter, trim the unnecessary fat—and everybody will be happier.

Pitcairn Worried

The world which the people of Pitcairn Island renounced six generations ago is pressing back upon their descendants, and in strange and menacing forms, says The Montreal Gazette.

It was in the year 1790 that the mutineers of H.M.S. Bounty, with some women from Otahelte, fled to Pitcairn Island and found in its isolation their surest protection from pursuit. Nothing seems to have been known of their existence until the island was visited in 1808. In 1856, when the population of 192 persons was proving too much for Pitcairn's limited resources, many moved to neighboring Norfolk Island.

The islands and their people preserved much of their isolation into the present century. Barter and exchange were more popular than currency until late in the 1890's. The two or three, hundred tourists who visited the latest annually during the 1930's lands annually during the 1930's most of them from New Zealand, were regarded more as adventurers than holiday-makers.

But in Pitcairn and Norfolk Islands the modern and the archaic are now strangely blended. The grid of a radar installation thrusts its skeleton of steel the starkly against the sky on the summit of Norfolk Island's highest point. New Zealand forces, who occupied the islands during the war, have left behind motor cars and jeeps. Airplanes with "the thunder of silver winged birds" are now often seen.

The islands recently had their first royal visitors—the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester. They were entertained at a traditional feast, when a great tablecloth was spread upon the grass. They were charmed at the rich, incredible green of the little hills and valleys; by ever-changing opalescents-hues; the exotic yellow cactus flowers; the delicate mauve water hyacinth.

Yet the people of the islands —the Bounty's descendants— are not happy that at last the world is coming to them. They have heard of the devastating experiments with atomic explosions in the Pacific and are pondering the effects upon themselves.

In their dialect, with its quaint mixture of old-fashioned West Coast English and Tahitian, they are asking their new visitors the question: "Waterway you?" ("How are you getting on?") And their visitors can hardly reassure them that the new world that is coming to them is any better than that from which their ancestors fled 156 years ago.

Point Anne

Point Anne — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis of Belleville spent Sunday visiting friends in Point Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. Maher of Point Anne are spending their vacation camping at Stittsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Howard of Peterboro spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Akey, Point Anne.

Gorlin and Ronald Arkills of Detroit spent a few days last week visiting in Point Anne with their uncle, Mr. William Baxter.

Mrs. Short of Belleville is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Roy McDonald, Point Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Sedore and family spent the weekend in Toronto visiting friends and relatives. They were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. C. Bonnefoe and family who will spend some time with Mr. and Mrs. Sedore.

"Hounded" by HEADACHES

Bleeding pain, constant throbbing can make life a misery! Don't be tortured by the fear of the headache to follow! Relief from the headache, backache, muscular pain, dizziness, nervousness, tiredness and many symptoms of the system, headache, backache, muscular pain, dizziness, nervousness and

Probabilities

Lake Ontario Region: Fog and thunderstorms, drizzle tonight. Cloudy Saturday and continued warm, warm clearing in the afternoon. Low 62, high 81.

Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 16, 1946

Temperatures

Today ..... Max. 86
One Year Ago 74
Weather Bureau 68

3c Per Copy, 18c Per Week

RUSSIA BLASTED FOR DELAYING CONFERENCE

18 Young Jews To Die for Attack On Haifa Railroad

Belonged to Outlawed Jewish Underground Gang

Jerusalem, Aug. 16 (CP)—Eighteen defiant and singing young Jews today were sentenced to death for blowing the Haifa railroad shops in a night attack. Four Jewish women were given life terms.

The sentences were passed soon after the outlawed Irgun Zvai Leumi exhorted the Jews to general revolt and the Vaad Leumi, the national council for Palestine Jews, asked the Jews in the strife-ridden land to begin a non-cooperation campaign Monday.

The country still was tense over the issue of British deportation of illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus. Two small ships were reported to have brought 900 more illegal immigrants to the coast before dawn without being detected. The immigrants were said to have been dispersed among Palestine settlers.

The 22 Jews were tried in absentia three days ago on charges from the court room for singing and creating other disturbances during proceedings. After the military court reached its decisions, the captives were led into the court room and ordered to fill empty ammunition boxes facing the tribunal.

Sane Moves

When the President read the verdict, the Jews sang "Hatikvah", Jewish hymn of nationalism so loudly it was impossible to hear the court's sentence.

The trial lasted four days. At the start, the Jews demanded treatment as "prisoners of war" and challenged the right of the military court to try them.

All 22 were convicted. Act 1 road block which troops established a few minutes after the raid at Haifa, several weeks ago. The defendants were accused of belonging to the outlawed Stern gang, Jewish underground group.

Testing the law, the defendants encountered the road block and opened fire. Soldiers returned fire and several of the defendants' companions were killed. Others were wounded.

The second wave bombed during the week of terror in which eight bridges were blasted, a train was wrecked and two British officers were kidnapped in Tel Aviv.

Army on Alert

The British army, meanwhile, stood by in full alert to meet the possibility of "general revolt" by Jews as urged by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, and military establishments described the situation throughout Palestine as in a state of "dreadful hush."

Reports from Tel Aviv today said that approximately 200 illegal Jewish immigrants had landed in the last week in the night and disappeared before they could be identified.

There was no immediate confirmation of the report.

There was much disappointment in Jewish quarters at the report of criticism by President Truman had declined to approve United States participation in the plan to divide Palestine into federal areas.

One qualified Jewish leader said the American White paper, if correctly stated, was a "shameful breach of faith and failure to discharge a moral obligation."

An Arab spokesman, on the other hand, commented:

"It's high time America realized she is not required to pull Britain's chestnuts out of the fire."

Another Arab leader declared: "If the report is true, it means that American statesmen are finally realizing that the British alone must bear responsibility for the political blunder caused in this beleaguered country."

At Famagusta, Cyprus, the first contingent of deported Jewish refugees greeted their first night behind the barbed wire of a detention camp with cheers, although pushed away by military officials, caught glimpses of the refugees after they appeared tanned, fit and well-nourished.

Troops on the Move

(By The Canadian Press)

Home Reception

Arrived at Halifax—Aquitania (Cherbourg) returning to Canada 1,300 service personnel.

Exceeds 626 MPH In Trial Flight For World Record

By STUART UNDERHILL

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Tangmere, Sussex, England, Aug. 16 — Squadron Ldr. William A. Waterton of Edmonton today whizzed above this seaside village at more than 626 miles an hour in a trial flight for an official attempt at the existing world air speed record of 606 miles an hour held by Group Capt. H. J. Wilson of the R.A.F. Squadron Ldr. Waterton's time had no official standing and though the exact figure was given it was known to be slightly lower than the 626-miles-an-hour run achieved Tuesday by Group Capt. E. M. Donaldson in another trial flight that also will not go down in the record books.

Weather conditions still delayed official attempts on the record which, if made, will be the first to make before the week ends. They are waiting for a clear, warm day when the air is not "bumpy."

Chief Constable R. M. Poulter, RAF meteorological officer, said after the flight to study weather that the temperature was only 57 degrees Fahrenheit and "I do not think an official run on record can be made before Monday."

Issue Is Freedom Or Dictatorship

—Premier Drew

Dryden, Aug. 16—(CP)—Premier Drew of Ontario said last night he could foresee the possibility of "another war" if British officers were kidnapped in Tel Aviv.

Army on Alert

The British army, meanwhile, stood by in full alert to meet the possibility of "general revolt" by Jews as urged by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, and military establishments described the situation throughout Palestine as in a state of "dreadful hush."

Reports from Tel Aviv today said that approximately 200 illegal Jewish immigrants had landed in the last week in the night and disappeared before they could be identified.

There was no immediate confirmation of the report.

There was much disappointment in Jewish quarters at the report of criticism by President Truman had declined to approve United States participation in the plan to divide Palestine into federal areas.

One qualified Jewish leader said the American White paper, if correctly stated, was a "shameful breach of faith and failure to discharge a moral obligation."

An Arab spokesman, on the other hand, commented:

"It's high time America realized she is not required to pull Britain's chestnuts out of the fire."

Another Arab leader declared: "If the report is true, it means that American statesmen are finally realizing that the British alone must bear responsibility for the political blunder caused in this beleaguered country."

At Famagusta, Cyprus, the first contingent of deported Jewish refugees greeted their first night behind the barbed wire of a detention camp with cheers, although pushed away by military officials, caught glimpses of the refugees after they appeared tanned, fit and well-nourished.

RCMP Official Seeks Quiet Life After Career Stranger Than Fiction

Winnipeg, Aug. 16 — (CP) — Take a chapter from Kipling, another from Robert Service, season with Jack London, stir in a pinch of pulp magazine fiction, and you'll have the career of Assistant-Commissioner T. V. Sandy Wood of the R.C.M.P., a story-book hero if there ever was one.

He has ridden with the Camel Corps in the Middle East, fought with the Belgian cavalry in Flanders, holds a world's revolver record, has had a bear hug broken by a crazy trapper, and makes his own flaming fires out of Polar Bear hairs.

Now, at the age of 54, he is retiring from his post as supervisor of the R.C.M.P.'s Manitoba district. His plans: a quiet existence in Duncan, B.C., with his wife and ten year old son Colin.

The husky Englishman joined the R.C.M.P. as a trumpeter in 1911. When war was declared in 1914, he handed his way out of the force and enlisted. He was wounded and decorated with the Y-cr Cross for capturing seven Germans and saving the regimental flag.

He rejoined the R.C.M.P. as a sergeant in 1919, and spent the next 27 years in all three provinces, the Yukon and the Canadian Arctic. One of his assignments took him to the Hudson Bay district of northern B.C., where he lived in a tent measuring 12 by 16 miles on foot in 37 hours to capture Indian murderers.

In 1937, he shot it out with an Alberta desperado, "Ab the Yukon." When one of the trapper's bullets broke his hand, he was forced to shoot back to kill. He didn't miss.

Accuracy with a revolver and rifle was won his assistant commissioner a world-wide reputation. He was once an adjutant of the Canadian Bisley Team for 10 consecutive hits in a one-inch bulls-eye with a 45 service revolver.

His colored beadwork has won several Dominion prizes, but even if this isn't "stay stuff" for a hero of the north, he has a flair for men to do women's work, what with women stepping into so many "male occupations" these days.

SHARP EXCHANGE FEATURES VETS DEBATE IN HOUSE

Concerns Homes That Are Built on Small Holdings Under The Veterans Land Act

By DOUGLAS HOW
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 16 — (CP)—The Commons went into the estimates of the Department of Veterans Affairs yesterday in a discussion dominated by exchanges concerning home builds on small holdings under the Veterans Land Act.

Continuing the debate on the 11 p.m. sittings, it also finished off the estimates of the Agriculture Department with the end of a two-day debate on the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act.

The agriculture debate was featured by strong criticism of the Progressive Conservative leader, Manion, with the CCF and Social Credit members generally approving it.

At the outset, the Commons heard three important announcements:

1. National registration has been abandoned.

2. All restrictions on distribution of new cars have been removed.

3. Canada's deserters and absentees (including Albertans) in military books without entitlement to veterans' benefits.

In the Upper House, Senator Buchanan (Alberta) tabled the report of the Senate Tourist Committee, recommending Federal assistance to the provinces for construction of high standard roads to encourage tourist traffic. The Senate also heard record opposition to the Ivory sign exchange control bill and referred it to a committee. A report from the Banking committee, recommending that the bill revoking the Bankruptcy Act be dropped for this session, was accepted.

In the Commons, the Veterans Department estimates were tabled at the hour of two of the outstanding exchanges of the day.

Veterans Minister Mackenzie finally stormed "I object" at the interjections of fellow Vancouverite, James Sinclair (L — Vancouver North) for an answer to a contention that a recent order by Reconstruction Minister Howe

SHARP EXCHANGE—Page 3

WRITS ISSUED
FOR BY-ELECTIONS

Ottawa, Aug. 16 — (Can. Press) — Writs were issued today for general by-elections in Portage La Prairie riding in Manitoba, and Toronto Parkdale in Ontario, announced today.

Polling in both constituencies will be Oct. 21, while nomination day will be Thursday, September 26. Oct. 7, and in Toronto Parkdale Oct. 9, the day after Thanksgiving Day.

The by-elections were made necessary in Portage La Prairie by the death of Harry Leader, Liberal member, and in Parkdale by the resignation of Dr. H. A. Bruce, Progressive Conservative member.

Aim of German Reds To Destroy Capitalism And Set Up Socialism

Berlin, Aug. 16 (AP) — Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, Commander of United States occupation forces in Germany, said today in a monthly report that the ultimate objective of the Communist Party is "to destroy the capitalist system and establish a Socialist state with a classless society."

Gen McNarney attributed the steps objectives to the Berlin-sponsored Socialist Unity Party, formed in the Soviet occupation zone by a merger of Communists and Socialist Democrats. He added the Communist campaign "contains a threat to resort to revolutionary means if the capitalist class forsakes the ground of democracy."

This official United States assessment of what the Communists have done in the Russian zone to make of post-war Germany was in sharp contrast to the long-standing four-power stalemate over wiping out zonal boundaries and treating Germany as all economic whole, the American and British authorities had agreed in an agreement on close cooperation in the west.

At the outset, the Commons heard three important announcements:

1. National registration has been abandoned.

2. All restrictions on distribution of new cars have been removed.

3. Canada's deserters and absentees (including Albertans) in military books without entitlement to veterans' benefits.

In the Upper House, Senator Buchanan (Alberta) tabled the report of the Senate Tourist Committee, recommending Federal assistance to the provinces for construction of high standard roads to encourage tourist traffic. The Senate also heard record opposition to the Ivory sign exchange control bill and referred it to a committee. A report from the Banking committee, recommending that the bill revoking the Bankruptcy Act be dropped for this session, was accepted.

In the Commons, the Veterans Department estimates were tabled at the hour of two of the outstanding exchanges of the day.

Veterans Minister Mackenzie finally stormed "I object" at the interjections of fellow Vancouverite, James Sinclair (L — Vancouver North) for an answer to a contention that a recent order by Reconstruction Minister Howe

SHARP EXCHANGE—Page 3

HOPE OF EARLY SETTLEMENT IN STRIKE EBBS LOW

Employees and Management Effort Entrenched With 5½-Cent Gap Between Them

By JACK WILLIAMS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 16 — (CP)—Canada's steel strike, after a four-week investigation by a conciliation board, appeared today to rest on normal bargaining lines with little likelihood of an early settlement.

With the strike, affecting 15,000 workers, in its fifth week the day strikers and employers seemed entrenched behind 5½-cent-an-hour cents gap between them.

The 15 ridings, both constituencies will be Oct. 21, while nomination day will be Thursday, September 26. Oct. 7, and in Toronto Parkdale Oct. 9, the day after Thanksgiving Day.

The by-elections were made necessary in Portage La Prairie by the death of Harry Leader, Liberal member, and in Parkdale by the resignation of Dr. H. A. Bruce, Progressive Conservative member.

A file of correspondence disclosed that the steelworkers were standing by their demand for assurance of an increase of 17½ cents an hour. The Steel Company of Canada and Hamilton are adhering to its offer of 10 cents which has been endorsed by the government.

Mr. Brockington had proposed the strikers accept a 10-cent increase and submit their demands beyond that figure to arbitration. He reported to the committee he was unable to reach an agreement. Concentrate on Steics

Last night's statement by Mr. Lalonde made it clear that negotiations had been concentrated on Steics rather than on the 17½-cent increase before the strike. Algoma Steel Corp., of Sault Ste. Marie, had made an eight cent offer while Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., Sydney, had made the position that it was financially unable to meet any increase.

In his proposal Mr. Brockington suggested that the government should be empowered to act for any intervention necessary to make the settlement effective at Dosco and Algoma. He was careful, however, to say his recommendations were made as a compromise proposal and were not to be regarded as his judgment of the merits of the dispute or as having government authorization.

HOPE OF EARLY—Page 5

ONTARIO MAYORS AND REEVES HEAR PREMIER G. DREW

Declares There Should be More Dominion-Provincial Fairly Co-ordinated Efforts

By WILF GRUSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Fort William, Aug. 16 — (CP) — Premier George Drew of Ontario Mayors and Reeves annual conference today sensing the end of two days' program after hearing Premier George Drew outline last night the province's fundamental stand at the Dominion-Provincial conference.

Three more conference sessions were scheduled today with the first to be presided over by Controller W. Weir of Hamilton, representing Mayor Sam Lawrence who was prevented from attending by illness. The second session was Mayor J. Emil Jolliffe of Windsor and the third, Mayor George S. Robb of Smith Falls.

Premier Drew, in his dinner speech which the Canadian Manufacturers' Corporation transmitted throughout Ontario, said that the Dominion Provincial conferences should be attended by members of the major legislative bodies.

But the Ontario government, he said, is "not interested in becoming a "mere puppet" administration. "We will be co-operate to the very limit" with the Dominion Government.

"Unless we know that we are not going to find ourselves crowded out of this tremendous tax fields, we would place ourselves in a position of complete dependence upon the Dominion government from year to year," he said.

Eight Mayors Heard

During the opening day, the conference heard reports from eight Ontario chief magistrates.

The delegates heard Mayor George Ingle of Niagara Falls in his presidential address, the treasurer's report of Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa, the report of the executive secretary and Municipal Affairs Minister George H. Dunbar and five other mayors.

These were Mayor W. H. Mathews of Brantford, speaking "On School-Grants in Relation to Taxation," J. Maurice King, of Stratford, on "Planning and Development," C. McAllister of Leaside, on "The Fuel Situation", Wm. Willoughby of St. Catharines on "The Tourist Today" and J. G. Brown, of Kitchmates out of kilter — but never has been such a big gap between the bitter cycles of prosperity and depression almost forgotten and many a battered farm gleams with the richness of bumper crops generally ripened early. In the north rich mineral areas of Ontario and is causing light fog and drizzle over most of southern Ontario this morning. In the slightly drier air over the Muskoka district and there are thunderstorms and this air is expected to move into southern Ontario tomorrow. Cooler air covers northern Ontario and the Prairie provinces. Calgary reported snow this morning with a temperature of 33 degrees.

NEW WAVE OF STRIKES RUFFLES LABOR PICTURE

Over 40 U.S. Cargo Ships on Great Lakes Are Idle; Strike Called On Southern Pacific

New York, Aug. 16 — (AP) Vital industrial materials still moved across the Great Lakes today as the C.I.O. United Steelworkers of America spread slowly.

A union spokesman said "well over 40" of the 400 American-flag cargo ships operating on the five lakes were strikebound on the controversial issue of the walkout. Canadian ships and seamen were not affected.

Whether Troy ore, coal, grain and oil traffic would be moved still was an uncertainty as negotiations in Washington on the union's demands for shorter hours and wage adjustments collapsed. C. I. O. members and non-striking A. F. L. seamen got into a fist fight on the docks in Detroit last night, but the M.N.U. claimed A.F.L. support in some ports. A spokesman for Cleveland, where A. F. L. sailors were reported to have walked off a passenger ship.

Meanwhile, a strike threatened on the Southern Pacific Railroad system, and Press Wireless, Inc., announced a company-wide reduction plan to federal conciliators in an effort to prevent a threatened dispute with the American Communications Association (C.I.O.).

Press Wireless proposed that a three-man arbitration panel be set up to decide whether it had violated its contract in calling for a strike of 300 employees. Reinstatement of 46 discharged employees would be sought by the panel's decision.

Meanwhile, 8,000 Southern Pacific employees, members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, set a strike date of 12 noon next Wednesday, but entrance into the dispute of the National Mediation Board brought hope that a Railway Mediation Act procedure would be involved to forestall a strike at least 60 days.

Restarting a stalled coal mine file the calm which has prevailed in the bituminous fields of the past few days. The strike of 3,000 members of the United Mine Workers of America (C.I.O.) and the A.F.L. bakers in 13 plants went into the second day, but no bread supply also was reduced by a strike in retail shops.

First Lobster Caught In Sault Waters

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 16 — (CP) — Arthur Paulson yesterday laid claim to the distinction of being the first person ever to catch a lobster in district waters. He said it was only a little four inch creature he pulled up on the shores of St. Mary's river in a genuine lobster and his wife corroborates his story. They're keeping it in a gallon jug and it seems to be thriving.

Prospect West Wheat Crop Cheering In Year of World's Greatest Need

For hungry Britain and Europe no Canadian harvest has been more important as this crop of 1946. In the Canadian West, reports from the checks with western farm leaders bring the first figures of a generally optimistic that Canada's crop during this year will go far to help feed the hungry.

By DAVID McQUEEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, Aug. 16 — (CP) — Sunshine and intermittent thunderstorms of a typical prairie midsummer pattern brought to the Canadian West yesterday and the right proportions to give western farmers expectation of a good crop in their first quarter century when Europe looks to Canada for food more urgently than ever before.

In the words of official Ottawa, at this writing, the story of the 1946 crop is:

"Prospects appear to be fairly good and some areas anticipate bumper yields."

On the actual land you find that production had weather can still throw the best of esti-

Let's Do Something N.Z. Delegate Asks Members of Parley

Denounces Russo Delegation For "This Blasted Old Rot"

The American representative on 40th commission, Benjamin V. Cohen, and Mr. Vishinsky left out of order in bringing up the question of the composition of the commission. He said the United States saw no reason why France should not be a full member.

"We should proceed with the organization of the commission," Mr. Cohen said.

Dmitri Manuilsky, chief of the Ukrainian delegation, was applauded as chairman of the Romanian commission by acclamation after his nomination by Canada.

Nawzaj Ahuja of India, was elected vice-chairman, also by acclamation. The meeting concluded immediately after the election.

The point brought up by Mr. Vishinsky was left for later consideration.

The Commissions for Bulgaria and Hungary which also were scheduled to organize this morning did not meet because of the time consumed by the Romanian Commission.

The day's agenda had scheduled the appointment of chairmen of the various commissions which will study the detailed clauses in the treaty drafts for Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary, Italy and Rumania.

Finland, last of the former enemy states to be dealt with, had a full plenary session of the 31-member conference on the agenda once, pleased yesterday for technical reasons to hear Finnish reparations and met with an honorable rebuff from Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia.

Once Boy Emperor Testifies At Trial of Japs

By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, Aug. 16 (AP)—Henry Pu-Yi today defended his acceptance of the puppet throne of Manchukuo as "helping united action in the face of Japanese pressure."

Pu-Yi, a nervous little man in horn-rimmed glasses, testified at the trial of Japan's war leaders when he was the Puppet Emperor.

Recounting the 14-year-old intrigue that led him to the false throne of the Japanese-created state, the last of the Manchu Emperors testified:

"At that time (1932 and 1933) the democratic nations were suffering the most intense attack internally alone as an individual would be able to withstand them."

At the end of the day's session Pu-Yi left the courtroom as he had arrived—in a rickshaw drawn by two coolies.

The court's sing-song regional background as Pu-Yi, one-time boy Emperor of China, slipped into the witness box. He was dressed as "witness" and he gave his name as "Henry Pu-Yi."

Former Premier Hideki Tojo and the other defendants have showed interest in Pu-Yi's testimony, Tokyo notes say.

Twisting nervously, Pu-Yi related that he was born in 1906 in the Forbidden City in Peking of three upon the death of his uncle, the last Empress dowager of China.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Aug. 16—(CP)—Synopsis at 9:30 A.M.: Southern Ontario continues warm. Temperatures have brought warm thunderstorms to southern Ontario and is causing light fog and drizzle over most of southern Ontario this morning. In the slightly drier air over the Muskoka district and there are thunderstorms and this air is expected to move into southern Ontario tomorrow. Cooler air covers northern Ontario and the Prairie provinces. Calgary reported snow this morning with a temperature of 33 degrees.

ONTARIO MAYORS—Page 11

City and District News

EQUIPMENT INSTALLED BY NORTHERN ELECTRIC

Due to an oversight, it was not mentioned in Wednesday's Radio Column of the Ontario Intelligencer that the equipment for the radio station CJBQ was installed by Northern Electric foreman J. Orchin assisted by equipment supervisor, Mr. Cory.

SERVICE, ACCESSORIES DEPARTMENT ADDED TO SERVE CUSTOMERS

In order to supply his customers with the best of service, "Al" Reynolds of the Belleville Motor Car Company Ltd., has installed a new service parts and accessories department for all Ford products. Mr. Reynolds has the agency for Mercury and Lincoln cars as well as Mercury trucks and this service parts department has added to an already modern equipment all the latest tools and instruments that are necessary in the repair and service work according to manufacturer's specifications. Mr. Reynolds will not only be able to supply his own customers but is well equipped to handle all business from neighboring garages handling Ford products. He also has equipped to handle repair parts and service for Massey-Harris tractors and farm implements.

Mr. Jack Patterson is in charge of service at the well equipped garage and George Purvis, who has had many years experience in the parts department with the Ford factory, will be in charge of the parts department.

SIX NEW MEMBERS JOIN CANADIAN LEGION

Members of the Canadian Legion branch in this city will take part in the Decoration Day services on Sunday, August 18th, it was motion made at the monthly meeting held Thursday night in the clubrooms when Col. H. F. Smith was in the chair and made an appeal that all members turn out to honor their departed comrades. The parade will line up at the Armouries at 1.45 p.m. and move off at 2.00 p.m., accompanied by the massed bands of the Salvation Army and Pilots Band of Belleville. The members will also enjoy their recreation this fall and winter for it was decided to enter them in the Commercial Bowling League and in the City League of their own. The commercial league will open in the second week in September and

A18-1m

Know the future — Consult
MADAME CLEO
Handwriting Expert
Palmist Card Reader
23 Station St. Phone 2815M

A18-1m

SUMMER COLOGNES
—RUBENSTEN
Apple Blossom, Exclusive Blend
—HENLEY'S
Country Garden $1.25
—ADRIENNE 65c $1.10
—LOVE 85c $1.25
—TAILSPIN $1.50
—BALALAIKA $1.50

McKEOWN'S
DRUG STORE
Phone 183
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

English Style
HEALTH SALTS
Full Pound Tin
59c
George Pauley
DRUGGIST PHONE 105
WE DELIVER

FLOWERS
For All Occasions
PALMER'S
WE DELIVER
16 RIDLEY AVE.
Phone 3707-W

J31WFtf

FLOOR SANDING
"New Floor SANDED and FINISHED
Old Floors RESURFACED and BLADE LESS NEW.
GLEN ELLIOT
198 Dufferin Ave. Phone 3080

A16-1m

bowling will be every Wednesday night.

Six new members were admitted to membership with Comp. Tommy Mason transferring to the local branch from Peterborough. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

UPPER SCHOOL EXAMS RESULTS NOT YET RECEIVED

The Belleville Collegiate today announced that thus far it has had no report from the Department of Education as to the time of the results of the Upper School Examination results.

Officials of the Ontario Intelligence and the Collegiate office have been "swamped" with telephone calls from curious students and parents, but to date no information is available.

The Department has not forwarded the results and has given no intimation as to when they will be sent here. As soon as the information arrives, it will be published.

COMBINED BANDS TO GIVE CONCERTS

On Sunday morning the Salvation Army Band and the Trenton and Belleville, will hold an open-air service shortly after ten o'clock, on St. Paul and Dundas streets.

On Sunday afternoon the bands will assist in the Veterans' Association Day Services.

In the evening the United Bands will hold an open-air service at the Bridge at the corner weather permitting. Should it rain the service will be transferred to be held in the Citadel at the same time.

Four Napanee Residents Injured In Road Accident

Four Napanee people were injured, one of them seriously at the eastern entrance to Belleville shortly after ten o'clock Thursday night when a motor car and a truck were involved in an accident.

The injured are: Fred Luby, broken leg, and head injuries and was rushed to Belleville General Hospital; Garry Smith, concussion; Bill Wilson, facial injuries; Wallace Akenhiead, arm injuries. Dr. A. E. Fyfe was uninjured. All were passengers in the car owned by Mr. Luby, of Napanee.

Provincial police today are checking the license number, taken by an alert spectator of the accident, of a westbound transport car, alleged to have forced a car driven by Eugene LaPierre, Ontario into a ditch. The driver of the car sped away from the scene but police stated today that identification is a matter of hours.

The accident occurred when the westbound motor car driven by Thos. Simpson, Jr., Napanee, was struck by the LaPierre owned truck when the vehicles collided in the ditch.

According to police, the unidentified car swerved to the left hand side of the highway as it looked for a sideroad. The approaching eastbound truck driver veered to the other side of the road in an effort to avoid the car, as it did, the car swerved across the highway forcing the truck into the ditch.

Simpson, following the other automobile was unable to stop, was inevitable and drove his car into the ditch where it collided with the truck.

Provincial Police Constables Sam Ervine and Charles Driscoll investigated the accident.

FERTILIZER
For Fall Wheat
2—12—6
$32.20 ton
OFF CAR
$33.20 ton
FROM WAREHOUSE
Order Yours Now
C.E. BISHOP & SON
Phone 283 or 3125

GEEN'S
WILD STRAWBERRY COMPOUND
For
Dysentery, Colic, etc.
35c bottles
GEEN DRUGS
Motorcycle Delivery

A16-1f

'Voice of Bay of Quinte' Radio Station CJBQ Declared Open By Acting Mayor L. McDougall

Greetings Expressed by Mayors, Wardens and Reeves of Adjoining Municipalities; Splendid Musical Program

"The City of Belleville now enjoys a station to radio map map of North America and the advertising coverage of CJBQ as a radio station cannot be estimated in mere dollars and cents. On behalf of the City of Belleville and the Chamber of Commerce, I wish to extend greetings and best wishes to our newest industry, radio station CJBQ. On behalf of His Worship, Mayor Frank O'Neill, I now declare Station CJBQ officially open."

And with these words, Alderman Lorne McDougall, acting for Mayor Folwell, who is in Ottawa on city business and attending the mayors' convention transformed the "Voice of the Bay of Quinte" Belleville's new radio station, from an unofficial station to one that will now be of a healthy youngster that is Radio's present family member in this part of the Dominion.

The inaugural ceremonies were broadcast over a battery of microphones in the capacity-filled auditorium of the Collegiate Institute, Thursday night, with chief speakers and visiting heads of surrounding municipalities, a group of radio artists and CJBQ officials and staff members in attendance.

Greetings From Municipalities

Bringing greetings from their towns and municipalities were Mayor Harry Cory, Trenton; Acting Mayor Nesbitt McCubbin, Picton; Warden Earl Brumnell, Hastings County; Mayor S. J. Wesaman, Deseronto, and Mayor George Chalk, Napanee. Warden James Allen, Prince Edward County and Mayor J. E. Aikhart, Campbellford, were unable to be present due to previous engagements. The Belleville and District Bridge Street United Church ministers represented the Belleville Ministerial Association.

Broadcasting a special message to the surrounding area Announcer Ernie Mace as Mr. A. McLean Haig, licensee of the new station.

Fine Musical Program

Among the artists heard in the musical part of the broadcast was Miss Ethel Smith, Belleville's lovely soprano and Belleville pianist Miss Leona Riggs, offered "Schubert's Serenade" and "With a Song in My Heart".

Also heard was "The Three Blues", a piano, clarinet, bass and tub combo composed of Messrs. Bill Arnold, one of CJBQ's announcing staff, who was also heard in his official capacity, Gene Ramsay, MacDonald and Max Caldwell; the Rhythm Ramblers, a five piece, dance time four-piece orchestra with vocalist Barbara Dimeni, and the Belleville Musical Society under the direction of Ross Hunter, Miss Bach.

The "Three Blues" and the Rhythm Bands Riders will be heard regularly over the station, Monday through Friday, at hours to be announced.

The band played several selections, interspersing the various addresses with sprightly melodies and marches that drew the attention from the audience. All the artists were well received by the rounds of continuous applause can be judged a criterion.

Station Manager Heard

Station Manager William H. (Bill) Slovin opened the broadcast with an introductory announcement, and "The Voice of the Bay of Quinte" was officially on the air.

Alderman McDougall bringing the greetings of the city declared that the opening of the new station is one of the most forward steps taken in this community for years. "Our congratulations," he said, "go to those progressive citizens responsible for putting this station in operation. It is a link between city and county, between Belleville and the Counties of Hastings and Prince Edward. The ever increasing friendships with our surrounding territory will be further cemented by this new radio station which is officially opened tonight."

Threshold of New Era

Alderman McDougall felt that the city now stands on the threshold of an era of industrial expansion never before experienced here. "Business men", he said, "predict a bright future and industrial expansion for Canada and Belleville cannot help but share in the future prosperity of the Dominion."

While it was impossible to make public the names of industries which are seeking sites in Belleville, he was pleased to report, he said, that prospects for industrial growth have never been brighter for the city. We have gone through very trying years and I am glad to see so many of those responsible for our success in the past settling down in Belleville. Their enterprise has resulted in many new ventures starting up in our midst."

He had spent the day with three representatives of a large manufacturing company which is desirous of locating here, and he paid tribute to the Belleville Flying Club, which assisted the visitors to view the city and its sites from the air.

Deserving

"This is a red letter day for a friendly city known far and wide as 'Belleville the Beautiful'," Mayor S. J. Wesaman declared in his greetings to the new station.

"This year, your mayor has expressed its wishes in 'A Convocation' and in Connwall, where he was the mayoral host race, and now Radio Station CJBQ is in operation to which the good people of Deseronto send their best wishes for its future service to the public," he said.

The County of Hastings where 183 years ago the Mohawks and United Empire Loyalists came and settled, is a real place to live. In the county is the town famous for its fishing and the shore line is dotted with cottages and farm lands. The north with its lakes, forests and trout streams is a sportsman's paradise."

Trenton

Trenton's dynamic Mayor, Harry Cory, congratulated the management and directors of CJBQ. "This station", he said, "is going to serve a territory well known as the Bay of Quinte district. But to this district, your mind flashes to the world famous Muskoka and Lake of Bays, a part of the district of Trenton."

"That town", Mayor Cory went on, "has two large government permanent establishments, the northern gateway lies the flourishing industry of Batawa. In its limits it has 25 diversified industries. Trenton has a monthly payroll of $400,000 dollars, and that is not to be sneezed at."

"Trenton is the radio for the angler and the hunter. Belleville, Trenton might be good, as Alderman McDougall has pointed out "Trenton has a present, and her future is assured, but our people here had better look out or we shall soon be known to you in as a suburb," Mayor Cory declared amid laughter.

Prince Edward County

"As warden of the Garden County, I wish to say that this new radio station the warm wishes and congratulations of the people of Prince Edward," Warden Earl Brummell, of that county said.

"We in Quinte's Isle of Lakes and Bay are proud of the quality and of her achievements. We are proud of the fact that it is the home of the famous Hastings Rifles, and Edward Regiment; and that it raised 17 millions dollars for Victory Loans."

Prince Edward produces a large percentage of Canada's canning products, the warden declared. "In 1945 we grew over one-third of the total tomato crop.

"I am glad to see Station CJBQ opening at night for it fills a long-needed want and will serve to foster friendships with the ties that exist between Belleville and Picton, Napanee, Trenton and Prince Edward. For after all we have much in common. I bring Station CJBQ greetings from the people of Prince Edward County."

Napanee

This event was another landmark in the progress of Belleville, Mayor George Chalk, Napanee, said, "and I wish on behalf of the citizens of Napanee, to offer you my sincere congratulations."

Mayor Chalk reviewed the history of Napanee from the time it started as a settlement at the time of the landing of the United Empire Loyalists. The Cartwright family which came from Albany were given large grants of land including the whole site of what afterwards became the village and town of Napanee.

It was first called "The Apanee" an Indian word meaning the "Place of Flowers". Napanee has prospered with the growth of the most beautiful towns in the Province of Ontario, the mayor said.

Picton

Radio Station CJBQ was born today and Picton sounds its congratulations, Acting Mayor Nesbitt McKibbon of that town said. "This infant will be a prodigy for the giving of information to the people of Quinte district and we know its voice will vibrate with strength with the progression of time. In order to attain the degree of accomplishment, it must be nurtured with care and supplied with the proper food for development.

Maintenance and success of the station depends most vitally on the material assistance and support of the citizens of the entire district, the speaker pointed out. "I therefore commend this station particularly to our merchants and I remind you that this is your responsibility."

Acting Mayor McKibbon stated "with a degree of positive assurance from my people in Picton, that we will render to CJBQ the strongest financial and moral assistance. Our devotion and support to this worthy community enterprise shall be and will be tangible at all times".

"The County of Prince Edward and the Town of Picton extend to Station CJBQ good luck, happiness and prosperity," he concluded.

Speaks For Association

"Belleville is proud to have Station CJBQ," Rev. Don Amos said. "Its brief period of morning devotions will be greatly appreciated by our citizens and we of the Ministerial Association, are proud to be able to take part. We hope in the future to extend them to a half-hour period on Sunday mornings so we can bring Sabbath cheer and a message to shut-ins and those in hospitals."

Amos extended his congratulations to those who had the courage to make the station possible. "It is a blessing to Belleville for now under God's guidance, we can bring comfort to those who so sorely need it."

Telegrams of congratulations and best wishes for success were received from Stations CKWS, Kingston; CFRA, Winnipeg; A. D. Dutton, chairman Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Ottawa, and CKSF, Cornwall.

New Service Created

"In presenting to you tonight, Radio Station CJBQ, we feel that a new industry and a new service dedicated to the public service has been created in our midst. It has commenced its operation with a staff of sixteen. Many of these for reasons of special technical training, have come from other places and with their families will now permanently reside in Belleville. From this number, including a female employee, a veteran of this war," A. McLean Haig, Station licensee said.

A radio station is different from the average business enterprise. It is in a sense a public trust. Its responsibilities include the broadcasting of news. Give the people proper information and they will then be able to make up their own minds on public questions. This Station plans also, to devote certain periods at this time to various public bodies to inform, you, the people, of any projects sponsored by them for the public good. Such periods will be provided by the Station, but the responsibility for any opinions expressed, will be entirely that of the speaker or organization advocating the project in question.

Difficulty in Getting Supplies

This Station was first conceived about two years ago, Mr. Haig declared. "We hoped to have been on the air about months ago. Difficulties of supply of equipment, beyond our control, have delayed the license being until tonight. There will be many problems. There may be errors and mistakes. There have been, and probably will be, some technical difficulties until both the staff and the equipment become properly organized and beyond the period of strain, which always accompanies the commencement of a new undertaking."

Splendid Equipment

"We feel," he continued, "that we have installed the finest that can be obtained in transmission and technical equipment. Our studios have been designed and constructed to provide every convenience to our staff and the best possible service to you. We believe they are unique for a station of this size. We invite you to come around, and we will be glad to show them to you. We are proud of our staff. Mr. Slovin, the manager, has accumulated them. From various parts of Canada to mould them into a happy family and an efficient organization.

"So, on behalf of the Station, we beseech your support and cooperation. This is a commercial undertaking entirely dependant for its success upon the goodwill and help of you, our listeners. In return for this, we will endeavour to provide you with the best in all aspects of radio activities. If you and we can both do our part, I am quite certain that CJBQ will be a success. It will then make a substantial contribution to the cultural and business life of our community and district in which it is located. The Bay of Quinte district will take a considerable pride."

LADIES' AUXILIARY
ARMY AND NAVY VETERANS
UNIT 49
All members of Ladies' Auxiliary please be at Armouries Saturday afternoon or evening for bunching flowers for Decoration Day. Also for parade on Sunday at 1.45 p.m.

FIRST ANNUAL BAY OF QUINTE
GOLF TOURNAMENT
AT BAY OF QUINTE GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB
SATURDAY
AUGUST 17th
12 PRIZES
18 HOLES STARTING AT 9 A. M.
Post Entries Will Be Accepted
Entrance Fee $2.00

Escaped Convict Surrounded in Bush At Mountain View

Henry Lafortune, who escaped from the Portsmouth Penitentiary farm at Kingston, Aug. 2, was surrounded by Ontario Provincial Police today in a field 3 ½ miles south of here.

Inspector H. A. Thompson said a cordon of police had been thrown around the field and Lafortune's capture was expected shortly.

Lafortune was discovered in a field owned by W. R. Potter, a Belleville florist, Mountain View, who made the discovery phoned police immediately and provincial officers rushed to the scene.

The 30-year old fugitive had been sentenced to a seven-year term for housebreaking following conviction in North Bay nine months ago. His home is at Ruther in the Nipissing district of Northern Ontario.

Obituary

MRS. MARY LOUISA WRIGHT (East Orange, N.J.)

An aged and highly respected resident of Madoc village for many years died suddenly at her home of June Louisa Wright died at the home of her son, Rev. C. Melville Wright, at East Orange, N.J. on Thursday. She has been in ill health for over a year. The late Mrs. Wright was born in Madoc 86 years ago being the daughter of the late William Wright and Mary Hudgins. She married William Wright a tinsmith who predecessed her in 1906 and for many years conducted a store in Madoc. After the death of her husband she resided in Toronto and the past four years has been spent with her son in the United States.

While residing in Madoc she was a member of St. Peter's United Church and served as president of the women's association. In the Madoc during her residence she took an active part in all work in the community and her death will be regretted by a wide circle of friends. She was of U.E.L. descent.

Surviving are two sons, Rev. C. Melville Wright of East Orange, N.J., and Kenneth D. Wright, now of Ottawa; two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Hall and Mrs. J. R. Boyd of Larchmont, N.Y.

Resting at the Grant Funeral Home, Bridge Street, the funeral announcement will be made later.

MRS. CLADYS JORDAN

The funeral of the late Mrs. Gladys Jordan of Sidney, took place this morning at 10 o'clock from Ritcey-O'Brien Funeral Home, to St. Michael's Church where the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Hinchey celebrated mass. During the offertory Mr. E. Brown sang "Pray for the Dead" and at the conclusion of the service Jack Fahey sang "Nearer My God to Thee". The Rev. C. E. Baker officiated at the grave in the morning cemetery.

The bearers were, David MacDonald, Jack Brown, James Harry, George Acker, George Brownan and Fred Parrott.

BIRTHS

BRAY—To Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bray (nee Hilda Kilpatrick) in Belleville General Hospital, on Saturday, August 10, 1946, a son, Donald Barry William, a brother for Sheila Karen.

DEATHS

ROBLIN—At her home in Ameliasburg on Thursday, August 15th, Jessie Davis, widow of Theodore Roblin, aged 77 years.

Resting at the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Home, Bridge Street, Belleville until late Friday and then at her late residence, Ameliasburg. Funeral service will be held on Saturday, August 17th. Service in the Ameliasburg United Church at 2 p.m. Interment Albury cemetery. 2 p.m. A18-1c

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. J. F. Ellis and family wish to acknowledge with grateful appreciation the kindness shown them by the V.O.N. nurses and Drs. during the illness of their father, Simeon Ellis.

Dr. G. H. Craig
Announces the opening of an office for the general practice of
DENTISTRY
224 Front St. Phone 2366
Over Shiff's Clothing Store
A15,16,17,22,23,24

Soft-Focus
Cake Make-Up
BY LENTHERIC
For the new fashion in faces . . . the under-glow of LENTHERIC'S day-long complexion finish. In light, medium, tan to complement the skin-tones of your favorite lenthéric face powder. Presented in a sleek black case of plastic decorated with turquoise script.
$1.75
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 128

WE ARE EQUIPPED TO RENDER
MOTOR SERVICE
THAT SATISFIES
Efficient Workmanship
Performed By Licensed Mechanics
With
Modern Time Saving Equipment
In a Bright Clean Well Organized Shop
WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED
A LARGE NEW STOCK OF REPAIR PARTS
FOR ALL FORD PRODUCTS
Try Our Service Become a Customer
Belleville Motor Car
Company, Limited
Mercury-Lincoln Cars — Mercury Trucks
Cor. Bridge and Coleman Sts. Phone 111
A. C. "Al" Reynolds, Prop.
"THE PLACE OF FRIENDLY SERVICE"
A14,16,21,23

- Fewer Windfalls
- Larger, better fruit
- Longer picking season
- Better prices

Use PARMONE FOR GREATER PROFITS

"The first small bottle of PARMONE made me $150 on my Snow apples by holding them for winter sale. There was a big increase in size and improvement in colour."

That's what one grower writes . . . one of the many who have learned how PARMONE, the C.I.C. hormone spray, prevents or greatly reduces pre-harvest drop.

Fruit clings longer

Apples (and pears) cling longer and more firmly to the tree. Fruit size, improved colour, quality and size, PARMONE does not delay normal ripening processes. Choice, quality fruit should be picked at the proper stage of maturity.

Economical

Just four ounces of PARMONE makes 100 gallons of spray, and a single spraying is usually sufficient. Insure a bigger crop, larger profits, by using PARMONE at the first sign of early dropping.

C-I-C
CANADIAN INDUSTRIES LIMITED
Fertilizer Division

CAR TUNE-UP

COMPLETE COVERAGE

Danger, don't forget that summer weather hits automobiles too. Let us change the lubricant, check the oil, brakes and wheel alignment.—Complete overhaul.

Be sure that your car is in shape for summer driving

ASELSTINE'S
SHELL STATION
REO TRUCKS
1 FRONT ST., N. PHONE 1573

YARDMAN INJURED AT TRANKFORD

Brantford, Aug. 15. (CP)—Edgar R. Wood, 31-year-old Canadian National Railways yardman suffered severe injuries to his left arm and leg last night in an accident at the railway freight yards here. It is believed that Wood was holding to a box car ladder and reached toward the

SAD HOLLAND-VANCOUVER FLIGHT

Mrs. Elizabeth Morris, of Amsterdam, Holland, war bride of Ex-Private Leo Ralph Morris, of White Rock, Yukon, has been rushed from overseas to the bedside of her husband in Vancouver. Her husband has been given a month to live and Mrs. Morris was accorded the highest compassionate priority. She is pictured being rushed through Canadian immigration.

Wilma Graham, Senior Honor Camper at "Y" Girls' Camp Recently Held at Moira Lake

Last evening the happy group of youngsters who, for the past two weeks, have been enjoying life in the open air at the camp site on Moira Lake near Madoc, on which the Belleville Boys' Camp has operated for many years, came home. Sorry to leave camp, where they had aslojoyed so many happy experiences, the 54 girls and their leaders, looking healthy and browned from their holiday, arrived in town between five and six o'clock. During their stay at camp, the girls were capably looked after by Mrs. Ed. Shortt, camp director, Miss Anne Clare, program supervisor, Miss Adeline Lepora, orderly officer, and hut leaders "B. J." Houston, Dorothy Flintoft, Betty Holway, Linda Legate, Florence Delaney and Beverly Palmer.

The camp championship in all round cabin competition went to the Hiawatha Tribe, under the leadership of "B. J." Houston, and they will hold the Ruston Cup for the coming year. The members of the tribe were Lemoyne Kernohan, Fern Beer, Audrey Beer, Kathleen Clarke, Jean Dola, June Hartlieb, Frances Thompson, Norma Vaughan, and Barbara Rose.

The Seneca Tribe, under the leadership of Susie Legate managed to go through the softball and volleyball leagues undefeated and win the championship award in both games. The members of this tribe were Shirley Fox, Miriam Spencer, Marlene Fox, Doris Kerr, Shirley McKerrow, Yvonne Paquin, Jacqueline Henderson, Marylin Bell and Rose Bryant.

Camp Awards Made

The individual camper awards went to Wilma Graham, senior honor camper, Dorothy Goudler, junior honor camper, and Jacqueline Avery, 1st year honor camper. This is the award to the girl who, through her actions and attitude has made the greatest contribution to the camp and to the campers. The camp staff had a great difficulty in selecting the winner, as there were many girls who had shown up exceptionally well during the two weeks.

Katherine Holway won the all-round track-field championship, with Jo-Anne Clarke second and Donna Cameron third. In the senior events Shirley Fox amassed the most points with Kay Mills and Jean Dola tied for second, and Ann Marie Wotten third.

The junior aquatic championship fell to Peggy Lou Shortt, who made a clean sweep of the meet, taking first in every event. Connie Tilbrook and Jacqueline Henderson tied for second, and Marion Campbell and Norma Vaughan tied for third. The senior aquatic championship went to Betsy Ann Shortt, with Barbara Rose second, and Shirley Fox and Grace Stevenson tied for third.

Divided in Two Groups

For all competitive purposes the girls were divided into senior and junior by age. Senior included girls 12 years and over, and junior for the girls of 10 and 11 years.

Results of track and field meet: Senior running broad jump: Shirley Fox, Darell Cavers, Doris Kerr.

Running high jump: Ann Marie Wotten, Kay Mills, Shirley Fox.

50 yard dash: Shirley Fox, Jean Doig, Frances Thompson.

100 yard dash: Jean Doig, Frances Thompson, Darell Cavers.

Ball throw: Kay Mills, Doris Kerr, Kay Clarke.

Junior running broad jump: Katherine Holway, Fern Beer, Joanne Clarke.

Running high jump: Conale Tilbrook, Katherine Holway, Peggy Lou Shortt.

50 yard dash: Rosemary Logan, Donna Cameron, Joanne Clarke.

100 yard dash: Joanne Clarke, Donna Cameron, Marlene Fox.

Ball throw: Jacqueline Henderson, Norma Vaughan, Fern Beer.

Results of Aquatic meet:

Senior 50 yards free style: Betty Ann Shortt, Shirley Fox, Barbara Rose.

50 yards back stroke: Doris Caverley, Shirley Fox, Kathleen Clarke.

100 yards free style: Betsy Ann Shortt, Barbara Rose, Grace Stevenson.

Diving: Grace Stevenson, Barbara Rose, Caroline Badgely.

Junior 50 yards free style: Peggy Lou Shortt, Connie Tilbrook, Marion Campbell.

50 yards back stroke: Peggy Lou Shortt, Connie Tilbrook, Marion Campbell.

100 yards free style: Peggy Lou Shortt, Jacqueline Henderson, Norma Vaughan, Peggy Lou Shortt, Jacqueline Henderson, Norma Vaughan.

In quiet games competition, Dagell Cavers won the archery, and Beth Wilbur won at checkers, with Lemoyne Kernohan the other finalist.

It is greatly to the credit of the camp that not a single girl returned from camp unable to swim although there were quite a number of non-swimmers when camp opened. Of the 54 girls registered, 44 were from Belleville, five from Napanee, and five from Madoc.

Campfire programs brought out considerable talent among the girls and will linger long among the most pleasant of camp memories.

CAMPBELLFORD NURSE DIES

Campbellford, Aug. 16 —(CP) —Funeral of Edith Archer, who died on Monday at Peterborough hospital, took place yesterday at Christ Church with Rev. W. J. Lennox officiating. Miss Archer was a graduate of Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal. She is survived by two brothers, Fred Archer of Calgary and James F. Archer of Campbellford, and two sisters, Mrs. George Higginson and Mrs. John MacCowan both of Toronto.

"Sparkies" are light . . . and toasted right! And they're fairly popping with quick food energy! Try delicious "Sparkies" for breakfast tomorrow!

Decoration Day To be Observed By the Veterans

Veterans of both wars of the city and district will unite on Sunday for observance of the annual Decoration Day. The "old sweats" of 1914-1918 will march with the youthful veterans of the last war in paying tribute to the memory of those who gave their all for civilization.

The Kingston Salvation Army Band will be in attendance and united with the local Salvation Army Band will furnish music for the service to be held in the Belleville Cemetery.

Veterans are requested to meet at the Armouries at 1.45 Sunday afternoon and be ready to move off at 2 p.m. Ladies auxiliaries have been busy preparing the numerous wreaths of flowers with which the graves will be decorated.

Company Sergeant Major Hobbs will be in charge of the parade and all veterans are requested to be at the Armouries on time so that the necessary transportation arrangements can be made. All veterans' societies of affiliations are cordially invited to attend the services.

Gang Guns Kill, Perhaps Fail To Impose Silence

Chicago, Aug. 16 —(AP)— Gangland's guns have ended the life of James M. Ragen but may have failed to silence him.

The 65-year-old self-proclaimed foe of "all hoodlums," who amassed a fortune in the racing-news publishing business but "never took a bet," died Wednesday in a hospital from complications resulting from a shotgun ambush June 24 — the second attempt on his life within two months.

In a dying statement given to State's Attorney William J. Tuohy, one of Mr. Ragen studied would-be assassins by driving up in a police station April 29, the wealthy publisher accused remnants of the old Capone syndicate of attempting to muscle in on his enterprise.

He said that he realized the "dangers facing me in my business," but had prepared and fired away affidavits of evidence involving a syndicate controlled by "the Capone family," and that the affidavits would be delivered to federal authorities in the event of his death.

Only last week William J. Connor, Assistant U. S. District Attorney, said he wanted to take Mr. Ragen before a federal grand jury to "fill in the gaps" in the statement of the publisher made to Mr. Tuohy.

There was not sufficient evidence in the statement, he added, to support possible federal anti-racketeering charges. Mr. Ragen's condition made it impossible to question him after he was shot.

However, Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, said that he had already seen the affidavits and that they contained the "same information" Mr. Ragen made in his statement to Mr. Tuohy. These did not contain evidence to support any prosecution by the state, he said.

Mr. Ragen was wounded by shotgun blasts fired from under the tarpaulin of a truck which pulled alongside his car at a South Side traffic light.

"I guess when they're out to get you they get you," the publisher said as he was taken to a hospital.

SHARP EXCHANGE

(Continued from Page One)

had "thrown out the window' the original purpose of the small holdings clause of the V.L.A.

He said the order "limits these holdings to communities of less than 3,000 or more than 10 miles from a metropolitan area."

Mr. Sinclair, a Toronto flight lieutenant in the R.C.A.F., held both booklets describing processes which said they were "suitable for the settlement of limited acreages located close to employment opportunity."

Yet Pay as Statement

Mr. Mackenzie said he would place Mr. Sinclair's statement before the reconstruction minister.

Turbulent scenes developed when C. E. Johnston (SC —Show River) renewed charges he made last March that inspectors of the V.L.A. had approved improperly built veterans' homes in Calgary. He contended that the foundations, flooring, windows and roofs of the homes were defective when delivered.

Exchanges flared across the floor, interjections from the opposite benches erupted — as Mr. Johnston talked on for more than 45 minutes. At one point George Cruickshank (L. — Fraser Valley) told him he should let veteran members talk of veteran affairs and that "I am a veteran and you are not."

News of His Business

Mr. Johnston replied "That is the sort of 'pussy' business."

Walter Tucker, parliamentary assistant to Mr. Mackenzie, said a number of veterans had been allowed to move into the houses in Calgary before they were completed so they would have shelter for the winter. As a result of Mr. Johnston's speeches in the Commons it was difficult now to get contractors to turn over houses before they were finished.

In the wheat debate during the afternoon sitting, Mr. Bracken formerly Conservative leader's agreement by which Britain will take the 600,000,000 bushels in the next four years at a price of $1.55 a bushel for the first two years and at least $1.25 the third year and $1 the fourth.

Mr. Bracken said that the present domestic price of $1.33 for wheat has raised to $1.55 and adjusted from year to year as farmers' costs rise or fall.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, urged the government to pay out

WHY HAVE SORE FEET?
JUST RUB IN MINARD'S LINIMENT

WHY NOT?

Drive up and Lunch or Dine with us this Sunday

RICKARTON CASTLE HOTEL
LIMITED
PICTON, ONTARIO

ME-NU
SPECIAL LUNCHEON

Choice of
Chilled Tomato Juice
Chilled Fresh Mint Fruit Cocktail

Hearts of Lettuce — Thousand Island Dressing

Choice of Consommé Princess
Chicken Noodle Soup

Cherry Sherbet

Cold Chicken Plate with Salad
Grilled Ham Steak — Apple Sauce
Choice Prime Rib Roast of Beef au Jus
Broiled Filet of Whitefish — Drawn Butter
Fried Chicken Southern Style — Pineapple Fritters

Franciscona Potatoes — Cauliflower in Cream
New Boiled Potatoes — Alabama Beets

Rickarton Delight — Jelly Roll and Ice Cream
Chilled Cantaloupe — Chilled Honey Melon
Old Canadian Cheese and Crackers

Tea — Coffee — Milk

COMPLETE LUNCHEON $1.50
Phone, write or wire for your table

Famous FOR THEIR LONG LOW-COST MILEAGE

Specify Firestone AND GET MOST MILES PER DOLLAR

RUBBER TIRED
FARM WAGONS
COMPLETE WITH ROLLER BEARINGS
LOCAL DISTRIBUTOR
BILL DELINE
283 Coleman St. BELLEVILLE Phone 338

"They Eat Out Of Your Hand"

The spotted deer of Northern Ontario come walking contentedly out of the vast forest which is their home, to stare with wondering brown eyes at the road man has cut through the wilderness. They rub velvety horns against signposts that read "The King's Highway", and they are not afraid, for they have never even heard the crack of a rifle. If you offer them food they will take it, timidly, right out of your hand.

They are part of the vast heritage of wild life and forest beauty with which we Canadians are endowed, and in their very trustfulness is a plea for protection against the hazards of fire—of predatory animals—of indiscriminate hunting by ourselves.

As new branches of the King's Highway open up, bringing more and more of Canada's beautiful forest land within reach of the city dweller, it becomes increasingly important that each one of us understand the laws and rules of conservation, for only by so doing can we protect and preserve our heritage.

Every Canadian, as a shareholder in Canada's natural wealth, has a vital interest in the conservation of this heritage. Conservation is not just a doctrine to be preached to hunters and fishermen. It is a vital part in the continuance of our national economy, and must, of necessity, fail if its measures do not receive the full support of all Canadian citizens.

"THE KING'S HIGHWAY"

Based upon a picture painted for Canada by Fred Finley, O.S.A.

This is one of a series of illustrations on the subject of the Conservation of Canada's natural assets issued in the hope that the knowledge of wonderful nature that we enjoy today on a present birthright which we must protect for tomorrow.

© COPYRIGHT RESERVED, 1940

CARLING'S
THE CARLING BREWERIES LIMITED
D-230

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Ontario Established 1841 — Intelligencer Established 1927
Consolidated January 1, 1941
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, LIMITED
Belleville, Ontario

Subscription Rates:
By Carrier in Belleville, Trenton, Brighton, Stirling, Campbellford, Madoc, Tweed, Picton, Bloomfield and Wellington, $6 per year; by mail in U.S. $8 per year.
Single copies 3 cents.
Member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, Member of The Canadian Press.
The Canadian Press is exclusively entitled to the republication of all news dispatches credited to it or to The Associated Press or Reuters in this paper and also the local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches are reserved.

National Registration Ends

National registration, a wartime measure which was of importance in helping to solve the manpower problem, has been discontinued. In the words of Labor Minister Mitchell, the registration and mobilization regulations "were virtually necessary for war purposes. They helped Canada over many of our manpower difficulties, but they represented one of the features of wartime administration which a democratic public tolerate and even expect but which the same public very properly feel is not in accord with the peacetime machinery necessary in the government of a free people."

Since the close of the war there was some talk that the measure had advantages even in peacetime for the purpose of identification, and some said it ought to be preserved. But the Government has not seen eye to eye with this idea and the registration measure is now no longer in effect.

Controls placed during the war period are one by one disappearing. Rationing of course remains in respect to meat, butter and sugar and there is price and rent control.

Canadians have borne national registration for the sake of the war effort and the national economy and are naturally glad that the time has come when it is possible to remove the restraint.

British Town Planning

Britain's post-war planning reports several developments of late, one of which concerns London. Report says that the committee on the development of London has reached some unanimous conclusions. It recommends the development of Greater London as a community basis, taking in the present built-up continuous area and its outlying satellite towns, each containing its own schools, shops and entertainment. As for the proposals for decongestion, which are far-reaching, they contemplate taking one and a quarter million people, with the equivalent amount of industry, out to new towns.

The "New Towns" Bill is now in its final stages in Parliament, and it is expected that development of four new towns will be started, Sevenage, Croxley and Three Bridges, Harlow and Hemel Hempstead.

For Stevenage new town a famous British architect has been chosen, Clough Williams-Ellis, who is a land-owner and is building a new model resort at Port Meirion on the North Wales coast and has designed holiday camps throughout Britain as well as in Shanghai, Tientsin and South Africa. Another eminent architect, Canadian-born designer of the "new towns" We have Gerald Eley, has been called in to devise on the planning of the new town at Hemel Hempstead, a town of 20,000 population to the northwest of London, which was recently announced as the site of "New Town Number Four." He is Louis de Soissons.

United Kingdom Information Service says the Minister of Town and Country Planning, Lewis Silkin, has issued directions to some five hundred local authorities in districts of outstanding scenery, whereby they must see that their plans do not sacrifice the maintenance of these beauties forming "a national asset of more than local importance."

It is pointed out that in a crowded island such as Britain, it is essential to maintain all available recreational space. Another side of the problem is shown by the fact that the government appointed a sub-committee to consider the question of footpaths up and down Britain and access to mountains, moors, coastline and uncultivated land generally. This has an important relationship to agriculture, forestry, national parks and other essential interests.

The progress of the planning will be watched with interest for lessons which may be drawn from the undertaking.

Ex-Duce's Body

Mussolini, though long since dead, the victim of his own plotting and treachery against even his own country and against the freedom-loving nations, has come to public notice again. It is remembered that his body was taken from its grave in Milan by ghouls and hidden. Now the government has found where it was and it has been seized. Where it is to be reburied or what disposal of it is to be made is not likely to be known.

Those who spirited away the body from Milan and hid it had probably some sinister motive beyond merely wanting to get it in their possession. It may have been some wild hope that it might be made the centre of a rallying of the forces opposed to freedom, that Fascism and Mussolinism were dead long before Mussolini himself died so ignominious a death and any hopes of reviving the Fascist ideology would be surely mad. The body of the man who never ceased to fight on the side or evil against the free states will not be allowed to disturb humanity's future.

The Newer Mode

When our soldiers and sailors and airmen came home it was pleasant to see them walk along the streets with their wives and sweethearts. Their relationship was easily detected, for they went hand in hand.

This is the newer mode which has replaced the old practice of what was known as "warning," fashion changed in love as in other behaviour. Perhaps this holding of hands is a sign of equality between the sexes, or maybe it is evidence of the fading of prudery, for the holding of hands used to be done surreptitiously in the old days, in the dark of a cinema or in secluded corners. More likely, both had an influence.

The war, with increased spirit of comradeship between sexes, helped to spread the modern mode, which has not been disdained by the more adaptable of an older generation. It is pleasant to see our young men and girls together linked so proudly, and rarer, but more pleasant, is the sight of a couple, with grey in their hair, but with the affection of their youth still undimmed, walk along holding hands.

—Hamilton Spectator.

World's Automobile Speed Record

The world's automobile speed record is held by John R. Cobb of England, who, using his Railton Red Lion, attained a speed of 369.7 miles per hour on the salt flats near Bonneville, Utah, on August 23, 1939. This course is considered more satisfactory than any other because it is smooth and its cold salt reduces the temperature in the friction-heated tires and lessens the danger of blowouts. But best of all is its 4,300-foot altitude which, owing to decreased atmospheric pressure, enabled Cobb to reach a speed that at sea level would have been only 314 miles per hour.

—Collier Magazine.

Simple Safety Rules

Bathers would be wise in heeding the safety rules for swimming recommended by Dr. Israel Weinstein, Commissioner of Health: Don't swim beyond your depth; never play practical jokes on persons in the water; don't go into water immediately after eating; always check the depth of the water before diving; if unable to swim, don't rely on air-filled supports to hold you up; learn how to swim this summer!

—New York Times.

Need of Anglo-French Alliance

Twice in a generation the French have been the victims of savage and unprovoked German aggression. The material ravages have been immense, but, above all, the spiritual hurt has been greater than many of us here imagine. For the French, for any reason, relapse into confusion, all Europe would be affected. An Anglo-French alliance coupled with a broad commercial pact would do much to secure the stability of our Western Europe.

—News of the World, London.

Newspaper Facts

The first of eight pledges of the Australian Journalist's Code of Ethics states: "To report and interpret the news with scrupulous honesty."

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST
(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

MAN AND BOY

I've walked with boys for many years.
I've watched them active, in repose,
And learned that they're all eyes and ears
That in men's presence never close.

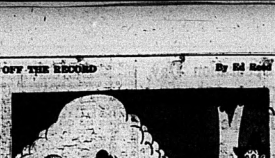
They're imitators, one and all.
They're quick when's every act to catch.
Behind our backs, some youngsters small
Our conduct, good or ill, will match.

Where other grown-ups cannot see,
To other boys they'll often show,
With art, what sort of men are we,
And just how much of us they know.

Grown man, remember, trouble-tried,
Or when sorry your purpose goes,
That little fellow at your side
Has eyes and ears that never close.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reid



"I got this car so the slugger can't get in when he's tired!"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

August 16th, 1926.

Mr. Stanley Young of Detroit, Mich., is home to spend his vacation at his home on Foster Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Belnap, Mrs. Morrow and Ned motored to Brighton yesterday.

Miss Georgina E. Ruttan has returned home from Rochester, N.Y., where she visited her sister, Mrs. Stanley H. Pratt.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson have returned home after an enjoyable motor trip to Quebec and the eastern states.

Mr. Joe Blackburn and Clarence have returned home after a motor trip to Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude D. Tice have arrived home after an enjoyable motor trip through Western Ontario and the State of Michigan.

30 YEARS AGO

August 16th, 1916.

Mr. John Campbell, who is associated with Wannamaker's big store in New York City, is visiting friends here.

Mr. Neil Shannon and daughter, Alice, of Bay City, Mich., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Foltz, Grove Street.

New potatoes sold on the market today at 60 cents per peck, which is an exceptionally high price, being at the rate of $3.60 per bag.

Miss Lottie Edwards of Pittsburgh, Pa., formerly of this city is visiting friends here.

Mrs. Frank Downer of Chicago, Ill., is visiting Mrs. J. Bowyer, Everett Street.

Mrs. John Campbell, New York City, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibson, Hillcrest Avenue.

40 YEARS AGO

August 16th, 1906.

Mr. Bernard Callery of Tyendinaga Township, is spending a few days in the city with friends.

Mrs. R. Powell has returned home after a trip to the Old Country.

Mr. Sam Symons has returned home from Western Canada where he spent several months.

Mrs. William Boesily of New York City is visiting friends here.

Mr. John McKenna of Toronto, Mrs. John McKenna, Great St. Lake is spending the vacation here with his parents, Mr. and James Street.

The Rev. Father Traynor, who has been associated with St. Michael's Church here, will leave tomorrow for Brockville where he will be one of the Very Rev. Dean Murray. Father Traynor will take with him the best wishes of many friends.

50 YEARS AGO

August 16th, 1896.

Mr. Robert Gordon of Tweed was a visitor in town today.

Mr. Joseph Langman of Rochester, N.Y., is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. William Read, manager of Stroud's store here, is absent on vacation.

Mr. Fred Armstrong of the Ritchie store is on vacation.

Mr. Denmark Donnelly has returned to Toronto after spending his vacation here.

Mr. James Coulson is visiting his brother in Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. Geale Donnelly of Rochester, N.Y., an old Belleville boy, arrived here yesterday on the North King to spend his vacation.

IN CHAMPIONSHIP STYLE

Two of the star performers in the senior outdoor swimming championships at Jamesville, Ind., Lorne Dooling, LEFT, and Betty Shields, work out in a New York pool. Miss Dooling, of Valley Stream, L.I., is the junior national 100-metre backstroke champ and Miss Shields, of New Rochelle, N.Y., is the senior metropolitan 220-yard backstroke champ.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH

This is a recent photo of Mrs. Bertha Freshman Todd, wife of Broadway producer Mike Todd, whose mysterious death on the operating table of St. John's hospital, Los Angeles, is under investigation. Mrs. Todd entered the hospital for treatment of a cut on the palm of her hand, which had severed a tendon. Two anaesthetics were administered without effect on Mrs. Todd. The third, ether, was then given and Mrs. Todd died almost immediately.

Few Dealers Have Any Cars, But Plenty of Orders

Toronto, Aug. 16 —(CP)— Now everything's swell. Nobody needs a priority any more so the big-shot automobile dealers can queue up on the left and stay there until next year. There may be — repeat may be — cars for the ordinary purchaser by that time.

That, at least, is the gist of a quick coast-to-coast check of automobile dealers today in the wake of the Ottawa announcement ending restrictions on new cars.

This announcement, by Reconstruction Minister Howe, in effect threw the ball to the dealers. They can dispose of any new cars they have in any manner they wish — always taking care to meet the ceiling price regulations.

The dealers' all too few of them had any cars.

Orders? Thousands of them, all over the country.

The answer is about the same in Vancouver as it is in Halifax, the old customer, with or without a priority but with his name on the list, will get a car. As expected by remember it, may get a lucky break. But not for a while.

In Montreal one dealer said he thought most of the public would feel honor bound to honor priorities and there were eggs — "Every thing depends on labor. But it stands now it is pretty hard to say exactly when the cars will be plentiful."

The report from Toronto: "It might not be until next year or the year after that the normal motorist will be able to own a new car."

From the plants: At Windsor, Chrysler Motor Plant has been shut down by a strike for several weeks. Shortage of supplies is closing the Ford Motors' plant at Oshawa today.

The motor car black market: A naturally not secure business, said, the bootlegging in cars will take a beating from this.

Washington Spotlight

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Aug. 16 — (CP)— Members of the Senate War Expenditures Committee said the entire would seem to have a lifetime job keeping tab on them if they follow up all the leads which some scrutinizers believe point to needless squandering of "untold billions" on war contracts.

So far the committee has one big effort has been in connection with the so-called "paper" munitions empire of the Garsson family but what this had revealed in its juiciest stage the committee passed the whole works over to the Department of Justice.

Now the controller general of the treasury, Lindsay C. Ware, has told the committee that while his office was "on the trail of some $200,000,000 from overpaid war contractors" there was only a start in the bucket of such overpayments.

During the turbulent early phases of the war there was little thought of how much it cost to get the means necessary to salvation. But now the Congress is delving into the cost of national salvation and the activities of those suspected of charging more than patriotism and decency dictated, and a lot of people are going to be made uncomfortable.

Washington traffic fatalities got to the point last week that it was not safe to be on the streets or walks. A car driven by a man who said he remembered nothing for the last six blocks climbed on the pavement, killed two men and injured three, and a second person would have killed many more if it had not struck a tree.

The interior department, announcing new restrictions on wild bird hunting, adopted after consulting treaties with Canada and Mexico, said population of most species of wild duck had declined from the peak of 135,350,000 in 1944 to 80,000,000 this season, the reason was that the hunting fraternity had increased 50 per cent since the war ended.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

STAGE FRIGHT SPOILS DIGESTION

A reader says she feels silly taking her problem to a physician, for fear she may be laughed at.

That in itself is a sad commentary on the medical profession. Can it be that the readers in a community the old timer who covered his treatments in that way is still tolerated or accepted by people who have enough intelligence to read and write? I hope not.

It is fine medicine if and when the doctor can laugh with the patient. It is almost incredible that anyone purporting to be a physician dares to laugh at anybody, no matter how trifling, imaginary or baffling his or her complaint may seem. For a fact that accounts for the near-doctor's exhibition—he is poorly equipped to diagnose disease in the early stages when treatment may be effective. He finds it too easy to muddle along, skillfully hedging on the diagnosis until the disease advances so far that the patient and the patient's friends all know what it is, and by that time the layman is pallid with fear, having forgotten that the slick charlatan never actually made a diagnosis at all.

The diffident reader states her problem:

The prospect of attending a party or other social function causes my stomach to become jittery and (something illegible), with vomiting as the result. Impossible to control this myself, for I have had it several years. At one time, about three years ago, it disappeared for a while, but began again two years ago. I'm married happily for six years, have a wonderful husband and two fine sons, aged 3 and 5 years.

Now, then, watch me closely. I'm going to do a lightning switch from the plodding one-horse-and buggy doctor to the still lower better than, into the eminent (long-distance) psychologist just now. I would tell that lady and a million others who share digestion is upset by stage fright what is the matter and what to do about it. Listen:

1. Stage fright or examination jitters is the result of fear. Never mind specifying what you fear—whatever it is, don't be afraid.

2. Wear it down or condition yourself to it by accepting every opportunity to attend social functions and to do your stunt. You know what you're going about taking the first high dive, how much easier the tenth or fiftieth high dive is.

3. Consult a psychiatrist — a physician who limits his practice to mental disorders.

4. Take one grain of quinine sulfate, in pill, tablet or capsule, after food, three times a day, for several weeks. This has proved a fruitful preventive against stage fright or examination jitters in thousands of cases.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Watermelon

How many calories in a 30-pound watermelon? (F.D.)

Answer — Hardly enough to bother to pick out of your teeth — the edible portion of watermelon is about only about 140 calories per pound.

Peanut Butter

I should like to know the nutritive value of peanut butter, particularly its protein, fat, vitamin and mineral content.

(Mrs. J. H.)

Answer—It contains 29 per cent Protein, 46 per cent fat, 17 per cent carbohydrate (starch, sugar), about one-tenth, as much vitamin A as butter, a fair amount of vitamin B complex, a an excellent source of calcium and phosphorous. Both peanuts and peanut butter should be included in the regular family dietary as excellent, economical, appetizing, nutritionally adequate staples.

(Copyright, 1946, by John F. Dille Co.)

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Which came first, the hen or the egg.

If the theory of evolution is correct, this age-old question is meaningless and neither the hen nor the egg came first.

The original matter into which the breath of life was breathed by almighty creative power developed into the chicken was at the same time producing all other forms of higher life on the earth, science presumes, sprang from single-celled animacul.

If we regard the original cell as an egg then in this sense at least the egg existed before the bird. In the beginning, it is supposed, all reproduction was by simply cell division; that is the one-celled organism reproduced by dividing itself into more parts, and each part grew into a likeness of the original living thing. Later, as life developed to a higher form, it was supposed to have evolved by "mutation." Differentiation in the sexual functions developed so gradually that it is hard to say that there ever was a time when there were birds or fowls and not birds or fowls. Certain reptiles progressed to birds and fowls undoubtedly laid eggs. There are a few of the reptiles, lishing marks of true birds, which are believed to be offfrom very active lizards, like reptiles, probably related to some of the smaller dinosaurs, which become birds through the evolution of feathers out of scales.

Dr. Herbert Friedman, curator of birds at the U. S. National Museum in Washington, made the following comment on this subject in a letter to this writer:

"The question as to which came first, the hen or the egg, is one that puzzles everybody. Life's a really fair thing to ask, but inasmuch as both are steps in the development of the same organism, the question is more meaning. One might as well ask, Which came first, the child or the adult?' Which is a rather quite comparable. It is only because from a practical standpoint, based chiefly on experience with both of the chicken and the hens and eggs seem to us to be totally unrelated things."

Of course, if evolution is rejected and special creation is accepted, the question becomes simple. It would be as easy for the Creator to create a full-fledged hen capable of laying eggs as to create an egg capable of hatching and producing a hen. The scientist attempts to trace both hen and egg back to something that was neither hen nor egg; the Bible's special creation attempts merely to determining whether the act of certain Page of its development was singled out for the honor of special creation.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R.J.SCOTT

MOLOTOV ADDRESSES U. N. AT HISTORICAL PEACE CONFERENCE

This is a recent panoramic view of the conference chamber in magnificent Luxembourg Palace, Paris, where the United Nations are holding the epoch-making conference the world hopes will bring lasting peace. In the FRONT ROW are U. S. delegates. Molotov has the floor.

"GAPA" GOES A-HUNTING

Here is the first action picture of "Gapa," Boeing Aircraft Company's ground to air pilotless aircraft, a pencil-slim supersonic guided missile capable of seeking out and destroying enemy aircraft or missiles which might threaten in time of war. It is a new contribution to the "pushbutton war" of the future (if any). Experimental missiles will be fired in a series of tests this year from Wendover Field in the U.S.A.

Amos Alonzo Stagg At 84 Preparing For Another Year

(By The Canadian Press)

Amos Alonzo Stagg, popularly known as the Connie Mack of U. S. college football, is celebrating his 84th birthday today at Stockton, Calif., where he is busy preparing for yet another gridiron season as mentor of the college of the Pacific eleven. Celebrated as the coach of the University of Chicago until he was retired because of his age, Stagg immediately switched to the Stockton squad to round out more than half a century in the coaching field.

In 1943 when College of the Pacific lost only to Southern California, Stagg was honored by being named "coach of the year" for the whole United States.

Modere Bruneteau, veteran winger of Detroit N. H. L. Red Wings, yesterday was named playing coach of Omaha Knights, Detroit's farm team in the United States Hockey League.

Bill Veeck's Cleveland Indians yesterday bought outfielder Howard Moss from Baltimore Orioles of the International League, to report at the close of the season. Moss is currently hitting .288.

Col. E. R. Bradley, colorful 86-year-old turf figure who died suddenly yesterday on his Lexington farm, produced champions since 1915 including four Kentucky Derby winners. All of his estimated 700 thoroughbreds born names which started with the letter "B".

With a race steward on board, a helicopter was scheduled to hover over the field in each of today's track events at Rockingham Park, Salem, N.H., to keep an eye on jockeys and horses throughout.

In an alimony suit at Newark, N.J. yesterday, Freddie (Red) Cochrane, former world welterweight champion, declared he was flat broke, saying he did not receive a cent of the $50,000 purse in the bout last February when he lost his title to Marty Servo.

The purchase of infielder Jack (Lucky) Lohrke from San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League for cash and five players is announced by general manager John Quinn of Boston Braves of the National League. Lohrke, the most sought after young prospect in the Coast League, will report to the Braves at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., next spring.

Times are changing in the major leagues. Chicago White Sox received a $30-a-man split from the proceeds of Tuesday's exhibition game at Lafayette, Ind. was the first time in history that the Sox received a "cut" of exhibition profits.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Welland, Aug. 16 (CP)—The Kimberly-Clark team of Niagara Falls, N.Y., last night blanked Welland Atlas Steels 2-0 for their third straight game over Steels. Their win advances the Niagara team to the finals of the Niagara Senior Baseball League playoffs.

Freddie Webber of the United States nine held the Steels to five hits. Ralph Hammond of Welland turned in a fine mound job, fanning nine batters.

Since teams from across the border are unable to advance to the Ontario Baseball Association playdowns, Welland retains a chance of carrying on in the provincial series. They will meet Niagara Falls Houcks in a best of seven series for this right when current league title games are finished. .

Leafs to Conduct Three Training Camps This Fall

Toronto, Aug. 16 — (CP) — Three training camps will be conducted by Toronto Maple Leafs National Hockey League Club in conjunction with Pittsburgh Pirates of the American League and Tulsa Oilers of the United States League. The "Varsity" Leafs and Pirates will train separately at St. Catharines, and the Oilers train at Kingston. Training starts Sept. 23. A hockey school will operate at St. Catharines starting Sept. 16.

Twenty-one players will comprise the initial "Varsity" squad. They include goalies Turk Broda of Toronto, Gordie Bell of Portage La Prairie, Man., and Frank McCool of Calgary; defencemen Bob Goldham of Georgetown, Wallie Stanowski and Jim Thomson of Winnipeg, and Bobby Copp of Toronto; and forwards Syl Apps of Paris, Ont., Gaye Stewart and Gus Bodnar of Fort William, Bud Poile and Pete Langelle of Arthur, Nick Metz of Wilcox, Sask, Vic Lynn of Saskatoon, Sask., Johnny McCormack of Edmonton, Joe Klukay of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Ted Kennedy of Humberstone, Billy Taylor of Oshawa and Bill Ezinicki of Oshawa and Winnipeg.

In addition, the pick of the hockey school will join the Leafs, Sept. 23. Five Ontario Hockey Association junior stars of last season have been signed by Leafs and will report Sept. 16. Heading the list is Tod Sloan, scoring sensation of the St. Michael's Memorial Cup finalists.

SPORT FALLACIES

By MARGERY MILLER

Gene Tunney did not learn to box as a marine during the First World War.

Some sports fans base predictions that many good fighters will emerge from the armed services on the belief that Tunney was introduced to boxing while in uniform. Actually Gene had fought five professional bouts, all preliminaries, prior to his enlistment in the World War.

Before turning pro Tunney engaged in several amateur fights. He was beaten by a boy named Willie Jones in the first one, and began to study the reasons for his defeat. His studies of boxing technique had advanced far by the time he entered the marines.

Proposed Non-Delivery Strike Fails to Materialize In Unqualified Support

Calgary, Aug. 15—(CP)— The proposed non-delivery strike of some 20,000 members of the Alberta farmers union so far has not drawn unqualified approval from other farmers' associations in west. There is some outside support, some opposition, but farm leaders generally are not expressing an opinion on it.

J.R. McFail, secretary of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, said the question is simply one of policy, and that since his appointment neither the board of directors nor the annual meeting of the federation has taken any stand on the matter of a strike.

TWO BROTHERS HURT AS SCAFFOLD FALLS

Kitchener, Aug. 15 (CP)—Two brothers are in St. Mary's hospital here suffering from fractured limbs as a result of a fall while working.

Leonard and Wilfred Miehm suffered a fractured ankle and fractured hip respectively when scaffolding on which they were shingling a house collapsed yesterday.

BARON ROTHSCHILD WED

Locust Valley, N.Y., Aug. 16 —(AP)—Baron Louis Rothschild, 63,former head of the Austrian branch of the famous banking family, was married yesterday to Countess Hilda Auersperg, who came to the United States from Austria after the advent of the Nazis. Both the Baron and his wife have become United States citizens.

HOPE OF EARLY

(Continued from Page One)

C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the union, in a statement issued yesterday said the union was "preparing for a long strike." In its proposal to Mr. Brockington, made Wednesday, the union suggested that workers in all three plants receive a 10-cent increase and have assurance of a further $ 1-2-cent increase sometime this year, the exact date to be fixed by arbitration.

An arbitration board also would rule on the union's proposal for further increase of one cent an hour for each point advance in the cost of living after July 1. Such matters as hours, overtime, payment for statutory holidays, and union security also would go to arbitration.

Strikes, in addition to the proposal for a 10-cent increase, offered to pay time and a half for work performed on six statutory holidays. On union security the company offered an irrevocable check-off — collection of union dues by the company — on a voluntary basis providing a majority of the employees voted in favor of such a plan.

Recommends Vote

The company's proposals were prefaced by the recommendation that a vote be conducted by the Labor Department as soon as possible to determine whether employees were in favor of its acceptance.

Mr. Brockington preceded his settlement plan with the recommendation that there should be an immediate return to work with no discrimination by either the company or union, a no-strike clause in the new agreement and fullest co-operation of the union in raising production.

He suggested an immediate 10-cent increase retroactive to April 1 with any other adjustment in wages subject to arbitration. Mr. Brockington proposed that in considering wage increases the arbitrators take into consideration advances in the cost of living, steel production and price control in general.

A MERE MATTER OF $26,000 . . .

Bernardo Pasquel, vice-president of the Mexican Baseball League, told newsmen in New York before sailing for Europe that Mickey Owen, the ex-Dodger catcher, "owes me $26,000 in advance payments." His secretary, Bernice Kyle, is at left.

MAY DISCUSS NATIONAL LABOR CODE

Fort William, Aug. 16—(CP) Labor Minister Charles Daly of Ontario said here today the question of calling provincial labor ministers to Ottawa to discuss a national labor code had been brought up several times between hhimself and Labor Minister Mitchell.

It was possible the meeting would be held sometime in September, he said in commenting on a report provincial labor ministers and Mr. Mitchell would confer in Ottawa next month.

KELLOGG'S ASTHMA RELIEF FOR ASTHMA & HAY FEVER

Cellinicraft

Select from many distinctive designs, each in exclusive assortment of matched pieces.

ASK FOR CELLINCRAFT BY NAME AT YOUR JEWELLERS

"GOSH, MY BOSS HAS A WONDERFUL SMILE!"

But . . . it took a little tip to bring out that extra sparkle. Yesterday he was gloomy, depressed, had done a little over-indulging perhaps. So, I suggested that ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT was what he needed to help counteract that "morning-after" feeling. And, judging from his smile this morning, he took my tip! Now, one thing Abbey's claims, is a pleasant, easy-to-take flavour that leaves your mouth refreshed. Abbey's acts gently, effectively . . . and because it is finely granulated, always pours freely, effervesces quickly, completely! There is no waste!

SWITCH TO ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT Thousands have!

ABBEY'S

GO PLACES LABOR DAY!

Summer's Last Long Week-End

GOOD going from 12.00 noon, Friday, Aug. 30th, until 2.00 p.m. Monday, Sept. 2nd, 1946.

RETURN: Leave destination not later than midnight Tuesday, Sept. 3rd, 1946.

LOW RAIL FARES FARE and ONE QUARTER for the round trip

Times shown are Standard

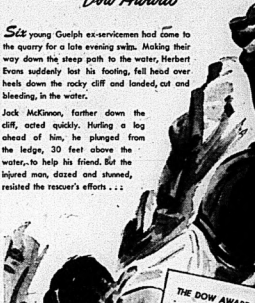
CANADIAN NATIONAL | CANADIAN PACIFIC

VET MAKES 30 FOOT DIVE TO RESCUE DROWNING COMRADE

JACK McKINNON WINS Dow Award

Six young Guelph ex-servicemen had come to the quarry for a late evening swim. Making their way down the steep path to the water, Herbert Evans suddenly lost his footing, fell head over heels down the rocky cliff and landed, cut and bleeding, in the water.

Jack McKinnon, farther down the cliff, acted quickly. Hurling a log ahead of him, he plunged from the ledge, 30 feet above the water,—to help his friend. But the injured man, dazed and stunned, resisted the rescuer's efforts . . .



and it was only after a violent struggle that McKinnon succeeded in getting him across the floating log. Then, with the help of another comrade, he pulled him safely to shore.

To gallant Jack McKinnon of Guelph, Ontario, we are proud to present The Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD

A citation for outstanding heroism and bravery, and includes a tangible expression of appreciation, the Dow Bronze Medal. Winners receive The Dow Award Certificate, a facsimile of citizen's medal. Leading Montreal newspapers.

The DOW AWARD

DOW BREWERY • MONTREAL

"LORNE McDOUGALL WILL HELP ME!"

Your best friend is your insurance agent, for he helps you at a time when you need help most.

Bring your insurance problems to us. They receive our prompt, personal attention at all times. Call us today for expert insurance advice. No risk is too large — none too small.

LORNE McDOUGALL INSURANCE AGENCIES LTD. Belleville's Largest Insurance Office — OPPOSITE THE CITY HALL — PHONE 168

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

MARRIAGE NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bens wish to announce the marriage of their youngest son, Alen G. Bone to Minnie Alverna Scribner, Calder, Sask., on July 7, 1946.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

The engagement is announced of Norma Margaret, daughter of Mrs. Clement B. Wright and the late Mr. Wright, formerly of Chatham, Ontario, to John Mason, son of Mr. W. P. Mason and the late Mrs. Mason, of Belleville, Ontario. The marriage is to take place on September 6th., in Toronto.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mrs. Mabel Bell, 69 Everett Street, announces the engagement of her youngest daughter, Annie Phyllis, to Lloyd Spearman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Spearman, Inkerman, Ontario. The marriage will take place early in September.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cowan, of this city, are attending the funeral in Toronto, of Dr. Thomas Callaghan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Finkle, 385 Bleecker Avenue, have returned home after a pleasant week visiting in Detroit, Flint Michigan, and St. Mary's.

Miss Elsie Clarke and sister, Mrs. Harper McClintock, left this morning for Kapuskasing.

Mrs. Jas. Bushill, Miss Gloria and Master Burton, spent last week with the former's sister and family, Toronto.

Mr. Douglas DeMille of Belleville, is spending this week with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Graves, Picton.

Mrs. Ray Dafoe is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Friends of Mrs. George W. Shortt, of Sidney, will regret to learn she is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

The Misses Edna Moore, Margaret Hillis, Marguerite Armstrong and Wilhelmina Huffman have left for Maine Lake to act as leaders at the C.G.I.T. camp.

Miss Betty Seldon left yesterday for a two weeks' holiday at C.G.I.T. camp, Moira Lake.

Rev. A. C. McCallum, Bayside, has returned home from a month's visit to Victoria Beach and Winnipeg. He will resume his services on the circuit on Sunday.

Mrs. P. Cornell, Mrs. J. Bird and Mrs. J. Alexander entertained at a delightfully arranged dinner party on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. P. Cornell in honor of their mother, Mrs. K. Keech, who was celebrating her 60th birthday. Friends and relatives were present from Wellington, Bloomfield, Hillier, Kingston, Brighton and Belleville.

The winners at the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club on Thursday were Mrs. Kyle, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Watkin skip. Winners for the bridge were Mrs. Hinchey, Mrs. Hitchon and Mrs. Hart. Tea hostesses were Mrs. Sprung, Mrs. Jobson and Mrs. Hinchey.

Women's Activities

ELDORADO-BANNOCKBURN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Eldorado—The Eldorado and Bannockburn Women's Institute held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Chamber.

Profile Flattery

By ALICE ALDEN

RIGHT ABOUT now some new and beautiful lightweight felt hats are blossoming atop some of the smartest coiffures in town. Indicative of the Autumn millinery trend is this profile-flattering fur beauty by Bragsard. Of pale blue felt, this off-the-face breton has a high, peaked crown. It is accented by a drap of vivid blue bagheera jersey which copes under the brim to achieve a turban effect. It's a nice tasty fur for a jaded wardrobe!

Golden Tassel Jewelry

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THE BEST liked bits of modern jewelry, especially the handsome, but not intrinsically very precious variety, are still large and impressive.

The tassel motif used in this new set (one can buy pin and earrings separately) is typical. Fluted of sterling silver, gold plated, and the flexible metal strands of the tassels are set with baguette rhinestones. Notice the design of the pin.... it's a drum major's baton which supports the jewelled tassel.

SCIENCE USES PLATINUM DISHES

Natalie Shuran spends her working days at Linden, N.J., cooking samples of oil in the $2,000 set of platinum dishes she holds in her hands. Although the utensils are costly, the price is negligible compared to the contribution the set will make to better gasoline, motor oils and other petroleum products. One of the important tests is to determine the anti-oxidant of petroleum products which calls for burning them at high temperatures in vessels that do not melt, corrode or contaminate. Platinum is ideally suited for the tests.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Necessary For Acquaintances to Send Gifts For Wedding Anniversary?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have received a formal invitation to a reception in honor of a fiftieth wedding anniversary. As we never met this couple, but my husband transacts some business with the husband. Does the invitation received under these circumstances require a gift? "A" says that sending a gift depends on the wording of the invitation, and that no gift is required when, as in this case, the invitation reads "requests the honor of your presence". "B" says that this interpretation is nonsense, and that an engraved invitation, regardless of the wording, certainly requires a gift. We will deeply appreciate your answer as to which is correct.

S. A.

Neither "A's" nor "B's" point of view has really any bearing on your question. It is not that the wording of an invitation indicates that a gift is "required", nor is it the fact that an invitation is engraved. One sends a gift if one wishes to ... regardless of the type of invitation received.

To this kind of large, formal reception to celebrate a Golden Wedding anniversary, it is not at all necessary or customary for guests who are not particularly intimate friends or who are only acquaintances of the couple to send or take gifts. If relatives and intimate friends haven't already sent their gifts to the couple, they often bring their gifts to the reception. Under the circumstances of your acquaintanceship with the couple, they would not, I am sure, expect a gift from you and your husband. Apparently the prospective host likes your husband and wishes you both to be present at this important occasion. If you wish to make a friendly gesture in acknowledgment of the friendly gesture, my suggestion is that you send them some yellow roses or other yellow flowers (golden-yellow, if possible, symbolic of the Golden Wedding), to arrive the morning of the anniversary.

A Widow and Her Wedding Ring

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When a young widow goes out with a boy friend, should she wear her engagement and wedding rings on the customary fingers of the left hand, or should she wear them on the right hand? Her problem is that she feels she should not stop wearing the rings entirely, on account of her children; but when she wears the rings on the left hand, it embarrasses the boy friend.

2. If she becomes engaged, what then is proper concerning the wearing of the rings of her first marriage?

A. B.

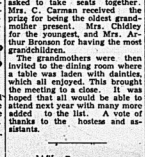
1. A widow, and particularly if she has children, should wear her engagement and wedding rings (or at least her wedding ring) on the third finger of her left hand. A man friend who would be "embarrassed" by such custom is not the type for the dignity and by this evidence of proper respect for a marriage, would indeed be lacking in fine appreciation of human relationships and of important and significant formalities.

2. When a widow first wears her second engagement ring (or if she isn't to have an engagement ring, when she becomes officially engaged), she removes both the engagement and wedding rings of her first marriage.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Clayton Blackburn in the absence of the president. It was decided to hold a meeting in the Orange Hall to discuss farm forum meetings. Mrs. Earl Blakely then took charge of the program with a reading entitled "Nature is So Beautiful". Two very amusing contests were then put on, after which the grandmothers numbering eleven, were asked to take seats together. Mrs. C. Carman received the prize for being the oldest grandmother present. Mrs. Chidley for the youngest, and Mrs. Arthur Bronson for having the most grandchildren.

The grandmothers were then invited to the dining room where a table was laden with dainties, which all enjoyed. This brought the meeting to a close. It was hoped that all would be able to attend next year with many more added to the list. A vote of thanks to the hostess and assistants.

Wife Preservers



Keep the motor of your motor-driven home appliances clean. Electric dust may be removed with a jet of air, by blowing on the motor with a hand bellows, or with a blower attachment of an electric cleaner.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

He Jilted Her—She Thinks He'll Be Back—Shall She Wait?

Maybe I'm all wrong, but somehow I'm pretty firmly against the idea of giving any man the chance to jilt a girl twice.

Sometimes I think that perhaps I'm too hard-hearted, and, forgiving enough. There seem to be so many girls whose men have walked off and left them, and who apparently are perfectly willing—some of them even anxious—to sit around waiting patiently in the hope that the wandered will return.

Girls like 23-year-old Anne, for instance, who writes about the young man, 24, who asked her to "go steady" with him three months ago.

"He always said how much he loved me and how proud he was to walk along the street with me," she says. "He even went so far as to take me to his house and allow me to meet his mother, dad, brothers and sisters. His family is very proud of me, and they are always asking me to visit with them again."

And she, in her turn, believing in the sincerity of his intentions, took him to meet her family, "and they think he's a swell fellaw, too They allowed me to go out with him whenever I pleased, because they realized how much in love we were with each other."

And then, just as happiness walked a girl the boy friend had known before.

"He had told me many times," says Anne, "that she meant nothing to him, but still he carried her class ring on his key chain. He gave his class ring to wear and his identification bracelet and different pictures of himself to carry in my wallet."

Well, the former girl friend—who worked out of town—came home on a weekend and Anne's boy friend, instead of coming around as usual, took to calling up and saying he had to work. Eventually he showed up and told Anne that he was going back to the other girl.

"I politely gave back what belonged to him," she writes, "and said good night. I didn't see him then for a couple of days, but when we did meet, he spoke to me as though we never had had anything in common. It's been three weeks now since we broke up, and whenever he sees my friends he asks about me. I'm really heart-broken about him and can't seem to get him off my mind. I didn't cheat on him while we were going steady, and since we broke up I haven't been out with anybody because I'm always afraid he might see me.

"I know that he's not true to this girl and that he goes out with different ones, but I still have the feeling that he is going to come back to me and apologize for all he has done to make me unhappy.

"Should I go on feeling this way, or should I go out on dates just as he is doing? I really don't know what to do."

I'd certainly go out on dates if I were in your place, Anne.

Maybe I'm all wrong, but somehow I'm pretty firmly against the idea of giving any man the chance to jilt a girl twice.

Sometimes I think that perhaps I'm too hard-hearted, and, forgiving enough. There seem to be so many girls whose men have walked off and left them, and who apparently are perfectly willing—some of them even anxious—to sit around waiting patiently in the hope that the wandered will return.

Girls like 23-year-old Anne, for instance, who writes about the young man, 24, who asked her to "go steady" with him three months ago.

"He always said how much he loved me and how proud he was to walk along the street with me," she says. "He even went so far as to take me to his house and allow me to meet his mother, dad, brothers and sisters. His family is very proud of me, and they are always asking me to visit with them again."

And she, in her turn, believing in the sincerity of his intentions, took him to meet her family, "and they think he's a swell fellaw, too They allowed me to go out with him whenever I pleased, because they realized how much in love we were with each other."

And then, just as happiness walked a girl the boy friend had known before.

"He had told me many times," says Anne, "that she meant nothing to him, but still he carried her class ring on his key chain. He gave his class ring to wear and his identification bracelet and different pictures of himself to carry in my wallet."

Well, the former girl friend—who worked out of town—came home on a weekend and Anne's boy friend, instead of coming around as usual, took to calling up and saying he had to work. Eventually he showed up and told Anne that he was going back to the other girl.

"I politely gave back what belonged to him," she writes, "and said good night. I didn't see him then for a couple of days, but when we did meet, he spoke to me as though we never had had anything in common. It's been three weeks now since we broke up, and whenever he sees my friends he asks about me. I'm really heart-broken about him and can't seem to get him off my mind. I didn't cheat on him while we were going steady, and since we broke up I haven't been out with anybody because I'm always afraid he might see me.

"I know that he's not true to this girl and that he goes out with different ones, but I still have the feeling that he is going to come back to me and apologize for all he has done to make me unhappy.

"Should I go on feeling this way, or should I go out on dates just as he is doing? I really don't

Crisp Cotton Casual

Brown and white combination. .. By GRACE THORNCLIFFE ..

EVEN THE simplest little daytime cotton boasts some distinctive accents and lots of charm. This one goes in for two cotton weaves, using cocoa brown chambray for the body of the dress, with sleeves and centre panel of brown and white woven stripe cotton. White pearl buttons emphasize the high placed shoulder pockets. The curved hip pockets and released pleats lend interest to the skirt. It's a nice little casual frock for all-day wear.

When you say you're afraid he might see you if you did, I suppose what you mean is that if he did see you, he might be mad and then you'd never get him back. Otherwise, why should you care whether he saw you or not?

The way I size the situation up, from the fact that he continued to carry this other girl's class ring is that she jilted him once, but he wasn't wound with the sneaking hope that she'd eventually come back—as you want to do now with him. He evidently intended going back to her if he ever got the chance, so he wasn't treating you very decently any of the time, as I see it. And he doesn't seem to be treating her very well right now, does he, if he takes out other girls when she's away!

Don't you sit around and wait, Anne. You don't want him back. Go out on every date you can, and start right away putting him out of your life. It may seem hard to do, but you'll be surprised to find it actually isn't as hard as it seems.

Latest VICTOR RECORDS

GIVE ME FIVE MINUTES MORE
Tex Beneke

WHEREVER THERE'S ME THERE'S YOU
MY FICKLE EYE
Betty Hutton

LOVE IS THE DARNDEST THING
THAT LITTLE DREAM GOT NOWHERE
Tommy Dorsey

LINGER IN MY ARMS A LITTLE LONGER BABY
BACK O' TOWN BLUES
Louis Armstrong

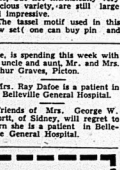
WHEN THE ANGELUS IS RINING
JUST THE OTHER DAY
Vaughn Monroe

DON'T BLAME IT ALL ON ME
ALONG THE NAVAJO TRAIL
Roy Rogers

FRALICK'S
RADIO SERVICE AND SUPPLIES
22 BRIDGE E. PHONE 1491

"WHAT'S EVERYONE TALKING ABOUT?..."

"Why, about the new exciting breakfast treat, of course . . . KRUMBLES! Try them and see how scrumptiously different breakfast can be!"



NOW you can enjoy shredded whole wheat in an EASY-TO-EAT form! KELLOGG'S KRUMBLES are shredded, curled, crisped—ready-to-eat instantly. Nothing to fuss with before you serve! Even the flavour is different! It's a heartening flavour that only Kellogg's can capture. And—there's MORE NOURISHMENT in every spoonful! Your grocer has Krumbles now. Get a couple of packages the next time you shop. Made in London, Canada.

... they are different!

The Quality Tea
"SALADA"
ORANGE PEKOE

Only blue in the rinse . . .
PREVENTS CLOTHES TURNING YELLOW

The sparkling, snowy whiteness of all your white things is something that need never grow dingy or yellow—if you remember to add Blue to the rinse water on wash day. The Blueing operation must be separate from the washing, it must be the last step before you hang out the clothes to dry. A swish or two of Reckitt's Blue in the final rinse water will keep your white things really WHITE—lovely and gay as the day you bought them.

RECKITT'S BLUE
PREVENTS CLOTHES TURNING YELLOW

KIWANIS JUNIORS IN FOURTH PLACE IN LOCAL LOOP

Bob Bunton Allows Only Four Hits and Strikes Out Ten Batters

Kiwanis Juniors came out of their slump with a vengeance at the Alemite Field last night, and behind the fine hurling of right-hander Bobby Bunton turned back the second-place Bata squad 4-3 in hop into fourth place ahead of Lotta in the Belleville Baseball League standing.

Bunton, with the exception of the third innings when he weakened to allow the Bata sluggers four hits, one a homer by Stojan, for three runs restricted the enemy bats to three clouds over the balance of the pastime. He struck out ten and walked none.

Manager Bill Easton of the Shoemen sent Stojan to the mound and the big fella did a neat job until the fourth when the Junior bats nicked him for three hits for four runs. Two walks and an error aided the Kiwanis cause, and they won the game in this innings. Stojan issued four free tickets and whiffed six.

Towering Home Run

The Bata hurler led off the third innings when his team scored all their runs with a towering home run along the third base foul line. Seward, Juniors left fielder tore after the ball and crashed into a light pole, knocking himself out but otherwise not being injured. Wagar followed with a single and Solmes crashed out a double to drive in former home. Solmes scored on Cook's drive to left centre, and Bunton retired Normandin and Aquino to end the rally.

Bud Green was the hero of the piece in the fourth innings when the kids sent four runners scampering over the plate. Kelleher drew a walk, Bunton went out and V. Green got a life on an error. Stojan walked Bush to fill the sacks and Solmes forced Green at home through with a smashing two-bagger to drive in three runs. Speedy St. Louis and Seamark came through with successive hits scoring Bud Green and that was the ball game.

Box Score:

Bata	AB	R	H	PO	A
Solmes ss.	2	1	1	0	2
Cook 2b.	3	0	0	2	3
Normandin cf.	3	0	0	0	0
Aquino c.	3	0	1	6	2
Spencer 3b.	3	0	0	0	2
Austin 1b.	3	0	1	5	1
Stojan p.	3	1	2	1	0
Wagar rf.	3	1	2	0	0
Harry lf.	2	0	0	1	0
Totals	25	3	7	15	10

Juniors	AB	R	H	PO	A
V. Green 2b.	2	1	0	2	1
Bush ss.	2	1	0	0	1
Soules rf.	3	0	1	2	0
B. Green cf.	3	0	2	2	0
St. Louis c.	3	0	1	4	7
Seamark 1b.	3	0	1	7	0
Lockyer 3b.	3	0	0	0	1
Kelleher lb.	2	1	1	1	0
Bunton p.	3	0	0	0	2
Totals	22	4	8	21	13

Bata ..... 003 000 0—3 7 3
Juniors ..... 000 040 0—4 8 1

Summary: Errors: Kelleher, Solmes; Runs batted in: Stojan, Cook, B. Green, 2; Two base hit, B. Green; Home run, Stojan; Stolen bases, Wagar, Bush, Green; Sacrifices, Harry, Solmes, Bush, Bunton, V. Green; Double plays, St. Louis-V. Green; Left on bases, Bata 3, Juniors 9; Bases on balls, off Stojan 4, off Bunton 3; Strikeouts, by Stojan 3, by Bunton 10; Hits off Stojan 8 for 4 runs in 6 1-3 innings; Bunton 7 for 3 runs in 7 innings; Hit by pitcher, by Stojan (Soules); Winning pitcher, Bunton; Losing pitcher Stojan. Umpires, plate, Thomas, bases, Lee. Scorer, B. Shapiro. Time 1.35.

DRAW RELEASED FOR GOLF MATCH

The first annual Bay of Quinte Amateur Golf Tournament gets under way on the Country Club links on Saturday with nearly sixty entries from district clubs ready to tee off.

Outstanding golfers from Kingston, Peterborough and other large centres as well as those from the smaller clubs will be here to send the first tournament of its kind held here off to a flying start.

Following is the draw as released today by Mr. Garnet Captain Ken Reid.

9.00: I. I. Tobe, D. Ridley, D. Doolittle.

9.15: J. McNabb, B. Yanover, S. Wonnacott.

9.45: D. Joss, N. Haffey, J. Ward.

10.00: C. Ewart, T. Carruthers, F. West.

10.15: M. Fabbri, C. W. Jackson, H. M. Morton.

11.00: S. Newman, M. McIntosh, G. Whatman.

11.15: J. B. Monahan, R. McMillin, H. Thompson.

12.00: Acquafredda, S. McBride, H. R. Morris.

12.30: K. Reid, J. Watson, Dr. J. A. Piduti.

12.45: Dr. Darbin, D. Green, C. Niddery.

1.00: Dr. Gibson, H. Ridley.

1.15: J. Menzies, J. Funnell, N. Forbes.

1.30: R. Lyle, A. Campbell, K. Martin.

1.45: A. Persons, J. Harris, A. Menzies.

2.00: R. Fryke, J. Ackerman, E. Hughes.

2.15: W. Bell, S. Burrowes, E. Parker.

2.30: R. S. Orr, J. McKeown.

2.45: P. Shiels, W. McCormick.

3.30: D. B. Fyke, S. Joss.

Post entries will be accepted up to 3.30 p.m.

YARDMAN INJURED AT FRANKFORD

Brantford, Aug. 15. (CP)—Edgar R. Wood, 21-year-old Canadian National Railways yardman suffered severe injuries to his left arm and leg last night in a fall accident at the railway freight yards here. It is believed that Wood was holding to a box car ladder and reached toward the

'Crusher' Casey Hurt, Morgan To Wrestle Henning Tonight

Steve "Crusher" Casey, huge Irish wrestler scheduled to meet Lee Henning in the main bout at the Arena here tonight, will be unable to appear due to an injury received while wrestling in Toronto last night, Manager Walt. Garrow announced early today.

Tony Morgan, popular Lindsay lad will meet Henning in the feature event. Morgan jumped at the chance to get another "crack" at his rival from Iowa and the battle has all the earmarks of being a sizzling one.

Weston Pair Wins Doubles At Toronto

Toronto, Aug. 16 (CP)— Fred Templeman and Alex Coulter of the Weston Law Bowling Club yesterday won the Townsend-Clark trophy for doubles by defeating the veteran skip D. D. Berry and his partner 23-13 at the Toronto Boulevard Club, in the Ontario Lawn Bowling Tournament.

There was no stopping the hot team from Toronto's suburb after they earlier in the day overcame last year's trophy winners from Hamilton Roselawn, T. Gretton and H. McDonald, in the fifth round of the contest.

The Americans, who have had the luck against them so far in this tournament, finally came through for the first time with a winner in the Parker Pen Trophy competition, when Bob Savage and J. Byrne of Chicago became the first recipients of the newly-presented cup by defeating London Thistles' entry of P. McCallum and A. McLeish 23-8. Though the Londoners tied the score in the seventh end at 7-7, Savage and Byrne held their own and with six points in the 11th end put the game away.

As the fourth day of bowling in this city—the hub, of bowling on the continent—came to a close, two Toronto double teams were battling it out for possession of the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie Trophy, last year taken by a Toronto Runnymede team. E. Allard and R. Montgomery of Toronto Davisville and C. Cockshoot and F. Taylor of suburban Mount Dennis' Kodak Club were the finalists.

play for the fourth doubles trophy, the new Rennie Trophy, had reached the fourth round and several visiting teams were pacing the field. Two were American doubles teams, R. Ridley and Lennox of New York, Hilditch and Brown of New Haven, Conn.; one from the Province H. Scheiding and S. Belmont of London Elmwood.

Officials said the entries for the singles tournament which begins today was the largest they had ever had and was held to 128 because of a shortage of greens, main event in the singles will be competition for the fine trophy won last year by H. Stitt of West Toronto.

HE IS IN, TOO

When Bob Hope became part owner of the Cleveland Indians his movie and radio sidekick, Bing Crosby, gulped. Now Bob is doing the gulping for Bing is a baseball magnate, being a partner in the purchase of the Pittsburg Pirates.

FLYING FISH - - - By Steve Bishop

Picton Imperials Meet Mountain View In the Playdown

Picton, Aug. 16 — Picton Imperials will meet Mountain View in the first of the International C playdowns of the O.A.S.A. First game will be at Picton Friday night and the second at Mountain View after station Tuesday night.

The Imperials earned the right to take part in these playdowns by virtue of their topping the Picton and District Softball League games. Picton Bata had a chance to gain top spot, but a 15-1 Wednesday night by the Imperials clinched first place.

Playdowns in the local league will begin in the middle of next week. Six of the nine teams will participate. Every night this week double-headers have been played in order to complete the schedule and decide which team would meet Mt. View Bombers.

The local O.A.S.A. representatives are not as strong a team as could be picked from the league but each team had to be entered individually. Thus the all-star pitcher cannot be taken to make up —Douglas Minaker of Vt. View Civilians — will not be seen in action.

In the baseball league Bloomfield has a two-game lead over Wellington. Another win gives them the county title and the right to meet Latta in the O.B.A. playdowns.

Baseball Results

(By The Canadian Press)

NATIONAL

Teams	W	L.	Pct.
Brooklyn	69	42	.622
St. Louis	65	42	.607
Chicago	57	51	.528
Boston	54	53	.505
Cincinnati	49	59	.454
New York	48	62	.436
Philadelphia	46	61	.430
Pittsburgh	43	61	.413

Thursday: New York 1, Brooklyn 7; Philadelphia 15-1, Boston 11-3; Cincinnati-St. Louis postponed; rain.

Friday: Boston-New York; Philadelphia-Brooklyn; Cincinnati-Chicago; Pittsburgh-St. Louis (2).

AMERICAN

Teams	W	L.	Pct.
Boston	70	34	.673
New York	66	45	.595
Detroit	65	47	.580
Washington	55	58	.487
Cleveland	55	59	.482
Chicago	50	62	.446
St. Louis	47	63	.427
Philadelphia	36	76	.321

Thursday: Washington 1-2, New York 5-7; Chicago 0, Detroit 3; Boston 3, Philadelphia 2; St. Louis 2, Cleveland 3.

Friday: New York - Boston; Washington-Philadelphia; Chicago-Detroit; only games scheduled.

INTERNATIONAL

Teams	W	L.	Pct.
Montreal	83	42	.664
Buffalo	77	50	.606
Baltimore	63	58	.521
Rochester	63	61	.508
Syracuse	63	61	.508
Toronto	58	69	.457
Rochester	50	73	.407
Jersey City	51	76	.402

Thursday: Jersey City 12, Rochester 7; Newark 8-12, Montreal 21-0; Syracuse 4, Buffalo 3; Baltimore 2, Toronto 7.

Friday: Newark-Montreal; Baltimore-Toronto (2); Jersey City-Rochester; Syracuse-Buffalo (2).

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Montreal 3, Louisville 3 (tie), Kansas City 10, Indianapolis 2; Minneapolis 7, Columbus 4.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE

Seattle 2, Hollywood 6; Portland 2, San Francisco 5; Los Angeles 1, San Diego 2; Oakland 7, Sacramento 3.

JOHNNY GRECO GIVEN $12,500 TO MEET CASTILLOUX

Pair Will Fight for Title in Montreal on August 28th

By JOHN JENNINGS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Aug. 15 —(CP)— One of the unwritten laws of boxing, that the champion gets the lion's share of the gate, has been broken by promoter Raoul Godbout here who has offered challenger Johnny Greco a Montreal record guarantee of $12,500 to meet Dave Castilloux, Canadian lightweight and welterweight champion, in a title bout Aug. 28th.

Greco, Montreal welterweight who has been the biggest drawing card next to heavyweight champion Joe Louis at Madison Square Garden, probably could have knocked down a similar or even larger purse in a bout across the border. Altogether, he isn't doing too badly. He gets a good purse and has a chance to end once and for all, 'pros and cons as the comparative fighting prowess of the two Montreal fighters.

Casty, nearing 30, won't be receiving as much as Greco but he will probably receive much more than he has ever before for a single fight.

Promoter Godbout is finding it hard to sleep these days. He needs a minimum gate of $35,000 to break even and has to post a $20,000 guarantee, another Montreal record, on his fighters with the Montreal Athletic Commission.

The former Montreal guarantee record was set in 1926 when promoter Jake Carey of Rochester, N.Y., posted $10,000 on Tony Canzoneri and Vic Foley who tangled June 12 in the ball park. The largest gate is $27,000, made when Gus Mell and Canzoneri met here recently.

Fans will pay $10 for all ringside seats, half of what New Yorkers paid for the same seats to see Greco and Beau Jack mix it in Madison Square Garden recently.

Chandler Says Owen Must Serve 5-Year Suspension

In behalf of organized baseball, Commissioner A. B. Chandler yesterday clamped down on Marvin Owen, erstwhile catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, by issuing the ruling at his Cincinnati office that the player must serve out his five-year suspension for bolting to the Mexican Baseball League. Back in the United States after jumping the Mexican loop, Owen said he was sorry, he had not given up hope but, meantime, he would stick to farming at his Springfield, Mo., home.

Branch Rickey and Leo Durocher, the latter manager of the Dodgers, declined comment. Down in Mexico City, president Jorge Pasquel of the Mexican circus said he felt "a little better" following Owen's decision but added he had placed the Owen case in the hands of a U. S. lawyer.

President William J. Tobin yesterday acquired the controlling interest in the Chicago NHL Black Hawks by purchasing shares from Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, widow of Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, former club owner, and her daughter and son. The announced price was $340,000.

Yvon Petra of Paris, British Wimbledon champion, bowed out of the Newport, R.I., tennis singles yesterday when he was beaten in three sets in the fourth round by Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood.

For the first time the owner of racing thoroughbreds became a major league baseball magnate when Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler approved the deal which made John W. Galbreath of Columbus a part-owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, thus ending the policy of the late Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Assault, three-year-old triple-winner of the turf year, is not being entered in the American Derby at Washington Park Aug. 24 because of an ailment, it was announced at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., yesterday.

Pitcher Hal Mande of Buffalo Bisons, a cousin of starry Bob Feller of Cleveland Indians was released yesterday by Chicago Cubs with instructions to report next spring.

Steeplejack Falls 85 Feet and Lives

Sudbury, Aug. 16—(CP)— A 25—year— old steeplejack, George Petryna of Sudbury, last night fell 85 feet from the top of the belfry of the church of Christ the King and lived to tell about it.

Petryna, a war veteran, has been working as a steeplejack for a month and yesterday's assignment was his first "high job." He was repairing and painting the twin steeples on the church with Eddie Chamberlain, another steeplejack, when he lost his footing and crashed to the cement parapet below. Chamberlain saved himself from falling at the time by grabbing a lifeline.

Doctors said Petryna is known to have several bone fractures and may have suffered internal injuries. He is married and has a young son, Richard.

BLUE AGAIN, world pacing champion at 1¼ miles, captured the Canadian Pacing Derby at New Hamburg with little difficulty, defeating The Count B, twice winner of the Derby. Blue Again is owned by R. W. Leatherdale, Windsor, and was driven by Harold Wellwood.

Red Sox Can All But Cinch A. L. Pennant if They Sweep Series With New York Yanks

Now Enjoy Twelve-Game Lead Over Rest of Field in Loop

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

The pennant bound Boston Red Sox — now enjoying a 12-game lead over the second place New York Yankees — can all but sew up the American League flag if they are able to sweep the four-game series that opens today with the Yankees.

Although it may be another month before the Sox can make it a mathematical certainty, the race has reached a point where a mild winning streak by the pace-setters, especially against their closest competitors, will make the Yankees and Detroit Tigers start thinking about next year.

The Yankees prepared for their Hub invasion yesterday by sweeping a doubleheader from Washington Senators at the Yankee Stadium 6-1 and 7-2. Homers in each game by Charlie Keller, his 21st and 22nd, helped rookie pitchers Bill Wight and Randy Gumpert gain their second and eighth victories, respectively.

Outfielder Jim Chapman ran riot in Philadelphia, hitting three home runs, to lead the Athletics to a 5-3 victory over the Red Sox.

Newhouser Wins 21st

Hal Newhouser, whose hopes of winning 30 games were dimmed when he lost two games in succession, registered his 20th victory July 27, came through with a splendid 3-0 shutout victory over Chicago White Sox in Detroit to give the young Tiger lefthander a fighting chance to yet realize his ambition.

In the torrid National League race, the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers increased their margin to two games over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals by trampling New York Giants 7-1.

Catcher Bruce Edwards of Chicago Cubs hit a major league record for assists with three in the fourth inning. The last time it was done was by Bill Dickey of the Yankees in 1939.

Snap Losing Streak

Cincinnati Reds snapped a 9-game losing streak when they defeated the Cubs in Chicago 5-3. In the first game of a doubleheader but reverted to their losing ways when the Cubs beat them 3-2 in the nightcap.

Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils divided a twin-bill at Boston, the Phils outlasting the Bees, 15-11 in a free-hitting first game and the Braves winning the second 3-1.

Aided by manager Lou Boudreau's two-run triple, Cleveland Indians pushed over three runs in the fourth inning of their home night game with St. Louis Browns to win 3-2.

THROUGH HEAT AND COLD . . .

NEW CHRYCO Super

BRAKE FLUID DOES A BETTER JOB

Through greater extremes of heat and cold . . . from 540 degrees below zero, NEW CHRYCO SUPER BRAKE FLUID resists ice that means! Countless to safer driving. The best safeguard for brakes against wear and corrosion. Engineered and made by Chrysler. Available from your Chrysler-Plymouth-Fargo or Dodge-Dealer. Specify CHRYCO SUPER BRAKE FLUID and be sure!

What CHRYCO means

CHRYCO is a trade name coined from "Chrysler Corporation". Parts and accessories bearing this trademark are engineered and made by Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge and Fargo, and by Dodge and Plymouth dealers.

ENGINEERED AND MANUFACTURED BY CHRYSLER CORPORATION OF CANADA, LIMITED
PARTS DIVISION
WINDSOR ONTARIO

DISTRIBUTOR
TRUDEAU MOTOR SALES

TORONTO LEAFS TROUNCE THIRD PLACE ORIOLES

Baltimore Has Only Won Four of 13 Games Since Leaving Home

(By The Associated Press)

Baltimore Orioles, currently occupying third place in the International League standings, will welcome the sight of their home grounds. For since leaving Municipal Stadium a little over a week ago, the Orioles have gone into one of their worst slumps of the season.

Leaving Baltimore Aug. 5 with a fairly secure hold on second place the Orioles since have slipped only four out of 12 games and dropped to third place, a game behind Buffalo Bisons.

Toronto Maple Leafs extended their longest losing skein to four straight last night as they trounced the Bisons, 7-3. Paul Calvert, recently obtained by the Leafs from the Orioles, limited his former mates to four hits. Hank Camelli led Toronto's 11-hit attack by batting in five runs on a homer and triple.

Buffalo dropped a 4-3 decision to Syracuse Chiefs. Kermit Wahl clouted a four-master, doubled and single and batted in two runs in the Chiefs' offensive on rookie Red Gray who gave up all of Syracuse's runs.

The last-place Jersey City Giants moved to within a game of the seventh-place Rochester Red Wings by trouncing the Wings, 12-7 in 10 innings.

Montreal's league-leading Royals buried Newark Bears, 21-6 in the first game of a twin bill but the Bears came back to take the nightcap, 12-3 behind the six-hit tossing of rookie Duane Pillette.

BASEBALL RULES
SPONSORED BY BILL CRAY

PENALTIES FOR RULE INFRACTIONS

In all cases of violation of the rules of baseball, the penalty for the offender shall be prompt removal from the grounds, followed by a suspension from the league president. In the event of the removal of a player, manager or coach by the umpire, the guilty player-must go direct to the club house and remain there until the game is finished. Failure to do so shall will warrant a forfeiture of the game being given by the umpire-in-chief.

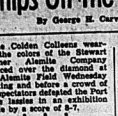
In cases where players continually show their disapproval from the bench, the umpire shall give a first warning. If the yelling continues the umpire can rule the offender or offenders off the bench. If the disturbance continues, he shall be able to clear the bench of all substitute players on it. In such a case, the manager or captain of the team is permitted to send to the club house for substitute players that are actually needed in the game.

WRESTLING
HUME ARENA
TONIGHT
MAIN BOUT
STEVE CRUSHER CASEY vs. LEE HENNING
KARL KRIPPLER DAVIS vs. WARREN BOCKWINKLE
JAN GOTCH vs. FRANK TAYLOR
DOORS OPEN 8 P. M. BOUTS AT 8.45 P. M.
Popular Prices — Tickets, Cook's Tobacco Shop

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

The Colden Collects, wearing the colors of the Stewart Warner Alemite Company, pranced over a diamond at the Alemite Field Wednesday dusking and before a crowd of 250 spectators defeated the Port Hope lassies in an exhibition tussle by a score of 8-7.



The game was played under the arcs and the flood-light frolics met with the unanimous approval of all concerned. The fighting is exceptionally good and the gals themselves were tickled pink with the new set-up. John and Jenny Pan showed their appreciation by digging deeply into the family purse and coming up with plenty of shekels for the collection platter.

• • •

The game was a seven-inning affair with the Collacutt Coach Cuties from Port Hope appearing at the hurling pastime in the well-known container by the end of the fifth frame. But they hadn't reckoned with the batting orbs of the Colden crew. Manager Tommy, about this time figured it a good move to put his lopsided especially in front of the home-town rooters, and injected pert verbal Villamin B into his charges.

• • •

The gals responded nobly and in their half of the fourth heaved forth an all-out broadside and scattered the offerings of the Port Hope pitcher all over the back-stop and the outer pastures. Singles, bushes and doubles came to bat to the wild blue yonder and tantalizingly perched themselves just out of the reach of the visiting fielders. Maypole dance in an effort to snag some of the shafts failed.

• • •

As the Colden Collects paraded to the plate with the almost monotonous regularity of an army pay-parade the score-keeper tore off his score sheet, the fans left the crowd and was last seen heading for an east-bound freight train pulling out of the yards. The Red Sox counted up as far as eight and his score-book resembled a fish net. Ten outstanding tickets on a blage, and still the war-drobe of the Colden clan beat out a steady thumping.

• • •

Maxine Little pointed her sights for the spires of Corbyville, took a deep breath and heaved heavily. The alibis laugh as a fast Port Hope shot stove in the side of the pan. The ball shot into the air far over the centre fielder's head and one Maxine conga'd around the bases, pausing occasionally to exchange greetings with members of the opposing team.

• • •

Bye and bye, about the time the visiting fielders were sent out unconditionally sending out an SOS for tents to spend the night in, Maxine again strode to the platter. She closed her non-shooter eye, swung her trusty mace and again the ball flew high and wide in the direction of the centre field. For a moment then swooped earthward to the ground. A benighted woodchuck, angry at the disturbance of his nocturnal activities, angrily poked his head out of his first porch, swung a mean upercurt at the on-coming ball and drove it halfway back to the infield.

• • •

Maxine, who was approaching third base by this time felt in need of a little service, and stood up to the sack where she refuelled for the last few innings. Into the outdoors by her teammate, Lela Nelson, starry performer for the Colden Collects of Clan, tightened her belt, gripped her bludgeon and swung at a fast one. The ball cannonned from her bat like a bullet, zoomed onto the air, levelled off about ten feet over the second baseman's head and streaked into the blackness beyond. Lela sprang into action and sped around the sacks like a frightened gazelle. She rounded first for the second time before she could get the brakes working properly. 'Twas a neat feat with the feet.

• • •

Thelma Hanake did the twirling for the Colleens and with the exception of the fourth inning when the Port of Good Hopers sent four gals scuttling across the plate with two out, did a fine job of flinging.

• • •

Tommy Colden and his gallant crew have done a right noble job trying to keep the spark of life smouldering in ladies softball in this hamlet. When the sport died a natural death last Spring from lack of sport, moral and otherwise, Colden refused to take the count. He organized his own squad, united them faithfully and not in an occasional exhibition tilt. The girls cooperated 100 per cent and the result is a smart girls team to represent the city in the forthcoming Ontario Women's Softball Association playdowns.

• • •

Apart from a half-dozen balls and three base sacks, the team has financed itself throughout the summer. Travelling expenses, bats and other equipment have come out of the club funds and private purses. Now the squad is readying itself for the playdowns the first game of which will be played against the winner of the United Counties League, an organization composed of teams from Port Hope, Cobourg and Colborne.

• • •

The first game of the two-of-three series will be played at the Alemite softball diamond here at 6 p.m. Wednesday, August 17 with the return game scheduled for Aug. 31. This tilt will start at 1.30 and if a third game is necessary, it will be played at 6 o'Clock on the same day. The squad may go to Port Hope on Friday night to play the return exhibition tilt with the Collacutt Coach squad of that town.

• • •

And speaking of that tussle, Friday, Manager Tommy have their backs to the wall tonight. They have to win 2 in a row to cop the nod to go on into the playdowns and right now that spells out he is in for a heavy assignment. Flashes will likely send Ken Wood back in there in an effort to halt the Alemite Marines. Manager Maxie Peoples will toss Halloran at the Wood-men and Halloran, for he wants to take the series in 3 straight games. Curtain goes up at 6:15 p.m.

• • •

FLASH: Phil Lawson, wrestling impresario of Toronto, via telephone early today announced that due to an injury received in Toronto last night to Karl Krippler and Frank Sexton, Carl "Crusher" Casey, scheduled to meet Lee Henning here tonight in the main wrestling bout at the Hume Arena, will be unable to appear. Casey received a severe eye injury and his physician ordered him to rest for a few days. Ted Brisco jumped at the chance to meet Henning here again and he will substitute for Casey.

Stirling Defeats Glen Ross 19-17 For 2nd Win

Stirling — In the second game of the Rawdon Softball Finals Stirling battled out a thrilling victory over their Glen Ross opponents 19-17 to gain the verdict of the season. The game was featured by hard hitting on both sides with Stirling knocking out Brooks, the Ross hurler in the 4th innings. He was replaced by R. Pyear who fared a little better. Glen Ross came right back and got five runs in the next inning but they were unable to overcome the big lead built up by Stirling. Ketcheson starred for Stirling by getting two three-baggers and pitching a good game. Home runs were hit by Armstrong of Stirling and Hearns of Glen Ross, the latter getting two. The deciding game will be played at the Stirling fair grounds on Friday evening.

Glen Ross: Brown c; Brooks p; R. Pyear 2b; D. Pyear ss; G. Pyear lb; Hearns cf; F. Donohue 3b; Laverty rf; G. Bush and Ulman lf.

Stirling: Fraser 2b; Dafoe cf; Eggleton rf; B. McGee 3b; F. Rodgers ss; Ketcheson p; Bailey lf; Armstrong 1b; D. Rodgers c.

Look SHARP Feel SHARP Be SHARP

5 for 25¢

USE Gillette BLUE BLADES with the SHARPEST edges ever honed!

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By DAVE LENNARD
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Aug. 16 (CP) — In these rolling acres of old Ontario there are not, apparently, the same feelings as there are in sections of the west about girls getting into wrestling trade so it may yet come to pass that on the eastern circuit the ladies will do their stuff.

That is on the say-so of Frank M. Tunney, Toronto wrestling impresario.

In certain cities in Western Canada the stalwart lassies have been banned from exhibiting their talent.

Undaunted by the western attitude, Mr. Tunney intends to introduce the sight of the gentle sex practising the manly art in Toronto.

"Why not?" says Mr. Tunney. "After all there is no more reason against the girls wrestling than there is against them playing ball." Lady wrestlers draw huge crowds in the United States, Australia and New Zealand and Mr. Tunney believes they will have an equally good reception here.

• • •

Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens hockey promoters have succeeded in arousing the ire of their season subscribers.

The price of a new section of box seats for the subscribers had been jacked from $2 to $3. The subscribers feel that this is a display of excessive greed.

The Gardens' officials have tried to soften the shock by installing cushions on the seats in the boxes (no pun intended) but the customers still don't like it.

One (Toronto Daily Star) Perlove quotes a subscriber as saying "There were none of us naive enough to believe that professional hockey still possessed the fundamentals of good sport. It is a sad awakening to realize that it is now far on its way to becoming just another racket."

• • •

Allen Kelleher is back from the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball school, and it is more than likely the big fella will be given the mound assignment in the first game.

Manager Jack McVeigh, and several other Kiwanians as well as a number of fans will take in the tilt which, it has been reported, will be broadcast over Station CHEX, Peterborough beginning at 2 p.m.

FOR MEN IN THE KNOW . . .

It's "Modern" dry cleaning every time. A smart efficient well-groomed appearance can be maintained despite the vagaries of the weather.

PHONE 2277
MODERN
CLEANERS and DYERS
LIMITED
225 Pinnacle Street

Juniors Ready For Peterborough Royals

Kiwanis Juniors leave for Peterborough at 11 o'clock Saturday morning where they will meet the Royals of that city in the first game of the OBA junior playdowns at 2 in the afternoon. The return game is scheduled for the Alemite Field here on Wednesday next at 4 p.m.

Coach Speedy St. Louis stated today that the squad is in good shape. "Huck" Reeves, catcher, is expected to be in the line-up for tomorrow's game after resting an injured hand for several games. "Huck" stated last night at the Bata game that his hand was still a bit sore but he expected it as well as playing shape by tomorrow.

OGDEN'S GUINEA GOLD
Cork Tip Cigarettes also Plain Ends

They're so cool - So satisfying

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

BY SAM GORDON

The Killster

Be prudent, student. Obstinate experts frequently foster punk practices. If you let them, they sidetrack you from the right to more essential. Refuse to be enticed from standard rules.

Oldtimers prefer to lead from a major suit. Even when a lead from their minor looks better. Also, they prefer to lead a longer suit without a sequence to a sequence top from a shorter suit.

These are habits that grew out of abandoned circumstances of the past. They are customs made popular during days when dummy was not exposed. We have done some perfecting since then.

When you have a choice of suits from which to lead, generally follow rule. The rule that lips you off is the order of choice of leads is tops, longies, shorts.

Thus, a top card lead is preferred to a long suit non-sequence lead. And it matters not if the long suit is a major or a general.

The highest card from a sequence is a top card lead. So, even if the sequence is weaker than the longer suit, lead it. Such a top card from a sequence is preferred.

Take a case where you have one suit with a strong tenace like A J or K J. You may also have a weak sequence like Q J 9 or J 10 9 or J 10 8. Lead first from the top of the sequence.

Against a three no-trump contract, lead from this hand:

♠ K J 5 3
♥ 6 2
♦ 8 6 2
♣ J 10 9 4

Your spade suit looks good. It contains higher cards than does your side suit. But your club suit contains a sequence. Lead your club from top of the sequence. It is better than the spade lead.

Occasionally, circumstances will prompt you to alter a policy that is the standard. In doing so, however, you are influenced by information that has a bearing on the advisability of the change. Choose a lead that makes 'em bleed.

ODEON MOVIE CLUB
McCARTHY THEATRE
SATURDAY MORN. at 10.30
DOORS OPEN 10 A. M.
Charles Starrett Tex Ritter in
"COWBOY CANTEEN"
PLUS
2 SWELL CARTOONS
NOVELTIES
RING SONS
NEW MEMBERS WELCOME

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Sam Chapman, Athletics: Hit three home runs to lead Philadelphia to 5-3 victory over Boston.

Hal Newhouser and Eddie Lake, Tigers: Newhouser shut out Chicago 3-0 on four hits and Lake belted two homers to aid the Tiger mound ace in gaining his 21st triumph.

Johnny Wyrostek, Phillies: Rapped out five hits as Philadelphia won 15-11 slugfest from Boston in first game of doubleheader.

Lou Bourdeau, Indians: Drove in two runs with a triple and scored the other run in 3-2 victory over the Browns.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—Jimmy Edgar, 160½, Detroit, knocked out Willie Johnson, 160, Chicago, (2).

Albany, N.Y. — Ray (Sugar) Robinson, 151½, New York, knocked out Vinnie Vines, 156½, Schenectady, N.Y., (6).

There's DANCING at the YACHT CLUB
STOCO
EVERY Saturday Evening
9 TILL 12
Good Music — Admission 35c
A15-2t

PARK PAVILION
TONIGHT
DANCING EVERY WEDNESDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY
MUSIC
THE COMMODORES
M31aFri

GIBBARDVILLE SQUAD DEFEATED BY SWACOS 6-1

Dick Fitzpatrick Does Neat Hurling Job and Leads All Hitters

SWACOS climbed to within a half-game of the second place Batawa Shoemen at Napanee last night when they turned back the Gibbardville squad for their second straight win by a 6-3 score.

Coach Lefty Whitman reached into his bag of surprises and pulled out a new hurler. He was Dick Fitzpatrick all-round athlete who turned in as neat a chucking job as one would wish to see. Fitz scattered six hits over the seven innings route and had the Napanee batters practically eating out of his hand. He struck out six and walked two and added his own cause with a smashing triple and a pair of singles.

Napanee scored their lone marker in the fourth innings when Hayes singled and raced home on Switzer's smash to centre.

SWACOS scored twice in the first innings off Rowbotham as double and singles by Latchford and Whitman. They got another brace in the fifth on singles by Latchford and Fitzpatrick and got the final run in the seventh when Gerow lashed out a single and Fitz came through with his triple.

Coathup, Napanee hurler was nicked for ten hits over the Napanee squad

Box Score:

SWACOS	AB	R	PO	A	A
Latchford c.	4	1	3	0	2
Barrage 2b.	3	0	0	1	0
Rowbotham 3b.	4	2	1	3	3
Gerow ss.	3	1	1	2	1
Whitman cf.	4	0	1	2	0
Fitzpatrick p.	4	1	3	0	2
Booth lb.	2	1	9	0	0
Donovan rf.	2	0	0	0	0
Moore lf.	3	0	1	0	0
xGenereaux lf.	1	0	0	1	0
Totals	30	6	27	9	8

xBatted and played for Donovan in 5th.

Napanee	AB	R	H	PO	A
Vick 1b.	4	0	1	12	1
Turner 2b.	3	0	0	1	4
Murphy cf.	3	0	2	3	0
Jocko ss.	3	0	1	1	1
Hayes c.	3	1	1	3	0
Holmes rf.	2	0	0	1	0
Leary lf.	3	0	0	1	0
Switzer 3b.	3	0	0	0	4
Coathup p.	2	0	0	0	4
xMack rf.	1	0	0	0	0
xxButcher	1	0	0	0	0
xxxDonovan	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	27	1	6	21	14

xBatted and played for Holmes in 8th.

xxBatted for Coathup in 7th.

xxxBatted for Turner in 7th.

SWACO	200	002	2—6	10	1
Napanee	000	100	000—1	6	3

Summary: Errors: Switzer (2), Vick, Donovan; Runs batted in, Switzer, Rowbotham, Whitman (2), Latchford, Moore, Fitzpatrick; Two base hits, Rowbotham, Murphy; Three base hit, Fitzpatrick; Stolen bases, Latchford, Gerow, Moore, Leary; Sacrifices, Barrage, Booth; Double plays, Switzer to Vick to Hayes; Left on bases, Napanee 8, SWACO 8; Bases on balls, off Coathup 2, off Fitzpatrick 2; Strikeouts, Coathup 2, Fitzpatrick 6; Hits off Coathup 10 for 9 runs in 7 innings; Fitzpatrick 6 for 1 run in 7 innings; Hit by pitcher, by Fitzpatrick (Leary); Umpires, Schneider, plate, Richardson, bases. Scorer, John Francis. Time 1.35.

Major League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting: Musial, St. Louis .374. Runs: Musial, St. Louis 85.

Runs batted in: Slaughter, St. Louis 88.

Hits: Musial, St. Louis 161.

Doubles: Musial, St. Louis 33.

Triples: Musial, St. Louis 13.

Home runs: Mize, New York 22.

Stolen bases: Reiser, Brooklyn 20.

Pitching: Dickson, St. Louis 11-3 .786.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting: Vernon, Washington .368.

Runs: Williams, Boston 112.

Runs batted in: Williams, Boston 104.

Hits: Pesky, Boston 157.

Doubles: Vernon and Spence, Washington 36.

Triples: Edwards, Cleveland 11.

Home runs: Williams, Boston 31.

East Hillers Defeat West Mountaineers In Second Game 19-7

In a return game played on the East Hill playgrounds the West Hill Jrs. were again the victims of a lopsided defeat in an interhill junior softball game. The both teams were strengthened since their previous game on the West Hill diamond. The final outcome was 17 to 7.

"Lefty" Don Lockyer saw the seven innings through on the mound striking out four and giving no free tickets to first. Frank Donovan did the catching chores for the Easterners. The only change for the East Hill Juniors was Dave White who replaced Bob Halloway in the sixth.

To start what looked like a pretty easy game, Spencer started on the mound, obtaining no strikeouts, allowing three runs and walking two. He was replaced by Webber in the second who allowed nine runs with five walks and no strikeouts. He did not finish the inning and gave way to Meagher who continued the game allowing seven hits, two walks and no strikeouts in the last four sessions on the mound.

The entire East Hill team played a good game, especially in the field, with Cornell being outstanding in left field, and Donovan behind the ball at first base. The battery combination of Lockyer and F. Donovan played in most faultless ball.

The Westerners were unluck in their pitchers, and were a little shaky in their infield play.

Score by innings—

West Hill	020 040 1
East Hill	302 400 x

Umpires: Bush at first, White on bases. Scorer: M. Taylor; Time of game 1:10.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 16 —(AP)— You may agree with Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler's ruling opening the doors to John W. Galbreath and closing them to Mickey Owen, but you'll have to agree that Happy made his own decisions. At various times the commissioner has been charged with avoiding such things . . . Maybe it is tough on Owen, but Mickey must have known when he went to Mexico that he would be considered a contract-jumper, even though the just-ended baseball navy status was unusual. . . . If Chandler had been insilent with him, a lot of other players might figure: "I'll get mine in Mexico and if I don't like it I can always jump back." . . . Maybe baseball was running a ball club difficult, to say the least. . . . As for Galbreath, we should know more about than a Kentuckian that horsemen aren't automatically objectionable?

One Minute Sports Page.

Jake Lamotta, who takes on lightweight Bob Satterfield in Chicago next time out, would like a shot at Joe Louis and Cerdan. Jake's supporters say this collision would be a natural, too, because they both punch incessantly. . . . Glen Lamkey of the Cleveland Rams plays makes and sells tackle — fishing tackle, that is.

Cleaning the Cuff.

The Ithaca, N.Y., American Legion ball team, playing in the national semi-pro tournament at Wichita, Kas., is composed of last spring's Cornell line and the one Cornell graduate student. They're all former G.I.'s. . . . Donald R. Masters, who officiates in the all-American football conference this year, is a second cousin of Walter Camp, who originated all Americas, but not the league.

TIME: Excitement that thrilled millions in the Saturday Evening Post Serial and Best-Selling Novel!
New Picture ... "Canyon Passage" (Walter Wanger-Universal). Feeling harried? Overworked? Hungry about the Book or the play or better? Try Canyon Passage for quick, temporary relief. Unlike bridge, alcohol, the Canyon Passage prescription is in cape, this brilliantly engineered movie is also habit-forming and has no nagging after-effects.
WALTER WANGER Presents
DANA ANDREWS
BRIAN DONLEVY
SUSAN HAYWARD
PATRICIA ROC
"CANYON PASSAGE" in TECHNICOLOR
AT ODEON'S COOL
CONTINUOUS SATURDAY FROM 2
TODAY McCARTHY

Blind Kitchener Golfer Astonishes Observers With Master Strokes

Edmonton, Aug. 16 —(CP)— Golfers threading their way around the tree-lined Prince Albert golf club's layout here yesterday witnessed an amazing spectacle — a blind man playing golf. To top it off he was making some master strokes.

That player was Ronald Hewlett of Edmonton and Kitchener, Ont., who was robbed of his eyesight by an exploding hand grenade during the Second World War. His opponent in the match was his father, William, of Edmonton.

Yesterday's match resulted from a chance remark made by Ronald at Kitchener a few weeks ago when he said he would "beat the pants off" his father when he went to Edmonton. Hewlett, Sr., heard of his son's boast and made preparations for the match.

When they finished after 11 holes late yesterday, they were all even. Pop was one-up at the end of nine, but son made up for it in the next two. Father allows son four strokes on long holes and two strokes on holes under 250 yards.

The blind veteran, recently appointed field secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind at Kitchener, says he has two ambitions. One is to become the best blind golfer in Canada. The other is to see the day when blind Canadian golfers will compete for a national title.

"I would like to see hundreds of other blind fellows out playing," he said. "On the fairway their is an element of freedom that is not to be had anywhere else. There are no cars, no crowds and none of the problems that bother blind people in the cities."

Other players on the links found it hard to believe Hewlett was sightless. The dark-haired 145-yard, par three, sixth hole, Ronald lifted his tee shot onto the green and missed a birdie when his 25-foot putt stopped inches short of the cup.

He uses a "seeing-eye" caddy who puts him into position beside the ball, lines up the shot, estimates the distance and places the club-head beside the ball. Then it is up to the player.

"A controlled wing is the secret of hitting the ball when you can't see it," he said. "The club-head must describe the same arc on the backswing it does coming down for the stroke."

Putting, a nightmare to most golfers, is his forte. After being lined up for the shot, the caddy or opponent raps the cup sharply. The ball almost invariably travels straight for the pin.

When he gets back to work at Kitchener, Hewlett intends really to get involved in golf. He hopes to interest Kitchener boys in starting a school for blind players where they will be able to practice all winter.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

B-E-L-L-E	McCARTHY	CAPITOL
"The Spiral Staircase"	"Canyon Passage"	"Woman of the Town"
[Dorothy McGuire George Brent Ethel Barrymore	in Technicolor Dana Andrews Susan Hayward	Claire Trevor 7.05 — 10.00
3.05; 7.35; 9.30	2.05, 7.45, 9.50	"West of the Alamo" Jimmy Wakely 5.35

BELLE
A FAMOUS PLAYER THEATRE
LAST TIMES TODAY
"THE SPIRAL STAIRCASE"
Dorothy McGUIRE George BRENT Ethel BARRYMORE
Donald Duck. . . Edgar Kennedy Comedy
Tomorrow
THE REALLY GREAT MUSICALS COME FROM 20th CENTURY-FOX!
In the tradition of "Alexander's Ragtime Band", "Coney Island," "Hello, Frisco, Hello", "The Dolly Sisters" and "State Fair"—20th Century-Fox presents another triumph of MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT Beautiful!
THIS GIRL...!
Breathtaking in the wonder of her loveliness!
THIS PICTURE...!
Glamorous in the magic of its songs, stars, story!
20th CENTURY-FOX PRESENTS
Maureen O'HARA
Dick HAYMES
Harry JAMES
DO YOU LOVE ME
in Technicolor
REGINALD GARDINER · RICHARD GAINES · STANLEY PRAGER and HARRY JAMES' MUSIC MAKERS
Beautiful Songs!
"I DIDN'T MEAN A WORD I SAID" "MOONLIGHT PROPAGANDA" "AS IF I DIDN'T HAVE ENOUGH ON MY MIND"
CONTINUOUS SATURDAY FROM 2.00 P.M.
BELLE
A FAMOUS PLAYER THEATRE
MORE TREATS...
BELLE WORLD NEWS
TERRYTOON CARTOON
Excellent Passing Parade
OUR OLD CAR
SAT MAT. 3 Extra Cartoons

AT THE BELLE—Dorothy McGuire is a current sensation as Helen, in the superb romantic mystery melodrama, "The Spiral Staircase" featuring George Brent and Ethel Barrymore. Closing at the Belle tonight.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 16 (AP)—"I sent my soul through the Invisible, and my soul returned to me, and answered 'I myself am heaven and hell.'"

Omar Khayyam said it centuries ago, and Lionel Barrymore suggests the film-makers' words apply to Hollywood today.

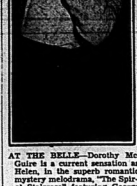
"Those who round Hollywood are merely resisting themselves," he declared. "The motion picture is nothing but a reflection of the nation."

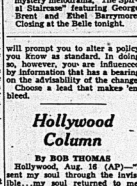
The explosive actor, who can become irate over the time of day, is often incensed by criticism of the movie capital. As he watched him don makeup for "It's a Wonderful Life" he achieved a stormy mood.

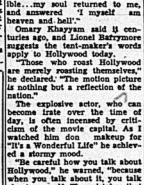
"He careful how you talk about Hollywood," he warned, "because when you talk about it, you talk about yourself. The mistakes that Hollywood makes are honest ones that it cannot foresee.

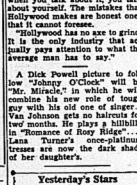
"Hollywood has no axe to grind. It is the only industry that actually pays attention to what the average man has to say."

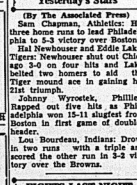
A Dick Powell picture to follow "Johnny O'Clock" will be "Mr. Miracle," in which he will combine his new role of tough guy with his old one of singer. Van Johnson gets no haircuts for two months. He plays a hillbilly in "Romance of Rosy Ridge" . . . Lana Turner's once-platinum tresses are now the dark shade of her daughter's.

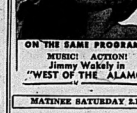






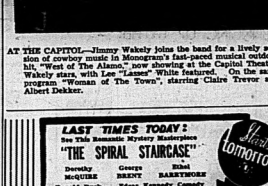


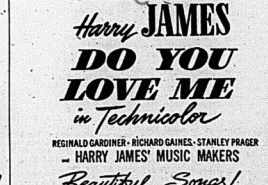




AT THE McCARTHY—"Canyon Passage" currently playing at the McCarthy Theatre, produced by Walter Wanger, headlines the Hollywood favorites, Brian Donlevy and Susan Hayward, who are co-starred with Dana Andrews in the spectacular Universal release.

AT THE CAPITOL—Jimmy Wakely joins the band for a lively session of cowboy music in Monogram's fast-paced musical outdoor hit, "West of The Alamo," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Wakely stars, with Lee "Lasses" White featured. On the same program "Woman of The Town," starring Claire Trevor and Albert Dekker.





MARK TRAIL

By Ed Dodd

LI'L ABNER — And a Goodly Crowd Was There

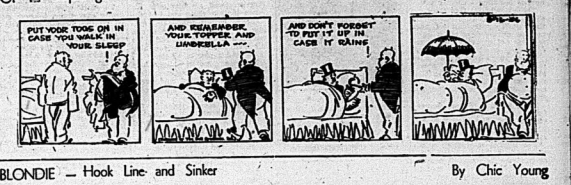
By Al Capp

BRINGING UP FATHER —

By George McManus

POP — Surprising

By J. Millar Watt



TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

BLONDIE — Hook Line and Sinker

By Chic Young

JOHNNY HAZARD —

By Frank Robbins

TILLIE THE TOILER — A Tonsilectomy Might .Help

By Russ Westover

Dotted Line Honeymoon

By Joseph McCord

CHAPTER 9.

For a moment, she stood in the middle of the room, looking about as if she were in a strange place. Then at her left hand. Very slowly, she stripped the wedding band from her finger. With a half-cry, half-sob, she buried the ring into a corner. Threw herself face-down on the couch and lay motionless.

Jacqueline sat up in bed with a start to discover the sun streaming in her two windows. For a moment, she could not locate herself. The early hours of the night had been terrifyingly long, filled with a jumble of memories, misgivings and loneliness. Then broken sleep, with another jumble of dreams. The final one had something to do with a strange boat, manned by blacks. All of them looked like that road-house waiter with the white teeth. A storm brewing and Larry missing. Jacqueline was searching for him....

Ten o'clock.... the first day of married life.

Jacqueline Cutler's sense of humor failed her utterly as she reconstructed, little by little, the events of the day before. She was strangely depressed and equally determined to admit the real reason.

This sort of thing wouldn't do; she told herself sternly. It was Sunday. Her limo for the week-jobs about the apartment. (There was the bathroom floor to be washed. Dusting. Mending.

Her first task was to slip across the room and find that ring, still lying neglected under a chair. Jacqueline stood by the window and inspected the little badge, a plain gold circlet, for the first time....

Oh!

There were initials on the inner circumference. Jacqueline held the ring nearer the win-dow. Very fine and small. "L.C. to J.A." and a date. Yesterday. Suddenly, everything about the marriage took on a disconcerting sense of permanency.

Caught by a sudden impulse, she started to slip the ring on her finger. She hesitated. There was no harm in wearing it here alone. Perhaps it would help....

Silly!

The bride laid the ring on her dressing table and walked away from it.

The hours dragged endlessly as one housekeeping task after the other was accomplished. It was a pleasant day out of doors and, after a doleful lunch from some odds and ends in the refrigerator, Jacqueline dressed with the vague intention of going for a walk by herself. She even put on her hat. Then took it off.... she might encounter Larry.... And slip didn't know, decided.

Then a sudden ring of her telephone almost made her heart stop beating. Her fingers were shaking as she lifted the receiver to her ear.

"Hello," she called faintly. There was no reply. She tried.... the operator's voice.... "No one on the line. Please excuse the call."

Jacqueline made a listless attempt to read the Sunday paper. She scanned the headlines of the news section, cast asides the comic sheets, sports.... financial.

That reminded her. She crossed to her dressing table and found the contract and the envelope Larry had given her. She couldn't bring herself to look at that contract now, but Larry had said something about bonds. Hesitatingly, she broke the seal.

There were a number of folded documents that looked like those hated stock certificates, only heavier. Opened out, the bond revealed rows of little bonds all dated. Coupons, of course. Jacqueline had heard of them.... one things you "clipped." And this bond apparently was for $1,000.00. She folded the paper with trembling hands and looked at its mate. All dollar. Ten of them.

"Ten thousand dollars!"

She said it aloud, in an awed voice. And Larry had said they were the same as money.... to do as she liked with! No wonder he had suggested a safe deposit box! They must go in tomorrow. Together with contract, the marriage certificate and... the ring. Oh, yes. The ring, too.

Throughout Monday morning, those bonds weighed heavily upon Jacqueline's mind. She buried the bundle deep in a desk drawer. When lunch time came, she ate from habit rather than hunger and got rid of them... if she didn't see Larry in the meantime.

She dreaded seeing him, yet she wanted to. She had made up her mind to ask him to take the bonds back. It seemed such a prodigious amount of money to be responsible for. And it didn't seem quite right. Not at all right.

That fortune had brought some fantastic dreams. If that ten thousand were hers.... Why not? Why it was easy! One of those trips around the world, even. Where could not one travel with that amount of money for years, if one liked.

But Jacqueline dismissed her dreams, and at one o'clock when there was no sign of Larry, the bonds and their accompanying documents were carried to the Second National. Jacqueline gave a sigh of relief when the heavy gates of the bank vaults clashed behind her.

Her secret seemed buried in a treasure. That was the great trouble. No one knew. To go, about as if possessed of such knowledge.... weighed down with a momentous secret. It was becoming rather unbearable. And how long was it to go on?

All that afternoon, Jacqueline found herself glancing furtively at the figures hurrying or strolling past her little workshop. She would not admit it to herself, but she was watching for those familiar broad shoulders, a figure in gray tweeds.... walking with an easy swinging stride.

She found herself wondering what Larry had done Sunday. What he might be doing today. Did he remember everything? Did he want....

No. He didn't want to see him. But it wouldn't be so very surprising if he called. They were married only day before yesterday. He might think he should stop by speak for a minute. All as nothing had happened, of course.

Five o'clock came. Five-thirty. With a little sigh, Jacqueline started clearing her desk for the day. She opened the little tin box in the top drawer and was about to transfer the day's receipts to her purse, when a drawing voice behind her inquired: "Could you take a letter.... Miss Anthony?"

It was Mr. Cutler, Larry.... her husband. Standing down at her in that friendly, impersonal fashion of his.

Jacqueline strove to match his attitude, even as she reached into her desk automatically for a letterhead. Larry, meantime, had dropped into the official chair and was regarding her gravely.

"How are you to-day?"

"I'm fine, thank you."

"That's good, I'm.... glad."

Jacqueline had herself in hand now.

"Do you really have a letter to write?"

"No fooling." He held up some papers in proof. "It's to Todpapers in proof. "It's to Tod-man, Kell, Limited. Montreal. Geographical."

He began his dictation hesitatingly, frowning his way through the introductory paragraphs, then speaking more rapidly. Jacqueline gave her complete attention to the writing, relieved that her first nervousness had disappeared. There must be no errors in this letter.

It proved to be rather lengthy. "Will that be all?" she inquired.

"For now." Add was a long envelope, if you have one. How much is it?"

"Why...." After all, one scarcely could charge one's husband for a letter.

"No nonsense!" Larry cut in sharply. "Regular rates."

"Seventy-five cents," she managed meekly.

Larry read the missive leisurely signed it and placed it in the envelope. He seemed in no haste to leave. What was he going to say? He must write a lot of letters, off and on," he speculated. "Do your customers bind you to secrecy?"

Jacqueline laughed in spite of herself. "Some of them do," she admitted. "But that's a joke. Two minutes after I write a letter, I couldn't tell you what was in it. I hear the words and put them down. That's all."

"That's odd. But I can figure it. I'll be having some letters for you now and again. I think it right well if you made an exception in my case."

"How do you mean?"

"I mean you might be a good idea to remember what I write about me."

"But why" Jacqueline's curiosity was roused.

"I was thinking I might want an alibi some time. You never can tell. And that reminds me. I'm going away tomorrow night."

"Are you?" It was said with a creditable lack of concern.

"Yes. Running out to Chicago to check up on a matter. I'll be back here, though. This is headquarters, from now on. Do you know the law of Hicks and Hicks?"

"I've heard of them."

"Wouldn't wonder. Young Randolph Hicks is a friend of mine. If you ever have occasion to talk to him, he's a square shooter."

"Thank you. I've no reason to consult a lawyer, that I know of. Have I?"

"Of course not. But, you see.... well, I've been were to need one of those guys they call an executor, Bessie would be it. You'd find that out."

"You mean.... he knows!" The tone in the question was cold. Larry had promised that no one be told.

"Yes. But you can trust him absolutely. I had to tell him. Because I have an estate...now. You should know about the arrangement, at least in't what I wanted to talk about. Seeing I'm going away for a time, I wondered if I might't have a little talk with you. Maybe we could go....to another movie."

"I don't believe so."

"I get you. I know I shouldn't have asked. I'm sticking to the rules, but it's a little harder than I figured. "He grinned ruefully. "This is off the record, but....

Yesterday, I was as lonesome as.... Hell! Had to sit on my hands all afternoon and evening to keep from picking up my phone.... Calling you. I thought if I could only say hello it would help. Forgive me. I guess I'll get used to it after a bit. Anyway, I promise to be good and drive to his ten as if to make sure.

Jacqueline's heart gave a disturbing little jump. Larry had missed her, too! be sat motionless, watching him as he dug into his pockets for the change he laid on the desk.

"Then it's on movies." He said wistfully. Like a small boy.

"I think we should not go ...places."

"Right. I'm leaving late tomorrow night. I'll pop my head in and say good-bye...if you don't mind."

"Mr. Cutter...." Jacqueline called his name in a desperate little voice. He was leaving.

"Yes, Miss Anthony?"

"She swallowed hard." I don't think I'd care about going out tomorrow evening. But I expect I'll be here.

"Then you mean I may call?" Larry's face was wreathed in ... "If I like! About eight?"

Jacqueline scarcely recognized her own voice as she answered in the affirmative.

"Seven. Yes ...we'll have dinner together, I can't fix anything elaborate. But if....

"Hoy! I'll be there on the dot! I just can't possibly reach me, in case you change your mind. So, 'bye, 'bye!

He went out, whistling a gay little tune under his breath. Jacqueline stood staring after him, uncertain whether to laugh or to cry. What had this man done to her, anyway? She had invited him to dine with her. At her own initiative. She never had served dinner there except to herself, and that not often. And now she was going to feed a man!

(To be Continued)

CJBQ

"The Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

CJBQ (1230 k)

FRIDAY EVENING

4.00 p.m.—Hit Tune of the Week
4.05 p.m.—Table for Two
4.30 p.m.—Rhythm Ranch Riders
5.00 p.m.—Supper Club
5.15 p.m.—Gil Cornell
5.30 p.m.—Behind the News
6.00 p.m.—Dinner Hour
7.30 p.m.—In the Spotlight
7.45 p.m.—Sports Review
8.00 p.m.—Hollywood Open House
8.30 p.m.—Quiz Kids
8.40 p.m.—Report from Parliament Hill
8.55 p.m.—Interval for Listening
9.00 p.m.—Remember the Vet
9.15 p.m.—Holiday Inn
9.30 p.m.—Touring the Clubs
10.30 p.m.—News Roundup
10.45 p.m.—Reverie
11.00 p.m.—Save the King
12.00 Midnight—Sign Off

SATURDAY

7.00 a.m.—Overnight News
7.15 a.m.—Early Bird
8.00 a.m.—Bobby Sox Serenade
8.15 a.m.—News
8.30 a.m.—Sunrise Time
8.45 a.m.—Burnt Toast
9.00 a.m.—Dale for Two
9.30 a.m.—Morning Devotions
9.45 a.m.—Church in the Wildwood
10.30 a.m.—Music for Dishwashing
10.45 a.m.—On the Mall
11.00 a.m.—Going to Town
11.15 a.m.—Pot Luck
11.30 a.m.—Melody Mixup
11.45 a.m.—Sammy Kaye
12.00 Noon—Luncheon Music
12.30 p.m.—News
1.00 p.m.—Luncheon Music
1.15 p.m.—Farm Question Box
1.30 p.m.—Farm Fair
1.45 p.m.—Ralph Bryant and Wildcats
2.00 p.m.—Shopping News in Belleville
2.15 p.m.—Music from the Shows
2.30 p.m.—Music for Listening
2.45 p.m.—Holiday Inn
3.00 p.m.—Holiday Inn
3.30 p.m.—Question Quotations
4.00 p.m.—Jazz Jamboree
4.30 p.m.—Dinner Hour Concert
5.00 p.m.—News
5.15 p.m.—Tunes Topics
5.30 p.m.—Bobby Sox Serenade
6.00 p.m.—Dinner Time
6.30 p.m.—Hollywood Open House
7.00 p.m.—Program Review
8.00 p.m.—Morning Devotions

Network Programs

FRIDAY EVENING

4.00 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—Easy Money
WGR-CBS—Tony the FBI
WGR-CBS—The Man Hunt
4.15 p.m.
CBL—Julio Reyes Quintet
4.30 p.m.
CFRB—Wheaties Orchestra
WBEN-NBC—Quiz Kids
WGR-CBS—Bandstand Parade
WKBW-NBC—Break the Bank
WSYR-NBC—Treasury Theatre
4.45 p.m.
CBL—Little Talk
5.00 p.m.
CBL—John W. Vandercook
CBM-CBC—Women in White
WBEN-NBC—Big Sister
WKBW-NBC—Big Sister
CKEY—Singin' Sam
WBEN-NBC—National Home Party
WKBW—The Lone Ranger
5.15 p.m.
CKEY—Tony Alamo
CFRB—Lum and Abner
5.30 p.m.
CBL—Ralph Snelgrove
CBM-CBC—Sports Adventure
WBEN-NBC—Jack Armstrong
CFRB—Phone Again Finnigan
WGR-CBS—Adventures of Bobby
CBL-CBC—Concert Hour
6.00 p.m.
CBL—Dominion Day Parade
CBM-CBC—Dominion Parade
WBEN-NBC—Easy Money
WGR-CBS—Wayne King's Show
WKBW-NBC—Easy Money
WSYR-NBC—Easy Money
6.15 p.m.
CBL—Lowell Thomas
WBEN-NBC—Lowell Thomas
WGR-CBS—Mystery Theatre
WKBW-NBC—Treasury Theatre
6.30 p.m.
CBL—Dominion Time—Hit Tunes
CBM-CBC—Serenade
CFRB—Jim Hunter
WBEN—Kern Robbiers
6.45 p.m.
CFRB—Wes McKnight Sportview
7.00 p.m.
CBL—BBC News
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Mystery Theatre
WGR-CBS—Kings Men
WKBW-NBC—Break the Bank
WSYR-NBC—Treasury Theatre
7.15 p.m.
CBL—Little Talk
7.30 p.m.
CBL—Bill Stern Sports
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Jack Benny
WGR-CBS—Abbott and Costello
WKBW-NBC—Jack Benny
WSYR-NBC—Jack Benny
7.45 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
8.00 p.m.
CBL—Bill Stern Sports
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Fibber McGee
WGR-CBS—Fibber McGee
WKBW-NBC—Fibber McGee
WSYR-NBC—Fibber McGee
8.15 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
8.30 p.m.
CBL—Calling Canada Soldiers
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Gabriel Heatter
WGR-CBS—Gabriel Heatter
WKBW-NBC—Gabriel Heatter
WSYR-NBC—Gabriel Heatter
8.45 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
9.00 p.m.
CBL—Calling Canada Soldiers
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Supper Club
WGR-CBS—Supper Club
WKBW-NBC—Supper Club
WSYR-NBC—Supper Club
9.15 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
9.30 p.m.
CBL—Calling Canada Soldiers
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Supper Club
WGR-CBS—Supper Club
WKBW-NBC—Supper Club
WSYR-NBC—Supper Club
9.45 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
10.00 p.m.
CBL—Calling Canada Soldiers
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Supper Club
WGR-CBS—Supper Club
WKBW-NBC—Supper Club
WSYR-NBC—Supper Club
10.15 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
10.30 p.m.
CBL—Calling Canada Soldiers
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Supper Club
WGR-CBS—Supper Club
WKBW-NBC—Supper Club
WSYR-NBC—Supper Club
10.45 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
11.00 p.m.
CBL—Calling Canada Soldiers
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Gabriel Heatter
WGR-CBS—Gabriel Heatter
WKBW-NBC—Gabriel Heatter
WSYR-NBC—Gabriel Heatter
11.15 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
11.30 p.m.
CBL—Calling Canada Soldiers
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Supper Club
WGR-CBS—Supper Club
WKBW-NBC—Supper Club
WSYR-NBC—Supper Club
11.45 p.m.
CBL—Lorne Greene
CFRB—Frank Sinatra
12.00 Midnight
CBL—Calling Canada Soldiers
CBM-CBC—Serenade
WBEN-NBC—Supper Club
WGR-CBS—Supper Club
WKBW-NBC—Supper Club
WSYR-NBC—Supper Club

Skin Sufferers!

Stop Scratching! — Try This

Distress of itchy pimples, rashes, itch, from external causes, helped by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Soothes and helps skin dry up. Get a 25c trial bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil. Use as directed. Only 25c at druggists for relief. Moone's Emerald Oil

TO LET

TYPEWRITER, 24" CARRIAGE, GOOD condition. Phone 3697. A18

EXCHANGE RENTAL, MICE & ROOM boarders, shower bath, Dundas St. Phone 3697. Trevor Wilson, Gen. Delivery, Bellville. A18

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

OPTOMETRISTS

DORMAN E. EDWARDS, R.O. H. S. WONNACOTT, R.O. OPTOMETRISTS
McCarthy Theatre Building
OFFICE HOURS—10 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m.
WEDNESDAYS—9 a.m. to 12 p.m.
And by Appointment

CONTRACTOR

FRED ELGIE
BONDED BUILT-UP ROOFING
Specializing in Quality Gravel-Surfaced
ROOFING
OLD TAVERN BAR-B-Q
BRIDGE ST. S. PHONE 3230
Open daily for Barbecued Steak, Chicken or Ribbs Party, to our Private Dining Room.

MEDICAL

R. LILY B. MATHIESON
266 PINNACLE STREET
BELLEVILLE
OFFICE HOURS:
Mon. 1.30 to 5.30 p.m.
Tues. 1.30 to 5.30 p.m.
Wed. 1.30 to 5.30 p.m.
Thurs. By Appointment
Fri. 1.30 to 5.30 p.m.
Saturday, Thursday, and Saturday Afternoons by Appointment

ACCOUNTANTS

VIOLETTE and SAUNDERCOOK
General Accounting Service
Audits, Financial statements, etc.
Phone 3242, Belleville. Dial 9714
KINGSTON

A. M. RICHARDS & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Phone 3230 225 Front Street
BELLEVILLE

DAVID STONE & CO.
Bowmac Building
Corner Campbell and Bridge Streets
BRIDGE BLOCK — 366 FRONT ST.
Telephone 528

W. S. STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT
366 PINNACLE STREET
(Bridge Block Entrance)
Telephone 528

PHILLIPS M. TILL
Certified Public Accountant
Sidney Ave. BELLEVILLE
Phone 3276

MILLER & STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS
Suite 1101, 11 King St. W.
Toronto, Ont.
Tel. EM. 3-2481 Toronto, Ont. Tel. EM. 3-2481

CHIROPRACTOR

WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist. Phone 3-3888 for appointment. Suite 6 and 7 Campbell Bldg. Specializing in Arthritis, Rheumatism, neuritis, sciatica, and all other forms of chronic ailments. Modern treatment for client consideration. 332 Coleman St. Belleville. Phone 906. Lady attendant.

INSURANCE

Thought of fire loses half its sorrow when you're protected with Fire Insurance.
SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
FIRE AND FIRE INSURANCE
Front St. Phone 3-3888

HALL & EARLE
ACCIDENT and PLATE GLASS
Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Front ST. PHONE 11400

CITY OF BELLEVILLE

...al Improvement Notice.
...ARY SEWER. — BENJAMIN ST. ...T TRUNK SEWER. — TO SIDNEY STREET.
Notice That:
...e Council of the City of Belleville ...ds to construct a Trunk Sanitary ...ewer together with private drain connections on Benjamin Street from the ...rth boundary of Street No. 3 to the ...th boundary of Sidney Street under the provisions of Section 8 of the ...cal Improvement Act, R.S.O. ...1950, chapter 184 and amendments ...f said sewer and sewer connections against the lands directly ...ted.
...ted estimated cost of Sewer and ...n drain connections against ...ch's share of cost . $20.00
...frontage basis . $2.00
...rate per foot . 2.00
...rate per foot . 0.3617
...ch private drain . 16.41
...ction . 10.00
...Special Assessment is to be ...ten (10) annual instalments, ...interest on the unpaid amount not ...ed.
...ollection will be made to Ontario ...icipal Board for the financing ...undertaking of the said work ...owner may within twenty-one ...r the first publication of this ...ce with the Board he objects ...the said work being carried ...
...said board may approve of ...work being undertaken but ...ing it to make a smaller ...in where any objections to the ...ill be considered.
...at Belleville this 26th. day of ...ust, 1954.
J. WILFRED ROGERS,
City Clerk.
19,23

WANTED

LADY OR MEN BOARDERS OR roomers, Phone 3662J. A18-3t

CHILD'S TRICYCLE, GARDEN HOE, IN good condition. Phone 3-3888 or 3 Spark's Rd., No. 1, Chisholm Cres. A18

SID CLASS ENGINEER, APPLY J. G. Beesley, Belleville Concrete, Dunbridge. A18

GIRL OR WOMAN—FOR GENERAL housework, no washing or cooking, part or full time. Phone 3-3888 hour. Apply 364 Dundas St. East. A18

PARTY OF 2 OR 4 TOMATO PICKERS with own cars, Phone 3-3888 Saturday, Aug. 19th. Apply Mapleton Nursery, 4 miles west of Bethesda. A18-2t
Phone Mt. View 1r31. A18-3t

TWO SOUTHBOUND OPERATORS and relief driver. Apply 364 Dundas Street, Belleville General Supply. A18

GIRL OR WOMAN TO ASSIST WITH housework, one who likes children. Box 4, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

THREE OR FOUR ROOMS URGENTLY required by responsible couple. Phone 3-3888. A18-3t

SALESLADY FOR ONE OF HILLIARD'S oldest established ladies ready to wear departments. Experience necessary—persons who would appreciate steady employment with permanent position. Write Box 24, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

1941-42 DODGE OR PLYMOUTH SEDAN in good condition. Phone 3-3888 cash. Jack Noble, R.R. 4, Picton, Ont. A18

STEWARD, MARRIED, WANTED FOR private club, Belleville area. Apply with references. Apply Box 134, Belleville or Intelligencer. A18-3t

SALESLADY FOR LADIES WEAR store. Write Box 29, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES TWO EXPERIENCED SALESMEN with personality plus appearance for new department store. Apply in person only and confidence. Apply Box 134, Belleville or Intelligencer. A18-2t

BOOKKEEPER—FEMALE, WITH B. C. or O. A. C. Diploma. Apply Box 23, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-2t

GIRL FOR TEA ROOM AND SODA fountain. No night work or Sunday. Apply in person only Dickson & Sons. A18-3t

GIRL OR MIDDLE AGED WOMAN, not afraid of work, for general housework. Nice home. Light work. Phone 3-3888 Mt. View 1r31. A18-3t

EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHER. Steady position with old established firm. Good pay, hours, working conditions. Write Box 30, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

HELP WANTED — MALE AN OPPORTUNITY
ESTABLISHED RURAL WATKINS district needs man, 25 to 45, aggressive, and between the area of Napanee, Picton and Belleville. If qualified, this is your opportunity to get established in a profitable business of your own. For full particulars write today to The J. R. Watkins Company, Dept. O-B-B, 317 Mason St., Montreal, Que. A18-2t

AT ONCE BY MARRIED MAN, FURnished farm by rent or will work on shares. Apply Clarence Sova, Gore Road, Redpoint, Prince Edward. Phone R.R. 1, Carrying Place. A18-3t

STEADY RUFF MAN WANTED WITH experienced necessary. Write Box 20, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

OLD-FASHIONED IRON STEWING pot with handle. Also tea-kettle of same. Box 24, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-2t

AT ONCE, EXPERIENCED STENOgrapher, capable of bookkeeping. Permanent position for right girl. Location, matriculation preferred, good position with good salary. Write Box 27, Ontario Intelligencer giving full references. A18-3t

HOUSEKEEPER FOR TWO ADULTS living in the country. Write Box 31, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

BOARD AND ROOM FOR RELIABLE gentleman. Apply 16 Lane St., Wellington. Write Box 21, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-2t

HAIRDRESSER, FULLY QUALIFIED operator. Excellent working conditions and salary. Phone Royal Reception Shop. A18-3t

INSTRUCTOR OR NURSE WITH knowledge of Red Cross Water Safety duties for obstetrical, surgical and medical wards, day or night shift. All positions with a future. Apply giving full information, and salary expected to Superintendent, Prince County Hospital, Picton, Ont. A18-3t

FIRST CLASS SHORT ORDER CHEF, good working conditions, holidays, wages, meals included. Apply 14-16 Restaurant. A14-3t

FURNISHED APARTMENT 3 - 4 rooms by permanent adult couple, quiet, abstainers. Urgent. Write Box 6, Ontario Intelligencer. A14-tf

10-30 ACRES, NEAR BELLEVILLE OR Stirling, modern buildings with hydro. Write Box 28, Stirling P. O. A14-3t

EXPERIENCED WAITRESS, APPLY in person only. Hotel Belvedere, Belleville. A13-tf

USED CAR BY PRIVATE PARTY FOR cash. Fair or good condition preferred. Apply stating make, year, and condition to Box 5 Ontario Intelligencer. A13-3t

CAPABLE WOMAN TO TAKE charge of Hotel kitchen and dining room. Supervisory capacity only. Apply to Manager, Belleville Hotel. Phone 3-3888 Belleville. Essential Apply National Selective Service. A13-tf

LIVE POULTRY, HIGHEST CASH prices paid. Orders given prompt attention. Apply Wm. Bowerman, 79 James St., Belleville. Phone 340. A5-tf

FEATHERS AND FEATHER BEDS OF all descriptions, highest prices paid. Write Queen City Feather Co. Company, 82 Baldwin St., Toronto. M30tf

GIRLS TO LEARN SEWING, EXCELlent working conditions and good wages. Apply The Bishop Shirt Co. D30tf

WAITRESS FOR TEA ROOM. PERmanent position. Hours not to be altered. Apply Lattimer's A17-3t

2 OR 4 ROOMED AI APARTMENT, FURnished. Apply Lattimer's A17-3t

FOR SALE

100 ACRE FARM, STOCK, CROP AND implements. Write Box 33, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

$7,500—ONE OF THE BEST 140 ACRES in Hastings County. Good red brick house, large barn, modern farmers barn. Large implement shed. Garage. Hen house. Silo. Good fruit orchard. Twelve acres wood. About two hundred maple trees tapped. Also hundred apple orchard. Never failing creek and spring water. Immediate possession. 1 mile Dundas Street. Apply Real Estate Broker, Carrying Place, Dial 9-3-3. A18-2t

MCCORMICK-DEERING HIGH-CROP 3-14 inch mounted plow, new. F. G. Sine, Phone 3-3888 Stirling. A18-3t

ONE SPRING MATTRESS, EXTENsion table, 6 chairs, all in good condition. Apply 76 Cedar St. A18

ONE SET OF HARNESS, CHILDREN'S cheap. Phone 3-3888. Apply 61 Queen St. A18-3t

5 GENERAL PURPOSE HORSES, cheap. Apply 187 Church St. A18-3t

100 HYBRID PULLETS, ABOUT ready to lay. Phone 3-3888 A18-2t

ROW BOAT, APPLY 124 W. DUNDAS St. after 5 p.m. A16-3t

18 FT. FISHERY BUILT DINGHY with motor boat. Excellent condition. C. Abbott, 264A Front St., Dial 9-3-3. A16-3t

COCKER SPANIEL PUPS ON THE way. Phone 3-3888 Mrs. C. Bristell, Tel., Napanee, Ont. A16-3t

FOR SALE OR RENT, NO. 1038, FOUR new tires. Cutting price $118, will sell for $100. Phone 3-3888. A16-3t

FORDSON TRACTOR, COMPLETELY new Write Box 29, Ontario Intelligencer. A16-3t

SMALL MODERN BEACH RANGE, suitable for apt. or summer cottage. Phone 3-3888 Mrs. Ivan Pearl, 24 Elmer St. A16-3t

LIVER COCKER COCKEREL, DARK RED ing three lbs. Mrs. C. Bristell, Tel., Napanee, Ont. A16-3t

BOYS' C.C.M. BICYCLE, IN GOOD condition or will exchange for lady's bicycle in same condition. Apply 267 Cedar St. after 5 p.m. A16-3t

PROPERTY FOR SALE IN CHERRY Valley, Prince Edward County, 4 miles from Picton, on paved county road with Public school, school and general store, 8 room semi-bungalow with basement, partly decorated throughout, hardwood floors, hydro and water. Apply Mrs. Ethel Hall, Cherry Valley, R.R. 1, Bloomfield. A16,17,22,24

FACTORY BUILT CABIN TRAILER, fully equipped. Apply Belleville Tourist Camp, Mrs. Williamson. A16

SEWING MACHINE, CABINET, FIVE drawers, five drawers, in very good condition, selling for $27.50. Phone 3-3888 mark, 57 Station St., Phone 2152J. A16-3t

1 BOTTOM MOTOR LAUNCH 28 FT. long, 7 ft. beam, 10 h.p. motor. Could be used under Continental motor. Cost $1,200. Will sell for $500. Commercial fishing. $650. Speed 20 miles per hour. Apply Grove, phone 1452, Brighton. A16-3t

HOUSE, FOR WEEKS OLD. HARRY McClure, Herchimer Ave., Phone 1270J. A16-3t

4 PLATE HEAVY DUTY ELECTRIC stove, never used. Apply 93 S. Front St. A16-3t

BUILDING LOT 80' X 300'. APPLY 289 W. Moira St. A16-3t

'51 DODGE SEDAN, SERIAL NO. 9006C66. Ceiling price $441. Harry Rose, Phone 3-3888 A16-3t

LADYS' BLUE TWEED SUIT, SIZE 16. like new. $8. Apply 131 Station St. A16

1931 HUDSON ESSEX, SERIAL No. 1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-10. Apply Bush, 211 Sidney St., Phone 2136W. A16

'50 MARQUETTE SEDAN, SERIAL NO. 19056. Ceiling price $2,286. Good tire, motor in good condition. Can be seen at Canada Packers, 27 Albert St., from 8 a.m. till 4 p.m. After 4 apply 211 Sidney St., Phone 2136W. A16-3t

DUCHESS APPLES, $2.00 PER BUSHel. Bring containers. Also young pullets. J. Thompson, R. No. 2, Belleville. A16-3t

GENTLEMAN'S C.C.M. BICYCLE slightly used, basket and light. Will sell cheap. Priced for quick sale. Phone 108 ring 4. A16

ONE MOFFAT ANNEX. BURNS COAL, wood. Good dining room table, extension table. 301 Ann St. A15-3t

GENERAL PURPOSE MARE 8 YEARS old also Holstein cow. Phone 3-3888 mick Dearing mower, chaps for sale. Apply 332 Coleman Dials Riding Stables. A15-3t

RENFREW-ACORN COOK STOVE, IN good condition. Apply John Gordon, Corbyville. A15-3t

2 KELVINATORS, 1 YEAR OLD, 17 cu. ft. and 26 cu. ft. Both cash refrigerator, almost new. Ed Hill's Cash Carrying Place, Ontario. A15-3t

GOOD BUILDING LOT 80' X 132', Apply 237 Dufferin Ave. A14-3t

1 MATCHED TEAM GREY PERCHerons, 6 and 7 years old, 3000, black percheron mare, 8 yrs., 1900, broke single or double, all set team harness. 1 straight Holstein cow, due Aug. 22nd. Tractor plow, 2 and 4, Belleville. Phone 1211r15. A13-tf

QUANTITY OF HARD AND SOFT wood slabs. Apply Mill or Office of H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn. A1-1m MOTORCYCLE, "HARLEY - DAVIDson," 1948, 74 cu. in. Apply 74 Saunders, c/o Smith Transport. A1tf

BUSINESS LINERS

BABY CHICKS
Day old Pullets delivery at Brantford, N.H. & W.R. also some started pullets. Phone 3-3888, and White Leghorns. Also order now your fall broilers. Phone 3-3888 Belleville. A16-3t

List your properties for sale with GEO. N. GOMMAN (Realtor) — Associate member of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards and of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Board. 196 Front Street, opposite Post Office. Phone 3-3888 Phone 997. J30tf

LOST

BLACK WALLET CONTAINING REGistration card, service discharge papers, chauffeur's licence, small sum of money. Earl Bush, Consecon, R.R. Ont. A18-2t

NOTICE

Sunday, August 15, 1954, Divine Service Holy Trinity Church, Shannonville, 2.30 p.m. Rev. Stanley Hamilton, Rector. Asst. Rural Dean. St. John's Church, Point Anne, 7 p.m. A18

PICTON

Tomato Canning In P.E. County Started Thursday

Picton, Aug. 16.— Canning of tomatoes in Prince Edward County commenced yesterday, the Watson Packers' plant at Picton, a small run. Next week, more factories will begin operations. Due to lack of rain and excessive heat, the crop has been hard hit, but the yield will be large since there is a record acreage planted.

Hoe Leg Broken

Barbara, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams suffered a broken leg when struck by a bicycle ridden by Joan Rutter. The child stepped from an alleyway on to the sidewalk directly in the path of the bicycle. Dr. Gordon Caughey was called and removed her to Prince Edward County hospital.

Land Two

Setting some kind of a record, Earl Grubin landed two of muskalonge in the Bay of Quinte off Adolphustown shore, Wednesday evening. The fish were both landed within a five minute period. The largest weighed 28 pounds and measured 44 inches in length. The other weighed 20 pounds.

A number of smaller lunge have been taken from Picton Harbor while pickerel and pike in the Bay are very plentiful.

No Polio

Despite the large number of cases of polio in other centres, there are no cases in Prince Edward, according to Dr. P. A. ward, according to Dr. for the County. There was one case last year.

Present Gift

Previous to his departure from Picton for Ayr, where he will be manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Jim Range was guest of honor at a gathering held at the Rod Gun Conservation Club. A pen and pencil set was presented by the 25 friends present.

Son Killed

While visiting at the home of S. G. Lockyer, William Gilmore of Flint, Michigan, received word that his son, Fred, 28, had been killed in that city. The young man fell from a train on which he was working. Mr. Lockyer accompanied Mr. Gilmour to Flint.

Given Shower

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pierce, who were recently married, were given a shower at the home of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Delong. The gifts were drawn in on a decorated wagon by Marilyn Smith and Shirley Ackerman, dressed as a bride and groom. Refreshments were served.

ONTARIO MAYORS

(Continued From Page One.)

ener, on "Modern Recreation for the Child, Youth and Adult."

Waste Coal Rationing

Mayor McAllister urging immediate preparation for a system of local coal rationing, said that "any one who interjects a note of optimism into the present fuel situation is misleading the people of Canada."

Mayor Mathews said it is apparent that the provincial government's policy of making available coal education grants to boards of education has failed to obtain its expected objective of having municipalities lower the levy on real estate.

He said the government grants should be made to the municipal councils if the operation of schools are to be continued by board of education . He added that the council and board should be left free to negotiate the final total appropriation for education purposes.

Foremost Tourist Province

Mayor MacDonald, in pointing out that Ontario was the foremost tourist province, suggested that the delegates give serious consideration to methods and plans by which airports established during the war be retained for commercial and pleasure travel in the future.

To help Ontario retain its position as the leading tourist attraction province there is a need for special courses for those engaged in providing tourist services, he said.

Mayor King, in his paper, on "planning and development," suggested the provincial government department with that activity, make available to the municipalities the services of highly trained professional men in that field.

However, Mayor King said "the completed plan after the advice of these experts has been duly solicited, should be entirely one which has been made by and finds favor with the citizens of the community."

Speaks on Playgrounds

Speaking on recreation, Mayor Brown recommended that the conference urge the Provincial government to enter into an agreement with the Dominion government in matching in participation in the fund provided under the National Physical Fitness Act, or to obtain from the Minister Mackenzie King the reasons for not doing so.

The Kitchener Mayor also suggested that each community study the needs of its municipality to determine its necessity for a recreation director, and that the municipality study the provisions of the Department of Education Act to see the Provincial government's present participation in physical activities.

In his presidential address Mayor Wells reviewed the municipal position as advanced by the conference, and said the "unseen balances" existing at present in municipal finance cannot be allowed to prevail any longer. He urged that a strong protest be made to the Ontario government for a scientific approach to the future fields of taxation—municipal, provincial and federal — in relation to proposed functions of each sphere of government.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY

3 CARPENTERS
1 CEMENT FINISHER
1 PAINTER
5 Day Week — Top Wages
APPLY
Personnel Department

BATA SHOE CO. OF CANADA LIMITED
BATAWA, ONT.

THE BAY OF QUINTE FIRE INS. CO.
"A HOME COMPANY TO PROTECT YOUR HOMES"
Represented by
C. W. BURR & SON
INSURANCE AGENCY
ALL LINES, including LIFE
219 Front St. Phone 866

FLAT OR V.
Any length, all widths in stock
BELTS
"V" PULLEYS and
STEPCONE PULLEYS
Size 1¼" - 14" diameter.
REFRIGERATION SERVICE
43 Hillside St. Phone 841

SECURITY MARKETS

Quotations furnished by BIGGAR & CRAWFORD
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Belleville Office — Phone 3160 and 3161

Quotations at 2:00

MINES

Aunor 4505
Bankfield 143
Beattie 5
Bidgood 38
Bralorne 13 1/8B
Broulan 47
Buffalo Ank. 475B
Calgary and Ed. 185
Can. Malar. 703
Capitol Pyr. 1.20B
Chesterville. 385
Dome 21
East Mal. 161
Falconbridge 485B
Francoeur 60B
Gillies L. 13B
Hardrock 173
Home Oil 290
Hollinger 13 1/4B
Howey 28B
Hudson Bay 44
Jason 21
Kerr Add. 13
Kirk. Lake 162
Lake Shore 16 1/2
Lelah 136B
Little L. L. 201
Macassa 253B
McLeod 190
McKenzie 19
Mining Corp. 825B
Moneta 58B
O'Brien 205
Paymaster 50B
Pamour 173
Perron 130B
Pend Oreille 300B
Pickle Crow 315
Pioneer 430B
Powell 72B
Preston E. D. 205
Royalite 124
San Francisco 435B
Sherritt G. 273
Shore 725
Sladen M. 45
Sullivan 194B
Steep Rock 263
Sylvanite 203B
T. Hughes 380B
Ventures 115
W. Amulet 420B
Wr. Hazgreaves 395B
Malartic 190
Madsen 315
Manitou 85
U. Canada 250

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 307
B. A. Oil 70
Brewing Corp. 39
Brew. Trac. 23 1-2
Can. Cement 22 1-4A
Can. Dom. Alcohol 31B
C.P.R. 18 1/8
Canada Car 15 1-4
Coghaud Flew. 153B
Con. Smelting 94 1-3
Dominion Foundries 30B
Dominion Stores 26
Fanny Farmer 58 1-4
Ford "A" 24
Gypsum 17B
Imp. Oil 44
Int. Nickel 37 1-8
Inter., Pet. 17 5-8
Imp., Tobacco 14 1-4B
Labatt 24 1-2B
Massey Harris 17 3-4B
Power Corp. 13B
Steel of Canada 87 1-8B
Walker's 153
Ford "A" Dd. 2010
Maple Leaf 14 3-4B
C.P.A. 30

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Aug. 16 (CP)—The market sold down in a comparatively small turnover in the early session on the Toronto exchange today. The Industrials led the declines with a drop of .73 in the index and the mining groups and metals oils weakened about a quarter-point. Turnover was small at 488,000 shares for the first three hours.

Pen-Rey was a feature of the golds, gaining a few cents in heavy trading. Colomac and Indian Lake also moved in quantity at better prices.

In Base Metals Dome rose 1 1-2 to 94, Sherritt lost 5 cents and Noranda a fraction.

Pamour Players was in demand at an advance of 3-4 to sell at 21 3-4, Monarch Knitting added a point and Fleet Aircraft was slightly stronger. Papers, Utilities and Foods were heavy generally.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New York, Aug. 16 —(AP)— Stock market leaders suffered further losses in today's market although a few issues managed to contest the move with mild success.

4 LOAN PLANS

HUSBAND AND WIFE SIGN — NO ENDORSERS.
ON CARS, TRUCKS, ETC., ONLY THE OWNER SIGNS.
ON HOUSEHOLD EQUIPMENT, ONLY THE OWNER SIGNS.
Compare These Typical Loan.

$100 you repay	$ 7.60	for 15 months
$200 you repay	14.80	for 15 months
$500 you repay	33.50	for 29 months
$800 you repay	52.00	for 36 months

Terms in Accordance with Wartime Prices and Trade Regulations

CAMPBELL
FINANCE CORPORATION LIMITED
34 BRIDGE ST., EAST
Phone 2210
TED TURKINGTON, Branch Mgr.

CASH LOANS
at
BELLVUE FINANCE CORPORATION
You pay for nothing but a confidential, quick loan service.
Compare These Typical Loan.

$100 you repay	$ 7.60	for 15 months
$200 you repay	14.80	for 15 months
$500 you repay	33.50	for 29 months
$800 you repay	52.00	for 36 months

256½ Front Street
(Quick and Robertson Block)
BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO
OFFICE HOURS
9 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. including Saturdays.
Wednesday 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.
WILLIS JACKSON, Manager
Phone 417

WANTED
An experienced Goodyear mineral-rubber applicator who will complete charge of cutting stands, printing and following local orders.
THE JAMES TEXTS LIMITED
Industrial Publishers
119-123 Front St. Phone 888

CADDIES WANTED
FOR BAY OF QUINTE TOURNAMENT
Saturday, Aug. 17th
Report at Pro Shop by 9 a.m.
18 Holes $1.00

COURSE IN EXPERIENCED PLUMBERS
Highest wages. Best possible working conditions. Apply Box 24, Ontario Intelligencer.
A18,14,15,16,17

RENTAL BATTERIES
150 OF THEM.
We cannot afford a flat charge, therefore, slow charge is the only method used in our shop.
Fred's Battery Shop
140 FRONT STREET
PHONE 109
J24-1m

A-N-T-I-Q-U-E-S
BOUGHT and SOLD
L. G. ROBILLARD
46 QUEEN STREET
PHONE 252-M
A14-6t

FOR Car Ceiling Information
PHONE 716
J17tf

CLARE'S TAXI
24 HOUR SERVICE
PHONE 196
A5-1m

MONEY TO LOAN
On First Mortgage, City Property and Farms
INTEREST 5%
BELLEVILLE INSURANCE AGENCIES LIMITED
Dominion Bank Bldg. Phone 3077
A5-1m

WANTED
Experienced stenographer with some knowledge of bookkeeping for position as secretary. All applications will be treated strictly confidential.
RELIANCE INDUSTRIES LIMITED
11 Water St. A15-3t

RADIO SERVICE
AND
REPAIRS TO ALL ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES
PHONE 1181
VAN DUSEN BROS. LIMITED
Home Appliance Store

NEW COURSE IN VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE
The Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School will offer at the opening of school, Sept. 3, under a special instructor, a course in Agriculture in Grade IX particularly for boys who intend to follow farming as an occupation. This course can lead to a Graduation Diploma.
Parents and students interested are urged to arrange for an interview to secure full information. Telephone 795.
A15,16,17

Public School Kindergartens
Birth Certificate Required
Parents desiring to enter pupils in the Public School Kindergartens are advised that a new regulation of the Board of Education requires that as proof of age, a birth certificate must be provided for inspection by the Principal.
Children may be admitted to Public School Kindergartens who are five years of age on or before Oct. 31, 1954. Exceptions cannot be made.
A15,16,17

WANTED
Stenographer for local business office. Experience not necessary but preferred. Good salary and permanent position if satisfactory.
Apply in own hand writing to Box 17 Ontario Intelligencer.
A9-tf

WE ISSUE SHORT DATE COVERAGE FOR Tourist Baggage
Tourist Accident
Furniture in Transit
AND EVERYTHING IN INSURANCE
Jamieson Bone & Co.
137 Front Street

2 Civilian Firms Put Surplus Army Shoes on Dump

Ottawa, Aug. 16 — (CP)—Defence Minister Abbott said in the Commons yesterday that two civilian firms had dumped surplus army shoes on the dump at Pointe St. Charles, Que., after having purchased them from War Assets Corporation.

Mr. Abbott said an executive inquiry had disclosed that neither the army nor War Assets Corporation had been responsible for the dumping.

It was ascertained that one civilian firm had dumped several tons of scrap leather and canvas shoes. The firm stated it had paid $20 ton for the shoes as scrap leather or rubber.

It found that the cost of separating the shoes from the scrap leather and rubber would be greater than the value that would be derived from the re-sale of the scrap.

A second firm had dumped some shoes for similar reasons.

Mr. Abbott said it could not be ascertained who was responsible for the slashing. War Assets had discontinued the practice of slashing shoes.

John Diefenbaker (PC — Lake Centre) asked that a Royal Commission be established to investigate the matter.

"Is that part of your economy program" interjected Reconstruction Minister Howe.

Mr. Diefenbaker said if the rules permitted he would reply to Mr. Howe. He asked that Mr. Abbott make public the evidence taken before the court of inquiry.

Mr. Abbott said there was nothing in the evidence he would not be delighted to make public. However, it was not the practice to table such evidence in the Commons and he did not wish to create a precedent.

He would, however, be glad to read extracts from the evidence during study of his estimates.

E. D. Fulton (PC — Kamloops) asked if the dumped shoes could not be repaired and sent to Europe.

Mr. Howe replied that War Assets Corporation had a repair depot at Valleyfield, Que., which put all possible serviceable shoes into condition for shipment overseas.

BELLEVILLE BURIAL CO.

FUNERAL ADMINISTRATORS AND DIRECTORS.

In our capacity of Funeral Administrators we relieve the family of every detail and carry out their wishes (in all respects) with understanding and exactitude.

MINSHALL ELECTRO ORGAN IN CHAPEL

Private Room for Family.

JOHN R. BUSH, Proprietor.

27 Campbell St. PHONE 3100

BUSH'S AMBULANCE

CALL 3100 24-Hour Service

HOSPITAL BEDS AND WHEEL CHAIRS TO RENT.

RETAILERS make constant use of banking services. In some cases these are simple but essential; the bank takes cash and cheque deposit, makes change, operates current accounts, and accepts and records used ration coupons. Other retail accounts involve considerable handling of drafts, and—a very important service—the making of loans to enable retailers to take advantage of trade discounts. All this entails Banking in Action.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce has among its customers many retail houses, from the small corner store to the large chain and department store. Strict attention to their particular needs is given to all the Bank's customers.

Use our services for your banking requirements, whatever they may be. Consult our local Manager.

BELLEVILLE BRANCH — C. L. Jewell, Manager

723-C

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

TWISTER TURNS VANDAL, PLAYS DOMESTIC "BOUNCER"

"Whaddya know!" muses Doris Wagner, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., surveying her living room window through which she was hurled bodily from the kitchen across the house by a freak twister. She sustained minor injuries — a bruise and scratch here and there.

This is not a lumberyard, but the remains, levelled to the ground of Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner's garage at the rear of their Niagara Falls, N.Y., residence after the twister descended upon them, causing fantastic spectacles in a brief interval.

Controller Clark Denies Careless Driving Charge

Hamilton, Aug. 14 — (CP) — Controller Donald A. Clarke of the Hamilton city council today denied his car had struck and injured two picketers outside the main gate at the Steel Company of Canada plant here.

Officials of the United Steel Workers (C.C.L.) alleged controller Clarke drove his car from the plant "at an excessive rate of speed through the union picket line."

"As I drove through several pickets struck the car and bound me," the controller said. "No one was in front of me and struck absolutely no one. I hit no one, of that I am positive."

Two strikers on picket duty at the main gate — Joe Pravica and George Dyrsun — were struck by a car coming out of the plant. Following the incident the union laid charges against controller Clarke who, the union said, was driving the car.

Jet Gloster Meteor Flies at 626 M.P.H.

BY STUART UNDERHILL

Tangmere, Aug. 15.—(CP)—The world airplane speed took an unofficial beating Wednesday afternoon and Eric Lde. Williams, A. Waterton of Edmonton was named as No. 3 man in the RAF team seeking to better the official mark.

The No. 1 pilot, Group Capt. Edward Donaldson, flew his jet-propelled Gloster Meteor at 616 miles an hour for three minutes Wednesday afternoon. His 30-minute trial flight was not official but it bettered by 20 miles an hour the existing record of 606 miles an hour set last November by Group Capt. R. J. Waterton of the RAF.

When the official attempt is made Group Capt. Donaldson will make the first run over the south coast course and Sqdn.-Ldr. Waterton will make the second.

The bid probably will be made within the next few days. Ideal conditions are said to be with the temperature around 80 degrees.

British Families Move into Deserted Army Camp Huts

BY STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Aug. 15 — (CP Cable) —Driven to desperation by housing problems, hundreds of families throughout Britain have moved into deserted army camps and set up housekeeping in abandoned huts and mess halls.

"Whatever you say, this is better than sharing one room with our two children and three other adults," said a couple at Chalfont St. Giles, Buckinghamshire. "We are here until they put us out or find somewhere decent for us."

No one knows exactly when this peaceful occupation began. Perhaps for several weeks now the "squatters" as they are called may have been filtering into the camps, vacant because of demobilization and departure of overseas troops.

The extent of the infiltration became known only when publicity was given to the Chalfont St. Giles camp where 70 families, including 135 children, are ensconced in prefabricated huts.

No government department wants responsibility for ordering these people out. The Health Ministry, however, may be forced to intervene for sanitary reasons.

Some camps have light and water but in most cases these services do not function.

Peace Tower in Tokyo Jap Women Diet Members' Program

Tokyo, Aug. 15.(AP)- Japanese womens diet member proposed today construction within three years of a 427-foot peace tower in Tokyo, surmounted by a bell, a light and a figure representing the goddess of peace, and paid for by popular subscription. Their idea is the proJect: Kiyo Takeda. She's from atom-bombed Hiroshima.

6th Sidney

6th Sidney—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moon, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dafoe and Mr. and Mrs. Carman Frost were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bush, 4th Sidney.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Spencer, 6th Sidney, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bedock, Garry and Earl of Milford, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. Earl Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Wardle attended the Ellarby-Wardle wedding in Belleville at the Salvation Army Citadel on Wednesday.

Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lott were Dr. and Mrs. Findley and Mr. John McCreary, of Wilkinsburg, Penn., Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sprague of Big Island, and Mr. T. Mills of Northport.

Miss Ethel Striker of Frankford, and Miss Beryl Platt, of Plainfield, were recent guests of Miss Mabel Chapman.

Miss Audrene Martyn has returned home from visiting relatives at Baptiste Lake.

Miss Barbara Sine has returned home having spent the past seven weeks in Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Manly Lidster spent a few days in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Hobson and daughter, May, of Toronto, were recent guests at the home of Mr. Victor Wardle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lott were Tuesday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Beatty, Sidney.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery Martyn were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. Pearson, 2nd Sidney.

Miss Geraldine Sine, of Frankford, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Vera Sine

NOTED HORSEMAN DIES

West Palm Beach, Fla. Aug. 15- (AP). Col. E.R. Bradley, prominent sportsman died early today at his Idle Hour farm at Lexington, KY. associates announced.

Bradley, whose horses have won four Kentucky Derbies, was conscious to the last, Shannon said.He was 86.

Ameliasburg

Ameliasburg. — Miss Marilyn Payne of Point Anne, was a weekend guest of her friend Miss Donna Casson.

Miss Luella File and Mr. G. E. File are entertaining relatives for a couple of weeks from California.

Mrs. George Cunningham entertained the Ladies' Aid last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cannons and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cannons spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cannons and family of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bladen and Eugent, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. Humphrey and Walter of Consecon.

Mr. Albert Lott passed away on Monday after a lengthy illness. Sympathy is extended to relatives and friends.

A number of the young ladies from the village attended the party on Friday evening at the home of Miss Mary Lough, Mt. View.

Miss Donna Casson is employed at the Edwards Fresh Air Camp.

Master Harshaw Taft entertained a number of young friends at his eighth birthday party on Tuesday afternoon.

Consecon

Consecon—Mrs. Alex. Rattray is visiting friends in Massachusetts and New York States.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose of Belleville, N.Y., are spending this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Terry and daughters of London, Ont., are spending a holiday week visiting Mrs. Frank Terry and Dr. Burnes Weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Barclay of Guilford, Conn., spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Rattray.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe La Rue and baker spent a few days with their granddaughter, Miss Jean Wanamaker at her cottage in Rossmore, recently.

Mrs. Hobbs, of Belleville, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wilson and her daughter Miss Dorothy Hobbs on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lauder of Oshawa, spent a recent weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Burkitt.

Miss Patsy DeMille has been spending a few days at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Blader, Ameliasburg.

Miss June Wilson is visiting her sister, Mrs. James Hill of Frankford.

Mr. Billy Sprague, of Big Island, called on relatives in this vicinity recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Minaker, of Picton, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. William Burkitt, Mr. and Mrs. John Welch, of Belleville, were also recent callers at this home.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster Wilson and Richard, had supper on Sunday with Mr. J. C. Sprague and Miss Elizabeth Godson.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rowe and family, had supper on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rowe.

Mr. Chas. Sprague spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Potts and family.

A number of the residents attended the Regatta held at Massassa on Wednesday. Mr. Jay Sprague won several prizes with his boat.

Mr. Herbert Wilson has left to spend several days in Toronto.

A ball game was played on Monday evening at Picton, between Cressy and Consecon View, with Cressy being victorious.

Mrs. John Bovay, of Belleville was a Sunday visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wanamaker.

Corporal Leland Cross, Petawawa, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood DeMille.

Eldorado

Eldorado, (Special).—Mrs Wm. Beakes and daughter, of Cornwall spent a few days with Mrs. Mack McCann.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Post and Wayne, spent a few days with friends at Huff's Island, Picton and Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Blackburn and Harley, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bateman.

Miss Mary McCarey of Madoc, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCarey.

Mrs. Lotie Robinson of Wallscburg, and Mrs. Paget of Belleville, visited at the home of their sister, Mrs. C. D. McCann.

Mr. and Mrs. John Post spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bronson.

Mr. and Mrs. Manley Post spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. C. McCann.

Mr. Arthur Holland is visiting friends, at Whitby and Winona.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack McCann and Mr. and Mrs. Jean Keller spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Carman.

Miss Joyce Sandford, Belleville, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sandford.

Mrs. Robinson, of Wallaceburg and Mrs. Paget, of Belleville, spent Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manley Post.

Mountain View

Mountain View, (Special.) — Mr. and Mrs. Frances Hart, from New York, who have been staying with his sister, Mrs. Blades, of Ameliasburg, spent Thursday, with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood DeMille.

A number of the ladies of Mountain View attended the Mountain View Women's Institute, which was held at the home of Mrs. Sherman Black, of Bloomfield, on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Mary Lough entertained a number of her teen-age friends at a party at her home on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Burkitt spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Minaker, of Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Black of Toronto, have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Barber and Robert.

Mr. Jay Sprague, Mr. David Rowe, Mr. Elwood DeMille and MMr. Murney Joyce, attended the Regatta held at Harris recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wanamaker, Corporal Leland Cross, Petawawa, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood DeMille.

Quick! Stop Itching of insect bites, heat rash, eczema, pimples, scales, ringworm, athlete's foot and other externally caused skin troubles. Use cooling, medicated D.D.D. Prescription. Its greaseless, stainless. Instantly eases itch. Soothes skin. Your druggist backs it. Ask for D.D.D. Prescription.

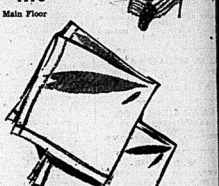
STOP the ITCH of Insect Bites—Heat Rash

CDS PHONE 2000

Men's Wool Felt Hats

Smartly styled wool felt hats for men or young men. Neatly finished with popular block and snap brims. Colors, steel gray, dark brown, light brown and medium blue. Sizes 6 ¾ to 7¾ in the group. Each 1.79

—C. D. S. Main Floor



Men's Handkerchiefs

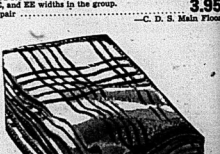
Plain or initialed fine pure white Irish linen handkerchiefs for men. Hemstitched borders. 50c Each .....

—C. D. S. Main Floor

Dr. McCann (Trade Name) "Archsta" Shoes

Built for comfort and dress. Attractive pumps and ties, with dress or low cuban heels. Soft, flexible crushed kid and calf leather trimmed with patent or polished calf leather superbly designed for full wear. Color black only. Sizes 4 to 9 in 2A, B and EE widths in the group. Price, pair 3.95

—C. D. S. Main Floor



Checked Flannelette Blankets

Soft and fleecy light weight flannelette blankets for cool nights at the cottage or at home. Cosy sheets in winter. Finished with checked whipped ends. Colors: rose cozy. Size about 2.0 70" by 80". Each .....

—C. D. S. Main Floor

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES

Probabilities
Lake, Ontario Region: Cloudy with widely scattered thunder-showers tonight and afternoon Sunday; clear becoming overcast during the morning with showers and thunderstorms by evening.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Temperatures
Today ..... Max. 86; Min. 62
One Year Ago 75 57
Rainfall: 13 inches.
Weather: Clear.

Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 17, 1946

3c Per Copy, 18c Per Week

AUSTRIA TO STATE VIEWS ON ITALIAN TREATY

100 Reported Dead, 1,000 Wounded In Calcutta Rioting

Bloody Fighting Carried On Into Night Despite Curfew

By DONALD HUTH

Calcutta, Aug. 17 (AP) — Police struggled to restore order in Calcutta today after yesterday's wild orgy of Hindu-Moslem street fighting which case responsible police official said cost 100 dead and more than 1,000 wounded.

(Reuters news agency quoted New Delhi radio as saying the death toll had mounted to 200, with 1,500 injured.)

Orders were issued prohibiting the assembly to five or more persons and barring the sale of knives, dangerous weapons as reports came in from northeastern sections of the city telling of new disturbances today.

Yesterday's clashes began when the Moslem League chose what it "direct action day," protesting against British independence plans for India. The bloodshed continued into the night, despite a curfew. Bus and tram lines remained suspended today and some isolated cases of looting were reported during the night and this morning.

Losses Rise Over $2,000,000

Some estimates placed the loses as from three to five crores, or more than $3,000,000.

Troops, wearing steel helmets, moved about the streets in jeeps covered with wire nets to protect themselves against missiles hurled by the mobs.

A police spokesman said heavy on duty about 30 hours without rest, said the situation was "improving" after having difficulty removing the bodies of victims of clashes because the continued rioting kept patrols on the move.

The task of the police is to move the bodies to the side of the street," he said.

The day's demonstrations, originally intended to be peaceful, but thing more serious than "hartal" (closing shops) rapidly got out of hand despite pleas for order by leaders of all Indian parties, developed into bloody violence.

Police opened fire several times during the day in an attempt to restore order.

London, Aug. 17 (CP)—Reuters news agency, quoting New Delhi radio, announced that police opened fire in Calcutta today several times to disperse crowds gathered in defiance of day of the Moslem "direct action" campaign against Indian independence proposals for India.

Rector McNeil of the British delegation opened the debate on Austria's formal request to be heard, announcing that failure to invite her would be "discrimination" because the conference had established a rule of "permitting both sides to appear here."

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet delegate, quickly opposed the British point of view.

"The Soviet delegation thinks the conference should decide on proposed invitation to Austria, Vishinsky said. "There are many reasons for the decision."

Mr. Vishinsky objected that the invitation was presented as a single "small piece of paper, in a few days' time the conference thinks it is necessary to be invited" but without documentary evidence.

He questioned Mr. McNeil's motives for the invitation, which, he said, "can not convince anybody."

Mr. Vishinsky maintained that the Austrian issue was not pressing to be changed and therefore there was no reason for hearing a statement from that country.

Fought With Germany

"Austria fought with Germany and, furthermore, remained at her side until the end of the war," he said.

Mr. Vishinsky insisted that the fact that Russia was the first power of Hitler's aggression did not give any way require that this congress should consider any territorial pretensions from that country.

The only reference to Austria in the Italian draft treaty regulates railway connections between northern and eastern Tyrol, Mr. Vishinsky said, "but that is an insufficient reason to invite Austria to this conference."

Concluding, Mr. Vishinsky said vigorously: "The Soviet delegation doesn't clearly see the proposal to invite Austria."

Critical Period For Poliomyelitis Has Just Begun

(By The Canadian Press)

Canada's number of infantile paralysis cases jumped today to 513 and made the outbreak as serious, on the basis of rate, as that in the United States, where about 5,500 cases have been reported this year.

Thirty new cases in Montreal and district and 20 in Ontario sent the figure over 500 for the first time since the outbreak assumed serious proportions early this month.

As health authorities stepped up precautionary measures to halt the spread of the dread disease, especially in the hard-hit Montreal district, it was said that the critical period for polio had just begun. Medical men were generally agreed that poliomyelitis is usually confined between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15.

Of Canada's 513 cases, 36 have been fatal. They are distributed: Quebec, 311 (36 deaths); Ontario, 121 (four); British Columbia, 11; Saskatchewan, two; Alberta, 22

City and District News

R.E.T.A. PICNIC HELD AT WELLINGTON

The Radio Technicians Association of the Bay of Quinte district held their first annual picnic at Wellington on Tuesday last. Members and their families from Belleville, Picton, Trenton, Stirling, Campbellford, Port Hope and Wellington attended. A game of softball was participated in by everyone including the ladies with the women's team taking the edge with a score of 9-8.

This evening's regular meeting of radio technicians and families will be looked forward to with anticipation in the future as a yearly event.

BELLEVILLE YACHT CLUB HOLDS MEETING

A meeting of former members and those interested in water sports and amateur athletics, was held at the Belleville Athletic and Yacht Club on Thursday evening. Although the attendance was not as large as was expected a good number were present.

Maurice Callaghan acted as chairman and Charlie Jeffs as secretary. The result of the meeting was that the club would be reorganized and a committee composed of H. Seldon, Alderman Fred Culbert and Maurice Callaghan were appointed to obtain a complete inventory and report of the financial standing of the club to be presented to the next meeting, to be held in the very near future at which time the duties of the officers of the club will be elected.

LAYS LARGE EGGS PAST TWO DAYS

A light Brahma hen owned by Charles Sanders of this city, believes in quality as well as quantity of production. For the past two days this feathered lady has produced eggs that dwarf the ordinary breakfast food. They measured 3x4 inches when the hen was layed and were girthed at 6 3-4 inches.

LABOR

(Continued from Page One)

tile strike at Valleyfield which affects 2,000 employees and which dates back to June 1. There were disturbances at the plant when attempts were made this week to re-open.

Idle Since June 24th

Other tobacco factories employing 10,000 workers have been idle since June 24 as a result of a strike of the United Rubber Workers (CIO.) at the plants concentred in Kitchener, Oakville, Hamilton and Toronto. The Automotive and Allied Workers (C.I.O.) also has 7,000 workers out on strikes in Toronto, Oshawa and Welland.

One of the longest strikes now in effect is that of the International Alkali, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.) at the Anaconda American Brass Co., Toronto, which has been in force since May 12. The United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) has 3,000 out on the Windsor and Chatham plants of Chrysler and 1,400 out on the involved in a strike at the Canadian Industries, Windsor, explosive plant and the Brunner Mond Ltd. chemical plant at Amherstburg.

The chief metal and mining production at the Algoma Steel Corporation plant at Sault Ste. Marie, plant. The Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton has also remained in partial production with non-union employees.

Major British Columbia strike is that of 2,500 hardrock miners which was called on May 6 by the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. At Penticton, B.C., municipal garbage collectors are engaged in a strike and 2,500 Okanagan valley workers are threatening a work stoppage in sympathy.

Know the future — Consult
MADAME OLKO
Handwriting Expert
Palmist Card Reader
22 Station St. Phone 2835M
A16-1m

SUMMER COLOGNES
—RUBENSTEEN
Apple Blossom, Enchante
Per oz. $1.25
—HENLEY'S
Country Garden $1.25
—ADRIENNE 65c $1.15
—LOTUS $1.25 $2.25
—TAILSPIN $1.50
—BALALAIKA $1.50
McKEOWN'S
DRUG STORE
Phone 125
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

FLOOR SANDING
"Your Floor Is Our Model" and FINISHED
Old Floors RESURFACED and MADE LIKE NEW
GLEN ELLIOT
194 Dufferin Ave. Phone 3480J
A16-1m

Corn Offered In Large Quantity On Local Market

Tomatoes appeared in increasing quantities on the city market this morning and prices dropped a fraction from those quoted on Thursday. Six-quart baskets were offered at 45c through Bay-ley's as against forty quoted on Thursday. Berry boxes were also at ten cents each.

Corn was offered in fairly large amounts at from forty to fifty cents the dozen ears. Potatoes moved briskly at 90 cents for the peck with carrots selling at 3 bunches for 25 cents; celery at 15 cents or 2 for 25 cents; lettuce at 10 cents the head and new potatoes 10 cents the quart or 60 cents for the six-quart basket.

Cauliflower look good, quality was offered from 30 to 45 cents the head with cabbage going at from 15 cents up.

Peaches were offered at from 90 cents to $1.10 while Shiro and Sanders plums sold at 75 cents and 60 to 75 cents per basket respectively. Duchess apples brought 50 cents for six quarts with Astrachans bringing the same price. Wealthy Harvesters sold at a few cents less.

Grade "A" eggs were quoted at fifty cents the dozen with mediums two cents less. Spring chickens were quoted from $1.25 to $1.50 each.

Obituary

LATE C. R. TERRILL

Woodlot—The funeral of Clinton R. Terrill was held at his late residence on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

In the absence of Rev. W. Delve, the funeral was conducted by Rev. A. Poulter of Madoc, a former pastor, assisted by Rev. Wellington assisted in the service. Mr. Bonnell of Marlbank sang "Does Jesus Care".

Interment was made in the family plot in the Friends Cemetery. The pall bearers were Clifford Wannamaker, Ivan Bell, Coll, Homer Lowe, Clifford Dunn, Neil Nelson and Wesley Golding.

LATE SAMUEL WRIGHT

Marmora. (Special) — The funeral of the late Samuel Wright took place on Friday afternoon, from the residence of Mr. John Cronkwright for service in Trinity United Church, Rev. J. M. Brownlie officiated and interment was made in Marmora Protestant Cemetery. The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Wright of Marmora and his death occurred in Belleville on Wednesday in the age of 83. For some years he followed construction work and later was employed as a teamster for many years by the Pearce Company. He was of a friendly disposition and was held in high regard by a large circle of friends. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Dan Sharpe, (Rose), of Trenton, with whom he had resided for some time and also by two brothers, Jesse Campbellford and Milton, Niagara Falls, N. Y., also by two grandchildren by a former wife. He was predeceased him a few years ago. John Cronkright of Marmora, is a stepson.

LATE FREDERICK MICHAEL LENAHAN

The funeral of the late Frederick Michael Lenahan, 62 Benjamin Street, who died at the age of 51 at the London Sanitarium, was held from the Martin Funeral Home Ltd., chapel on Thursday, July 18th.

The Rev. Arthur Smith, rector of St. Thomas' Church, conducted the services at the chapel and graveside. Pallbearers were Messrs. Joseph Hart, Garnet Hart, Harold Ogilvy, Isaac Coal, Joseph Pritchard, Marsh Berry.

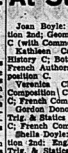
Mrs. Lenahan, Belleville, of Ottawa, a survivor of the late Mr. Lenahan, was inadvertently omitted from the list published in Thursday's edition.

MRS. SARAH JANE ELVIDGE

After a lengthy illness, a well-known and highly respected resident of this city for many years, died at Kingston early Friday evening. She was born in Yorkshire, England, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thackery. 89 years ago and came to this country as a young

GEEN'S
WILD STRAWBERRY COMPOUND
For
Dysentry, Colic, etc.
35c bottles
GEEN—DRUGS
"Rexall Store"

Donald McKinney, General Manager Of Funeral Home



Donald A. McKinney, business office manager of the Belleville General Hospital, has severed his connections with that institution and has been named general manager of the Martin Funeral Home Ltd., Church Street. He succeeds Donald Arthur, Mr. McKinney assumed the duties of his new position this morning.

One of the popular young men of this city, Mr. McKinney brings a background of considerable experience to his position. He first came to 1930 he entered the employ of the Martin Funeral Home and then under the management of Mr. Floyd Martin, as a student embalmer. He graduated with honors from the Canadian School of Embalming, Toronto Institute, University of Toronto in October, 1939.

Returning to Belleville he continued his associations with the Martin Funeral Home and in January, 1943 when he accepted the position of business office manager of the hospital here.

Upper School Results At St. Michael's H.S.

Joan Boyle: English Composition and Grammar; Geometry C; Chemistry C (with Commercial).

Kathleen Cunningham: Modern History C; Botany C; Physics C; French Authors C; French Composition C.

Veronica Chasille: English Composition C; French Authors C; French Composition C.

Mary Cunningham: Geometry C; Trig. & Statics C; French Authors C; French Composition C.

Judith Doyle: English Composition 2nd; English Literature C; Trig. & Statics 2nd; French Authors 3rd; Latin Composition 1st; French Theme 2nd; French Composition 2nd; Music 1st.

Joan Finkle: Modern History 1st; Physics 3rd; Chemistry 2nd; with Commercial).

Richard Fitzpatrick: Latin Composition C; French Authors C; French Composition 3rd.

Betty Forward: English Composition C; English Literature 3rd; Modern History 3rd; Geometry C; Trig. & Statics 3rd; Latin Authors 2rd; Latin Comp. 3rd; French Authors 3rd; French Composition 2nd.

Mary Flynn: English Composition C; Modern History 1st; Physics 3rd; Chemistry 1st; (with Commercial).

Margaret Hafrey: English Composition 3rd.

William Lorimer: English Composition C; French (Commercial).

Les Murphy: Geometry 3rd; Latin Authors 2nd; Latin Composition C; (with Commercial).

Marie O'Neill: English Composition C; Trig. & Statics C; Latin Authors 2nd; Latin Composition 1st; French Authors C; French Composition 2nd.

Francis Peets: English Literature C; Modern History C; Trig. & Statics C; Latin Authors C; Latin Composition C; French Authors C; French Composition C.

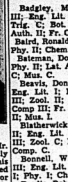
Ruth Pfeiffer: English Composition 2nd; English Literature 3rd; Algebra 1st; Geometry 1st; Trig. & Statics 1st; Physics 2nd; Chemistry 1st; French Authors 2nd; French Composition 1st.

Gerelle Trudeau: English Literature C; English Composition C; French (Commercial).

Mary Agnes Wilkinson: Algebra 2nd; Physics 1st; Chemistry 1st (with Commercial).

George Wilson: Geometry 2nd; Trig. & Statics C; Chemistry 3rd.

B.C.I. Upper School Departmental Results



DONALD A. McKINNEY

Donald A. McKinney who came to this city in 1924 where he has resided since. He received his early matriculation at the Belleville Collegiate Institute and while a student there excelled in hockey and football.

He is a member of Bridge St. United Church and is active in the various organizations of the local congregation. He married the former Muriel Bell of this city and at present resides on Bell at Dunbar Street.

The affable young man with an amiable disposition, Mr. McKinney enjoys a widespread popularity in the city and district.

girl and has resided in Belleville for the past 30 years. Her husband, the late John Elvidge predeceased her some years ago.

The late Mrs. Elvidge was a member of Trinity United Methodist church, and took an active interest when health permitted. Surviving are one son, Harry Elvidge, Belleville, one grandchild, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Latonne; one granddaughter, Mrs. Bernice Van Cott, one great granddaughter, Mary Jane, Ucn, Canniton.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

Crotch Lake Resident Shot At Dance Hall

Alvin Patterson, resident of Crotch Lake was shot and believed to be dangerously wounded in a dance-hall altercation around mid-night Friday. Crotch Lake is seventeen miles north of Sharbot Lake on the eastern boundary of Frontenac county.

Patterson was discovered in a critical condition from a gunshot wound and was rushed to Perth Hospital. Two provincial police officers from Belleville district detachment are investigating the shooting.

Havelock Post Office Entered, $600 Taken

Robbers, sensing a big haul after a street dance in Havelock Friday night, broke into the post office there and stole approximately $600 in cash, the entire proceeds of the function, Provincial Police reported here today.

The robbery was believed to have been committed about 3 o'clock this morning, according to William Mathieson village postmaster, who was secretary elected at the time of going to press if the robbers took post office valuables or cash."

Provincial Police are investigating.

A16,17

Badgley, Marie—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Trig. C; Geom. C; Phy. C; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. I; Mus. II.

Baird, Ronald—Alg. C; Geom. C; Phy. III; Chem. C; Comp. C.

Bateman, Douglas—Eng. Lit. C; Phy. II; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Mus. C.

Beavis, Donald—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. III; Zool. II; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp III; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II; Mus. I.

Blatherwick, Ruth: Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. III; Zool. C; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. C.

Bonnell, William—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Geom. II; Trig. III; Phy. II; Chem. C.

Boyle, Joan—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Geom. I; Trig. I; Phy. I; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.

Brown, Jean—Eng. Comp. C; Bot. C; Zool. III; Chem. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Carruthers, Thomas—Alg. C; Chem. II; Ger. Comp. C.

Carswell, Alice—Eng. Lit. III; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. C.

Carter, Iona—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Geom. I; Trig. II; Zool. C; Chem. III; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Coles, Phyllis—Eng. Comp. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Cooper, Ruth—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. III; Trig. C; Bot. III; Zool. III; Fr. Auth. II; Comp. II; Mus. II.

Cooper, Ruth—Eng. Comp. C; Fr. Auth.—III; Fr. Comp. C.

Dickens, Robert—Eng. Comp. C.

Downey, Doreen—Eng. Lit. C; Zool. C; Fr. Auth. C.

Dunn, Ruth—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. III; Alg. C; Geom. C; Trig. C; Phy. C; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. II.

Edwards, Donald — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. II; Alg. III; Geom. III; Mod. Hist. III; Chem. I; Mus. III.

Elliott, Jean — Eng. Comp. C; Zool. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. III; Mus. C.

Evans, Barbara — Eng. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. C.

Finkle, Charlotte — Bot. C; Zool. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. III.

Flindall, Lois — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. C; Geom. I; Trig. C; Phy. C; Chem. C; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. III.

Forster, Inez — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Bot. III; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. III.

Green, Rose — Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. I; Bot. III; Zool. II.

Hagerman, Patricia — Eng. Comp. C; Mod. Hist. III; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. C.

Hagerman, Stanley — Geom. I; Hinchliffe, Eugene—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. III; Chem. I.

Holland, Cyril — Eng. Comp. C; Chem. II.

Holway, William — Alg. C; Geom. C; Chem. C.

Huffman, Georgina — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Bot. C; Zool. C; Chem. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. C.

Hunter, Marion — Alg. III; Bot. II; Zool. III; Phy. C; Chem. II.

Jeffrey, Donald — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Bot. I; Zool. I; Lat. Auth. I; Lat. Comp. I; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. I.

Jose, Elizabeth—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Zool. C; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. III.

Keeler, Yvonne—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Zool. C; Mus. C.

Kelly, Paul—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Geom. III; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. C.

Kennedy, Dorothy — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Geom. C; Trig. C; Bot. C; Zool. C; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. C.

Kolver, Edna—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Fr. Comp III.

Lashbrook, Joan—Eng. Comp. C; Alg. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Legate, Donald—Trig. C.

Leslie, Donald—Trig. C.

Locke, Mary—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Geom. C, Zool. C; Chem. C; Fr. Auth. C; F. Comp. II Mus. C.

Lyall, Robert —Geom. I; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. II.

McClelland, Joyce — Trig. C; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. II.

McCreary, Garth—Eng. Comp. C; Mod. Hist. III; Phy. C; Chem. II; Fr. Auth. C.

McIlquham, Marie—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Alg. I; Geom. I; Trig. I; Phy. I; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. II Fr. Comp. I.

Mackie, Joan—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Bot. C; Zool. C.

Mackie, Jane — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. I; Bot. III; Zool. III; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. II; Mus. II.

Manzies, George—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. C; Geom. C; Trig. C; Phy. C; Chem. III; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. II.

Matthews, Alice — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Geom. C; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. III; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.

Meyers, Norman — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Geom. I; Trig. I; Phy. I; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I.

Minnes — Geom. II; Phy. II; Chem. III.

Mitchell, Carolyn—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. C; Geom. C; Trig. C; Phy. C; Chem. III; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.

Morris, Gloria — Eng. Comp. II; Mod. Hist. C; Bot. III; Zool. III; Lat. Comp. II; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Muirhead, John — Eng. Comp. C; Chem. C.

Palmer, Ruth — Eng. Comp. C; Mod. Hist. II; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.

Payne, Eric — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. III; Alg. III; Geom. III; Trig. III; Phy. III; Chem. II; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. III.

Peddar, Ruth — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. III; Trig. C; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.

Ragsdale, Robert—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Geom. III; Phy. III; Chem. II; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. III.

Reynolds, Orval—Eng. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. C.

Ritz, Norman—Trig. C; Chem. II.

Rollins, Maurice—Geom. I; Trig. I; Chem. I.

Rowe, Muriel — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Bot. C; Zool. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. C.

Rowsome, John—Alg. II; Geom. I; Trig. I; Phy. II; Chem. II; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.

Saunders, Allan—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. II.

Shiels, Patrick—Eng. Comp. II; Alg. C; Geom. C.

Sills, Edward—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. III; Trig. I; Phy. II; Chem. II; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Sloan, Charles—Eng. Comp. C; Mod. Hist. II; Bot. C; Zool. III; Chem. C.

Sloan, Charles—Mod. Hist. II; Geom. C; Trig. II; Mus. III.

Spafford, William—Alg. C; Geom. C; Chem. C.

Stapley, Shirley—Alg. C; Trig. C; Latin Auth. C; Latin Comp. C; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. C.

Stewart, Ruth—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. III; Bot. C; Zool. III; Chem. III; Lat. Auth. C; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. III.

Stewart, John—Eng. Comp. C; Alg. C; Trig. C; Phy. C; Fr. Auth. C.

Stone, Elizabeth—Eng. Lit. C; Bot. C; Zool. II; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. C.

Toma, Eric—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. C; Geom. II; Trig. I; Phy. I; Chem. I; Fr. Auth.—III; Fr. Comp. I.

Upper, Boyd—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. I; Alg. III; Trig. III; Phy. III; Chem. III; Lat. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. II.

Vermeulen, Robert—Eng. Comp. C; Alg. II; Geom. C; Trig. C; Chem. C.

Walsh, Helen—Eng. Comp. C.

Wannamaker, Clifford—Geom. C; Bot. C; Zool. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Waterhouse, Edmund — Eng. Comp. C; Mod. Hist. C; Bot. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Waterhouse, Thomas — Eng. Comp. II; Mod. Hist. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. C.

Watson, James—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. III; Geom. II; Trig. II; Phy. III; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. II.

Wemmerott, George Alg. C; Geom. C; Trig. C; Chem. C.

Wood, Lois—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Zool. III; Chem. III; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. III; Mus. C.

Woodley, Kenneth—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. II; Geom. II; Trig. III; Phy. III; Chem. II; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. I.

Woodley, Lloyd—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. II; Geom. III; Trig. III; Phy. III; Chem. II; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. II.

Wonnacott, George Alg. C; Geom. C; Trig. C; Chem. C.

Wood, Lois—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Bot. C; Zool. III; Chem. III; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. III; Mus. C.

Rose, James—Mus. II.

Yeomans, Ruth—Eng. Comp. C.

Nanos, Evan—Chem. II.

Garrison, Donald—Fr. Comp. C.

Flurey, Robert—Lat. Comp. II. Stiver, Doreen—Mus. C.

Police Arrest Suspect After Attempted Holdup

Ottawa, Aug. 17 —(CP)— A wild-chase that aroused 200 district farmers and drew police cars from all over the district surrounding Russell, 25 miles east of here, ended in the dash of grain field capture shortly before sundown last night of Thomas Nichols, 24, Ottawa, accused of the attempted holdup of the Bank of Montreal in Embrun, near Russell.

Nichols, brought to Ottawa and held on a nominal vagrancy charge, will be moved to L'Orignal this week where he is expected further charges will be laid.

The arrest culminates a series of events which opened when a lone bandit, armed with a revolver ahead of him as a shield, attempted to hold up the Embrun bank. He then shot it out with the manager, wrecked the taxicab in his getaway. Driving the car he fled after firing shots at the Russell police roadblock, killing his dog.

Taxi Driver Wounded.

The taxi driver, Harold Mallette—of Ottawa who had been pressed into service by the gunman at gun point, escaped in the scene, was in a critical condition in the hospital here today after being wounded in the Embrun bank gun-play. Officials said he had a "good chance" of recovery.

A. C. Chouthier, bank manager, was seated in the rear office of the bank at Embrun when the gunman entered with the taxi driver. Arriving in Embrun the first day back at work after an extended sick leave which followed an attempted robbery on the same bank last April, when Chouthier was shot and police were roused from their beds by two gunmen and still in their night-clothes, forced to accompany them to the scene.

Decided to Shoot it Out.

When he saw the gun, the manager said, he "decided to shoot it out", and raising only one hand, he reached for a revolver for his revolver and, fired instantly, ducking behind a counter. As the two intruders retreated, Mr. Chouthier fired twice more, wounding the taxi driver and narrowing missing the gunman.

A total of $355,000 was in the bank vault at the time of the hold-up.

A posse of 200 district farmers, armed with pitchforks, shotguns and clubs was immediately organized when the bandit took to the bush after swerving off the road near Russell. Provincial police converged on the scene from Ottawa, Perth, Pembroke, Carleton Place, Manotick, Prescott and other district centres. Road blocks were constructed in the district and patrol cars scoured the roads.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police from Ottawa with bloodhounds, and an emergency call for more bloodhounds — to be sent by air was messaged to Toronto.

Finally a district farmer, driving his automobile toward Russell, saw him now, but where and what the cars coming from?

It is a true story all over the district. People have the money, the salesmen have the cars but where are the cars?

And according to the major-ity of firms contacted, there is no immediate prospects for any alleviation of the situation.

BIRTHS

BARRIAGE—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barriage, Ilan Ira, Wannamaker are happy to announce the arrival of their daughter, on Thursday, August 15th.

DEATHS

WRIGHT—At East Orange, N.J., on Thursday, August 15, 1946, Mary Louise, widow of David Wishart Wright, late of Bowmanville, and Marsville Wright, East Orange, N.J. Whose funeral will be held on Monday, August 19th, at 2 p.m. from Grant Funeral Home, Bowmanville, to Bowmanville Cemetery, where the funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon, at 3 p.m. Rev. Presbyterian Church. Modac, for service at 2.30 p.m. Interment Lakeview Cemetery. A17-2t

ELVIDGE — At Kingston, Ont., on Friday, August 16th, 1946, Sarah Jane Thackery, widow of John Elvidge, aged 89 years.

Resting at the residence of Thomson Funeral Home, Everett Street, Belleville, from where the funeral will be held on Monday, August 19th, Service in the chapel at 2.45 p.m. Interment Victoria Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

REDDICK—In loving memory of my dear mother, Hilda Reddick, who passed into eternal rest on Aug. 17th, 1945.

Deep in my heart there is a picture
Many precious memories are there
A picture of a very dear mother,
Whose memory will never grow old.
Though the tears in my eyes do not flow
And though I cannot speak of my sorrow
There is never a night, nor a morning,
But I think of the dear, loving mother I had.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Cora and son-in-law Frank.

REDDICK—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Jane Reddick, who passed away Aug. 17th, 1945.

God's will be done, He knows best
That the hills were hard to climb
To be crowned by never ending rest
And whispered "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God
By the valley of rest so fair.
Sweet thing, some day, we know not when
We will meet our loved one there.
—Sadly remembered by her husband and family.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Frederick Michael Lenahan which to thank their many friends and neighbors for the beautiful floral tributes and sympathy expressed in their recent and bereavement.

CANNING BEAN CROP FAYS

Alvinston, Aug. 17 — (CP)— Canning bean crops are paying well to both growers and pickers this year, the latter being paid as earning from $3.50 to $8 a day, depending on the crop. Growers are having crops run from three to five tons an acre.

Dr. G. H. Craig
Announces the opening of an office for the general practice of
DENTISTRY
324 Front St. Phone 3398
Over Shaw's Clothing Store
A15,16,17,23,24

PERFUMED WITH BALLYANTYNE'S
Vita-Ray
dusting powder
Satin-smooth bath dusting powder . . . with the enchanting new "Calling" perfume. Large box with fluffy luxury puff.
$1.19
DOLAN THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138
Motorcycle Delivery

FOLLOW THE BAND WAGON
TO THE
QUEEN CITY SHOWS
OPENING MONDAY, AUGUST 19th
C.P.R. STATION GROUNDS
FUN FOR YOUNG AND OLD
New Thrilling Rides Include
MERRY-GO-ROUND FERRIS WHEEL
AUTO CARS RIDEO SKYRIDE
AEROPLANE KIDDIE CARS
SPEEDWAY
ROLO-PLANE
COME AND ENJOY YOURSELF
FREE ADMISSION
Special Prices For CHILDREN WED. and SAT. AFTERNOON

ATTENTION
ALL LEADERS — SCOUTS
CUBS
Assemble at Armouries
Monday, August 19
7 p.m.
A17-2t

Dominion One of the Food-Baskets Of World and Men With Hoe And Net Become the Men of Finance

By GEORGE KITCHEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 17 (CP)—With the aid of two inseparable and tragic companions—war and starvation—the men with the hoe and the net have become the men of finance, at least so far as million-dollar totals are concerned.

These totals, rumbling into billions of dollars annually, are shown in the boost contracts which Canada has signed during the war, and since, with Britain and wither nations under the impetus of a war-born food scarcity which has made the Dominion one of the food-baskets of the world.

To the Canadian farmer and the Canadian fisherman, they have meant good prices, security and the best stability of price and market that long has been the hope of basic producers.

Whether the benefits of the prices reached in the agreements are right is a matter for political argument.

Supporters of the government claim that they are right; that by selling at somewhat below the world scale of commodities, notably wheat, Canada is ensuring a stabilized market for the future.

Agree With Principle

Spokesmen for opposition parties in the Commons express agreement with the principle of long-term agreements, but argue that in this period of rising production and high prices the basic producer should be allowed to reap the full benefit of abnormal world prices.

Be that as it may, there is a growing opinion among statesmen—and a growing hope among producers—that the world never again will return to those times when the farmer was burdened with surpluses he could not sell. A step in this direction will be taken next month when the Copenhagen conference of the world food and agriculture organization will study a plan to protect farmers against unduly low prices and consumers against unduly high prices.

Wheat is Mainstay

One of the mainstays of Canadian prosperity has been wheat and it has been given greater stability by the recent four-year British-Canadian agreement under which Britain will buy 600,000,000 bushels from the Dominion over a four-year period at a fixed price of more than $1,000,000,000.

Meats, too, have become the subject of a four-year agreement and Canada has contracted to deliver to Britain minimum quantities of bacon and ham totalling 450,000,000 pounds this year, 350,000,000 pounds next year and 400,000,000 in 1948. The price ranges from $25 down to a floor of $22.50 per 100 pounds.

Send All Available Beef

With rationing restricting domestic consumption, Canada has been sending overseas all available quantities of beef, at prices ranging from $18.70 for low grade to $23.75 for choice position, on the 100-pound basis. No figures are available on 1946 exports, but last year they totalled about 200,000,000 pounds carcass (with the bones) weight.

Canada's cheese-maker also has found a ready market through war, with shipping flowing steadily across the seas since 1940. The present contract provides for shipment of 125,000,000 pounds at 29 cents a pound in each of the two years ending March 31, 1948. Canadian eggs, too, are on the move, with Britain buying 175,000,000 cases of shell eggs and 5,000 tons of the dried product in each of 1946 and 1947 at current basic prices for shell eggs.

Milk also finds its way to overseas markets. Britain has agreed to buy a minimum of 600,000 cases yearly for the two seasons ending March 31, 1947 and 1948, at the basic price of $4.24 a case, and 3,000 tons of dried skim milk powder from the 1946 production at 11 1-2 cents a pound.

Other products of the Canadian fields and orchards, such as apples, beans, peas and tomatoes, also find ready markets on this and other continents.

Sharp Criticism Of the Funeral

(Fergus News-Record)

We hope there will be no long parade past our open casket in the church. Let it be private wherever the service may be. The more we see it, the more it seems a heathenish custom. We somehow diplomatically it may be handled. It's painful for the sorrowing relatives, and it's often a heavy burden to those who own the dead man for a while, especially if there has been a long and wasting illness. We note at several services lately that the coffin is taken into the church or in a funeral home. It may be open before the service for those who wish to go early. We like these symptoms as they show the Christian idea that death is a natural thing, that comes to us all, and not something even that must be covered up and toned down and camouflaged. We like a few flowers at a funeral, particularly for those who love flowers when alive; we like a plain and simple service, without any eulogy but with some simple statements of unembellished facts; and we like the unwinding of the short committal service used at present by most of the denominations.

ARMY NURSE ASSISTED IN BIRTH OF SON

London, Aug. 16. (CP)—While the Canadian National passenger train bound for Toronto out of Detroit neared London last Saturday night a woman passenger gave birth to a child. Both were removed by ambulance to a London hospital. No doctor was on the train when crew members endeavored to get medical assistance from the passengers, but army nurse volunteered her services and presided at the birth.

DR. BLAKSLEE
Will be Out of Doctor on Duty
SUNDAY, AUGUST 18th
NECESSARY CALLS ONLY
PHONE 267

DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
OPEN SUNDAY
HOURS—10 a.m. to 1 p.m.
6 p.m. to 10 p.m.

PINKSTON
FUNERAL HOME
PRESENTS
EACH SUNDAY
(Before Church)
OVER RADIO STATION C J B Q
"House of Dreams"
10.00 to 10.15 A. M.
and
"Your Hymns and Mine"
10.15 to 10.30 A. M.
Congratulations to CJBQ on Their Opening

POLICE SURROUND

(Continued from Page One)

Huff's Island marsh at present nearly road level with water.

Late Friday afternoon the search was postponed until today.

Veteran Gives Clue

First intimation that the murderer might be in this district came when Howard Lough, 23-year-old G.T.C.A.F. veteran with a long convictions for credit and son of George Lough, Consecon, reported to police headquarters here that a man answering Laforme had been seen on the Lough farm.

Lough had secured an excellent description of the stranger, which fitted that of Laforme. Two constables raced to the Lough farm, but were about five minutes late. The stranger had disappeared over a small knoll in the direction of a marsh.

Identified Photograph

The young ex-airman-farmer identified a photograph of Laforme as being a picture of the man he had seen Friday morning on his farm. His father, also on the farm, identified a shot of the man he had seen talking to him.

"We were stocking grain, in a field a few hundred yards from the road, when I noticed a man lying on the ground under a bush," Howard Lough related over to him and immediately I noticed his condition. He seemed haggard and disheveled. He had dark rings under his eyes and he looked ill. He was only three-quarters dressed in a grey sort of sweater and he wore a pair of blue serge pants. He had no hat. He carried no baggage. He said he appeared to be a slicker rolled up.

"I asked him for his registration card," Lough said, "and he replied that he hadn't any identification. I then asked him where he lived, and after hesitating a moment he said 'Belleville'."

"I didn't like the way he said it, so I asked him what street he lived on. That stumped him completely, so I asked him again where he came from and he answered 'Toronto'. He pronounced like North Bay."

Laforme apparently has a knife with him, for Lough stated that he had been eating a cucumber when he arrived. The peelings lay on the ground near where he had been apparently sleeping.

Seemed Reticent to Move

Lough tried to inveigle the man to approach the house, but he seemed reticent to move. Now really suspicious, the young farmer went to his home and telephoned police.

Satisfied with the description given tallied with that of Laforme, Detective Harry Thompson ordered every man in his detachment and a few from Belleville very revealed that the topography

Edinburgh Is a Lofty City

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

I liked Edinburgh at first sight. To me there was something "high bred up" about its city and its people. The rugged ancient Castle lifts the eye of the visitor ath the first approach. During the long journey northward from London, and especially as we passed through the lake district, I had a real feeling of being a grade, like Dante in his ascent from the six storey-pit, for there is something purgatorial about Lowland Scotia. It is a serious and freedom about Edinburgh, and its people are more sprightly in their walk, conversation and healthy in physique and keener in the eye than the rather mechanical and bored denizens of London.

There is a distinct difference between the Scots and the English; it is the difference that one finds between the northern and southern people of every country. Even in little Wales this is quite noticeable, and I have already remarked upon the distinct line between the people of the north and south of Ireland. The Scots struck me as being more like the Canadians, and this may be explained by the fact that so much of our country was largely settled by Scottish pioneers. I would not dare to compare Edinburgh with Toronto, but I must say that as a Torontonian I felt more at home in Edinburgh than in any other city I visited in Britain—not excepting my native city of Liverpool.

* * *

Edinburgh is an ancient city with a modern spirit and outlook. It cherishes its historic past, as illustrated in the preservation of the Castle on the Rock, with its impressive National War Memorial and other relics of the past, but there is nothing morbid about its respect for old things. The English are too much inclined to cling to the past and sentimentalize on former things. The Londoners love a building merely because it is old and dirty. They would regard it as sacrilege, for instance, if one even suggested the clean-up of Buckingham Palace, which to me is a sooty eyesore and disfigurement to Whitehall. As a residential symbol of royalty it is not only a disgrace, but it lowers the dignity of the Crown and represents it as a relic fit only for museum rather than an institution of national and imperial importance in a progressive world. The Londoners won't like that, but as a native and friend I think they would seriously suggest that they "modernize" Buckingham Palace or, better still, pull it down and erect in its place a building worthy of the present as well as the historic importance of the constitutional Monarchy of Great Britain.

* * *

There may be some places in Edinburgh that look like decayed-up or pulled down. The spacious grandeur of Princess Street is in striking contrast to the more congested parts of the city with their five and six storey tenements in which working people live cramped lives. Many fine places are well kept by the housewives and most of the people seem to be contented enough with their close quarters. It occurred to me, in passing down these narrow streets of flat-fronted grey-stone tenements, that the characteristic "clannishness" of the Scots abroad was derived from this type of habitation and in which they lived so close together.

The entire city is built of grey stone — there is no red brick to be seen anywhere. The first impression is one of solidity and is not unpleasing, but the beauty, grey uniformity of street after street of stone buildings and dwellings becomes rather monotonous, and one longs to turn a corner and see a street or even a house of a different colour or material. Glasgow is the same, but its drab solidity and tortuous streets were to me the more depressing. Neither of the two cities suffered from bombing during the war, excepting the outskirts of Glasgow at Clydebank. Perhaps the Germans thought it was hopeless to make any impression upon such rock-ribbed cities — it would be like bombing a quarry.

* * *

But I liked Edinburgh and the Edinburghians. It has been called the "Modern Athens," and it is indeed the centre of Scottish culture, with its great university and publishing houses. The Scotsman is one of the great newspapers in Britain, and the editor, Murray Watson, is a fine journalist and a democratic Scottish gentleman. He displayed a great interest in Canada and I could tell him little that he did not already know about Canada and its affairs. I sat talking to him in his office he gave me the news of the death of Stewart Lyon, my former chief and editor of the Toronto Globe. He volunteered to show me around the Castle and other sights of the city after which he led me to a low door in a side street, up a narrow corkscrew staircase to a cave-like room where I luncheoned with members of the Press Club.

National Council of United Church Y.P.U. to Meet Here August 18-24

150 Delegates Representing 2,000 Unions, to Hold Sessions in Albert College

The fourth National Council of the Young People's Union of the United Church of Canada will hold its sessions in Albert College, August 18-24 with 150 delegates in attendance from 2,000 Y. P. Unions in Canada and 25 leaders. The theme of the meeting is "Canadians United in Christ" with Rev. Gerald B. Switzer, B.A., B.D., professor of Church History and Christian Education of Union College, Vancouver, as theme speaker. The Dean and Vespers leader will be Rev. Alvin J. Cooper of Toronto, National Secretary for Young People's work in the United Church of Canada. Prominent leaders across Canada will take Vocation Groups on rural, clerical and office, professional, technical, Labor and student work. Departmental and Commission meetings will be held during the administration, fellowship, Mission, citizenship, culture, recreation, leadership training and publications. Rev Mary Armour, Winnipeg National President of the Y.P.U., will be chairman.

* * *

Y. P. groups from three United Churches in Belleville, whose Centenary will produce a pageant "The Story of the Church" at the get-acquainted session on Sunday evening.

The Y. P. groups across Canada have raised funds for a swimming pool from which delegates cannot even dive. Mile-a-minute dispenses equalled. Up to that mileage will be paid by the delegate.

Albert College facilities will be strained for accommodation and already arrangements have been made to seat all 25 cots nightly in the gymnasium.

Local delegates are Miss Maude Bolton, Bridge Street; Mr. Harold Switzer, fellowship member of Belleville Presbytery Y.P.U.

Music appreciations will be led by Mr. Elly Ameringen, a brother of Miss Portia White.

T. L. Church Attacks Write-Off of Deserters

Ottawa, Aug.17—(CP)— T.L. Church (PC -Toronto Broadview) unsuccessfully tried to move the adjournment of the commons today to discuss the write-off of deserters from service books and declared the matter be held during the 1949 glorious dead of this war.

Speaker Gaspard Fauteux ruled the matter was not urgent and that it could be discussed when Defence Minister Abbott's estimates were before the house next week.

THIEVES PLUCK CAPONS

Hamilton, Aug. 16. (CP) — Nervy thieves plucked two Barred Rock capons Monday night and left the feathers in the yard before they fled with their poultry booty. The two capons weighed about six pounds each. Mrs. Stephen Lewis, owner of the coop, said five birds already had been stolen within the past two weeks.

WESLEYAN METHODIST CHURCH
66 Dundas St. East — REV. J. S. A. SPEARMAN, Minister
10.00 a.m.—Church School
11.00 a.m. and 7.00 p.m.—Divine Worship
MISS EDITH MAINPRIZE of Bloomfield will be speaking at both services
WEDNESDAY 8.00 p.m.—Prayer Mtg., 39 Sinclair St.
FRIDAY 8.00 p.m.—Young People's Service.

THE STANDARD CHURCH
COLEMAN ST. — NEAR FOOTERDOM
Sunday School at 9.45 a.m.
Sunday Services: MORNING at 11; EVENING at 7.00
Prayer Meeting, Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 8.00
God gives Peace — Happiness — Health — but does the World give you? COME and HEAR.
J. G. NUSSEY, Pastor. 38 Murray St.

THE SALVATION ARMY
Pinnacle Street
MAJOR and MRS. EARLE
SUNDAY SERVICES: 11 a.m., 7 p.m.
Kingston and Belleville Citadel Bands in Attendance
Open-air Meeting 8.30 p.m. Corner Bridge and Front Sts.
SUNDAY SCHOOL:
2.00 p.m. Station St. 2.15 p.m. Pinnacle St.
You are cordially invited to worship with us.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
(I.O.O.F. TEMPLE, 371½ Front Street)
SERVICE 11 A.M.
Lesson-Sermon for Tomorrow
SOUL
Consisting of Readings from the Bible and Christian Science Textbook
Testimonial Meeting First Wednesday of Each Month at 8 p.m.
THE PUBLIC IS CORDIALLY INVITED TO ATTEND THESE SERVICES

GRACE CHAPEL
A Congregation of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada.
"AN ABSOLUTE NO ! ! !"
Pastor Wick's Subject at 7.30 p.m.
9.45 a.m.—SUNDAY SCHOOL
11.00 a.m.—DEVOTIONAL SERVICE
TUESDAY 8 p.m.—Five Acres of Bible Study — Come and enjoy these spiritual feasts
FRIDAY 8.00 p.m.—PRAYER MEETING
FRIDAY 8.00 p.m.—Christ's Ambassador Service. Something Different
"It does not take much of a Christian to stand head and shoulders above the others today" — Hyman Appleman.
REV. ERNEST A. J. WICKS, Pastor

EVANGELISTIC MESSAGE
SUNDAY, 7.30 p.m. At The
Apostolic Pentecostal Tabernacle
BRIDGE STREET at COLEMAN ST.
Sunday School ..... 10.00 a.m.
MORNING WORSHIP ..... 11 a.m.
Week night services cancelled owing to annual Camp meeting at Lansdowne, Ontario
PASTOR J. L. ABBOTT

Let Us Send You Samples
of this Clean, Family Newspaper
The CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR
From from crime and sensational news . . . Free from political bias . . . Free from "special interest" control . . . Free to tell you the truth about world events, in cross-world-wide staff of correspondents being you on-the-spot news and interpreting so you need your family. Each issue filled with unique self-help features! Send to clip and keep.
The Christian Science Publishing Society
One, Norway St., Boston, Mass.
Please send sample copies of The Christian Science Monitor.
Name .....
Address .....
City .....
Please send a one-month trial subscription. I enclose $1.00.
F9A13J15A17O1P013

266 Bells of Ships Of Royal Navy Will Be Sold

Two hundred and sixty-six bells from ships of the Royal Navy are being offered for sale by the Admiralty. As well as the cost of the bell, purchasers will have to meet the cost of packing and transport from the dockyards. Prices rang from £10 to £2, the average being about £4 each.

Minor specifications will be led by Mr. Elly Ameringen, a brother of Miss Portia White.

T. L. Church Attacks Write-Off of Deserters

Ottawa, Aug.17—(CP)— T.L. Church (PC -Toronto Broadview) unsuccessfully tried to move the adjournment of the commons today to discuss the write-off of deserters from service books and declared the matter be held during the 1949 glorious dead of this war.

Speaker Gaspard Fauteux ruled the matter was not urgent and that it could be discussed when Defence Minister Abbott's estimates were before the house next week.

THIEVES PLUCK CAPONS

Hamilton, Aug. 16. (CP) — Nervy thieves plucked two Barred Rock capons Monday night and left the feathers in the yard before they fled with their poultry booty. The two capons weighed about six pounds each. Mrs. Stephen Lewis, owner of the coop, said five birds already had been stolen within the past two weeks.

UNION SERVICES
BRIDGE ST. and TABERNACLE CONGREGATIONS
DURING THE MONTH OF AUGUST ALL SERVICES WILL BE HELD IN TABERNACLE UNITED CHURCH.
DIVINE WORSHIP AT 11 A.M. and 7 P.M.
REV. DONALD C. AMOS WILL PREACH.
Plan to be present and bring your visitors with you.

HOLLOWAY STREET UNITED CHURCH
(Corner Dunbar and Holloway Streets)
REV. CHAS. A. PERKINS, B. Th., Minister 44 Hillside St.
11 a.m.—Service conducted by Rev. E. Farnsworth Chown, B.A., B.D.
THERE WILL BE NO EVENING SERVICE DURING THE MONTH OF AUGUST.
Bring your Summer visitors to the services at Holloway. You'll like the friendly welcome and you'll enjoy the friendly fellowship.
Deepen Christianity is the Supreme Need of Our Times.
Choir Leader: MRS. F. HOUSTON Organist: WM. CONNOR

CHURCH OF ENGLAND
ST. THOMAS CHURCH — CHRIST CHURCH
REV. ARTHUR SMITH, Rector REV. GRANT SPALDING, Rector
DURING AUGUST REV. ARTHUR SMITH will be in charge of both parishes and all services will be held in ST. THOMAS' CHURCH, which is the mother church. The Sunday School which will be celebrated in Christ Church.
8th SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY
8 a.m. Holy Communion (Christ Church); 11 a.m. Choral Eucharist (St. Thomas' Church); 3 p.m. Holy Baptism (St. Thomas' Church); 7 p.m. Evensong (St. Thomas' Church).

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Corner Church St. and Victoria Ave.
REV. J. GOR ORMEROD, M.A., B.D. Minister
11.00 a.m. — REV. H. S. GRAHAM
THE EVENING SERVICE WILL BE WITHDRAWN UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE.
MR. and MRS. JOHN DEACON Directors of Music

EMMANUEL REFORMED CHURCH
REV. TELFORD S. RUSSELL, Rector.
22 Victoria Avenue Phone 2672
All services to be held at August in charge of Rev. Geo. B. Hendrickson, M.A.
SUNDAY—
Bible School ..... 9.45 a.m.
Morning Prayer and Sermon ..... 11.00 a.m.
The Kingdom Prayer will be done in earth as it is in Heaven.
Evening Prayer and Sermon ..... 7.00 p.m.
"GIVE US THIS DAY OUR DAILY BREAD"
WEDNESDAY—
Midweek Prayer Service ..... 8.00 p.m.

VICTORIA AVE BAPTIST CHURCH
REV. H. C. EASTMAN, B.A., B.D. Minister
Organist: DORLAND HOUSTON. Choir Leader: FRED JOHSON
11.00 a.m.—"WITH JESUS OUT OF DOORS"
THE CHURCH SCHOOL AND NURSERY.
7.00 p.m.—"AT THE HEART OF THINGS"
ALL ARE INVITED

REGULAR
BAPTIST CHURCH
397 Front Street
R. D. BURNS Pastor
10.00 a.m.—Sunday School
11.00 a.m.—The morning service will be in charge of the "veterans for Christ," a group of young Christian servicemen with a real testimony for the Lord. Special music will also be provided.
7.30 p.m.—Gospel Service.
Subject: "THE GLORY OF THE CROSS"
All Are Invited

ALLIANCE TABERNACLE
Corner W. MOIRA and COLEMAN. REV. C. V. FREEMAN
Speaker—REV. W. M. WILLOUGHBY
10.00 a.m.—Sunday School
11.00 a.m.—"Preparation for Revival"
7.00 p.m.—"Pilate's Great Question"
TUESDAY, 8.00 p.m.—Prayer Meeting.
FRIDAY 8 p.m.—Young People's Society.

BETHEL HALL
CORNER CHURCH AND STATION STREETS
EVENING SERVICE—7.00 P.M.
Speaker:
EVANGELIST W. E. BELCH
SUNDAY SCHOOL ..... 9.45 a.m.
WORSHIP SERVICE ..... 11.00 a.m.
C J B Q ..... 2 p.m. to 2.30 p.m.
PRAYER MEETING THURSDAY EVENING ..... 8.00 p.m.

Dominion One of the Food-Baskets Of World and Men With Hoe And Net Become the Men of Finance

By GEORGE HYZENTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 17 (CP)—With the aid of two inseparable and tragic factors, war and inflation—the men with the hoe and the net have become the men of finance, at least so far as million-dollar totals are concerned. Annual totals, running into billions of dollars annually, are shown in the budget tendered which Canada has signed during the war, and since, with treaties and other nations under the injunction of a war-born food scarcity which has made the Dominion one of the food-baskets of the world.

To the Canadian farmer and the Canadian fisherman, they have meant good prices, security and the far-seeing ability to find a market that long has been the hope of basic production.

Whether or not the prices reached in the agreements are right is a matter for political argument.

Supporters of the government claim that they are right; that by selling at somewhat below the world rate of some commodities, notably wheat, Canada is ensuring a stabilized market for the future.

Agree With Principle

Spokesmen for opposition parties in the Commons express agreement with the principle of long-term agreements, but argue that in this period of rising production and living costs the basic producer should be allowed to reap the full benefit of abnormal world prices.

Be that as it may, there is a growing opinion among statesmen—and a growing hope among producers—that the world never again will return to those times when the farmer was burdened with surpluses he could not sell. A step in this direction will be taken next month when the Copenhagen conference of the world food and agriculture organization will study a plan to protect farmers against unduly low prices and consumers against unduly high prices.

Wheat is Mainstay

One of the mainstays of Canadian agriculture is that of wheat and it has been given greater stability by the present four-year British-Canadian agreement under which Britain will buy 600,000,000 bushels from the Dominion over a four-year period at a total price of more than $1,000,000,000.

Meats, too, have become the subject of long-term agreement and Canada has contracted to deliver to Britain minimum quantities of bacon and ham totalling 430,000,000 pounds this year, 350,000,000 pounds next year and 350,000,000 in 1948. The price ranges from $31 down to a floor of $28.80-$28.40.

Send All Available Beef

With rationing restricting domestic consumption, Canada has sent sending overseas all available quantities of beef at prices which have risen since the present contract provides for shipment of 125,000,000 pounds at 20 cents a pound, or $25,000,000 cases yearly for the two seasons ending March 31, 1947 and 1948, at the basic price of $4.21 a case, and 3,000 tons of cheese a month for the year from the 1946 production at 11 1-3 cents a pound.

Other products of the Canadian fields and orchards, such as apples, pears, peas and tomatoes, also find ready markets on this and other continents.

Sharp Criticism Of the Funeral

(Fergus News-Record)

We hope there will be no long parade past our open casket in the church, for in the hotel, wherever the service may be. There is no sense in it, the result of a barbarous custom, no matter how diplomatically it may be handled. It's painful for the sorrowing relatives, and it's often a shock to those who have seen the dead man for a while, especially if they have not seen him lying and wasting illness. We note at several services held in the past the coffin is not opened in churches or in a funeral home, it may be open before the body is seen by those who wish to go early. We like the general symptom of a return to the Christian idea that death is a natural thing, that comes to all men, and not an unnatural event that demands the services of undertakers down and camouflaged. We like a few flowers at a funeral, particularly for those who die before their time, when silver; we like a plain and simple service, without any eulogy but with some simple statements of unembellished facts; and we like the wording of the short committal service used at the cemetery by most of the denominations.

ARMY NURSE ASSISTED IN BIRTH OF BABY

London, Aug. 16. (CP)—While the Canadian National passenger train bound for Toronto from Port of Detroit neared London last Saturday night a woman passenger gave birth to a baby girl and was removed by ambulance to a London hospital. No doctor was on the train when crew members sensed the need for medical assistance from the passengers. An army nurse volunteered her services and presided at the birth.

DR. BLAKSLEE
Will be the Doctor on Duty
SUNDAY, AUGUST 18th
NECESSARY CALLS ONLY
PHONE 267

DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
OPEN SUNDAY
HOURS—10 a.m. to 1 p.m.
6 p.m. to 10 p.m.

POLICE SURROUND

(Continued From Page One)

Huff's Island marsh at present stands at a high level with water.

Late Friday afternoon the search was postponed until today.

Veteran Gives Clue

First intimation that the search would be made in this district came when Howard Lough-ead, 22-year-old R.C.A.F. veteran with a tour of operations to his credit, ran to George Green's telephone and reported police headquarters here that a man answering the description had been on the Lough farm.

Green then related an excellent description of the stranger, which included the fact that he had considerable z-cord in the Lough family but were about five minutes late. The stranger, disgusted, drove over a small knoll in the direction of a canal.

Identified Photograph

The young ex-airman-farmer identified a photograph of Laforlune as being a picture of the man he had seen Friday morning on his farm. His father, also shown the picture, identified it of the man he had seen talking to the lad.

"We were stocking grain, in a field that is directly behind the barn, when I noticed a man lying on the ground under a tree," Lough said, "and walked over to him and immediately I recognized trouble. He seemed haggard and disheveled. He had a heavy growth of beard and he appeared to be worn out. He was lying there in a grey shirt sweater with a shirt over it and brown pants. He had no hat. He carried no baggage. He did not appear to be a slicker rolled up.

"I asked him his name, registration card." Lough said, "and he replied that he had no identification. I then asked him where he lived, and after hesitating he answered, 'I live behind Ville'.

"I didn't like the way he said it, so I asked him what street he lived on. That stumped him completely, so I asked him again where he came from and he mumbled something that sounded like North Bay."

Laforlune apparently has a knife with him, for Lough stated that he saw the weapon in the manner which he had peeled. The peelings lay on the ground near where he had been apparently sleeping.

Seemed Reticent to Move

Lough tried to investigate the man before the police arrived, but he seemed reticent to move. Now the police believe the young fugitive went to his home and telephoned Montreal.

Satisfied that the description given tallied with that of Laforlune, Inspector Thompson then ordered every man in his detachment to the scene and quickly surveyed that the topography

Edinburgh Is a Lofty City

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

I liked Edinburgh at first sight. To me there was something high and lifted about both the city and its people. The rugged ancient Castle lifts the eyes of the visitor still the first approach. During the journey northward from London, and especially as we passed through the lake district, I had a feeling of ascending a grade, like Dante in his ascent from the murky regions but there is something purgatorial about London. There is a listless and unfreedom about Edinburgh, and its people have a sprightly in their step, more robust and healthy in physique and keener in the eye than the mechanical and jaded bored denizens of London.

There is a distinct difference between the Scots and the English; it is the difference that one finds between the northern and southern people of every country. Even in little Wales the line is quite noticeable, and I have already remarked upon the distinction between the people of the north and south of England. The Scots struck me as being more like the Canadians, and this may be explained by the fact that so much of our country was largely settled by Scottish pioneers. It would not dare to compare Edinburgh with Toronto, but I must say that as a Torontonian I felt more at home in Edinburgh than in any other city I visited in Britain—not excepting my native city of Liverpool.

Edinburgh is an ancient city with a modern spirit and outlook. It cherishes its past, as may be illustrated in the preservation of the Castle on the Rock with its impressive National War Memorial and other relics of the past, but that is nothing morbid about its respect for old things. The English are too much inclined to cling to the past and sentimentalize on former things. The Londoners love a buffeting merely because it is old and dirty. They would regard it as sacrilege, for instance, if one even suggested the cleaning-up of Buckingham Palace, which to me is a sooty eyesore and a disfigurement to the Whitemall. As a residential symbol of royalty it is not only a disgrace, but it lowers the dignity of the Crown and represents it as a relic fit only for museum rather than an institution of national and imperial authority in a progressive world. The Londoners want like it, but as a native and liver of England I would seriously suggest that they clean-up Buckingham Palace or, better still, pull it down and erect in its place a building worthy of the present as well as the historic importance of the constitutional Monarchy of Great Britain.

There may be some places in Edinburgh that should be cleaned-up or pulled down. The essence of romance in Edinburgh is in striking contrast to other congested parts of the city with their five and six storey tenements in which working people live cramped like sardines. These places are well kept by the municipality, and while the people seemingly be contented enough with their close quarters. It occurred to me, in passing down these narrow streets of flat-fronted grey-stone tenements that the characteristic "cleanliness" of the Scots abroad was derived from this type of habitation in which they lived so close together.

The entire city is built of grey stone — there isn't a Christian to be seen anywhere. The first impression is one of solidity and is not unpleasing, but the heavy, grey uniformity of street after street of stone buildings and dwellings becomes rather monotonous, but one longs to turn a corner and see a street or even a house of a different color or material. Glasgow is the same, but it is drab solidity that these streets were to me more depressing. Neither of the two cities suffered from a bombing during the war, excepting the outskirts of Glasgow at Clydebank. Perhaps the Germans thought it was hopeless to make any impression upon such rock-bound cities — it would be like bombing a quarry.

But I liked Edinburgh and the Edinburghers. It has been called the "Modern Athens," and it is indeed the centre of Scottish culture, with its great university and publishing houses. The Scotsman is one of the greatest newspapers in Britain, and the editor, Murray Watson, is a fine journalist and a democratic Scottish gentleman. He displayed a keen interest in Canada and I could tell him little that he did not already know about Canadian affairs. I met talking to him in his office he gave me the name of the death of Stewart Lyon, my former chief and editor of the Toronto Globe. He volunteered to show me around the city, and during the sights of the city, after which he led me to a low door in a side street, a door that concealed staircase to a cave-like room where I banqueted with members of the Press Club.

National Council of United Church Y.P.U. to Meet Here August 18-24

150 Delegates Representing 5,000 Unionists to Hold Sessions in Albert College

The fourth National Council of the Young People's Unions of the United Church of Canada will meet in session in Albert College, August 18-24 with 150 delegates in attendance from 5,000 Y.P. Unions in Canada and 2,000 Y.P. members in the city gathering is "Canadians United in Christ." Rev. Gerald I. Sentner, M.A., B.D., professor of Church History and Christian Doctrine, Victoria College, Vancouver, as these speakers. The Dean and Vesper leader will be Rev. Alvin J. Cooper of Toronto, National Secretary for United People's work in the United Church of Canada. Prominent leaders across Canada will take Vocation Groups on rural, clerical, city, professional today, farmers, labor and student work. Denominational Study Discussion Groups will be held daily on administration, fellowship, Mission, citizenship, recreation, vocational leadership training and publications. Rev. Raymond Holmes, National President of the Y.P.U., will be chairman.

Y. P. groups across Canada have raised funds for a talent pool from which delegates coming over day and 700 in the evening passes equalled. Up to that milleage will be paid by the dele-

WESLEYAN METHODIST CHURCH
62 Dundas St. East
10.00 a.m.—Church School
11.00 a.m. and 7.00 p.m.—Divine Worship
MISS EDITH MAINPRIZE of Bloomfield will be speaking at both services
WEDNESDAY 8.00 p.m.—Cottage Prayer Mtg., 39 Sinclair St.
FRIDAY 8.00 p.m.—Young People's Service.

THE STANDARD CHURCH
COLEMAN ST. Sunday,School at 9.45 NEAR FOOTBRIDGE
Sunday Services: MORNING at 11.; EVENING at 7.00
Prayer Meeting, Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 8.00
God gives you Salvation — Are you Thankful? How can you give you? COME and HEAR.
J. G. NUSSEY, Pastor. 36 Murray St.

THE SALVATION ARMY
Phone 2222
MAJOR and MRS. G. BARR
SUNDAY SERVICES: 11 a.m., 7 p.m.
Kingston and Belleville Citadel Bands in Attendance
Open-air Meeting 8.30 p.m. Corner Bridge and Front Sts.
SUNDAY SCHOOL:
2.00 p.m. Station St. 2.15 p.m. Pinnacle St.
You are cordially invited to worship with us.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
(I.O.O.F. TEMPLE, 37½ Front Street)
SERVICE 11 a.m.
Lesson-Sermon for TOMORROW
SOUL
Consisting of Readings from the Bible and Christian Science Textbook
Testimonial Meeting First Wednesday of Each Month at 8 p.m.
THE PUBLIC IS CORDIALLY INVITED TO ATTEND THESE SERVICES

GRACE CHAPEL
A Congregation of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada.
"AN ABSOLUTE NO ! ! !"
Pastor Wick's Subject at 7.30 p.m.
8.45 a.m.—SUNDAY SCHOOL
11.00 a.m.—DEVOTIONAL SERVICE
TUESDAY 8.00 p.m.—Free Series of Bible Study — Come and enjoy these spiritual feasts
FRIDAY 8.00 p.m.—PRAYER MEETING
FRIDAY 9.00 p.m.—Christ's Ambassadors Service. Something Different
"It does not matter who you are, a Christian to stand head and shoulders above the others today" — Hyman Appleman.
REV. ERNEST A. J. WICKS, Pastor

EVANGELISTIC MESSAGE
SUNDAY, 7.30 p.m. At The
Apostolic Pentecostal Tabernacle
BRIDGE STREET at COLEMAN ST.
Sunday School ..... 10.00 a.m.
MORNING WORSHIP ..... 11 a.m.
Week night services concelled owing to annual Camp meeting at Lansdowne, Ontario
PASTOR J. L. ABBOTT

Let Us Send You Samples
of this Clean, Family Newspaper
THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR
Free from crime and sensational news . . . Free from political bias . . . Free from "special interest" control . . . Free to tell you the truth about world events, its own world-wide staff of correspondents bring you on-the-spot news and in-meaning to you and your family. Each issue filled with unique self-help features to clip and keep.
The Christian Science Publishing Society
One Norway Street, Boston 15, Mass.
Name .....
Street .....
City .....
Please send 6 weeks' trial subscription. I enclose $1
Please send 3 months' trial subscription. I enclose $2
FSA15J15A1Y01SD15

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, SATURDAY, AUGUST 17TH, 1946

266 Bells of Ships Of Royal Navy Will Be Sold

Two hundred and sixty-six bells from ships of the Royal Navy are being offered for sale by the Admiralty. As well as the cost of the bell, purchasers will have to meet the costs of packing and transport from the dockyards. Prices rang from £10 to £24, the average being £15. The bells will be sold by Mr. Billy White, Halifax, brother of Miss Portia White.

T. L. Church Attacks Write-Off of Deserters

Ottawa, Aug.17—(CP)— T.L. Church (PC—Toronto Broadview) unsuccessfully tried to move the adjournment of the House today to discuss the write-off of deserters from service books and declared the action "insulting to the memory of glorious dead of this war."

Speaker Gagnard Fauteux ruled the matter was not urgent and that it could be discussed when Defence Minister Abbott's estimates were before the house next week.

THIEVES PLUCK CAPONS

Hamilton, Aug. 16. (CP) — Nervy thieves plucked two Barred Rock capons Monday night and left the feathers in the yard, before they fled with their poultry booty. Each bird was a prize weighed about six pounds each. Owner Mrs. Ethel Cropp, said five birds already had been stolen within the past two weeks.

UNION SERVICES
BRIDGE ST. and TABERNACLE CONGREGATIONS
DURING THE MONTH OF AUGUST ALL SERVICES WILL BE HELD IN TABERNACLE AT 11 A.M.
DIVINE WORSHIP AT 11 A.M. and 7 P.M.
REV. DONALD C. AMOS WILL PREACH.
Plan to be present and bring your visitors with you.

HOLLOWAY STREET UNITED CHURCH
(Corner Dunbar and Holloway Streets)
REV. CHAS. A. PERKINS, B.A., Minister. MISS RUBENA M. ROBINSON, Organist
11 a.m.—Service conducted by Rev. E. Farnsworth
"THE HOLY SPIRIT"
THERE WILL BE NO EVENING SERVICE DURING THE MONTH OF AUGUST.
Bring your Summer visitors to services at Holloway. You'll hear a timely message and you'll enjoy the friendly fellowship.
Everyone Christianity is the Supreme Need of Our Times.
Choir Leader: MRS. F. HOUSTON Organist: WM. CONNOR

CHURCH OF ENGLAND
ST. THOMAS CHURCH CHRIST CHURCH
REV. ARTHUR SMITH, M.A., Rector REV. J. GRANT DARVILL, Rector
DURING AUGUST THE REV. ARTHUR SMITH will be in charge of both parishes and all services will be held in ST. THOMAS' CHURCH, with the exception of Holy Communion which will be celebrated in Christ Church.
SUNDAY, AUGUST 18TH
9 a.m. Holy Communion. (Christ Church); 11 a.m. Choral Service (St. Thomas'); Sermon by Rev. Ralph Bagnall. (St. Thomas'); Catechism (St. Thomas'); 7 p.m. Evensong (St. Thomas' Church).

Church Wardens ..... St. and Victoria Aves. ..... Minister
ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
REV. J. GORDON HORNBY ..... Minister
11.00 a.m. — REV. H. S. GRAHAM
THE EVENING SERVICE WILL BE WITHDRAWN
UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE.
MR. and MRS. JOHN DEACON ..... Directors of Music

EMMANUEL REFORMED CHURCH
REV. TELFORD S. RUSSELL, Pastor
32 Victoria Ave. Phone 322
(All services to end of August in charge of Rev. Geo. E. Buckingham, M.A.)
SUNDAY, August 18th
Bible School ..... 9.45 a.m.
Morning Prayer and Sermon ..... 11.00 a.m.
"The Kingdom Now, That will be come in earth as it is in Heaven"
Evening Prayer and Sermon ..... 7.00 p.m.
"THE 37TH DAY OF OUR DAILY BREAD"
WEDNESDAY—
Midweek Prayer Service ..... 8.00 p.m.

VICTORIA AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH
REV. H. G. EASTMAN Minister
Organist: DORLAND HOUSTON. Choir Leader: FRED JOHSON
11.00 a.m.—"WITH JESUS OUT OF DOORS"
—THE CHURCH SCHOOL AND NURSERY.
7.00 p.m.—"AT THE HEART OF THINGS"
ALL ARE INVITED

REGULAR BAPTIST CHURCH
397 Front Street
R. D. BURNS - - Pastor
10.00 a.m.—Sunday School
11.00 a.m.—The morning service will be in charge of the "Veterans of the Cross". A group of veterans will occupy the platform with a real testimony for the Lord. Special music will also be provided.
7.30 p.m.—Gospel Service.
Subject: "THE GLORY OF THE CROSS"
All Are Invited

ALLIANCE TABERNACLE
Corner W. MOIRA and COLEMAN. REV. C. V. FREEMAN
Speaker—REV. W. M. WILLOUGHBY
10.00 a.m.—Sunday School
11.00 a.m.—"Preparation for Revival"
7.00 p.m.—"Pilate's Great Question"
TUESDAY, 8.00 p.m.—Prayer Meeting.
FRIDAY 8 p.m.—Young People's Society.

BETHEL HALL
CORNER CHURCH AND STATION STREETS
EVENING SERVICE—7.00 P.M.
EVANGELIST W. E. BELCH
SUNDAY SCHOOL ..... 9.45 a.m.
WORSHIP SERVICE ..... 11.00 a.m.
C.J.B.C. broadcasts ..... 2 p.m. to 3.30 p.m.
PRAYER MEETING THURSDAY EVENING ..... 8.00 p.m.

PINKSTON
FUNERAL HOME
PRESENTS
EACH SUNDAY
(Before Church)
OVER RADIO STATION C J B Q
"House of Dreams"
10.00 to 10.15 A. M.
and
"Your Hymns and Mine"
10.15 to 10.30 A. M.
Congratulations to CJBQ on Their Opening

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Ontario Established 1841 — Intelligencer Established 1877

Published Daily (except Sundays) by the
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, LIMITED
Belleville, Canada

Subscription Rates:
By mail in Belleville, 10c a week.
By mail in Canada, $3.00 per year; elsewhere $3.50 for three months.
By carrier $3.00 per year; U.S.A. $4.00.
Member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association and the Audit Bureau of Circulations.
The Canadian Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all the local news published in it or to The Associated Press Despatches published therein.
All rights of publication of original despatches herein are also reserved.

Tourists

The influx of United States tourists into Canada has been noted in every part of the country. Day after day they are to be seen in every community, enjoying the sights and the entertainment at the camping resorts. Canadians tour the United States in large numbers.

The crossing of the border is one of the happy features of the life of the North American Continent. Americans and Canadians are the very closest of friends and this is a natural outcome of the happy relations which have persisted for generations. With a great boundary line stretching hundreds of miles the people of these two democratic countries naturally visit across the line which has not a fortification and will never have a fortification because these lands are friendly and related by the great ties of history and political development and ideals and of race.

Each of these countries has appeal to its own residents and to those of the other across "across the line." Canadians spend winters in the United States and many Americans have summer homes in Canada.

One of the most important facts about touring as Canadians and Americans do across the international boundary is that the money that is expended all goes into the growth and wealth of this Continent of North America.

Since 1814 these two peoples have been at peace and have grown side by side to greatness, the United States to be a most powerful State in the world, and the greatest of manufacturing nations, while Canada has progressed steadily and forsees expansion in the years ahead. The part the two peoples played in the Great War achieves victory and peace has been another tie which has brought these two peoples together more and more closely.

To many nations in the Old World, the friendly and friendly associations of United States and Canada, must in time serve as a model for neighbor nations in other parts of the world where for generations feelings have run high and bitter experiences have resulted.

Americans and Canadians have been especially favored by the political development of their countries so that they do not look upon one another as strangers. They never think of one another as such but as neighbors of good will.

New Use for Heather

Of interest to Scots across the world, both at home and abroad, is the news that there are being conducted experiments with the idea of developing synthetic timber from heather. Now Britain is not one of the big timber producing countries that can supply surplus timber to the world. A large amount of her requirements must be imported. But science is finding a way and making progress.

Tests are being made with a tough fibrous mass known as "Heatherwood," a synthetic timber, which it is said has not only all the outward appearance of real timber but all its natural properties. The heather has its leaves, roots, earth and other impurities removed in a sandblast, and the remaining fibrous mass is treated with synthetic resin and then compressed into hard, flat blocks which must be described as synthetic timber. It is claimed that this "Heatherwood" will play an important part in flooring and in the making of furniture.

British Military Fashions

Britain's new No. 1 army dress has been approved by King George VI and the military authorities. It will be worn on all occasions when battle dress is unsuitable. From now on, the British post-war army will be seen on ceremonial parades, for walking out and for all social events, in very smart dark blue uniforms. These have been made out of pre-war material, as the new cloth is not yet available. The color of the cloth and tunics is exactly the same as the color and the material of the trousers. The trousers are of a modified civilian cut and carry the traditional regimental stripe. Those infantry regiments which wore a red welt on their trousers have now got one-inch red stripes. Other infantry regiments now wear yellow and green stripes. The Highland regiments will keep to the kilt; Lowland regiments to trews. On ceremonial occasions all ranks will wear forage caps as they were worn before the war. For other occasions a dark blue beret will be worn, except by those regiments which have been permitted to wear traditional hats. On all informal occasions, all ranks will have a blue cloth belt.

Control Blossoming

British research chemists and biologists can now control the blossoming and ripening of fruit. By spraying fruit trees with hormones, blossoming can be delayed for many days, cutting down loss of fruit from frosts.

Another spray stimulates cells which hold a fruit stalk and prevents premature falling. Market gluts can be avoided, and more regular supplies made available. Plant hormones make some fruits shed their crops without hand labor.

—British Digest.

Roadside Tables

Driving through Ontario these days, one is struck by a new feature. This is the location of roadside tables here and there along the highway. They are, in most cases, delightfully placed in shady spots, little oases where the travellers may stop, eat lunch in the out-of-doors and have a brief rest.

The Department of Highways thus carries out a splendid idea for the comfort of both the tourist and the resident alike. There are not enough of the tables yet, but it is to be expected that more of them will be provided as time goes on.

—Windsor Star.

Result of Skill in Farming

Just what a combination of vision, plus hard work and skill can do is seen on a farm near London, Ont., where the Belgian-born owner has just refused $32,000 for land, which only six years ago "just wouldn't grow a thing." By judicious application of farming skill and fertilizer the farmer has made of it one of the richest tobacco farms in that area. Perhaps there is a lesson in it for some of us who are too prone to think something cannot be done.

—Niagara Falls Review.

Newspaper Facts

As an indication of the government's dependence on the newspaper to reach the people, the British government's newspaper advertising rose from nothing in 1939 to £1,850,896 ($8,236,427) during 1944.

The famous Braemar Gathering, Scotland's famous Highland Game Gathering, will soon be held. The war interrupted the great national meeting but again this year in a little over two weeks as the pass the cars of Scottish athletes will compete and the customary Highland dancing and caber tossing will be the most spectacular events. If the King and Queen are in residence at Balmoral Castle it is expected they will attend. From every part of the world people from the "land of brown heath and shaggy wood, land of the mountain and the flood" and in Scotland itself will look towards these national games.

Chocolate, popular throughout the world, is a legacy from Mexico's ancient Aztecs, says Inter-American.

Their chocolate was a thick paste flavored with vanilla. The Spaniards acquired a taste for it, but when they imported cattle from Spain, they turned it into a beverage by adding milk.

They also Hispanicized its name by pronouncing it chocolate (choh-koh-LLAHteh), which in turn was modified in other countries to fit the local language.

Oddly enough, when one considers the name and cause of the disease, farmers who work in haying time have said that ragweed pollen patches and cornfields are rarely victims of a malady which finds so many sufferers in asphalt fields.

Hay fever, under one name or another, has been known for almost 400 years. And ragweed, of course, is a lot older than that, says New York Herald Tribune.

Ungratefulness is the very poison of manhood.—Sir Philip Sidney.

Forbear to judge for we are sinners all. —Shakespeare.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

THE TROUBLE MAKERS

Weather's right and fish are biting,
Yet each other men are fighting.

Skies and seas are fair for sailing,
Yet the ways to peace are failing.

In the fields the grain stands golden,
Yet men cling to hatreds olden.

All is well that nature fashions—
All save man, still prey to passions.

What a wondrous world this would be
Were men only what they could be!

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

"I don't care if you can't stand those Wilsons—I can't always be turning out the lights to pretend we're not at home!"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 17TH, 1926

Mrs. R. Snell and Mrs. Elias Ormond have returned home after an extended trip to Winnipeg, Jasper Park, Banff and Vancouver.

Miss Mary Barnes of Kingston is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brown in this city.

Francis and Evan Tummon of Tweed are spending a vacation at the home of Mr. H. McCreary at Latta.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woodley and three daughters, Hazel, Grace and Mary are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodley, Moira Street West.

Mrs. Wyer and family motored here from Boston, Mass., and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Ketcheson, Bleecker Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hicks of Detroit, Mich., are visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jeffery, Albert Street.

30 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 17,TH, 1916.

The Clothiers added another victory to their credit yesterday afternoon in a game of baseball, the clothiers being composed of various Belleville barbers. The final score was 12 to 10. It was a good game in spite of the score and the Clothiers were kept hustling to keep the Barbers from gaining a lead. The following composed the teams: Clothiers: Jack Fahey, Sprague, Roe, Wells, C. O'Brien, Bond, Luscombe and Watton. Barbers, Bell-Smith, LaPalm, Osborne, Sagar, Bennett, Sullivan, Kelly, Waters and Burke.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Herring have returned to Toronto after visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weese of Rochester, N.Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weese, North Front Street.

Captain R. Foster of the Salvation Army is camping at Jones' Creek.

40 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 17TH, 1906.

Mr. F. S. Selwood, barrister, Boston, Mass., is spending a few days in town.

Mr. James Muir, K.C., of Calgary, Alberta, is the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. E. G. Sills, Dundas Street.

Mr. Fred Merrill of Bracebridge is spending a few days here with his brother-in-law, Mr. J. W. Elliott, Frank Street.

Mr. Charles J. Symons is in New York City on business.

Mr. Arnoldi Parker left today for Syracuse, N.Y., after visiting his parents here.

Mr. Speed Phillips, of Montreal, an old Belleville boy, is in town on his vacation.

Mr. S. E. Wall of Calgary, Alberta, is visiting his mother, Mrs. James Wall and his sister, Mrs. J. A. Zufelt, James Street.

50 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 17TH, 1896.

Merchants are complaining of the dull times.

Mr. Harry Burrell left today to spend a vacation with friends at the White Mountains.

Miss May McCaughey has returned to Cobourg after visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Brown in this city.

Mr. J. Earl Halliwell of Stirling was in town today.

Mr. C. Cowan of Trenton was in town today.

Mr. and Mrs. Venetvaza spent yesterday in Brockville.

The steamer Hamilton called at this port this morning on her down trip.

Mrs. R. P. Hamilton is visiting friends at Stoco.

HOUSE CREATES

(Continued From Page One.)

000 had been written off the debts of 1,765 First Great War veterans who came under the Soldier Settlers Act. This cut came under an Order-in-Council which now has been extended from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, giving the settlers a chance to apply for reductions which in some cases have chopped off 50 per cent of their debts.

Some fisheries Still Owe

Mr. Tucker said 4,376 settlers still owe an average of $1,160 and that the majority of them were in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Vestrans Minister Mackenzie and Mr. Tucker defended government action against a charge by Maj. F. O. Bradley (PC—Kamloops) that additional aid should be given to veterans who were led to believe they could buy small holdings houses for a maximum of $6,000 and who now find they had to pay as much as $7,800.

Mr. MacKenzie said five out of six veterans were buying their homes privately and contributing their re-establishment credits towards them. He and Mr. Tucker said it would be impossible for veterans to get similar houses cheaper than the price they paid under the small holdings scheme and said further aid would be discrimination against other veterans.

Authority to Build Road

The Commons in first act of the day was to give third reading to Bill authorizing the C.P.R. to build a 55-mile branch line from Barrauite to Klaak Falls on the Peace River in Quebec's Abitibi district.

Mr. Chevrier also indicated he would see whether inland steamship service could be brought under the jurisdiction of the Board of Transport Commissioners. This was in answer to complaint about services on British Columbia's inland lakes.

Heat From Gulf Stream May Be Used To Warm Norway's Homes, Buildings

Hans Falk, a Norwegian engineer, has presented a plan for using heat from the warm waters of the Gulf Stream to heat homes and business and buildings in northern Norway.

Thanks to this warm ocean current washing Norway's northern coast, the average temperature of the Lofoten Islands, 100 miles above the Arctic Circle, is 12.5 degrees above the average for cities above the same latitude on the east coast. Falk's plan for utilizing this heat involves pumping the warm sea water through an electrically driven refrigeration unit, cooling the water by one or more degrees, and then through a system of thermo-compression to the point at which it is released. This heat, in turn, will warm the water of the land which, in turn, will be pumped through radiators.

The Housing Authority has now forwarded a brief of Falk's plan to the Norwegian Institute of Technology where it is presently being studied by thoroughly investigated.

In Zurich, Switzerland, the water from a river which holds a constant temperature is even cheaper than the price they paid under the small holdings scheme and said further aid would be discrimination against other veterans.

Authority to Build Road

The Commons in first act of the day was to give third reading to Bill authorizing the C.P.R. to build a 55-mile branch line from Barrauite to Klaak Falls on the Peace River in Quebec's Abitibi district.

Mr. Chevrier also indicated he would see whether inland steamship service could be brought under the jurisdiction of the Board of Transport Commissioners. This was in answer to complaint about services on British Columbia's inland lakes.

Espionage Report 'One of Documents Of Our Time'

IT (CP Cable) — The Yorkshire Post today said almost two columns of its front page to a summary of the 700-page report of the Royal Commission of inquiry into espionage activities in Canada. The Post urged publication of the report in Britain.

"The details of this astonishing espionage conspiracy," it said, "are one of the documents of our times."

It said the most important "dedication" in the Commission report was that "membership in perfectly legal and seemingly innocent political study groups was the starting point which led Canadian scientists and government officials to become the agents of a Soviet military espionage organization."

Partly Explains Shortage Of Men's Shirts

(From "Textiles")

There are a number of reasons for the shortage of men's shirts.

One cause was the Imperial Conference in 1932 resulted in Canadian woollen goods being admitted to Canada free of duty. Canadian manufacturers of these items consequently did not grow in the volume that overseas imports from Britain have been virtually cut off for some months, and the demand for them can be resumed in quantity.

It appears that this shortage will continue, undoubtedly Canadian-made shirts will be in demand again, but this will take a little time.

Not every man in Canada wears shirts of fine material. But the shortage of thicker lot production in the supply of fine shirting is one of the reasons given for which the shirt shortage has been aggravated.

The record of imports of duty-free shirtings from Britain has been:

1940	2,254,010 yards
1941	301,966 yards
1942	32,833 yards
1943	4,557 yards
1944	none
1945	none

In most other textile lines, Canadian production was more nearly equal to normal prewar requirements. Canadian textile building up of Canadian productive bodies of efficiency in the industry so well to meet the war and post-war requirements both 1942 and 1945. Perhaps it would have been better if the industry had kept on making fine shirting.

Watch Your Car While in States

(The Windsor Star)

Have you had your car stolen lately? If you will take the advice of Helen Andrews, of 4 Eadies Lane, you will be sure to have the stealing done on this side of the border.

Miss Andrews received the new coupe she has been driving about six months, and she drove it over to Detroit to get her sister, Mrs. McCraw, and her cousin, Mrs. Emily Bliese, to do the rolling back in a brand new car from the factory.

Having no time to spare they parked the car in a lot on Woodward Ave., near the Fort Street corner, left the keys in the lock, as directed by the attendant, they said, and went on their errands. When they returned the attendant told them a friend of Andrews had taken her car.

"Oh, no, they couldn't have," said Miss Andrews, "I still have the ticket here, see." The attendant looked at the ticket and said, "Well, I guess you have a car." The two visitors had lost their car, left it in the hands of the attendant and boarded the train.

Miss Andrews returned to the parking lot and asked to see the manager. "Don't tell me your troubles," he said, "I know what happens all the time." But he went to the office and was very sympathetic, but they told her that they could not help other cars stolen before hers that she would have to wait her turn. Then a customs officer approached she started for home. When she got to the border she went to the customs clerk asked her what she had to declare. "Someone stole it," she said. "Oh, yeah," said the official, "you will have to pay your duty on that car, lady. What is your name and address?"

She produced her driver's licence, but he had no comfort for her. "Yes, lady, you'll have to pay the import duty all right. That's to the American government."

But before Miss Andrews had to pay the double duty or before she was driven to the point of hysterics, the car was found for her. It had been sitting in a lane for four days.

All the luggage was gone and the spare wheel and the tools, and the front fender was smashed.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

HAYS OFF! THE ULTRA VIOLETS PASSING BY

A month ago, in a moment of ungovernable fury, I gave vent to my feelings about the way the game was going by throwing my hat on the ground immediately my opponent, smiling over the way the game was going, jumped up and down on my hat, and it has never recovered the lustre, shape and smartness it had when I plunked down 98 cents or something like that for it just before the War.

The other day I received a voluminous report of the opinions of more or less eminent authorities (they're always authorities if their notions please us) upon the danger of going without a hat. Many of the authorities have long since made up their toes, so we'll let 'em lie.

A Brooklyn eye specialist "said" I mean boldly asserted: "It has been definitely proven that thousands of people have been needlessly subjected to attacks of sinusitis and other respiratory diseases, by the unwarranted exposure of an uncovered head."

Of course, this doesn't prove that any illness of any kind ever comes from that same cause. Exposure or from any exposure to cold or dampness of the feet, bear in mind, children, that I'm not an authority on anything. But I do feel believe hallucinesses in any weather has a thing to do with sinus trouble or other respiratory disease, no matter whether you have a heavy growth of hair or no hair at all.

On the other hand some of the authorities (dead or alive) quote the learning professors that bathing the head when the weather is inclement, soft or cool has been the question and bear down hard on the alleged dangers of the ultra violet light from the strong sunlight of mid-summer.

I believe I'd wear some sort of sunshade, helmet or hat, head of hair or no hair, if I were exposed to extremely strong sunlight, say on the desert or in the tropics, but seldom is such protection necessary in any part of the United States or Canada — protection against sunstroke.

Cancer from sunlight? Injury to eyesight from sunlight? Influenza from sunlight? These imaginary effects of mid-summer sunshine are fine subjects for Sunday supplement articles. In any circumstances I would not give them a thought—I'd wear a hat, or go without, whichever seemed more comfortable at the moment.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Immunity

Six years ago my son was given a "shot" by a health doctor and the doctor told me it immunized the boy against mumps for life. School nurse has been giving such immunizing "shot" in knees.

(Mrs. H. L.)

Answer — No such immunization is known. Perhaps you misunderstood what the doctor told you. If he is or was a representative of the health department of the city he gave the information by writing the health department of the city where he lives. Only effective immunizing treatments against mumps are: (1) immunizing against diphtheria, which every child should receive before the age of three years; (3) immunizing against typhoid, by vaccination; (3) and (4) immunizing against smallpox, by vaccination.

Male Climacteric

Would appreciate any information you can give me on the male climacteric.

(R.M.W.)

Answer—That' is a far-fetched speculation. Even in women there is nothing critical or dangerous about the Menopause.

(Copyright, 1946, by John F. Dille Co.)

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Did the ancients make asbestos cloth?

The ancients, who called it "salamander's wool," knew full well that the incombustible substance was derived from mineral asbestos. Asbestos in great awe because it was not affected by fire, and they used it for fireproof into napkins, shirts, coats and tablecloths, as well as "funeral cloth for kings," as Pliny expressed it.

Some later garments consisted of shrouds wrapped around the bodies of dead rulers to preserve their ashes pure during the process of cremation. Charlemagne, according to tradition, had an asbestos cloth which he used to keep cleaned by throwing it into the fire, much to the astonishment of the court and the court of the emperor of the Franks.

Marco Polo, referring to a province in Asia, mentioned it in his account about 1300 A.D.:

"A substance is likewise found of the nature of wool, prepared for when woven into cloth, and cleansed by fire, it remained incombustible. The following mode of preparing it I learned from one of my travelling companions named Curdicar, a learned intelligent man, who had the direction of the mining operations of the province for three years. The fossil substance procured from the mountains consists of three not unlike those of wool. This, after being exposed to the fire to dry, is pounded in a brass mortar and is then washed until the earthy matter is entirely separated. The fibres thus cleansed and detached from each other, times.

they then spin into thread and weave into cloth. In order to render the cloth whiter, they put it into the fire, and suffer it to remain there about an hour, whereby they know it out uninjured by the flame, and it becomes as white as snow. It is again whenever it becomes dirty it is by fire, and thus it is said by the court of the emperor of the Franks.

Marco Polo, referring to a province in Asia, mentioned it in his account about 1300 A.D.:

"A substance is likewise found of the nature of wool, prepared for when woven into cloth, and cleansed by fire, it remained incombustible. The following mode of preparing it I learned from one of my travelling companions named Curdicar, a learned intelligent man, who had the direction of the mining operations of the province for three years. The fossil substance procured from the mountains consists of three not unlike those of wool. This, after being exposed to the fire to dry, is pounded in a brass mortar and is then washed until the earthy matter is entirely separated. The fibres thus cleansed and detached from each other,

Asbestos is a mineral found in many parts of the world, but the best known deposits are in Canada, Russia and Rhodesia. Asbestos is a fibrous mineral which can be spun into thread and woven into cloth. In order to render the cloth whiter, they put it into the fire, and suffer it to remain there about an hour, whereby they know it out uninjured by the flame, and it becomes as white as snow. It is again soiled by use, whenever it becomes dirty it is cleansed by fire, and thus it is purified by the court of the emperor of the Franks.

The art of weaving asbestos cloth was practically forgotten during the Dark Ages. When Benjamin of Tudela visited Rome in 1724 he took with him an asbestos purse. In his time, Benjamin wrote "I had brought over a few curiosities, and among the principal was a purse of the asbestos, which purse I gave to Sir James Hinton, physician, naturalist and member of the Royal Society, brought over the Royal Duke of June 2, 1725. Franklin wrote to Sir Hans Sloane, physician to the northern parts of America, I have sometimes seen a purse made of the stone asbestos, a piece of wood, the pithy part of which is of the same nature, and called by the inhabitants salamander cloth.

It was not until about 1870, when such textiles were made in quantity that asbestos became commercially important in modern

Government, will require two years to fill.

An official of the firm said there are nine different types of brands that means to fill the order 18 different moulds must be designed.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Don't be a Worry Bird; Soar High Up, Above Care

Movie Actress Ann Dvrax faces problems with calm and serenity

By HELEN FOLLETT

EVERY woman, if she is to keep well and strong, if she is to preserve youthful appearance, get along comfortably with herself and her fellow creatures, must formulate a policy of self-protection.

She must protect herself against excessive fatigue that breaks down body forces. She must protect her complexion against birthdays and weather. She must protect herself against those doleful bores who rob her of her good spirits.

You know the kind!

Always yawling about their troubles; as if troubles were not the common lot, one way or another.

Retire to Seclusion

When life seems to be kicking her around and she feels like rolling on the floor and screaming her head off, those moments come to many of us, it is up to her to retire to a state of seclusion, get herself in hand.

She should lie down, close her eyes, close the doors of her mind, relax. What if the dishes aren't washed! It won't matter. When she feels rested she won't mind rustling with them.

A tired, nervous woman has a deplorable effect upon the home atmosphere. The Daddy looks unhappy and bewildered. The kids catch the jitters. She gets more lines in her face than the most expert beauty culture can iron out.

Healthy Recreation

Recreation as a health-giving nature are one means of overcoming nervous highjinks.

Women who suffer from nervous exhaustion have dull, distressed looking eyes, and pale complexions. Because they feel wretched they are inclined to move with lagging steps, lose youthfulness of figure.

Dumpiness interferes with digestion; eventually nutrition may be impaired. It breaks the canvaman at a distance, ties muscles into knots. No need of streaming again what it does to faces. Makes them old before one's time.

Does Your Chesterfield Worry You?

That is the solled condition it now presents? Don't waste another minute worrying . . . just call us for a "Modern" dry cleaning. You'll be surprised at the difference in its appearance and more than pleased.

PHONE 2277

MODERN

CLEANERS and DYERS LIMITED

238 Pinnacle Street

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Good circulation is a beauty factor

Cold feet, fishy hands, pallid cheeks! Where there is such a partnership, there is no joy or animation, and there is a terrific drain on the rouge compact. There's an old saying to the effect that the blood is the stream that turns the wheels of life. Beauticians realize that, urge the cash customers to take outdoor exercise as well as facial treatments.

Clever pulchritude experts, who help good-looking ones to stay that way, have an eye to cold, stern facts. They know that you can't get far in figure remodeling or youth restoring unless one has due regard for physical and mental hygiene. Yes, my children, the state of your mind has as much to do with your appearance as the state of your body.

The circulatory system is a marvelously organized corporation. It supplies exercise to every cell of the body, even to your eyelashes. It carries away wastes. It is at once a distributing agent for life-giving nourishment and a collector of debris.

The heart is a sort of suction pump; arteries ,veins and capillaries are like a system of elastic tubes. The capillaries that give coloring to the cheeks are so tiny that their walls are transparent.

Unless the body has plenty of fresh air and a desirable amount of exercise, the capillaries get sluggish. The cheeks are pale, lips are without natural coloring. The health of the hair is likely to suffer, as each shaft gets food and drink from the blood streams in the scalp.

The red cells in the blood carry oxygen to all over the machine. Draw fresh air into your lungs; it is the duty of the blood cells to distribute it. On the journey back they carry carbon dioxide gas. The lungs get rid of it.

The blood contains white cells or leucocytes. They are the standing army that fights disease.

Beauticians urge customers to take outdoor exercise

When a germ enters the blood stream, the white cells challenge it to war. What we know as pus is composed of the dead warriors of both armies, the invaders and the defenders.

Nourishing foods, normally digested, are blood builders. The proper treatment for sluggish circulation consists of deep-breathing exercises, nutritious food, vigorous exercise, plenty of water.

The salt glow is helpful. Moisten a bowlful of table salt. Stand in the bath tub, friction the tiny grains into the skin, using plenty of elbow grease. Have an alternating hot and cold shower, but while you count fifteen, cold while you count fifteen, and so on.

By PRUNELLA WOOD

IT'S ABOUT TIME to look up the campus wardrobe, get ready for a busy year ahead with books and midnight oil. Here is a good-looking school frock made of warm napthalsated wool, which besides its styling, has the advantage of variety.

One can wear a fresh waist every day, keeping a well groomed appearance with little expense or effort. . . one can change off the waists for pullovers, too. Pleated skirt, wrekit top, is the pattern. . . green, gold, blue, et cetera.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

She's 16 and 'Afraid to Trust any Love Any More'

No teen-ager is going to believe anyone who tells her that a broken heart always mends itself. Or that to have your heart broken is often the best way to learn the things that bring you the greatest happiness in the end.

All the teen-ager can see, when heartbreak hits her, is a long, dreary future stretching away in front of her like a lonely path through a dark woods into which no sunshine ever penetrates. Just an endless winding through time and space until death mercifully puts an end to it all!

The thought that she might actually be happy again some day, perhaps even happier than she's ever been before, is unthinkable. Sometimes—though of course she doesn't realize it—she just doesn't wan to think. She'd much rather romantically imagine herself languishing through the years forever faithful to a dead love, or disillusioned and worldwise, holding disdainfully at arm's length the nonentities who are not that once betrayed her. That sort of imagining can be a bit of fun, whether one calls it that or not.

Here's a girl who, at 16, declares that the faithless heart of a 15-year-old wolf, when she was just reaching the same age, "turned her heart against love" and made her "afraid to trust love any more". But after describing her disillusionment of being "jilted" after a year by a boy friend, a detachment which began when she was 14 and the boy in question 15, she betrays the fact that she's just about ready to consign the experience to the adolescent past —though not yet ready to admit it—by writing me:

"As the situation is now, I am torn between two worlds. I prefer to date the boy I love, only to date several more out of friendship. I write also to a few of my young friends who have gone into service, and date quite a few who are still there, and up until recently everything went fine.

"But now I really love one boy and I'm sure he loves me, too. He has asked me to stop going with those other people, but he lives about 75 miles from me and it is seldom that we are together, though we write each other every week, if not more often. He is young, a good boy who doesn't go for any of these up-to-date good times. He does not believe in smoking, drinking or cursing, but tries to right other people's wrongs in his patient, considerate way.

"My people are very fond of him, and think that I should stop enjoying other people's company, but I still don't convince me that this way wouldn't break my heart, although he doesn't even realize that other girls exist. I tell them all that I'm entirely too young to settle down for quite awhile yet.

"Worried"

And I think you are just exactly right. I think if you keep on writing to a lot of boys, and having dates with a lot of them instead of concentrating on any one individual, you'll find that in time you'll forget about your broken heart and be quite willing to take another chance on somebody else.

Already, you see, you're finding fit possible to believe that you really love another boy and that he realy loves you. If you were as cynical as you're trying to make yourself—and me—believe, you'd be laughing at the idea that you could ever love again, or that you'd ever believe another boy when he said he loved you.

And what if you do have your heart broken again? That only means you keep picking out the wrong ones. May be you'll get smarter than you are, and take the way of saving you for the right one!

Tailored for Beauty

Provocative evening gown

By VERA WINSTON

LUSTROUS BLACK satin with a tailored-air makes this provocative evening dress. This one has a halter type neckline and cuffed pockets. The banded top of the décolletage ties in a small bow above the snug buttoned front bodice. Large white pearl buttons top the pockets placed on the fully flared peplum. The skirt is cut on slim lines with a centre slit.

SHE GETS AROUND

Famed Nellie Bly was practically anchored compared to this smiling lass. She is Miss Betty Russell, secretary to the chairman of the board of Trans World Airline. Miss Russell has just returned from an 80,000-mile aerial trip, route of which she is tracing on the globe here. She is now off again . . . this time on a jaunt that will take her 25 or 30 thousand miles.

Ivanhoe

Ivanhoe — Mr. Elmer Post of West Huntingdon, niece of Huntingdon, made several calls in this district on Saturday in the interest of the community X-ray survey being held in Madoc August 15th to 17th inclusive.

Congratulations are extended to Miss Eva Hagerman who passed her entrance to High School examinations with honors, having obtained the highest marks of any one of the forty-two pupils who tried in Stirling.

Mrs Frank Palmer and Mrs. Hary Lovibond spent Sunday at the Y.W.C.A. camp at Moira Lake the guest of friends there.

Mr. and Mrs. Series and Mrs. Myron Hawley of Zion Hill, former parishioners of Rev. J. F. Everson, attended divine service at White Lake on Sunday afternoon and later took dinner at the parsonage.

Miss Mabel McKnight, Reg. N., oQf Toronto General Hospital, was the guest over the weekend of her sister, Mrs. Dougan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rollins of Queenston were several calls on friends at Ivanhoe over the weekend.

Mrs. Frank Garry, of Owen Sound, formerly of Crookston, was the guest on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mullett.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McKnight and daughter of New Liskeard were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wickens on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw are vacationing with friends in the U. S. A.

Master Robert Thompson, of Stirling, is spending his holidays with his cousin, Master Larry Mitts.

Mr. Carter and family of Holloway, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Joseph Rollins, and family.

Frankford

Frankford — (Special) — Mr. C. G. Maguire of Ottawa has returned home after a week spent with his sister, Mrs. Fred Charlesworth and family of Stockdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ferguson of Lynbrook, N.Y., spent the weekend with Mrs. Norman Simmons and called on other friends at Stockdale.

Mrs. Clare Sine and family of Prescott, Mrs. Glen Pierce and family of Belleville, and Mrs. Miles MacGillivray and children of Trenton, were Frankford visitors on Wednesday and attended the Old Time Jubilee sponsored by the Moose Lodge.

Mrs. Geo. Wrightman of Valleyfield, Que., Mrs. Steel of North Bay and Mrs. Watkins of Hagersville, are guests of their sister, Mrs. Will Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Crandell and children of London were guests recently of the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Russell Embury.

Miss Hazel Mikel of London is visiting relatives in Frankford this week.

Miss Joan Scott of Havelock is the guest of her aunt Mrs. J. Finnigan and Mr. Finnigan.

Miss M. Wilson, formerly of the staff of the Frankford Public School, is the guest of Mrs. P. Bennett.

Charlie and Jack Reynolds of Toronto are guests this week at the home of their sister, Mrs. Herman Chard.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Deter and children of Hunter and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bennett, Joan and Roy spent the weekend in Niagara.

Mrs. Arthur Weaver of Stirling was the guest on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Emerson of Belleville were Sunday visitors at the home of Miss Margaret Bowen.

Moscow Radio Pays Tribute to H. G. Wells

London, Aug. 17- (Reuters)- A tribute to H.G. Wells, noted British author who died Tuesday was broadcast today by Moscow Radio in it's English -Language "Newsreel" program.

The broadcast said Mr. Wells' "Hatred for Fascism is something that particularly endears him to readers here."

"In recent years he discovered more and more clearly the outlines of the monster which is devouring capitalist society..."

"SHE SHOULD REDECORATE WITH WALLBOARD!"

When your walls become cracked and stained and shabby looking, smart, modern WALLBOARD is the perfect way to make them smooth and distinctive looking again! . . . It's simple to apply — durable—and it costs so little!

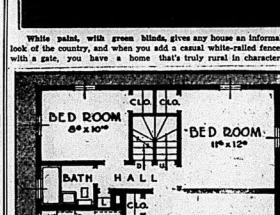
Now about stopping in this week to look over our Wallboard selections!

The HOUSTON Company Limited

ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL

PHONE 1677

Established 1886



White paint, with green blinds, gives any house an informal look of the country, and when you add a casual rustic railed fence, with a gate, you have a home that's truly rural in character.

Designed for bungalow living convenience, the house can expand via the attic.

—The Book of Houses—Dean and Breines.

Because each of the rooms has been given a corner all to itself, they all have the pleasant lightness and airiness that such ample cross-ventilation supplies.

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

Truly rural in its demure white paint and cozy railed fence, this four room and attic house is nevertheless planned with smart urban efficiency.

Providing its owners with the comfort, convenience, and compactness of bungalow living, it shrewdly includes an attic that can be readily induced to extend the original space with an extra room or two, if and when occasion demands.

A corner living room, at right, is made light and airy by one window on the front, and the other on the side, while the master bedroom immediately in back has a similar cross-ventilation window arrangement. A second bedroom, slightly smaller, occupying the corner at back, on left, duplicates the back and side window plan. The left corner of the house itself is given over to the kitchen, which carries out the same cross-ventilation by a full window on the side, and a shalter high one looking on the porch.

Jutting out from the kitchen, in elbow style, the attached garage insures a good degree of privacy, and also serves the house as something of a buffer against the elements. Such an arrangement, say the experts, is an ideal solution where the garage is to be placed on a level site, since it provides a short, safe driveway with the rest of the plot left free for any purpose the owner desires. If necessary to conform with local buildings codes, the garage can, of course, be set back on a line with the house itself, or slightly behind it.

"LORNE McDOUGALL WILL HELP ME!"

Your best friend is your insurance agent, for he helps you at a time when you need help most.

Bring your insurance problems to us. They receive our prompt, personal attention at all times. Call us today for expert insurance advice. No risk is too large — none too small.

LORNE McDOUGALL INSURANCE AGENCIES LTD.

Belleville's Largest Insurance Office

OPPOSITE THE CITY HALL — PHONE 169

ALP-8

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hulin, Stirling, announce the engagement of their niece, Dorothy Mae Hulin, to Harvey Kenneth Boyd, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Boyd, of Lacelles, Quebec, the marriage to take place in Ottawa early in September.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Tanner, Stirling, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Eileen, to Ralph Elwood Bateman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bateman, Springbrook. The marriage will take place September 7, at 2:30 p.m., in St. Marsh Hill United Church, Chatterton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wall, of Chicago, Illinois, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. Doolittle, Everett Street, left for their home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Blair, Front of Sidney, have been holidaying at Muskoka Lake and Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bennett have returned home after spending the past few days in Toronto and La Salette.

Misses Barbara and Joy Reeves, of Toronto, are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Emma Reeves, 58 Charlotte Street.

Mrs. P. E. Frazier, Toledo, Ohio, is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Emma Reeves, and Mrs. Annie Rodhouse, 58 Charlotte St.

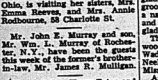
Mr. John E. Murray and son, Mr. Wm. L. Murray of Rochester, N.Y., have been the guests this week of the former's brother-in-law, Mr. James R. Mulligan.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eaton and daughter, Roseanne, of Belleville, have returned home after visiting relatives at Toronto, London, Sarnia and Detroit, Mich.

Miss Elinor Farley, of Grand Coulee, Sask., is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Stanley Farley, 230 Church Street.

Mrs. May Seitz, Flushing, N.Y., is visiting with friends, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Digby, 37 Purdy Street.

Wife Preservers



Slipcovers and clothes should be washed separately. Then you're assured of great percentage of them are made of cotton or linen. And we always respond with complete satisfaction to any call.

K-20-Cleaner 8-1

CHARLES DICKENS

See the unusual display of miniatures of the characters created by the beloved Charles Dickens—Exquisite reproductions of Mr. Pickwick—Scrooge—Mrswatcher—Sidney Gamp and Mrs. Harris—David Copperfield and Dora—Sam Weller—Songs of the Cratchits— Mrs. Cratchit and her Pudding — Aunt Betsy Trotwood — Bob Cratchit and Tiny Tim.

SCHWAB'S

GIFT SHOPPE

40 BRIDGE STREET

HIGHER STANDARDS

of SEEING and VISUAL PERFORMANCES are the order of the day. The public has never in its history been so "eye-conscious."

To the question: "Whom should I consult regarding my eyes?", there is only one answer:

"See the man with specialized experience and the finest equipment."

Our experience and equipment are of the HIGHEST STANDARD.

Two optometrists in attendance

No Drugs Used

BY APPOINTMENT, PLEASE

J. A. McFEE

EXPERIENCED OPTOMETRIST

BELLEVILLE

WEDDINGS

McCAULEY—WADDINGHAM

Marysville Church was the scene of a very pretty June wedding Saturday, August 10, at 10 a.m., when Mary Gladys Waddingham, daughter of Mr. Arthur Waddingham, became the bride of Mr. William McCauley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. McCauley, Marysville. The church was beautifully decorated with a variety of Spring flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a floor-length gown of white satin and lace with a sweetheart neckline and sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. She wore a finger-tip veil with a flower coronet of sweetpeas and roses and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses. Her only ornament was a double-strand necklace of pearls.

Miss Dorothy McCauley, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and wore a green silk taffeta dress of the maid of honor, in pink net and taffeta and carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and roses.

Mr. Michael Walsh, Marysville, was best man and Mr. Glen Tucker, Mr. Roy Stapley and Mr. Ambrose Mason were the ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home where a buffet supper was served to about 50 guests. The bride's sister, Miss Betty Waddingham, received wearing a pink dress with white accessories and corsage of white gladioli and pink rosebuds. The groom's mother looked lovely in a navy blue and white ensemble and wore a corsage of colored gladioli and rosebuds.

Assisting were Mrs. Dur-wood Waddingham, Miss Kay Waddingham, and Elizabeth Neelin, Miss Jack McFarlane and Miss Hazel Bates.

After the reception the bride and groom left for a trip through Northern Ontario and Detroit. For travelling the bride looked charming in a lime green mesh dress and hat with brown accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The groom's gift to the bride was a double strand pearl necklace, to the best man a lighter and to the ushers pens.

The bride's gift to the groom was a leather travelling bag, and to her attendants, gold choker necklaces.

FORSYTH—BOYLE

Maxwanna United Church was the scene of a lovely wedding at two o'clock Saturday, Aug. 3, when Rev. Mr. Graham united in marriage Edith Constance Boyle and Elmer Ray Forsyth. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Boyle, Belleville, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forsyth, R.R. 2, Hillier.

The church was decorated with gladioli and sweetpeas were used in decoration and guest pews were marked by white ribbon bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a pretty picture in floor-length gown of white velveray marquisette. She wore a fingertip veil and carried red roses.

Miss Hazel Boyle was bridesmaid. She wore a floor-length blue brocade taffeta bodice with medium-length skirt. Miss Lett was matron of honor, wearing a long pink dress with blue bodice and medium skirt. Both wore shoulder-length veils and carried pink roses.

Jack Preston, Hillier, was groomsman and ushers were Russell Forsyth, brother of the groom, and Carl Boyle, brother of the bride. Mr. Gerald Snider, of Rossmore, played the wedding music, and Rev. Mr. Graham read the register, Mr. Ronald Elmy of Belleville sang "I Love You Truly" and "Always".

The reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother chose navy blue sheer. The groom's mother was in navy blue and white. Their corsages were of pink carnations.

Asters, snapdragons and gladioli brightened the home. The bride's table was decorated with pink and white streamers and pink candles. Assistants were Mrs. George Benway, Mrs. Gren Minaker, Miss Zelda Carter, Miss Eleanor Sprague, Edwin Lott and Grant Minaker.

For travelling to Kingston and Ottawa, the bride donned a salmon pink dress with white accessories. The couple reside at Hillier. Guests were present from Madoc, Toronto, Wellington and Belleville.

Women's Activities

COLLEGE HILL WOMEN'S GROUP

The College Hill Women's Group held their August meeting in the room of the Sunday School on North Park Street, with 18 present. The meeting was opened with National Anthem followed by responsive reading based on the Ten Commandments. The theme song was then sung after which the minutes of previous meeting were read and the roll called. The treasurer gave her monthly report. Letters received from two French girls in France, were read and they sent their grateful thanks for the parcels which were sent to them through donations from the group. A medal was then presented to each member from the Salvation Army for volunteer war work which was sent to the needy in bombed out Europe. A community baby layette which is sent each month to unfortunate victims of war, was checked. Mrs. Jack Thomson, James Street, offered her home for the Sept. meeting to be in the form of a pot luck picnic. The meeting was closed with prayer. Mrs. Norman and Mrs. Waite served refreshments.

GISH SISTERS IN STOCKHOLM

Famous stars of the silent screen, Lillian and Dorothy Gish, unpack their bags in Stockholm for a vacation trip through Sweden and other European countries. Lillian recently was seen in "Centennial Summer."

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Parliamentary Procedure for a Club

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am very anxious to be informed about the parliamentary procedure for an organization. I know about the duties of the various committees. Will you give me any suggestions, please?

S. K.

I suggest that you get a copy of that splendid classic Robert's Rules of Order. This will give you all the rules for conducting a meeting according to the best parliamentary practices. If you don't wish to buy this book, you can get it from your local public library, and the librarian will also point you to books setting forth in detail the duties and procedure of the chairman and members of the various committees.

Prayer for the Girl to Provide the Lunch

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My mother often tells me of the many good times she and my dad used to have when they went on canoeing trips. Mother used to pack a lunch, and they would travel up the river and then stop and have a picnic. These canoeing trips and picnics have greatly amused me, and also the young man with whom I have been having occasional dates.

The only young man has gotten a canoe and we have been planning the same type of trip. However, it seems to me that the fellows of today do not approve of allowing a girl to pay for anything. Therefore would it be all right for me to suggest bringing the lunch, or should I leave this up to him? I would really like very much better if I could provide the food and drink.

D. A.

Apparently you have known only particularly-generous and gallant young men, and I doubt if many girls would agree with you "that the fellows of today do not approve of allowing a girl to pay for anything!" Indeed it will be proper for you to suggest to him that you would like to provide the lunch foods and beverage (perhaps an thermos bottle of coffee and another of soda) . . . and I wager that he'll be delighted at your suggestion.

V. O. N. News

Due to the overcrowded conditions prevailing in hospitals at the present time, medical and surgical patients sometimes find it necessary to return home where treatments are continued. In cases of this kind the Victorian Order of Nurses providing skilled nursing service, where a full time nurse is not required, offer an excellent service. Dressings and other treatments needing a nurse are carried out in accordance with the doctor's orders. Sometimes extended treatment is necessary in the home, the Victorian Order Nurses represent a timely and efficient aid.

Frequently it is advisable for doctors to perform minor operations in the home. In these occasions, as well, the V.O.N. can be called upon to be present, to assist the doctor and to carry out his orders for future care. There are indeed so many varieties of part time nursing service which come under the scope of the V.O.N. program that it is easy to see how the Belleville district has grown to require three full time nurses.

Centenary

Centenary — The W.A. and W.M.S. held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. G. Sills, with a fair attendance.

The Y.P.U. held a picnic at Presqu'ile on Sunday last, some of the young people enjoyed a trip in an aeroplane.

Mrs. George Shortt is a patient at the Belleville General Hospital, all wish for her a speedy and complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lindsay, of Sydenham, called on Mr. and Mrs. D. Holton on Saturday.

Mrs. Gordon Garrison attended the auction sale at the home of Mrs. J. Waddell, Foxboro, on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard May, spent Wednesday at Madoc.

Mr. Mack Holton is spending his holidays in Toronto.

Mrs. H. Garrison and Bobbie, of Belleville, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. H. Garrison.

FIRST ONE BULL ESCAPES THEN TWO BULLS

Toronto, Aug. 17 — (CP)—One bull had no desire to see the inside of a slaughterhouse. One of a truckload on their way to the abbatoir made a dash for liberty. Two police constables recaptured hi mbut while putting him back on the truck two other bulls seized the opportunity to escape. They too were eventually recaptured.

Soap in Short Supply Across The Dominion

And now it's no soap.

It's in short supply and already the first soap queues and soap "panic buying" have been reported in some sections of Canada. More than one laundryman says the extra exhibitions are none too good and that he may have to close his business temporarily.

The shortage is not confined to laundry soap, a survey by The Canadian Press showed. Soap chips, too, are on the scarce list, adding to the problems of the housewife, the bachelor and the sweet young thing babying her precious nylons.

Why the shortage? Strikes, say officials in Ottawa.

Two southwestern Ontario plants, producers of most of Canada's soda ash and caustic soda, vital in laundry soap manufacturing, have been idle for a month. They are Brunner Mond Canada, Ltd., at Amherstburg and Canadian Industries, Ltd., at Windsor.

While fat supplies are reported short in some cities, the fat quota to manufacturers has been returned this year to the 1941 level. The strikes apparently are the answer.

Worst in Toronto

The situation appears to be worst in Toronto, the survey showed. Six laundries out of five large laundries said it was possible the firms would close down pending receipt of soap shortage.

One Toronto soap manufacturer came up with another reason—he said people have stopped using soap and seem to be going in for cleanliness in a bigger way. The combination of reduced supplies and bushier pocketbooks has brought the odd flurry of panic buying.

In Belleville, John wholesalers are rationing laundry soap and chips to the retailers. Frequent purchases by United States tourists have added to the worries of retailers who usually have been able to obtain their immediate soap supplies.

Regular customers have the advantage in Montreal but lineups are forming in some retail stores, say, however, that they are causing little trouble. Retailers in Montreal say chips are readily obtainable in Montreal.

Winnipeg laundries are maintaining service but on a two-to-three week backlog, reported with customers. Soap chips, starch and other laundry supplies are scarce and when word spreads that they are available, lineups often appear at stores.

Talk on Venezuela Given to Quinte W.I.

When the Quinte Women's Institute met in the pleasant surroundings of the home of Mrs. Frederickson for the August meeting, 35 members were present for the roll call.

The guest speaker, Mr. Graham gave a vivid description of his recent visit to Venezuela. In fancy, the members could see the herding, hazardous mountain roads, the adobe homes of the natives, the city built partly with the sidewalks ground on their patio. He told of the hilly-or-miss traffic in Caracas, the abundance of food, the constant threat of revolution.

He painted an amusing picture of the tribulations of the young man who took out a young lady.

CHOSEN "QUEENS FOR A DAY"

When the 100 winners of Canadian girls shared equally in the honor of being chosen queen for a day on the radio show emceed by Jack Bailey, The girls, Joyce Hall, 21, of Newmarket, Ont., and Margaret Smith, 20, from Brampton, Ont., have been "thumbing" rides from their homeland to Mexico. The longest "lift" was a 1,000-mile ride from Chicago to Colorado Springs. Here Jack Bailey and hitch-hikers Margaret, LEFT, and Joyce ride a bicycle for three. When the girls expressed a wish that they would like to attend the Rodeo at Santa Barbara, each was presented with a bicycle so that they could pedal their way, giving a pair of over-worked "thumbs" a well deserved rest.

PRINCESSES VISIT EALING STUDIOS

Princess Margaret and Princess Elizabeth are seen chatting with Hedda Hopper, the noted Hollywood columnist, on the set at Ealing Studios, England.

Clouds Prevent Frost Damage At Edmonton

Edmonton, Aug. 17 — (CP)—Dominion meteorological officials in Edmonton said today cloudy skies and a strong breeze had prevented frost from creating any serious damage to crops in the Edmonton district. However, farmers in the low lying areas of the Peace River district and in the extreme western portion of the Edmonton district were hit with a light frost.

Anxiously awaiting reports of the over-night frost in the north were Department of Agriculture officials, grain company officials and farm organization's in the city who feared for farmers in the northern Alberta districts where the frost threatens to wreck their homes for a bumper crop.

With the Polar air stream that swept through from the Yukon across northern B.C. and Alberta is moving steadily south and east, there is the danger that tonight may find frost causing heavy damage to crops in southern Alberta and western Saskatchewan.

C. M. Wilson, Alberta field crops commissioner, said today that although only a light frost had been reported it would still cause extensive damage in the northern wheat crops.

Residents of the Edmonton districts and northern Alberta towns were taking no chances and last night feverishly covered up tomato plants and other precious vegetables for the expected onslaught of frost.

Yearling Sales At Saratoga Reach High Peak

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 17 —(AP) — The Saratoga yearling sales, which got off to a slow start last Monday night and gathered speed in each succeeding session, wound up a record breaking fashion last night when 53 head brought a total of $577,-900 — an average of $10,904.

The brisk finish sept the total for the five nights of the thoroughbred auctions to $1,590,500 for an over-all average of $9,992, record surpassing the previous high of $3,790 for the 469 head sold in 1926.

"A record for a single consignment was set last night when 29 youngsters from Henry H. Knight's Almahurst farm at Lexington, Ky., brought $394,500, an average of $13,603.

Walter P. Chrysler Jr., paid the high price of the night and of the Almahurst consignment when he went to $36,000 for a bay colt by Pharamond 2nd out of Calgoy, a daughter of Sir Gallahad 3rd.

Rape Charged Against Youth

Toronto, Aug. 17—(CP)—Police said last night that Alfred Harvey Jackson, 23, of Newmarket, Ont., was charged with rape when he surrendered to police during a search for a man who criminally assaulted a 17-year-old playground supervisor.

Miss Sterling, of a public school in the west end of the city.

Jackson was identified as the son of the Newmarket mayor.

Police said Jackson asked the girl to go with him to the school to look for his father. In the basement, it is charged Jackson seized the girl by the throat and threatened to kill her. Her screams attracted the senior supervisor who entered the building and called police.

During the investigation, Jackson walked into a west-end police station and gave himself up.

MRS. G. A. BONISTEEL ELECTED VICE PRES.

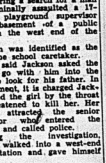
Simcoe, Aug. 17. (CP)—C. C. Marshall of Lancaster last night was elected president of the Canadian Guernsey Breeders' Association annual meeting here. He succeeds Chesley H. Wilson of Montreal. Other officials include; Vice Presidents: F. G. Kelsall, Simcoe; Mrs. G. A. Bonisteel, Belleville; D. H. McMillan, Ottawa; J. Cowan, Jr., Lachine; J. Shoemaker and A. O. Walberg, Guelph; J. Bell, Joes, Newcastle; A. R. Buckley, Ottawa, E. Neff, St. Catharines and A. H. Downey, Oakville.

MARIE MURDUFF

OUR RESULTS ARE GUARANTEED.

Over 12 Years' Experience in REMOVAL OF SUPERFLUOUS HAIR AND MOLES

For over 12 years we have served the people of the business and professional world.



MARIE MURDUFF

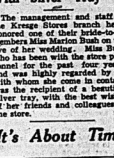
WILL BE IN BELLEVILLE

AUGUST 26TH — 31ST. — 22ND FLOOR

223 COLEMAN STREET PHONE 1489

Bride-to-Be Presented With Silver Tray

The management and staff of the Kresge Store of branch have honored one of their bride-to-be members Miss Marion Bush on the eve of her wedding. Miss Bush who has been with the store personnel for the past four years, and was highly regarded by all with whom she come in contact, was the recipient of a beautiful silver tray, with the best wishes of her friends and colleagues in the store.



It's About Time

By DOLORES BOLAND

IT'S ABOUT TIME for a bride to have a veil of corsse white net with large chenille dots instead of the usual white tulle. Tack layers and layers of this veiling to a headdip. The clip will not show if the color of the hair or covered with ribbon that color.

By DOLORES BOLAND

IT'S ABOUT TIME to whip up a scarf and gloves of bright colored linen to splice a dark town costume. A good way to use the material from a discarded jersey dress. An old winter evening dress could be dyed and then made into these accessories.

R.C.A.F. Grows New Eyes — Demonstrating use of airborne television in modern warfare, this R.C.A.F. Anson flew over Ottawa and district relaying back a "moving picture" of what pilot Flt. Lt. D. R. Cuthbertson of Brantford (left)—saw at the same instant. At right is Flt. Sgt. K. Rankin, Ottawa, who trained television camera mounted behind perspex hose, on ground targets.

On television screen at Rockcliffe airport, group of army, navy and R.C.A.F. officers watch Peace Tower on Parliament Hill and bridges flashing past "below" them.

MIDGET PONY AND HER BABY "CRICKET"

"Cricket," 15-pound baby of "Tiny," mostly long legs and fuzz, makes his debut before the camera at the farm of Homer Houser, Dayton, Ohio, shown with the proud mama. "Tiny," is believed to be one of the smallest ponies in the world. She is seven years old and weighs 210 pounds.

DOUBLE-RING WEDDING IN HOLLYWOOD FOR MARIA'S SISTER

Consuelo De Garcia, sister of movie star Maria Montez, places the ring on the finger of her groom, Kenneth Carter, at their double-ring wedding ceremony at the home of Miss Montez. The star is in background with her husband, actor Pierre Aumont. At RIGHT is Judge Charles Griffin, who performed the ceremony.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IN COLLISION

When Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt dozed at the wheel of her car she was involved in an accident with Albert Brooks, TOP, who stands by the wrecked front of his car at Yonkers, N.Y. BELOW, the car driven by Mrs. Roosevelt is lifted by cables before being taken to the garage. The late President's widow was uninjured, but three others were hurt.

BAMBI FINDS A SUBSTITUTE MOTHER

Joyce Mayo and David Waggoner feed the young fawn they adopted when they found it near death, accidentally separated from its mother in northern Wisconsin's Villas county. "Bambi" is a member of the family now and follows the children wherever they go.

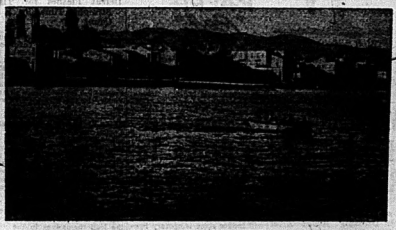
GETTING READY TO GO AGAIN

Heigh Ho, Heigh Ho, and off to work we go. It's Joe Louis, the heavyweight boxing champion, headed for his training camp at Pompton Lakes, N.J., where he will condition himself for Tami Mauriello, whom he meets in September.

WATCHING BRITISH MILITARY SHOW IN TOKYO

Mrs. Douglas MacArthur and her son Arthur, wife and child of the supreme commander in Japan, are shown as guests at the ceremonial review held by the British Indian division in Tokyo. It was the first such ceremony staged by the Indian division in the Japanese capital. LEFT to RIGHT on the reviewing stand are Arthur MacArthur, Mrs. MacArthur, Lt.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commanding U. S. 8th Army, and Lt.-Gen. H. C. H. Robertson, commander of British occupation forces.

DETOUR FROM THE "PROMISED LAND"



Here is a view of Limassol, island of Cyprus, to which British authorities are reported transferring illegal Jewish immigrants from Palestine. Several refugee ships are now at Haifa, Palestine, and it is believed that the British are transferring Palestine-bound Jews from these ships to British transports for deportation to Cyprus, where camps have been set up to accommodate them.

AS LONG SHOT WON $64,525 PRINCESS PAT STAKES

Say Blue, a 14-to-1 shot, captures the $64,525 Princess Pat Stakes, world's richest race for two-year-old fillies, at Washington Park, Chicago. A big crowd, jammed along the rails and in the grandstand and clubhouse, watched the entry of Mrs. Al Sabath (Alsab) win the event from the 4-to-5 favorites, Four Winds and Fairy Foot. Dixiana Stable entry, Bubble Bubble is second.

BRITAIN FORGES PROTECTIVE CHAIN FOR SUEZ

Despite withdrawal from Egypt, the British have no intention of leaving the vital Suez canal, the thin lifeline of empire, without the protection to which it has been accustomed. This map, based on reports from authentic sources, shows how Britain is prepared to safeguard the canal. New naval and air bases are planned for Cyprus, Tripoli, Haifa, Tobruk and Bengazi. The Tripoli and Haifa anchors of the system would, in addition, flank the important pipelines to oil-rich Iraq. Haifa is a hotspot just now with the British diverting thousands of refugee Jews from that port to prepared camps in Cyprus. Rioting Jews tried to stop the deportation of their European brethren.

Morgan Given Decision After Henning Fails to Return To Ring Following Second Fall

Iowa Cornhusker Treated to Rousing Room After Bout Concludes

(By G. H. C.)

At least one marine landed at the Hums Arena Friday night. He is Tom Morgan, idol of Lindsay and Bellleville wrestling fans, who "landed" on the mat the crafty Les Henning with such a barrage of punishing elbow smashes, that this wily Iowan Cornhusker was forced to say uncle in the second fall. Which evened the count insofar as falls were concerned.

But no punishing were those marine smashes to the heaving neck, that the Iowan was unable to return to the ring for the third and final fall and Referee Knie Hemmerling, awarded the fall and match to the dashing land mariner.

Hemming was hurt, there is no doubt about that. He was assisted from the arena writhing in agony and taken to the dressing room where first aid was applied. Later Dr. Russell Scott was summoned and treated the injured wrestler for a slightly dislocated vertebra and a knotted neck muscle. Henning is able to return to his Toronto after a lengthy rest here. Pat on Back Due

Le Morgan was far from being an amiable conqueror in the second heat. He had been subjected to some gruelling punishment in the first chucker and M'iles Henning gave him the well-known works in every conceivable form of mat mayhem. The Iowan who favors a different hold on every appearance, selected what is called in the Encyclopedia Jout and Cilly, the Cobra Hold, a nice gentle clutch that choked the blood flow in the carotid artery, as if that means anything to the average wrestling fan, and if heavily applied will induce unconsciousness by-bye.

He mixed this hold with some of the newer pokes in the marine orbs; a hair-clutching grab that is guaranteed to remove all dandruff and part of the scalp, and other assorted grips that had the Lindsay Lion roaring in discomfort and longing for some comparatively peaceful arguments on the beachheads of Iwo Jima.

Finally Pinned Marine

And so it came to an end. The leering Henning, whose notice with foot and rope had the faithful in periodical frenzies, finally pinned the gallant marine while the welkin rang to the howls of disapproval of the paying public.

Came the second bout. It was with it a different marine. Tour is well-named, for the lion roused, ripped into the blonde from Iowa with fist, knee and elbow, the ring, the referee and the box office had it been available.

On one occasion, and they were many in this part of the party, Henning decided to see what the ring looked like from the ground, and hopped gaily through the ropes, only to discover that he was in hot pursuit. The two galloped around the floor outside the ring like a pair of upholstered antelopes, when Henning decided to crawl back to the comfort of the canvas.

Morgan followed and let go with a salvo of solid slugs to the nape of the Henning neck. That gentleman gave an excellent imitation of an Egyptian slave bowing to the master every time the Morgan mitt massaged his neck. He hit him seven or eight times in all before he bifled him once again; for a long, long time.

Referee Takes a Hand

Then Referee Powers stepped into the picture. He tried to stop the marshal marine by holding his hand high in token of victory but Le Tour was in no mood for such nonsense. He was still bitter out of the way, and none more bitter than he at blowing up the northern part of the Henning anatomy. Powers stopped Morgan and again the marine pushed him away to administer more punishment.

Finally Powers succeeded and awarded the fall and match to Henning by twisting in pain on the floor. Henning returned came to the ring and attempted to assist Referee Powers to the dressing rooms and after it was ascertained that he was quite uncertain, the boys were sent out for medical aid.

Koch-"Krippler" Davis won an unpopular decision over Warren Beckworth, while Referee Powers took the nod from Jan Gotch in a fast "hangman's holiday" preliminary.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Corvo, Sports Editor

Bill Klem, "The Old Arbitrator" was corralled by a number of the gentlemen of the press in a hotel room the other evening and the fourth estaters prevailed on the veteran umpire to give them a resume of his experiences and advice.

• • •

Bill healed the experiences pitch but the advice fell on deaf ears. He offers some gems that should be matched, framed and hung nearly digested by the lads of the Giant 'n Red baseball entrepreneurs and everywhere. Here they are:

• • •

"Suspicion of what happened yesterday, when your star on the field, through or close to the bench always gives the players the time of day by saying, 'How are you fayro' and keep right on going.

• • •

"Remember you are a contributing for the baseball only and it must be done in a business-like manner in order to establish yourself."

• • •

"Be in stride on every pitch. This enables you to have confidence and to get set to time and judge a play as well as to be ahead of anything that may happen.

• • •

"When umpiring back of the plate, after the third out, turn quickly and run to the infield and shout, 'All right, let's go', and just as quickly take your position behind the 35 to 38 feet back of the plate.

• • •

"Stay away from the huddle when a manager is talking to pitchers. When you think they have had ample time to solve their problems, move in stand from your position, 'All right, that is all', and remain even close to the huddle, an umpire has lays himself open to sarcasm.

• • •

"Never talk fight or use bad language. No fighting umpire ever established himself.

• • •

"The answer to a player talking fight is: 'Are you talking to me?' I thought you were a ball player.

• • •

"When convenient to do so, always look away from a player you intend to throw out. Should he turn to argue, walk away. Also look away after calling a strike.

• • •

"Don't go to the bench when it becomes necessary in order a player can cool off. When you do, you put yourself open to harpe or arguments. Command from your position and wait and wait until he goes.

• • •

"Don't let them gang you. Send them away and until they go, say nothing. The manager or captain is among them, which is practically always the case, say, 'I'll talk to you.' Explain to him and say, 'All right, let's go.'

• • •

"Be very careful about calling 'Time' when you are the umpire. Once the pitcher is set, his feet are set for the pitch all through. The rules govern anything that might happen. When you call 'Time' he has a right to step plate umpire or the pitcher sees you.

• • •

"Don't run two or three steps at first base when a pitcher tries to catch a runner off. Remain there until the ball and when the ball comes over, take just one step at the ball, ground and crunch.

• • •

"The foremost duty an umpire should always be used for a protector, and aim garnet should be extra well padded.

• • •

"When a fair or foul hit ball is close to the line, demonstrate quickly by pumping with arm and fist that the umpire should also denote as quickly as possible what he called it in a like manner. Should the play where it hit be near you, point with fingers and shout, 'That's a fair (or foul) ball.' The reason for this demonstration is to correct a player or any body's mind that is or might be prejudiced.

• • •

"Always be in it that the bonus pilots and bosses are white and when the soil is damp and they become discolored, call on the groundkeeper to whiten them as often as is necessary. Pay strict attention to this, especially in resuming play after rain. You may think it O. K. because you are only a few feet away, but spectators who are a long distance from it, appreciate this set immensely. It is a 'hazard' for an umpire to time and judge close plays when the lads are not white.

• • •

"It has long since been proven in a positive way that the best way to judge a ball or strike is from a crouch between the catcher and the batsman, with a weave or an up-and-down movement as the ball comes to the batsman.

• • •

"Please be reminded that we have a Special and Strict rule pertaining to any player, coach or manager coming from his position or from the bench to argue (or hold up the game) with the Umpire-in-Chief with is called ball or strike.

• • •

Joseph Herbert Galli takes a long distance look from far off Melbourne, Australia, to distant South Africa in order to pay tribute to a remarkable British Empire star. He writes:

"Denis Shore of South Africa is one of the world's most amazing athletes. Holder of the Union quarter-mile record for 100 yards and 48.9 for 440 yds. at 47 (!), he has maintained better now — after sixteen years of top-class performance — than ever before, constantly improving in speed and stamina. This, mind you, is in spite of more than a thousand hours of flying each Italy and North Africa during four and a half years of service.

"It is doubtful if there ever has been a runner in the world the equal in stamina and in variety of distances and over such an unusually long period. All honor to Denis Shore, South African athletic phenomenon."

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Ken Chase, Boston Red Sox — Blanked the Cardinals with two scratch hits with a 3-0 victory.

Oscar Judd, Chicago Cubs — Gave 4-2 victory over the Dodgers and helped his own cause with two hits, driving in a run and scoring another.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

New York: Jersey Joe Walcott, 191, Camden, N.J., outpointed Tommy Gomez, 182 1-2, Port Tampa, Fla. (3).

Buffalo: Phil Muscato, 163, Buffalo, T.K.O. Jackie Cranford, 185, Washington, D.C. (1).

Syracuse: Arturo Godoy, 203 1-2 Chile, T.K.O. Tony Musto, 190, Blue Island, Ill. (6).

Flint, Mich.: Jock Leslie, 125 1-2, Flint, knocked out Willie Anderson, 116 1-2, Detroit (5).

SACO MARINES WILL PROCEED IN THE PLAYDOWNS

Defeat Flashes for Third Straight Time by a 5-3 Count

SACO Marines, softball squad city champions this season, won the right to represent the City in the OMHA Intermediate "A" playdowns at the Fair Grounds last night when they defeated the Army and Navy Flashes 8-3 for their third straight victory in the City series.

SACOS will meet the winner of the Kingston DVA — Canadian Legion series which starts in three-of-five series tonight, in the first round of the playdowns.

Last night's game was the closest affair in the three - win series, according to the dope, but looked for a while as if the Sedone crew, with Ruth Needham and Matt. Geroe reporting for duty, might pull out with a win.

In the second inning in a one-run lead in the third and took a three-run margin in the next innings. Then with the score tied at three-all and two outs looking like anybody's ball game, they committed two costly errors, passed a couple of runs, and incidentally the ball game, to the Flashes of Trenton.

Marty Halloran, SACOS relief hurler, was credited with the turn of the table. One of those rare occasions happened in the fifth when Flasher Reserve Jim Hunter to the showers in the fifth after he helped him for nine runs and three runs. Halloran went to the rescue and fanned Flasher Bob Clarke for the balance of the game allowing but one hit.

Flasher Catcher Ralph Campbell on the mound, and apart from occasional slip, it went. He was hurled a good game. SACOS got good support from Dale Delaney, and with a little better support behind him he might have had a better fate.

Runners Left on Fifth

It happened in the fifth inning when SACOS left seven aboard when Rowbotham easyed a peg to second to nip a runner trying to steal a shortstop, dashed to the bag for the throw but the ball went through the first baseman's legs like a pair of upholstered antelopes, when Henning decided to crawl back to the comfort of the canvas.

Morgan followed and let go with a salvo of solid slugs to the nape of the Henning neck. That gentleman gave an excellent imitation of an Egyptian slave bowing to the master every time the Morgan mitt massaged his neck. He hit him seven or eight him twice; he bifled him once again; for a long, long time.

Referee Takes a Hand

Then Referee Powers stepped

Jackie Robinson Negro Infield Star, Is Batting League

New York, Aug. 17. (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Negro infield star of Montreal Royals, continued his sensational hitting during the last week and recaptured first place in the International League's individual batting derby.

The Royal second baseman rapped out 12 hits in 29 trips to the plate including games of Wednesday to boost his average from .367 to .371 while Newark's Al Clark, last week's pace-setter, dropped to the runner-up slot as his average tumbled from .373 to .359.

Baltimore players led the circuit in four important offensive departments. Howitzer Howie Moss is tops in homers, 31, Al Chocbi in triples, 12, Ed Rizzo in runs batted in, 93 and most hits, 137. Marv Rackley of Montreal is the loop's batting champion with 353 to his credit.

Relief Pitcher Alex Mustafik of Newark continues to lead the hurlers with a six won and none lost mark. Among the regulars, Steve Nagy of Montreal, has the best record, 16 and 4.

Southpaw Jim Prendergast of Syracuse has won the most games, sixteen.

6 JAPANESE HANGED FOR WAR CRIMES

Singapore, Aug. 16 — (AP)—Six Japanese war criminals were hanged today at Changi jail. Among them were Maj. Nakamura Kinji and Capt. Murakawa Shisehiro, who were convicted of murdering an American flier at Ches Major Fastball League en games.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Aug. 17 — (CP) — Only one major league baseball club boasts four Canadian-born pitchers and unfortunately for those workmanlike Canadians—Phil Marchildon and Dick Fowler — the team is the lowly Philadelphia Athletics.

But the Canucks can't be blamed for the poor showing of the American League doormats — because them Marchildon and Fowler have gained approximately half of the Athletic victories to date.

As the club's top hurler, Marchildon, the Brantford native, threw his fast one in Penetanguishene, Ont., has eight wins against 13 defeats, while Toronto - born Fowler is credited with the same number of wins but is charged with one more loss.

Appearing in 31 games and 153 innings this season Phil has pitched 10 complete games including one shutout, allowed 125 hits, walked 81 and struck out 65. Dick has hurled 12 complete contests in his 171 innings, struck out 71 and issued 58 free passes to first base.

• • •

Flourishing fast ball; in Toronto New York baseball scouts flight on a diamond within hitting range of Lefty Grove's Baltimore Major Baseball League teams perform three night weekly to crowds averaging 7,000 fans but bring their own camp chairs, hang from trees or use the evening paper to squat on the grass.

Although the league rates scant space in the daily press compared with the professional baseball spots, the ballsters outdraw the International League baseballers consistently. One of the reasons for this is that there's only a silver collection at the baseball games but a dime you have a chance to win a pair of nylons.

But chief reason for the fans arriving an hour before game time to obtain a bleacher seat is that the league produces some of the best softball in the Dominion.

Sport to Seminary: One of junior hockey's brightest stars — lightweight defenceman Ted McLean of Toronto St. Michael's — is leaving from the sport next winter. Offered a chance to turn professional with Toronto Maple Leafs, instead Ted will enter the Basilian Seminary next month to study for the Roman Catholic priesthood.

Ted will stand he batted with St. Mike's in a losing cause to Winnipeg Monarchs for the Dominion title, his head swathed in bandages for all seven games.

ATTENTION VETERANS

SUNDAY AUGUST 18th DECORATION — DAY

FALL IN ARMOURIES LAWN 1.45 P. M.

Belleville and Kingston Salvation Army Bands in Attendance

A18,19

FUN FOR ALL AT THE CARNIVAL

RIDES — AMUSEMENTS — GAMES

at the

C.P.R. Station Grounds

SOUTH CHURCH STREET

Aug. 19th to 24th

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

If St. Louis Cardinals Never See Another Lefty it Will Be too Soon For Eddie Dyer

Every Time Red Birds Had a Chance to Overtake the Dodgers a Southpaw Stopped Them

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

If St. Louis Cardinals never see another left-handed pitcher, it will be all right with Manager Eddie Dyer.

During the past four weeks, the runner-up Redbirds had three chances to wrest the National League lead from Brooklyn Dodgers and blew them all. On each occasion it was a southpaw who stopped them.

The latest unorthodox hurler to check the Cards is Ken Heintzelman who defeated them for the third time this season with a brilliant three-hit shutout. The Pirate portsider had a no-hitter going until the eighth. Elvis Fletcher, with a double and triple accounted for all Pittsburgh runs as the Pirates won their sixth straight game.

But that the Cards could be worse off for a scheduled daylight contest, preceding the evening game, was postponed because of rain. The Bucs had lefty Fritz Ostermueller, a two-time winner over the Cards, ready to shoot at the Birds.

Sweet Revenge

A Philadelphia victory meaning time and a half pitching assignment was sweet revenge for the Quakers. Having lost the 19-straight mark, the Phils counted for the Yanks' lone run with his 13th home run, strained a nerve in his right arm trying to head off Bobby Doerr in the fifth inning and was forced to leave the game. He will be out indefinitely.

Detroit Tigers bunched three of their six hits for a pair of runs in the second inning and fed Louis Chicago White Sox 3-1.

Cincinnati Reds, who lost 21 of 22 games to the Cubs last year, gained a 3-2 victory over their tormentors behind Ed Heusser for their seventh triumph in 17 meetings with the Cubs this year.

One scheduled night game in each league was postponed by rain. Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns were not scheduled.

Major League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting: Musial, St. Louis, .372.
Runs: Musial, St. Louis 83.
Runs batted in: Slaughter St. Louis 88.
Hits: Musial, St. Louis 161.
Doubles: Musial, St. Louis 33.
Triples: Musial, St. Louis 13.
Home runs: Mize, New York 22.
Stolen bases: Reiser, Brooklyn 26.
Pitching: Dickson, St. Louis; Rowe, Philadelphia and Higbe, Brooklyn, 7-3.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting: Vernon, Washington, .344.
Runs: Williams, Boston 114.
Runs batted in: Williams, Boston 104.
Hits: Peckin Boston 138.
Doubles: Vernon and Spence, Washington 36.
Triples: Edwards, Cleveland 11.
Home runs: Williams, Boston 31.
Stolen bases: Case, Cleveland 25.
Pitching: Ferriss, Boston 20-4 .833.

Baseball Results

(By The Canadian Press)

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Boston	80	34	.702
New York	66	46	.589
Detroit	63	47	.573
Washington	55	58	.487
Cleveland	55	59	.482
Chicago	50	63	.442
St. Louis	47	66	.416
Philadelphia	33	79	.295

Friday: New York 1, Boston 4; Washington-Philadelphia, postponed, rain; Chicago 1, Detroit 3.
Saturday: New York-Boston; Washington-Philadelphia (3); St. Louis-Detroit; Chicago-Cleveland.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Brooklyn	69	43	.616
St. Louis	65	43	.602
Chicago	57	53	.523
Boston	54	53	.505
Cincinnati	50	59	.459
New York	48	62	.436
Philadelphia	47	61	.435
Pittsburgh	44	61	.419

Friday: Boston-New York postponed, rain; Philadelphia 4, Brooklyn 3; Cincinnati 3, Chicago 1; Pittsburgh 5, St. Louis 0 (2nd postponed, rain; Pittsburgh 3, St. Louis 0.
Saturday: Boston-New York; Philadelphia-Brooklyn; Cincinnati-St. Louis; Pittsburgh-Chicago.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Montreal	83	41	.669
Buffalo	82	41	.667
Newark	65	61	.516
Baltimore	63	60	.513
Syracuse	64	62	.508
Toronto	60	69	.465
Rochester	50	73	.407
Jersey City	46	78	.371

Friday: Newark-Montreal, postponed, thunderstorms; Baltimore 4-7, Toronto 5-11; Syracuse 2-11, Buffalo 4-8; Jersey City-Rochester, postponed.
Saturday: Newark - Montreal (3); Baltimore-Toronto; Syracuse-Buffalo.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Milwaukee 0-1, Louisville 1-4; Kansas City 2, Indianapolis 3; Minneapolis 1-1, Columbus 4-3; St. Paul 4-4, Toledo 7-12.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE

Portland 1, San Francisco 8; Oakland 2, Sacramento 9; Seattle 4-1, Hollywood 8; Los Angeles 8, San Diego 7.

BASEBALL

NEXT WEEK

MONDAY
Aug. 19—LATTA vs. RCAF

TUESDAY
Aug. 20—JUNIORS vs. RCAF
At Fair Grounds
Aug. 20—LATTA vs. NAPANEE
at Napanee

WEDNESDAY
Aug. 21—NAPANEE vs. BATA
at Batawa

THURSDAY
Aug. 22—LATTA vs. JUNIORS at Alemite

SATURDAY
Aug. 24—BATA vs. NAPANEES
at Napanee

ALL GAMES @30 P.M.
Admission 25c. Children 10c

SEE

"BLUE AGAIN"

Winner of the $50,000.00 Santa Anita Derby

vs.

Don Axworthy — Collie G — Sir Peter M — The Count B and others

IN THE FREE FOR ALL AT DUFFERIN PARK TORONTO

NEXT

WEDNESDAY

(AUG. 21ST)

ALSO

Canadian Standard Bred Two-Year-Old Futurities

ALSO

Hon. Earl Rowe's "Van Riddell"

13 HEATS — FIRST HEAT 2 P.M.

Admission (Including Tax) $1.20 — Grandstand Free

EXCELLENT RESTAURANT SERVICE

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

When Elva Tyron is in distress, she pins her chances on a guess. And even with a plain finesse she seems to wind up in a mess.

After playing bridge for awhile, an important point will dawn on you. It is that every card you lead will not win a trick. Unless it is a top, a led card wins a trick only by the grace of others.

A non-top card can be won by a higher card in some other hand, not necessarily, however, if the higher card hand must play soon-er. The lower card may then win with a finesse.

A finesse is an attempt to win a trick with a card of a suit in which an opponent has a higher one. It is done by compelling such opponent to play ahead of your lower card.

There are several types of finessing situations. Sometimes the card to be finessed is led. Sometimes it is played after the higher one. Sometimes it is accompanied by a higher one. Sometimes not.

Try three of the different ways to handle the diamonds shown here:

NORTH
♠ A Q

WEST
♠ K 9
EAST
♠ J 10 8 7 6
SOUTH
♠ 5 4 3 2

First, suppose the ace in north is boldly led. It takes that trick. West will follow to a trick with the king. This happens so because the hand with the higher card plays ahead of the other.

Second, suppose south leads a diamond and west plays the king. That king is a gone goulding. It will be pocketed by the north ace. This happens because the higher card plays after the other.

Now, suppose south leads a diamond and west plays the nine and not the king. South need only play the queen to win that trick. It is a card that is lower than the king and won by a finesse.

A card of a suit (the queen) in which an opponent (west) has a higher one (the king) played in an attempt (successful in this case) to win a trick is a finesse. That's a finesse.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 31 (AP)—Girls, if you think you could fit into the "molded way" of Barbara Stanwyck's gal, there may be a chance for you in pictures.

Whereas women used "molded sex" Let Edith head, the brittle, bright fashion designer, explain it:

"Molded sex is what I call the pout-wear clothes I designed for Barbara's next picture, 'The Other Love.' We have molded sex through a strange period of un-dressing of our women, cutting away on materials. It's time we realized the value of subtlety in dressing.

"For molded sex we follow the Greek method of using clothes to the body beautiful. There's a great deal more charm and sex in what you can't see than in what you are forced to see."

But the problem is that Barbara would have to model 29 gowns. She wants a vacation, so Enterprise Productions is seeking an exact double, who also will get a part in the picture.

Cecil B. De Mille gets back in a Biblical vein with "Samson and Delilah," his next. . . . Bing Crosby was buying drinks for his hole-in-one at Bel-Air. . . . Vic Mature hired a sailboat and is hitting the high seas (Catalina).

Feedbag Note: Ryan's Stables, Pegay's new eating joint, will have stalls instead of booths.

Jimmy Durante is taking roller skate and bicycle lessons for "This Time for Keeps" story. Jimmy: "Can't teach an old dog new tricks, eh!"

LIFE can Begin AFTER 40, If..

Poisons left in your system by faulty kidneys may cause nagging backache, leg pains, dizziness, getting up nights, swollen ankles, puffiness under eyes, headaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, or burning, scanty or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these annoying symptoms bother you. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for kidneys and are recommended the country over. Get Doan's Pills today! They help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

DANCE
AT READ
MONDAY, AUG. 19th
Under auspices of C.W.L.
Richardson's Orchestra
Lunch. Admission 35c and 50c
A1V-2t

In Manhattan

By PAT USSHER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Aug. 17 (CP)—Mid-August, with Manhattan, the summer doldrums, is a fit time for theatrical people to pause either to count their blessings or to bemoan their ill fortune.

Among the blessings is the fact that there are a number of reliables and good established playwrights. When the new ones appear to fail, there are always the old standbys. Take, for instance, Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, a pair who have collaborated or produced separately many a notable entertainment.

Their recent melodrama, "Swing Song"—got lukewarm notices from the critics but it still is running comfortably on Broadway. Now they are working on a revival of their successful play, "The Front Page," which will open at the Royale Theatre Sept 4.

In addition to this, Ben Hecht's pageant, "A Star is Born", will have the leading role with the actress as he wrote it, a dramatization of victims of German oppression.

Openings and reopenings:

A data has been fixed for the new season's most important event yet announced—the revival of Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh." The great dramatist's first new play in 12 years opens at the Martin Beck Theatre Oct. 9 as a Theatre Guild production. Rehearsals start Sept. 3 under direction of Eddie Dowling.

A revival of "Cyrano De Bergerac" is scheduled to have its first night at the Alvin Theatre Oct. 8. Prior to arriving on Broadway the Jose Ferrer production is booked to play in Toronto Sept. 30, following rosd appearances in Buffalo and Detroit.

Sea Change: Many a play that has registered an immediate hit on Broadway has been a flop in London and vice versa, a classic example of this change brought on by an Atlantic crossing is the success in London of "Ladies-Up Girl," which ran for 28 losing weeks in New York.

Elsa Shelley's play on the consequences of juvenile delinquency is a far cry from a good start in London when Queen Mary attended. Banner Speaker, Daily Herald columnist, quoted her as saying: "I have not enjoyed a play so much in years."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 17. (AP) — Frankie Parker is upsetting both tennis dopesters and the hopes of a few tournament chalmers by going into the defence of his national championship with virtually no practice on grass courts. . . . Frankie figures he'd better to keep from going stale than to get the extra drills in he avoided tournaments from Spring Lake up to next week's national doubles . . . If Mickey Vernon wins the American League batting title this year, he'll be the second player in three years to do it the first season he hit over .30. Vernon's best age for it .299 and Lou Boudreau beat .300 in 1944 for the first time to win the crown.

Quote, Unquote

Steve O'Neill's explanation of the "Secret" of the Red Sox success: "They wait until Lee Ma-ki pitched and then they bit the ball out of it."

Weekend Notes

This year's football speed record (especially on grass) probably belongs to George Terlep, who sprinted backed for Gene Lakes last Fall. He already has appeared at Iowa, Illinois, Notre Dame and the Buffalo Bisons' camp this Summer . . . Gene Wainert, son of the Villanova Coach who is pitching some fine baseball for his dad in the Philadelphia Industrial League, wouldn't listen when several big league scouts approached him. Pop Wainert figured that Gene would be pretty good for second son after two years in the armed forces . . . When a lightweight war vet, Jim Wolf, asked Penn State's Bob Higgins how about organizing a 150-pound football team, Bob moaned: "What would I do for Varsity players then?"

AT THE McCARTHY—Andy Devine and his two sons, Ted and Dennyy, are featured by Twentieth Century-Fox Technicolor release, "Canyon Passage" currently playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

BRUCE KONOPKA REGAINS BATTING EYE FOR TORONTO

Leafs Stretch Win Streak To Five by Defeating the Orioles Twice

(By The Associated Press)

Bruce Konopka, who made stops at Philadelphia and San Diego before coming to Toronto Maple Leafs, apparently has found his pre-war batting eye since coming to the International league.

The husky first baseman of the Leafs a United States navy veteran, had jumped his batting average 40 points from .314 to .354 in his last three games by banging out nine hits in 13 trips to the plate.

The 26-year-old first sacker aided the sixth-place Leafs in stretching their winning streak to five games last night by clouting out six hits in eight appearances at the plate as Toronto swept a twin bill from fourth-place Baltimore 6-4 and 12-7.

In a twin bill at Buffalo, Syracuse Chiefs and the Bisons split, with the Chiefs taking the second game 11-6 after losing the first contest 4-2.

Trailing 2-0 going into the sixth frame of the kid-litter, the Bisons staged a four-run rally with Johnny Antonelli's three-run four-bagger highlighting the uprising to win the games and enable young Art Routteman to gain his 16th triumph of the season.

Earl (Double no-hit) Harrist started the nightcap for the Chiefs and received credit for his 12th victory of the year although he gave way to Johnny Wittig in the eighth when Buffalo rammed home three runs.

Other scheduled games were postponed on account of rain.

N. Y. BOWLER WINS

Toronto, Aug. 17 (CP)—Tom Stirrat, youthful Niagara Falls, N.Y., bowler, yesterday put on a brilliant display of draw shots to come from behind and defeat Reginald Sedgewick of West Toronto for the Rice Trophy in the Provincial Lawn Bowling Tournament.

In the other singles finals held last night at the Toronto Boulevard Club, Sandy Blake of Hamilton Roselawn won the Roden trophy and J. Beacom of Toronto Kew Beach carried off the newly-presented McLean Memorial Trophy.

The 12th annual Provincial Lawn Bowling Tournament came to a close after five days and nights of fine bowling amounting to more than 1200 games played—253 in the last day.

MEMBERS OF BAND SHOT

Athens, Aug. 17 —(AP)— Five soldiers and four civilian members of an anarchist band condemned to death last week by a military court for participating in an attack on a military camp at Ponto-Kerasaia, near Kilkis, were executed Friday by a firing squad at Kilkis. More than 40 officers and non-commissioned personnel were slain in the attack on the camp.

Despite Bad Back Nelson Preparing For Tournament

(By The Canadian Press)

Despite the return of a back ailment, Byron Nelson of Toledo was preparing today for his third Professional Golfers' Association title at Portland, Ore., in the annual P.G.A. competition which opens there Monday with the 120-man field teeing off for 63 qualifying-berths. The big shotmakers are there to make it tough for him, however, leading favorites being Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Ben Hogan and George Fazio.

The record for the course was made by Hogan last year when he blazed through an invitation tournament in 261, a mere 27 under par and 14 strokes better than Nelson, the runner-up.

Steward Tom Shehan followed above the field in a helicopter in yesterday's feature at Rockingham Park, Salem, N.H., as scheduled, and the horses did not seem to mind as Gothic won the event to pay $4.60 for first. A cameraman in the machine shot pictures throughout.

HAVE YOUR PICTURE TAKEN

See yourself as others see you by having snapshots made of different stages of your swing.

By ALEX MORRISON

"If nothing else, at least look like a golfer!"

It's a trite old saw, but there is a wealth of good advice in it. For if you are swing and look like a golfer" there is no reason why you shouldn't show improvement in your game. Swinging, as I've said so many times, is the thing in golf. And if you're having trouble you may be sure you are not swing that club properly, and it is difficult, naturally, for the golfer to "see" what he himself is doing wrong, therefore he must seek the aid of others to point out the errors of his way. The golfer, whose swing has gone awry, may know the fundamentals of the correct swing, but he naturally ful factor in explaining a point cannot tell what he is doing wrong.

One way of finding out is to have pictures made of the various parts of the swing and then they and more than likely you will readily spot the flaw or flaws. You certainly will see whether or not you "look like a golfer."

I've been photographing golfers in action for over 30 years, and photographs have given me information about pupils I could not have acquired from any other source. Naturally, with my long training as a teacher, I could spot faults immediately, but often the camera "saw" much better than I. Photographs, what is more, correct by the pupil.

Any member of your family or a friend, can take the pictures of your swing. The main point is to get as large as large as possible on your negative, with the camera facing at right angles to your line of play. Have several snaps taken beginning with your starting position, then top of the backswing, impact and down swing and finally the finish. These pictures will be a valuable lesson inasmuch as they will record positions and movements of your body, the main source of failure or success for all shots.

ever that they "might play an important part in the bulbar cases, which cannot be treated in iron lungs."

The vests, developed by John D. Akerman, head of the aeronautical engineering division at the university, consist of double layers of neoprene-treated nylon. Placed over a patient's chest, air is pumped in and out by a pulsator at a breathing rate of about 20 times a minute.

160,000 People" Recommend HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

At Household Finance you borrow $20 to $300 entirely on your own signature or bankable security needed. Stop in or write for your loan by phone. Usually you get your money the same day.

Monthly repayments based on the 1941 Table

Total Unpaid Balance	Choose a monthly payment plan
	6	12	18	30	24
$ 20	$3.39
30	5.08
40	6.77	$3.57	$2.42
50	8.46	4.46	3.03
100	16.92	8.92	6.06
150	25.38	13.38	9.09	$7.07
200	33.84	17.84	12.12	9.43
250	42.30	22.30	15.15	11.79
300	50.76	26.76	18.18	14.15	$11.55
400	67.68	35.68	24.24	18.86	15.40

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE
Corporation of Canada
Licensed to do business in Ontario
127 Clarence St., Opp. Loblaws
Phone 1261 PETERBOROUGH, ONT.
Phone 1261 PETERBOROUGH, ONT.
M. E. Holt, Manager
Loans made to residents of nearby towns

Pneumatic Vests Tested For Use In Bulbar Polio

Minneapolis, Aug 16 —(AP)— War-developed pneumatic pressure vests fitted around the patients' abdomens are being experimentally used at University of Minnesota hospitals as possible treatment for the bulbar type of poliomyelitis, Dr. George Holt, physician at the university clinics, said Thursday night.

The vests have not been used enough to test their full effectiveness, Dr. Holt said, adding how-

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

B-E-L-L-E	McCARTHY	CAPITOL
"Do You Love Me"	"Canyon Passage"	"Woman of the Town"
Maureen O'Hara Dick Haymes Harry James	In Technicolor with Dana Andrews Susan Hayward	Claire Trevor 1.15 — 5.25
2.30; 5.15; 7.35; 9.30		"West of The Alamo" Jimmy Wakely 3.50 — 10.35

Starting MONDAY
2 HITS FIRST BELLEVILLE SHOWINGS

THE VIOLENT, UNVARNISHED TRUTH about the ordeal of thousands of young girls who suddenly lose every home ties for a life of dangerous thrills!

ADDED ATTRACTION

P. R. C. presents
James LYDON
Sally EILERS
Warren WILLIAM in Strange Illusion
ENDS TONIGHT
"Women of the Town"
"West of The Alamo"
CAPITOL
A 20TH CENTURY THEATRE

THE LIVING, LOVING, FIGHTING CONQUEST OF THE GREAT NORTHWEST!

WALTER WANGER presents
DANA ANDREWS
BRIAN DONLEVY
SUSAN HAYWARD
Patricia ROC
CANYON PASSAGE
in TECHNICOLOR

Today Cool McCARTHY ... Odeon Theatre

20c Plus Tax Till 6

AT THE BELLE—Centre of Attention—Maureen O'Hara is between the musical and romantic attention of Dick Haymes and Harry James in "Do You Love Me" the Technicolor release of a girl who said "yes" once too often and found herself in a four-sided triangle, arriving on the Belle screen today.

IT'S PACKED WITH ENTERTAINMENT
... IT'S LOADED WITH HIT SONGS

IT IS A HIT!

Today Glamour!

It's everywhere... IN THIS MUSICAL WITH A MAGIC ALL ITS OWN!

Maureen O'HARA Dick HAYMES · Harry JAMES in Do You Love Me in Technicolor!

A 20th CENTURY-FOX PICTURE

On the Same Program
BELLE WORLD NEWS
Terrytoon Color Cartoon
Excellent Passing Parade
"OUR OLD CAR"

25c UNTIL SIX AND TAX
BELLE FAMOUS PLAYERS THEATRE

MARK TRAIL

By Ed Dodd

LIL ABNER — And a Goodly Crowd Was There

By Al Capp

BRINGING UP FATHER —

By George McManus

POP — Surprising

By J. Millar Watt

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

BLONDIE — Hook Line and Sinker

By Chic Young

JOHNNY HAZARD

By Frank Robbins

TILLIE THE TOILER — A Tonsilectomy Might Help

By Russ Westover

Dotted Line Honeymoon

By Joseph McCord

CHAPTER 10.

A vision of Larry in the cafeteria came before her eyes...that formidable array of "civilized grub" weighing down his tray. How could her kitchenette ever satisfy him!

"Hey, you!" A musical voice dispelled Jacqueline's momentary problem. Virgie Blake stood in the doorway posing gracefully.

"Oh...Hello, Virgie."

"Say..." began the tall cigar stand saleswoman, a gleam of amusement in her dark eyes, "I came over to ask you something."

"What is it?"

"That's what's got me all upset. What is the strange power you have over men?"

"I don't know what you mean."

"No? I'm talking about your friend Mr. Cutter. He just came barging out of here looking like he'd been caught in a shower of pearls without his umbrella. How do you do it?"

"I didn't do anything," Jacqueline's laugh was a trifle forced.

"Says you. I've seen you time at your seashore here. We've strolled in and helped herself to a seat on the corner of the desk where she could keep a watchful eye on the cigar stand. "You know, it's something new to see you warm up to the trade."

"Is it?"

"Sure. But I don't blame you. He's a swell looking guy. I tried to make him myself," she added with a shameless smile. "Also good."

"What a pity," Jacqueline offered it soberly, but her eyes were alight with the humor of the situation.

"You said it. All the time I was working on him, he stood staring at you. Had the nerve to ask me your name. I could have crowned him with a cigar box."

"Oh, dear, Old he!"

"Uh...huh. I notice that two of you didn't lose much time. I'd like to know your secret."

"It's a gift." The little stenographer tried to dismiss it lightly. She placed the cover on her machine and lowered it into the case. Virgie, however, did not move.

"Is he married?"

Jacqueline looked up at her questioner thoughtfully. "I'm under the impression that he is," she said deliberately, "just from something he said the other day."

"I knew it! Those handsome brutes always are. I suppose he showed you a picture of the ball and chain, too. Let it drop out of his wallet accidentally, so you wouldn't be getting your hopes up."

"No. He didn't do that."

"Funny. And no picture of the children?"

"No!....Oh, excuse me darling. There's a customer secret."

Jacqueline ate a hurried dinner in a restaurant at a safe distance from the hotel, trying frantically to vision a menu that would satisfy a man and still be within the resources of her very diminutive kitchen and its appointments. Nothing seemed just right. He had eaten it in the cafeteria that undoubtedly catered for their wedding dinner. Quite out of the question. A chicken! Of course. She could get one from the delicatessen...Roasted. Sweet potatoes...Canned, if she had not forgotten how. Another vegetable and salad....

The world looked brighter.

Some of Edgar's rolls. Ice cream. Coffee.

"I want a roasted chicken tomorrow night," she was explaining to fat Mr. Hildebrand in the delicatessen, a little later. "It must be beautifully done, crisp. And have it ready at six sharp," she added importantly.

"Ah! It gifts company then!" beamed the jovial Hildebrand. "It shall be a beautiful fowl. I see to it myself, Miss. How high?"

"Gracious! I don't know. As big a chicken as a man likes."

Once within her room, Jacqueline stood looking about almost in despair at the newest prospect. So much to do! And everything must be nice.

Her eye fell upon Vince's picture on the mantel. There seemed to be a quizzical twinkle in his eyes.

"It's nothing to laugh at, Vince" she told him with a little sigh. "You your son-in-law is coming to dinner."

August Hildebrand kept his promise to Jacqueline about the chicken. It arrived from the delicatessen shop on the stroke of six and, even now, was in the oven being subjected to a careful heating. It looked beautiful.

The little hostess, wearing a frilly apron over her silk dress, cheeks pink from heat and excitement, scurried about the apartment in last minute preparations. The gate-leg table stood in the centre of the room, covered with snowy cloth and set with the Anthony family silver and dishes. Jacqueline blessed her own forethsight fervently in retaining sufficient china to serve a dinner for two.

And a real dinner!

Over and over she had checked the items of that menu on her nervous fingers or, with puckered brow, called the roll of the kitchen in the refrigerator. The fruit salad, the crisp celery, the olives. The dessert buried in ice and packed in cracked ice, reposing in the bathtub. What if salt should get into that container!

Harried glances at the clock on the mantel. Jacqueline never had appreciated what a task it was to have everything ready at one time. Perhaps she got used to it. Her mother never seemed to worry over meals...provided there was food in the house.

One more peep at the fowl. Sizzling. Oh!

A ring at the bell.

When the door was opened, there stood Larry. He seemed to fill the entire opening. A package under either arm. Grinning like a boy.

"My word!" was his greeting to his hostess. The smile vanished. He stood motionless.

"Won't you come in?"

"Oh yes....But you....."

The flush in Jacqueline's cheeks deepened.

"I forgot to take off my apron," she apologized in confusion. "I'm the cook and everything tonight," she added gaily.

"Please don't take it off," Larry blurted. "You're so pretty with one on. But you rather took me off my feet." He transferred the packages to one arm, clutched off his hat and closed the door. "Here. I brought you a few potatoes and some...candy. Never thought to ask if you have a sweet tooth!"

"Oh,(thank you! Of course I have....But you shouldn't have brought me. I'm reducing."

"You!" Larry's laugh filled the room.

It served to put both of them at their ease. The guest dropped into a chair and watched his new wife bustling about. She opened the flowers with eyes that sparkled, exclaiming over their beauty.

"We must have them on the table," she declared. "But you can't have any candy. Dinner is almost ready. I'm going to put it on the table now."

"Can I help? I'm handy around a kitchen."

"You're too big to get into this one," Jacqueline laughed. "No, indeed. You sit there and read your paper or smoke...anything you like. I won't be but a few seconds."

"I shall watch you," Larry returned significantly. Read a paper indeed! There was a chance to watch Jack! How beautiful she was just now....so different. What was the use...of anything?

And, at last, the dinner was on, Jacqueline looking over the table with one breathless last inspection. It seemed to be all right. Everything there. A swift retreat to the bathroom to divest herself of the apron, to peek at her shining hair in the mirror of the wall cabinet. Then, back again to stand behind her chair and summon her guest to his place. Little dreaming the peril in which she was involving herself, he invited laughingly, "Come and get it, Larry."

(To be Continued)

CJBQ

"The Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

CJBQ (1230 k)

SATURDAY NIGHT

6.00 p.m.—Table for Two
6.15 p.m.—News
6.30 p.m.—Music of Manhattan
7.00 p.m.—Home Folks Frolic
7.15 p.m.—Behind the News
7.30 p.m.—Do You Remember?
7.45 p.m.—In the Spotlight
8.00 p.m.—Sports Review
8.15 p.m.—Lum and Abner
8.30 p.m.—Touring the Clubs
10.00 p.m.—Dance Roundup
10.45 p.m.—Reverie
11.00 p.m.—God Save the King

SUNDAY

8.30 a.m.—Overnight News
8.45 a.m.—Salvation Nevvs
9.00 a.m.—Words and Music
9.30 a.m.—Your Favorite Hymns
9.45—News
10.00 a.m.—Pinkston Funeral Home Program
10.30 a.m.—Story of Yesteryear
10.45 a.m.—Music in three-quarter time
11.00 a.m.—Sunday Church in the Wildwood
11.30 a.m.—I Hear the Southland Singing
12.00 noon—Dinner Music
12.15 p.m.—News
12.30 p.m.—Sunday Kaye
1.00 p.m.—Sports Review
1.15 p.m.—G. Wright-Hammond Organ
1.30 p.m.—Allen Roth and Symphony of Melody
2.00 p.m.—Goldman Band
2.15 p.m.—Canadian Canadian Review
2.30 p.m.—Carson Robison
3.00 p.m.—Nick's Orch.
3.15 p.m.—Design for Dancing
3.30 p.m.—Symphonic Hour
4.15 p.m.—Reverie
4.15 p.m.—Charlie Barnett
4.30 p.m.—Hour the Southland Singing
5.00 p.m.—Melville Ministerial
5.30 p.m.—Children's Story Time
5.45 p.m.—Dancing With the Jesters
6.00 p.m.—Table for Two
6.15 p.m.—News
6.30 p.m.—Do You Remember?
6.45 p.m.—Table for Two
7.00 p.m.—The Sunday Players
7.45 p.m.—Master Singers
8.00 p.m.—Concert Hall of the Air
8.30 p.m.—In His Steps
9.00 p.m.—Dorothy McLeod
9.15 p.m.—News
9.30 p.m.—Preview of Tomorrow
9.45 p.m.—Abe Lyman's Orch.
10.00 p.m.—Xavier Cugat
10.15 p.m.—Eddie Duchin Orch.
10.30 p.m.—News Roundup
10.45 p.m.—Reverie

MONDAY, AUGUST 12

7.00 a.m.—Overnight News
7.05 a.m.—Up With The Sun
8.00 a.m.—News
8.15 a.m.—Breakfast Table
8.45 a.m.—Nush Hour.
9.00 a.m.—Sunbeam Revelers.
9.15 a.m.—Church in the Wildwood.
9.30 a.m.—Music for Dishwashing
9.45 a.m.—On The Mall.
10.00 a.m.—Let's Dance
10.30 a.m.—Pot Luck
10.45 a.m.—Betty and Bob.
11.00 a.m.—The Waltz Lives On
11.15 a.m.—Modern Romance.
11.30 a.m.—Lukewels & Hawaiians
11.45 a.m.—Ma Perkins
12.00 noon—Jacqueline Mudge
1.00 p.m.—Sincerely Kenny Baker
1.15 p.m.—Farm Fair
1.30 p.m.—News
1.45 p.m.—Luncheon Music
2.00 p.m.—Market Quotations
2.05 p.m.—Farm Fair
2.15 p.m.—Riding the Range
2.30 p.m.—Matinee with Belleville
2.45 p.m.—Dorothy Dreslar Orchestra
3.00 p.m.—Around the Bay
3.15 p.m.—Melody for Sirings
3.30 p.m.—Studio Party
4.00 p.m.—Magazine for Women
4.30 p.m.—Music of Manhattan
4.45 p.m.—Sports Topics
5.15 p.m.—Tek Time Topics
5.30 p.m.—Children's Hour
6.00 p.m.—3-2-1
6.30 p.m.—Children's Story Time
6.45 p.m.—Dancing With the Jesters
7.00 p.m.—Dance Music
8.00 p.m.—Table for Two

Network Programs

SATURDAY

4.30 p.m.
CFRB—Hunter, McKnight
7.30 p.m.
WGR—Academy Award
WBEN—Ask the Answer
CKEY—Journal Calls
CFRB—Jack and Amer
8.00 p.m.
CFRB—Garden Gale
WGR—Tony Martin Show
CKEY—Souvenir
8.30 p.m.
WGR—Hollywood Star Time
WBEN—Music and Memories
CFRB—Jack Benny
WBEN—Bernie West Carnival
9.30 p.m.
CFRB—Danny O'Neil

SUNDAY

—12:15 p.m.
WBEN—Barber Shop Quartet
—1.30 p.m.
CBL—Here's Music in the Air
WGR-CBS—People's Platform
—1:15 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—Farm Forum
—1.30 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—Chicago Round Table
—1.45 p.m.
WGR—Anderson Home
WBEN—Robert Merrill
—2.00 p.m.
WBEN—Carmen Cavalero
—2.30 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—One Man's Family
—3.00 p.m.
CFRB-CBS—Columbia Workshop
WBEN-NBC—Meet the Music
WGR—The National Youth Administration
—3.30 p.m.
WGR—Ernest, Armbruster Orch.
CBL—Church of the Air
CFRB—Hall of Two Cities
WKBW—Right Down Your Alley
CFRB—Vells Times
—4.00 p.m.
WBEN-CBS—The Family Hour
—4.30 p.m.
CKEY—Melody Time
CFRB—Time for Music
WKBW-ABC—Counter-Spy
—5.00 p.m.
CJBC-B-You'"Date With Music
CFRB—Silver Theatre
—5.30 p.m.
CFRB—Green Hornet
WGR—Canadian Short Stories
WKBW—Sunday Eve Party
—6.00 p.m.
WBEN—Screen Guild Players
—6.30 p.m.
WBEN-NBC—Tommy Dorsey
WGR-WKBW—Richard Lawless Drama
—6.00 p.m.
CFRB—Corliss Archer
CBL—Down a Time
WBEN, WGY-N—Merry-Go-Round
—7.00 p.m.
WKBW—Album of Music
WGR—Star Theatre
—7.30 p.m.
CFRB—Hermit's Cave
WBEN—Hour of Charm
CFRB—Take it or Leave it
WGR—Vox Pop
WKBW—Hour of Mystery
—8.00 p.m.
CBL—Lucky Strike
—10.30 p.m.
WGR—To the People
—11.00 p.m.
CFRB-CBS—News: Mickey Lester
—11.15 p.m.
CFRB—Richard Ferguson
WABC—Joan Brookes

COOPER SHOP BURNS

Goderich, Aug. 17 — (CP)— Damage was estimated at over $3,000 when fire believed to have been started by combustion in coal yard here early today. Firemen fought the blaze for over three hours to prevent flames from reaching nearby property.

The building, one of the oldest in Goderich, was used as cooper shop over half a century ago.

TO LET

2 ROOMS, 9TH CON. THURLOW (1) with cooking stove, (2) with heating stove; cooking stove supply. Phone 2-r-21, Canal. Clarence Anderson, R.R. 2, Frankford. A17-3t

COTTAGE ON MORA LAKE, AVAILable Aug. 18th. Apply Lorne Kelly, Phone 2-r-13. A17-3t

EXCHANGE RENTAL, NICE 6 ROOM modern house, Bloomfield. Phone 2-r-11, for similar accommodation in Belleville. Write Box 20, The Ontario Intelligencer. A15-tf

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

OPTOMETRISTS

DR. MAN E. EDWARDS, R.O.
DR. G. S. WONNACOTT, R.O.
OPTOMETRISTS
Methodist Church Building
OFFICE HOURS—10 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m.
WEDNESDAYS — 10 to 12 a.m.
And by Appointment.

CONTRACTOR

FRED ELGIE
BONDED BUILT-UP ROOFING CONTRACTOR
Phone 2-r-22
SOLLEVILLE — 2602

OLD TAVERN BAR-B-Q
BRIDGE ST. E. PHONE 2602
Steak, Chicken, Fish, Beer, Wine, Club or Bridge Party, is our Specialty. Dial 2602.

MEDICAL

DR. LILY B. MATHESON
202 PINNACLE STREET
Phone 342 BELLEVILLE
OFFICE HOURS:
1.30 to 3.30 p.m.
7.30 to 8.30 p.m.
Residence Phone 2-r-22

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY
9.30 a.m. Only
Dentist 9.30 a.m. Every 2 Others

ACCOUNTANTS

VIOLETTE and SAUNDERCOCK
General Accounting Service
Daily audits, financial statements, etc.
Bryson Bldg., Dial 9716
KINGSTON

A. M. RICHARDS & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Phone 3230 219 Front Street
BELLEVILLE

DAVID STONE & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Bank of Montreal Chambers
GEORGE ELGIE, — 202 FRONT ST.
Telephone 512

W. S. STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT
209 PINNACLE STREET
(Over Ontario Loan) Phone 389

PHILLIPS M. TILL
Certified Public Accountant
Sidney Ave, Phone 3894 BELLEVILLE

MILLER & STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS
82 Front St. 324 Dundas E. 88 Queen St.
Belleville, Ont. Toronto, Ont. Napanee, Ont.
Phone 1158 Phone 4-4181 Phone 84

CHIROPRACTOR

DR. WYATT, D.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist, Mineral Pools with hot and cold fresh air treatments at rooms, Radiant energy, Ultra violet, Infra red, Electrotherapy, Massage, Colonic irrigation. 286 Coleman St., Belleville. Phone 1804. Days by appointment.

INSURANCE

Any thought of fire loses half its terror when insured with one of Fire Insurance.
SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
84 Front St. Phone 68

HALL & EARLE
ACCIDENT and PLATE GLASS
Insurance. Phone 2-r-22
FRONT ST. PHONE 1134W

Wallbridge

Mr. Wallbridge Mr. and Mrs. Morley Phillips attended the regatta and banquet at Wednesday.

Several from this community attended the dance at Consecon Park, Oak Lake, Wednesday.

Mrs. Germain Moore and Mrs. Scott Moore and sons, Cannifton, visited on friends in Wallbridge on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. John Hogg has returned home after a three weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hendricks.

Mr. Leighton Smith, Toronto, is visiting a couple of weeks with grandfather, Mr. W. H. Nobes and his brother, Mr. Jack Smith family.

Miss Phillips has returned to summer school at Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Blair and family, Red Deer, Alberta, visited Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Elliott Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling, Colborne and Rev. T. Wallace, Cobourg, spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sine were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hall and family, Belleville, on Sunday.

Mr. E. Sine, Mr. R. Sine and Mrs. Kay, Belleville, called on Mrs. Sine, Sunday morning.

Mr. F. Harvey, Woodbridge, on Mr. and Mrs. R. Elliott, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Alexander and Mr. Markham, Mr. and Mrs. Foxboro.

WANTED

MOVER, APARTMENT OR ROOMS by permanent tenants, best references. Write Box 26 Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

ROOMERS, CONVENIENT TO C.N.R. Apply 208 Bridge St. E. Dial 3-r-12. A17-2t

ELECTRIC IRONER, PHONE 397. A17

PERMANENT POSITION BY STENOgrapher, with 2 years' experience in bookkeeping. Phone 2-r-22, Stirling, or write Box 1, Stirling. A17-3t

MAN OR BOY (18-30) FOR FARM work, by season or year. Write Box 24, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

TO RENT WITH OPTION OF SHIP-lap, small farm, 50 acres, good soil, city, Permanent tenants. Write Box 21, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

USED TRA WAGON IN GOOD CONdition. Write Box 18, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

URGENTLY REQUIRED FURNISHED apartment, 2-4 rooms, with or without laundry, Adelaide, Write Box 19, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

WILL PAY CASH FOR GOOD USED car $150 and down. Phone 787-r-4. A17

TRACHER NEEDS 4 OR 5 ROOMED apartment or small house. Write Box 31, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

HOUSEWORK BY DAY OR WEEK, thorough worker, good references. Phone 2-r-11, Stirling, or write Box 2, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

BY RESPONSIBLE WOMAN, SMALL washings. Phone 3982J. A17-3t

Civil Service Examinations

PREPARE NOW FOR POSITION AND PAY. Full examination coaching. Postal Clerk, Clerk and 2, Customs Officer, Immigration Officer, upon request. W. D. Lowthian, M.A., Civil Service Coaching School, Ottawa, Ont. A17-3t

RN A HAIRDRESSER
MANY WOMEN WANTED — Learn Beauty Culture. Short course, easy terms, Graduates assisted to good work. Catalogue free. Write Marinello Beauty Institute, 1450 Bay St., Toronto. Branches Hamilton, Ottawa.

Lloyd's Corn and Callous Salve gives immediate relief from corns and callouses. 50c at all druggists.

WANTED, SALESMAN RAWLEIGH business. Permanent if you are a hustler. For territory write Rawleigh's Dept. M-L-H-128-103, Montreal. A17-3t

LADY OR MEN BOARDERS OR rooms. Phone 3603M. A17-3t

GIRL OR WOMAN FOR GENERAL housework. Help washing or ironing. Apply 208 Bridge St. E. Dial 3-r-12. A17-2t

GIRL OR WOMAN FOR GENERAL housework in family of two. Apply 208 Bridge St. E. Dial 3-r-12. A17-2t

PARTY OF 3 OR 4 TOMATO PICKERS with own conveyance starting Thursday, Aug. 15th. Apply Harold Sunderland, R.R. 2, Frankford. Phone 30, Wire 107. A17-3t

GIRL OR WOMAN TO ASSIST WITH housework. Sleep in or out. Write Box 4, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

TIRES OR FOUR ROOMS URGENTLY required, references. Phone 2-r-11, phone 504. A16-3t

SALESLADY FOR ONE OF BELLEville's oldest establishments. Apply to wear department. Experience necessary. Permanent position for right party. Write Box 34, Ontario Intelligencer, stating salary preferred. Write Box 34, Ontario Intelligencer. A16-3t

STEWARD, MARRIED, WANTED FOR private club, live-in quarters, State salary expected. Apply Box 33, Ontario Intelligencer for interview. A16-3t

SALESLADY FOR LADIES WEAR shop. Write Box 32, Ontario Intelligencer. A16-3t

EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES — TWO EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES with personality plus appearance for our modern ladies wear store. Salary and commission. Apply Box 1, Ontario Intelligencer. A16-tf

BOOKKEEPER—FEMALE, WITH 3 to 5 or G. S. C. training. Write Box 22, Ontario Intelligencer. A16-3t

GIRL FOR TEA ROOM, OVER SEVENteen. He night work or Sundays. Apply in person only Dickens and Jones. A16-3t

STEADY PART TIME BOOKKEEPER, experienced woman. Write Box 30, Ontario Intelligencer. A15-3t

OLD-FASHIONED IRON STEWING pot with handle. Also bird cage the same. Box 38, Ontario Intelligencer. A15-3t

AT ONCE, EXPERIENCED STENographer. Apply Box 27, Ontario Intelligencer, stating age, experience, position with advancement. Write by Box 27 Ontario Intelligencer. A15-3t references.

HOUSEKEEPER FOR TWO ADULTS living in the country. Write Box 25, Ontario Intelligencer. A15-3t

HOUSEKEEPER FOR ELDERLY lady working couple. Will live well. Write Box 23, Ontario Intelligencer. A15-3t

INSTRUCTOR OR NURSE WITH teaching experience. General staff nurse, for chemical, surgical and medical wards, also nurse's aide, apply in position with full particulars stating full information. Salary expected to Superintendent, Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital. A15-3t

EXPERIENCED WAITRESS. APPLY in person only. Hotel Belleville. A15-3t

USED CAR BY PRIVATE PARTY FOR cash. Fair or good condition preferred. Apply 4-r-21 stating year and condition to Box 15 Ontario Intelligencer. A15-3t

CAPABLE WOMAN TO TAKE charge of Hotel kitchen and dining room. Supervisory capacity only. Good wages to responsible party. Experienced preferred but not essential. Apply Hotel Wellington. A15-3t

LIVE POULTRY, HIGHEST CASH prices paid. Orders given prompt attention. Apply or phone 2-r-11, James St., Belleville. Phone 504. A5-tf

FEATHERS AND FEATHER BEDS OF all descriptions, highest prices paid. Write Queen City Feather Company, 32 Baldwin St., Toronto. M30d

GIRLS TO LEARN SEWING, EXCELlent working conditions and good pay while learning. Apply Wm. Hall Shirt Co. D26d

MATTRESS FOR TEA ROOM, PREferred couple to operate. Apply Lattimer's Store. A17-2t

2 OR 4 ROOMED AIRTMENT, FURnished or unfurnished, urgently needed. Phone Bill Steadman, 61. J4-tf

G. B. Mattice, Ottawa, were the hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Phillips and Nancy spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hendricks, Foxboro.

FOR SALE

PRINCESS PAT COOK STOVE, warming oven and water front, in good condition. Apply 379½ Dundas E. A17-3t

EARLIEST GARDEN FARM IN EASTern Ontario, 200 acres, 1½ miles Consecon, on Highway 33, best quality soil, systematically tiled, large orchard, 2 creeks, never failing spring, tent truck creek, kitchen, stone house, 2 barns, silo, implement shed, immediate possession of house and 100 acres. Apply Box 29, Consecon, Ont. Telephone Ostrom, Colborne R.R. 1. A15-3t

100 ACRE FARM, STOCK, CROP AND implements. Write Box 35, Ontario Intelligencer. A15-3t

FOR SALE—ONE OF THE FINEST 146 ACRES of farm land in Ontario, 100 acres systematically tiled, balance workable, 2 creeks, never failing spring, large stone house for three hundred birds, 2 silos, 2 barns 40 x 100 and 40 x 60, 2 tenant sugar maples. About three acres of orchard, 2 miles from Consecon on gravel, walk. Anyone interested in buying this farm, apply to Box 28, Consecon, Ont. Telephone Ostrom, Colborne R.R. 1. A15-3t

McCORMICK-DEERING HOE-CROP cultivator for Farmall A tractor, complete with 4 G. Disc, Apply 4-r-21 Stirling. A16-3t

FORT-GOOD WITH CHILDREN, cheap. Phone 3127E. Apply 31 Geneva St. A16-3t

3 GENERAL PURPOSE HORSES. Cheap. Apply 167 Church St. or Phone 3127E. A16-3t

100 HYBRID PULLETS, ABOUT ready to lay. Phone 3-r-22. A16-3t

BOW BOAT, APPLY 194 W. DUNDAS St. after 6 p.m. A16-3t

FERGUSON TRACTOR, COMPLETELY overhauled. Apply Vernon Burtt, Phone 2-r-11, Stirling, or Trenton Airport. A16-3t

SMALL MODERN BEACH HOUSE, suitable for apt. or summer cottage, reasonable. Apply after 6 p.m. 12 Elmer St. A16-3t

100 LEG-ROCK COCKERELS, DRESSed, 25c lb. Phone 2-r-11, Stirling, or Plainfield, Phone Thurlow 19-r-11. A16-3t

PROPERTY FOR SALE IN CHERRY Valley, Prince Edward County, 4 miles from Picton, on paved county road close to church, school and general store, 9 room semi-bungalow in all conditions, 2 acres of land throughout, barn and hen house. Apply to Mrs. Ella Mallory, Real Estate, Bloomfield. A16,17,21,24

V BOTTOM MOTOR LAUNCH 28 FT. 100, 7 ft. beam, 6½ cyl. Under Continental motor. Apply 4-r-21 Stirling. Can be conditional fishing boat. Used quite well or better. Eric Grew, phone 1437, Brighton. A16-3t

4 PLATE HEAVY DUTY ELECTRIC stove, never used. Apply 62 S. Front St. A16-3t

BUILDING LOT 60' X 300'. APPLY 323 W. Bridge St. A16-3t

'31 DODGE SEDAN, SERIAL NO. 169366. Ceiling price $611. Harry Shaw, Roslin, Ont. Phone 13r22. A16-3t

'39 MARQUETTE SEDAN, SERIAL NO. 160264. Ceiling $986. 7 good tires, motor in good condition. Can be seen at Canada Packers, 27 Albion St. from 7 a.m. till 5 p.m. Apply to Mr. Jim Moore at Mrs. Downey's, 243 Albion St. A16-3t

DUCHESS APPLES, $2.00 PER BUSHel. Bring bags. Allen Young brothers, T. Thompson, 36 N. James St. A15-3t

ONE MOFFAT ANNEX, BURNS COAL or wood, with walnut dining room extension table. 301 Ann St. A15-3t

KENFREW-ACORN COOK STOVE, IN good condition. Apply Geo. Gaspell, Corbyville. A15-3t

'31 KELVINATORS, 1 YEAR OLD, 7 ft. and 34 ft. 1 National cash register, almost new. Bill Wilson, Carrying Place, Ontario. A16-4t

GOOD BUILDING LOT 80' X 132'. Apply 207 Dufferin St. A15-3t

1 MATCHED TEAM GREY PERCHeron horses, 6 years old, 1 black percheron mare, 8 yrs., 1500, broke, bred and raised. 1 set team harness. 1 springer Holstein cow, due 10 days. 1 Fordson, 1937, on 2 new tires. Phone 12r19. A15-3t Wooler, Ont.

QUANTITY OF HARD AND SOFT coal stoves. Apply 207 Dufferin St. H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn. A1-tfn

MOTORCYCLE, "HARLEY - DAVIDson," 1946 model, 74 cu. in. Apply Saunders, c/o Smith Transport, Ltd. A16

C. M. CAWKER & CO.

Montreal — Toronto Wire

38 Bridge St. East Phone 2902

STOCKS — BONDS

J31M-W-SO

FREE ESTIMATES

WE REPAIR
RADIOS — VACUUM CLEANERS — APPLIANCES

ART BOOTH AND SON

PHONE 150 121 FRONT ST.
(WARREN BUILDING)

NOW IS THE TIME

To check your insurance, residence, contents, auto, accident.

We cover you for fire, windstorm, water leakage etc., all in the fire policy. Let us explain it.

Jamieson Bone & Co.

157 Front Street

FINANCIAL

Do you require a PERSONAL LOAN
to assist in buying or improving your home, or for any other need?
THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE
Monthly Repaym ments to suit your convenience.
— Low Rates —
The business arranged and paid for by the bank,given of loan is good standing.

FOR SALE

LADY'S BLACK WINTER COAT, SIZE 20, fox collar, size 16. Phone 3982J. A17-3t

1931 HUDSON SEDAN, SERIAL 180207, motor and tires all new, will sell for less. Frank Bush, 358 Sidney St. Phone 818W. A17

36 DURANT, SERIAL NO. 1858. FOUR new tires, motor A1 condition. Will sell for less. P. E. Smith, 3982J. A17

SANAFOAM — "CONQUERS DIRT THAT Soap Cannot Conquer." Perfect cushion filler. Phone 3982J. A17

WALNUT COUCH AND ROCKER, 4 dining room chairs. Apply 139 Forder Ave. A17-3t

26-30 "NEW FAVORITE THRESHER", Apply to Breed Concrete Products, Bellford, R.R. 4, Telephone 1517 1-1. A17-3t

SINGLE BED, SPRING AND MATTress, one furnacette. Phone 3760R. A17-3t

PERCHERON MARE, CHOICE OF three, 3 to 8 years old. Apply Clyde Ross, Corbyville. A17-3t

'37 HUDSON SEDAN. SERIAL NO. 138030. $360 cash. Apply Frank Rose, gasoline station, Dundas St., Trenton. A17-3t

MAN'S C.C.M. BICYCLE, FUP TENT, porcelain top kitchen table, 2 pair curtain crams. Phone 38. A17-3t

NOTICE

Applications will be received for appointment of Collector of Taxes for the Township of Sidney up to August 31st 1946.
E. VANDERVATER, Clerk.
A15,17,20

AUCTION SALE

At 63A West Bridge Street, at 1.30 Wednesday, August 21st, Mr. M. Whitby, owner, 3 piece chesterfield suite, small table, 2 rugs, 2 linoleums, portable sewing machine, 2 kitchen cabinets, 4 bedroom suites, dressers and commodes, wicker suite, lawn mower, curtains and drapes. Terms cash.
NORMAN MONTGOMERY, Auctioneer.
A17,19,20 Belleville, Phone 1170

LOST

TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS, VICINITY Front St., Belleville. Office, Finder kindly return to this office and receive reward. A17

BLACK WALLET CONTAINING REGistration card, service discharge papers, chauffeur's licence, small sum of money. Earl Bush, Consecon, Ont. A16-3t

PERSONAL

Slender Tablets are effective, 3 weeks' supply $1 12 weeks $3, at ALL DRUGGISTS.

Look younger! Restore natural color to greying hair with Accentone Grey Hair Restorer. $1 at all druggists.

BUSINESS LINERS

LIST YOUR PROPERTY for sale with GEO. N. GORMAN (Realtor) — Associate member of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards and of the Canadian Institute of Real Estate Board. 196 Front Street, opposite the City Hall. Phone Belleville Phone 627. J30tf

INSURED LOANS
$20 TO $1,000
REDUCED RATES

Here's the last word in personal loans. When you pay the Household Finance Corp. the insurance at no extra charge guarantees your loan is paid in case of death. And our reduced rates are considerably less than the government maximum applying to monthly repayment loans. Come in or phone today.

Amount	6 Months	12 Months	18 Months	24 Months	30 Months
	Pym'ts	Pym'ts	Pym'ts	Pym'ts	Pym'ts
$ 100	17.71	9.26
200	35.42	18.52
300	53.13	27.78	19.29
400	70.84	37.03	25.72
500	88.55	46.29	32.15	25.12
600	106.26	55.55	38.58	30.15
700	123.97	64.80	45.01	35.17
800	141.68	74.06	51.44	40.20

CAMPBELL

FINANCE CORPORATION LIMITED
34 BRIDGE ST., EAST
Phone 2902
TED TURKINGTON, Branch Mgr.

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS

In The County of Hastings, in the Province of Ontario

To Wit:

By virtue of a Warrant issued by His Honour, the Judge of the County of Hastings, dated the 15th day of July, 1946, sale of lands in arrears of taxes in the County of Hastings will be held in Sales Hall in the City of Belleville on the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of the 30th day of September, A.D. 1946, pursuant to the provisions of The Assessment Act, and amendments thereto, for arrears of taxes is being published in the County Gazette on the 24th day of August, 1946, and that copies of the said list may be had from the Court House, Belleville.

Dated at Belleville, Seventh day of August, 1946.

JAMES C. BAILEY, Treasurer.
A15,17,20,21,22,24,27,29,31,Sept.3,5,10,12,19,26,28

FOR RENT

Fully equipped spacious garage, good location, on highway. Apply Box 36, Ontario Intelligencer. Write Box 3, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

WANTED

EXPERIENCED PLUMBERS

Highest wages. Best possible working conditions. Apply Box 34, Ontario Intelligencer.

A13,14,15,16,17

YOUR ELECTRIC MOTOR

ELECTRIC MOTORS UP TO 5 HORSEPOWER
REPAIRED and REWOUND
Efficiently and Promptly.

R. ODENDAHL

22 SINCLAIR STREET
Phone 2189-J

801 DIAMOND TAXI CO.

Mike's 195 LaMorre's 460

J27dodtf

Who Can Do It?

CARTAGE & TRANSPORT

SMITH and SONS — CLOSED PURE Store Vans. Phone 311. J

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS

WIRING & FIXTURES

W. H. OLIPHANT, 326 FRONT ST. Wiring, Fixtures.

KING ELECTRIC, TWEED. PHONE 102.

GARAGE

GRILLS' GARAGE — WALKER & Grills. 85 Main W. Phone 1133.

MACHINE SHOP AND REPAIRS

COOKE'S REPAIR SERVICE. CAR Keys, and Locks Repaired. 162 Front St. Phone 4216.

JOE'S WELDING AND BICYCLE Shop, 364 Front St., Belleville.

MUSIC

RESIDENT PIANO TUNER. BRUCE C. Ellis. Phone Tel. Bell. 1798.

RADIO REPAIRS

FRALICK'S RADIO SERVICE — "Radios for Every Make." 22 Bridge St. E. Phone 1491.

ROOFING & INSULATION

ALEX. W. CARMICHAEL, ROOFING and Flooring Contractor. 236-240 Pinnacle. Phone 1137, Belleville.

TIRE & BATTERY SERVICE

UPTOWN TIRE AND BATTERY — Retreading, Vulcanizing. 362 Front St. Phone 3026.

PORTABLE ELECTRIC and GAS WELDING.

Automobile and Machine Shop Work,
VALVE SEATS. — SCALE REPAIRS.

GREENLEAF CO.

10 Foundry St. Phone 82

CASH LOANS at BELLVUE FINANCE CORPORATION

You pay for nothing but a confidential, quick loan service.

Compare These Typical Loans

$100 pays	20 PMNT	$ 7.00 for 12 months
$200 pays	20 PMNT	$ 13.90 for 18 months
$300 pays	20 PMNT	$ 19.80 for 24 months
$400 pays	20 PMNT	$ 25.70 for 30 months

256½ Front Street
(Queen Victoria Building)
BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO

OFFICE HOURS
9 a.m. to 4.30 p.m., Saturday Mornings, Wednesday 9 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.
WILLIS JACKSON, Manager
Phone 617 Res. 1616-J

WANTED! 40 MEN

To help unload carnival.
Apply C.P.R. Station 7 o'clock Monday morning

RENTAL BATTERIES

150 OF THEM.
We cannot afford a fast charger, therefore slow charging is the only method used in our shop.

Fred's Battery Shop

140 FRONT STREET
PHONE 189

J24-1m

A-N-T-I-Q-U-E-S
BOUGHT and SOLD
L. G. ROBILLARD
44 QUEEN STREET
PHONE 338-M

A14-6t

FOR Car Ceiling Information
PHONE 716

J19tf

CLARE'S TAXI

24 HOUR SERVICE
PHONE 196

A3-1m

MONEY TO LOAN
On First Mortgage, City Property
INTEREST 5%
BELLEVILLE INSURANCE AGENCIES LIMITED
Dominion Bank Bldg. Phone 2077

A9-1m

WANTED

Experienced stenographer with some knowledge of bookkeeping for position as secretary. All applications will be treated strictly confidential.
RELIANCE INDUSTRIES LIMITED
11 Water St.

A15-3t

FRUIT MACHINERY CO., LIMITED
(WALKER FOUNDRY)

Custom Foundry and General Machine Shop.
Large Stock of Welding Shop Portable Electric and Acetylene.

168 FRONT ST. PHONE 69
BELLEVILLE

WANTED

An experienced Gestetner stencil-cutter to take complete charge of the duplicating department of a growing educational publishers.
THE JAMES YEATS LIMITED
Educational Publishers
175-181 Front St. Phone 555

ARTISTIC PICTURE FRAMING
FRED B. HUDSON
168 Bleecker Ave., Belleville.

GIRLS
16 to 35
YEARS OF AGE

YOUNG MEN
16 to 21
YEARS OF AGE

WANTED
For Light Factory Work

AN EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY TO GET A REGULAR JOB WITH YEAR-ROUND EMPLOYMENT AND GOOD WAGES.

FOR GIRLS

Light, interesting work among friends and neighbours, in Canada's famous daylight plant.

FOR YOUNG MEN

A real chance to learn a money-making trade while earning top pay.

GOOD CAFETERIA SERVICE
GOOD WORKING CONDITIONS

5 DAY WEEK — LONG WEEKENDS

Hospitalization and Insurance Benefits
BUS SERVICE TO AND FROM BELLEVILLE
Apply in person to the Personnel Dept. of the

BATA SHOE
COMPANY OF CANADA LIMITED
BATAWA ONTARIO

NEW COURSE IN VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

The Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School will offer at the opening of school, Sept. 3, under a special instructor, a course in Agriculture in Grade IX particularly for boys who intend to follow farming as an occupation. This course can lead to a Graduation Diploma.

Parents and students interested are urged to arrange for an interview to secure full information. Telephone 795.

A13,16,17

Public School Kindergartens
Birth Certificate Required

Parents desiring to enter pupils in the Public School Kindergartens are advised that a new regulation of the Board of Education requires that as proof of age, a birth certificate must be provided for inspection by the Principal.

Children may be admitted to Public School Kindergartens who are five years of age on or before Oct. 31, 1946. Exceptions cannot be made.

A15,16,17

Alex W. Carmichael

ROOFING, FLOORING and INSULATION CONTRACTOR
236 Pinnacle St. Phone 1137

FLOORS RESURFACED
- ROOFING
- FLOORING
- INSULATION REPAIRS.
- WATERPROOFING

Arthur A. Sills

285 COLEMAN STREET
PHONE 1354

FOR THE BEST
POULTRY FEEDS DOG & BIRD
FOODS and SUPPLIES
CALL AT Bishop's Seed Store
173 Front St. Phone 333

For High Quality Long Service Building Materials
ROOFING — ROLLBRICK SIDING and INSULATION
CALL 1653 FOR ESTIMATES

E. D. MOTT
LUMBER and BUILDERS' SUPPLIES.
276 Front Street

LOCAL AND LONG DISTANCE
LaPALM THE MOVER AND STORAGE
165 PINNACLE STREET (Every Load Insured) PHONE 1006

Elder Men in Britain Pay Tribute To Shaw Now in His Nineties

(New York Times)

The first greeting in a testimonial volume presented to George Bernard Shaw for his ninetieth birthday is from the pen of Gilbert Murray, who speaks of himself as "sitting at the gate of a typewriter, as old as myself and equally in need of repair." The distinguished British classicist is 80 years old. It is a respectable span of years, though dwarfed, of course, by the length of the day ahead. Another bearer of congratulations is W. R. Inge, the famous Dean of St. Paul's who has managed to fight his way valiantly through the gloom and tedium of 86 years. Even then he is a year junior to Sidney Webb, Lord Passfield, who sends his good wishes as a very old friend of nearly sixty years standing.

Their Long Battles

Laurence Housman writes about Shaw and the Victorians, which latter tribe Housman remembers very well at the age of 81. H. G. Wells was 80. After his we come down, through more respectable figures like John Masefield at 71 and Lord Dunsany at 68, to the very young people at the beginning of their second half-century, like C. E. Joad and Aldous Huxley.

Not all of Shaw's closest contemporaries started out, like Shaw himself, as Fabian Socialists, but some of the best-known men in the list just quoted did, probably, Sidney Webb and H. G. Wells, fall within other names, like that of Beatrice Webb, who was a year her husband's senior and died not very long ago, or the late George Lansbury, who lived well into his eighties, a person might be tempted to argue that the separate lives of long life in Great Britain in mid-Victorian days was to go in for radicalism and socialism.

Then Solid Back

Instead of spending themselves quickly in a great cause, these people lived long and quietly constantly drew vigor and endurance from their faith. They called themselves Fabians, when they planned to bring about the victory of socialism by Fabian tactics, by the gradualist approach. But it would also seem as if they learned to employ successfully the technique of Fabian Constancy, the great Delayer, against the onset of the greatest conquerors of all, who is Father Time.

Liberals and Tories

That, however, would be an overhasty generalization. Not all of Shaw's elderly friends who saluted him on his ninetieth birthday shared his political opinions, like Dean Inge or Gilbert Murray or Laurence Housman. But quite aside from this particular roster of names there is plenty of evidence in the British record that radicals and Fabian Socialists are not the only ones who manage to live to a fine old age. Middle-of-the-road Liberals and Tories can make a good showing.

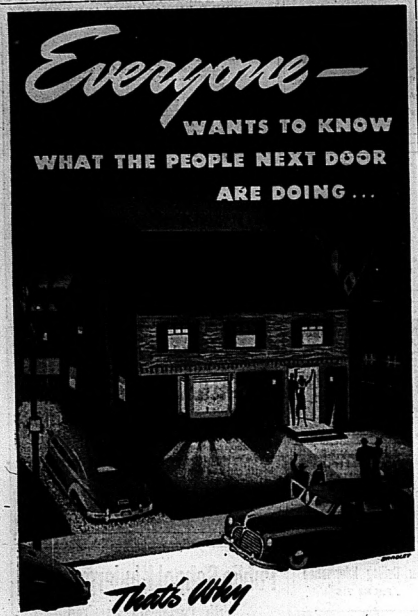
Bernard Shaw's years were almost tied by W. E. Gladstone, who lived to be 88, and who was Prime Minister for the fourth time from the age of 82 to 85. Lloyd George lived to be 82. On the Conservative side, Arthur James Balfour attained the same age. He was well over 70 when he was British spokesman at the Washington Disarmament Conference in 1922. Another Conservative leader, now active in his seventy-second year, bids fair to add his name to the list of great old men of his country and of all time, despite the fact that Winston Churchill's daily regimen is so strikingly different from Bernard Shaw's.

The American Pace

Here at home we come closer to the British longevity plus eminence record in the field of scholarship and education than in literature proper or in politics. Charles W. Eliot lived to be 92. John Dewey is absorbed in his many-sided interests at 87, Nicholas Murray Butler at 84 has just retired from front-line duty. In letters it is doubtful if we can show as large a group of veterans as the one represented in the G. B. S. testimonial. A generation ago it was different, when Thomas Bailey Aldrich, departing at the age of 71, left, among others, his close friends Mark Twain and William Dean Howells, older and younger by a year.

White House Record

But it is our public men in the topmost ranks, it is our Presidents, who show up starkly against the British septuagenarians and octogenarians who have carried the weight of an empire on their shoulders. We have had high age records in Congress, but the White House takes an early toll. It is primarily the exhausting nature of the job in itself rather than the famous "pace" of American life, yet in the background the higher tensions of our own way of life as compared with British leisureliness, do continue to operate. This statement, of course, is subject to correction by the insurance company actuaries with their comparative life expectancy tables.



The Globe and Mail gives you so much Local News every day!

In Toronto and throughout Ontario, Globe and Mail news reporters and special correspondents cover the news for you . . . bring you up-to-the-minute, "on-the-spot" reports.

And, in The Globe and Mail, you get the news first . . . early in the morning!

Keep in touch with the news of "your town." Enjoy "Pitching Horseshoes" with Billy Rose . . . Dofy Skaith's "On The Town" with its wide appeal to the gentler sex . . . Jim Coleman's timely sport news . . . and all the friends that greet you in the lively columns of The Globe and Mail!

LAST RETURNING C.W.A.C. PRIVATE

Beatrice Charles, ABOVE, is the last C.W.A.C. private to return from overseas. She arrived by air and is pictured as she arrived in Halifax, on her way to Toronto, Ont. She joined the C.W.A.C. in Britain, where she went in 1937.

Smithson Fortune Founded Notable U.S. Institution

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

Washington, (AP)—One hundred years ago the United States Congress established the Smithsonian Institution after debating for eight years whether to accept the bequest of "a half-blooded foreigner" born out of wedlock.

James Smithson, son of the Duke of Northumberland and of Elizabeth Keate Hungerford, a descendant of King Henry VII, died in 1929 and left his half-million dollar estate to the United States. His will provided that the money be used "to found at Washington, under the name of Smithsonian Institution, an establishment for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

Smithson, an English chemist, was at one time a president of the Royal Society. He never married and in his later years was an ill and lonely man, spending most of his time in France and Italy. The circumstances of his birth excluded him and apparently played a part in inducing the bequest, for he once wrote:

"The best blood of England flows in my veins. On my father's side I am a Northumberland and on my mother's I am related to kings, but this avails me not. My name shall live in the memory of man when the titles of the Northumberland and the Percys are extinct and forgotten."

Smithson inherited most of his fortune from his mother. His will bequeathed his estate to his nephew, Henry J. Hungerford, with the stipulation that should Hungerford die without heirs it would go to the United States.

Hungerford died in 1835, and Philadelphia was sent to London American embassy in London notified the state department of the strange bequest and President Jackson brought "friendly suit" to obtain the legacy. Two years later a British court approved the bequest and Richard Rush of Pennsylvania was dispatched to obtain the estate.

Rush collected some $250,000, a great fortune in those days. Rush had $508,000 converted into cash. In 1838 the clipper ship Mediator sailed from New York with 105 bags, each containing 1,000 sovereigns except the one which contained 960 sovereigns and miscellaneous cash.

Why Smithson chose the United States as his beneficiary is something of a mystery. He had never visited America and he didn't. The institution's collections include that he considered the young republic, comparatively remote from Europe's frequent wars, as a safer custodian of his project.

The institution's collections contain more than 18,000,000 specimens. More than 50,000,000 persons have visited it.

The exhibits range from butterflies to the skeletons of pre-historic behemoths, from primitive tools to instruments for measuring solar radiation.

Each year the institution sends 25 to 30 scientists to far corners of the earth to gather new facts and specimens. A major objective has been to measure the sun's radition. In one experiment, the cooking for small family was done for months in a solar oven which remained hot enough to bake bread both night and day continuously.

Inside the north entrance of the Smithsonian Building is the tomb of James Smithson. Seventy-five years after his death in Genoa, Italy, his body was brought to the United States by Alexander Grahan Bell. President Theodore Roosevelt sent a warship to escort the vessel carrying the body up Chesapeake Bay.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was in her room taking things out of one dress and putting them in another, and I said, Hay ma, is it a fix when you tell people you're feeling all right when they ask you how you feel, even if you happen to have a little headache or something?

Well no, in fact it's only common consideration not to bore others with your trifling trubbles and I wish certain people in real realm it instead of filling the air with their little aires and pases at the slightest opportunity, ma said, and I said, Then would it be a lie if I told you I spilt mouthwash on the little bathroom rug yesterday so it would be less of a shock in case you had to find out I spilt ink on the big living room rug today.

Benny Potts, have you spilt anything anywhere at any time, I mean lately?' ma said, and I said, No mam, except half my milk on the breakfast table this morning, and you were there when that happened I think I'm there entirely too often that happens, why cant you be careful for land sakes! ma said, and I said I am ma, maybe that's just the trubble I mean maybe I,m so careful it makes my fingers stiff. But hay ma, would it be a lie if I told you I swallowed a lima bean to spare your feelings because what I really did swallow happened to be a marble? I said.

Now look here, young man I want to know exactly what you did and I want to know the worst and I want to know immediately, ma said, and I said, Well O, ma, there,s nothing to know, I,m just trying to be sure not to tell you a lie in the future in case I,m ever undecided about what to say sometime.

Oh dear, I really will have a headache if this keeps up, and it will be such a big headache it would really be a lie to deny it ma said. Now go on out with the boys were you belong, before I make you stay in, she said.

Which I quick did.

CALLS FOR ACTION

New Delhi, Aug. 17-(Reuters)-Dawn, organ of the Moslem League, in a big display today calling on Moslems to "Declare a sacred Gair-Ilwes to the cause of freedom" said:

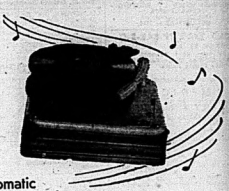
"Let every Moslem swear in the name of Allah to resist aggression."

The paper carried a cartoon showing John Bull and congress President Pandit Nehru staggering back before a huge fist marked "Direct Action."

SAYS CHARGES ETC.

Nanking, Aug. 17-(AP)- The newspaper Hsin Min Pao reported Thursday that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has decided to call a conference of China's InGelleciuals Aug. 25 in Koling, summer capital, to seek a solution for China's internal strife.

CDS PHONE 2000



Automatic Record Changer

This is it! The automatic record changer player that should bring a new enjoyment of recorded music to your home....and freedom, too, from record changing annoyance. Stack it up 6 to 8 records high and sit back....and listen....to about half an hour of uninterrupted musical entertainment. The turn-table accommodates 10 or 12 inch records. Size of player about 11 by 12 inches. Each 39.50

—C. D. S. Basement

Polished Aluminum Chairs

Light weight, yet sturdy modernized polished aluminum chairs, with comfortable padded leatherette seats and backs. Leatherette may be cleaned by using damp cloth. Colors: red, blue and green. Each 7.50

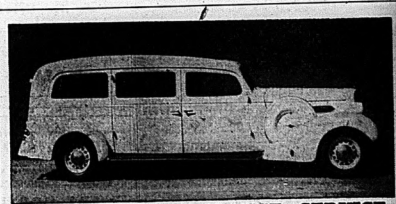
—C. D. S. Third Floor

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES

Thompson Funeral Home

We are the oldest funeral establishment in the city. Our staff consists of three licensed embalmers and funeral directors, Mr. Jack O'Neill, Mr. Donald May and Mr. Thomas C. Thompson and two experienced assistants. With this complete staff you are assured of the finest service, modern equipment and funeral home.

THOMAS C. THOMPSON
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
38 EVERETT ST. — BELLEVILLE — PHONE 62
BRANCH AT MADOC — PHONE 112



THOMPSON AMBULANCE SERVICE

Our ambulance is a regular ambulance and not a converted car.

It is fitted with comfortable cot and arm chairs and operated by an experienced staff.

THOMAS C. THOMPSON
AMBULANCE SERVICE
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
38 Everett Street BELLEVILLE Phone 62
BRANCH AT MADOC — Phone 112.
HOSPITAL BEDS TO RENT

Probabilities

Lake Ontario Region: Clearing this evening. Tuesday clear becoming cloudy in the few hours in afternoon. Near normal temperatures. Low tonight and high tomorrow 55, 75.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 19, 1946

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	74	62
Year Ago	85	60
Rainfall: .06 inches.
Weather: Fair.

Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

3c Per Copy, 18c Per Week

DR. EVATT PROPOSES 'COURT OF HUMAN RIGHTS'

Bloodiest Riots In Calcutta Take Over 1,000 Lives

Families Hastily Evacuated From Affected Sections

By DONALD HUTH

Calcutta, Aug. 19 — (AP) — The death toll from the bloodiest rioting in Calcutta's turbulent history today climbed well past the 1,000-mark as families were hastily evacuated from affected areas in the expectation of further outbreaks between Moslems and Hindus.

The number of wounded was estimated at 4,000.

(Reuters news agency quoted the Calcutta Statesman as saying the rioting had resulted in 2,000 to 3,000 deaths and that the number of injured was believed to total "many thousands.")

The Moslem-Hindu battle continued during the night in many localities of this sprawling city of 1,550,000 population, although order restored some semblance of order in the eastern and northern sections.

Sporadic shooting continued today, although the situation was the quietest since the rioting started Friday. Eerie cries rang through the streets.

The food situation worsened as stores remained closed.

Looting was rife. Police bluetters were filled with accounts of women hastily raped mutilated, then butchered or burned women, sadistically ravaged, men's year-old rape victim was removed to a hospital in critical condition.

British troops, supported by light tanks and civilian police, patrolled the streets, many of which were clogged with hideous debris. Some corpses have been lying in the sun since Friday, increasing the possibility of an epidemic.

Carloads of Bodies on Road

Three carloads of bodies were packed in the middle of Harrison Road, one of the centres of the fighting. Some were covered with cloth; others were covered with flies. Vultures picked at the remains.

The fighting spread to Bowbighly River, where approximately 50 vessels, mostly belonging to Hindus, were burned. Two factories on the waterfront bank of the river were set afire.

Nevertheless, an official statement said that the situation had "improved". Peace Committees attempted to calm the people.

One police official, who said he had witnessed the communal riots of 1918 and 1926, declared that he doubted India had ever had "experienced communal trouble on such a scale before."

BLOODIEST RIOTS—Page 4

Eastern Ontario Police Active Over Weekend

Cornwall, Aug. 19. (CP) Eastern Ontario police, already occupied in the search for an escaped convict, joined forces during night in the search for two of Quebec and Northern New York State in the hunt for a man wanted for questioning in connection with the fatal stabbing of a woman and child.

Near Belleville efforts of police, particularly on the part of volunteers were balked by fog which swept in from the Bay of Quinte and the lower reaches of the St. Lawrence.

Lafortune, serving a seven-year sentence for theft and armed robbery in Northern Ontario, escaped from a prison farm of Kingston Penitentiary August 10 and was cornered in the Huff Island area Friday night.

All roads leading from the Cornwall area were watched for William Earl Lama, 40, Harrison's Corners farmer wanted for questioning after his wife, Mary, 35, and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, nine, were found stabbed to death, Friday. Other police forces were given a description of the wanted man.

A search of the woodland area around the tin-covered shack where the bodies were found was abandoned on Saturday night. Mrs. Lama and her daughter were interred by the Sheriff and arson, Frederick, 17 and Daniel, 12.

Police Believe Lafortune Hiding Out in District

Henry Lafortune, 30-year-old convict who escaped from the Penitentiary farm, Portsmouth, Kingston, on August 2nd. and was surrounded by a police and farmer cordon in the Huff's Island marshes on Friday last, is still in that vicinity, provincial police stated today.

Following a fruitless all-day man-hunt on Friday when farmers of the district, prison guards and provincial police scoured the district, the search for Lafortune has been maintained by farmer patrols and police.

Police today refused to substantiate the report that Lafortune had taken advantage of the thick fog that settled down over the Huff's Island district Friday night, and had broken through the cordon that guarded all exits to the area where the escapee was said to be hiding.

Garden Invaded

Evidence that Lafortune is still in the vicinity of where he was thought to be holed up, came to light on Sunday when James Halliday, farmer residing on the Bethany-Bellrille highway about one-half miles south of the Huff's Island road near Pottery's green, became reported that his garden had been invaded by persons unknown.

Provincial Constable John Rogers, Milton, in charge of the search with other officers from Belleville district headquarters, investigated the report and discovered half-consumed ears of corn, taken in the Halliday garden. Cucumber vines had been twisted and remains of freshly picked potatoes lay on the ground. Onions had been pulled and eaten on the spot, as evidenced by the tops which were strewn on the ground.

The Matter of Time

Inspector Harry Thompson, in charge of Eastern Ontario provincial Police here was of the opinion that Lafortune's capture is a matter of time. Short of the convict, the inspector pointed out, he had not had the privilege to see the facilities to shave, and he has now a week's growth of beard.

The closeness of the search has kept Lafortune from daring or dodging from place to place and it is believed that his physical weariness may lead the escapee into the open. He is an experienced bushman and an excellent swimmer, and the Huff's Island marshes presented an ideal hideout for the fortune to move from place to place.

Roads Closely Guarded

Two large straw stacks in the area were searched during the night for sleeping places are being carefully watched, as are barns and other buildings which could offer him refuge temporarily.

Farmers are still on the alert and every road and exit in the area is being covered.

Site of World's Best Organized Uproar Is Luxembourg Palace

Paris, Aug. 19 — (Reuters) — Luxembourg palace is known to peace-conference delegates as the site of the world's best organized uproar. It literally is wired for sound.

Throughout the luxurious building constructed for Queen Marie De Medici a widespread, almost painstaking, distribution of loudspeakers ensures an almost constant din.

If 2 delegates from Russia, Britain or the United States indulge in an hour-long speech, the loudspeaker installations will hand him long after he has finished speaking.

He will hear his words in the Assembly, in the corridors, writing rooms, bars and even in his first-aid department, if he happens to go there looking for an aspirin.

None but the inexperienced open a window in search of respite. In the courtyard and in adjacent streets another battery of loudspeakers shrill forth, summoning vehicles for delegates leaving and to and from the building.

Some delegates, perhaps construing the universal clamor as a challenge, provide their own cacophony in the form of motor-cycle escorts.

Peace — It's wonderful.

HOUSE RESUMES PACE TO PROROGUE NEXT SATURDAY

Howe Predicts That Maritime Commission Will be in Operation Next Year

Ottawa, Aug. 19 — (CP) — Parliament today started a drive that may bring it to prorogation Aug. 24 after a news-r Saturday session that saw the tabling of two important committee reports. It heard Reconstruction Minister Howe predict operation of a Maritime Commission next year and Agriculture Minister Gardiner in mind and now was in favor of railways retaining ownership of express facilities.

Tired legislators today may debate the report of the Industrial Relations Committee which contained recommendations for future labor peace but left specific suggestions as to how the present disputes should be settled. The Senate resumes sessions today.

W. C. Macdonald (L— Halifax) and Jean Francois Pouliot (Ind. — Temiscouata) urged the establishment of a Maritime Commission to regulate and administer the problems of the increasingly important merchant marine.

Mr. Howe announced that some progress had been made in drafting a Maritime Act which would be administered by a Maritime Commission. He added: "We hope to have that next year we will have a maritime commission in operation."

Replying to questions by Stanley Knowles, Mr. Howe announced that the effective date when Canadian railways were to have divested themselves of air lines had been advanced one year to June 30, 1947 and the government he had changed his mind and decreased the 5-per-cent limitation of railway-air line affiliation.

HOUSE RESUMES—Page 4

Mayor Brunette Heads Association

Fort William Aug. 19. (CP) — Mayor Wilfrid Brunette of Timmins was named President of the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves at the final session of their three- day annual conference. He succeeds Mayor George R. Inglis of Niagara Falls who was chairman of an illuminated address, a writ was a matter of highest to Premier Hepburn in recognition of his work on behalf of the association during his two years.

Mayor Robert H. Saunders of Leaside was appointed First Vice — President, Mayor Sam Lawrence of Hamilton, Second Vice—President, Mayor Sam Gardiner of Forest Hill Village third Vice -President. Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa was re-elected secretary-treasurer. City Solicitor Lorne R. Cumming, of Windsor, Reeve Percy G. Gardiner of Forest Hill Village, Mayor Lewis and Mayor Inglis left the convention of the Association of Ontario mayors and reeves to attend the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Cumming, in a report prepared for delivery as chairman of the special committee on Maritime Claims, said the association should not extend existing agreements with Wartime Housing Limited unless municipal payments in lieu of taxes are provided.

Prime Minister King Lays Foundation Stone For Dieppe Memorial

Dieppe, Aug. 19 — (CP) — Canada brings to the peace conference "as a basic principle of encouragement and hope" the example of a people of different races, languages and religious faiths, once at enmity with each other, united for a single purpose, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today.

The Prime Minister's speech was prepared for delivery at a ceremony of the laying of the foundation stone of a monument to be erected here in the Canadian armed forces; Mr. King spoke on the Tenth anniversary of the all-fated, Canadian-led landing at Dieppe Aug. 19, 1942, in which the Dominion force of about 5,000 suffered more than 3,500 casualties.

Mr. King said the memorial would stand to future generations as a symbol of enduring friendship between France and Canada, and added:—

"It is too much to hope that its foundation stone may also be laid in the report of the Industrial Relations Committee which contained recommendations for future labor peace but left specific suggestions as to how the present disputes should be settled. The Senate resumes sessions today.

W. C. Macdonald (L— Halifax) and Jean Francois Pouliot (Ind. — Temiscouata) urged the establishment of a Maritime Commission to regulate and administer the problems of the increasingly important merchant marine.

Mr. Howe announced that some progress had been made in drafting a Maritime Act which would be administered by a Maritime Commission. He added: "We hope to have that next year we will have a maritime commission in operation."

Replying to questions by Stanley Knowles, Mr. Howe announced that the effective date when Canadian railways were to have divested themselves of air lines had been advanced one year to June 30, 1947 and the government he had changed his mind and decreased the 5-per-cent limitation of railway-air line affiliation.

HOUSE RESUMES—Page 4

TWENTY-TWO LOSE LIVES IN SERIES FATAL ACCIDENTS

Two Triple Fatalities Occur in Which Three Drowned And Three Killed

By The Canadian Press

A Canadian Press survey of fatal accidents since 10 o'clock Saturday morning showed a total of 22 persons lost their lives—nine of them in drowning—and several in traffic accidents.

There were two triple fatalities: Sunday at Cornwall, three men were killed when a fourth escaped when the motor boat in which they were riding, capsized in the Moulinette Channel of the St. Lawrence River. Drowned were: Gordon Beaudoin, 30, of Cornwall; Parisella, 31, Bill Barnes.

At Thedford, Ontario, Tedball, 21; James H. Tedball and Sherryl Patterson, three-months-old baby girl were killed Saturday when a dump truck crashed into them as they stood beside a parked automobile outside a church. The driver fled into the woods and was sought by police.

Three persons died at Sydney, N.S., the bodies of 27-year-old Mrs. Daisy Florence Jones and her baby son, Peter, drowned were found floating in the harbor, locked in each other's arms.

The other drowning victims were: Donald Cornwall, twenty-one old Apsley girl, drowned while boating in a lake 40 miles north of Peterborough; and Mrs. Ethel Fenelon, 39, of Toronto, a bather at Sydney.

Mrs. Daisy Florence Jones and her baby son, Peter, drowned were found floating in the harbor, locked in each other's arms.

The other drowning victims were: Donald Cornwall, twenty-one old Apsley girl, drowned while boating in a lake 40 miles north of Peterborough; and Mrs. Ethel Fenelon, 39, of Toronto, a bather at Sydney.

Killed Instantly

Betty Anderson, 16, of Toronto, was instantly killed when struck by a car as she walked to church at Grimsby. Near St. Catharines, Mrs. Hilda Rose, 40, of Niagara-on-the-Lake, was fatally injured when hit by a car. Mrs. Rose died Monday.

In Toronto, Richard Hofstetter, nine, was killed when a car pinned him and a companion against a verandah. The driver escaped by going into a private garage and going out the back door.

Robert Gauthier, 24, of Montreal, was killed in a car accident near Lachute, Que.

In three train accidents, Elias Lavois, 21-year-old C.N.R. employee was killed Saturday night by a locomotive in the company's Turcot yards in the west-end of Montreal; Arthur M. Manley, 60, Bala, was killed when crushed between an engine and baggage car north of Bala, was struck by a freight train and died Monday in Penetanguishene Hospital.

At Fort William, B. A. Long 61, fell 17 feet from a scaffolding to a grain elevator floor and died shortly afterwards.

Kenneth W. Smiley, 24, of Aldershot, died in a Collingwood hospital from injuries suffered when hit by a baseball.

At Montreal, Alice Comtois, 40, died in hospital Sunday, apparently as a result of poisoning.

LT.-COL. MERRITT, 'HERO OF DIEPPE,' PRAISED BY HOUSE

Tributes Paid by Leaders of All Parties to Canadian Achievement

Ottawa, Aug. 19 (CP)—Members of the Commons today paid tribute to Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt, who led the Canadian troops in the bloody attack on the beaches of Dieppe four years ago today, and to the men he commanded, as they applauded "the hero of Dieppe"—Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt, who won the Victoria Cross for his exploits on the beaches.

Many of the Canadians came from Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent, John Bracken Progressive Conservative Leader, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, Jean-Marie Mackenzie, J. F. Poulin (L.—Temiscouata), and Col. Merritt.

Col. Merritt said despite the circumstances and difficulties at Dieppe everyone who went was willing to go. Despite what happened "we felt that what was done was worthwhile in that it helped our comrades in Russia."

As the Commons met Mr. S. St. Laurent announced that King placed a corner stone of a memorial to the Dieppe dead.

Mr. Bracken recalled a visit to Dieppe some 18 months ago.

"Everywhere I went I heard that nothing but a cricle could have been made from there," he said.

Mr. Bracken said Canada stood today with the rest of the world for the right of each nation to choose its own system of government. The thoughts of Canada today would be with the citizens of Dieppe.

Mr. Coldwell said: "We express appreciation" of the Canadians' bravery and of the high place of esteem shown by the people of Dieppe.

Mr. Low had visited Dieppe and its beautifully-kept Canadian cemetery. He remembered his visit to that cemetery and the lesson in national unity he had learned from looking upon crosses bearing the names of Canadians of many nationalities.

That lesson was one that, if properly learned, would enable Canada to build a nation of true greatness.

Hon C.D. Howe And Premier Drew Will Speak at CKSO

Sudbury, Ont., Aug. 19—(CP) Premier Drew and Hon. C. D. Howe is in Sudbury today to officiate tonight at ceremonies accompanying the increase in power of radio station CKSO from 1,000 to 5,000 watts. He is to open the station officially by pushing a button during a dinner.

Premier Drew of Ontario also will be a special guest. Both he and Mr. Howe will speak on a program from 7:30 to 8 p.m. EDT, on the CBC network.

BRITISH TROOPS CLAMP GORDON AROUND PORT

Immigrants Are Not Successful in Attempt To Scuttle Transport Taking Them to Cyprus

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Haifa, Palestine, Aug. 19 (AP) —British troops established a rigid cordon around the port area of Haifa today following a tumultuous weekend in which a group of illegal Jewish immigrants attempted unsuccessfully to scuttle a transport assigned to deport them to Cyprus.

Tension mounted throughout the Holy Land as a result of the British deportation policy, and reports were published in London that all underground groups in Palestine were scheduled to launch a countrywide offensive today.

The First Infantry Division, using Bren carriers, mounted guard in Haifa city, after the Cyprus bound transport Empire Heywood returned to Haifa following the unsuccessful attempt to scuttle the vessel.

British troops used tear gas and fire hoses to drive 640 illegal immigrants from the Empire Fenice, on which they arrived here from Italy last week, and onto the Empire Heywood for transhipment to Cyprus. A company being prepared for 10,000 persons on Cyprus, the Empire Heywood Monday left port yesterday morning, but returned less than an hour later after two small bombs had exploded in her hold.

Haifa Calm As Deadline Passes

A British announcement said the explosions caused no damage or casualties, but were "introduced into the hold with the apparent intention of blowing a hole in the side of the vessel."

The 1,600 rejected other illegal immigrants, who arrived here aboard the refugee transport, were transferred without incident yesterday to the troopship Empire Rivet, which then left for Cyprus.

Meanwhile, troops sought to maintain order at Tel Aviv where a mass meeting yesterday to protest the deportation policy ended in violence when a group of budget-swinging youths climbed onto the speakers' platform.

The Haifa bombing of steamships and tried to exhort the crowd to storm the Holy Land today in reaction of 18 Jews sentenced last week to death for raids on Haifa railway shops.

Official Underground.

London's Sunday Graphic said in a dispatch from Jerusalem that the British army intelligence has obtained documents purporting to show that the Jewish underground organizations planned an offensive throughout the Holy Land today.

The dispatch said that 50,000 British troops would mount guard tonight on all public

BRITISH TROOPS—Page 11

Russian Scientists Explore Chemical Cure For Cancer

By WILLIAM GLOVER

New York, Aug. 19 — (AP) — A new line of medical research into cancer is treatment with drugs of "infinite possibilities" is being explored by Russian scientists, it was disclosed here. The United States surgeon just returned from a tour of the U.S.S.R.

Dr. Young, chief surgeon of the Fanny Hagadone Hospital, said the research project in detail, but had been asked not to discuss the matter.

"They let me know what it was and what it could do, but said I could judge for myself whether it was a substantial nature. It is based on the same principle as that which led to penicillin. It is a sound basis. They believe they have found a chemical which, when it is injected which is inimical to the cancer cell."

The surgeon said he had been told the "substance" was a certain point in the research we will ask your scientists for help."

Penicillin, a mold which penicillin, streptomycin and other antibiotics have been developed, is that certain microscopic organisms produce chemical substances antagonistic to some of the viruses and bacteria that cause infections and disease in man. Certain chemical combinations of these substances have been lethal to cancerous growths — which simply are the result of normal cellular organisms running wild and multiplying uncontrolled—but they are equally inimical to benevolent cellular activities.

Dr. Young made a month-long tour of the U.S.S.R. as one of a delegation of seven Americans who have been active in behalf of the American Society for Russian Relief. He is chairman of the executive committee of the Cabot Memorial Fund which is to guide research in cancer campaign to raise $2,000,000 for establishment of a penicillin plant in the Soviet Union.

Other phases of Dr. Evatt's medical work which he found "intensely interesting" were a study of spleen tissue of bronchial surgery, the use in blood banks of blood taken from placentas after birth of a child and the treatment of child care begun in the womb. The aim is to bring up a generation of Russians as physically perfect as possible."

The surgeon said he also had been greatly impressed by the complete knowledge which the Russians had of medical production advances in the country.

"Everywhere I went I tried to stump them on what we are doing, but they always knew," he said. He was told that 65 per cent of the medical personnel in Russia are women. There are 156,000 physicians in the country, a ratio of 10 per cent in the United States.

Peace Conference Goes into Fourth Week in Low Gear

Finnish and Hungarian Treaties Being Considered

Clandestine Radio Calls Gathering In Haifa Square

Jerusalem, Aug. 17—(CP) — Haganah's clandestine radio station, voice of Israel, today started broadcasting an appeal at 15 minute intervals in the Haifa area, urging Jewish residents to "leave your homes and join the demonstration in the centre of town."

The broadcast said nearly 1,500 Jewish refugees from the immigrant ships, 23 and Fenice, "are being deported right now."

Interviews on deportation to Cyprus still were standing in the harbor, but were unable to say whether they were loading refugees from the immigrant ships.

Meanwhile a ring of steel was maintained around the harbor, as it has been since the first deportation, at Empire Tuesday.

Authorities expressed fear of serious uprisings in the already tense city as word spread that the two British vessels, Empire Heywood and Empire Rival, which returned to Haifa from Cyprus with 1,600 refugees aboard, were proceeding to deport the immigrants.

Jews yesterday were mourning to death of 18 members of the so-called Stern Gang for a bomb raid on Haifa railway shops, rumors spread that the underground would strike back and the reports of renewed deportations added to the apprehension of authorities.

Latest reports indicated the Vaad Leumi (national council for Jewish affairs) was expected to put on its decision for a non-co-operation strike tomorrow to protest the deportations.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Aug. 19. (CP)—Synopsis at 7.30 a.m.: An extensive area of cool air covers the continent except for a small area near the Gulf of Mexico and part of Florida. Showers in New Brunswick and precipitation in most of Ontario. Showers and thunderstorms are also being reported in the Ohio Valley and in the mid-Atlantic States. Marked improvement in the weather is expected in Ontario as the low the treaties relating to citizenship, human rights and fundamental rights.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian minister of external affairs, proposed today the creation of a court of human rights.

The court, under Dr. Evatt's outline, could be invoked by way of appeal from national courts or, in special cases, by direct approach to enforce obligations created by the treaties with respect to human rights.

Individuals, groups or states could appeal to the court, he said, and its decision would be considered binding by national and local agencies as well as against individuals and groups.

In offering the plan, Dr. Evatt endorsed a United States proposal to protect the fundamental rights of persons in territories under the trusteeship system. He explained that his plan would extend the guarantees to all other territories ceded under the five peace treaties.

Coming Events

LISTEN TO AND SEE ACTUAL broadcast from the scientific, S. S. Kresge Co., Belleville, Tuesday, Aug. 20th, at 1.30 p.m. Mr. Gordon MacDonald at the piano playing His Tune of the Week. Gordon Bankwer, soloist. A19

EUCHRE PARTY TONIGHT, AUGUST 19th, at 8.30, in the Legion Club Rooms, Victoria Road. Auspices Ladies' Auxiliary Legion. Admission A19 Everybody welcome.

City and District News

BELLEVILLE POLICE HAD BUSY WEEKEND

Belleville city police had one of the busiest weekends in some time with practically everything on the "complaint" sheet in attendance demanding their attention. There were the usual drunks, of course, and this common fave on the police menu garnished with bad checks; lost purses; family squabbles, double parking; cars blocking driveways; shooting air guns; a couple of fights; people complaining of the neighbors were kicking up their heels and preventing them from sleeping; car accidents; minor fender tilts; speeders and hot automobiles, to say nothing of cars being reported stolen in other cities.

While nothing of a major nature occurred, police officers were kept extremely busy and the usual Monday morning quiet reigned in the station today, the official calm after the weekend storm of police duties.

THREE BOYS FROM TRAINING SCHOOL MISSING FROM FARM

Robert Thompson, Massassaga, farmer, reported to police over the weekend that three boys from the Bowmanville Boys' Training School allocated to his farm were missing. Police have the names and descriptions of the boys and are investigating the disappearance.

ACCIDENTS SETTLED AMICABLY BY PARTIES

Three minor car accidents occurred in the city over the weekend with no person injured and no injury occurring. All three involved mostly fender damage to the vehicles involved and were settled amicably by the drivers.

DON BARCLAY SUFFERS A PAINFUL INJURY

Donald Barclay, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Barclay, was admitted to the hospital on Saturday suffering a fractured a painful injury when he fell from a tree while at play. He believed to have a broken wrist, tebrae in the back but no compli-

GRUEN PAN AMERICAN

with the 24-hour dial

Official timekeeper of Pan American World Airways, the Grueen Pan American counts the seconds of the coming 24-hour day. The two rings of numerals, One, for conventional time is numbered 1 to 12; the other for global time is numbered 13 to 24! To mervow's watch, here today!

GRUEN PAN AMERICAN AIRWAY
17-Jewel Precision Movement
$99.75

Angus McFee JEWELLER LIMITED
SINCE 1850

Know the future — Consult
MADAME ELCO
Mindwriting Expert
Palmist Card Reader
36 Station St. Phone 2235M
A16-1m

SUMMER COLOGNES
—RUBENSTEIN
Apple Blossom, Enchante
85c $1.25
—HENLEY'S
Country Garden $1.25
—ANDREVE 65c $1.10
—LOTUS $1.25 $2.25
—TALLEYN $1.50
—BALALAIKA $1.50
McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE
Phone 125
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

FLOOR SANDING
New Floor SANDED and FINISHED
Old Floors RESURFACED and KEPT LIKE NEW.
GLEN ELLIOT
166 Victoria Ave. Phone 3642
A16-1m

TWO 'LUNGE CAUGHT AT BRADLEY BAY

Mrs. Charles Batt, N. Front St. and Mrs. Fred Hay, also of this city, caught the two muskies that will feature all the spotlight with respect to 'lunge fishing. Trolling in Bradley Bay, near Canniffelford, on Saturday, Mrs. Batt hooked a 12½ lb. 'lunge and Mrs. Hay got one two pounds lighter. Both fish put up a good scrap before being landed in the boat. The anglers report 'lunge fishing are beginning to strike in the northern waters.

TRAILER HITS WOMAN CROSSING INTERSECTION

Mrs. Annie Mulligan, 92 West Dundas Street, suffered a fractured leg and other injuries when she was struck and knocked to the ground by a car at the Bursley Street and Dundas Avenue intersection on Saturday evening.

William Waldorf, Burton St., driver of the car in question, stated that the trailer struck the woman as he was making a turn off Highland Avenue to Burton. Mrs. Mulligan and Gerry, not the trailer, loaded with a small boat, ran over her.

Mrs. Mulligan told investigating police officers that she started to cross the street when the car passed, and did not see the trailer.

Medical help was summoned and Mrs. Mulligan was treated and sent to her home.

W. C. MIKEL REPORTS ON TRIP TO STATES

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mikel have returned from a trip through the Thousand Islands, where they visited in Gananoque, Clayton, Alexandria Bay and other points. Mr. Mikel states that the sidewalks, pavements and streets generally are not kept up as well as they are in Belleville. The only advantage these cities have is that the harbors and water adjacent to the east side mainland, down to the rock, there would be no vegetation or scum in the water there to spoil the bathing and mar the appearance of the surroundings.

SNAPS HYDRO POLE WHEN TIRE BLOWS

Losing control of his car when a tire blew out, Jack Haggerty, Stirling, crashed into and broke a left hand turn at the corner of Highland Avenue and Dundas St. West, crashed into a Hydro pole, snapping it off at the ground. Haggerty told police that the tire blew as he was making the turn, forcing the car out of control. Gordon Tanner, Stirling, a passenger in the Haggerty car, was brought with the driver to the city police station for questioning on the matter.

Soapsuds Lather Street 3 Feet Deep

Toronto, Aug. 19—(CP)— whole section of Toronto Street was cleaned up saturday with enough soapsuds and dust from a soap manufacturing plant collects on the roof and blows to the street. When the heavy rainstorm hit it made huge drifts of soapsuds. These backed up to a height of three feet, the factory reported, then flowed onto the street.

SELECT GIFTS IN A GIFT SHOP

Sounds logical, doesn't it? When you're looking for that gift, buy it where there's a smart selection. You'll be glad to gift-wrap it for you and deliver it at no extra cost to yourself. There's a reason why more people around SCHWAB'S are buying their newest Gift Shoppe.

SCHWAB'S
GIFT SHOPPE
49 BRIDGE STREET

MOTH KILLER CRYSTALS
IN STOCK AGAIN!
39c LB. TINS
GEEN—DRUGS
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

Norman Harris chats with one of America's foremost songwriters, Charles Kramer, writer of "High on a Windy Hill," and "It's Love, Love, Love." Norman Harris and his King Edward Hotel orchestra makes a personal appearance at Trenton Fair-Station the night of August 21, in connection with the 12th annual Field Day.

Middle School Results For Belleville Collegiate And Vocational School

Adams, Gilbert—Mod. Hist. II; Alrth, James—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. I; Phy. I.
Allen, Elinor—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Ashbury, Bernice—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. III; Geom. II; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I; Agr II.
Baker, Doreen—Phy. C; Bennett-Poste, Jeanne—Alg. C; Phy. C; Mus. II.
Bateman, Ethel—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. I; Chem. I; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp II; French Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
Bishop, Dorothy—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Lat. Auth. III; Lat. Comp. III; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
Blatherwick, Bruce—Anc. Hist. II; Alg. C; Phy. II.
Bongard, Gerald—Anc. Hist. C; Phy. I.
Boyle, Donald—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Phy. I; Agr. I; Mus. III.
Buchanan, Thomas—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. I; Phy I.
Burke, Morris—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. I; Phy. II.
Button, Ronald—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp II; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. III.
Cameron, Colin—Anc. Hist. III; Alg. C; Phy. C.
Cameron, Hugh—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Lat. Auth. I; Lat. Comp. I; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I.
Camp, Maureen—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I; Comm. Work I.
Campbell, Charles—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. II; Chem. II; Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Carswell, John—Geom. C; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C.
Claus, Joan—Phy. C.
Cornish, Barry—Anc. Hist. II; Phy. C.
Creegan, Sheila—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. II; Phy. I.
Davidson, Helen—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. II; Chem. C.
Davidson, Robert—Anc. Hist. III; Alg. I; Phy. I.
Davis, William—Anc. Hist. III; Phy. C.
Dixon, Jack—Alg. II.
Dobbs, Dorothy—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. C; Alg. II.
Douglas, Robert—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. I; Phy. C.
Dowe, Dorothy—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Geom. C; Chem. II; Edie, Colin—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. II; Chem. II; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Elliott, Walter—Chem. C.
Ellis, Nora—Geom. C; Fr. Auth. III; Agr C.
Evans, Kathryn—Anc. Hist. II; Alg. III; Phy. I.
Farnham, Marjorie — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp III; Agr. II.
Fergison, Donna—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. I; Phy. I.
Flintoft, Dorothy—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. II; Agr C.
Flintoft, Jean—Anc. Hist. III; Phy. C.
Fox, Jessie—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. III; Chem. III; Lat. Auth. III; Lat. Comp. III; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
Francis, Margaret—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. II; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. C.
Fry, Harry—Anc. Hist. C; Phy. II.
Galbraith, Allan — Anc. Hist. C; Phy. C.
Gent, John—Anc. Hist. C; Phy. C; Alg. II.
Gibson, Betty—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. II; Phy. I.
Gibson, John—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Phy. C.
Gray, John—Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Greenleaf, Lois—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. I; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. II; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
Hamilton, Mary—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Agr. C.
Harrison, Keith—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. I; Alrth, James—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. I; Phy. I.
Hart, Howard—Anc. Hist. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Hetherington, Bonney—Alg. C.
Hewson, Marjorie—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. I; Phy. C.
Hicks, Ruth—Anc. Hist. II; Alg. C; Agr. I.
Homan, Leslie—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. II; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II; Agr. II.
Houston, Barbara Joan—Anc. Hist. III; Agr. III.
Hunter, Joan—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mus. III.
Jeffrey, Roy—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. I; Phy. I.
Jordan, John—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Phy. C.
Joss, Lois—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. II; Alg. I; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. III; Lat. Comp. III; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
Kellar, Ruth—Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Agr. C.
Ketchabaw, Gwendolyn — Anc. Hist. C; Alg. I; Phy. C.
Ketchabaw, Victoria — Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. III; Lat. Comp. III; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
Kirk, Jack—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C.
Kitchener, Jean—Anc. Hist. II; Alg. II; Phy. II.
Legge, Elsie—Geom. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Lepore, Bruno—Anc. Hist. II; Alg. II; Phy. II.
Lepore, Bruno—Anc. Hist. II; Alg. II; Phy. II.
Lepore, Nina—Phy. C; H. Ec. C.
Leslie, Donald—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Licence, Carole—Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Locke, Donald—Alg. I; Mus. II.
Lockyer, David—Anc. Hist. III; Agr. II.
MacKay, James—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. II; Phy. III.
MacKay, William—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. III; Geom. I; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
McBurney, Alan—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. I; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. III; Lat. Comp. III; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
McCaw, Grant—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C.
McCormick, William—Anc. Hist. II.
McCullough, Ann Marie—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Agr. II.
McLean, Lois—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Chem. C; Mus. II.
McLeod, Margaret—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. III; Geom. II; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. I; Agr. C.
Macklem, Ronald—Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. C; Chem. C.
Manjuris, Alexander — Anc. Hist. III; Alg. II; Phy. I.
Markle, Joyce — Anc. Hist. II; Alg. II; Phy. II.
Martin, Richard — Anc. Hist. III; Alg. II; Agr. II.
Matthews, Robert—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. III; Geom. C; Chem. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Meades, Ruth — Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Phy. C.
Meyers, Earl — Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Phy. C.
Miller, Barbara — Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. II; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I.
Miller, George—Chem. II.
Mills, Katherine — Anc. Hist. II; Alg. C; Phy. II.
Morris, Gloria—Geom. C.
Neal, Bruce—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. I; Phy. I.
Nesbitt, Betty — Anc. Hist. I; Alg. II; Phy. II.
Newton, Elinor — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C.
O'Flynn, John—Anc. Hist. II; Alg. III; Phy. II.
Oliphant, William — Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Phy. C.
Pappas, William — Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Phy. C.
Parnell, Donna — Alg. C; Phy. C.
Patrick, Louise — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. C; Chem. C; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Payne, Beverley — Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I; H. Ec. I.
Pedder, Ruth — Chem. II; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C.
Potter, Mary — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Chem. III; Lat. Auth. III; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
Prindle, Hazel — Agr. C.
Rald, Fraser — Mod. Hist. C.
Richardson, Isabel—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Chem. C; Mus. C.
Robbins, Bruce—Mod. Hist. C; Phy. C.
Rollins, John — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Agr. C.
Romm, Work C.
Rollins, Muriel — Geom. C.
Rowe, Dorothy — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. II; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II; Mus. C.
Sandercock, Marietta — Anc. Hist. C; Alg. II; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Agr. C.
Scott, George — Alg. C; Phy. C; Shop Work I.
Scott, Raymond — Anc. Hist. I; Phy. I; Alg. II.
Shaw, Helen — Anc. Hist. C; Sills, Jean — Anc. Hist. C; Alg. C; Agr. C.
Smith, Charles — Alg. I; Mus. III.
Spiegel, Sydney — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. II; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II.
Sprague, Amy — Anc. Hist. I; Alg. I; Agr. I.
Stevens, Corinne — Anc. Hist. II; Alg. II; Phy. I.
Stevenson, Richard—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. I; Agr. II.
Stirlings, Robert—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Mus. C.
Stewart, Audrey — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Chem. C; Lat. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C; Mus. II.
Stone, Elizabeth—Geom. II.
Stone, She wa — Anc. Hist. II; Alg. II; Phy. I.
Taylor, Margaret—Geom. II.
Taylor, Shirley—Anc. Hist. III; Alg. II; Agr. II.
Theobald, Barbara—Mod. Hist. C; Phy. C.
Theobald, Stuart—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. C; Agr. II.
Thrasher, William—Anc. Hist. C; Phy. C.
Thrasher, Edward—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. II; Alg. I; Chem. C.
Tilley, Grace—Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. II; Agr. I.
Tuttle, Wilhelmine — Anc. Hist. II; Phy. C.
Walmsley, Bruce—Anc. Hist. C; Phy. C.
Walmsley, Ramon, Anc. Hist. II; Alg. II; Phy. II.
Watkin, Gordon—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Watson, Rose—Anc. Hist. II; Phy. C.
Watson, Faye—Anc. Hist. I; Phy. C.
Wesley, William—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. C; Phy. C.
Whitmore, Uena—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. C; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I; Agr. II.
Williams, Donald—Anc. Hist. III; Alg. III; Agr. II.
Willoughby, Robt—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Lat. Auth. I; Lat. Comp. I; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I.
Wishart, Lois—Anc. Hist. I; Alg. I; Phy. I.
Wray, Marilyn—Anc. Hist. II; Alg. II; Phy. II.
Wright, Joan—Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. I; Geom. I; Chem. I; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. II; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I.
Young-Leslie, Thom — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. C; Chem. II; Yateman, Donald—Anc. Hist. C; Alg. I; Phy. II.

Upper School Results At Albert College

Aiken, John—Eng. Lit. C; Eng. Comp. C; Alg. I; Geom. I; Trig. I; Phy. I; Chem. I.
Archer, Mabel — Mod. Hist. II; Bot. C; Zool. C.
Beardsall, Paul — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Trig. C.
Bradford, Thos. — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Chem. C; Latin Comp. C.
Bristol, Chas. — Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. C.
Butler, Harold — Trig. I; Chem. C.
Cavanaugh, S. N.— Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. C; Phy. III; Chem. III.
Congdon, George — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. I; Eng. II; Geom. II; Trig. I; Phy. C; Chem. C.
Crockett, John — Eng. Lit. C; Edwards, Helen — Fr. Comp. C; Sp. Auth. III; Cp. Comp. C.
Farkas, Nick — Alg. C; Trig. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Gardside, Ron — Alg. C; Trig. C; Chem. C.
Grethher, M. A. — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. III; Bot. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. III.
Harkness H. — Eng. Comp. II; Mod. Hist. III; Alg. I; Geom. I; Trig. I; Phy. I; Chem. I.
Hall, Harold — Alg. C.
Ketcheson, Jane — Phy. II; Chem C; Lat. Auth. C; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. II; Kiteley, Robt. — Eng. Comp. C Lemon, James — Eng. Lit. C; Geom. C; Trig. I; Chem. II.
Lipson, Cyril — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. III; Geom. II; Trig. II; Zool. C. Lat. Comp. C.
Locke, Grant — Eng. Lit. C; Trig. C; Phy. C; Chem. II.
Lytle, Jas. — Eng. Comp. C; Phy. C.
McGuire, M. A. — Geom. III; Zool. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.
Mattocks, R. — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. C; Trig. III; Phy. II; Chem. I; Fr. Comp. C.
Meadley, D. — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. C; Trig. C.
Morgan, D. — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Geom. C; Trig. III; Bot. C; Zool. C.
Nicholson J. — Eng. Comp. C.
Patterson, D. — Eng. Comp. III; Trig. C; Bot. C; Zool. C.
Robertson, Margaret — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. III; Geom. C; Trig. C; Bot. C; Zool. C.
Stainton, D. — Zool. C.
Vessey, J. — Eng. Comp. C; Trig. I.
Vivian, H. — Fr. Comp. C.
Williamson, A. — Span. Auth. III; Span. Comp. II.
Yates, Dorothy — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. LitC ;

YOU'LL BE NEEDING IT!

Cool nights in the offing so send your light coat or jacket to us for MODERN cleaning now.

PHONE 2277
MODERN CLEANERS and DYERS LIMITED
225 Pinnacle Street

Obituary

LATE JOHN QUINN

Marmora — The funeral of the late John Quinn was held to St. Mary's Church, Campbellford, on Monday morning, when Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. P. Collins. The deceased was born in Marmora Township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Quinn and was in his 85th year. Surviving are three sons — Ed of Codrington, John and Joseph of Campbellford, and two daughters — Mrs. T. Kelsey, Chicago, and Mrs. John Connors, Marmora; three sisters, Mrs. Holland, Madoc; Miss Susan Quinn and Mrs. S. Bertrand, Marmora and three brothers, Alex, James and Patrick of Marmora township; one step-daughter, Mrs. Agnes Dunlay, Codrington; and three stepsons, Thomas Smith, Cowley Minn., James Smith, Whitehorse, Yukon; and Dan Smith, Hastings.

For some years Mr. Quinn kept a hotel in Marmora and moved to Seymour township thirty two years ago. He was a devout member of St. Mary's Church and was held in high regard by a large circle of friends.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Thomas O'Rourke, Wm. Masterson, Augar, Chesley Driscoll, J. Garrand and T. Gorman.

Interment was made in St. Mary's Cemetery, Campbellford.

LATE MRS. EMMA ROBLIN

The funeral of the late Mrs. Theodore Roblin was held from her late residence in Ameliasburg on Saturday afternoon in the presence of a large number of intimate friends nd relatives. The service was conducted in the home by Rev. M. Willoughby and the last rites at the graveside, interment being in the family cemetery. The number of floral tributes bore testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The bearers were J. G. Grow, Clifford Hillman, Ernest Grow, Bernard Redner, Harold Ward and Ralph Stafford.

MRS. FLORENCE DEAN BROMLEY

(Trenton)

On Wednesday last the death occurred at Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Toronto of Florence Dean Burley, beloved wife of Archie Bromley. She was born in Colborne 84 years ago being the daughter of the late Willard Burley and Jane Rowland and resided in Trenton for some years but spent most of her late years in Toronto. She was a member of the Baptist Church and leaves to mourn her loss one brother and one daughter, Mrs. Francis Hodge of Trenton.

The funeral was held on Friday last from the home of Fred McConnell, 25 College Street, in Trenton, the service being conducted by Rev. W. J. Mahood. Interment was in Salem cemetery. The bearers were George Benson, William Turnbull, Cliff Gardiner, Alfred Simpson, Ernie Sprague and Norman Moore.

ARTHUR WELLINGTON FLINDALL

(Marray Township)

Suffering a heart attack at his home in Murray Township on Tuesday last, Arthur Wellington Flindall died suddenly before medical aid could be summoned. Mr. Flindall was born in the township in which he died 72 years ago being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flindall. He received his early training in farming in that community and was well known as a baseball player, being a checker player of note and won many tournaments throughout the district. He was a member of Smithfield United Church and took an active interest in the work of the church. Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Ida Taylor, one daughter, Mrs. Gordon Taylor of Toronto; Mrs. Herbert Bell, seventeen and Miss Jennie Flindall of Rochester, N.Y. and two brothers, Fred Flindall of Toronto and Robert Flindall of Carrying Place.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Friday with Rev. William Sunter conducting the services at the home and graveside, interment being in St. George's cemetery.

The bearers were Hugh Maitland, Cecil Fitchett, John Freeborn, Ernest Reid, Earl Lauder, and Arthur Hayes.

LATE ALEXANDER McCURDY

West Huntingdon—(Special) — Funeral services for the late Alexander McCurdy were held on Thursday afternoon from the family residence with interment being made in the West Huntingdon cemetery. The service was conducted by his pastor, Mr. Wilbur Stewart and Mrs. W. F. Fitchett gave as a solo "Beyond the Sunset". The services were largely attended by friends and neighbors. The bearers were Messrs. Melville Dennis, Clifford Green, Don. Fargey, Harold Hammond, Charles Fargey and Arthur Wilson.

BIRTHS

SOBLE — Mr. and Mrs. Allan Soble (nee Ann Thomas) are happy to announce the birth of their daughter on Wednesday, July 31st, at General Hospital, Saturday, August 17th., 1946.

DEATHS

WRIGHT—At East Orange, N.J., on Monday, August 19th, Mary Louise, widow of David Wishart Wright, late rector of St. Mary's, Melville Wright, East Orange, N.J. Brother, Dr. Wishart Osborne, in her 91st year.

Funeral at the Grant Funeral Home, 48 North Front Street, Belleville, Tuesday. Funeral will be held on Tuesday, August 20th, to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, for service at 2.30 p.m. Interment Madoc Cemetery. A17-2t

IN MEMORIAM

FULTON — In loving memory of Captain John G. Fulton, killed in action on August 19th, 1944.
Sadly missed by Mother, Brothers and Grandmother.

MISS LUCILLE CAMPBELL from the
CHARLES of the RITZ
MONTREAL SALON will be here
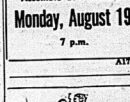
TOMORROW ONLY
You are invited to consult her on any Beauty Problem.
GEORGE PAULEY
DRUGGIST Phone 105

ATTENTION
ALL LEADERS — SCOUTS CUBS
Assemble at Armouries
Monday, August 19
7 p.m.
A17-2t



YOUR FAMILY NEEDS PROTECTION
... because the ownership or rental of property may be the cause of a claim against you. It is over which we can have sorry so call us today for full information on this inconceivable and complete liability coverage. You are, of course, under no obligation at all when you bring any of your insurance problems to us.
LORNE McDOUGALL INSURANCE AGENCY
Phone 3-4-5-6
Campbellford

I GAVE UP FOOLING WITH A BAD ACID STOMACH

"I found out to my sorrow that I couldn't fool around with ordinary sour-stomach remedies. Then I got PRESCRIPTION 'A.P.C.' and PEPSIN TABLETS. Now I rejoice in my freedom from sour stomach. A friend recommended PRESCRIPTION 'A.P.C.' and PEPSIN TABLETS to me. Now I rejoice in my freedom from sour stomach. I've been free of it for 12 days without taking any medicine at all."
Come In And Get Details And Trial Offer!
GEORGE PAULEY
DRUGGIST PHONE 105

SPECIAL BUSES
R.C.A.F. FIELD DAY
TRENTON AIR STATION
WED. AUGUST 21st
LEAVING RIGGS MOTORS
12.30 p.m. — 1.00 p.m. — 1.30 p.m. — 2.00 p.m. — 2.30 p.m.
RATHBUN BUS SERVICE
A18-2t

"CALLING ALL CARS"
TONIGHT
at 8.00
CJBQ
Sponsored by
YOUR BELLEVILLE DRUGGIST

000-Ton bacco Harvest er Way

Aug. 19. (CP)— bout the rolling tobacco of Southwestern Norfolk county and on fringe beyond the county the harvest of a 90,000,000 bacco crop moved in full was the beginning—the the tying, the priming, ing.

said comes with the suc- shouted, "Sold Canad-ntario's tobacco farmers, o have turned what once nded as a fairly barren only for pasturage into n country, this crop about $30,000,000 at 1946

bacco harvesters it meant ges for hard, fast work ys to three weeks— a son because the leaves garnered quickly and ormed when in their meant jobs for 10,000. disappointment for an 5,000 more workers ered into the district and work not sufficient for rkers' migration has annual event in the ntry. They come in or conveyances, most old year-after-year t each year brings its new workers, many of equipped for the jobs formed on what to ex-

most part farmers en- hands lost long before har- while expert curers re—the specialized men vest—are recruited from ern United States. e in the tobacco belt have been filled but re- crop vary from place dry spell that burned lower leaves or hail ched big, middle leaves, that robbed plants of stature all lent them- ds drab also of the ore ut prices are better ore years.

where you find the ig gone with the— among the crafts- as primers," tiers, boatmen. The latter picked tobacco. Prim- at $8 a day this year, much. Handlers rate and boatmen half of ers, primers and tiers re board as well. co bell rules have such an influx as this H. Simcox and Till- rmed with wandering hey ate the restaur- food. They slep in ilungalows there. ooney filled all avail- modation. Grocery besieged.

to Combat MATIC PAIN

ine Heart Pain Relief is a blend Ingredients that have been used by the Kidneys. It ...ommon Kidney and Bladder ...ains discomfort and pain- ...ly. Get relief now ...ffin. Don't take any substi- ...ine Heart Pain Relief has ...ands and has helped ...n can do for you.

137

GET MORE MILEAGE FROM YOUR TIRES THIS GOODYEAR PROVED WAY

1 DRIVE AT REASON ABLE SPEEDS
2 START EASY
3 BRAKE EASY
4 ROTATE YOUR TIRES

US PROMPTLY FOR REPAIR SERVICE

For greater mileage from your tires, follow the above simple rules and see us promptly for all tire repairs and vulcanizing before minor tire damage grows into costly major repair work. Let us show you how prompt repairs can save you money.

IFF BARAGAR
PHONE 346

CAPTURED IN MANHUNT

Thomas Ritchie, 32, is seen with Constables Donald Nicol and Ralph Edge of the Ontario Provincial Police being taken to the Cobourg Police Station to L'Original Jail. Unarmed, he was arrested on charge of attempting to rob Royal Bank branch at Embrun.

India Finds Remains of Lost City

New Delhi, (CP)—Archaeological finds, believed to be the relics of a civilization which flourished 50,000 years ago, have been discovered in the Narbada Valley in Gujrat and Central India, as a result of excavations conducted by the state archaeology of Rajpipla. These remarkable discoveries include the remains of an entire city at Mehswar in Indore State. This lost city is believed to be the finished city of Mahismati, capital of the Narbada Kingdom mentioned in ancient Indian epics.

Antiquities such as pottery, terra-cotta objects, beads, and brick structures found on the surface of the mounds throughout suggest that these sites were deserted during pre-historic times and were never occupied again. In addition, punch-marked coins, stone inscriptions and copper plates found at early historic sites have thrown new light on some hitherto unknown dynasties. These relate to a culture which existed from the early centuries of the Christian era down to the medieval period.

Mohenjo-Daro, another interesting relic of the pre-historic period, was discovered some years ago in Sindh. It bears testimony to the fact that India knew the art of town-planning much before the West revived it. It had a number of wide streets, lined on either side with buildings, some of them two storeys high. Burnt bricks were used for building houses, all of which had kitchens and a bath. The sewage system was well-planned, consisting of brick-built, open covered drains for the streets. Into them flowed drains from the houses, forming a complete network.

Fashion had its place too. Women used rouge and were fond of bedecking themselves with ornaments. Necklaces, head-bands, carrings, nose ornaments, bangles, bracelets and finger-rings from Mohenjo-Daro had all these. Embroidery was not unknown. Hand-spun and hand-woven cotton cloth was used. Men usually wore well-trimmed, short beards, but there were other styles too. Razors were in use and the eye cavations have revealed four different kinds.

Music, dancing and the allied arts were known to the people of the Indus Valley. So were games, which have come down to us through the ages. Some well-made marbles and dice are among the Mohenjo-Daro collections.

The people of these ancient cities were evidently meat-consumarians, fish, mutton and turtles being part of their daily food. As is evident from thousands of engraved tablets, they knew the art of writing. Apart from gold and silver, they had use for copper, tin, bronze and lead.

Albinism Fairly Common Among Animals, Plants

By The Canadian Press

Toronto, Aug. 19. (CP)—One in every 10,000 human births is an albino. Albinism—the absence of color due to pigment deficiencies—is more common among animals and plants and is considered by primitive peoples as evidence of supernatural powers.

White deer were regarded as spirits by North American Indians and were never shot and the white elephant is venerated by the Siamese. There are still remote settlements in the southern United States where presence of an albino is regarded as a certain harbinger of good luck for the year's harvest.

At the Montana National Bison Range an albino buffalo bull is one of the most popular attractions, and albino sparrows are fairly common. Crows, ravens, vultures and blackbirds with all or some white feathers are frequently reported, but birds with more colorful plumage, especially the reds and yellows, show albinism more rarely.

While albinism occurs in plants, the condition is generally fatal as the green pigment or chlorophyll contains organic matter on which the plant's life depends. An apparent exception is the Indian pipe, but that ghostly white flower is not an albino growth as it requires no chlorophyll, taking its food from other organic matter.

Whether you call him "chippy", "chipper", "chip-bird" or "hair bird", the chipping sparrow is a pillar of bird society and one of the gardener's best friends. About 98 per cent of his diet is composed of harmful insects and he specializes in three species of caterpillars that infest cabbages.

Other unattractive customers who whet Chippy's appetite are the grub that feeds on beet leaves and the pea louse, which may well regard him as its worst enemy.

Chippy is about 5 1-2 inches long, has a brown back streaked with darker shades of the same color, cheeks and underparts of grey and a bright brown head with a reddish glow.

That pound of codfish you picked up at the corner store weighs 1,000 pounds as far as the codfish are concerned.

J. Arthur Thompson, Aberdeen naturalist, estimates that it took the cod 10 pounds of whelk to build up that pound, and each pound of whelk was created by the consumption of 10 pounds of sea worms. Each pound of sea worms owed its (or their) existence to a diet of 10 pounds of sea-dust, which presumably just accumulated in odd corners of the ocean floor and required no nourishment.

All of which means that your pound of codfish started out as 1,000 pounds of sea-dust, defined by Mr. Thompson as "minute organisms and organic particles".

Tailor Didn't Like Eva Braun's Habits, Style

Taubenberg, Germany, Aug. 19.(AP)—If Eva Braun had washed her neck more often and taken shorter strides, she might have been a lady—to her tailor. But she didn't.

Adolf Hitler apparently didn't mind, and Otto Salman thought he did. Otto disliked Eva's habits, and there was nothing he could do about it.

Otto, at 45, now lives here atop a 2,000-foot mountain in hour's drive southward from Munich, quite satisfied to be forgotten as the tailor for Hitler's mistress, the woman she became and married in the last days of the crumbling Nazi Reich.

"She was pretty, with a nice figure," Ponatter said in an interview, "but she was what you would call a pretty shopgirl, nothing unusual. You never would turn around to look at her twice."

Otto kept waiting for Eva to express just one solid thought about anything, but never did.

"She didn't have any idea," he said disgustedly.

Eva worked as an apprentice for a Munich photographer, Heinrich Hoffman, when was Hitler's personal photographer for years.

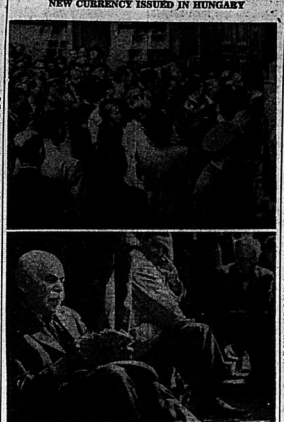
Hoffman remembers Eva as a worked on his staff, too, just as Otto remembers her.

"I never could impress on her that she should make a good appearance," says Hoffman. "Her neck was never quite clean."

In time, Hoffman introduced Eva to Hitler. The Fuehrer was intrigued. They stayed together to the end.

HEADACHE? Help get quick relief with ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT

NEW CURRENCY ISSUED IN HUNGARY



Aug. 15 was the deadline for turning in Canadian and American dollars at the National Bank of Hungary in exchange for the new currency based on the forint or gulden. The picture above describes the death penalty for anyone convicted of illegal operations in foreign currency. The new money is backed partly by Hungarian gold now being returned to Budapest from the American zone of Germany, where it was captured from the Germans. In TOP photo, a crowd forms in front of the bank to turn in their dollars for forints. The elderly gentleman, in LOWER photo, waiting his turn outside the bank, seems to be a bit reluctant to give up his American bills for the new money.

Salem

Salem — Service was held in Salem United Church on Sunday following the minister's vacation, Rev. F. G. Joblin, Port Perry, delivered the sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Sills, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sills, Foxboro, also Miss Lena Sills, Toronto, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Sills.

Rev. F. G. Joblin, Port Perry, who was a guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. F. Robinson, made several calls on friends in the community and in Melrose.

A large number from this line attended the wedding ceremony in Melrose United Church on Saturday when Jean Badgley and Jack McFarlane were united in marriage. Congratulations and best wishes are extended to them.

Mrs. F. W. Sills, Head Lake, and her sister and husband, Mrs. and Mr. Thos. Chilman, were overnight guests on Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Sills.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reid, Roslin, were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hagerman.

Master Earle Sills spent a few days with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sippy, Bethany.

Mrs. W. Wilson, Thomasburgh, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hagerman.

Marmora

Marmora—Corporal Alice McCann of Kingston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McCann.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Dusen and Sylvanus Van Dusen of Detroit spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard McGarvey.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hershortsoht of Toronto are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Bell at Crowe Lake.

Mrs. James McManus of Syracuse, N.Y., is visiting relatives here for a few days.

Guests at the Royal Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gray, Niagara Falls, Ont., Mrs. Ellen Crowley and Mrs. Marie Cohen, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fox of Toronto are spending two weeks at their cottage at Crowe Lake.

Misses Christina and, Sarah Archbell of Toronto, former residents of Marmora are occupying one of W. F. Bonter's cabins at Crowe Lake.

Campers at Bonter's camp include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelley, Painsville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dwyer, Dellroth, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Crego, Neonath.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Carnes and two children of Cleveland, Ohio, are occupying Miss Elsie Bonter's cottage at Crowe Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Bissell Stemie and daughter Shirley are holidaying at Mrs. Gordon Jarvis' cottage at Crowe Lake.

New guests at Marble Point Lodge are Mrs. .E. Schofield and Miss Alice Harston; Mr. and Mrs. H. White; Mrs. Bladman and family; Dr. and Mrs. Fop, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Young, Junior, Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Rekling, Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. W. Donnelly, Ottawa and Mr. W. R. Freeman, Brighton.

Guests at Tipperary Hotel include H. W. Sharpe, M. R. Woodridge, Mr. and Mrs. L. Weatherall, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kuck and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Macksroth, New Knoxville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Allewell, Harrisburg, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas, Sagerstown, Pa; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Everett, Clyde, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Twa and daughter Valerie are visiting relatives at Bancroft.

Mr. Fred Cowan spent the weekend in Ottawa.

Mr. Drennan Kennedy of Peterborough is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Bell at Crowe Lake;

Miss Ist St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, on Tuesday, August 13th, to Mr. and Mrs. D. E. LaPlante (nee Rita Shannon a son.

Capital Closeups

By JACK BRAYLEY

(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Ottawa, Aug. 19. —A strong whip of smoke curled through the cranny of the Victorian, red-roofed glass, church-like doors behind which affairs of the country were being settled.

A vigilant commissionaire sniffed with disfavor and offered with apparent disapproval: "The PM's away" and the Cabinet's meeting."

It was a regular session of the Privy Council and the fumes of Justice Minister St. Laurent's chibin of cigarets, Air Minister Gibson's pipe and Revenue Minister McCann's cigar were mingling in a sedate room that never sees smoke when Prime Minister Mackenzie King is in the chair.

The "PM" who works in his shirt-sleeves around his Laurier House library also insists on coats at Cabinet sessions. But during the recent hot spell, the commissionaire confided—with some disapproval—some of the Cabinet had shed their coats.

The No Smoking ban and the insistence on coats are the only concession to formality. Otherwise the discussions are "carried on in conversational and easy manner with ministers calling each other by their first names. Mr. King invariably uses last names, referring to his colleagues.

Sentenal Steady

Ross Macdonald, shrewd and canny Speaker of the House of Commons has hit upon a formula which he hopes may help conserve the present marathon session about August 23 or 24.

At chairman of the committee of the whole House, he calls out the items and signals their passage.

"I have found that you mustn't call them too fast or you have to back up and lose time and you mustn't call them too slow or you leave room for second thought and argument," he said. "So I have hit upon a middle course and we seem to be moving along nicely."

Prompt Action Saves Residence And Barn From Fire

MARMORA

Marmora, (Special)—A grass fire which threatened for a while the residence and barn of Jason Robertson, occured on Thursday afternoon on land west of Crowe River between No. 7 Highway and the old highway. The alarm was speedily given and Constable W. D. Lavender's direction, the village's chemical engines, assisted the volunteer brigade in extinguishing the blaze It was fortunate that high breeze was not blowing at the time or serious results might have occurred.

Ration Book No 6 To Be Distributed Week Sept. 9 - 16

Ottawa, August 17—Although national distribution of Ration Book No. 6 is to take place in the week of Sept. 9 to 16, distribution centres will not open on all days and all hours, C. J. Stanley, Regional Ration Officer of the Prices Board at Brockville stated Friday. Dates and hours will vary in each locality. Believers and district citizens are reminded to watch their local papers for official announcement as to when the dates and times distribution centres will be open in their locality. This is important because persons not picking up Book 6 while distribution centres are open will have to wait until after Sept. 29 before getting their new, books, Mr. Stanley stated.

Not only will they have to wait for a book but they may find themselves short of butter, meat and sugar, as two meats, one butter and five sugar-preserves coupons, become valid in book Septemeber 16 and 29.

Some modifications have been made in the new book. It will have a yellow cover and is slightly smaller. Coupon identification is made easier as the letters S for sugar, M. for meat and B for butter are printed on the respective blocks. As a guard against possible counterfeiting special marking have been added to coupons and the design has been made smaller.

YES, Javex cleans your drainboard too. Easily removes all dirt and discolorations—makes it snow-white in a jiffy. Javex is fast and new—so easy to use.

AT YOUR DEALER'S

Why More People Borrow at HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

It's true. More people do borrow money at Household Finance than any other Small Loans Company in Canada—almost 160,000 in 1945 alone. Household has a reputation for making loans, not turning them down.

More than 40,000 borrowed to pay medical expenses. Almost 30,000 to buy food, 12,000 to pay for repairs, and 12,000 for business needs. Thousands of others borrowed to buy clothing, home furnishings, real estate, for education, taxes, insurance and for many other reasons.

Your loan of from $20 to $1000 can be arranged simply and promptly at any one of our convenient offices. Tell us how much you need and how you want to repay. It's helpful to bring your income information with you. There's little else to do. Most times you can even arrange your loan by phone if you prefer. And remember, your loan at Household Finance costs you less than at any other Small Loans Company in Canada.

We'll be pleased to help you any time. Come in.

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE Corporation of Canada
LICENSED BY THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO
Canada's largest and oldest Small Loans Company with 41 offices in 34 cities

M. E. Holt, Manager
177 Charlotte St., opposite Loblaws, 2nd Floor, Landfield Block
PETERBOROUGH, ONT. Phone 5841
Hours 9 to 5 or by appointment — Loans made to farmers and residents of nearby towns

"CHRYCO" MEANS

"CHRYCO" is a trade name coined from "Chrysler Corporation". Parts and accessories bearing the trade name are supplied by Chrysler, Dodge and DeSoto, Canada, for Dodge trucks and Chrysler Industrial Engines.

You can depend on genuine CHRYCO BATTERIES. They are guaranteed by Chrysler engineers . . . supply a constant flow of power . . . under the toughest conditions. Available now at your nearest Chrysler-Plymouth-Fargo or Dodge-DeSoto dealer's. Install CHRYCO . . . THE POWER LINE BATTERY . . . and be sure.

Engineered by CHRYSLER CORPORATION OF CANADA, LIMITED Parts Division

LOCAL DISTRIBUTOR

BATEMAN MOTORS LTD.

11 MOIRA ST. WEST PHONE 2380

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Ontario Established 1841 — Intelligencer Established 1927

ONTARIO PRINTING & PUBLISHING LIMITED
Belleville, Ontario, Canada

Subscription Rates: By carrier in Belleville, 10c a week.
By mail in Canada, $6.00 per year; $3.50 for six months.
By mail to U.S.A., $8.00 per year; $4.50 for six months.
Member of Canadian Daily Newspapers Association
Member of The Canadian Press
The Canadian Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news credited to it or to The Associated Press or Reuters in this newspaper and also the local news published herein.
All rights of republication of special despatches herein are also reserved.

Car Space

Parking grounds have become a problem facing many cities today. Traffic continues to increase with the consequent need of new places in which cars may be left by those who have to travel by motor to their work and business and about their purchases. New York City is facing this condition of shortage of parking spaces and the latest idea is to build parking lots underground beneath most of the city's squares and parks. New York being a city of great dimensions and a vast acreage of parks could by this means find space for many thousands of automobiles, this removing them from the streets and leaving the streets more clear for the onward movement of traffic.

One United States city has already a subterranean parking space, four-floors deep under a park which extends over one of the city blocks. The San Francisco plan is said to be working out satisfactorily.

Cities which have not extended themselves greatly but have the germ of expansion will not have to try such heroic measures as New York may have to adopt to find places for automobiles. Where there is yet room for expansion there can be plans laid to take care of possible developments in need of car space.

Yet even the smaller cities and towns have their problems because automobiles come from near and far in this day and age of good roads.

In the course of time, when the production of motorcars gets fully under way, there is the likelihood of much more congestion in such cities as New York where space is at a minimum owing to the immense amount of business carried on and the large amount of space required for residential sections.

Air Speed

In test runs at Tangmere, Sussex, England, the highest recorded speeds by plane were made last week by Group Captain E. M. Donaldson, who flew at a speed of 626 miles an hour and Squadron Leader Waterston of Edmonston at more than 620 miles an hour. These figures will not be officially recorded as they were but test runs. The record up to the present has been 606 an hour, held by Group Captain H. J. Wilson of the R.A.F.

Cool weather delayed the official trials last week. The air was humid and cool when both pilots took the rate of over 620 miles an hour, and the altitude was about 3,000 feet.

This is a rate of over ten miles a minute or over a mile in six seconds.

Speed of planes has reached a rate which man up until recently could hardly have conceived as possible. Yet so accustomed has the present day become to the achievements of the plane that the unofficial figures, which are higher than the record, do not cause any unusual excitement among the people. Man has seen the attainment of speed ever increasing and does not become surprised when new figures are heard of.

Plane engineering has steadily become more and more thorough and increase in knowledge and in attainments will probably continue to shove upward the rates of travel of planes, though it is recognized that there is a limit beyond which it is unlikely a plane can go.

Designers and manufacturers of planes, inventors and airmen are giving their utmost to achieve the highest with this new means of travel of man.

What Housing Shortage Means

Housing shortage in so many parts of the earth is well known and its results have been many. The latest piece of news comes from Britain, that the housing lack in that country may force the diocese of Blackburn to ordain only men who will pledge to remain single for several years, according to the Rt. Rev. Wilfred Marcus Askwith, Bishop of the diocese.

Writing in the diocesan bulletin, he says: "I am not sure it will not be necessary for me to say soon that I cannot ordain men who will not under take to remain unmarried for six or ten years, and perhaps to institute clergy houses in towns in which assistant curates of several parishes may live together."

Birth-Rate Increase

An increase in the birth-rate and a fall in the death-rate are generally looked upon as a favorable sign of social progress. The United Kingdom statistics show that in the first quarter of 1946, no less than 181,445 births were registered in Britain, which represents a birth-rate of 17.2 per thousand population. From 1940 to 1944, the average for the first quarter was 16.7. Against this satisfactory figure, deaths totalled 165,153 or a rate of 14.8 per thousand population, whilst in the five years period mentioned above the average of 15.7 was recorded. In the second quarter of 1946, about 40,000 more children were born, but the final figure has not yet come to hand. A greater increase is expected for the third quarter of the current year.

Federation of World

One of the great obstacles to world peace is the multiplicity of languages. At every international gathering, it is necessary to have scores of interpreters on hand and even then sometimes the spirit of a speech may be lost and thus misinterpreted. Perhaps with something like that in mind, Sir Montague Burton, British textile manufacturer, has suggested in Canada, says the solution for present international problems would be a world federation of all nations with a common language, currency, labour laws, police and defence forces and a universal five-day 45 hour week.

Sir Montague believes that "responsible opinion" in Great Britain is favorable to the idea of world federation and suggests that the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States, experienced in democratic government, should take the initiative in establishing such a federation. His points out what is perfectly obvious that Canada would be in a position of minor importance if she were composed of a number of self-governing provinces, with padlocked frontiers, instead of being "regarded as a potential leading country."

If it were possible to take all Europe, which is only slightly larger than the whole of Canada and have a federation such as exists in Canada, many of the world's problems would disappear.

Slowly but certainly the world must come to the idea of federation if humanity is to survive on the planet. Surely it would be better to form such a federation than, every generation to have a war, each becoming bloodier than its predecessor, engulfing the flower of mankind. The idea of world federation is one by which the forward-looking people of the world must look for greater universal happiness and the end of all wars.

—Niagara Falls Review

Mr. Wells Sees it Through

Mr. Wells had an annoying habit of changing his viewpoint every year or two. He was a Don Quixote ever seeing new windmills at which to tilt.

He was a prophet—not always a reliable one, but so successful in the matter of airborne terror that he will assuredly not be without honor in his own country.

Beyond his successes and failures as preacher, crusader and prophet tower his achievements as story-teller. It is in this role that he will be longest remembered—remembered and enjoyed after his conflicting sermons and lessons in economics are forgotten.

—Montreal Herald

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST
(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

RIGHT GIRL

Some maidens are witty, some witty and pretty,
Some dance with remarkable grace;
Some sing to delight us, and others recite us
Sad ballads with gestures in place.
Some go in for swimming, some do bonnet trimming;
Some angle for trout in a brook;
But, pretty or clever, my choice is forever
The one who has learned how to cook.

Some maidens are nimble, some good with the thimble,
And some are devoted to art;
Some brilliant with knowledge they learned at a college;
Some maidens in business are smart.
There are maidens attractive, athletic and active,
And girls that some "other hitcher" look.
Some maidens have money. Watch out for them, sonny.
Make sure that the richest can cook.

Some maidens are slender some plump, but still tender;
There are girls over-bold or too shy.
Some maidens have dimples, and some wearing wimples
Get whistled at when they go by.
But hear me, young fellow, red-haired, black or yellow,
'Tis lucky you'll be if you hook
The maiden to live with, to give and forgive with,
Whose mother has taught her to cook.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

"Psst! Something's burning sir, and it isn't the toast!"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS ADD

August 19, 1926

Mr. W. E. Tummon, member for South Hastings in the last session of the House of Commons, was nominated without opposition yesterday afternoon at the Conservative Convention in the city here to be the candidate at the election to be held on September 14th. next. Mr. George Sine, the president, of the Association, presided.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Acerman of this city, are at present in Norway, according to cards received from them by friends here

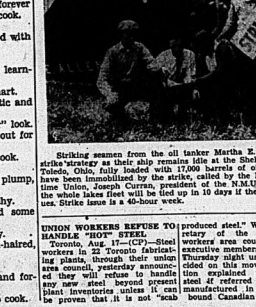
Mr. George Graham has purchased one of the latest models of the new Ford Coupes, delivered and it will arrive here this week.

10 YEARS AGO

August 19, 1916.

Mr. J. Harry Singer, of Rochester, N.Y., who is summering at Robbin's Cove, Prince Edward County, has established some reputation as a fisherman. Last week he caught a muskinonge which weighed 15 pounds. But this was only a beginner as on Monday of this week he caught one which measured 42 inches in length and weighed 32 pounds. This seemed to give Mr. Singer real sport for on Tuesday he caught two more muskinonge, one weighed 18 pounds and the other 20 pounds. On Wednesday morning he kept up his record of the previous day by catching two more fish, one weighed 12 pounds and the other 28 1-4 pounds. The fish were taken to Picton and photographed in order that Mr. Singer may show the evidence of his skill as a fisherman to his friends in Rochester. Mr. Sager is a former Hastings County boy, his early home being near Belleville. He has been coming to the Bay of Quinte to spend a vacation for the past four years. In fishing he uses a copper spoon.

MAP STRATEGY IN LAKES' SHIP STRIKE



Striking seamen from the oil tanker Martha E. Allen discuss strike strategy as their ship remains idle at the Shell Oil docks in Toronto. The ship, loaded with 17,000 barrels of oil, forty ships have been immobilized by the strike, called by the National Maritime Union, Joseph Curran, president. The whole lakes fleet will be tied up in 10 days if the strike continues. Strike issue is a 40-hour week.

UNION WORKERS REFUSE TO HANDLE "HOT" STEEL

Toronto, Aug. 17.—(CP)—Steel workers in 22 Toronto fabricating plants, through their union area council, yesterday announced they will refuse to handle any steel products, materials or plant inventories unless it can be proven that it is not "scab produced steel." W. Mackie, secretary of the Toronto Steel workers area council, said that executive members of 115 unions Thursday night unanimously decided on this move. The resolution explained that by "scab" is meant referred to steel being manufactured in the 3 strike-bound Canadian steel plants.

Shanghai, Once Queen of East, Not What She Used to Be

By SPENCER MOOSA

Shanghai, Aug. 19.(AP)—Confused and expensive Shanghai, once the queen city of the Orient, is not what it used to be, and many an old China hand sheds a quiet tear as he predicts that it never will be again.

The tolerant minority say the Chinese inherited some of the most difficult problems when they took back a city which had been occupied by the Japanese for eight years and which before that was famed for its monthly-over-the-national settlement and French concession.

The Bund, famous waterfront street along the Whangpoo, is no longer a clean, orderly thoroughfare. Peddlers spread their wares in the streets.

Stealing of ships' cargoes is one of many Shanghai rackets, but strictly in the big-league class. Importers have lost valuable cargo from theft run into hundreds of millions of Chinese dollars monthly.

Minor rackets also flourish. Another of these is the so-called "push-push." Gangs of hoodlums beat up shore patrolmen and rickshaw over the Bridges of Soochow Creek and demand money for their uninvited aid. Refusal brings swift indignities and violence.

Shanghai is expensive. A taxi ride which costs the equivalent of 33 cents, now costs $3. Recently there was a couple of beers at a good hotel cost $15 to $20 for two persons.

HOUSE RESUMES

(Continued from Page One)

Gives Own Opinion

Pressed as to whether this meant abrogation of the government's final say, Mr. Ilsley said that he was giving his own opinion. The House of Commons must approve any change of policy, because "they passed the Act which established the earlier government policy."

Mr. Knowles said the time would come when "we shall have to undo the harm done to the Canadian economy by the monopoly which we are building up and transferring from the production in Canada's northland, from the people who live in the people of the country as a whole. . . . The Wheat Board is going to announced the government policy in 1944, relations between the Government and the Canadian Pacific Air Lines were "far from satisfactory."

"Today I have come to the conclusion that the Wheat Board, when it was announced was the correct policy. Its application, however, will say again must be the paramount consideration of the special preachers."

Peterboro's rate of taxation is 17 mills.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALK.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

OH, DOCTOR, HOW COULD YOU?

The common cold is usually not serious—begins an article entitled "The Common Cold" by Albert D. Kaiser, M.D., City Health Officer, and Rochester Hospital Service News.

With all due respect for Dr. Kaiser—I have failed in this column many times his unique and, I think, unparalleled ability to get the effects or removal of loyalis from school children. Perhaps that he makes the same mistake that nearly all excellent and health authorities do when they attempt to instruct the public about "the common cold." He fails to define or describe the entity, ailment, disease or whatever it may be, and therefore a reader cannot know what the doctor is talking about.

But that, it is necessary to say, is the main reason why the old timers in clinical and preventive medicine do their—strive to keep on. It is the only, logical, reasonable and scientific custom to define or describe the entity, ailment or illness about which you write or speak, so that your readers or listeners will know what you are talking about. Of course if you don't know what you're talking about you have to omit that embarrassing detail—and that is not at all difficult. The old timers have two ways of ducking the issue—they calmly ignore it and plunging right into the stereotyped or learned lecture. Dr. Kaiser does in this instance; or (b) by telling the reader what it is of course everybody knows what the common cold is, so you need not be told. Then they proceed to tell us up to date prescribing it—and nine out of ten readers or listeners don't die then or at least let it pass without an audible yah-oh!

In the second paragraph of his article the Rochester city health officer concedes that "exact cause of the "cold" is not known but says there is evidence that a virus is wholly or partially responsible. Now, to be exact, partly, or at any rate without visible means of support, the "being chilled, fatigued or emotionally upset tends to make us more susceptible to the cold virus."

Medical science is funny. There the doctor tell almost in one breath, th "some evidence that unidentified virus may be or partially responsible, yo being chilled, fatigued or tionally upset may be responsible to this hypot virus.

Well, now, I'm emotional set over this. I had as intended to pound away at t ficle all day long today, b out of the question now. I never mind, never mind forget it as soon as I ar the bowling green for the noon's conference.

Be that as it may, I sti the book "Children's Ton and Our", by Albert D. M.D., associate professor clinics, University of Ro Medical School, (publis Lippincott, '32), as the best on the subject in medical tures.

QUESTIONS & ANSW

By Dr. W. A. Sheraton

I am fifteen and I wish t my legs, as all the girls Answer—You embarras ing a depilatory will make you bald or cause thicker. (S

Answer—You embarras child. In the booklet "T and Scalp" is a chapter on hair. I'll find it a several readers urge me t up my mind which states the book, name shaving or depilatory ma not. If I have to read th myself to make up my will not be soon. In yo daughter, make her wait as the age of close a and in danger of seeing "being chilled, fatigued emotionally upset" tends to make us more susceptible to the cold virus.

(Copyright 1946 by John Co.)

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

What is asbestos composed of?

Asbestos is a mineral found in Canada, Africa and Italy. It is a long, silky, flexible fibres are capable of being spun and woven or felted into a fire resistant fabric that has a wide range of commercial uses because of its incombustible and insulating properties.

The name is derived from a Greek word meaning "inextinguishable" or "unquenchable" and was applied originally by the ancients to a substance which they were supposed to produce an unquenchable flame once set on fire. Asbestos is more important than textiles of asbestos—anthophyllite, chrysotile, serpentine, etc., the first two are silicates of lime and magnesia, and the third is a fibrous silicate of magnesia.

Asbestos shares with coal and sulphur the distinction of being one of the few nonmetallic minerals of great use to man.

Although deposits of many kinds are found in the world's southern Africa and Canada are the chief source of the mineral. Quebec Province alone, At present Canada is about 80 per cent of the world's production, but deposits are known to exist in other countries less than five per cent. Where the rock is near the surface, in Quebec it is mined and quarried; where it lies deeper it is mined through shafts.

After being quarried the rock is carefully cobbed by hand for the longest fibres. The natural state resembles bundles of asbestos fibres almost parallel and woven on looms into almost any kind of cotton or wool. Many textiles produced by combining asbestos with cotton, wool or other mineral substances.

BLOODIEST RIOTS

(Continued From Page One.)

Moslems Swarm Into Hindu Areas

Moslem crowds continued to swarm into Hindu areas, and Hindu crowds into Moslem areas. Damage to property was expected to run into millions of dollars.

In some cases, all occupants of houses—even children — were killed in a group, and the houses set afire.

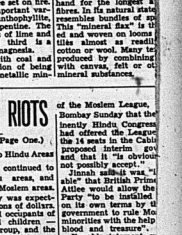
The rioting grew out of differences between the Moslems and Hindus on the British proposal for Indian dependence. Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, Bombay Sunday that the friendly Hindu Congress had offered the League but a few seats in the Cabinet proposed interim government and that "in obvious not possibly accept."

Jinnah said it was "absolute" that British Prime Attlee would allow the Congress "to be bullied" on its own terms by the government to rule Moslem minorities "with blood and treasure".

Jinnah's statement was interpreted in some political circles as a hint that the Moslems would mediate between the Moslem League and the Congress Party.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R.I.S



SCRAPS

STONES ARE MENTIONED 203 TIMES IN THE BIBLE, AND ROCKS 215 TIMES — BUT THERE WAS STILL IS FULL OF LIMESTONE ROCKS, LARGE AND SMALL

A FROG PUTS OUT ITS TONGUE BACKWARDS, FLIPPING IT OVER WHEN A FLY ALIGHTS AT THE LIPS

WHY DOES DUST BRING SNOW AND RAIN?

SNOWFLAKES AND RAINDROPS NEED DUST PARTICLES TO CONDENSE THEM

The Biggest Event of the Year!

THE 12th ANNUAL

FIELD DAY, MIDWAY and DANCE

AT TRENTON AIR STATION

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21

ADMISSION FREE
Car Parking 25c

Grand Parade of Floats and Participants at 1 p.m.

ADMISSION FREE
Car Parking 25c

CASINO FOLLIES

Good clean fun for the tired farmer or business man.

PLUS
A COMPLETE ADULT MID-WAY OPEN FROM 1 TO 12 P.M.

AQUATIC DISPLAY

Featuring
JOHNNY TETT
and his
ACROBATIC DIVING TEAM DELUXE

TURTLE DERBY

THE THRILL OF A LIFETIME! TAKE A CHANCE. THE ODDS ARE BIG AND LITTLE!

BOOTHS ON GROUNDS

SERVING REFRESHMENTS OF ALL KINDS

LI TCHAN YUEN

One of the greatest shows of magic you'll ever see.

Direct from Buffalo.

LOGAN'S PUNCH & JUDY SHOW

12 BIG ACTS — 30 CHARACTERS

Fun For All Ages—6 to 60

PUPPY LAND

FREE PUPPIES FOR THE KIDDIES!

COME AND TAKE A CHANCE!

Plus Many Other Big Attractions

TRACK & FIELD EVENTS

Races For Everyone, Young and Old

MONSTER DANCE

NORMAN HARRIS
and His Orchestra
Direct From King Edward Hotel, Toronto

9 P.M. to 1 A.M.

Featuring
Charming songstress Margaret Henry and the flying fingers of Vincent Boyd at the piano.

GRAND FINALE—BIG FIREWORKS DISPLAY

The Greatest This Community Has Ever Seen!

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

MARRIAGE NOTICE

MEAGHER—WALDEN— At St. Michael's Rectory on Aug. 17, 1943, by Monsignor J. F. Nicholson, Madeline June Walden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Walden, to Lawrence Anselem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen G. Meagher.

Miss Aileen Mason left yesterday for a two weeks' vacation, at Port Huron, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown and daughters, Ruth and Norma, Leaside, and Mrs. Gus Coloseides, Detroit, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Whalen and family, Church Street, over the weekend.

On Thursday evening a stork shower was held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Scott, Point Anne, in honor of Mrs. Ross Relwood, nee Rose Pinkie. During the evening cards were played with Mrs. Ellen Carter winning Mrs. Jen Lott second and Mrs. Elsie Sweeney receiving the consolation prize.

Mrs. J. H. Grills, Church St., celebrated her eighty-fourth birthday on Sunday. During the day a large number of friends called to offer messages of congratulations, a great many cards and gifts were given to the celebrant.

Mrs. Harvey Scott, Point Anne, is making satisfactory recovery from her car accident, and is now at the home of W. H. Juby.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lashbrook, Misses Margery and Joan Lashbrook, of this city, and Miss Marion Lashbrook, Kingston, are vacationing at Crowe River.

Mrs. F. S. Reid, 72 Cedar St., is visiting her niece, Mrs. Ann Orr Carr, at Kingston, for a few days.

Miss Marilyn Seldon, Bleecker Avenue, is spending a week with Miss Mary Evans at her cottage near Picton.

Mrs. J. L. Shiels, Ann Street, has returned home after visiting for a number of weeks with relatives in Chapleau and Chalk River.

Mrs. Emma Sider, Detroit, is visiting her father at the home of her brother, Mr. Stephen Wood, Evans Street.

Mr. Sykes Large, who had his left arm amputated above the elbow on Friday last, is progressing favorably in the Belleville General Hospital.

VETS' GERMAN BRIDE

Love laughs at legislation as well as lockjaws. So Joseph G. Roth, ex-G.I. of Philadelphia, has cut through snarls of red tape and will bring home his German bride, above. A military government ruling decided for Roth despite the army's ban on marriages between American soldiers and frauleins.

WEDDINGS

PICKERING—LAZIER

Bridge Street United Church, Bethany, decorated with gladioli and ferns, was the setting on Friday, August 6th, at 8 p.m. for the marriage of Mary Lucille, only daughter of Mrs. Lazier and the late Roy A. Lazier, to Leslie James Pickering, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pickering, Uxbridge. Rev. D. C. Amos officiated and Mr. Gordon Lazier presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was escorted up the aisle by her cousin, Mr. Wilson Nightingale. She wore a floor-length gown of white marquisette over satin, fingertip veil and carried an all-white cascade bouquet of white gladioli and snapdragon.

Miss Norma Smith her attendant was gowned in lavender crepe and taffeta with Talisman shoulder-length veil and carried a cascade of Talisman gladioli and statice.

Mr. Douglas Lattimer was groomsman. Mr. Wilson Nightingale and Mr. John Pickering acted as ushers.

At the reception held in the church parlours the bride's mother received the guests, wearing aquamarine crepe with matching hat and corsage of Dream roses. The groom's mother assisted wearing pink marquisette with corsage of Bettertime roses.

For a wedding trip north the bride chose a brown wool checked suit with brown accessories and corsage of Talisman roses. They will reside in Hamilton.

Peaches

This is the time for peaches and all the year the crop is very good. Many a homemaker has promised herself a large supply of home canned peaches for next winter to make up those desserts which were missed so much by the family last year. With that thought in mind, part of the family's canning sugar quota has probably been put aside.

Peaches make a delicious jam and luscious desserts also. Fruit desserts are most popular in hot weather because they need very little preparation and are appetizing and the fruity flavor suggests coolness.

For canning, the home economists of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture recommend peaches of the "y" variety or Rochester or Elberta's or the Golden Jubilee.

Peaches may be canned by either the "cold pack" or the "hot pack" method. In either method, the peaches are selected according to size and degree of maturity. Over-ripe or under-ripe fruit only should be used. Peaches with bruises should be put aside and the good portion used for jam or dessert. Peaches are easier to peel after blanching (digging in boiling water) which in the case of peaches will be found helpful in the removal of the skins. Peaches like pears and apples discolor quickly after peeling and therefore should be placed in Ascorbic-acid brine as soon as they are peeled. The peaches, when drained from the brine, are halved or quartered and pitted. For the cold pack method, the peaches are packed in sealers, cut side down and covered with boiling syrup. The pint glass sealers and 20 oz. tin cans are processed in the boiling water bath for 20 minutes. The quart sealers and 28 oz. tin cans are processed 25 minutes in the boiling water bath. Glass sealers only can be processed in a thermostatically controlled over at 278 degrees Fahrenheit and time sealers 25 minutes; and quart sealers: 45 min. The hot pack method differs from the cold pack. After the peaches are prepared as in, blanched, skinned, drained from the brine, halved or quartered and pitted, they are simmered for 5 minutes in the syrup and packed hot. The processing time is decreased because of this precooking. Sealers of both sizes and the cans are processed 15 minutes in the boiling water bath. In the oven, pint glass sealers are processed 25 minutes and quart sealers, 30 minutes at 275 degrees Fahrenheit.

PEACH JAM

6 cups sliced peaches
3 cups sugar
½ cup cider or blended vinegar or lemon juice.

Prepare fruit, then add sugar, mix thoroughly and allow to stand one hour before boiling. Start cooking and when jam begins to boil, add the cider or blended vinegar or lemon juice. Boil jam, uncovered for 15 to 20 minutes. Pour into hot sterilized jars, cool, seal. Yield: 4 1-2 cups.

Note—Boiling time should be counted from the moment jam comes to a full rolling boil.

Jam should be stirred frequently to prevent sticking. Since boiling time is approximate, jam should be tested for consistency, by removing a spoonful from heat, placing a tablespoon of jam on a cold saucer and chilling it quickly. If jam does not set to proper thickness, it should be cooked for a few minutes longer, then retested.

PEACH SURPRISE

Rich biscuit dough (using 2 cups all-purpose flour)
2 peaches halved and pitted
5 teaspoons brown sugar
Make rich biscuit dough. Roll to ½ inch in thickness and cut 12 rounds of 4 inch diameter.

On each of six rounds, place half a peach, cut side up, put 1 teaspoon brown sugar in the hollow. Cover with other rounds of dough, press edges together, and bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F. for 15 to 20 minutes or until browned. Serve with rich milk flavored with a few drops of almond extract or with pudding sauce. Six servings.

CRUSTED PEACHES

1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons honey
6 peaches
1-2 cups dry ready to eat flake cereal
1 tablespoon butter
1-4 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix lemon juice and honey. Peel peaches, halve and pit. Dip in lemon mixture; Roll in crushed cereal in greased baking dish, cut side up. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes. Serve hot or cold, plain or with custard sauce. Six servings.

By DOLORES BOLAND

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Although the closed heel is going to dominate the footwear scene Fall, just now it is the sling back shoe that rides high from sports wear, through street wear to the dance floor. Red elkskin makes this nice little casual sandal good for slacks or play wear. A welcome revival is the useful brown and white spectator sports shoe, shown here with a new twist, the open-back. For smart afternoon wear a navy pump with grosgrain ornament and platform and a perforated vamp is shown. The feminine touch is used for the newest snakeskin bags, to make them right with sotter cloth-ier, or slipcover, for the casual. Various bright colors, is used for a long, flat envelope bag, with cartridge-pleated and draped onto a very wide, flat, shiny, gilt metal frame. Very wide handle.

A trend in general-wear dresses is the high neckline and emphasis on yoke treatments. A casual daytimer of pique-and-rayon rayon crepe has a rounded, shoulder to shoulder bib yoke between high necklines. Yoke and cuffs of the full bishop sleeves are hand-stitched in a quilted effect.

A minute-MIRACLE for your Hair

CREME SET

BY Gaylole Sisters

Creme-Set is make-up . . . a minute-miracle for your hair! It tames wild stray wisps . . . imparts lustre and a luminous sheen . . . Creme-Set will COAX curls back when your permanent is nearly grown out.

$1.00
$1.50

DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138

"SALADA" TEA BAGS

So handy

BRITISH MODELS IN EXCHANGE FOR U.S. BEAUTIES ARE NOW IN HOLLYWOOD

Now en route to Hollywood are six British models who, under the plan of Lucia Clayton, London's top-ranking model impresario, will be exchanged for six U.S. models. From LEFT to RIGHT, TOP, Margaret Ailworthy, career girl type; Johnny Johnson, intellectual beauty; Tamara Naplekova, sophisticated; Georgia Clifford, sports, and BELOW, Joyce Skidmore, showgirl, and Monna Howard, the artistic type of model.

BEAUTY By HELEN JAMESON

Lipstick Logic

It is not surprising that women gang up at cosmetic counters. They're looking for beauty magic that will make the prettiest look prettier, that will restore youthful radiance to faces that are beginning to show wear and tear. It is a sentful diversion. The would-be buyers realize that cosmetic chemists are resourceful; no telling what they're likely to be up to is well to be watchful. A woman may be firm when it comes to guarding her family budget, but she's just a softie when complexion glorifiers are placed before her.

She isn't stupid, she isn't vain. She's wise. The better she looks, the better she feels. The better she feels the more valuable she will be. The whole family benefits when Ma trudges home laden with toilet-table goodies. When she piles goodies there, she'll enjoy relaxation. She'll lay on the counterfeit blushes, heave a sigh of hopefulness, and will say to herself, "There's life in the old gal yet."

Let us consider the lipstick, a movie booster if ever there was one.' It was picked on by long-nosed critics; but they have long since fallen silent. Noses, being less formidable, less austere. A little snoop on the face of a man lemon into a peach, and if that isn't something, your reporter doesn't know what is.

Choosing the most becoming color isn't easy, we grant you. The tone that looks the loveliest, may not be the one that is most flattering to the facial composition. At make-up bars—there is usually one in every large department store one can have the help of professionals skilled in handling these important matters many times a day, cultivates a keen eye for color harmony.

It is a good plan to have several lipsticks ready, of natural shade for daytime use, a more vivid tint for evening wear. Certain soft lights are on and the merry evening is in full swing, a girl and her synthetic complexion are on better terms than in the glaring light of day. Sunlight seems to exert at faces that carry too heavy a load of sham beauty. It shows it up. Of course, rouge and lip veneer are put there to be seen, but they should not endeavor to put out the public eye.

A new fancy, one that works out well for the white-haired sisters is a combination of mauve powder and a lipstick of crimson with a violet cast. It gives delicacy to the complexion, makes with the hair look silvery white.

The passion for heavy painting of the lips goes on over. Wide faces, with large features, can get away with it, but neither the girl with the oval, heart-shaped face would do better to limit the application to a light film, with color-cut border lines. If the under lip is extra full, the upper one should carry more pigment.

There's life in the old gal yet.*

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Fee For a Baptism

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our child is soon to be baptized. My husband and I are not church members and I would like to know if we have our child baptized in the minister's home or church and should pay the minister for this service.

S. A.

Some ministers are willing so accept a fee for this service, and some do not. I suggest that you offer the minister a fee and abide by his attitude.

Bridegroom's Attendant Should Not Pay For Flowers For Bride's Attendant

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Last month my girl friend and I were members of a wedding party. Now the bridegroom has asked me to pay him $3 for the flowers my girl friend carried at the wedding. I am pretty sure that I have read in your column that the bridegroom always pays for all the flowers. I wish you would print the facts again so that I can prove to this bridegroom that I am not what he thinks of me because I have not sent him the eight dollars.

W. A.

Generally the bridegroom pays for his bride's bouquet. Always it is his responsibility to send a corsage to the bride's mother and one to his own mother; and to his sister and sister-in-law if she is his best man, and ushers.

The flowers carried or worn by the bride's attendants (maid or matron of honor, and bridesmaids) are paid for by the bride or her family. . . or the bridegroom may pay for them if he wishes.

It is entirely not the responsibility of the best man or usher to pay for the flowers of any of the bridal attendants. Since in this case it is certainly obvious that the bridegroom does not wish to pay for the flowers of the bridal attendants, this responsibility should be assumed by the bride's family. In any case it isn't your responsibility . . . no matter what the bridegroom is trying to make you believe! It is supposed to be an honor to be a best man or usher . . . not a financial responsibility.

H. A.

Gift To Camp Counselor?

Dear Mrs. Beeckmap:

My daughter is at a camp for the Summer months, and I would like to know if it is proper to give her counselor a gift at the end of the season.

H. A.

Yes, this would be a proper and generous gesture to make to the counselor. But my suggestion is that your daughter send this gift to the counselor at her home address a week, two after the closing of the camp .

Question About Catching The Bride's Bouquet

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please settle a question which has been bothering me and my friends? Last week at a wedding about a month ago my sister, the bridesmaid, caught the bride's bouquet. She gave it to the bride's mother, thinking that this was the proper thing to do. At a more recent wedding we attended, the girl who caught the bride's bouquet took it home with her. Which was the right thing to do?

E. W.

It is the custom for the girl who catches the bride's bouquet to keep it. But your sister's generous inclination was not only proper but shows her sensitive appreciation of what this gift would mean to the bride's mother. Of course, instead of tossing her bouquet among her attendants, presents it to her mother.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"How can I tell if he likes me?"

There's never a day goes by that the mail doesn't bring a host of letters that end up with the very same question.

The stories these letters tell may differ in detail, but in one form or another, they follow this self-same pattern: "I love a boy. He likes me but her out occasionally and she falls for him, so hard that she seems to believe she is going to lose interest in all other girls and concentrate on her.

But she can't quite make out how he feels toward her. And so she asks this question: "How can I tell if he likes me?"

Here, for example, is a typical letter that came in the morning's mail.

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I like a boy, but don't know if he likes me or not. He acts as though he likes me, but then he acts as though he likes other girls too much. Please tell me how to find out if he likes me.

"Loveless Love."

That one weakness no time beating about the bush, but goes straight to the point. Others sometimes wander on for pages and pages, describing each detail of the boy's appearance, telling how many times he has taken her out and just what they did on their various dates, and giving altogether enough information about the situation for a fair-sized book. But always, eventually, comes the same plaintive query: "How can I tell if he likes me?"

There are so many letters of this kind that I can't possibly answer them individually. So will everybody who has asked me this question please consider the following as meant for them just as much as for the writer of the quoted letter?

It doesn't seem as though it should be hard to tell whether or not a boy likes you, especially when it is a case of a boys feeling toward a girl.

In spite of the fact that many of these apparently perplexing questions lead one to think that its hard to analyze ,her boy friends feeling because he's so baffling, there's actually only a rare male creature who is clever enough to make his reactions toward a person of the opposite sex quite clear and completely unmistakable. In fact, there's nothing in the world most of them are more eager to do as to take every conceivable opportunity to let the object of affections know that she has them at her feet.

Most boys let little grass grow under their feet in pursuing a girl who has captured their fancy. They telephone her every day, after day, sometimes hour after hour, trying to think of excuses to keep on at the very next dance, the very movie, the very party, during or what-not that she's attending. They send her things to remind her of their existence—little mementoes, if they are very young, or candy, books, flowers and gifts if they're older and have more pocket money. They call for her, bring her home away from her locality, they turn into tireless—and voluminous—letter writers, even though up until then, their mothers had to hound them into writing the sketchiest of notes to an absent relative.

No, girls, you shouldn't have to wonder long whether your boy friend is interested in you or not. If he really wants you to look his way he won't keep looking—he's not likely to leave you in any doubt.

Do you suffer distress of MONTHLY FEMALE WEAKNESS?

This fine medicine is very effective to relieve such symptoms of female weakness, nervous tension, "changeful cues" feelings, of such functional disturbances of normal monthly distress—Get LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

DON'T MISS THE GIGANTIC AUGUST FUR COAT SALE

NOW GOING ON AT DELANEYS

Exclusive Furriers
17 CAMPBELL ST.
OPPOSITE Y.M.C.A.

GREAT SAVINGS UP TO 50%

For Men as well as Women

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so generally used by women we are often asked, "Is Nerve Food for men as well as women?"

Yes, fully as many men as women have nervous disorders the result of sleep, indigestion, headaches and chronic backache, and each element soon respond to the use of this well known mineral and Vitamin B1 food.

Ask for the new economy size bottle of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

60 pills—60c.
150 pills—$1.20

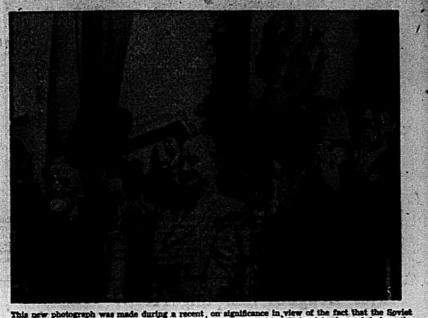
VERSATILE CANADIAN MODEL

One Canadian who has climbed to success is pretty, vivacious Trudi de Lesseps, a top-notch Powers model, who is seen having tea while at work in her New York apartment. A former Montrealer, she is adept at painting, sketching, sculpturing, designing and commercial photography, and is a granddaughter of Sir William MacKenzie, builder of the first trans-Canada railway. As her success as a style models would indicate, Miss de Lesseps is an avid horsewoman and rides whenever she finds time. Last fall she was featured in one of Canada's top-flite fashion shows at Halifax.

AFTER WAIT OF THREE YEARS MEETS BRITISH FIANCE'S PARENTS

After waiting for three years, Elaine McDonald she meets his father and mother at Egham, Surrey, England. Only war was able to get to British Isles, where they will be married.

BULGARIA ASKS BIG FOUR FOR PART OF GREECE



This new photograph was made during a recent parade and patriotic demonstration in the Bulgarian capital. In the CENTRE, standing before a huge portrait of himself is Georgi Dimitrov, Communist leader of Bulgaria. On the RIGHT is Kimon Georgiev, premier of Bulgaria. During the parade, marchers carried photos of Stalin as well as of their own leaders, an incident that now takes on significance in view of the fact that the Soviet Union is backing Bulgaria's demand before the Big Four for a territorial slice of Greece. Bulgaria, during the war, was an Axis satellite, while Greece fought strongly against Germany and Italy. Bone of contention is a strip of land called Western Thrace.

PAST AND PRESENT IN SEA CRAFT

Polish naval cadets are silhouetted against the sky as they look over the bowsprit of their ancient vessel, the Dar Ponarza, in contrast to the modern ship in background, the S. S. Empire Trooper, at Southampton docks, England. The training ship of the Polish merchant navy arrived here on her first training cruise. During the war the vessel was interned in Sweden and returned to Poland last October.

An Island Mystery Of Graves and a Ship

(By J. E. Macdonnal in the Australian News Letter)

The Australian cruiser Australia lay alongside the concrete jetty inside Colombo harbor. Sailors clustered busily around her crane and a dump of large packing cases on the pier. A case had just been hooked to the crane whip. As it took the weight the case's wire strap tautened and stretched visibly before its load lifted clear of the ground.

"Strugh", marvelled a sailor, "they're heavy. I wonder what are . . ."

The case swung inboard, turning slowly, and on its side, plain to see, were the letters, "NOIC SINGAPORE".

"Naval Office in Charge Singapore", said the same tar, looking at the crowded pier about him. "And our next ports supposed to be a secret . . ."

Which effect, as the ship's company was soon to learn, was just what their captain desired.

That afternoon the cruiser slipped her wires, slid unobtrusively out of the harbor, and headed out to sea. She altered course when out to the eastward, holding it for some hours, then swung her bow round and coursed due south.

Conjecture was rife on board as to what "they" were up to this time. The captain settled the question over the loud-speakers.

"This is the captain speaking". "We are bound quite a good way south—about latitude 50 degrees in fact—just above the Antarctic. As you know, there are enemy raiders operating in the Indian Ocean, and we have reason to believe that one of their bases is ashore on Kerguelen Island. The ship will proceed there forthwith, and investigate our Intelligence. The cases you saw coming inboard are mines."

For five days the cruiser plowed southward until the blue of tropical seas changed to the green of the Roaring Forties, and clear warm skies to the leaden dullness of the sub-Antarctic.

On the afternoon before Kerguelen rose the ship eased down to seven knots. Men specially detailed got to work—for she was no ordinary mine-layer —and soon a string of evil-looking black beetle, bobbing and glistening, stretched astern in the whiteness of her wake. One by one the mines sank below the surface. Their mooring wires steadying them at 15 feet they lay in wait—for all I know they're there still.

That night the sky cleared, and the ship's ship adjusted her speed to raise the island at dawn. Before the first streaks of light glimmered in the east the action alarms startled out their summons, and full ahead the ship at action stations.

With Kerguelen a dim mass bulking ahead, the cruiser eased closer, guns loaded, lookouts alert, in every heart a pious hope that they'd catch something inside the lair.

The island before them rose from the sea in breath-taking beauty — a huge necklace of brown rocks fringed its base; above them gentle slopes covered thickly with vivid green bushes rising to embrace the roots of a mountain whose snow-laid reaches and crest shimmered and shone like a great jelide.

Australia moved on and opened a wide bay on the southern side. But to searching binoculars it offered nothing afloat—nothing except a dark shape seemingly half in the water, its bows reaching on the beach. The cruiser dropped anchor and prepared to land an armed party.

A petty officer from Adelaide was in the party which went alongside and boarded the stricken ship. He saw a merchantman of about 2,000 tons with a hole in her side at waterlevel abreast the engine-room. Her stern was low in the water, almost awash, and her bow lay wedged high and dry on the gravelly beach. He clambered on board. The upper deck was littered with scores of empty brass cartridge cases. The ship had evidently been engaged in action—with a raider!

From the bridge amidships a dark burnt trail scored along the wooden deck towards the engine-room hatch. This was the trail of the fuse which had detonated the cutting charge and blown her side open.

The landing party carefully searched her. The PO stepped into the saloon. Here, in silence accentuated by the lapping of the water against the dead sides, a table with a rotting cloth had been laid for dinner. The shock of the explosion or of grounding had flung knives and forks at random over the deck; a loaf of bread, green with mould, lay under a torn curtain of an open porthole, which rustled eerily in the breeze, and a thick red stain besmirched the tablecloth from a broken sauce bottle.

The PO stepped through into an alleyway and found the officers' cabins. In one of these ransacked, he picked up from the litter on the deck a photograph. Wiping it of a thick layer of dust, he saw it was of a girl of a foreign type, probably French, and of striking beauty. He stowed it in his haversack.

Two men waded ashore to examine the beach, and stood, waving excitedly, 30 or 30 yards from the fringe of bushes which edged the sand.

From their shape and size it seemed obvious the weed-grown mounds on the spot were graves. There were seven of them, side by side.

A signal was sent to the ship ADD—AN ISLAND MYSTERY! stating the position and requesting orders. These came quickly in the shape of a boatload of picks and shovels, and the ship's chaplain and surgeon.

The left-hand grave was opened first, but the state of decomposition of the corpse was too advanced to allow of the surgeon's ascertaining the cause of death. It seemed certain, though, that it had been a violent one.

Satisfied that the mystery was no nearer solution, the officer in charge ordered the bodies interred again, this time as befitted Christian burial.

From the Australia had been noticed, not far from the graves, a circular ring where the grass was of a distinctly greener hue than its surroundings. It looked as though something had been buried there, too. The party was ordered to investigate.

To their relief, the hovels revealed dumb after drum of fuel oil, buried in a circular trench, and all full. It seemed that Kerguelen Island had been meant for a raider's base after all, though, on second thoughts the facts rather nullified this view. Fifty drums of fuel oil would last a powerful ship only a matter of hours; the island was thoroughly scoured and, apart from a few rickety old huts, was completely devoid of both storehouses and inhabitants. Why, then, had such care been taken to hide this small amount of fuel? And for whom, or what, was it intended?

Some time later, after Madagascar had been taken from the Vichy French, the petty-officer who had been with the search party wrote to the Chief of Police of Diego Suarez, a port in the north of Madagascar, enclosing the girl's photograph and explaining, without disclosing information of importance, how he had found it.

The interesting sequel came months later. Still in the Australia, the PO received a letter from Diego Suarez— from the girl herself. It appeared that the Police Chief had recognized her as soon as he had seen her likeness, and had forwarded the letter to her. She lived in Diego, and had given the photo to her husband before he sailed away on a trip from which he never—and would never—return.

So one of the bodies was identified, and the ship as well. But how those seven men hid met their deaths, who had buried them, why their ship had steamed in latitude so far south of normal trade routes, whom she had fought . . . who had emitted her, why 50 oil drums had been buried so carefully ashore, and where the remainder of the crew had got to, are mysteries which perhaps only the lonely beaches of Cansorship Island will ever ever be able to solve.

N.M.U. Squeezes Out More Ships

By MAX HALL

Detroit, Aug. 17, (AP) — The C.I.O. National Maritime Union squeezed out more ships on the Great Lakes today and pointed its strategy toward a long and gradually-widening struggle.

On the third day of the N.M.U. strike, major points in the strategy were:

1. Avoiding trouble with the A.F.L.

2. Constant use of the battlecry of a 40-hour week to persuade non-union crews to join the walkout. Most Great Lakes seamen are non-union.

No Canadian vessels are involved in the dispute.

A small bright spot in the situation was the prospect that negotiations between the union and five strike-bound companies may be resumed next week. Union officials reported receiving waged-hour proposals from Shadard Oil of Indiana and the Bethlehem Transportation Company, which operate lake vessels.

But regard Joe Curran of New York, president of the N.M.U., was quoted by another union officer as saying both offers were "unacceptable".

There are about 400 American-flag cargo ships on the five lakes. Union strike headquarters here said "Somewhere around 100" have been tied up.

The Lake Carriers' Association at Cleveland said 25 ships operated by its member companies were idle as of last night. These companies have 316 vessels in all, not including tankers. The Association said 91.5 per cent of its ships were still hauling coal, iron ore, grain and other commodities.

Supply of Fruits, Vegetables Best Since 1939

Ottawa, Aug. 19 (CP—Supplies of fruits and vegetables, both imported and domestic, have been more plentiful during the last month than in any period since 1939, the Prices Board reported today in its monthly survey of food supplies.

Corn and tomatoes were generally scarce but new pack peas came to the market in July while dried fruits generally were good.

Conservation entered the prospect of the three-pound sugar increase and present supplies were ample for rationing needs. Syrups were short in Nova Scotia, Ontario and Montreal.

Butter met rationing requirements generally. In southwestern Ontario, production was down about 15 per cent.

Canned milk for baby feeding was an urgent need in Vancouver, Edmonton and Calgary and "critical" in parts of New Brunswick. Fresh fluid milk and cream were plentiful with a keen demand.

Poultry supplies showed improvement with broilers and big chickens and adequate supplies of fowl reaching Ontario, Quebec and most western markets but in a lesser amount in the Maritimes. The heavy demand from restaurants and individual households caused dealers to urge that young birds be held until roaster use and be finished properly.

Scarcity of pork and pork products were general. There was a fair amount of cooked meats, except ham.

Smoked meats were "very scarce" in British Columbia, on the prairies, except northern Alberta, in Ontario, except Toronto, and at all eastern points.

When police ceilings were lifted in July, red beef was fairly plentiful, but later "commercial" and "utility" brands were more prevalent, possibly due to the hot weather demand for easily prepared meats such as chopped steaks. The lamb shows an improvement.

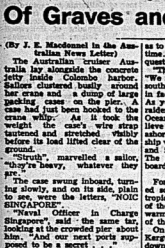
Fresh fish, including salmon, was more plentiful. Herring was hard to get in Southwestern Ontario. Processed fish, in some varieties, particularly finnan haddie, were shot at some points.

Grain feeds were not up to requirements in Prince, Edward Island. Bakers complained of flour distribution in Quebec Province and at Toronto the supply was inadequate.

250 Mulkey Brats Visit "Small Movie'

Cougar, Wash., Aug. 19 (AP)— The self-styled Mulkey Brats, 200 war veterans who during the war exchanged letters with Mrs. P. A. Mulkey, have paid their first visit here to their "Ye-Mail Mom."

The veterans of air, sea and land battles who for many months knew Mrs. Mulkey only through correspondence they scribbled in foxholes and beachheads and camp barracks jammed this tiny hamlet yesterday. Some came from as far as Florida.



NEW HALF-TIME MOVIE SYSTEM INTRODUCED

In a move which may well revolutionize present football strategy, the University of Southern California has purchased a new robot-type motion picture machine capable of processing pictures in from five to ten minutes. This enables motion pictures taken during the first half to be shown to the squad during half-time. Known to war-time photo units as "Mules," the machine is pictured discovery of Trojan Coach Jeff Cravath. Left above shows cameraman shooting first-half pictures. At right above, Elbert Baldwin and Beverly Normandy attach film magazine to processing machine.

Major Leagues Shooting At 20 Million Attendance Mark With 14,500,000 in Till

Three Teams, Chicago Cubs, N. Y. Giants and Boston Red Sox Pass Million Mark

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

The major leagues already have drawn 14,500,000 cash customers, with six weeks of the season still remaining. Already 3,500,000 past their previous record attendance, the majors should have no trouble reaching 18,000,000 and with good weather may get approach of their 20,000,000 goal.

Three teams—Chicago Cubs, New York Giants and Boston Red Sox — soared past the 1,000,000-mark during the weekend to boost the 1,000 component club to six—another record. The others are New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers and Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Red Sox' second largest crowd of the season—33,437 paying fans—yesterday saw the league leaders come from behind in the second game to defeat the runner-up New York Yankees 4-2 and earn a split in their American League doubleheader. The Yankees, behind Floyd Bevens' six-hit pitching, won the opener 5-0.

Tigers Lose Two

The third-place Tigers disappointed their largest cash crowd in Detroit's history—47,235 fans —by losing both ends of a doubleheader to the seventh-place St. Louis Browns, 4-0 and 6-5. The Browns came from behind in each game.

Dick Sisler, son of the immortal George, former star first baseman of the Browns, sparked the Cardinals to two victories over Cincinnati Reds, 3-2 and 4-2. The twin triumph enabled the runner-up Red Birds to whittle the National League-leading Dodgers' margin to two games, although the Brooks defeated the Phillies 3-2.

Sisler made a pinch hit single to drive in Stan Musial with the deciding run in the 13th inning of the first game. He singled in Enos Slaughter in the second inning of the afternoon and scored himself a few minutes later on Marty Marion's run-basher.

Pete Reiser was the whole show in the Dodgers victory. He rapped out three hits, including a double and his 10th homer, drove in two runs, and scored the third Brooklyn tally.

Brooklyn Injured

Joe Medwick, pinch hitting for the Dodgers in the seventh inning, was hit below the left ear by southpaw Frank Hoerst and left the field on a stretcher. He was taken to hospital for X-rays.

Paul Erickson pitched a neat hitter as Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0. A single by Billy Cox in the seventh inning spoiled a no-hitter.

Second baseman Buddy Blattner gave the Giants tied a modern major league record when he made 11 assists in the first game of a doubleheader with Boston Braves. Blattner's fielding helped the Giants win the opener 5-3 but the Braves, behind John Sain's eight-hit pitching, won the second game 7-1.

After losing the first game to Chicago 6-4 in 11 innings, Cleveland Indians came back with two big innings to walk off with the night cap 13-3.

Held to six hits and shut out by Philadelphia's Jesse Flores in the first game 11-0, Washington Senators bounced back to win the second game 6-4.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Lloyd Moseas, Yankees, and Pinky Higgins, Red Sox—Bevens shaked the Red Sox 5-0 in the opener; Higgins' eighth-inning double scored the winning run in Boston's second game victory.

Pete Reiser, Dodgers — Rapped out three hits including a home run and double, drove in two runs and scored the other in 3-2 win over the Phils.

Dick Sisler and Harry Brecheen, Cardinals — Sisler drove in the 13th of opener for 2-0 victory over Reds; Brecheen pitched a seven hit 2-0 shutout in the nightcap.

Paul Trout, Tigers, Giants, and Johnny Sain, Braves—Young hit a 3-run homer in Giants 8-5 victory over Cubs; Sain won his 14th triumph 7-1 in the afternoon.

Paul Erickson, Cubs—Held the Pirates to one hit with a no-hitter.

Bruce Ferguson, Athletics — Shut out the Senators 11-0 in the opener of a doubleheader.

BEAN PRICE SET

Chatham, Aug. 17 —(CP)— Minimum price for the 1946 crop of white beans has been set at $3 per bushel for No. 1 grade, an increase of 25 cents a bushel for the same grade over last year's figure, the Ontario Bean Growers' Marketing Board made known yesterday. The yearly system of dealers marketing quotas on a graded basis is an innovation.

A19-20

Floodlight Baseball
Tuesday, August 20th
8.30 P.M.
MEGAFFIN STADIUM
KINGSTON
Two Leading Teams of U.S. Negro Baseball League
BOSTON BLACK SOX vs.
PITTSBURG CRAWFORDS
Regular League Scheduled Game.

Maximum Performance and Car Protection with SUPERTEST
GASOLINE SUPERTEST LUBRICANTS
SEE YOUR SUPERTEST SERVICE MAN
CLIFF MURPHY
SUPERTEST SERVICE
DUNDAS ST. BELLEVILLE PHONE 1256

23 COUNTRIES TO TAKE PART IN NORWAY MEET

Will Give World Preview of 1948 Olympic Games, Russia to Take Part

BILL ENGLISH

London, Aug. 19. (VAP)—The world will get a preview of the 1948 Olympics this week when champions from 23 European countries, including Hitlerfield contenders of two years ago, resume the four-day quadrennial assemblage of track championships Thursday at Oslo, Norway.

European athletes will put their first big chance to demonstrate that war has not overtaken speed by the war in their games, often called "The Little Olympics". They were held every four years before 1939.

Sweden, least affected by the war and traditional producer of track stars, threatens to take 5 but the Braves, behind John Sain's eight-hit pitching, won the second game 7-1.

Russia's 35-man squad is the biggest question mark, but it is expected to give Sweden a strong battle. Other countries to be represented are Norway, Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Britain, Eire, France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Lightfriesio, Switzerland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Portugal and Spain.

An Associated Press survey shows most countries will depend on its younger athletes, but there will be a sprinkling of veterans like Sydney Wooderson, British middle-distance star who made appearance in the 5,000-metre run will be his swan song to international competition.

The British contingent is 18 men and four women. Britain's brightest young star is Alan Paterson, an 18-year-old Scot who has been clocking 4:10 miles in jogging sensation, clearing 6 feet 6 inches.

Sweden lacks the great names like Gunder Haegg and Arne Andersson, both barred from amateur competition, but Haegg's heir apparent, Lennart Strand, together with H. Eriksson, form a powerful Swedish mile relay unbeatable combination in the 1,500-metre.

France's contingent of 24 men and four women is headed by Marcel Raphael Pujazon and Marcel Hanaenne, middle and long distance runners, while Alain Mimoun is outstanding combination in the 1,500-metre.

France's contingent of 24 men and four women is headed by Marcel Raphael Pujazon and Marcel Hanaenne, middle and long distance runners, while Alain Mimoun is outstanding combination in the 1,500-metre.

At that moment the situation looked bad for the kids from the Bronx Terrace. Two were out and two Petes cluttered up first and second with none out. The bunt attempt failed and Conway attempted to lay down a high fast Keliher delivery. But his nicked the pill squarely on the south side and it went 12 feet into the air, a weak pop fly. Keliher raced in, glove outstretched. He got under it in one knee, pushed out his glove but sent it backward, batting the ball into his mitt, and whirled and threw to Bobby Bolin at first. The Pete runners had streaked for the next bases at the crack of the bat and were caught by the proverbial mile. In fact Bolin's throw on second was racing into third when Bunton made the tag and Vern Green for the third putout. That, dear readers, not only pulled the Belleville kids out of a nasty hole, but placed a pall of disappointed silence over the grandstands, a silence broken only by the shrill war whoops of the Belleville fans and Claude Tye, coach Ellis Shapiro who did a Spanish fandango to celebrate the occasion.

Sharing the victory honors with Keliher was young "Bud" Green, worthy son of a worthy baseball sire, the famous "Sonny" of COBL fame. Peterboro's only run, scored off Withers' fourth inning triple and Bud's error began to loom up like a million dollars. The dusky centre-fielder redeemed himself in the sixth. Keliher smashed out a single and went out on V. Green's sacrifice. Bush drew a walk and Fitzpatrick shot a skyscraper out into third baseman's glove. That filled the sacks for Ken Bunton but willow at a fast Loucks shoot and the ball scorched between short and third for a clean double. In McInnes, Petes leftfielder let the pill roll between his legs and Bud pulled up on third with the sacks clear and the Belleville faction shouting themselves hoarse.

Vern. Dawson told us before lunion at the game that the tickets for the "Abbie Rose" Memorial game scheduled for Peterborough next Saturday, are going like hot cakes. In fact, the genial Vern said: "We've got to get more printed." He voiced the hopes of the committee that a large number of former COBL players from this city would be in attendance, as their old pals from Oshawa and Peterborough also Kingston will be on hand to once more re-live the good old days. Indications point to a capacity house—and that's the way it should be. Plenty of fine prizes, too. There's a CGE refrig (no charge for the plug) and estimed motor rugs, and numerous other costly prizes. Oh, one, the main attraction on the diamond will be between the fines senior baseball squad and the Toronto Riverdale Grads. That should be worth a half a buck of any man's money alone.

• • •

Riverside park, where the junior tilt was played, has undergone a thorough face-lifting, and the local boys who stood out on the press and radio box didn't spare the vocal rags when telling the invading forces what a swell sports park the park will be when completed. The entire field has been raised a foot, so we're told and this will be closed for the final touches. It will be sodded from stem to gudgeon and provided with a modern infield.

• • •

In its present condition the diamond can give its alleged opposition at the Exhibition Grounds here, aces and spades, but that is beside the point. Our informant, who appeared to be in the know, told us that the Belleville diamond will be shifted to the northeastern side of the park with the baseline almost parallel to the river. This is being done with a view to avoiding the loss of the ball caused by the pills being fouled into the river.

• • •

"And" added our local versatile press-radio-and-field buttons at the breaking point, "it won't be long before you have your ballpark." Can come up here and see your pitches get licked. From seats in a $30,000 grandstand. They'll be over there," and he waved a hand in the general direction of the north-eastern corner of the park.

• • •

And while the Kiwanis rackets rage, this city won that all-important first game, don't sell three royal-blue carbed kids from Peterborough short. They, too, by the way are Kiwanis-sponsored which gives the series a sort of inter-city club rivalry touch. The Royals are a smart well-coached squad, with a fast moving infield that proved itself on Saturday, a lot of nifty fly-chasers and to Loucks, their kid hurler to a good quality of their stocking staff, then they've got plenty in that department, too.

• • •

Loucks flung a fine game, one that could have easily have been his way as the other. He had a brace-eye for corners and on a couple of occasions caught our lads off the sacks. He has a fine fast ball and an assortment of curves. Besides this he is a smart fielding pitcher and his work in this department stood out on Saturday.

• • •

The teams will play the second game at the Alemite Field on Wednesday at 6 p.m. and baseball fans should not miss this classic. Manager Loucks of the Royals will like-ly throw his lefthander, the Kiwanis Juniors while Coach St. Louis will have Bobby Bunton ready for second duty. The Petes are out to even the series and Belleville are just as determined to take it in two straight. And that means a clash that should leave nothing to be desired.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

CHIPS MON PAGE 1

There is no Grecian insignia for the victors in this modern game of baseball, but if there was, then Allen Keliher and Bud Green would have been sporting laurel wreaths on their respective brows on Saturday afternoon after the Kiwanis Juniors had been crowned, and very nearly overtaken by the Peterboro Royals to the wire) in that junior cycle in Peterboro. The score 4-3 tells the tale—and it's one that those tussled which was a honey to win and a heartbreaker to lose.

• • •

It was one of those games that had a touch of everything in the baseball calendar. There was some stout hitting, good and bad baserunning, excellent base stealing, outstanding fielding and some costly bobbles, and above all a nitch-hitting pitcher who made the bullfrogs in the Otonabee River forget their Saturday afternoon pastime of playing cops and robbers with fouled baseballs, and wait for the denouement.

• • •

Allen Keliher hurled a superb game. The big left-hander had the local fans agog with his color on the mound, and at the end of the game realized they that their goodnatured ribbing and concerted vocal choruses from the stands had, as much effect on "Joe, Jr". as the well-known aqua pura on the duckling's back. Allen remembered his earlier errors and five times behind him.

• • •

Keliher struck out ten Royals, but the best hurling came when the chips were down. He was good in the pinches and on one occasion he easiem whiffed that fast third strike by the batter for the final out. He started the famous triple-play that retired the side after Petes had put two aboard with none out. And it is doubtful if another player could have performed the feat.

• • •

At that moment the situation looked bad for the kids from the Bronx Terrace. Two were out and two Petes cluttered up first and second with none out. The bunt attempt failed and Conway attempted to lay down a high fast Keliher delivery. But his nicked the pill squarely on the south side and it went 12 feet into the air, a weak pop fly. Keliher raced in, glove outstretched. He got under it in one knee, pushed out his glove but sent it backward, batting the ball into his mitt, and whirled and threw to Bobby Bolin at first. The Pete runners had streaked for the next bases at the crack of the bat and were caught by the proverbial mile. In fact Bolin's throw on second was racing into third when Bunton made the tag and Vern Green for the third putout. That, dear readers, not only pulled the Belleville kids out of a nasty hole, but placed a pall of disappointed silence over the grandstands, a silence broken only by the shrill war whoops of the Belleville fans and Claude Tye, coach Ellis Shapiro who did a Spanish fandango to celebrate the occasion.

Sharing the victory honors with Keliher was young "Bud" Green, worthy son of a worthy baseball sire, the famous "Sonny" of COBL fame. Peterboro's only run, scored off Withers' fourth inning triple and Bud's error began to loom up like a million dollars. The dusky centre-fielder redeemed himself in the sixth. Keliher smashed out a single and went out on V. Green's sacrifice. Bush drew a walk and Fitzpatrick shot a skyscraper out into third baseman's glove. That filled the sacks for Ken Bunton but willow at a fast Loucks shoot and the ball scorched between short and third for a clean double. In McInnes, Petes leftfielder let the pill roll between his legs and Bud pulled up on third with the sacks clear and the Belleville faction shouting themselves hoarse.

Vern. Dawson told us between innings at the game that the tickets for the "Abbie Rose" Memorial game scheduled for Peterborough next Saturday, are going like hot cakes. In fact, the genial Vern said: "We've got to get more printed." He voiced the hopes of the committee that a large number of former COBL players from this city would be in attendance, as their old pals from Oshawa and Peterborough also Kingston will be on hand to once more re-live the good old days. Indications point to a capacity house—and that's the way it should be. Plenty of fine prizes, too. There's a CGE refrig (no charge for the plug) and estimed motor rugs, and numerous other costly prizes. Oh, one, the main attraction on the diamond will be between the fines senior baseball squad and the Toronto Riverdale Grads. That should be worth a half a buck of any man's money alone.

• • •

Riverside park, where the junior tilt was played, has undergone a thorough face-lifting, and the local boys who stood out on the press and radio box didn't spare the vocal rags when telling the invading forces what a swell sports park the park will be when completed. The entire field has been raised a foot, so we're told and this will be closed for the final touches. It will be sodded from stem to gudgeon and provided with a modern infield.

• • •

In its present condition the diamond can give its alleged opposition at the Exhibition Grounds here, aces and spades, but that is beside the point. Our informant, who appeared to be in the know, told us that the Belleville diamond will be shifted to the northeastern side of the park with the baseline almost parallel to the river. This is being done with a view to avoiding the loss of the ball caused by the pills being fouled into the river.

• • •

"And" added our local versatile press-radio-and-field buttons at the breaking point, "it won't be long before you have your ballpark." Can come up here and see your pitches get licked. From seats in a $30,000 grandstand. They'll be over there," and he waved a hand in the general direction of the north-eastern corner of the park.

• • •

And while the Kiwanis rackets rage, this city won that all-important first game, don't sell three royal-blue carbed kids from Peterborough short. They, too, by the way are Kiwanis-sponsored which gives the series a sort of inter-city club rivalry touch. The Royals are a smart well-coached squad, with a fast moving infield that proved itself on Saturday, a lot of nifty fly-chasers and to Loucks, their kid hurler to a good quality of their stocking staff, then they've got plenty in that department, too.

• • •

Loucks flung a fine game, one that could have easily have been his way as the other. He had a brace-eye for corners and on a couple of occasions caught our lads off the sacks. He has a fine fast ball and an assortment of curves. Besides this he is a smart fielding pitcher and his work in this department stood out on Saturday.

• • •

The teams will play the second game at the Alemite Field on Wednesday at 6 p.m. and baseball fans should not miss this classic. Manager Loucks of the Royals will like-ly throw his lefthander, the Kiwanis Juniors while Coach St. Louis will have Bobby Bunton ready for second duty. The Petes are out to even the series and Belleville are just as determined to take it in two straight. And that means a clash that should leave nothing to be desired.

1946 Fall Fair Dates

Demorestville	Sept. 4
Wellington	Sept. 4
Brighton	Sept. 4
Napanee	Sept. 16-17-18
Belleville	Sept. 23-25
Campbellford	Sept. 24
Ontario Provincial	Sept. 30-Oct. 5
Denbigh	Sept. 10-11
Kingston	Sept. 12
Lindsay	Sept. 11-14
Mohawk (Deseronto)	Sept. 12-13
Odessa	Sept. 12-13
Shannonville	Sept. 13-14
Stella	Sept. 19
Stirling	Sept. 18-19
Tweed	Sept. 17-18
Madoc	Oct. 1-2

WELLS' BODY CREMATED

London, Aug. 19 — (CP) — The body of H. G. Wells, famed British author who died Tuesday, was cremated here yesterday. The funeral oration was spoken by a fellow author, J. B. Priestley, who said: "At His worst he (Wells) never diminished and hurt us and at his best he made us feel that we lived on a star." Among the mourners were Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian - born publisher.

PLANE FOUND, PILOT MISSING

Toronto, Aug. 17 —(CP)—Word was received here yesterday from the sheriff's office in Darien Centre, N.Y., that the plane in which William Bunon, 19, of suburban Minden, took off from an airport here Monday, landed the same day in a field at Darien Centre and was undamaged. There was no sign of the pilot. Officials in New York State said a search was begun there for the

Baseball Results

(By The Canadian Press)

National (Saturday): Cincinnati 8, St. Louis 3; Pittsburgh 1, Chicago 2; others postponed.

(Sunday): Cincinnati 2-0, St. Louis 3-2; Pittsburgh 0, Chicago 8; Boston 5-7, New York 8-1; Philadelphia 2, Brooklyn 3.

American (Saturday): St. Louis 3, Detroit 7; New York 4, Boston 2; Chicago 4, Cleveland 1; Washington 12-3, Philadelphia 7-5.

(Sunday): St. Louis 4-6, Detroit 3-5; Chicago 6-3, Cleveland 4-13; Washington 0-6, Philadelphia 11-4, New York 5-3, Boston 6-4.

International (Saturday): Newark 1-2, Montreal 13-1; others postponed.

(Sunday): Baltimore 6-6, Rochester 2-1; Syracuse 7-0, Buffalo 3-6; Jersey City 0-0, Toronto 2-1; Toronto 9-1, Montreal 2-2.

American Associates (Saturday): St. Paul 8-3, Milwaukee 6-5; Minneapolis 5, Columbus 2; Kansas City 1, Indianapolis 0; Milwaukee-Louisville postponed.

(Sunday): Milwaukee 1-6, Toledo 3-0; Kansas City 3-1, Indianapolis 2-0; Columbus 2-6;St Paul 8-3, Louisville 2-9; Minneapolis 9-7, Indianapolis 8-2.

Pacific Coast (Saturday): San Francisco 5, Portland 2; Hollywood 2, Sacramento 8; Los Angeles 6, San Diego 1; Seattle 3, Hollywood 1.

(Sunday): Seattle 7-5, Hollywood 6-2; Kansas City 5-1, San Diego 6-4; Sacramento 4-0, Oakland 1-6; Portland 4-4, San Francisco 3-7.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Brooklyn	70	43	.619
St. Louis	67	45	.598
Chicago	59	53	.532
Boston	55	54	.505
Cincinnati	51	61	.455
New York	49	63	.438
Philadelphia	47	63	.427
Pittsburgh	44	67	.411

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Boston	82	35	.701
New York	67	48	.583
Detroit	66	48	.568
Washington	57	60	.487
Cleveland	56	61	.479
Chicago	52	64	.448
St. Louis	49	64	.434
Philadelphia	35	80	.305

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Montreal	85	44	.659
Buffalo	70	61	.534
Newark	68	62	.523
Baltimore	65	60	.520
Syracuse	64	64	.500
Toronto	61	70	.466
Rochester	50	75	.407
Jersey City	31	78	.295

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Louisville	76	53	.589
Indianapolis	75	54	.581
St. Paul	68	62	.523
Milwaukee	60	67	.472
Minneapolis	62	66	.484
Toledo	60	70	.462
Kansas City	55	72	.433
Columbus	55	71	.437
Mohawk	43	83	.341

GROWS 14 VARIETIES OF APPLES ON TREE

Kitchener, Ont., Aug. 13. (CP)—The grafting hobby of Roman Braun of this town has produced an apple tree which this year bore 14 different varieties of apples.

lons caught our lads off the

RACE FOR THREE PLAYOFF BERTHS WIDE OPEN IN INT.

Montreal Royals Cannot be Beaten For First Place This Season

(By The Associated Press)

Any combination of nine Montreal victories or Buffalo defeats will clinch the International league pennant for the Royals, but the race for the other three playoff positions is still wide open.

Syracuse hopes for a Shaghnessy playoff berth were at a new low after the Chiefs dropped both ends of a Sunday doubleheader to Buffalo Bisons, while Rochester and Baltimore were sweeping two games. As a result Syracuse is 2 1-2games back of the fourth-place Baltimore team. Martin Pabchecki's pinch double enabled the veteran Pete Appleton to shake the Chiefs in the first game, and Vernon Curtiss delighted the crowd of more than 11,000 Buffalo fans with a two-hit job in the 3-0 second game.

Newark kept pace with the Bisons by downing Jersey City twice by the shutout route, 2-0 and 1-0. The winning hurlers were Kenny Holcombe and Walt Dubiel.

Baltimore made it 15 victories in 16 games with Rochester, dumping theRed Wings 6-2 and 6-1. Jim West won the opener in the opener for his 11th victory, while Ray Hamrick gained his first win of the season.

Montreal turned out another paying customers to see the Royals divide a pair with Toronto. The Leafs bopped the Royals for an early lead and held on to win 9-7, behind Herman Besse in the first contest. Jackie Robinson's seventh inning single scored Tom Tatum to climax a two-run Montreal spurt in the last of the seventh at the Sportsmen's Park. The winners, ridden by Toronto's Teddy Atkinson, led from the start.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

Miami sports writers are quitting Paul Waner on the griddle because his Sup Sox aren't winning. They say he's had long enough interest . . . Yvon Petra, the ball throw champion, carries on a souvenir of his 18 months in the Nazi prison camp—a German gun bullet which German doctors extracted from his knee. "I took it because I wanted a souvenir," Yvon says. "I was in Germany." Yvon says.

Roger!

Like Hoo Ferris of the parent Red Sox, Roger Wright of the Lynn, Mass., New England League club is a control artist. Armed with his left arm as with his right . . . In fact the old southpaw relief hurling job this season is. As Leroy Addington explains it: "When Wright's right isn't right, a shift to the left will right the situation."

Monday Matinee

The Phillies soon will have more scouts in the New York metropolitan area than any New York club. Joe Labate plans to have at least one scout in each borough, plus a flock in the suburbs . . . A selection from Pittsburgh is that most of Pitts' football games this year will be played on Sunday to avoid headaches for Wes Nesler. The two big attractions, Notre Dame and Ohio State, will be faced on their own grounds.

Today's Guest Star

Kenneth Jones, Peoria, Ill., Journal: "Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler may soon have a radio station over which he can sing his favorite song, 'My Old Kentucky Home.' Chandler and four other Kentuckians have applied for authority to operate a 1,000 watt station in Versailles, Ky."

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., emerged as the singles champion Saturday in the 37th annual Newport, R.I., tennis tournament when he vanquished Ted Schroeder of Los Angeles, 1942 national champion, in four sets. The runners-up combined with Jack Kramer of California to capture the doubles title by coming from behind a four-set final victory over Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood and Bill Talbert from Wilmington, Del.

The year's open golf champions of the United States and Britain, Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead respectively, defeated the Texas team of Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan 2 and 1 in an exhibition best ball match yesterday at Portland, Ore.

Welterweight champion Joe Louis took on four sparring partners simultaneously at his Pompton Lakes, N.J., training camp to open preparations for his Sept. 18 bout with Tami Mauriello in New York.

The close of the National Women's swimming championships at Shakamak State Park, Ind., won by Ann Curtis of San Francisco with three firsts, was marked by the collapse of the swimming stars making an unexpected plunge into the water.

Victory Song, son of Volomite and Evensong, captured the $18,-324 Hopeful stake for 2-year-olds at Belmont Park in straight heats in Grand Circuit racing yesterday as the Wisconsin State Fair, Milwaukee, before 17,000 fans.

Natchez and Mahout, owned by Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, finished first and second, respectively, in the speed of the field in the 4th running of the Travers Stake at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Saturday. The winners, ridden by Toronto's Teddy Atkinson, led from the start.

BETTER SHAVE
With Minora Blades!
Minora has a real "edge" over other low priced blades, for it's sharpest double-edge blade in its class. One shave will convince you.
DOUBLE-EDGE RAZOR
4 MARK 10¢ Minora BLADES

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

It's gotta be this or that. If you don't go forward, go back. If you don't go in, go out. If you don't go up, go down. If you don't play high, play low.

The rule of "second hand low" started in the days of whist, a long time ago. In those days, dummy hands was not exposed. Then was when players needed a rule like second hand low.

For it is from the to dissuade you from an old love. Or any odd notion to which you must cling. If you are unable to decide when not to, stick to second hand low. It sure is better than no rule.

But nowadays second hand plays only when warned not to play high. The tip-off usually comes from what shows up in the dummy hand. If it says to play high, second hander is a sap to play low.

What may happen if second hand plays low when his play should be high? Declarer will pull fast ones on the unsuspecting second hander. Second hander will be giving tricks away unnecessarily.

South is declarer at three no-trump when spades are like this:

NORTH
♠Q 3
WEST ♠K 8 6 4 ♡J 10 9 7 5
EAST ♠J 10 9 7 5
SOUTH ♠A 2

No matter how declarer plays the spades, can you see how he can take more than one trick? Not unless second hand stubbornly sticks to the horse-and-buggy second hand low rule.

The moment south wins a trick in another suit, supposes he leads spade deuce. He does this with a careless or careless air. Just like the innocent lamb in west play low? Oh, brother!

Dummy will win that trick with the queen. Like taking candy from a baby. South then leads another spade trick with the ace. That unless two of them are low, where only one was supposed to be.

When south leads the deuce, west would go second hand high with the king. That way declarer cannot slip over that extra trick.

Some players are suckers for a curve.

T. CARRUTHERS WINS CLASS 'A' GOLF TOURNEY

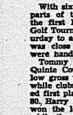
First Annual Bay of Quinte Golf Club Tournament Great Success

With sixty-one golfers from all parts of the district competing in the first Bay of Quinte annual Golf Tournament teed off on Saturday to a brilliant success. Play was close and some fine cards were handed in by the players.

Tommy Carruthers, Bay of Quinte Country Clubhouse Bunge, by Ben Vanover, club director, who represented the president of the club who was unable to be present. The results:

Low gross: Class A., Tommy Carruthers, Bay of Quinte, 83; Class B, Ken Reid, B. of Q., 83; Class C, A. Boyd, Cataraqui Country Club, low net 69; Class A, Harry Ridley, Belleville Golf, 77; Class B, C. Niddery, Trenton, 69; Class C, A. Menzies, Peterborough, 68. Second low gross, Mickey Pyke, Picton, 87; Class B, F. West, Trenton, 83; Class C, C. Spencer, Picton, 89.

Second low net, Class A, M. Aquafreda, Bay of Quinte, 78; Class B, A. Bridge, Belleville Golf, 70; Class C, R. Pryke, B. of Q., 72.



Slick Again Sid
PERIODIC PAINS?
HOLDING YOU BACK?
TRY ANTALGINE and RELIEF FREEDOM during these TRYING MOMENTS
25¢ and 75¢ Pain Relief

DANCE
AT READ
MONDAY, AUG. 19th
Under auspices of C.W.L.
Rhythmaer's Orchestra.
Lunch. Admission 25c and 50c

A17-21

DOUBLE-DECKER CATCH

Eddie Fletcher, first baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and his six-year-old son, Bobby, team up to spear a couple of high ones as they enjoyed batting practice against the Cincinnati Reds in Pittsburgh. Pirates won the game, 3-0, for their fourth straight.

Kiwanis Juniors Beat Royals Of Peterborough 4-3 to go One Game up in O.B.A. Playdowns

Splendid Hurling by Allen Kelleher and Timely Clouting by "Bud" Green Tells Tale; Winners Make Triple Play

Behind the superb hurling of Allen Kelleher and the timely clouting of "Bud" Green, the Belleville Kiwanis Juniors nosed out the Peterborough Royals 4-3 in a thrilling first game of the first round OBA junior playdowns in Peterborough on Saturday afternoon. The second game will be played at the Alemite Field here on Wednesday at 6 o'clock.

It was one of those games that could have gone to either squad; a team that saw two smart junior teams battle on practically even terms to have the tide of fortune swing first one way then the other — to finally rest on the shoulders of the grey-clad kids from this city.

Not only did it provide chills and thrills throughout, but it served up a, ninth innings climax that had every fan in Riverside Park on his or her feet. Kelleher was enjoying a two-run lead at this point and retired the first batter via the strikeout route. The second out pitcher to the first and it looked all over but the shouting. Then the next batter walked and went to second when Kelleher balked and raced home on Bunk's error. Royals on first, stole second and third and the crowd was in an uproar.

The pinch hitter was sent in the second of the innings, and came the tensest moment of the game. But Kelleher rose to the occasion and forced him to roll weakly to the infield—and the game was over.

Kelleher pitched Fine Game

The big lefthander hurled one of the best games seen on a Peterborough diamond, or a Belleville one for that matter in some time. He struck out ten and walked three, but he was especially good in the pinches. He bore down several times on three—two counts to fan the hitter or make him fly or ground out. The best the Royals sluggers could do on his delivery was five hits.

He started a sparking triple play in the fourth innings that killed what seemed a strong Royals rally. Withers, Royals smart first baseman had lofted out a towering triple that he stretched into a home run when Bud Green in center field for the Belleville electos to toss the ball to left field instead of the infield, and Bob Bunton and Vern Green had erred successfully to trap runners on first and second with nary a man out.

Cornwall, Royals shortstop, the pepper-pot of the team strode to the plate with orders to bunt. It looked bad for the St. Louis clan unless a miracle happened. It did.

Cornwall cut under a high Kelleher shoot and popped it weakly into the air about fifteen feet out in front of the plate. Kelleher raced in went down on one knee, stretched out the glove supported in the ball and threw it to first. Bunton stretched it to first to catch the runner a mile off the base, and the side was retired.

Scoreless Until Sixth

The squads battled scoreless until the sixth and the Royals one run lead began to look like paydirt. Then came the big innings for the Belleville kids in which Bud Green not only redeemed himself but became one of the heroes of the piece. It happened in the sixth. Loucks flied out to Bunton; hits by Kelleher, Fitzpatrick and a base on balls. Green picked out a Loucks' shoot and the ball sizzled between third and shortstop. Sullivan, Royals' leftfielder raced over and let the ball roll Between his legs, and three runs crossed the gate with Green parked safely on third.

The Royals got their second run in the sixth when Leslie raced home after singling, on Ferguson's first double to left centre field. But he died on that base as Kelleher struck out the next two batters to end the inning. Belleville got that run back in the seventh as Fitzpatrick singled to left of the game. Fitz glittered second and galloped home when "Huck" Loucks punched a single through the infield.

Smart Fielding

Loucks, Royals hurler pitched a splendid game for his team and was backed up by some smart infield support. He struck out seven and walked but two and his eagle eye kept the enemy base runners close to the sacks. On two occasions his snap throw caught two runners off guard.

Cornwall, Royals shortstop provided the fielding feature with his one-hand stab of "Huck" Reeves ground smash which he picked up back-hand, whirled and threw the runner out by inches.

Plumpton, Royals centrefielder cost his team a run when after he had doubled and gone to third, came on a fielders' choice but but omitted to touch the plate. He realized his error and turned back to rectify it, only to have Reeves tag him for the out.

Fitzpatrick and Semark led the hit parade for the winners with two hits each with Bunton, B. Green, Reeves and Kelleher contributing singles. Withers paced the Royals attack with a triple and single. Cornwall also got a triple and Ferguson and Plumpton doubles.

Box Score:

Belleville	AB	R	H	PO	A
V. Green 2b.	4	1	0	2	1
Bunt ss	3	0	2	1	3
Fitzpatrick 3b.	4	2	2	0	3
B. Green cf.	4	0	1	2	0
Reeves rf.	4	0	1	1	0
Soules rf.	3	0	0	0	0
Semark lf.	3	0	2	0	0
Bunton 1b.	4	0	0	8	1
Kelleher p.	4	0	0	0	2
Loucks p.	4	0	1	0	2
Totals	37	3	8	27	9

Peterborough	AB	R	H	PO	A
Cornwall 2b.	5	0	1	3	6
Plumpton cf.	3	0	2	2	0
Ferguson 3b.	3	0	0	1	3
Withers 1b.	3	2	1	9	1
Ferguson c.	4	0	1	5	0
Sullivan lf.	3	0	0	0	0
Leslie rf.	3	1	1	0	0
Leslie ss.	3	0	0	1	0
zzSlising	1	0	0	0	0
zzMcMaster	1	0	1	0	0
Totals	34	3	5	27	17

zLesley for Spencer in 8th.
zzSlisbett for Sullivan in 9th.
zzzStatler for B. McIlasaac 9th.

Belleville	000 003 010—4	8	6
Peterboro	000 000 001—3	5	1

Summary: Errors: Bush (2), B. Green, Bunton, V. Green, Sullivan; Runs batted in, B. Green (2), Reeves, Ferguson; Two base hits, Ferguson, Plumpton; Three base hits, Cornwall, Withers; Stolen bases, Fitzpatrick, B. Green, Semark, Loucks (2); Triple plays, Kelleher to Bunton to V. Green; Left on bases, Belleville 4, Peterborough 7; Bases on balls, off Loucks 2, Kelleher 3; Strikeouts, Kelleher 10, Loucks 7; Hits off Kelleher 5 for 2 runs in 9 innings; Loucks 8 for 4 runs in 9 innings; Balk, Kelleher; Loucks; Passed balls, Ferguson; Scorer: John Francis. Time 2.00.

MOUNTAIN VIEW BOMBERS DEFEAT PICTON BY 10-5

First Game of Intermediate "C" O.A.S.A. Playdowns Played at Picton

Picton, Aug. 18—In the first game of the Intermediate "C" district O.A.S.A. playdowns here Saturday night, Mountain View Bombers defeated Picton 10-5. The second game is being played at Mt. View Air station Tuesday night, with a third game, if necessary at Picton, Thursday night. More than a thousand fans saw the keenly fought game which had been postponed from the previous evening owing to rain.

Mountain View got two runs in the second, third, fifth innings and 3 in the eighth. Picton got two in the third, one in the sixth and two in the seventh. Latremouille pitched for the Bombers and had seven strikeouts and allowed 10 hits. George Tesky hurled for Picton with 17 strikeouts. He allowed 19 hits. McKell caught for the Bombers and Allen for Picton. Each team committed one error.

McCartney for the Bombers smashed out a homer in the third with one on and in the 8th doubled to centre scoring Walsh ahead of him. Latremouille also had a good scoring opportunities but failed to hit in them.

The Bombers played in Belleville city league baseball while Picton is represented by the Imperials who won the most scheduled games in the Quinte district. Here's the lineup:

Mt. View: White 2b; Latremouille p; McKell c; McCartney ss; Wiltsted 3b; Murray 1b; Doughterty rf; Walsh lf; Shanon cf.

Picton: Allen c; Dunning cf; Valleau lf; Hedges ss; Hobson 1b; Gorsline 3b; Teskey p; Cole rf; Gorsline ss. Sling 2b.

Umpires: Bawden at plate; Morgan on bases.

Major League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

NATIONAL

Batting—Musial, St. Louis, and Hopp, Boston, .365.

Runs—Musial, St. Louis, 86.

Runs batted in—Slaughter, St. Louis, 89.

Hits—Musial, St. Louis, 163.

Doubles—Musial, St. Louis, 33.

Triples—Musial, St. Louis 13.

Home runs—Kiche, Cincinnati, 22.

Stolen bases—Reiser, Brooklyn, 26.

Pitching — Higbe, Brooklyn, Rowe, Philadelphia, and Dickson, St. Louis, 11-4, .733.

AMERICAN

Batting—Vernon, Washington, .349.

Runs—Williams, Boston, 118.

Runs batted in—Williams, Boston, 108.

Hits—Pesky, Boston, 161.

Doubles—Spence, Washington, 39.

Triples—Edwards, Cleveland, and Lewis, Washington, 11.

Home runs—Williams, Boston, 32.

HORSE FOLLOWS RIDER TO UPSTAIRS APARTMENT

Woodstock, Aug. 19. (CP) — George Schram was out for a canter on a riding academy horse called Mabel, Saturday. He decided to stop at the apartment of a friend and pay a visit. Mabel followed him up the narrow stairs to the second storey apartment. The staircase suffered a little.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By DAVE McINTOSH
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Aug. 19. (CP) — Reading the sports pages of your daily newspaper this fall is going to be a harrowing experience whether or not you realize it right now.

If you look carefully, you can see signs of confusion already, but it's nothing to what it's going to be.

The first dire omen was contained the other day in a little announcement which told how Montreal Les Canadiens are going to start playing hockey games in the Forum at the end of September.

The end of September! Before the football season has had a chance to make a dent in it or before the baseball year has its steadily burden.

So this is what you may read if the sports page gets scrambled somewhat.

ROYALS CLINCH PENNANT

Montreal Athletics, senior baseball League, Royals scored a brilliant goal in the dying minutes of the third period after a steady march down the field to defeat Toronto Argonauts by 36-35 yesterday and clinch the Stanley Cup.

Or, FLYING FRENCHMEN MAKE IT EIGHT IN ROW

"The fast-running Montreal Canadiens took their eighth straight victory of the season this evening when they walloped New Jersey Devils, 5-0, on Maurice Richard's one-hit game.

"A drop-kick by Elmer Lach, which soared over shortstop Joe Kroll's outstretched glove, scored the game late in the third quarter."

Hockey, okay, that'll do.

But the least the various clubs could do would be to take the matter to court and get a written judgment on just when that constitutes summer, fall and winter.

The Charm Show That You, Too, Will Want to Pin an Orchid On . . .

TONIGHT and TUESDAY
BELLE A PLEASURE PLAYING THEATRE

BELLE LATEST WORLD NEWS
TERRYTOON COLORFUN
CARTOON
Excellent "Passing Parade"
"OUR OLD CAR"

AT THE McCARTHY—Dana Andrews and Susan Hayward in a scene from "Canyon Passage," Walter Wanger's Technicolor production now playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

READ DEFEATS LATTA 12-4 TO WIN S.H. TITLE

Take Third Straight Game in Five, And Win W. E. Tummon Trophy

(Contributed)

On Wednesday evening the Read Ball Club won the third game of the best of five series to take the W. E. Tummon cup which was at stake in the South Hastings League. The score was 12-4 and the scores of the previous games were 11-0 and 10-1.

It was a thrill filled game from start to finish although the score did not indicate so. Read, behind the pitching of "Bern" Walsh, played alertight ball against Doc Empson's squad, with Hall and Walsh doing the pitching duties.

"Bern" Walsh helped win his own game by knocking a homer in the sixth inning with two on. J. Lawrenson and Parks were the outstanding batters for the losers.

Lineups

Latta—Empson c, G. Hall p, Parks 1b, Colden 2b, J. Lawrenson, S. Hall 3b, J. Lawrenson lf, McCreary cf, Platt rf.

Read—Callaghan c, B. Walsh p, McWilliams 1b, G. Walsh 2b, W. Walsh ss, R. Shannon 3b, H. Shannon lf, J. Meagher cf, F. Meagher rf.

AT THE BELLE — Harry James, his ace vocalist Dick Haymes and Jo-Ann Century-Fox's gay Technicolor musical romance, "Do You Love Me." Reginald Gardiner, Richard Gaines and Shelley Prager head the outstanding supporting cast.

TOAR MORGAN, 'KRIPPLER' DAVIS HERE FRI. NIGHT

Toar Morgan has sometimes been called the "Lion of Lindsay" because he is a resident of that Canadian wife's hometown. Last week in his box with Lee Herring, Toar did prove to be something of a lion alright for he tixed Mac Hendrix in three short rounds to the delight of the fans around Peterborough. Toar Morgan injured Henning's neck so seriously that the Iona Cornhusker will be out for at least two weeks and maybe a lot longer.

Seeing that Toar is highly improved Morgan dished it out to Henning, Arena Manager Walter Gerow got the rather brilliant idea that Morgan would be just the boy to handle that Texas tornado Karl Krippler Davis. Both big fellows agreed last night to the match and the bout is on for Friday night. It should be a humdinger.

This Krippler Davis got his nickname just about the way in which Morgan received his Lee Henning. Davis has sent a list of heavyweights as long as your arm to the hospital. One of the really fine prospects in the sport, big Vic Holbrook was so stretched and torn by Davis in Toronto last year that the fine-looking big Californian hasn't been any good ever since. Davis also put Lorenzo Pompilio out of the sidelines for five weeks once with his deadly Texas Hold which when persisted in can injure the bigsize muscles in the neck quite seriously. However the smashing style which Toar Morgan has developed and in the last year may be more than a match even for the ruthless tactics employed by the Krippler.

A beautiful wrestling match should result in the semi final bout. Barrett Rochefoucalt hooks up with Frankie Taylor, the handsome lad from Hollywood. Both men are smooth as silver and it will be a very even contest.

Jan Golch did considerable bolstering after the match here by Taylor and has been matched with popular Pat. Flanagan.

Two Trout Caught At Once on Same Leader

Cobourg, Aug. 19. (CP)—Two trout were caught simultaneously on the same leader by Freeborn Bell of this city, during the weekend. He had a six foot leader out with three flies. A 20-inch rainbow trout struck. While he was playing it, a 15-inch brown trout took hold unknown to him until he came to find both fish on his leader.

POINT ANNE WINS FROM THE MOOSE OF TRENTON 15-6

Trenton Management Likely to Protest Because Umpires Switched

Point Anne won the first game of the first round Intermediate 'B' softball playdowns in Trenton on Saturday night, defeating the Moose squad of that town by a 15-6 score.

The Trenton management stated that the game would be protested on the grounds that the Point Anne squad substituted Jack Boyle appointed umpire, in place of Ebber who officiated for the first innings and one half.

The game was a free hitting affair with the Trenton batting collecting sixteen clouts off Pat Maracle but these failed to come in the clutches. Pennepiot on the mound for the home team was touched for ten hits and errors behind him helped in no small manner.

One of the fielding features of the game was Fasane's sensational stab of Nicky Sero's bid for a home run. The Tr centrefielder made a flying in the air to bring down the in the best play of the day.

Mcnaney Green, Sr., pace Point Anne attack with t base hits, Horswood and shaw came through with clouts each while Gener Sero and Bennett contrib singles.

Trenton, Istead, r fielder was the big gun with hickory. He clouted out solid smacks and he was follo closely by Fasane and Allen got a trio of bangs each. Fr and Rosenpiot helped these to two each with Hastings Cole getting one each.

Point Anne—Bradshaw lf, ereaux cf, Green rf, Ser Horswood 2b, Green c, Ben 1b, Maracle 3b, Maracle P, p. Trenton—Ebber rf, Kittle Cole lf, Campbell 1b, Hast 3b, Fanane 2b, Mann c, Is rf, Rosenpiot p.

Umpires: LaMorre, bases; Boyle, plate.

AT MARTYRS' SHRINE

Midland, Aug. 19. (CP)—Cadilics from all parts of Ontario Quebec will visit Martyrs' Shrine here yesterday in observance the centenary of the martyrdom St. Isaac Jogues. Nearly 4 persons attended the Pontifical Mass.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

B-E-L-L-E	McCARTHY	CAPITOL
DO YOU LOVE ME?	CANYON PASSAGE	WHY GIRLS LEAVE
Maureen O'Hara Dick Haymes Harry James	Dana Andrews Susan Hayward in Technicolor	Lola Lane Lyle Talbot
2.35 — 7.25 — 9.45		2.30 — 7.00 — 9.30

STRANGE ILLUSION
Jimmy Lydon

CAPITOL TONIGHT
Complete Shows 7.15 - 8.40
TWO HITS FIRST BELLEVILLE SHOWINGS!

THE LIVING, LOVING, FIGHTING CONQUEST OF THE GREAT NORTHWEST!

and TUESDAY

RK TRAIL

By Ed Dodd

LIL ABNER — And a Goodly Crowd Was There

By Al Capp

RINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

POP — Surprising

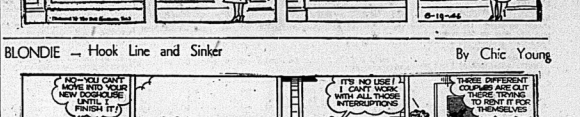
By J. Millar Watt

IPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS

By [illegible]

BLONDIE — Hook Line and Sinker

By Chic Young



JOHNNY HAZARD

By Frank Robbins

TILLIE THE TOILER — A Tonsilectomy Might Help

By Russ Westover

Dotted Line Honeymoon

By Joseph McCord

CHAPTER 11

Lazrimore H. Cutter leaped to his feet, beamed. With the great self-control he ever had exercised, he thrust both hands deep in his pockets and stalked calmly to his place. Ordinarily, he would have kissed the bride and seized his hostess. But that would have meant standing behind her mate, looking down on the tempting brown waves of her hair. It was too much to ask of a man. He didn't dare.

Instead, he dropped into his chair and unfolded his napkin with fingers that shook strangely. "You'll have to carve," was Jacqueline's next warning. "I hope you know how."

"I can do...almost anything, I think."

Larry reached for the knife that lay beside the platter. It relieved him to have something to plunge the fork into the helpless bird, to explore for joints with a ruthless blade. He knew...no it wasn't. Just as he stood at his own table...He wanted to say aloud at the injustice of it all. Instead, he remarked:

"I said you were rather wonderful. You have a really sharp knife. How come?"

"Is it? I haven't used it for a long time. Vince always kept the knives sharpened....."

"Vince?"

"I mean my father."

"Oh....Sure."

Larry seemed to be a superb combination of guest and host. His complete devotion he exhibited toward the food testified eloquently to his approval. Jacqueline was a hostess that she scarcely took time to do justice to her own heaped plate, but how she grew were alight with pleasure as she watched her husband's testimony to his grinning comment that he was "a gallant."

"I won't let you forget," she promised very solemnly, with a glance at the clock. Only a little more an hour left! She turned on the radio, tuned it down so that the music would not interfere with conversation. She felt a little easier when they were talking. But the music made itself felt. The soft strains of a waltz Jacqueline wondered suddenly if her husband danced. Funny...how very little she knew about him, after all. And no reason why she should know more.

"Tis not so nominated in the bond."

Queer how that quotation kept running through her mind. Please talk, Larry....This isn't very safe.

Perhaps Larry felt the influence of the music. He talked informally of this and that, indulging in few personalities. Asking no questions. Apparently he was content to take advantage whatever of this unique situation. Playing the game like a perfect gentleman. Jacqueline was conscious of something like a feeling of relief when he asked finally if he might use the telephone.

"I'll call for a cab and have it take me around to the hotel and pick up my bags. I'm packed."

The last words had a depressing sound. And little more was said until there came the suggestive honk of a motor horn from out in the street. Larry tapped the ashes from his pipe and looked at Jacqueline with a forced smile.

"Must be my Jehu," he decided. And did not stir. "It is," he added, as the silence was broken an instant later by the sound of a voice. "I'll go out and tell him he found the right place...and to wait a minute, please, getting up. "Be right back."

But Jacqueline apparently looked strangely empty now. The air was like ice suddenly. Larry's hat lying on the couch where he had tossed it. Jacqueline crossed over and looked at it, looked her down at it, only to move away from it again [illegible] heard his step coming down the hall.

He closed the door and stood with his back against it, looking gravely at Jacqueline.

"I don't know just how long I'll be away....." he told her tentatively. "It will depend on ...several things."

Jacqueline wondered vaguely if he were about to say he would write. Or if he hoped she would. His next words were entirely unexpected. They came with the force of a blow.

"Don't forget what I told you about Rannie Hicks. He's a good guy. And I sure did have a wonderful time tonight....I'll never forget it." He came nearer and extended his hand. "Good night, Jack."

His wife laid her small hand in his. There seemed nothing to say, fortunately. She didn't trust her voice.

Larry looked at her with a twisted little smile. His eyes were half closed.

"Say, Jack...I don't want to throw doubts at myself....but I'd sort of like to have you know that you're standing...in the presence of the bravest man in the world."

"And the....nicest."

It was Jacqueline's heart crying that out.

Larry had gone.

For the several days immediately following Larry Cutter's departure, Jacqueline gave herself up wholeheartedly to the business of being lonely. She derided herself philosophically and tried to reason out the situation. After all, it was simple enough...a mere business proposition.

There was no reason in the world why she should expect to hear from Larry—every reason why she shouldn't. She admired him for sticking so closely to his bargain. But her heart gave a strange little leap in her breast every time she saw a mail carrier pass the door. Each evening she looked breathlessly in her letter box when she returned home. It would be mere courtesy of Larry to drop her a note after being her guest that way and.....

Silly!

Jacqueline took herself sternly in hand. It was high time to stop this mooning and attend to business. Very resolutely, she set about picking up the threads of her old existence. Business was none too good and she forced herself to read in her leisure moments.

Strange how the adventures of fiction seemed to pall in direct comparison to her own. Stories of adventure in far-off lands were inexplicably associated with Larry. As were the grim-lipped heroes. She found herself sometimes skimming through the paragraphs to assure the safety of the principal figure.

Larry had said he was coming back.....to headquarters. Jacqueline tried to dismiss any other possibility as soon as possible for it always brought up a memory of those bonds in the Second National. Sometimes they were responsible for an instant's exultation. Ten thousand dollars! And all hers! A fortune!

Then she knew she never could touch that money. No matter what. She was responsible for its safe-keeping. But if she ever used it.... she would have accepted a price for herself. There was no other way to look at it.

Of course of this wearying, baffling situation dragged out their allotted space. Then something happened.

Jacqueline's office phone rang. An outside call. A woman's voice.

"Miss Anthony?"

"Yes."

"South Side Hospital speaking."

The little office seemed to be going around in mad circles. Jacqueline's hand clutched at her heart; she forced her stiff lips to ask, "What is it?" The word "Larry" struggled to escape.

"We have a patient who gives his name as Vincent Anthony," the voice went on. "Is he your father?"

"Why.....yes. Yes! It must be! Is he seriously ill? Is he...hurt?"

"He is ill," said the matter-of-fact voice. "It may or may not be serious. But he has asked for you. Can you arrange to come to the hospital?"

"Of course! Just as soon as I can get away."

"Very well. Please inquire at the office. Good-bye."

Vince! Home again! In a hospital!

Jacqueline sat staring straight ahead of her, trying to fit the pieces of this new puzzle into an understandable pattern. But only for a moment. Then, a hurried trip to the manager's office to explain the situation. She would report back to the hotel as soon as possible and make whatever arrangements were necessary to care for her clients.

The main thing, now, was to reach the South Side Hospital. The hotel doorman signaled a taxi at her breathless request.

(To Be Continued)

CJBQ

"The Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

CJBQ (1230 k)

MONDAY

4.10 p.m.—Teatime Melodies
4.30 p.m.—Dance Time Revels.
5.00 p.m.—1-3-5 Club
5.30 p.m.—Children's Story Time
5.45 p.m.—Sports Report
5.50 p.m.—Hits o' the Day
6.00 p.m.—Tales for Two.
6.15 p.m.—News
6.30 p.m.—Northern Ranch Riders
6.45 p.m.—Memories of Travel
7.00 p.m.—Table Talk by Letbert
7.15 p.m.—Behind the News
7.30 p.m.—Do You Remember
7.45 p.m.—Spotlight on Melody
8.00 p.m.—News
8.15 p.m.—Calling All Cars
8.30 p.m.—News
8.45 p.m.—Interlude from Part, Hill
9.00 p.m.—Spotlight on Lad, his Guitar
9.00 p.m.—Report to the Listener
9.15 p.m.—Lively Tunes
9.30 p.m.—Touring the Clubs
9.45 p.m.—News Roundup
10.45 p.m.—Hoorie
11.00 p.m.—God Save the King

TUESDAY

7.00 a.m.—Overnight News'
7.30 a.m.—Up With The Sun
8.00 a.m.—Jim Fair
8.15 a.m.—News
8.30 a.m.—Burnt Toast,
8.45 a.m.—Rush Hour.
9.00 a.m.—Morning Devotions.
9.15 a.m.—Church in the Wildwood.
9.30 a.m.—Music for Dishwashing
9.45 a.m.—On The Mall.
10.00 a.m.—Going to Town
10.15 a.m.—Tuning the Clubs
10.30 a.m.—Pot Luck
10.45 a.m.—Bill and Bob.
10.55 a.m.—Interlude
11.00 a.m.—The Waltz Lives On
11.15 a.m.—Jazz Jamboree
11.45 a.m.—Swing and Sway with Sammy Kaye
11.58 a.m.—Items Sweet Home
12.00 noon—Luncheon Music
12.30 p.m.—News
12.45 p.m.—Luncheon Music
1.00 p.m.—Market Quotations
1.10 p.m.—Slim Bryan and Wildcats
1.30 p.m.—Shopping News in Belleville
1.45 p.m.—Music from the Shows
2.00 p.m.—Around the Bay
2.15 p.m.—Holiday Strings
2.30 p.m.—Stamp Parade
2.45 p.m.—Melodies for Women
3.00 p.m.—Spotlight on Melody
4.00 p.m.—News
4.15 p.m.—Tea Time Topics
4.30 p.m.—Hit Tune of the Week
5.00 p.m.—Bobby Sox Swing
5.00 p.m.—1-3-5 Club
5.30 p.m.—Children's Story Time
5.45 p.m.—Sports Report
5.50 p.m.—Hits of the Day
6.00 p.m.—Table Talk
6.15 p.m.—News
6.30 p.m.—Rhythm Ranch Riders
6.45 p.m.—Table for Two
7.00 p.m.—Listen to Letbert
7.15 p.m.—Behind the News
7.30 p.m.—Do You Remember?
7.45 p.m.—Tea Time Spotlight.
7.55 p.m.—Piano Moods
8.00 p.m.—Dance Time Melodies
8.30 p.m.—News
8.45 p.m.—Report from Parliament Hill
9.00 p.m.—Music for Listening
9.00 p.m.—Junior Board of Trade
9.15 p.m.—Lively Tunes
9.30 p.m.—Touring the Clubs
9.45 p.m.—News Roundup
10.45 p.m.—Hoorie
11.00 p.m.—God Save the King

Network Programs

MONDAY EVENING

6.00 p.m.—
—Fun Banshox
CBL—Victory Parade
WBEN-News, 6:15—Sports
6.15 p.m.—
—News
6.30 p.m.—
—David Rose Show
WGR—Sports
WBEN—Ken Kobbers
CFRB—Interlude
6.60 p.m.—
CFRB—Wm McKnight, sports
6.45 p.m.—
WBEN-CBC—Lowell Thomas
CBL—BBC News and Comment
CFRB—
7.00 p.m.—
WGR—Supper Club
—7.15 p.m.—
WBEN—John W. Vandercook
CFRB—Skyline Roof
—7.30 p.m.—
CFRB-CKOC—Jack Kirkwood
—10.00 p.m.—
CBL-CBC—CBC National News
CJBC-CHML—Contented Hour
CFRB-CBS—Screen Guild
—10.30 p.m.—
WBEN-BBC—Dr. I. Q.
WGR-CBS—Tonight on Broadway
—10.45 p.m.—
CKEY—Sports Report
—11.00 p.m.—
CFRB—Fifth Dan
—11.15 p.m.—
WBEN-ABC—Jimmy Blair
—11.30 p.m.—
CFRB—Memory Tunes
—11.35 p.m.—
WBEN—Late Sports Column
—12.00 a.m.—
WBEN-NBC—News

TUESDAY EVENING

—6.00 p.m.—
WBEN—News; 6:15—Sport
—6.15 p.m.—
WGR-CBS—Frontier of Science
—6.30 p.m.—
CFRB—Jim Hunter, news
—6.45 p.m.—
CFRB—Wes McKnight on Sports
—7.00 p.m.—
CFRB-CBS—News Of Now
CBL—London BBC News
WBEN-NBC—Lowell Thomas
—8.50 p.m.—
CFRB—Did I Say That
—7.00 p.m.—
CFRB—Lorne Greene
WBEN-NBC—Supper Club
—7.15 p.m.—
WBEN-ABC—John W. Vandercook
CFRB—Skyline Roof
—7.30 p.m.—
CFRB—Lum 'n Abner
WGR-CBS—Organ Melodies
CBL—Prelude to Evening
CJBC-CHML—Buffalo Univ. Sound Table
—8.00 p.m.—
WBEN-NBC—Margaret Whiting
CFRB—Big Town
—8.30 p.m.—
CBL—Sigrins' Cottette
WGR—Date With Judy
CFRB, CHML—Theatre of Romance
—8.45 p.m.—
CFRB—Lum 'n Abner
WBEW—Ted Malone
CJBC-CHML—Music for Godfrey
—9.30 p.m.—
CBL, CJBC—Fred Waring Show
WBEW—Doctors Talk It Over
CFRB—Interlude
—10.00 p.m.—
CBL-CJBC—CBC News
WBEN-CBS—Grand Musical Festival
CFRB-CBS—Night Life
—10.30 p.m.—
CFRB—Piano Moods
WBEN—Evening With Romberg
CBL,CKOC—Leicester-Broadway
WGR-CBS—Hollywood Star Time
—11.00 p.m.—
CFRB-NBC—News
CBL-BBC—Black Hoods"
—11.10 p.m.—
CFRB—Tuba Collingwood Reads
—11.15 p.m.—
WBEN—Jimmy Blair Sings
—11.30 p.m.—
CFRB—Dreamy Tunes
—11.45 p.m.—
CFRB—Sports Column
WBEN-ABC—Tommy Tucker Orch.
WGR-CBS—Jack Teagarden Orch.
—12.00 a.m.—

TO LET

or house, by reliable party, ... Apply Box 24, Intelligencer. A18-3t

SMEATHLY, 3 OR 4 ROOMS, ... ly small amount of flat, pre... ...ed; conveniently situated ... ...ery and bus. Apply Box ... ...ligencer. A18-3t

OVERNIGHT COTTAGES ... ...ON BAY. Phone 2... A18-3t

3 ROOMS, 5TH CON., TYENDINAW, ...ELECTRIC, close to school, ...ation needed apply P. O. ... ...ENDINAW. A18-3t

...SE ON MOIRA LAKE, AVAIL... ...Aug. 15th. Apply Lorne Bailey, ...Phone 2... A18-3t

...ANGE RENTAL, RICE 8 ROOM ... ...ern conveniences, ...for similar accommodation. ... ...Intelligencer. A18-2t

WANTED

...SEKEEPER WANTED ... ...ELDERLY GENTLEMAN. ... ...LARGE COMPANY HAS AVAILABLE ... ...route in Hastings County for ... ...ers. Splendid opportunity ... ...Product Co... ...Ltd., Montreal. A18-3t

...ELL WANTED MAN ... ...AMERICAN MEN WANTED ... ...Hastings County to ... ...Watkins Products ... ...Write Watkins Co., ...Dept. 177, Montreal. ... ...personnel. No investment ... ...required. Splendid ... ...Apply Box 23, Intelligencer. A18-3t

...ANTED TO RENT ... ...Apply Box 23, Intelligencer. A8-tf

A9, 7, 12, 14, 16, 21, 26

...ANTED TO RENT — SMALL ... ...RES.-W. ... ...Apply Box 22, ... A18-2t

...ANTED, CAR AND UP, IN GOOD ... ...Apply 54, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-2t

...ARRIED MAN FOR FARM ... ...Modern house, all ... ...Apply Box 25, Tyen... ...Intelligencer. A18-2t

...ICKERS FOR 30 ACRES OF TOMA... ...Apply Donald K. Spencer, R. ... ...Phone 2... A18-2t

...OUNG MAN TO SELL DRUGS AND ... ...general stores. Drug store ... ...Apply Box 21, Intelligencer. ... ...Intelligencer. A18-3t

...OBACCO ... ...CONSTRUCTION ... ...Building for sale, ...Shop, Corner of ... ...Bridge Streets. ... ...Be sold in the 4 for ... ...Branches organized ... ...ality served. ... ...Write Box 10, ...tario Intelligencer. A18-3t

...XPERIENCED WAITRESS, ...to person only. ... ...Hotel Belleville. ... A18-tf

...6-'38 CAR, ANY MODEL. 1183-28-2. A18-3t

...UITABLE LIVING ACCOMMODA... ...for family of two (no ... ...ags children). Phone 982. A18-2t

...ADULTS REQUIRED TO RENT ... ...nished self-contained ... ...house, 3-3 bedrooms. ... ...Belleville or ... ...Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

...WO ROOM APARTMENT, FURNISH... ...et and heating. ... ...children. Write Box 21, ...Intelligencer. A18-3t

...OUSEKEEPER, ...SMALL APART... ...ment, two school age children, ...cent, good wages. ... ...Phone 3137-W between 4 and 8. A18-3t

...URGENTLY — HOUSE OR ROOMS ... ...or unfurnished, ...small daughter or ... ...Adults. ... ...Write Box 23, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

...TAMP COLLECTIONS, ACCUMULA... ...tions, old correspondence, ...Cash or ... ...Stamps Limited, ...ville. ... ...Will pay highest cash ... ...Write ... A18-2t

...WO, THREE OR FOUR ROOMS AT ... ...Apply Box 20, ...Ontario Intelligencer. A18,20,21,26,27,28

...MMEDIATELY — 2 - 4 ROOM AP... ...artment for ... ...ren. Good ... ...references. Phone 1276.

...IRL OR WOMAN TO CARE FOR ... ...for ... ...school age ... ...Good ... ...Apply ... ...Phone 2... A18-3t

...OOMERS, CONVENIENT TO C.N.R. ... ...Station. ... ...Write Box 24 Ontario ... ...Intelligencer. A18-3t

...ERMANENT POSITION BY STEN... ...apher, with 3 years ... ...Must be ... ...bookkeeping and ... ...shorthand. State ... ...Write Box A, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

...AN OR BOY (13-16) FOR FARM ... ...work, by month or ... ...Write Box ... ...Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

...O RENT WITH OPTION OF BUY... ...ing, small farm ... ...miles from ... ...ter city. ... ...Permanent tenants. ... ...Write ... ...box 46, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

...URGENTLY REQUIRED FURNISHED ... ...by 4 ... ...months ... ...Write ... ...months baby. ... ...Abstainers. ... ...Write Box 39, Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

...EACHER NEEDS 4 OR 5 ROOMED ... ...apartment or small house. ... ...Write ... ...Ontario Intelligencer. A17-3t

...Y CAPABLE WOMAN, SMALL ... ...wantings. Phone 1982. A17-3t

...ADY OR MEN BOARDERS ... ...ironment. Phone 2... A16-3t

...IRL OR WOMAN TO ASSIST WITH ... housework. Sleep in or out. ... ...Box 4, Ontario Intelligencer. A16-3t

...HREE OR FOUR ROOMS URGENT... ...ly required, references. ... ...Phone 966 W. A16-3t

...ALESLADY FOR ONE OF BELLE... ville's oldest established ... ...ready ... ...customer ... ...Apply in ... ...Write Box 34, Ontario Intelligencer. A16-3t

...ALESLADY FOR LADIES WEAR ... shop. ... ...Write Box 32, Ontario Intelligencer. A16-3t

EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES

...WO EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES ... ...with personality ... ...new modern ... ...Write ... ...Ontario Intelligencer. A15-4t

...OOKKEEPER-STENOGRAPHER, ...C. I. or O. R. C. ... ...Write Box 31, Ontario Intelligencer. A15-3t

...IRL FOR TEA ROOM, OVER SEVEN... ...teen. ... ...No night work or ... ...Apply ... ...Dickson's ... ...Store. A15-3t

...IVE 'POULTRY, HIGHEST CASH ... ...prices ... ...Will call ... ...attention. ... ...Apply M. Marcus, 152 ... ...James St., Belleville. Phone 568. A8-tf

...EATHERS AND FEATHER BEDS OF ... ...all ... ...Write ... ...Queen ... ...Feather Company, 23 Baldwin St., Toronto. M20tf

...IRLS TO LEARN SEWING, EXCEL... ...lent ... ...working ... ...and ... ...pay while ... ...Apply The ... ...Store. D20tf

...AITRESS FOR TEA ROOM, PER... ...manent ... ...Apply ... ...Apply Lattimer's ... ...Store. A14-3t

FOR SALE

...STOVE, BEACH COMPANION, WOOD, ...coal ... ...Phone ... ...condition. ... ...Bridge ... A18-3t

...ARM — 100 ACRES, GOOD BUILD... ...Apply to the ... ...Mrs. Percy ... ...Belleville. A18-3t

...ENT'S BICYCLE, $15. ... ...PHONE ... A18-2t

...WEED COAT (FALL) SIZE 12 ... ...hardly worn, $18.00. ... ...Phone 3237-W. A18-2t

...ARDINET STYLE VICTROLA, $35; ... ...Apply 113 Church. ... ...condition, ... A18-2t

...OTOR BOAT, 18½ FEET LONG, 6 ... feet beam. ... ...Phone 3... A18-3t

...9 DE... ...COACH. ... ...SERIAL NO. ... ...ENGINE. ... ...Phone ... ...last battery charger; 1939 ... ...Apply ... ...Phone 3... ...best ... ...Apply ... A18

...ARQUETTE SEDAN, 1939, GOOD ... ...condition. ... ...'36 ... ...Motor, ...Pigeon's ... ...Front St. A18-3t

...0 ACRE FARM, STOCK, CROP AND ... ...Belleville. ... ...Write Box 33, Ontario Intelligencer. A18-3t

...ONY—GOOD ... ...WITH ... ...CHILDREN, ...cheap. ... ...Apply 167 ... ...Phone 3... A18-3t

...GENERAL ... ...PURPOSE ... ...Cheap. ... ...Apply 167 ... ...Phone 3... A18-3t

...0 ... ...HYBRID ... ...PULLETS, ...'ABOUT ... ...ready ... ...to lay. ... ...Phone 938. A18-3t

...OMPLETE ... ...COMFORT ... ...Overwhelmed. ... ...Apply ... ...Bevrids, 1½ ... ...miles ... ...east ... ...of ... ...Trenton ... ...Airport. A18-3t

...MALL ... ...MODERN ... ...BEACH ... ...RANGE, ...suitable ... ...for ... ...2 ... ...or ... ...summer ... ...cottage. ... ...Apply ... ...after ... ...5 ... ...p.m. ... ...Elmer ... ...St. A18-2t

...30 ... ...LEG-... ...ROCK ... ...COCKERELS, ...DRESSED ... ...OR ... ...LIVE. ... ...Phone ... ...Plainfield, ...Phone ... ...Thurlow 1911-21 A18-3t

...V ... ...BOTTOM ... ...MOTOR ... ...LAUNCH ... ...20 ... ...ft. ... ...Apply ... ...Box ... ...11 ... ...under ... ...Continental ... ...motor. ... ...Could ... ...be ... ...used ... ...as ... ...pleasure or ... ...commercial ... ...fishing. ... ...$800. ... ...Speed ... ...30 ... ...miles ... ...per ... ...hour. ... ...Apply ... ...Intelligencer ... ...office ... ...or ... ...write, ...Eric ... ...Jones, ...Box ... ...11, ...Brighton. A18-3t

...X PLATE HEAVY DUTY ELECTRIC ... stove, never used. Apply 89 S. Front ... A16-3t

...1 DODGE SEDAN, SERIAL NO. ... ...D9A-1... ...Motor ... ...No. ... ...D9A-1... ...Apply ... ...Ontario ... ...Intelligencer. ... ...Phone ... ...Stone Mt. View 32-21. A16-3t

...MATCHED TEAM, GREY PERCH... ...eron horses, ...7 and 9 years old, 1800, ...1900 ... ...lbs. ... ...Broke to ... ...ride and ... ...drive, ...broken, ...high ... ...stepping. ... ...Holstein ... ...cow, ...due ... ...July 4. ... ...Holsteins ... ...due ... ...soon. ... ...2 ... ...weeks. ... ...Freeman ... ...Thompson, ...R.R. ... ...6, ...Belleville. ... ...Phone ... ...Stirling 2-r-23. A15-4t

...UANTITY OF HARD AND SOFT ... wood ... ...slabs. ... ...Phone ... ...Cut ... ...2 ... ...Corded. ... ...Bannockburn. A1-tm

...OTORCYCLE, "HARLEY - DAVID... ...SON," ... ...1942 ... ...Model ... ...WLD, ...Saunders, ...c/o ... ...Smith ... ...Transport. A15-3t

...ADY'S BLACK WINTER COAT, fit... ...wer ... ...fox ... ...collar, ...size ... ...16. ... ...Phone ... ...Dixie 2-r-23. A17-3t

...AXAPHONE, "CONN" E FLAT ... ...alto, ...gold ... ...lacquered. ... ...Perfect ... ...condition. ... ...Phone 2082. A17-3t

...6-30 "NEW FAVORITE ... ...Apply ... ...to ... ...Ernest ... ...Hollowell, ...R. 4, ...Belleford, ...R.R. ... ...4, ...Telephone ... ...1732 ... ...1-1, ...Belleville. A16-3t

...INGLE ... ...BED, ...SPRING ... ...AND ... ...MATTRESS, ...one ... ...furnacette. ... ...Phone 2326R. A17-3t

...ERCHERON ... ...MARE, ...CHOICE ... ...OF ... ...three, ...3 ... ...to ... ...9 ... ...years ... ...old. ... ...Apply ... ...John ... ...Rose, ...Carlowville. A17-3t

...AN'S ... ...C.C.M. ... ...BICYCLE, ...PUP ... ...TENT, ...porcelain ... ...top ... ...kitchen ... ...table, ...2 ... ...pair ... ...curtain ... ...crates. ... ...Phone ... ...2... A17-3t

AUCTION SALE

...T 69A ... ...West ... ...Bridge ... ...Street, ...at ... ...1.30 ... ...Wednesday, ...August ... ...21st, ...Consisting ... ...of ... ...Chesterfield ... ...suite, ...small ... ...tables, ...rug, ...electric ... ...lamps, ...3-burner ... ...hotplate, ...electric ... ...plate, ...dishes, ...4 ... ...bedroom ... ...suites, ...dressers ... ...and ... ...commodes, ...lawn ... ...mower, ...curtains ... ...and ... ...drapes. ... ...Terms ... ...cash.

NORMAN MONTGOMERY, ...Auctioneer.

A17,19,20 Belleville, Phone 1179

PRIME MINISTER

(Continued From Page One.)

tions of this side of the Atlantic. If today our country is free of the scars of international conflict, it is because we have had the freedom to have been fought upon your soil, and upon the soil of other European countries; it is because we assisted you in your hour of need.

The Prime Minister said nothing had toughened him more than his collectivism. "I think French people for the homes in Canada which had been bereaved. There could be no doubt of the place Canada held today in the hearts of the people of France.

Swept in in Full Fury

Dieppe had meant what Germany had dreaded most of all — that combined attack by land, sea and air. "On Aug. 19, 1942, that cloud on the horizon was no larger than a man's hand, but its menacing proportions grew from day to day. Two years later the Allied forces in all their fury stormed over the heavily fortified positions on the northern coasts of France."

France will not soon forget, nor will Belgium or Holland nor Britain forget, nor will Canada ever forget that Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen were given a place second to none in clearing these coasts of enemy occupation."

The Dieppe of 1942 now has revealed "as only time could reveal its true significance — as the first slight prophetic of victory.

That light now shines in the fullness of its glory over the freed and free peoples of Europe."

Races Now United

Mr. King spoke of the men who sailed from Normandy three centuries ago, and the subsequent battle between Wolfe and Montcalm. These two races now were united "as a single nation, rich in the blending of their separate cultures and cherishing above all else a common heritage of freedom."

Canada sought at the Paris peace conference to perpetuate the tradition of mutual service in the many relationships of nations, and the Dominion brought to the conference the example of her own national life.

"Canada seeks to see the rich rewards of international understanding, friendship and goodwill shared in ever fuller measure by the people of all nations. The people everywhere are praying today that those concerned with the making of peace may find it possible to lay well and truly the foundations of a better world."

RUSSIA REBUILDS DNIEPER DAM

Soviet engineers are pushing reconstruction work on the famous Dnieper dam destroyed by the Russians during the war. In background is Zaporozhe on Dnieper River. Below, German bombs fall on dam.

QUACK-YAH, DIPLOMATIC LANGUAGE

At LEFT here is New Zealand Paris peace conference delegate W. J. Jordan, who appealed to the conference orators to cease "Quack, quack, quack" and get down to the business of mapping peace. At RIGHT is U.S. Senator Tom Connolly, who shook his Leonine head as he was about to take off for the parley and remarked: "All you do is sit all day, going yah, yah, yah."

Looking Ahead in Ottawa

(By The Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press)

Ottawa, Aug. 19 —(CP)— It has been reported that the Resources Department may take steps soon to encourage pacific coast lumber operators to tighten their forest conservation and reforestration program by introducing more stringent anti-wastage methods.

One important phase of this program could be the establishment of small pulp-units in the vicinity of big timber operations. These plants would have the job of salvaging the timber tops and processing them into pulp.

U.N.O. —Canada's delegation to the conference of the international labor organization, which opens in Montreal, Sept. 19, is expected to be named shortly. This will mark the first cabinet session on which the general conference has been in Canada. It is expected it will attract 400 delegates from all parts of the world.

Canada's delegation will include representatives of labor, management and government. Significance attached to the conference, expect to last about three weeks, because it is the first general conference of the organization since the war.

Subjects on the agenda include international regulations for the protection of children and young workers, and colonial labor standards. The general conference will be preceded by a meeting of a migration commission, opening Aug. 26, at which Canada will be represented by an observer.

Political Hatter: Speculation this week on the possibility of a cabinet shuffle, brought some cheer to Quebec Liberals.

They discussed the report that Edouard Rinfret, son of Canada was considered in line for a cabinet berth. Mr. Rinfret represents the Outremont riding of Montreal.

The Quebec liberals were inclined to think that Hugues LaPointe, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Abbott, would be the first cabinet choice. LaPointe, and representative of the rural riding of Lotbiniere, was a likely choice.

Some Ontario Liberals, discussing the same report, said they thought that the name of Walter Harris of Grey Bruce and and chairman of the tough flag committee, must be considered in any change involving Ontario representation in the cabinet.

SECURITY MARKETS

Quotations furnished by BIGGAR & CRAWFORD
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Belleville Office — Phone 3140 and 3161

MINES

(Quotations at 1.00 p.m.)

Aunor 6768
Backfield 1133
Beattie 79
Bidgood 34½
Bralorne 1128
Broulan 453
Buffalo Ank. 4758
Calgary and Ed. 183
Can. Malar. 73
Central Pat. 2153
Chesterville 207
Dome 21
East Mal. 180
Falconbridge 490
Francoeur 40
Gillies L. 1300
Hardrock 75
Home Oil 300
Hollinger 1125
Howey 36
Hudson Bay 43
Jason 33
Kerr Add. 13½
Kirk. Lake 1503
Lake Shore 16
Leitch 1363
Little L. 3000
Macassa 2353
McKenzie 53
McLeod 187
McKenzie 89
Mining Corp. 8158
Moneta 563
Newbec 1
Omega 20
Paymaster 60
Pamour 121
Perron 175
Pend. Oreille 3003
Pickle Crow 315
Pioneer 400
Powell 743
Preston E. D. 300
Royalite 18
San Antonio 440
Sherritt G. 220
Sisco 753
Sladen M. 4323
Sullivan 1943
Steep Rock 270
Sylvanite 200
W. Hughes 385
Venture 11 2/4
W. Amulet 4253
W. Harker 1000
U. Canada 240
Matachie 177
Madsen 315
Noranda 55

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 207
B. A. Oil 27 2-3
Brewing Corp. 22
Brai. Trac. 23
Can. Cement 22
Can. Ind. Alcohol 21 1-3
C.P.R. 13 1-2
Canada Car, 15 1-2
Cockshutt Plow 15 3-4
Con. Smelting 82 1-2B

Dominion Foundries 29 1-4
Dominion Stores 26 1-8
Fanny Farmer 58 1-4
Ford "A" 54 3-4
Gypsum 17
Imp. Oil 34
Int. Nickel 37
Inter. Pet. 17 1-3
Imp. Tobacco 14 1-3
Loblw 34 1-2
Massey Harris 17 1-2
McColl Frontenac 34
Power Corp. 12 1-2B
Steel of Canada 34B
Walker's 152
Walker's Pfd. 2010B
C.P.A. 19 1-2
Maple Leaf 14 3-4B

NEW YORK

American T. and T. 167 1-8
General Motors 65 1-2
Radio 13 1-4
U. S. Steel 88 1-2

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto Aug. 19— (CP)— Base metal and western oil shares were narrowly higher at mid-day today on the Toronto exchange and golds and industrials showed minor index losses. Volume was comparatively light at 418,000 shares for the first three hours.

Speights gained 1 1-2, Falconbridge added 20 cents and golds Manitou 10.

Steels, the Junior Yellowknife issues, including Colomac, Indian Lake, Goldcrest, Bear and Nib, ruled higher on good volume.

The food, Building and Utility issues posted a margin of losses over gains and the steels showed more gains than losers.

Home and Foothills were the stronger western oils.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Aug. 19 (CP) — Trade up by mid-session on the livestock market here today was divided with prices about steady on the few offerings.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 9700; calves 900; hogs 750; sheep and lambs 2200. Unsold from Saturday were 300 stockers.

Cattle: weighty steers $13-$13.85; butcher steers and heifers $13-$13.50; butcher cows $10-$11; canners down to $5.50; butcher bulls were steady at $10-$11 for best quality, fed yearlings sold at 14-14.75; medium down to $13.

Calves: market steady $14.50-$15.50 for good vealers, grassers $9-$10.

WANTED

An experienced Caretaker required for Bridge Street Public School. Apply stating salary, experience and references to THE JAMES TEETZEL LIMITED Printing and Publishers Phone 882

179-181 Front St.

WE HAVE THE LATEST EQUIPMENT FOR Sanding and Finishing
Hardwood Floors
CALL
HAZZARD and ELLARD
(VETERANS)
97 CATHARINE STREET
Phone 1338-M for Estimates

A18-3t

TRENTON TRAILERS REG'D
Offers for sale
10' 6" CABIN TRAILER
Sleeps two, Sink, Stove, Ice Box, Mattresses
TRAILERS MADE TO ORDER
Cabin Trailers to Box Trailers.
Bayside - Trenton 800J1-3

Tracer Bullets Streak Past U.S. Army Plane

Trieste, Aug. 19 — (AP) — A United States Army plane on a flight which fired bursts of tracer bullets was streaked by what appeared to be tracer bullets were streaked by what appeared to be tracer bullets.

This came a day after official disclosure that another American transport plying the same Austria-Italy route was forced down Aug. 9 in Yugoslavia by Yugoslav fighter planes which fired bursts of machine-gun fire, wounding a passenger.

The plane overdue today was assigned to the European Air Transport Service.

Jewish immigrants and any other British actions which Palestine Jews regard as "provocations" might have a decisive influence on the Vaad Leumi (Jewish National Council) in making up its mind whether to implement its "program of non-cooperation."

Kenneth Lloyst, Game Overseer, Held in Custody

Kenneth Lloyst, Kaladar, deputy game overseer of Frontenac County, was arrested on Saturday morning by Provincial Police Corporal W. Ramsbottom, of Kingston, and Constable Ernest Gates of Belleville, on a nominal charge in connection with the shooting of Alvin Patterson, of Arden, at Crotch Lake, Friday night. Provincial Police Inspector Harry Thompson announced today.

The shooting, police stated, occurred at a dance hall at Crotch Lake, seven miles north of Sharbot Lake, at midnight on Friday. Patterson is at present in the Perth Hospital suffering from a gunshot wound.

Lloyst was brought to the Frontenac County Jail, Kingston, where he is being held pending hearing.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 19 (CP) —Provincial Police today indicated they will seek one week remand for Kenneth Lloyst, 35, of Kaladar, when he appears this afternoon before Magistrate A. R. Collins, of Belleville, on a charge of manslaughter following fatal bodily harm. They describe the charge as "holding charge" while investigation of the midnight shooting of Alvin Patterson, 36, of Arden, at Crotch Lake, Friday, continues.

C. M. CAWKER & CO.
Montreal — Toronto Wire
38 Bridge St. East
Phone 2902
STOCKS — BONDS
J31M-W-S52

Residence Contents Fire Insurance

NOW IS THE TIME
To check your insurance, residence, contents, auto, set fire.
We cover you for fire, windstorm, water leakage etc., all in the fire policy. Let us explain it.
Jamieson Bone & Co.
157 Front Street

CASH LOANS
at
BELLVUE FINANCE CORPORATION
You pay for nothing but a confidential, quick loan service.
Compare These Typical Loans
$100 you repay ... $ 7.40 for 12 months
$200 you repay ... 14.80 for 12 months
$300 you repay ... 22.20 for 12 months
$400 you repay ... 29.60 for 12 months
256½ Front Street
(Quick and Robertson Block)
BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO
9 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. including Saturdays.
Wednesday 9 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.
WILLIS JACKSON, Manager
Phone 427

LOANS
FOR DOMESTIC PURPOSES
When you need cash quickly, to put your household affairs in order, Campbell Finance is ready and qualified to serve you. For 20 years the dependable, friendly company with low rates, small monthly repayments and liberal terms. Loans of $20.00 and upwards. Easy to pay old bills or for any worthy purpose can be arranged promptly in a private interview in our office. Your life is insured at no extra cost.
CAMPBELL
FINANCE CORPORATION LIMITED
34 BRIDGE ST., EAST
Phone 2124
TED TURKINGTON, Branch Mgr.

FOR RENT
Fully equipped cafeteria; garage, good location, on highway. Apply Box 19, Intelligencer, quickly, responsible. Write Box 2, Quinte Intelligencer.
A17-3t

RENTAL BATTERIES
150 OF THEM.
We want to rent your battery, therefore slow charging is the only method we use. Call 1179.
Fred's Battery Shop
140 FRONT STREET
PHONE 149
J24-1m

A.N.T-I-Q-U-E-S
BOUGHT and SOLD
L. G. ROBILLARD
46 QUEEN STREET
PHONE 358-M
A14-6t

FOR Car Ceiling Information
PHONE 716
J17tf

CLARE'S TAXI
24 HOUR SERVICE
PHONE 196
A3-1m

MONEY TO LOAN
On First Mortgage on City Property and Farms
INTEREST 5%
BELLEVILLE INSURANCE AGENCIES LIMITED
Dominion Bank Bldg. Phone 3077
A9-1m

PERON ENVOY EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON

Dr. Oscar Ivanissevich, the new Argentine ambassador to the United States, is pictured with his wife and daughter, Helen, at Miami, Fla., putting Tuly, their wire-haired terrier, through his trick routine while waiting to board a plane for Washington, D.C. Dr. Ivanissevich will start his first job in diplomatic service on his arrival in Washington. It is reported that he carries with him a personal letter from President Juan Peron to President Truman, assuring President Truman that his country would fight at the side of the U. S. if there were another war.

SUSPECT CAPTURED EIGHT HOURS AFTER ATTEMPTED BANK HOLDUP IN EMBRUN, ONTARIO

Thomas Ritchie, 23, who allegedly attempted to rob the Royal Bank branch at Embrun, Ont., was captured after eight hours. LEFT, a posse in search of the bandit are shown entering a bush. At the RIGHT is the overturned taxicab of Harold Malette, Ottawa, who was kidnapped by the bandit. When shots were fired in the ban... Malette had his spine shattered.

Educate Citizens In Functions Of Municipal Govt.

Fort William, Aug. 19. (CP)—Expansion of educational and publicity services as a means of acquainting citizens with the structure and function of municipal governments was recommended by Mayor Gordon L. Rife, of Guelph, in an address prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves.

The gathering also heard Mayor William A. Rutt of Thorold, speaking on experience with an "office of assessor and tax collector combined."

"The average Canadian citizen never receives any formal education on the subject of municipal government," said Mayor Rife. School courses in this subject might help to spread such knowledge, he suggested. So would enabling taxpayers to read reports of municipal operations, financial position and future planning.

"Statistics show that only about 30 to 40 per cent of those entitled to vote in Canadian Municipal elections do so," said Mayor Rife. "The remainder are apparently content to let this small percentage determine who shall be their municipal governors and control the spending of the taxes which they all must pay. Unless some method is found to bring the people of this country to a realization of their duty on municipal election day, our whole system of democratic government is in danger of being undermined."

Mayor Rife advocated that men "of sound business acumen" be urged to run for public office. He said he believed that intelligent leadership, education and publicity would help to further the art of government and might assist in finding a solution to international problems.

Mayor Hutt gave a detailed description of the operation of Thorold's combined assessor-tax collector's office. He said he could claim for the system increased efficiency in administration and rigid economy in expenditures.

Hog-Made Wallow Responsible For Saving Moira Barn

Moira, (Special.)— During the second terrific storm that raged in the early hours of Saturday morning, Mr. Wesley Holbert's barn was struck by lightning. Following the first storm Mr. Holbert had wisely released his horses and only an old sow remained in the building. This same animal was instrumental in saving the barn for she had during the hot days dug herself a deep wallow just beside the stable door. When Mr. Holbert and Bessie perceived that the lower part of the barn was on fire they hastily picked up pails and with the torrent of rain pouring into the hole were able to extinguish the fire before it reached the hay mow. The tongue and reach of a wagon standing beside the barn were completely split.

Claxton Heads Legal, Drafting Body at Paris

By ROSS MUNRO

(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Paris, Aug. 19. (CP) —Canada's appointment to the chairmanship of the Legal and Drafting Commission of the Peace Conference is in accord with the Dominion's own desire, says Brooks Claxton, Health Minister.

After his election yesterday to head the Commission, Mr. Claxton told its members: "As Prime Minister Mackenzie King has indicated, Canada is not especially interested in any particular treaty and this is recognized in Canada as being appointed to the Committee having general application."

The Legal and Drafting Commission will put recommendations and decisions of the conference into shape for presentation to the Council of Foreign Ministers who draft the final treaties.

This is the only chairmanship of the ten Commissions which Canada will hold but the Dominion previously had declined an opportunity to head one of the major economic or political commissions.

Mr. Claxton's nomination was moved by the Ukraine and seconded by France and Norway.

Mr. Claxton's extensive legal background— he has practised law in Montreal since 1921 and lectured in law at McGill University—will stand him in good stead in his new task. Possibly legal experts will be brought from Canada to give a hand.

Mr. Claxton has had wide experience at international conferences dating from early in the 1930s.

Moira

Moira.— The August meeting of the Victory Class was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Welsh on Thursday evening. Mr. Ross Ketcheson presided. The topic was taken by Milton Vanderwater and Beverley Foster. Readings were given brigade in extinguishing the blaze. duet by Lola and Evelyn Emerson. Contests and refreshments were enjoyed later.

Pauline Holbert is spending her holidays at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer of Hoard's Station.

Mr. M. Welsh is spending a couple of weeks visiting relatives in Belleville and Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ketcheson and Owen, spent the tea hour Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Welsh.

4th Thurlow

4th Thurlow. —Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Osborne of Lonsdale, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McDonald of Shannonville, called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garrison recently.

Mrs. Edmund Carleton, Joyce and Jack of Plainfield, also Mrs. Fred Baker and daughters of Oshawa, called on Mrs. Bruce Martin and Mrs. Harvey Carleton and baby, Joan on Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tummon were Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. George Denike, 3rd Sidney.

Mrs. Stuart William of Mount Elgin, Ont., spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garrison.

Mr. Ernest Wilson has returned after visiting his son, Mr. Charlie Wilson and family of Grimsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tummon called on Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bird and Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Terry on Wednesday evening.

A number from this line attended the miscellaneous shower on Monday evening, given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Milfin (formerly Bessie Walker), at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, 3rd Line.

Mr. Tom Peacock was a Sunday visitor of Mr. and Mrs. George Denike.

Miss Bessie Way, of Toronto, spent a few days recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Way.

Mrs. Fred Garrison spent a week in Sarnia, with her husband, Mr. F. Garrison.

Mr. John Cooley of Lafayette, Indiana, is visiting at the home of his brother, Mr. S. Cooley and family

3rd Sidney

3rd Sidney.—Mrs. Harold Denike and baby son, Douglas, have returned home from the Belleville General Hospital. Little Miss Eudora Denike returned home on Wednesday, having spent the past ten days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parsons at their home in Consniffton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. U. Spafford spent Saturday evening with Mr. Spafford's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bird at their home in Trenton.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Jeffrey were Miss Louise Rush of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Millar of Belleville.

Miss Mary Rush of Toronto, has spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. Murney Jeffrey.

Mr. Burton Hubble, who underwent an appendectomy at the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday last, is making satisfactory progress toward recovery and expected to come home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westover visited on Sunday at the home of the latter's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Duxtaker, Thurlow.

Mr. Gordon Grills returned home on Saturday after holidaying with relatives in Peterborough.

Miss Leta McMullen, of Winnipeg, who is visiting relatives here, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marshall, Mr. Ross Marshall and Mrs. L. Hall to Springbrook, on Sunday when they visited their aunt, Mrs. McMullen, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kenny and sons, of Superior, Wisconsin, have been visiting the former's nieces, the Misses Deane and Sandra Kenny at the home of the latter's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Latta.

Mr. Thos. Peacock, 4th of Thurlow, spent the supper hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Denike.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Price, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Knight, and son, John, of Cannifton, spent Sunday afternoon at the Denike home.

Master Donald Ash ,of Peterborough, is visiting this week at the home of his cousin, Master Gerald Grills and other relatives, on this Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Bailey were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. Ewart Bailey, Stirling.

Mrs. Arthur Saylor and Mrs. Palmer entertained a few ladies on Wednesday afternoon in hon... of the latter's niece, Miss Jac... et Crouch, of Port Arthur, wh... has been holidaying at the Sa... home. Miss Crouch, Mrs. Sa... lor,...Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. ... Westover were dinner guests ... Monday at the home of Mr. a... Mrs. Wilmot Bailey.

The recent rains and warm weather are ripening the t... matoes. The tomato growers ... this district report a fairly goo... crop, and the tomatoes are of go... quality. Threshing in this neighborhood will soon be complete... for the season, and many farme... have considerable Fall ploug... ing done.

IF IT'S ABOUT YOUR EYES . . . SEE MOFFE...

CDS PHONE 2000

Boys' Sleeveless Sweaters

Boy's fine quality wool and cotton sleeveless sweaters, knit in fancy stitch. Popular V neck with trimmed arm holes and snug fitting waist. Colors: wine, fawn and green. Sizes small, medium and large in the group. Each 1.25

—C. D. S. Main Floor

Children's Coat Sweaters

Children's cotton and wool cardigan sweaters, with gay patterned and designed fronts. Comfortable V neck, button front and long sleeves. Colors: wine, green and brown. Sizes 2, 4 and 6 years in the group. Each .. 2.98

—C. D. S. Second Floor

Eaton's Family Package Stationery

Eaton's white linen finished family package stationery. Contains 100 sheets of writing paper and 50 envelopes. Size of writing paper about 6½" wide and 10½" long. Each 29c

—C.D.S. Main Floor

T. EATON CO. CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

WE ARE EQUIPPED TO RENDER

MOTOR SERVICE THAT SATISFIES

Efficient Workmanship
Performed By Licensed Mechanics
With
Modern Time Saving Equipment
In a Bright Clean Well Organized Shop
WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED
A LARGE NEW STOCK OF REPAIR PARTS
FOR ALL FORD PRODUCTS

Try Our Service — Become a Customer

Belleville Motor Car Company, Limited

Mercury-Lincoln Cars — Mercury Trucks

Cor. Bridge and Coleman Sts. Phone 111

A. C. "Al" Reynolds, Prop.

"THE PLACE OF FRIENDLY SERVICE"

A16.19.31.35

HIS NOSE is made of Plastic Wood!

SIX INCHES HIGH and carved from wood, Jean-Baptiste began life without a nose when his creator's knife slipped and eliminated that important part of his face.

But plastic surgery saved him. His new nose is a product of chemistry. It came out of a tube in the form of C-I-L Plastic Wood; a C-I-L Paint & Varnish Division product for home, hobby and industrial use in healing holes and cracks in wood.

C-I-L Plastic Wood comes from "Wood Flour", derived from nature, combined with a chemical bonding agent.

The result is a product that "Handles like putty and hardens into wood".

SERVING CANADIANS — CANADIAN INDUSTRIES C-I-L LIMITED — THROUGH CHEMIS...

Probabilities
Lake Ontario Region: Cloudy today and Wednesday afternoon. Clear this evening and the remainder of Wednesday. Slightly warmer today and Wednesday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1946

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	79	57
One year ago	85	57
Weather—Fair.

3c Per Copy, 18c Per Week

BRITAIN TO ASK SOLE TRUSTEESHIP OF PALESTINE

Ten Filled Cars Break Picket Line

40 Men Taken Out And Same Number Enter Steel Plant

Pickets Confused When Cars Pass Through Gate

Hamilton, Aug. 20. (CP)—Officials of the Steel Company of Canada confirmed reports that the picket line at the Hamilton works was wide open today and that men were passing in and out of the premises unmolested and that food was being taken through the main entrance without hindrance.

A company-estimated 2,700 men have been employed at the plant for more than a month while striking union men held strong lines around the gates. The workers stayed in the plant on a 24-hours-a-day basis and have been sleeping on plant property.

A short time before the company made its announcement, automobiles filled with Stelco employees passed in and out of the plant's main gate, escorted through picket lines by city police. About 40 men left the plant and approximately the same number entered.

It was the first time the picket line of the United Steelworkers of America (C.C.L.) had been broken since the union called its wages-hours strike against Canada's basic steel industry July 15. At least 10 cars filled with men were taken into the plant.

"We want to stop them but what can we do?" said a police captain. "The constitution says that they have a legal right to go in and out of the plant. We don't want any more trouble with the police. We have enough men in court this week."

A meeting of the union executive was called as the main plan to discuss the next step.

There was considerable confusion among the 50-odd pickets when cars started to come out of the plant. Several officials ran to the picket captain. Others shouted:

"Why don't we turn them over!"

As a car approached the gate to enter the plant about the same time, a picket rushed toward it. The car, which carried two men, did not slacken its pace but passed through the gate unimpeded. Shouts went up from the union men.

A. J. Campbell, Deputy Police Chief, said no special instructions had been issued to the force. When a newspaper reporter approached one of the city constables on duty at the main gate the policeman asked:

"Are you want to go into the plant?"

"No", the reporter answered. Then he asked the policeman if it would be possible to enter if he had a ticket to go in.

"It certainly would," said the constable. "You would have a perfect legal right to enter."

HEADS FOR SCRAP HEAP

Falsane-on-the-Clyde, Scotland, Aug. 20 (Reuters)—The 21,250-ton battleship Iron Duke arrived from whence Flow yesterday to be reduced to scrap at this $20,000,000 war emergency port now being converted into a ship-breaking establishment.

J. L. ILSLEY REACHES BERLIN

Berlin, Aug. 20 (Reuters)—Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley of Canada arrived today at Berlin airport. Travelling on the same plane with Mr. Ilsley was Director General Lieutenant-Gen. J. H. Gaudrau of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Aug. 20.—(CP)—Synopsis at 7:30 a.m.: A cool air mass of Polar origin now covers most of the continent except Eastern Quebec, the Maritimes and eastern New England. A fresh outbreak of Polar air has pushed southward through Central Canada to the American border giving only a few showers along its leading edge. It is expected to continue southward into the Great Lakes region advancing to the Lake Ontario and Lake Erie regions by Wednesday afternoon or evening.

Says 900 Workers Seek Employment In Stelco Plant

Hamilton, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Samuel Geddes, an employee of the Steel Company of Canada for 30 years, said today in an interview that some 900 men have telephoned Stelco officials to ask that they be given work in the plant, strikebound since July 15 by the United Steel workers of America (C.I.O.)

Geddes said he left the plant by boat last night and intended to return later today. It was the first time he had been outside since the strike started. An estimated 2,500 workers have maintained partial production despite the strike.

The spirit of the men inside the plant is fine but we all want to see the strike ended and get back to the normal way of cooking and going from our work," he said. "The company has treated us just fine and we have a good time, with plenty to eat. While he is at Nuremberg, Mr. King will meet the trial judges and members of the prosecution teams.

Accompanying Mr. King are Lt.-Gen. Maurice Pope, Ottawa, head of the Canadian Mission in Berlin; A.D.P. Heeney, secretary of the Privy Council and secretary to the Canadian delegation at the trials; Capt. Doug Edwards, air attache to the Canadian Embassy in Paris.

Also in Mr. King's party is his personal secretary, R. H. Handy, and Campbell Moodie, press attache to Canada House, London.

Churchill and Roosevelt Differed Sharply Over Empire Preference

New York, Aug. 20 (AP)—Ei-aires. The complete book will be published in October by Duell, Sloan and Pease.

Elliott Roosevelt identifies the "saboteurs of unity" only generally as those persons who do not recognize that the United States, Britain and Russia "must work together if peace is to be maintained", "the career men in the State Department whom father never trusted," and "the reactionaries of both parties in Congress." He writes of State Secretary Byrnes and "his own brand of 'get tough with Russia'." He does not mention President Truman, who has said that current State Department policy is White House policy.

CHURCHILL — Page 2

SAYS CANADA WILL BE BATTLEGROUND IF WAR STRIKES

Maj.-Gen. G.R. Pearkes, V.C., Gives Pointed Warning in Talking On Defence in House

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Aug. 20 (CP)— The Commons, after a day discussing naval and army affairs, turns today to labor.

Yesterday's session was devoted to consideration of defence estimates while one of the first items on today's agenda will be the report of the Industrial Relations Committee, coupled with the defence estimates.

Yesterday's debate brought from Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (PC-Nanaimo), former divisional commander and Pacific coast veteran, the pointed warning that should a third Great War develop Canada would be the battleground and it should be prepared to defend itself.

Said Mr. Pearkes: "The defence against modern warfare, as pointed out by speakers from the Progressive Conservative benches, contrasted with the position taken by the C.C.F.

Capt. John Prook (CCF-Nanaimo City) in a keynote speech for that group said Canada's only hope of defence was co-operation in a United Nations force.

The C.C.F. argument was criticized by John Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge) who declared the United Nations would be no more successful than the League of Nations. He and Gen. Pearkes was taking a realistic attitude.

Progressive Conservative members expressed some concern about the organization in the brigade group which, they said would include something over 7,000 of the 25,000 men in the permanent army.

SAYS CANADA—Page 7

King Flies to Berlin

Paris, Aug. 20 — (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King took off from Le Bourget airport today in an R.C.A.F. transport plane for Berlin where he is accompanying Mr. King are Lt.-Gen. Maurice Pope, Ottawa, head of the Canadian Mission in Berlin; A.D.P. Heeney, secretary of the Privy Council and secretary to the Canadian delegation at the trials; Capt. Doug Edwards, air attache to the Canadian Embassy in Paris.

Also in Mr. King's party is his personal secretary, R. H. Handy, and Campbell Moodie, press attache to Canada House, London.

Mr. King will dine at the Canadian Mission headquarters in Berlin tonight and tomorrow will lunch with Lt.-Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British and United States officials of the Canadian Mission at lunch tomorrow. Colonel Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, Sir Brian Robertson, Air William Strang, British political adviser, and Robert Murphy, United States political adviser, are likely will attend the luncheon.

Later tomorrow the prime minister will fly to Nuernberg where he will remain overnight to attend sessions of the war crimes trial Thursday. He will return by the same route he arrived by. While he is at Nuernberg, Mr. King will meet the trial judges and members of the prosecution teams.

'Enormously Long Projectiles' Reported In Burgundy Skies

Paris, Aug. 20. (AP)—Residents of the Auxerre district in Burgundy said today they had seen "enormous long projectiles" racing across the sky, trailing orange-red lights and emitting a whistling sound for about five minutes.

Many newspapers speculated whether these were flying-bomb rockets similar to those reported in Sweden or netherlands.

The direction of flight was not indicated.

Polish Delegate Denies Italy's Claim That No War Had Existed With His Country

By ROBERT C. WILSON

Paris, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Poland urged a peace conference committee today to reject as "completely unfounded" an Italian declaration that Italy had merely been at war with "some" not all the 21 conference countries — notably Poland, Belgium, the Netherlands and Czechoslovakia.

Poland was at war with Italy, said a Polish delegate, "Polish soldiers fought in North Africa and Italy. Polish soldiers were killed by Italian bullets. Was this a state of war or a state of peace?"

Belgium, Yugoslavia and The Netherlands likewise challenged the Italian claim, which was presented in a proposed amendment to the preamble of the Italian treaty taken up by the political, political and territorial committee.

The Italian memorandum also criticized the omission of any reference to what it called "the active role played by the Italian people" in overthrowing Mussolini's regime.

Urges Deletion of Phrase

It urged the deletion of the phrase "surrendered unconditionally" in the preamble's reference to Italy's capitulation. July 25, 1943, and called for a reference to Italy's contribution to the war against Germany which lasted for 18 months."

A Netherlands delegate commented that the Netherlands had declared war on Italy through a message from the Swedish Minister in Rome, but that Italy had not accepted the note, holding that the Netherlands had "no longer existed."

The committee had debated over whether it should proceed with discussion of the Italian treaty or adjourn pending submission of suggested amendments to the draft.

Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium declared that there was no formal exchange of declarations, but that the Italian, Rumanian and Belgian ships and Belgian troops fought against Italian troops.

Farmo Gallina threatened

Czechoslovakia also termed the Italian claims unfounded, asserting she considered herself at war with Italy from Dec. 16, 1941.

"Italy waged an aggressive war against all democratic nations," he declared.

Ethiopia also attacked the note, declaring its intention was to show that "Italy was drawn into the war by the will of the Italian people." The delegate added: "But the whole world remembers the enthusiasm of the Italian people when Mussolini announced the war against Ethiopia."

There is no other committees or plenary sessions scheduled, the Italian committee adjourned un-

POLISH DELEGATE—Page 3

NINE CHILDREN AND 14 BUILDINGS BURNED IN FIRE

Victims All Residents of Montreal Holidaying Near Quebec With Mothers

Petite Riviere St. Francois, Que. Aug. 20 (CP)—Preparations were underway here today for a mass funeral service tomorrow for nine children, whose lives were snuffed out in a disastrous fire that yesterday razed a section of this Charlevoix County municipality, 50 miles from Quebec, causing damages estimated roughly at $250,000.

The victims, all residents of Montreal, holidaying here with their mothers, were listed as:

Robert Lavoie, 10; Jean and Jacques Bouchard, 9; Denise Lavoie, four; Raymond Lavoie, one year, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lavoie; Irene Bouchard, 13; Germain Bouchard, 10; Cecile Bouchard, six; Bernard Bouchard, three, children of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bouchard.

The fire, which started in the home of Gerard Bouchard, with whom both families were spending summer holidays, spread so rapidly that it left only the seriously occupants of the building at the time, with no time to save bodies of the victims were later respected.

The blaze, which took volunteer firefighters, later aided by firemen from nearby Baie St. Paul, five hours to control, also destroyed 14 buildings, including the Convent of Les Petites Franciscaines De Marie, empty at the time of the fire.

Both mothers were at Petite Riviere when the tragedy occurred but the fathers were in Montreal. Last night, surviving members of both families—seven children in the Bouchard family, three in the Bouchard's—were brought together by the disaster.

It is believed 13-year-old Irene Bouchard, left in charge of the other children, gave the alarm and then dozed off. The mother and other adults were visiting at the time.

Says Egypt Wants Frontier Changes

Paris, Aug. 20. (AP)—Egypt wants the peace conference to grant her frontier rectifications which would transfer from Italy the higher plateau between Bardia and Solum, scene of many see-saw battles for Cyrenaica, Wacyf Pasha, chief of the Egyptian delegation here, said in an interview today.

LABOR DISPUTES HURT CANADA'S RECONVERSION

House Says Strikes Making Impossible To Carry on Reconstruction

Sudbury, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Labor disputes are making impossible the problems of postwar reconstruction in Canada, reconstruction minister Howe said Monday night in an address here broadcast over a national network.

Mr. Howe declared: "The difference between labor and management is not small, but important the time lost by the work. Worse still is the loss of important goods which can be stockpiled only during the summer months.

"It is our hope that both sides can compromise their differences before the whole reconstruction program is wrecked."

Mr. Howe's speech inaugurated the 5,000-watt transmitter of the Sudbury radio station CKSO which previously operated on 1,000 watts. At dinner here he pushed the button which activated the new transmitter.

Earlier in the day minister said that until six weeks ago he had believed the reconstruction job was well in hand. At that time employment figures indicated 4 million men and women released from the armed services and from war industry had been fully absorbed in peacetime occupations. But in six short weeks the strikes had destroyed this rosy picture.

Radio Station Opened

"As minister of reconstruction, and one whose job is being made impossible by strikes, I am glad to be happy to report that Northwestern Ontario is free from strikes," he said. "The opportunity for its people this section has been able to work out its labor-management problems without recourse to the strike weapon."

He did not specifically mention the strike at the Algoma Steel Corporation here but his reference to the steel strike which has also hit the Hamilton and Sydney basic steel plants he said "it seems to be impossible that this senseless strike in Canada's basic industry can last much longer."

He congratulated Mr. Mason, owner of the new station and Sudbury Broadcasting Limited on the operation of the first high-powered transmitter in Northern Ontario.

ESTIMATED 3,000 KILLED IN BLOODY RIOT IN CALCUTTA

Firing Breaks Out Anew in Corporation Street Area of City; Thousands Starving

By DONALD HUTH
Calcutta, Aug. 20 — (AP) — Military and police units, working their way through the bloodstained streets of Calcutta, restored a measure of order today in this weary city where an estimated 3,000 men, women and children were killed in five days of fighting between Hindus and Moslems.

Reuters news agency said that the report of the Associated Indian-Nationalist newspaper, placed the toll of riots at more than 3,500 killed and 5,000 injured.

On the other hand, Maj.-Gen. William Elliott Dimond, surgeon general to the Bengal government, said he believed the number of dead was closer to 1,000, Reuters reported.

Reuters said firing broke out anew in the Corporation Street area of Calcutta.

Thousands fled from the terror and hysteria which had gripped them since last Friday, the more than 2,000,000 inhabitants of the city found they faced the threat of starvation, too.

Food Distribution

Calcutta's food distribution system has been thrown so badly out of gear that many of the poorer residents have been without food for days.

Military police and rescue parties, wearing masks, worked to remove dead bodies from the gutters of the streets.

Thousands of refugees jammed railway stations.

The military and police were touring the streets not only to prevent fresh outbreaks but also to bring food. Fresh vegetables and fruit stalls in New Market, the largest in the city, were damaged in the disorders.

Reuters said the black market have reopened, but the limited supply of commodities were selling high above normal prices. Eggs, for example, were priced at 24 cents apiece.

Well dressed men and women milled about the streets in line before bakeries which were limiting each customer to one loaf of bread. Reuters said that not all their supplies less than an hour after the doors were opened for sale. Only residents were served in the bakeries.

Health authorities feared disease might develop and that typhoid squads could complete the removal of the piles of torn, bloated bodies which littered the streets.

Police still brought in tales of atrocities. In the bustee (tenement) section, Reuters said, men, women and children were butchered, mutilated or burned to death. Others were driven off by disagreements between Hindus and Moslems over plans for India's independence.

FIRST POLIO CASE SUSPECTED IN HAMILTON

Hamilton, Aug. 20. (CP)—First suspected case of infantile paralysis in Hamilton this year was reported today by Dr. J. E. Davey, Medical Officer of Health. The patient is a six-year-old girl

'Nmri 448' Rival of D.D.T. Because It Not Only Kills But Repels

By FRANK CAREY

Washington, Aug. 20 (AP)— D. D. T. has a rival that not only kills but repels.

The new substance, already available in limited quantity for public, is called "NMRI 448." It was the 448th of approximately 1,000 compounds tested by the United States Navy's Chemical Research Institute (N.M.R.I.) during its wartime fight against mosquitoes and other insect pests.

It was synthesized by Lt.-Cmdr. Mitchel Pijoan who told a report that it is effective against mosquitoes, house flies, sandflies, chiggers, ticks, roaches and fleas.

As a repellent, he said, "it is six times more effective than anything else tested in the tropics and apparently is at least twice as good as the best previous effective temperate zones."

As a killer, the material can be used to spray a room in which insects are present or impregnated cloth.

"It kills them faster than does D.D.T.", he said, "and then it has a residual effect as a repellent, keeping insects away from the room for a week to 10 days."

Also, Cmdr. Pijoan said, whereas D.D.T. has some poisonous effect on people, birds and fish, "448" is relatively non-toxic."

Cmdr. Pijoan said that six drops of the material, rubbed on each hand by a person 150 pounds, is sufficient to keep insects away for between six and 10 hours in any part fo North America.

Will Certainly Not Give up Mandate in the Holy Land

Considers Step Necessary To Maintain Legal Rights

London, Aug. 20 — (CP) — A British government informant said today that Britain will go before the United Nations trusteeship Council next month to appoint her sole trustee for Palestine.

The government has decided this step is necessary, the source said, because with the demise of the League of Nations the legal basis of Britain's mandatory rights no longer exist.

He said, however, that Britain would "certainly not" give up her mandate in the Holy Land and had never considered doing so.

Colonial Secretary Bevin told the United Nations Assembly in January that Britain was awaiting the report of the Anglo-American Inquiry committee on Palestine before deciding the country's future.

The committee subsequently recommended that Palestine be placed under a trusteship system for the time being, and called for a plan to allow 100,000 Jews to immigrate in the near future, negotiations on implementation of the plan are still stalling Reuters as materials become available.

Safety devices, such as electronic smoke detectors which shut off the air fans and report operators of the first wisp of smoke, will reduce fire hazard to a minimum.

Included in the new construction are several drive-in theatres. Design has been revolutionized—the new road is to provide more accommodation and devote more space to lounges, restaurants, garages and rest rooms.

One theatre, as yet on the drawing board, plans a 60-foot high plate glass front, set in from the street and bordered by hedges. A dance floor and restaurant is insulated from the auditorium by plate glass and a soundproof dance floor is provided for the restaurant.

"The keynote of today aims at providing a more comfortable air of intimacy and spaciousness, that of a drive-in theatre centre," explained an official.

135 New Movie Houses Planned In Next 10 Years

Toronto, Aug. 20 — (CP)—The theatre of tomorrow, a drawing board dream for the last six years, is being built on corner lots in cities and towns all across Canada. Complete with broad bars, spacious lounges and dance floors, more than 135 new moving picture theatres will be built during the next 10 years.

In addition more than 40 theatres are scheduled for immediate construction and most distributing chains plan complete renovation of all existing theatres as materials become available.

Safety devices, such as electronic smoke detectors which shut off the air fans and report operators of the first wisp of smoke, will reduce fire hazard to a minimum.

Included in the new construction are several drive-in theatres. Design has been revolutionized—the new road is to provide more accommodation and devote more space to lounges, restaurants, garages and rest rooms.

One theatre, as yet on the drawing board, plans a 60-foot high plate glass front, set in from the street and bordered by hedges. A dance floor and restaurant is insulated from the auditorium by plate glass and a soundproof dance floor is provided for the restaurant.

"The keynote of today aims at providing a more comfortable air of intimacy and spaciousness, that of a drive-in theatre centre," explained an official.

Held on Charge Reckless Driving After Fatal Crash

Sarnia, Aug. 20—(CP)— Held in connection with a car -truck collision at Thedford which caused the death of three men, William Prest, 37, of Bonarlaw, near Belleville, appeared in Magistrate's court here Monday and was remanded for one week.

Prest, an employee of the Standard Paving Company, Toronto, was arraigned on a charge of reckless driving, but it was intimated he will face a murder. Mr. Taylor that the charge might be altered. Bail was refused.

Det in custody, without election or plea.

The alleged driver of the car was arrested at the home where he boards in Sarnia after an incident following a day- long search by investigating police.

William Tedball, 21, London, and James Harvey Tedball, three, were killed when a truck they were standing and careened and the survivors of the truck fled.

TOO MANY PARTIES

Paris, Aug. 20 (AP) — Jan Masaryk, Czech Foreign Minister, is furrowing his brow over still another problem—how to avoid dining gladiatorous, problem confronting the peace conference.

He is examining the social calendar for delegates.

The total, official dinners, receptions and cocktail parties has been average 1 3-4 parties a night. He shows no sign of slackening, and Mr. Masaryk says, not even a debutante could stand it much longer.

Record Price Paid in London For Rare Volume

By BERNARD HICKLEY

London, Aug. 20—(Reuters) — The highest price in a year of record sales was paid today for historic books and manuscripts was paid at a two-day auction here when a hundred £345,000 ($1,380,000) a record was for Erie.

A member of the firm said, "People have been more anxious to put their money into things than to invest it in stocks and shares, and in addition to this, the sales of antiques, jewelry, and pictures have been soaring. But now that motorcars and expensive foreign travel are available again I think sales will drop."

Outstanding prices paid for literary treasures during the year were £7,400 ($29,600) for a sale per 15th Century Woodcuts, and £6,000 ($24,000) for a 13th Century French manuscript which had previously been sold for $160 in 1852.

Declares Prediction Premature On Prices Speculative

Toronto, Aug. 20. (CP)—C. M. Meek, chairman of the Ontario Milk Control Board, said today that predictions of increased milk prices when subsidies are discontinued Oct. 1 are speculative.

The Board now is studying the possible effect of the Dominion government's decision to remove subsidies Oct. 1 and is unable to predict whether or not the price to consumers will be increased, he said.

City and District News

NO REPLIES RECEIVED

Mayor Frank Follwell thus far has had no replies to his challenge to Ontario chief magistrates to compete with him in a 100-yard dash at the Belleville Fair this year for the Ontario Mayors' Challenge Cup.

Mayor Harry Cox of Trenton has stated that he will meet him in verbal combat on the subject of Belleville versus Trenton, but His Worship Mayor Follwell has been silent thus far on that question.

If no takers for the 100-yard dash are forthcoming, Mayor Follwell states he will stage an exhibition dash against time.

KINGSTON BASEBALL GAME POSTPONED

The baseball game between two leading colored teams of the United States, the Boston Blues and the Pittsburg Crawfords scheduled for tonight at the McGaffin Stadium, Kingston, has been postponed until tomorrow Wednesday). President Nela. McGaffin of Kingston Punks Baseball Club announced today.

The teams are said to be two of the smartest colored baseball aggregations in the United States, and a large crowd is expected, will take in the pastime.

BELLEVILLE ARTISTS TO BE HEARD OVER KINGSTON STATION

Arthur Doby, and Hill Navin, singer and pianist respectively of this city, have been invited to appear on a special broadcast over Station CKWS, Kingston, in the near future. They have previously had no strange to the microphone having appeared previously over this station.

Doby is at present a member of Quinte Jazz Artist Corps under-going summer camp training at Rotary Island near Gananoque.

Maloney Says Soviet Won't Allow Peace if It Can Prevent It

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 20.—(CP)—J. J. Maloney, former Australian Minister to Moscow, asserted today that the Soviet Union would not allow another world war to the peoples of the democratic countries or would it allow them to take part in the United Nations.

The Soviet Union will not allow peace to settle on earth as long as it can prevent it, and Mr. Maloney.

Mr. Maloney who spent two years in Russia, declared Hitler's gestapo was "child's play" compared with "the Soviet." Secret police which "operates in every country in the world including Australia."

Know the future — Consult
MADAME CLEO
Handwriting Expert
Palmist Card Reader
23 Station St. Phone 2835M
A18-1m

DR. MILES
Will be the Doctor on Duty
WEDNESDAY, AUG. 21st.
NECESSARY CALLS ONLY
PHONE 650

McKEOWN'S
DRUG STORE
WILL BE OPEN WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON
and
EVENING
UNTIL 8.00 P.M.

SUMMER COLOGNES
RUBENSTEIN
Apple Blossom, Enchanta ... 85c
Lilac ... $1.25
—HENLEY'S
Country Garden $1.25
—ADRIENNE 65c $1.10
—LOVTH $1.25 $2.25
—TALSPIN $1.50
—BALALAIKA $1.50

McKEOWN'S
DRUG STORE
Phone 135
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

FLOOR SANDING
New Floor SANDED and FINISHED
Old Floors REFURBISHED and MADE LIKE NEW
GLEN ELLIOT
186 DuFerin Ave. Phone 3685J
A18-1m

Tomato, Corn Prices Lower

Mid-week market prices on tomatoes and corn slumped sharply today as the cheerful rain approached. Tomatoes in large quantities were offered at 25 to 35 cents for six-quart baskets with a eleven-quart baskets selling at 50 cents.

Corn was plentiful with good quality ears quoted at 35 cents the dozen. Potato prices remained steady with good quality stock offered at 50 to 55 cents the peck.

Astrachan apples were offered at 15 cents the berry basket with Yellow Transparents selling at 30 cents the basket.

Burbank plums were quoted at 80 cents the basket with Sanders and Italian prune plums offered at from 58 to 75 cents the six-quart basket.

Peaches were available at from 80 cents to $1.05 the basket. Nectarines were offered at $1.25 the last of the season were offered at $1.35 the basket.

Police Determined To End Speeding

Chief of Police Walter Probert has announced the fact that the time of warnings to speeding motorist and motorcycle riders is definitely over.

"I have given instructions to the members of the force that all drivers caught speeding in the city will be dealt with according to law regardless of whom they may be or what they are."

The penalty in fines paid recently by those exceeding the city speed limit are from ten dollars, some of whom did not bother about getting a driver's licence proves that the police chief is not fooling.

The speed limit during on city streets which is a definite menace to life and limb has been set by Chief Probert said, "and the police will enforce the law to the limit."

The public, the chief pointed out, has always co-operated with the police department and he expects that co-operation to continue more show the spirit of co-operation they have done in the past.

"Otherwise," he said, "the law will be enforced to the limit."

The city has a good reputation insofar as motor car accidents are concerned, and the police chief see that the reputation is maintained. Those people think favors will be shown them, they are definitely wrong in this respect. A speeder is a speeder and will be dealt with regardless."

Driver Must Pay For Support Of Bereaved Children

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 20.—(AP)—"For more than 20 months Dell Martin, 21-year-old war veteran, must turn over each payday ten dollars and 10 per cent" of his earnings for the support of two children whose mother was killed in a traffic accident in which he was injured.

The payments were ordered by Judge Harold R. Scoville after the young man's guilty in a charge of manslaughter growing out of an accident in which he was involved collided with the automobile of Mrs. Clara B. Hoffer, 33, April 6 killing her.

Judge Scoville placed Martin on probation and ordered that the payments be turned over to the county probation officer until the younger child, 3 months old at the time of the accident, reaches the age of 21. The other child is four.

Silk Cloth Coming from Japan

Tokyo, Aug. 20 — (AP) —The first shipment of silk cloth from Japan since the occupation will leave for the United States before the end of the month, Five million yards of assorted grades for industrial and clothing purposes were allotted "unfrozen" for immediate shipment.

MOTH KILLER CRYSTALS
STOCK AGAIN!
39c LB. TINS
GEEN—DRUGS
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

Upper School Results Trenton High School

Alyea, Gwendolyn—Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. III; Geom. C; Zool. C. Chem. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. III.

Baker, Clara — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. II; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. III; Lat. Auth. I; Lat. Comp. II; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. III.

Baker, Marion — Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Lat. Auth. II; Fr. Auth. C.

Benns, Kathleen — Trig. and Statics C; Physics III; Chem. III; Fr. Auth. C.

Blaney, James — Eng. Comp. C; Mod. Hist. C; Chem. C; Lat. Auth. III.

Carswell, Harold — Eng. Comp. C.

Crews, Isabelle — Eng. Comp. C; Trig. and Statics C; Fr. Comp. C.

Cressey, Norma— Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. I; Mod. Hist. II; Geom. III; Trig. and Statics II; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. I; Fr. Auth. I; Fr. Comp. I.

Dinnan, M. Elizabeth — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Dixon, Ruth — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. III; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Chem. C; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. II; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. III.

Farrar, Geraldine — Mod. Hist. II; Trig. and Statics III; Botany C; Zool. C; Physics II; Chem. III.

Faul, Gerald — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C.

Green, M. Lucy — Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Trig. and Statics C; Fr. Auth. C.

Hadley, Gerald — Eng. Comp. I; Eng. Lit. II; Alg. II; Geom. I; Trig. and Statics II; Physics I; Chem. I; Fr. Auth. III; Fr. Comp. III.

Hutchison, Elena M. — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Trig. and Statics C; Lat. Auth. II; Lat. Comp. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Jeffery, Doris — Eng. Comp. III; Fr. Comp. C.

Kennedy, Dorothy — Eng. Lit. C; Mod. Hist. C; Zool. C; Phy. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

McMorrow, Harry — Eng. Comp. C; Eng. Lit. C; Phy. III; Chem. III.

May, Margaret — Eng. Comp. II; Eng. Lit. II; Chem. II; Lat. Auth. I; Lat. Comp. I; Fr. Auth. II; Fr. Comp. I; Greek Auth. I; Greek Comp. I.

Moore, Bernice — Eng. Lit. C; Alghra C. Geom. III; Trig. and Statics C; Bot. C; Zool. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. III.

Orrell, John — Eng. Comp. III; Eng. Lit. C; Alg. C; Trig. and Statics C; Phy. C; Chem. C; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. C.

Morning, Margaret; Joan — Comp. C; Bot. C; Zool. C; Chem. III.

Robertson, Betty Jane — Lat. Auth. III; Lat. Comp. III; Fr. Auth. C; Fr. Comp. II.

Sills, Dudley—Mod. Hist. C.

Whitley, Douglas—Eng. Comp. C; Bot.

Yanickilis, Marie — Eng. Lit. C; Bot. C; Chem. C; Fr. Auth. III; Mod. Hist. C; Geom. C; Trig. and Fr. Comp. C.

Orchestra Leader and Boys Make Generous Contribution to Fund

Bud" Haines and his Commodores orchestra doing a community job, in a big way. The Rotary Club are gratefully aware of this fact for recently they received a cheque for $100 from "Bud" and the boys, donation from the dance held at the Park Pavilion on August 7th the day of the regatta held off Sandbanks.

Rotarians were loud in their appreciation of the fine gesture of the Commodores orchestra in donating this amount.

Interviewed this morning the genial Bud shrugged his shoulders when mention was made of the fact that his band crew had been done something for the crippled kiddies of the city and district.

"We didn't do anything more than a few numbers that the boys would have done," he said modestly," but we have often thought when we see poor people dancing, of those unfortunate youngsters who could not enjoy the dance, or won't until they have been cured. The boys and myself are proud and glad to give something to these kiddies."

Bud and the Commodores are playing to capacity crowds at their dance spot in the Park Pavilion, and are living up to their reputation of being one of the smartest dance bands between Toronto and Montreal.

"RAGS" RAGLAND DIES

Hollywood, Aug. 20 — (AP)— Comedian John (Rags) Ragland, 40, who rose from burlesque to Broadway and the movies, died this morning in hospital after an illness of several months. Ragland, whose last movie was "Hoodlum Saint," first hit stardom on Broadway in "Panama Hattie." His first movie was "Vanishing in the Dark," in 1941.

China's Chaos May Force UNRRA To Give up Plans

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Washington, Aug. 20 (CP)—Reports from unhappy China indicate the possibility that the $500,000,000 humanitarian effort in that area by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, already heavily handicapped, may have to be abandoned altogether because of distribution obstacles.

As a last effort to clear a channel through which relief supplies may reach the needy, U.N.R.R.A. has sent a special agent, Major Gen. Glen S. Edgerton, former Governor of the Panama Canal zone, to Shanghai docks at Shanghai and other Chinese ports are piled with U.N.R.R.A. supplies which have been resting idle for months there as long as eight months.

The turmoil of civil war has added to the traditional lack of efficient organization, transportation and distribution machinery, have made it impossible for normal operations of U.N.R.R.A. to proceed.

U.N.R.R.A. headquarters here has announced that the embargo on further shipments of relief materials to China, except for few items, will continue indefinitely. The restriction on shipments was imposed July 10.

During the period of restricted shipments U.N.R.R.A. will send to China only such goods as wheat, rice, flour, beans and beans and cereals, and small quantities of fertilizers, pesticides, insecticides, fishing twine, sewing machines, needles and thread.

These shipments will be made only on assurance from the representatives of China that they can be efficiently distributed where most needed.

U.N.R.R.A. expects to complete all operations in Europe by the end of 1946, and the program originally planned to have exhausted the $3,000,000,000 Chinese effort by March 31, 1947.

MAJOR DISMISSED FROM SERVICES

Aldershot, Hants, England, Aug. 20 (CP Cable)—Maj. William E. Anderson, D.S.O., R.E.M.E., today was dismissed from the services after pleading guilty to five charges of sending letters threatening to murder Mary Boon, a former member of the W.A.A.C. Capt. J. V. W. Robinson, R.C.A., whom Miss Boon had married.

Belleville Regatta Best in Canada Opinion of Drivers Who Were Here

Lloyd Hicks and his regatta committee of the Rotary Club here are holding their collective heads high these days.

And well they might, for from the Biscayne Bay, Miami, Florida, comes a letter requesting information as to how the Rotary Mud Regatta was organized and operated here on August 7th.

"We are informed by drivers," the Biscayne Bay regatta secretary wrote," that your regatta held on August 7th was the best one held in Canada during the time the Canadian Vacation Circuit was operating. Therefore being anxious to have our March 1947 regatta a success we would like to have your lay-out and all information as to how you success fully operated on function."

"American drivers here," the secretary wrote, "are loud in their praises of the treatment accorded them in your city and by your people. They state they are ged definitely that your city and your people afforded them the greatest hospitality and they are looking forward to coming back to Belleville next year."

With all best wishes for your future success, etc."

Rotary officials stated today that all arrangements have been completed for the 1947 regatta which will be held here on the August civic holiday. American Power Boat Association officials have sanctioned that date.

Indians Passively Resist Land Law In Natal, S. Africa

By S. F. S. DEWINNEY

Johannesburg, South Africa, Aug. 19. (AP)—Waging defiance against the Natal Areas Land Tenure and Representation Act, Indians are spending almost daily before Natal magistrates terms of 10, 30 and 60 days for defying the law by camping on prohibited ground.

The Act prohibits Asiatics from purchasing or leasing property except in certain designated areas, and gives Indians only communal representation in provincial legislatures and parliament.

With equally monotonous regularity, the Indians are fined or jailed, but there is never a lack of volunteers for this passive resistance against what M. D. Bermanzik, Indian lawyer, described to the Senate as "an outrage against human justice, against the ideal of freedom in the Atlantic Charter and a gross violation of the United Nations Charter."

There are no strikes and no violence, just passive resistance by volunteers trained in special classes in the Transvaal Indian Congress. Under Amina Pahad, 30-year-old mother of five children, who heads a volunteer corps of Indian women, says "I am willing to leave my children and go to jail or to prison to fight this Act."

The movement is another battle of a long series dating back to 1897 when legislation was first passed in the Dutch Indian immigration and trading activities. Several years ago Indian Leader Sa K. Gandhi came to lead the first campaign for Indian rights. His aid is expected to play an important role in the new campaign.

Europeans, like the Indians, are upset by the Land Act of 1946. It is a compromise that has satisfied no one. Natal has about two million Europeans and 110,000 Indians in Durban. Under the Act there are no restrictions on Asiatics buying trading licenses in Durban's big shopping areas, many Europeans fear that they soon will be swamped.

The whole affair provides new political ammunition for the Afrikaans Nationalists opponents of Jan Christian Smuts. Nowhere, the South African Government's biggest headache, is not only the potential loss of £2,900,000 ($11,600,000) worth of trade with India a year, £1,600,000 worth of cotton goods and textiles and all of South Africa's supplies of condiments, rice and linseed oil.

CHURCHILL

(Continued From Page One.)

Difference Was Sharp

Aside from their outward criticism, the excerpt deals with the younger Roosevelt's contemplation of the Atlantic Charter Conference. Elliott, who acted as his father's aide at that and other famous meetings, says that "no sooner was evidenced there between Winston Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt, first, an identity of views in Empire." After parrying Mr. Churchill's efforts to get a United States commitment to enter the war, Mr. Roosevelt brought up some major objectives, including free trade.

"No artificial barriers," Mr. Roosevelt is quoted as saying to Mr. Churchill. "We can't have any of them that the people of India and Africa, of all the colonial Near East, have to live with as backward as they are."

Mr. Roosevelt was referring specifically to the British Dominions trade arrangements.

"Mr. President," Mr. Churchill is quoted as replying, "England has come to the end of the moment to lose its favored position among the British nations."

"You see," Elliott quotes his father as saying, "Churchill is along in here some time that there is likely to be some disagreement between you, Winston and me."

Later Elliott says the late President referred to Mr. Churchill as "a real old Tory," and added:

"His one big job is to see that Britain survives this war. His mind is made up to get that of a war leader. But will Winston Churchill lead Britain after the war? It would never work."

As the discussions continued the next day, Mr. Churchill

BIRTHS

TORRE — To Mr. and Mrs. Earle Torre, of Rossmore, Ontario (Hazel Mital), on Sunday, August 18th, 1946, a son, David Earle.

CHALMERS — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Chalmers are happy to announce the birth of their daughter, Carol Ann, in Belleville General Hospital, on August 18th., 1946.

DEATHS

VARDY — At the home of Marshall Berry, Erinsville, Ont., on August 20th, 1946, Peter Vardy, aged 78 years. Funeral from the above residence on Wednesday, August 21st, at 2.30 p.m. Interment Belleville Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Alexander McCrory wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for beautiful floral tributes, cards of sympathy and many acts of kindness. Also Rev. Hollingshead and Mrs. Wm. Ellis for their services.

young Roosevelt, cried out:

"Mr. President, I believe you and I will do more for the British Empire." Then he continued that England had to have American help. "Without America, the Empire won't stand."

Mr. Elliott added:

"Churchill admitted in that moment that he knew peace could only be won according to precepts which the United States would lay down. He was acknowledging that British colonial policies and British methods and British attempts to dominate world affairs would be a dead duck, and British ambitions to be a world power without the USA would be a dead duck.

"Or would have been if father had lived."

Obituary

MRS. PEARL VARDY (Erinsville)

After an illness of three years, Mrs. Pearl Vardy died at the home of Marshall Berry at Erinsville on Sunday last. She was born in Bancroft, 78 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hicks and has resided in Erinsville for the past thirteen years and previous to that time in Belleville. She was a member of the Pentecostal Church and predeceased by her husband, Melbourne Vardy, three sons Roy and Henry Vardy of Bancroft and Samuel of Belleville and four daughters, Mrs. Violet E. Berry, of Rossmore, Mrs. Richard Bostock of Orono, Mrs. Fred Lenahan of Toronto and Miss Blanche Vardy of Bancroft, also four brothers, Phillip, Robert and Wesley Cooney of Bancroft, and Arthur Cooney of Mountain View also one sister Mrs. Felty Brethour of Bancroft.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

LATE MRS. SARAH JANE ELVIDGE

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Jane Elvidge took place from the Thomas C. Thompson funeral home on Monday afternoon in the presence of a large number of intimate friends and relatives. Rev. Arthur Smith of Trinity Church assisted by Rev. George Buckingham of Ottawa, conducted the services in the chapel and also the last rites, interment being in Victoria cemetery. Mrs. Stanley Pomeroy sang a solo "No Night There" accompanied by Miss Florence Wilder at the piano.

The bearers were Levi Latone, Alfred Clapp, William Dills, George Cummings, Martin Napan and Ernest Tennant.

HAY FEVER RELIEF
—ALLERGI TABS
—HAY-VAC
—HYDRATONE INHALE
—HAYTONE
—HENLEY'S INHALER
—VICKS INHALER
—NOSE DROPS

DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
Phone 138
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

SPECIAL BUSES
R.C.A.F. FIELD DAY
TRENTON AIR STATION
WED. AUGUST 21st
LEAVING BIGGS MOTORS
12.30 p.m. — 1.00 p.m. — 1.30 p.m. — 2.00 p.m. — 2.30 p.m.
4.30 p.m. — 6.10 p.m. — 7.00 p.m. — 7.30 p.m.
8.00 p.m. — 8.30 p.m. — 9.00 p.m. — 10 p.m.
FARES:—Children 25c return; Adults 50c return.
Have Exact Change Ready.
RATHBUN BUS SERVICE
A18-2t

TREAT FOR THE EYES OF PEACE DELEGATES

There are a few bright spots in the midst of all the sound and the fury of the peace conference in Paris. Here, for instance, is Mme. Bogomolov, wife of the Russian ambassador to France, who was hostess to conference delegates at a garden party at the embassy. With her are the Rev. Stephane Svetozarov, LEFT, of the Orthodox Russian church in Paris, and Vyacheslav Molotov, Russian foreign commissar, and leader of the Russian delegation.

SEIZED IN PERU

These two mysterious Japanese, seen with their wives in Sao Paolo, Brazil, were arrested by Peruvian police Aug. 9. They are Admiral Abe Kenso of the Japanese navy, and Col. Takashi Tokunaga, both described as leaders of the Japanese secret terrorist act in Brazil. "Shindo Renmei," which is trying to eliminate all Japs in Brazil whom the terrorists class as "traitors to the person of Emperor Hirohito" by admitting the Japanese defeat in the war. Three persons were shot and 8 were wounded in the Brazilian interior city of Tupan, when the terrorists attacked fellow nationals. Troops joined the townspeople in engaging them.

FRENCH GLAMOUR HITS THE BEACH

These two charming mannequins, who work for Carven, one of France's top-drawer designers, are wearing the latest and most glamorous numbers in bathing suits. The gal at the LEFT is decked in white panties and bra, which are trimmed with eyelet ruffles. The girl at RIGHT wears lace bra and overskirt. No, we don't know what would happen to these creations if you went swimming in them. The scene, incidentally, is at Deauville, French watering place.

ON TRIAL IN CROWN JEWEL THEFT

W.A.C. Captain Kathleen Nash Durante, of Phoenix, Ariz., is shown with her attorney, counsel, Captain Glenn V. Dunnahoo, of Los Angeles, at a press conference in Frankfurt, Germany, before Capt. Durante's trial opened. With her husband, an army colonel, she is charged with theft of the Hesse-Darmstadt crown jewels from Kronberg castle, near Frankfurt. Most of the jewels, valued at $1,500,000, were recovered following arrest of Capt. Durante and her husband.

FRENCH AUTOS INVADE THE U. S.

If you're having trouble getting your favorite model, you'll be interested in these 60 new Renaults, first to arrive in the U.S. Rene G. Baisier, examines them at Pier 88, New York, after they were unloaded.

DISCUSSING THE "TOMMY" OF TOMORROW

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the British Imperial Staff, is shown with General Sir Miles Dempsey, RIGHT, and Lord Nathan, CENTRE, British under-secretary of state for war, as they held a three-man conference on the "Sold-ier of Tomorrow" at the British staff college in Camberley. Recently Field Marshal Montgomery declared for a revolutionary democratization of the British army.

Trenton

Big Plans Made For Annual Field Day at Trenton Airport

Trenton—The first public demonstration of television will be one of many features at the Twelfth Annual Field Day at Trenton R.C.A.F. Station on Wednesday next, August 21st. Nothing like the event has ever been seen in this part of the country.

The big event will be formally opened at 1 p.m. by the station's commanding officer, Group Captain H. H. C. Rutledge, O.B.E., who will receive the guests. The opening with follow the 14-float parade, headed by Trenton Lions Club Boys' Band, which will also play two numbers and the King.

The programme will include sports of every description, a midway and dance, spectacular fireworks display and numerous other attractions of which the following are but a few:

Grand, colorful parade, monster dance with Norman Harris and his orchestra, direct from the King Edward Hotel; Li Tchan Yuen, a great show of magic; Latin derby, the thrill of a lifetime; the Casino Follies, a round of clean fun for everybody; Peter the Clown, top star of the Calgary Stampede; Logan's Punch and Judy show, with 12 big acts; Radium Rays, a great roller skating act; Puppy Land, free puppies for the kiddies and many others.

There will also be a big day of swimming and track and field events and softball games.

The spectacular display of fireworks starts at 9 p.m. sharp, also the big dance.

Weekend Accidents

Edward Webb of 17 Waler Street reported to police that on Sunday last a cow belonging to him was electrocuted while chained to a hydro pole. The chain got entangled in the guide wires which run from the top of the pole to the ground and then touched a ground wire causing the cow to be electrocuted. The animal was valued at $125.00.

A taxi owned by La Fluers Taxicabs was stopped for the red light at the intersection of Front and Dundas Streets when a second car also proceeding west on Dundas Street and driven by Beverley Duchesis, 3102 South Leavitt Street, Chicago, Ill., failed to stop and struck the right rear fender of the taxicab. The driver of the taxi was Arthur Lockwood, 8 Metcalfe St., Trenton. Both cars were slightly damaged.

Firemen received a call on Sunday last to extinguish a grass fire which got out of control at Herman and Heber Streets.

CANADIAN DELEGATE

Dr. Lawrence E. Kirk, Canadian delegate to the foreign agricultural organization conference, is shown as he sailed on the Queen Mary for Copenhagen, Denmark. Dr. Kirk is connected with the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon.

POLISH DELEGATE

(Continued From Page One.)

til 3 p.m. to discuss the second paragraph of the Italian memorandum.

Discuss in Sub-Groups

Postponing a scheduled general session of all 21 participating countries, conference officials called for discussion by sub-group of a Big Four proposal to create a "free territory" of Trieste, and of the Italian and Rumanian treaty drafts.

"Perhaps it would be unwise to proceed to the discussion (of the Italian Treaty) before the deadline for amendments has passed, Leif Egeland of South Africa, chairman of the Italian Commission told his group. The deadline is midnight tonight.

Russia opposed a general discussion of the treaty, saying "We should proceed to our work right away" and "we are in favor of more decisions and fewer words."

Losing All Hope

As the discussion over procedure wallowed aimlessly, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky rose to declare tartly:

"I'm losing all hope of seeing the Italian treaty discussed on its merits."

He urged that "we start our work" and "stop talking about how we are going to do it."

The Rumanian political committee adjourned after a brief meeting in which it decided to wait until the midnight deadline for amendments.

Albania, Egypt, Mexico and Cuba had been slated to air their views on the peace treaties at the plenary session of the conferences, which was postponed at the request of Albania.

Preview of Disputes

Greece, which is seeking territory from defeated Bulgaria, gave a preview yesterday of the bitter disputes which are expected, when the Greek delegate, M. P. Pipinopolis, sharply criticized the preamble to the proposed treaty with Bulgaria.

Specifically, Greece objected to a phrase which gave Bulgaria credit for taking "an active part in the war against Germany."

"Bulgaria switched sides at the last minute," Mr. Pipinopolis said at a meeting of the political and territorial commission on Bulgaria. "Bulgarian troops were active only when they fought along with Germany."

However, his remarks were ruled out of order, and the discussion of the preamble deferred, after Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, the Australian delegate, said that consideration should not begin until the committee had received all proposed amendments and until a decision had been reached on whether former enemy countries would be heard.

SPICES

SACCHARIN
PICKLING OILS
CATSUP FLAVOR
EVERY NEED FOR PRESERVING TIME

George Pauley

DRUGGIST PHONE 105
WE DELIVER

YOU GET More for your Money
WHEN YOU BUY MORE SIZE!

MORE FOR YOUR MONEY
WHEN YOU
Read
DAILY NEWSPAPER
ADVERTISING

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY AT

Dolan The Druggist — Lattimer's
Geen-Drugs — George Pauley Druggist
McKeown's Rexall Drug Store

POINT ANNE WINS SECOND STRAIGHT FROM MOOSE TEAM

Stan Luffman Allows Only Six Hits in Winning by 3-1 Score

Point Anne won their second straight game over the Trenton Moose at the Point last night by a 3-1 score but the squads will go at it again on Wednesday night to settle the issue.

The Trenton protest against the substitution of umpires in the first game of the Intermediate "B" series played at Trenton on Saturday last carried and the OASA has ordered the game replayed. So as matters stand right now, the Ox Pointers are one game up on the series.

Last night's game at the Point was one of those clashes that produced some fine softball. Luffman on the hilltop for the Pointers held the Mooselets from Trenton to six hits while Rosenplot, Trenton flinger restricted the Loft sluggers to five clouts.

Two in the First

Point Anne got two of their three runs in the first innings when Whitehead and Sero poled out two healthy smacks. They were held scoreless until the sixth when they shoved over another run off hits by Genereaux and Bradshaw.

Trenton tallied their lone counter in the first innings off a walk and a hit by Campbell, but after that Stan Luffman stifled their bats allowing only four hits from that point on.

The game developed into a pitchers' battle with both hurlers turning back the opposing batters in order.

Genereaux got two safe clouts for the Pointers to pace their attack with Bradshaw, Whitehead, and Sero getting singles.

Campbell, Trenton first baseman got three of his teams' six hits with Ellis getting two and Mann the remaining clout.

Lakforre officiated at the plate with Bawden doing duty on the bases.

UPRIGHT
ROYAL VACUUM
CLEANERS

COMPLETE WITH ALL ATTACHMENTS — INCLUDING HEADLIGHT.

PRICE $93.00

CHRISTIAN'S

ELECTRIC and HARDWARE

210 Front St. Phone 820

YOU'LL BE AHEAD WITH Nash

The above illustrated is the Ambassador Four-door Sedan. Also available in Brougham Models.

Nash-46

C. R. CLAPP AND SON

138 RONT STREET BELLEVILLE PHONE 482

Invitation to ride in tomorrow's car Today!

All Canada has heard the story of Nash — the story of tomorrow's car, here, now! It hits hard, doesn't it. It jumps you chin-high into the future; makes you realize with a start that there is something new — now — under the automotive sun.

Right now you are saying to yourself that here is something new you want to see; something new you want to try out; something new you want to feel.

So, why not? See your Nash dealer today. Rest your finger tips on a wheel that needs little more than a wish to guide it. Relax in the sofa-size roominess of the seats.

Float along on springs in a car that can't squeak or rattle because of its unitized body construction. And, in a Nash equipped with the famous Weather Eye conditioned air system, open your lungs and breathe Conditioned Air — air that's never stuffy, or dusty — but always sweet and fresh and comfortable.

Do it — today, if you like. This is your invitation — from your Nash dealer — to see, feel and prove that the new Nash is tomorrow's car here now.

NASH MOTORS OF CANADA LTD.
WINDSOR, ONTARIO

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Ontario Established 1852 — Intelligencer Established 1837
Published Daily Except Sundays
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER LIMITED
Belleville, Ontario, Canada

Subscription Rates:
Delivered in Belleville, 10c a week.
By mail in Canada, $6.00 per year. $3.25 for six months, $1.75 for three months.
$8.00 per year elsewhere.
Subscribed to C.I.B. and Bureau of Circulations
Member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association
Member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations

The Intelligencer is authorized to the use for the Canadian Press in accordance with the terms of the agreement of which the Canadian Press is a party. All rights of republication of special despatches herein are also reserved. The local news published herein is also reserved.

Telephone 68 — Private Branch Exchange connecting all departments

A Beacon Light For The World

Dieppe Day will live forever in the mind and heart of the people of Canada, for it was the herald of the victory which came almost three years later on the soil of Germany. The deeds of Canadians, many of whom died or were captured, are remembered in that Channel town, for they brought glory to the beaches of Dieppe and struck that first blow against the Hun-ridden Continent of Europe.

The people of Dieppe have manifested their recognition of the service which Canada and the other members of the force that landed on August 19, 1942 gave, and they have shown their gratitude in a very individual appreciation of the sacrificial spirit of spirit which led the United Nations to victory and of the fight that men from the Dominion put up on the beaches for freedom's sake. Canadians made the name of Dieppe forever a revered name in Canada and they there served with a devotion that showed the spirit of free men fighting for freedom of mankind. They and their deeds at Dieppe made that name immortal.

There are many links between the British and French people and the people of Canada, links which include the Province of Normandy associated with British history and also with the history of the Province of Quebec.

In June, 1944 there came the landing in Normandy and Canadians played their part both in the redemption of France to Freedom's ranks.

Prime Minister King at the laying of the foundation stone of the monument which the citizens of Dieppe will raise to the eternal memory of that landing and of the part played by Canadians, touched on the kindly relations of France and Canada and saw in the memorial a symbol to the oncoming generations of the lasting friendship of this country and France. He expressed Canada's gratitude for the Dieppe ute paid Canada by the people of Dieppe and in the name of Canada he expressed and in this country's sympathy with France in the ordeal she had to endure in the war of aggression. Mr. King paid a tribute on behalf of the nations of the Western World to Russia's part in the downfall of the Nazi who caused invasion because of the sacrifices made by the peoples of Europe.

Dieppe taught lessons of great importance, Dieppe was the handwriting on the wall to show that the Nazis were doomed to fall, and that through that same coast of France should come in due time that assault that swept the enemy headlong before it and brought the utter collapse of the aggressor.

Dieppe, said Mr. King, now stands revealed in its true significance—"a beacon light prophecy to victory."

Great Welcome Awaits

Field Marshal Viscount Bernard Montgomery is to pay a visit to Canada in a few days. He will be in this country for only seventeen days which will however be of great activity. Many thousands will travel far for an opportunity to see the great soldier whose epic campaigns in North Africa and on the Continent are certain of a place forever in the annals of war. His part in the victories in the Mediterranean was of supreme importance for at that time the tide turned and the Allied power began its from victory to victory, crossing to Sicily,, up into Italy, crossing to Normandy while in the east the Germans were pressed back irresistibly.

Every Canadian would like to see the great Irish soldier who has stood out as one of the notable commanders of history and a man of strong personality. The shortness of time which places limitations on him and its to the broad expanse of Canada will not permit that happy experience which every Canadian would like to have of seeing the very form of the man who has become a figure of so great interest to the world.

Wherever he goes he is assured of a royal Canadian welcome from the depth of the heart of the people. What he achieved for the United Nations and therefore for the world has given him fame of which no person would deprive him one iota, for it is the merit of the genius he showed in battle and in his care of his men.

In the late war, two men, through the spoken word, struck a universal note. They were Prime Minister Churchill, whose addresses will be world documents of greatest influence and importance for the generations to come, and Field Marshal Montgomery. The world would hang on the sayings of these men, Mr. Churchill, the matchless orator expressing the very soul of Britain and the Commonwealth and Field Marshal Montgomery whose orders of the day were matchless in their inspiration to his men and were inimitable for their shrewd wisdom in battle strategy and for knowledge of the heart of the rank and file of his armies and for his natural gift of expression, revealing one of the most interesting of personalities.

At this time as Chief of the Imperial General Staff Field Marshal Montgomery is performing a great service for the British Army and for the men in the opinions he has expressed on the principles of democracy in the forces.

All Canada will be vocal with praise and hurrahs for the hero of El Alamein and of many other victories when the great commander lands on the shores of the Dominion.

New U.K. Information Official

Mr. Peter H. Bennett has been appointed Deputy Director of the United Kingdom Information Office in Ottawa, it was announced by Mr. Ivan Cadbury Brothers, of Bournville, leaving at the end of 1938 to join the Travel and Industrial Development of Great Britain and Northern Ireland as assistant to the general manager. In January 1st, 1939, he was seconded to the Foreign Division of the Ministry of Information at the latter's request. In 1940 he travelled widely through the Balkans and the Middle East on Ministry business, and in January 1943 was appointed head of the European Liberated Territories, Planning Section of the Film Division of the Ministry. In mid-1943, he was promoted and transferred to new York as head of the British Information Liaison Office with the United Nations, in this capacity serving as British Member on the Radio and National Conference in May 1945. In March of this year, when the United Nations Information Board handed over its functions to the Department of Public Information of the United Nations, he became head of the Survey Department of British Information Services, New York, where he remained until his present transfer.

Two Partners

There will be general sympathy with the ventriloquist whose dummy, according to a report in an English newspaper, has received an income-tax form. Even the most clever observer will have noticed that relations between the two partners in public are almost invariably strained, the dummy is an "uppish" character very prone to give himself airs on his superior. The conviction that he is no end of a fellow, now reinforced by official recognition that he is also a man of means, is bound to produce in him an obstreperousness scarcely to be terminated without a gag.

No doubt the dummy will claim an allowance, on his form, for supporting one who is entirely dependent on him. But that is hardly likely to be the line of the irascible Mr. Punch, and we foresee further deplorable incidents in his career arising from the visit of a tax collector.

—Christian Science Monitor

Car For The Disabled

A new miniature motor-car, specially constructed as a means of locomotion for disabled ex-service men and crippled persons, has been shown in London. The car is constructed as a single-seater and its construction enables the controls to be manipulated in accordance with the driver's disabilities, either by foot or by hand, or by a combination of both. It should have a cruising speed of 35 miles per hour.

A panic is a stampede of our self-possession.—Riverol.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

SECOND CHANCE

If the Lord should ask for me
What a second time I'd be—
If allowed another birth
On this sadly troubled earth,
I should answer: "Make me so
I'll have friends where'er I go.

"Touch my hands with useful skill
Give me courage, strength of will;
Give me breadth of heart and mind
So that good in all I find.
Fair and honest I would be,
Even with an enemy.

"Grant me faith, when I must grieve,
In Thy goodness to believe.
Give me pity for the weak.
Make me slow in rage to speak."
These few gifts are all I ask
For a second earthly task.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

"I think it was a mistake sending both of us out to rescue him!"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 20TH, 1926

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Sword of Toronto are visiting friends here.

Mr. Norman McLeod and mother of Detroit, Mich., are visiting at the home of Mr. Robert Blaicie, Wharf Street.

Ald. F. R. Wotten and Mrs. Wotten have returned home after a motor trip to Cleveland, Niagara Falls and Peterboro ough.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Denmark of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting the former's mother at her home on Moira Street west.

Mrs. Kenneth Bunnett and children have returned home from Toronto where they visited Mr. Bunnett's parents for two weeks.

Mrs. Carlos Bunnett of Fort Lauderdale is visiting her mother in thi city.

30 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 20TH, 1916

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Vanallen of Rochester, N. Y., have taken up residence in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moxam and Miss Edgar, have returned to their home at Syracuse, N. Y., after visiting relatives here.

The Rev. A. Martin of West Bridge Street, will celebrate tomorrow the 36th anniversary of his birth. Many friends will be pleased to extend to him congratulations and good wishes.

Mrs. H. Belsey and son, Ernest, have returned to the city after spending a vacation at the 1000 Islands.

'Bring Me a Gun,' Shouts Jail Governor, Routs Three Thugs Trying to Get His Car

Windsor, Aug. 20 (CP)—Shouts of a jail governor who refused to give up his automobile late last night and three thugs, one armed with a nickel-plated revolver, from the grounds of Essex County jail late last night. A police search early today failed to turn up any trace of the trio.

Governor John M. Robinson said the incident took place as he was returning from the jail to his home on the jail grounds. As he put his hand around the corner of the garage door to turn on the light, he was confronted by a gun.

The Governor said he refused and asked: "What do you want, second here?"

"We came for your car," the gunman brandishing the automatic and pointing the weapon at Governor Robinson. "Come into the garage."

"I thought if I got into the garage, there would be no telling what may have happened to me, so I started edging backwards to-ward the house," the Governor related.

"When I was about five feet from the back doorbell, I made a leap for it and shouted 'bring me a gun. Bring me a gun.' As soon as I shouted, everyone got busy and I up, and that ism't good. The trio left hurriedly, and I gave chase on foot."

SCOTSMEN GATHER IN FERGUS, ONT.

Scottish competitions took place in Fergus, Ont., in which Scotsmen from Canada and the U.S. participated. ABOVE are kilted dancers Joy Mcennan, Marjorie McGibbon and Beverley Lethbridge.

MACKENZIE'S COLUMN

Some Thoughts On Yugoslavia's Hostility to U.S.

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

One of the most disturbing elements of these days of phenomenal world hostility which Yugoslavia has been displaying recently toward the United States, is the ludicrous current events.

The United States has sent two blistering notes to Yugoslav government, charging, among other things, that Marshal Tito's Yugoslav troops illegally entered the Allied zone in Austria and fired without provocation upon American forces flying peaceful transport missions. Washington also emphatically rejects the Yugoslav claim that the United States was responsible for the incident.

Simultaneously with the disclosures about these notes, came the news from Belgrade that an American transport plane was missing and believed shot down by fire under tracer bullet and anti-aircraft fire somewhere near the Yugoslav frontier. Only 10 days earlier an American C-47 transport, which had been forced in by storm, was forced down over Yugoslavia where it was fired upon by which machine-gunned it. The crew and Passengers — 20 in all — were interned and held incommunicado for several days. The United States authorities finally were permitted to see them.

Why should a supposedly friendly Yugoslavia be shooting at friendly planes and for whom Americans fought in the war now is the question which has all the familiar direct - action tactics which Yugoslavia employs in various parts of the world?

Americans can't understand the amazing cock-sure way in which Yugoslav sovereignty has been trampled on.

Naturally, Americans can't overlook that reference to certain strongly blown could have been exchanged for Trieste. Could it be that Yugoslavia has designs on all the territory to conceal from prying eyes? Is the explanation for all this that it obviously is possible, though there is no concrete evidence to this effect, has anything to hide.

Americans can't figure out one thing, and this is any thought that Yugoslavia is trying to "start something" with United States. That would be absurd. Still, it's quite in the cards that Belgrade is putting on a show of belligerence to get a better bargaining position in the Trieste dispute. Direct action again!

It was pointed out yesterday aspects of this situation lies in the fact that Yugoslavia is very much dependent on the United States for relief supplies. Could it be that Yugoslavia is trying to bluff Washington into sending more? That would be absurd. Still, it's quite in the cards that Belgrade is putting on a show of belligerence to get a better bargaining position in the Trieste dispute. Direct action again!

It was pointed out yesterday aspects of this situation lies in the fact that Yugoslavia is very much dependent on the United States for relief supplies. Could it be that Yugoslavia is trying to bluff Washington into sending more? That would be absurd. Still, it's quite in the cards that Belgrade is putting on a show of belligerence to get a better bargaining position in the Trieste dispute. Direct action again!

Another factor that cultivated as a crop by the Persians, who introduced it into Greece when they invaded that country in 492 B.C. It was introduced into Italy at the beginning of the Christian era and widely cultivated in the time of the early Caesars. It was quickly naturalized in Europe whence it was taken to all parts of the earth, being one of the staple forage crops of every continent of the Old World and easily grown as the chief leguminous plant in the Western Hemisphere.

Spain played an important part in the dissemination of lucerne. Although some authorities say the plant was grown in Spain about 7 A.D., it may have been carried into that country by the Moors in the eighth century, a fact that led the Spanish to call it "alfalfa," the Arabic word signifying "best fodder." Naturally the Spaniards took to alfalfa and many hot plant with them when they established colonies in Mexico, South America, South America and other parts of the New World during the 15th century.

Some alfalfa was grown in Canada as now the southwestern part of the United States after it was introduced into Ontario about 1820, at an early date, but first attempts to introduce the plant into the English colonies on the Atlantic seaboard were not successful. George Washington experimented with "Choice Lucerne" from Provence as early as 1760. Twenty-five years later—October 9, 1785—Thomas Jefferson wrote as Jefferson: "Lucerne has not succeeded with me. . . . I then sowed it, but I will give it another trial and a fairer one. It is a valuable forage altogether." J. Lector St. John Crevecoeur (1735-1813) a French settler in America, wrote: "Letters from an American Farmer" (1782). In this book he mentions the introduction of alfalfa into the Northern States.

Alfalfa did not assume much importance as a crop in the United States until it was introduced into California from Chile in 1854, after which time it began to extend rapidly over the irrigated regions of the Western States. Today alfalfa is the most important hay crop in the United States and an important pasture crop.

Alfalfa is considered a good soil-builder because it is a deep-rooted legume. Alfalfa roots penetrate deeper than any other cultivated crop. A plant only two or three years old sometimes sends down its roots to a depth of 40 or 50 feet in search for water, of which it is a great consumer.

The Federal Seed Act requires that alfalfa seed imported into the United States must be graded for identification purposes. Seed grown in Canada must be colored green, while that grown in other countries must be colored green.

U.S. and Britain Oppose Russia On Dardanelles Issue

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Washington, Aug. 20—The United States and Great Britain have decided to meet Russia's demands for a new deal on the Dardanelles.

In a cards on the table gesture this country already has informed Moscow that it is flatly opposed to Russia's demands for a voice in the military control of that highly important waterway that connects the Mediterranean and the Black Sea.

Furthermore, diplomatic quarters here say that Britain is acting said Britian fell the same way.

Thus the two great western powers are siding firmly with Turkey, current guardian of the Dardanelles. Moscow Russia has served two highly unpalatable demands:

1. That the Straits should be jointly defended by Turkish and Soviet forces, and

2. That future control policies should be left to a conference among the Black Sea powers alone.

To the first demand this country is said to have objected on the ground that it would practically mean granting the Soviet Union military bases in the Straits.

And since Turkey and Russia are the principal Black Sea powers, the second point was said to have been rejected because of fears that Russia would be able to dominate the smaller country on any major issue.

The Russian policy which governs control of the waterway currently gives Turkey the right to bar passage of warships of any country during time of war.

This presumably is what the State Department had in mind in advising Russia that the United States would be happy to attend any international conference called to consider revising the Montreux treaty.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

IF YOU GET SPRAYED YOU MAY CATCH ONE

Colds are spread from person to person by airborne droplets from mouth to mouth or indirectly by hands carrying the germs of colds in school room, in a bus This accounts for the spread of whatever the alleged "cold" may or in a family.

To quote the foregoing paragraph from an article by Albert D. Kaiser, M. D., Director of Hospital Service News, Dr. Kaiser being city health officer, Chicago, adds that:

The transfer of the cold virus from person to another can be lessened if the coughing and sneezing spray is intercepted by the application of a handkerchief to the face.

That's putting it mildly, almost pleasantly, I should say. Possibly the Rochester Hospital Service News would not permit the doctor to give any more of the unpleasant details—years ago when I wanted to tell the truth about spray or droplet infection, in talk over the back-fence or in the crowded young man whose uncle or somebody owned that automobile, or sleeper, or elsewhere from my script that, in cruder terms, it is not pleasant for women and children to hear.

Kaiser mentions that this interception of cough or sneeze spray by application of a handkerchief to the face "is most important for the individual with the cold." That's can't understand at all, at all. In my benighted fancy interception of mouth or nose spray is more important for the person who has called for a doctor to prescribe for the individual with the cold.

Since the days of Hippocrates, at least in the early and most commendable stage whether it will prove to be diphtheria, meningitis, simple coryza, flu, infantile paralysis, or whatever, doctors are already has it but the victim who called him does not know what is going to get it.

I'd let this essay on "The Common Cold" by Rochester's health officer pass but for the deplorable fact that the good doctor this book "Children's Tonsils In and Out" (which I have not read for my money, that he is a good doctor) says not one word about conversational spraying and that, my dear misguided folks, it, in my opinion, the chief cause of infections being responsible for three-fourth of all the illness doctors attend.

I say this is my belief or opinion. I am not in position to know it—certainly I, should not voluntary expose myself to conversational spray in any circumstance if I could possibly keep from it, and never permit a doctor fat any other person to any such brutality. I get experimental spray. I am convinced that ordinary polite conversational spray or almost respiratory infections from one person to another. It is for the doctor who doesn't believe the mouth or nose spray emitted during conversation is a deadly as any spray emitted during coughing or sneezing to undergo or persuade others to undergo such experimental tests to show the conversational spray is negligible.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

What This Country Really Needs

I have found many interesting and instructive things in your column. My day would be incomplete without it. I believe everyone is on Pruritus—I believe they are. I can't recall it would—there is no charge for it, but I would like to be informed how to cure it yourself to a good cigar.

S. C. E.

Answer—Thank you, So far as I care there is no charge for the cure and cigar. I hope you won't mind if I use the dime for food for the pigs of my own. It looks after a large flock of pipes. Pruritus, dear folks, cannot be without apparent cause. Knowing itching as I do, I would—itching as I do, I would—

If "with my mouth" you mean about bathing, etc—and I've long known it to be a curse to lands, coolies, scabies (pronounced with the accent on the first syllable, as long, the i short), caterpillar rash, bedbug itch, chiggers and other maddening of all, lye poisoning, I'll say it is a description of sympathy for people who have to live with it—I'll say I know something what the—what causes it. So all the rest of my many kinds, I'll put in the "Pruritus"—available on written request if you provide postage and stamped, self-addressed envelope. If you use a clipping in lieu of asking for the pamphlet yourself you will not hear from me soon.

(Copyright 1946 by John F. Dille Co.)

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Where did alfalfa come from? Is it native to some of the plant commonly called alfalfa in America and Lucerne in Europe seems to have been central and southwestern Asia, particularly on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean.

It was probably first cultivated as a crop by the Persians, who introduced it into Greece when they invaded that country in 492 B.C. It was introduced into Italy at the beginning of the Christian era and widely cultivated in the time of the early Caesars. It was quickly naturalized in Europe whence it was taken to all parts of the earth, being one of the staple forage crops of every continent of the Old World and easily grown as the chief leguminous plant in the Western Hemisphere.

Spain played an important part in the dissemination of lucerne. Although some authorities say the plant was grown in Spain about 7 A.D., it may have been carried into that country by the Moors in the eighth century, a fact that led the Spanish to call it "alfalfa," the Arabic word signifying "best fodder." Naturally the Spaniards took to alfalfa and many hot plant with them when they established colonies in Mexico, South America, South America and other parts of the New World during the 15th century.

Some alfalfa was grown in Canada as now the southwestern part of the United States after it was introduced into Ontario about 1820, at an early date, but first attempts to introduce the plant into the English colonies on the Atlantic seaboard were not successful. George Washington experimented with "Choice Lucerne" from Provence as early as 1760. Twenty-five years later—October 9, 1785—Thomas Jefferson wrote as Jefferson: "Lucerne has not succeeded with me. . . . I then sowed it, but I will give it another trial and a fairer one. It is a valuable forage altogether." J. Lector St. John Crevecoeur (1735-1813) a French settler in America, wrote: "Letters from an American Farmer" (1782). In this book he mentions the introduction of alfalfa into the Northern States.

Alfalfa did not assume much importance as a crop in the United States until it was introduced into California from Chile in 1854, after which time it began to extend rapidly over the irrigated regions of the Western States. Today alfalfa is the most important hay crop in the United States and an important pasture crop.

Alfalfa is considered a good soil-builder because it is a deep-rooted legume. Alfalfa roots penetrate deeper than any other cultivated crop. A plant only two or three years old sometimes sends down its roots to a depth of 40 or 50 feet in search for water, of which it is a great consumer.

The Federal Seed Act requires that alfalfa seed imported into the United States must be graded for identification purposes. Seed grown in Canada must be colored green, while that grown in other countries must be colored green.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Year-Round Handbag

By ALICE ALDEN

TRENDS in nothing like leather when it comes to a really impressive bag, the type that can carry off a costume. Previewed for Fall, and perfect for late Summer, is this big hold bag by Richard Koret who advocates the year-round bag as the backbone of the handbag wardrobe. Its compartments to make for adequate "filling".

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

She's having "Mother Trouble" About Her Boy Friend

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 15-1-2, and I met a nice boy at the summer swimming pool. He is an exsailor andso a perfect gentleman.

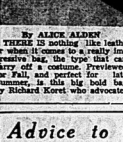
I saw him several times after that, and he told me he liked me. He also asked me to go out with him, but it seems that my mother always finds an excuse for me to stay home. She wants to meet him, but how can bring him home with me unless I met him some place, for I know he lives about a mile from my home?

My mother tells me she doesn't mind my going out with boys, but when it get down to facts, she changes her mind. I'm not a baby any more, and I would like to see more o fthis boy. Please to see more of this boy. Please do.

Lonsome

O come now, "Lonsome", surely your boy friend is bright enough to find his way to your house by himself. Do you have to take him by the hand and lead him along that mile? Of course you don't!

I think your mother is perfectly right in wanting to meet this young man, and if the young man is, as you say, a perfect gentleman he'll be glad to come to your house, meet your mother and ask her if he may take you out. Next time he asks you to go out with him, suggest that he call for you — as he ought to do anyhow—so that you can introduce him to your mother. If he agrees to that, I'm sure your mother will make no objections.



YOUR FAMILY NEEDS PROTECTION

. . . because the ownership or rental of property may be the cause of a claim against you.

It is wiser to be safe than sorry so call us today for full information on this economical and complete liability coverage. You are, of course, under no obligation at all when you bring any of your insurance problems to us.

HORNE & DOUGALL
INSURANCE ADJUSTERS

If he doesn't, she has a right to object.

Playing With Married Man is Playing With Fire

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am very much in love with a married man. He loves me, too, I know, because he told me so. His wife does not know that I have been going out with him frequently. He is waiting to see how his marriage will work out, and has asked him to wait for him.

I have no interest in other boys, and would not want to go out with them. What should I do?

M. C.

Playing with married men is playing with fire, M. C., and the chances are just about nice out of ten that any girl who does so will get badly burned.

I hope that your confidence in this man is not misplaced, but I wonder if you know how often, in this world, married men tell young girls that they love them, that they are planning to get a divorce and will marry them, when they have no intention of doing any such thing but merely wish to carry on a passing flirtation, if nothing more serious. While this man has not said definitely that he plans to get a divorce, he is holding the possibility before your eyes, and it is even meaner business to ask you to wait until he makes up his mind. If he were really in love with you, he would hardly be hesitating in any such fashion.

If you really want to know what I think you should do, it's stop seeing this man at once, and refuse to see him any more while he still has a wife. I may be wrong, but my guess is that he means to keep right on living with the one he's got now.

Her Husband's Old Girl Friend Turns up Again

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My husband and I have got along swell, and we still do. We have been married three years and haven't disagreed on anything. We both like to do the same things and enjoy being together.

But now he has met an old girl friend of his, who lost her husband a year ago. She's write to each other, and when my husband is out of town he calls her up. She works in the telephone office, so she has a very good chance to call him if she knows where he is.

I don't want to know is, should I call her and tell her I know about this, or will I am afraid she will break up my home.

Broken-hearted Wife

I don't think it ever does anything but harm when a wife mixes up in a situation like this by going to "set matters right". Because the women invariably tells the husband, and the husband usually gets angry and quarrels with his wife. And so the whole thing is made worse.

It is hard to adopt a policy of "just waiting" under circumstances like these. But I believe that is just what I'd try to do if I were you. Since you and your husband get along so well, I'm very likely that this just a passing thing and will blow over of itself, if you don't get too emotional about it.

And by the way, how did you happen to find out about it? Did your husband mention having met his old girl friend? And does she live in your town? If so, why suggest inviting her to dinner some night, and try to make a friend of her? And sometimes a good piece of strategy which helps mess a thing like this over a difficult spot and puts it on a more healthy basis. It's more likely to work, too, in cases where husband and wife are as good companions as the two of you have been.

She's Afraid She Offended Her Boy Friend Unintentionally

Dear Miss Fairfax:

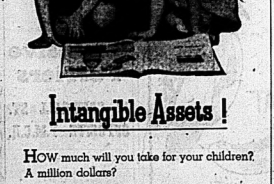
I am a young girl of 17 and am deeply in love with a boy of 18. He is in the Navy and stationed right here in my town.

We had a date for a certain evening, and before that evening he was put on night duty. He wrote me a very lovely letter explaining why he couldn't keep the date. I answered his letter and wrote two more after that, but he hasn't even answered one of them yet. I am awfully worried, because I believe I must have written something in one of the letters that has made him turn against me.

I have known him two months, and I saw him three times before he was put on night duty. I love him dearly and I go to bed in tears every night. I have just come to the point where I don't care what happens any more. Please help me.

Heartbroken

I am sorry that I couldn't answer your letter by the date you asked me to in your postscript.



Intangible Assets!

HOW much will you take for your children? A million dollars?

Of course not. They are your intangible assets . . . beyond all price . . . whose future you alone can protect.

The surest, safest way to do it is to own adequate Life Insurance.

THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

HEAD OFFICE Established 1887 TORONTO, CANADA

OFFICE—201 KREIGE BLDG., 266 Front Street, Belleville.
A. GILBERT STACKHOUSE, Supervisor, Belleville Division.
W. HAROLD CAMERON, Belleville.

H. MALCOLM HICKS, Picton. J. J. BRONSON, Bancroft

Bright Pink Fur Coat

By FRUNELLA WOOD

MARY'S famous little lamb was an ordinary sheep while compared to have got so much publicity. You should see the new sheared and extra-curly lambs' wools of 1942, called bonmouton, to appreciate the difference. They are dyed as gayly as Easter eggs, or seed catalogues, and offer a bright, new accent to the casual wardrobe. (Warm as well as bright.)

Modeled which Dana wears with smart black slacks and pullover, above, is dyed a giddy hunting pink, and it has real fashion value. Such topflight designers as Jean Klein, Jo Copeland, Esther Dorothy, Lanvin, Herold and Maggy Rouff, have fallen for this new lambs wool handling, and whipped up models as good looking as the swingback peajacket, above.

Wife Preservers

Save old fish balls and use them. Cut the fat to a thickness of about ¼ inch. Put a wette porcelain bun that always scratches the table. Char on the bottom and allow to dry thoroughly at least 24 hours, to prevent moisture seeping through.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Affectionately Introducing Her Son's Wife

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son, who is a lieutenant in the Navy, is coming home in a month or two and is bringing his wife. They have been married for three years, but this is the first time it has been convenient for them to come to visit here. I wish you would advise me as to the proper form for me to use to introduce her to our relatives and friends here. I do not like to say "my daughter-in-law", because I dislike the phrase "in law", and I don't particularly like to use "my son's wife". Her first name is Kathleen. Do you think it would be all right for me to say, "This is our Kathleen"?

A. H.

The introduction-form you have in mind is not only appropriate but will charmingly suggest the affectionate relationship you apparently have with your son's wife. I am sure she will be happy and proud when she hears you use these warm-hearted words in your introductions. And when you introduce her to anyone who needs a further explanation, you might say, "Mrs. Smith, this is our Kathleen, Bob's wife".

How to Answer a Formal Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My husband and I have just received a formal invitation to a church wedding and to the formal fast following the ceremony. On the invitation to the breakfast is "R.s.v.p.". We are going to accept this invitation. How soon should I answer this invitation? And how should I word my acceptance? And should I address the reply to "Mr. and Mrs. ——"

USE SKEETER SKATTER

FOR BLACK FLIES, MOSQUITOES

But I am hoping that by now you have either heard from your sailor, or have made up your mind that it is silly to cry your eyes out over a man you have seen only three times. Far better to dry your tears and start looking around for another boy friend. I don't believe you said anything in any of your letters to offend this boy. I'm afraid it's much more likely that he just wasn't interested enough to follow up the acquaintance, and if you're a smart girl you'll act on that theory unless he comes around and tells you differently. Don't cheapen yourself by keeping on writing to a boy who makes no response.

No Appetite For Days? YOU NEED MORE LIVER BILE

Science says two pints daily, yet many get only one.

Liver bile helps digest your food and promotes your body's natural elimination. Lack of bile causes loss of appetite, headaches, constipation, indigestion. For glorious health tone up your liver and get nonalcohol bile with proven Fruit-a-tives. Canada's largest selling liver tablets. Make Fruit-a-tives your habit.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIVER TABLETS

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

When A Woman Takes To The Dye Bottle

Hair can be bleached or it can be dyed. It is possible to have color changes that almost defy detection. But you can't do this presto-change act yourself, nor can the woman next door. You might be able to touch up a few grey hairs here and there, by following carefully the directions on the bottle. But as for transforming the entire-mop—well, my friend, if you are contemplating such a move, seek out a specialist who knows his chemicals, and understands precisely what they will do to your precious hair.

Hair dyeing is an art. There's a lot to know about it. To do it successfully requires skill and experience. There are blondes who flirt with the peroxide bottle with a fair amount of success, but when the dark growth appears at the scalp, and they keep touching it up, the changing applications of the bleaching medium may take the very life out of the shafts. They get spongy and jute-like. When that happens, soapy water runs over the head as water runs from a duck's back. Then the over-teached women must resort to the egg shampoo.

Some rash women, tired of bleaching, decide they'll like to go brunette. They use a dye. What the result is going to be nobody can guess. The color is not monkey with chemicals.

Over-bleached hair is porous, not like normal hair at all. When it gets in that condition no one should have treatments. Even these, however, may not restore the silky state.

Hot mineral oil should be applied twice a week. Put it on at night. Part the hair at various places and apply the oil along the partings, using a large medicine dropper, a small brush or a plaything of cotton for the purpose. Follow with a vigorous massage. Use plenty of oil on the ends of the hair, for they are likely to be brittle.

Wring a large towel out of hot water and wrap it around the head to give the delicious crown a good steaming and to force the oil into the scalp. After several hot compresses, wrap the head in a dry towel for the night.

In the morning have an egg shampoo. Several eggs will be necessary. Beat them with a fork, stop beating before they are frothy, and add a little cold water. Apply part of the eggs, rinse well, apply the rest. They should foam up like soap suds; they will if friction is brisk.

Some women, Tired Of Bleaching, Decide to go Brunette

An easy way out is to get a three inch trim. It is possible now to give a permanent to bleached hair if it is not in too sorry a state. In three or four months the entire growth will be of the natural color.

Fashion Flashes

VERY PRETTY little casual frocks, nice enough to double as date dresses, are ready for the college girl. Dark brown nubby wool is used for the bodice of a smart frock, the skirt of dark green woollen appliqued with diamonds of the brown bodice fabric. The bodice has a turtle neck and capelet-topped long, slim sleeves.

A new wealth of ideas appears in the latest gloves designed for gala evenings. White kid is used for a long glove detailed with balloon cuffs made of beautifully draped, full sections of gold kidskin.

MODELS!!

This Pre-menstrual time is trouble to millions each, nervous distress and mental depression, of "certain days"—when due to female functional disturbance. This is sometimes quickly relieved by

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

MORE SMART WOMEN USE THE NEW Charm-Kurl SUPREME COLD WAVE THAN ANY OTHER BRAND

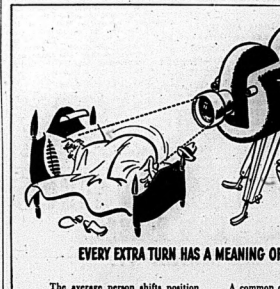
Accept no substitute. Be sure to ask for Charm-Kurl by name; it's your guarantee of perfect results.

Each Charm-Kurl SUPREME kit contains everything needed to give yourself a gorgeous COLD WAVE.

With laboratory tested Charm-Kurl Supreme, you give yourself a real COLD WAVE permanent that lasts 3 months at home. It's easy as combing your hair. "Takes" on any type of natural hair, and your "easy-to-manage" COLD WAVE will last months and months. Ideal, too, for children. The result must compare with any beauty shop wave costing up to $15.00 or more, or your money back on request.

NOW ONLY $1.35

For sale at Drug Stores, Cosmetic and Variety Counters.



EVERY EXTRA TURN HAS A MEANING OF ITS OWN!

The average person shifts position thirty-five times during a night's sleep. This is quite normal and healthy.

But how many times do you twist and turn? It is rather difficult to find out—one cannot exactly ask some member of the household to stay up and count! Yet that would tell the story of how normally you sleep.

Restful sleep is not a matter of how tired you are, what kind of a bed you sleep on, which side you sleep on—it is more likely to depend on the state of your nerves.

A common cause of frayed nerves—which result in disturbed sleep—is the caffein in tea and coffee. If you find caffein is bothering you — why not switch to Postum? It contains no stimulants of any kind. It has a full-bodied flavor all its own. Form the Postum habit! Make it right in the cup with boiling water or hot milk. Costs less than a cent a serving.

Postum

A Product of General Foods

P-250

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hancock, 347 Lonsdale Road, Toronto, wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Jean Elizabeth, to Kelso Reginald, son of Mr. Reginald Yates, and the late Mrs. Ned Yates, of Exeter, England. Wedding announcement later.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wilkinson, Tweed, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lois Ottaleen, to John Edwards Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Campbell, of Edmonton, Alberta. The marriage will take place September 14th.

Mrs. Robert Thorpe and baby, of Vancouver, B.C., are visiting her parents, Major and Mrs. W. C. Jack, Albert Street.

Misses Barbara and Shirley Howe have returned home after a pleasant holiday spent at Pine Crest Lodge, Bass Lake.

Miss Edna Howe has returned home after a very pleasant holiday spent in Toronto, Niagara Falls and Cobourg.

Major Malcolm Jack, of Montreal, Que., is visiting his parents, Major and Mrs. W. C. Jack, 153 Albert Street.

Dr. W. K. Blair, Oshawa, Mr. J. B. Blair and Betty Anne, Toronto, spent Sunday with their niece, Mrs. Arnold Valleau and family, College Street.

Mrs. E. A. Goodier and daughter, Patricia, Bleecker Ave., spent the weekend in Ottawa.

Mrs. Carman Herrington and Sandra, of this city, and Mrs. and Mrs. Alderman and Ramona, of Long Gate, Quebec, have arrived home after spending their holidays at Oak Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Button have returned to this city after spending a holiday at Parry Sound and district with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Button of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Miss Helen Hick, of this city, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murney Hick, Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gardner, of Lockport, N.Y., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Maracle, Point Anne.

Mr. Stanley Wims, Gordon St., is a patient in the General Hospital, due to a heart condition.

The first annual reunion of the Longhurst family took place at Sealey's Beach, Oak Lake, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Longhurst, of Morehead, formerly of Belleville, were honored by the attendance of their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, numbering a total of 35. This proved to be a most enjoyable event and it was decided that the reunion should become an annual affair.

WEDDINGS

BROAD—ACERRA

St. Michael's Rectory was the scene of a lovely wedding on August 5, at 1.30 p.m., when June Helen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Acerra, became the bride of Albert Carlyle, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Broad.

Before the marriage by her brother, Mr. Tony Acerra, the bride received congratulations at a blue street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of sweet peas.

The groom was attended by Mr. E. H. Broad.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, following which Mr. and Mrs. Broad left on a wedding trip to Toronto. Guests were present from Toronto, Lindsay and Trenton.

Young Couple Feted

On Thursday evening about fifty relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Howes, Roslin, to pay honor to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott (nee Jean Howes), who were recently married.

Mr. Roscoe Robson was called on to act as chairman for the evening. A few numbers of the following program was presented: Readings by Mrs. Harold Pound, Corbyville; Mrs. Harold Pound, Corbyville; Miss Helen Attwood, Roslin, and Mrs. Elmy.

This was followed by an address read by Hilda Howes and two little girls, Margaret Howes, sister of the bride and Pauline McCurdy carried in a decorated basket filled with useful gifts.

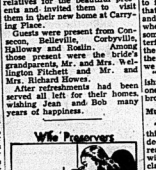
Bob and Jean thanked their relatives for the beautiful presents and invited them to visit them in their new home at Carrying Place.

Guests were present from Consecon, Belleville, Corbyville, Hallowell and Roslin. Among those present were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Pilchett and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howes.

After refreshments had been served all left for their homes, wishing Jean and Bob many years of happiness.

Mrs. E. Elsey, 14 Dunbar St., Belleville, writes: "Every woman likes to get her wash finished as early as possible. I wouldn't mind how fine Sode cuts my washing time in half and makes the clothes as white as snow, if I never have to boil or scrub them. Super Suds is certainly a real washday soap."

Thank you, Mrs. Elsey, for your grand letter. You see, Super Suds Super Soap Concentrated. Super Suds actually gives you far more washing power, which means sudsier, longer-lasting suds, for easier and quicker washdays. And Super Suds costs no more than ordinary washday soap.



Supremely Crucial Time In Human History Says Speaker at Albert College

Rev. G. B. Switzer, Professor of Church History, Union College, Vancouver, Speaks to Council of Young People's Unions

"This is the supremely crucial time in human history," Rev. Grant B. Switzer, B.A., B.D., S.T.M., Professor of Church History at Union College, Vancouver, speaking to the members of the National Council of Young People's Unions at Albert College on Monday morning.

Mr. Switzer combatted the theory that the world would get better and better whether people did anything about it or not. He termed this the "escalator philosophy of life" which many people cling to.

"Not many years ago," said Mr. Switzer, "we were told that technological progress was the answer to all life that there could not be any more war, then there came the thirty years' war. The war of 1914-18 broke out and our youths were wiped out and their lives blighted in that bloody spectacle. Then the next generation struck: 'Never and I will never forget' said the speaker, 'a scene I witnessed in Chicago when people stood beating their fists against the windows and doors of the banks where all their money was locked up. Next came the release of atomic energy, and we are told now that solar energy will shortly be put to use, and this powerful force will make the atom bomb like the exploding of children's fire crackers. Our land and other lands would cease to exist in time. Never was there such a need for mental and moral blood, sweat and tears.

Are We Big Enough?

"Are we big enough in character and brains to create an international civilization?" continued the speaker. "To take men as men, and not as machines, or as money, or as chattels!

"How are we going to get a society where men are not manipulated by a powerful state or by powerful vested interests, but instead have a society that becomes a co-operative effort for human good? We have the brains. We can make mechanical wings to fly with, we can make boats that will travel under the water, we can make cars automatic; but when the brain goes to work, something always comes in to interfere. This thing used to go by the old-fashioned name of sin, then we called it selfishness, now we call it isolationism.

"There is one antidote for selfishness—unselfishness! There is one antidote for isolationism brotherhood!

Must Come From Heart

"The revolution that will bring this change must come from deep deep down in our hearts. We must realize the eternal right, that will bring the greatest good to all classes, not any particular brand of politics. Science has made it possible to feed all people, There should not be any hungry people. No man need be unemployed, and a civilization does not deserve to survive that allows such conditions, and the young people who allow it are not loyal to their Lord.

"If there is one thing I have learned from attending five universities," stated Mr. Switzer, in conclusion, "it is that the length of a civilization depends on the treatment to the humblest citizen of it. We must all be united in the name of the one who said: 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me.'

Some Hopeful Signs

"There is need now of a public conscience that will support united nations. In this instance there are some hopeful signs. For one thing there is an aggressive Protestant Christianity."

These views were arising from elementary things to vaster things. Early history points out that in the beginning man met the need of peace, this developed into travel, interspersed with horrible wars, then the search for self-preservation, now we have organized good will, we have that soon will come a federation of the world," declared Dr. Grant B. Switzer, B.A., B.D., S.T.M., Professor of Church History at Union College, Vancouver, speaking to the members of the National Council of Young People's Unions at Albert College on Monday morning.

Mr. Switzer combatted the theory that the world would get better and better whether people did anything about it or not. He termed this the "escalator philosophy of life" which many people cling to.

"Not many years ago," said Mr. Switzer, "we were told that technological progress was the answer to all life that there could not be any more war, then there came the thirty years' war. The war of 1914-18 broke out and our youths were wiped out and their lives blighted in that bloody spectacle. Then the next generation struck: 'Never and I will never forget" said the speaker, "a scene I witnessed in Chicago when people stood beating their fists against the windows and doors of the banks where all their money was locked up. Next came the release of atomic energy, and we are told now that solar energy will shortly be put to use, and this powerful force will make the atom bomb like the exploding of children's fire crackers. Our land and other lands would cease to exist in time. Never was there such a need for mental and moral blood, sweat and tears.

Are We Big Enough?

"Are we big enough in character and brains to create an international civilization?" continued the speaker. "To take men as men, and not as machines, or as money, or as chattels!

"How are we going to get a society where men are not manipulated by a powerful state or by powerful vested interests, but instead have a society that becomes a co-operative effort for human good? We have the brains. We can make mechanical wings to fly with, we can make boats that will travel under the water, we can make cars automatic; but when the brain goes to work, something always comes in to interfere. This thing used to go by the old-fashioned name of sin, then we called it selfishness, now we call it isolationism.

"There is one antidote for selfishness—unselfishness! There is one antidote for isolationism brotherhood!

Must Come From Heart

"The revolution that will bring this change must come from deep deep down in our hearts. We must realize the eternal right, that will bring the greatest good to all classes, not any particular brand of politics. Science has made it possible to feed all people, There should not be any hungry people. No man need be unemployed, and a civilization does not deserve to survive that allows such conditions, and the young people who allow it are not loyal to their Lord.

"If there is one thing I have learned from attending five universities," stated Mr. Switzer, in conclusion, "it is that the length of a civilization depends on the treatment to the humblest citizen of it. We must all be united in the name of the one who said: 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me.'

Some Hopeful Signs

"There is need now of a public conscience that will support united nations. In this instance there are some hopeful signs. For one thing there is an aggressive Protestant Christianity."

These views were arising from elementary things to vaster

Essence of Fear Responsible For Unsettled Condition Of China Says Dr. R.G. Agnew

On Staff of West China Union University at Chengtu And Home on Furlough

"This has been a year of disappointment and disillusionment to the Chinese people," according to Dr. R. Gordon Agnew, M.Sc., Ph.D., F.I.C.D., one of the outstanding leaders at the National Council of Young People in session at Albert College, who granted an interview to a representative of the Ontario Intelligencer. Dr. Agnew flew from China in January of this year where he is on the staff of the West China Union University at Chengtu, Szechwan. The trip from the extreme coast of western China to San Francisco took just 30 hours, and Dr. Agnew feels that this should have a lesson for Canadians when they realize that the whole section is as large around the corner, and that in China vitally concerns us.

"In an attempt to bring the country back to normal relations with the West I have been extremely difficult," Dr. Agnew stated. "The people have been subjected to famine, drought, terrible congestion of travel, lack of peasants for the land and civil war. All these conditions have destroyed their attempts at growth. The Chinese are patient person, hard-working, tolerant and essentially fundamental or "earthy."

Fear Causing Condities

Asked about the political situation that is causing the civil war to continue, Dr. Agnew felt that the essence of fear is responsible for the unsettled condition. "The so-called Communist Party (which is not controlled by Moscow) hesitates to form a coalition government with the Nationalist party headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek because they fear they will be eliminated if they give up their arms and fail to satisfy the needs of the masses of the people, which their ideas must satisfy. There is a third middle of the road party called the Democratic League but it is without strong leadership."

Hope in United Nations

Dr. Agnew feels that the people are hoping that the United Nations will put strong diplomatic pressure on the country to insist on a coalition government, and he thinks that they could count on the fundamental tolerance and capacity for adjustment of the Chinese people, and hence a peaceful and orderly preparatory to a coalition government would be established.

The situation is not helped by the presence in China at the present time of an soldier, in the opinion of Dr. Agnew. "If, instead of military participation, some form of participation, diplomatic pressure could be brought into use, a solution might be found. But the diplomat in the Far East is working under a severe handicap because China cannot forget how the western powers have exploited her in the last hundred years by opening the country and establishing treaty privileges. At present China is ready and willing to co-operate with the west-but is suspicious and anxious for aid, but because of the dark background of the past the Chinese wonder if the motives are really of mutual growth and good will, or if they might be some more subtle modern form of exploitation in the future which would prevent the real growth of world trust.

Must Understand East

"It is the obligation of every thoughtful Canadian," he said, "to understand the Far East better than they have in the past. In the first place Canada and China should have close contact in the coming years. China will need wheat and other foods. In recent years Chinese agriculturalists have found that even on small holdings, smaller types of farm machinery are useful, and they want, to purchase these, making an important commercial market for Canada. In the same way the foundations of world peace definitely require full participation of the populous Chinese-Asian race, and while we should be among the leaders developing cultural contacts and relationships which will build that type of understanding.

Under Handicap

"The diplomat and business man labor under a handicap just now, but the field of education and missionary work holds opportunities. There is a movement in China now which is achieving great results, and which appreciates the desire of thoughtful western citizens to save the fine elements of their heritage, and to search with eagerness for plan for a common intellectual and spiritual basis upon which a true co-operation may be built. Christian colleges over a period of fifty years have achieved a very real success in developing young native leaders with vision who may be counted upon to markedly influence the new growth and development in the coming years in favor of world unity.

Not New Adequate

"The present period may be thought of as cynical in that many philosophies and thought patterns which suffices for a very few years which suffices for a very few years are recognized now to be inadequate for an era complicated by science and the rapid accumulation of social and economic ideologies. They are searching for a new basis of thought and action which will preserve the true value of older concepts but will be adaptable to the bewildering present. This period of fluidity will perhaps not be a long one. If we wait until the new thought patterns are crystalized it may be too late to find a mutual basis of co-operation. "Therefore" concluded the Doctor, "I think there has never been a time in the history of East and West when material and cultural aid from the West can be expected to accomplish so much."

A Happy Choice

Dr. Agnew commented at this point on the appointment by the Dominion Government of Leighton Stewart as United States Ambassador to China as a most happy choice. Mr. Stewart was formerly President of Yen Ching University, a Methodist Christian university. Dr. Agnew says that Mr. Stewart is thoroughly equipped with the needs of the Chinese people and is respected by all political groups. He feels that this appointment will help to hasten a solution of China's unrest.

The food situation will be lightened this summer with the harvesting of good crops, although there will still be shortages. There is a serious lack of farm animals, but to alleviate this they are being sent to replace animals for domestic use instead of for transportation. UNRRA has sent tractors and has introduced modernized farming in Chekiang province.

Definite Change

There has been a very definite change in the status and activity of women. The Chinese are lovely girls, progressive and practical people and since women have been given opportunities for education and training for vocations they have not hesitated to enter substantially into every phase of economics, political, professional, agricultural and all cultural and religious activities.

Destroyed by Japs

Speaking of his own university, Dr. Agnew recalled that when war broke out many institutions of learning were destroyed by the Japs or so threatened that in order to carry on the preparation of young people for later reconstruction of the country, it was necessary for many schools and colleges to take the great trek westward, sometimes over a thousand miles, any method of conveyance—junk, wheelbarrow, Chinese-lawn box, or on foot under incredible hardships to reach the western provinces where the Japs had not reach by land. Western University at Chengtu was host to six other universities or colleges in whole or part in order to carry on. "Classes were quite crowded," said Dr. Agnew, with his charming smile, "sometimes as many as stagger hours of classes. In fact we almost had to put them up trees and to bed!"

"The ability of the Chinese student is a great stimulus to the teacher and there seems to be no limit to the capacity of the Chinese individual to go as far as any other group of students."

Dr. Agnew has been in twenty years in China and expects to return in January of next year.

Princess Margaret 16 on Wednesday

London, August 20.— (CP)— Princess Margaret, younger daughter of Britain's King and Queen, will be 18 tomorrow and can look forward to a gradual lowering of the childhood barriers that surround royalty, a royal Buckingham Palace spokesman said today. Under present laws, the spokesman added, that she will attend "rounds of balls, parties, the like. A friend of the Royal Family said Margaret Rose, for a new batch of thought and action which will preserve the true value of older concepts but will be adaptable to the bewildering present. This period of fluidity will perhaps not be a long one. If we wait until the new thought patterns are crystalized it may be too late to find a mutual basis of co-operation. "Therefore" concluded the Doctor, "I think there has never been a time in the history of East and West when material and cultural aid from the West can be expected to accomplish so much."

A Happy Choice

Dr. Agnew commented at this point on the appointment by the Dominion Government of Leighton Stewart as United States Ambassador to China as a most happy choice. Mr. Stewart was formerly President of Yen Ching University, a Methodist Christian university. Dr. Agnew says that Mr. Stewart is thoroughly equipped with the needs of the Chinese people and is respected by all political groups. He feels that this appointment will help to hasten a solution of China's unrest.

The food situation will be lightened this summer with the harvesting of good crops, although there will still be shortages. There is a serious lack of farm

BONARLAW

Mr. and Mrs. Clancy Honored at Shower

Bonarlaw. (Special.) — The large farm house of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barlow was filled on Thursday evening when friends and neighbors gathered and presented Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Clancy (nee Jean Barlow), with a miscellaneous shower of useful and beautiful gifts.

Rev. J. J. Brownlie acted as chairman. A short musical program was given consisting of community singing. Vocal duet by Rev. J. M. Brownlie and G. Barlow and a piano solo by Miss Mary McInroy.

Bruce Farnham presided at the piano for vocal numbers.

A presentation address was read by Mrs. Ward McInroy wishing the newly married couple health and happiness and a long and blissful wedded life and expressing the esteem in which they are held by one and all. Both Mr. and Mrs. Clancy replied with short addresses thanking those present for their good wishes and the large number of gifts presented and inviting all to visit them.

Delicious refreshments were served by the committee and the host and hostess, during which Mr. Barnum entertained with piano selections.

2ND THURLOW

War Bride And Husband Honored

2nd Thurlow—Mr. and Mrs. A. Greatrix opened their home on Thursday night to about sixty friends and neighbors in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Terry and tendered them a miscellaneous shower. On behalf of the community Mr. F. Mitchell welcomed the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Reg. being among the first to answer the call to home and country, having joined the Prince Edward and Hastings Regiment, both overseas early in the war and serving over five years in the service. Mr. Mitchell followed his progress and anxiously awaited for his safe return. After which was over he married Miss Violet Bullerfield, and left for after returned to Canada. Miss Margaret Donaldson read an address and a scrapbook of the many lovely and useful gifts Reg and Violet very graciously thanked their friends for their generosity and kindness.

Later delicious refreshments were served

Personals

Mrs. D. Whalen accompanied Mr. and Mrs. H. O'Neil to Kingston on Thursday.

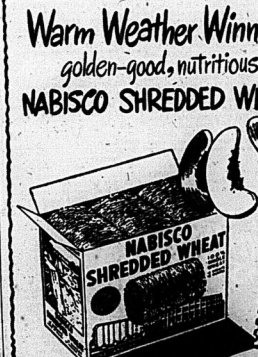
Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brockhurst of Buffalo, were Thursday and Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Atkins. Miss Isabelle Atkins returned home to Buffalo for a week

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Atkins and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grills met at the former's home on Thursday night in honor of Messrs. Harry Grills and Douglas Atkins, who celebrated birthday anniversaries on August 14: Refreshments were served at the close of a pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Atkins, Gordon and Harold and Mrs. A. Hobbs, attended the Mather and Fargey picnic held at Hay Bay on Sunday afternoon and evening.

MARIE MURDUFF
OUR RESULTS ARE GUARANTEED.
Over 12 Years' Experience in
REMOVAL OF SUPERFLUOUS HAIR AND MOLES
For over 12 years we have served the people of the business and professional world.
MARIE MURDUFF
WILL BE IN BELLEVILLE
AUGUST 30TH — 31ST — ONLY
PHONE 1489
223 COLEMAN STREET

CITY CLEANERS AND DYERS
160 EAST MOIRA ST.
ASSURE YOU OF PERFECT CLEANING SATISFACTION.
SERVICE IS AN OUTSTANDING FEATURE AND OUR EMPLOYEES ARE SKILLED IN UP-TO-DATE CLEANING METHODS
PHONE 2626
BILL LYNCH — ROY JOHNSON
Proprietors



DON'T MISS THE GIGANTIC AUGUST FUR COAT SALE
NOW GOING ON AT DELANEYS
Exclusive Furriers
17 CAMPBELL ST.
OPPOSITE Y.M.C.A.
GREAT SAVINGS UP TO 50%

A four-car crackup in the last race and a sky-rocketing tire, spiraling high over the heads of spectators, sent shivers down the spines of the 18,000 fans who jammed the stands of the Shanghai-La speedway, Binghamton, N.Y., for the track opening. At RIGHT, a tire thrown from the wheel of a recig driven by S. Kraft bounces into the air. The tire finally came to rest on the infield. At LEFT, four cars get off to a bad start. One can be seen lofted a stood of dust veering toward the track wall. Another driver, thinking he's going the wrong direction, collides with one of three cars

Sees Childhood Dream Come True With Canadian Entry In Professional Basketball

Ben Newman of St. Catharines With Three Others Will Sponsor Team, Play at Gardens

By ALLAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Formation of an international professional League for basketball marks the beginning of a dream come true for Ben Newman of St. Catharines, a 26-year-old ex-army executive who learned about basketball when he should have been in bed.

Newman, a stocky, affable man with a gambler's forthright language, recalled that childhood start today as he pondered his biggest gamble so far — direction of the lone Canadian entry in an 11-team league designed to raise basketball to post-war parity with baseball and hockey.

"As a kid of 10 I was so nuts about the game I couldn't stay away," Newman said after the Basketball Association of America, comprising arena managers in Canada and the United States, announced last night that a new caga league bearing the Association name would play a five-month schedule starting Nov. 1.

"My mother didn't want me to go, so I went to bed, sneaked out the bedroom window, and went to the games with my father. My mother never caught on."

Ever since Newman has wanted to see Canadian basketball in the bigtime. He started in 1944 by importing a dozen name players from the United States to play for Merriltom, just outside St. Catharines. Merriltom easily won the Canadian senior title.

Operate Toronto Franchise

In the new professional league, Newman will operate a Toronto franchise leased from Maple Leaf Gardens, the club will be coached by Ed Sadowski, former star with Fort Wayne Zollners. American playing talent will also be almost exclusively the first year, but every encouragement will be accorded Canadians.

"My dream now is to take an all-Canadian team to the Olympics in 1952," says Newman. "If that happens, nobody can say I should have 'stood in bed.'"

Newman's associates include Harold S. Shannon and Pete Mackechnie of Toronto and Clare Barton of St. Catharines.

The other 10 active members of the league are Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, and Providence in the Eastern Division and Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and probably Pittsburgh in the Western Division. Toronto will be assigned later. Two other franchise-holders, Indianapolis and Buffalo, will not operate this season.

Blueprints for the ambitious experiment in big boosting were announced at an organization meeting presided over by Maurice Podoloff of New Haven, Conn., president of the American Hockey League.

Podoloff said the Association starts with "no arrogance" but is determined to provide a brand of basketball which will force recognition of the league's winner as world champion. The league will be patterned after the three-decade old National Hockey League, with weekly shifts, flight referees and similar playoff arrangements.

NO MATTER WHAT SEASON

Regular "MODERN" Dry cleaning keeps you looking spic-'n-span and perfectly groomed. Start the habit today. IT'S EASY . . . JUST PHONE US.

PHONE 2277

MODERN

CLEANERS and DYERS LIMITED

235 Pinnacle Street

YOU CAN NOW HAVE AN AMERICAN BANTAM ½ TON ALL-STEEL

UTILITY TRAILER

All Steel Construction—Semi-Elliptic Springs
30 Cu. Ft. Body — Tires 600x16
Heavy Channel Frame — Weight 300#

A NEW ALL-PURPOSE TRAILER—ATTACH TO CAR, TRUCK OR TRACTOR—FOR RETAILERS—WHOLESALERS—MANUFACTURERS—FARMERS—FAMILY USE

BUILT BY AMERICAN BANTAM CAR CO.—BUTLER, PA.

BATEMAN MOTORS LIMITED
11 MOIRA ST. WEST. PHONE 2280

J36ZH

DICK SISLER'S CLUTCH HITTING HELPING CARDS

Aiding Drive to Catch Dodgers Now Only 1½ Games Down on Team

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

Dick Sisler, the forgotten man of St. Louis Cardinals since his early season failure at first base is changing the leers to cheers at Sportsman's Park with his clutch hitting in the Red Birds' drive to catch the National League's first-place Brooklyn Dodgers, who lead by 1½ games.

The son of the great George Sisler, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, started the campaign as the regular Cardinal 1st sacker, but failed to hit so Stan Musial was pulled in from the outfield to take over the job. Sisler didn't appear in half a dozen games over a two-month stretch until Dyer tried him in left field Aug. 8.

Although his season batting average is only .275, the ex-sailor has hit the ball at a .310 clip since he reagained a regular job, driving in 11 runs in his last 9 games.

Sisler's pinch single in the 13th inning broke up Sunday's first game and his second-game hit enabled the Cards to make a clean sweep. Last night the brawny youngster started the Birds off on a 6-0 romp over Cincinnati on a double with the bases loaded in the fourth inning.

By an odd coincidence, young Sisler's father now is one of the top talent scouts for Brooklyn Dodgers and it's when the Cards are grappling for the league pennant.

Sisler has to share top billing with Ken Burkhardt who shut out the Reds with eight scattered hits, the fourth time he has whipped Cincinnati this season.

St. Louis' shutout over Cincinnati boosted the only scheduled game in the National and was the only big league game played as threatening rain caused the postponement of Chicago-New York and Boston-Philadelphia tilts in the American League.

Major League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)
AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting: Vernon, Washington .349.

Runs: Williams, Boston 118.

Runs batted in: Williams, Boston 106.

Hits: Pesky, Boston 162.

Doubles: Spence, Washington 39.

Triples: Edwards, Cleveland and Lewis, Washington 11.

Home runs: Williams, Boston 32.

Stolen bases: Case, Cleveland 27.

Pitching: Ferriss, Boston 21-6 .840.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting: Musial, St. Louis .367.

Runs: Musial, St. Louis 87.

Runs batted in: Slaughter, St. Louis 90.

Hits: Musial, St. Louis 165.

Doubles: Musial, St. Louis 34.

Triples: Musial, St. Louis 13.

Home runs: Mize, New York 32.

Stolen bases: Reiser, Brooklyn 26.

Pitching: Higbe, Brooklyn, Rowe, Philadelphia and Dickson, St. Louis 11-4 .733.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Troy (Kid) Mello Bettina, 190½, Beacon, N.Y., knocked out Gene Bouchard, 204½, Montreal (3).

Philadelphia — Valley Monson, 137, Philadelphia, knocked out Bob Montgomery, 137, Philadelphia (2).

Washington — Bass Jack 143½, Augusta, Ga., outpointed Danny Kapilow, 148, New York (10).

Cleveland — Artie Levine, 160½, Brooklyn, knocked out Charlie Paditino, 158½, Detroit (3).

Pittsburgh — Ev Sarlin, 183, Pittsburgh, outpointed Paul (Buddy) Komar, 184, Boston (10).

TRY THIS FOR YOUR NERVES

Sam Snead fills in wait as tee during exhibition match by balancing golf balls on top of each other.

By AEX J. MORRISON

Have you ever watched how tournament pros put in their time during a wait on the tee? If you haven't then next time you attend a tournament as spectator keep your eyes on them as they wait. It's a good lesson in nerve control, so important in golf. The smart ones put in their time counting relaxation, both mental and physical. Many have tricks of their own which they use to keep themselves relaxed. Some talk to other players, their caddies or friends. They try to talk only about subjects semi-removed from the game. They don't want to dwell too strongly on recent shots, no matter how good or bad, for this makes them less confident about the next one. They prefer to discuss briefly some light topic, possible on the humorous side.

Other players, instead of making light conversation, follow some physical routine to induce looseness and ease. Many sprawl on a bench with their legs extended after the manner of a boxer. In the ring between rounds. A few have their own pet stunts which afford them the necessary diversion, if not relaxation. One Sneed, for example, can be very amusing to himself and others on occasions. One of his stunts is to balance golf balls on top of one another. When first attempted this is quite difficult.

Only after considerable practice counts the delicate touch and patience needed to get the balls just right. But, by exercising a little patience anyone can balance at least one ball on top of the other. So what? So you learn to quiet your nerves, to get down to the delicacy of touch needed to handle clubs and properly hit. At the same time you avoid the tension and strain created by a wait at the tee. And these waits are longer and more numerous these days. Most of the public courses throughout the country try to accommodate a foursome to six players in one day. Many private courses are crowded over weekends. Waiting can cause tension or bring relaxation. It is up to you.

O.R.F.U. Schedule

Toronto, Aug. 20 (CP)—Officials of the Ontario Rugby Football Union yesterday released the league's revised 12-game schedule which will start Sept. 6 with a Balmy Beach-Toronto Indians night game at Oakwood Stadium here.

All Indian home games will be at Oakwood. Balmy Beach, the other Toronto entry, will play its home games at Maple Leaf Stadium.

The schedule is as follows:

Sept. 6—Balmy Beach at Toronto Indians (night).

Sept. 7—Windsor Rockets at Ottawa Trojans; Hamilton Wildcats at Sarnia Imperials.

Sept. 13—Windsor at Toronto Indians (night).

Sept. 14—Ottawa at Hamilton; Sarnia at Balmy Beach.

Sept. 21—Hamilton at Windsor; Sarnia at Ottawa; Toronto Indians at Balmy Beach.

Sept. 28—Balmy Beach at Hamilton; Ottawa at Toronto Indians; Windsor at Sarnia.

Oct. 4—Hamilton at Toronto Indians (night).

Oct. 5—Ottawa at Windsor; Balmy Beach at Sarnia.

Oct. 12—Sarnia at Hamilton; Windsor at Balmy Beach.

Oct. 11—Toronto Indians at Ottawa (This Ottawa home game will be played at Maple Leaf stadium, Toronto.)

Oct. 14—Hamilton at Balmy Beach; Ottawa at Sarnia; Toronto Indians at Windsor.

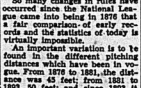
Oct. 19—Windsor at Hamilton; Balmy Beach at Ottawa; Sarnia at Toronto Indians.

Oct. 26—Toronto at Hamilton; Ottawa at Balmy Beach; Sarnia at Windsor.

Nov. 2—Hamilton at Ottawa; Balmy Beach at Windsor; Toronto Indians at Sarnia.

The teams finishing the schedule in the top four positions will play two semi-final games Nov. 9 and one final game for the O.R.F.U. championship Nov. 16.

SPORT FALACIES



One of the most misleading things a fan can do is look at the record in comparing all-time baseball stars.

So many changes in rules have occurred since the National League came into being in 1876 that the comparison of early records and the statistics of today is virtually impossible.

An important variation is to be found in the different pitching distances which have been in vogue. From 1876 to 1881, the distance was 45 feet; from 1881 to 1893, 50 feet; and since 1893 it has been 60½ feet.

Just to check the case against the records as a reliable yardstick, the fact is that some of the early records were sloppily kept and as a result are not wholly accurate.

SAYS CANADA WILL

(Continued from Page One)

Country Is Unprepared

Gen. Pearkes said he was opposed to having units of the brigade groups scattered across the country.

Hughes Lapointe, parliamentary assistant to Mr. Abbott, said the units of the group would be brought together for both winter and summer training. Wainwright and Petawawa camps are under consideration as training grounds.

Gen. Pearkes said Canada should take "every practical step" to defend her own territory and at the same time be ready to co-operate with the United Nations.

"I doubt whether the government has realized the danger of modern warfare," he declared. "I feel that some of the expenditures in these estimates are definitely wasteful and unwarranted" because they will fail to be effective," he said.

His prediction that Canada would become a battlefield in another war was based on the assumption that "there were only three powers with sufficient strength to launch a war—Russia, United States and the British Commonwealth.

Preaching on Another Policy

The government appeared to be rather proceeding on the previous policy of assuming that there would be time to train men who would be sent to fight overseas.

"There is little to indicate that they would be ready for any such sudden modern attack on Canadian shores," he said.

The permanent forces appeared to be under strength, short of equipment, using obsolescent armor and probably starved for trained men.

There had been no action on the proposal frequently made for a standing parliamentary committee on defence matters. There was need for closer co-ordination between the three services and the first step in that direction should be a single defence minister with control of the army, navy and air force.

Gen. Pearkes also criticized the withdrawal of Canadian occupation forces from Germany and said there should be a full explanation from the government. He regretted the disbanding of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

No Direction Given Claim

Capt. Probe objected to what he described as a "blank cheque" which Mr. Abbott was seeking for the $200,000,000 appropriation for defence purposes. No direction was given of the size of Canada's permanent army. The C.C.F. would be prepared to support a Canadian contribution of officers and men to a U.N.O. protective force.

There should be revision of the "undemocratic forms of drill and discipline" and promotion and admission to military colleges should be based on ability.

Mr. Abbott, replying to Capt. Probe and Lt.-Col. Merritt, V.C., (Vancouver-Burrard) said Canada's post-war army was planned to be representative and to include professionally-trained personnel which could provide a basis for training of a citizen army in time of war. While part of the army might be an effective fighting unit it could not be expected to be of a size equal to the defence of Canada.

No Only Factor

Mr. Abbott said some officers who had served overseas had been found unsuitable for retention in their wartime ranks. Candidates for officer position in the permanent army were given a definite preference if they had overseas service but it was not the only factor taken into consideration.

The discussion brought out a flat denial by Mr. Abbott of suggestions that British had asked for permission to train troops in Canada and had been refused.

Mr. Abbott told the House that Canada plans a "relatively small modern navy of ships, of the most modern type capable of operating in close co-operation if need be with either the British navy or the navy of the United States."

Recruiting both for the navy and its air arm in general was proceeding satisfactorily, he said.

The House paid tribute during the day to the men who manned Dieppe four years ago with speakers for all parties lauding their courage and skill.

Col. A. J. Brooks, (PC—Royal), saying he felt Canada paid "too high a price at Dieppe, assessed the raid as "almost as hopeless although possibly as brilliant as the Charge of the Light Brigade."

Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt (PC—Vancouver-Burrard)—himself by Veterans Minister Mackenzie the "hero of Dieppe"—said the losses seemed worthwhile in the prospective of the whole war.

Negro Veteran Given $22,000 and Resorts

New York, Aug. 20 —(CP)— Isaac Woodward, Jr., Negro war veteran who says he was blinded by a South Carolina policeman shortly after his release from the United States army, now has $22,000 with which he hopes to establish a restaurant.

The sum was turned over to Woodward last night at a rally in Harlem stadium where 30 performers from the entertainment world put on a benefit show before an estimated 20,000 persons. Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, was co-chairman of the benefit committee.

Police chief M.T. Shull of Batesburg, S.C. said Saturday Woodward was taken from a bus and arrested for drunkenness and that's hit him on the front of the head after he attempted to take away my blackjack."

160,000 People "Recommend HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

At Household Finance you borrow $20 to $1000 on your own signature or household security needed. Stop in or write today. Get the money you need — you get your money the same day.

Convenient Repayments at Reasonable Rates

Rate per $100	Choose a monthly payment plan
	6	12	15	20	30
3%	$17.26
2½	17.09
2%	16.92	8.77
1½	16.75	8.60	7.18
1%	16.58	8.43	7.01
1	16.41	8.26	6.84	5.17
½	16.24	8.09	6.67	5.00	3.38
¼	16.16	8.01	6.59	4.92	3.30
⅛	16.12	7.97	6.55	4.88	3.26

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE
Corporation of Canada
127 Charlotte St., Opp. Loblaws
Phone 2277
Open Mon. & Sat. 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. — Other days 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Over 160 Branch Offices in Canada

THEIR WAY TO Enjoyment

shipping companies.

The Lake Carriers' Association said at Cleveland that 86 per cent of its fleet of 316 freighters was still moving on the lakes, and 44 ships strike-bound.

The family experiment between C.I.O. sailors and steelworkers went on. Yesterday the U. M. U. protested to Mr. Murray, who is president of both the steelworkers and the C.I.O., that steel-workers were hurting the strike by loading and unloading iron ore vessels.

While Mr. Murray pondered a reply, N.M.U. officials told reporters at Cleveland that steel-workers hit unloading 9,000 tons of ore.

ATURE TIMES

LETHY PASSAGE	CAPITOL WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME
Andrews Hayward	Last Lees 7.35 — 10.30

to attract thousands of
We want them to enjoy rest to see they get the plenty! Here are some of practical suggestions come us:

Take the time to give any requested information fully and graciously.

In business dealings, remember Canada's reputation for courtesy and fairness depends on you.

It sure is up, follow the Golden Rule.

IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS . . . it's good business!

Work like sunlight is gold! The Province of Ontario profits to almost the same extent from tourist business as it does from the gold mining industry. It's up to each of us to see that it goes on growing.

This slogan shows how everyone benefits from the Ontario tourist income. Every dollar is distributed this way . . . 1. Hotels; 2. Stores; 3. Restaurants; 4. Taxes, etc.; 5. Amusements; 6. Garages.

Let's make them come to come back!

Labatt's

Tune in "Ontario Holiday" — CFRB, 10:30 p.m. — Thursday, Friday and Saturday

PUBLISHED IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST BY JOHN LABATT LIMITED

BUFFALO BISONS IN SECOND PLACE OF INT. LEAGUE

Pitcher Hal Manders Turns in Number of Wins in Successful Rise

(By The Associated Press)

Since joining Buffalo Bisons late in June, Hal Manders has turned in a number of impressive victories for the Herd in their successful rise from the second division to the second place berth they occupy in the International League standings today.

The 30-year-old former Detroit Tiger righthander has gained 8 triumphs and suffered only three setbacks for manager Gabby Hartnett's crew. In six of his wins, Manders allowed the opposition no more than five hits a game.

His five work resulted in his purchase recently by Chicago Cubs of the National League for spring delivery.

Manders came within two putouts of hurling a no-hitter last night as the Bisons drubbed Rochester Red Wings 5-3.

Catcher Charley Hockenberry singled through the box with one away in the ninth to spoil Manders's bid for minor league baseball's rarefied air of 'no hits'. The Wings then p-d together three more singles to score their two runs.

Baltimore Orioles moved over the idle Newark Bears into third place by coming from behind to defeat Syracuse Chiefs 7-4.

After the Chiefs had piled up a 4-3 advantage by virtue of five cuit clouts by Hank Sauser, Al Brobelicki and Kermit Wahl, the Orioles rapped Howard Fox for five runs in the sixth frame to sew up the contest.

Other teams were not scheduled.

Baseball Results

(By The Canadian Press)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Brooklyn	70	43	.619
St. Louis	69	44	.607
Chicago	60	53	.531
Boston	55	54	.505
Cincinnati	51	62	.451
New York	49	63	.437
Philadelphia	47	64	.423
Pittsburgh	44	63	.411

Monday; Cincinnati 0, St. Louis 2.

Tuesday; Boston-St. Louis; Brooklyn-Philadelphia; New York-Cincinnati; Philadelphia-Chicago (2).

American League standing unchanged.

Monday; Chicago-New York; Philadelphia-Boston, postponed, threatening weather.

Tuesday; Chicago-New York; St. Louis-Boston (2); Detroit-Philadelphia; Cleveland-Washington.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Montreal	85	44	.659
Buffalo	71	58	.550
Baltimore	66	60	.524
Newark	65	62	.512
Syracuse	64	65	.496
Toronto	61	70	.466
Rochester	60	71	.458
Jersey City	51	78	.395

Monday; Syracuse 4, Baltimore 3; Buffalo 5, Rochester 2.

Tuesday; Toronto-Montreal; Buffalo-Rochester; Syracuse-Baltimore (2); Jersey City-Newark.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
St. Paul	81	49	.623
Louisville	76	53	.589
Kansas City	74	57	.565
Minneapolis	68	61	.527
Indianapolis	61	71	.462
Columbus	59	73	.447
Milwaukee	57	74	.435
Toledo	51	80	.389

Monday; Indianapolis 4-1, Columbus 3-5, Kansas City 9-4, Minneapolis 8-4, Louisville 5-3, St. Paul 4-3.

Tuesday; Toledo-Milwaukee; Kansas City-Louisville; Minneapolis-St. Paul; Indianapolis-Columbus.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

(By The Canadian Press)

St. Catharines Athletics last night defeated Thorold-Merritton Theatre 6-3 in the Niagara District Baseball League Senior B playoff game. In an Intermediate A playoff encounter, Stratford Nationals trimmed Waterford Tigers 7-3 in the first of the semi-finals. London Majors trimmed 9-1 over Kitchener Dunlops for the other semi-final berth.

The Saints' win at St. Catharines evened the playoffs. Thorold-Merritton won the third and fourth games to take a best-of-five series on home soil.

Police Constable Art Crocock hurled one of his best games of the season for St. Kits, netting four singles over eight frames at Waterloo both Harry Fisher of St. Kits and Dave Bauer of the Tigers were blasted off the mound in early stages of the games. Both retired with five runs against them, Bauer bombed two runs in each of two innings and got a single in another to account for their winning tally.

The London game was marked with a near fight between the Kitchener players who attacked the base umpire after a close decision.

Johnny Hopp Tied in Batting With Stan Musial

New York, Aug. 20 (AP) — Johnny Hopp of Boston has moved into a first place tie with Stan Musial of St. Louis for the National League batting title, according to averages including Monday's games. Hopp's hitting season of Washington still held a comfortable 10-point margin in the Americas.

Although Hopp appeared in only two games last week he collected two hits in five trips to advance into a tie at .375 with Musial, whom hot batting piece slipped off four points.

Dickie Walker of Brooklyn clung to third place at .359 followed by Johnny Mize of New York at .358. Sid Gordon of New York climbed into fifth place at .357.

Vernon's .349 average gave him a 10-point spread over Teddy Williams, who at .339 was getting a stiff battle from his Boston teammate Johnny Pesky at .338. Lake Appling of Chicago was fourth at .339 and Dom DiMaggio of Boston and Hank Edwards of Cleveland were tied for fifth at .317.

129 With Gun Club	7.65 p.m.
Farm Fair	8.00 p.m.
Music	8.30 p.m.
Dinah Toast	8.45 p.m.
Sign Off	9.00 p.m.
Morning Devotions	10 a.m.
Request Show	12.30 p.m.
Music for Dishwashing	3.30 p.m.
Dr. Jack	10.45 p.m.
Going to Town	10.55 p.m.

Network Progra

TUESDAY EVENING

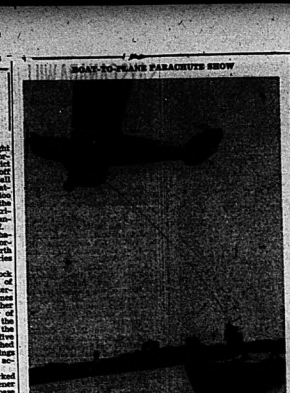
...ic 4:15—Short	WEEN—A 4:15 p.m.
Frontier of Science	CBM—CBF—CBL—CBC—CBFT—CBMT—WBKB—WCBS—WNBT—WPTZ—4.30 p.m.
Hunter, news	CBM—CBF—CBL—CBC—CBFT—CBMT—WBKB—WCBS—WNBT—WPTZ—5 p.m.
McKnight on Sports	CBM—CBF—CBL—CBC—CBFT—CBMT—WBKB—WCBS—WNBT—WPTZ—5.15 p.m.
News Till Now Mr. Keen Lowell Thomas	CBM—CBF—CBL—CBC—CBFT—CBMT—WBKB—WCBS—WNBT—WPTZ—5.30 p.m.
Say That	CBM—CBF—CBL—CBC—CBFT—CBMT—WBKB—WCBS—WNBT—WPTZ—5.45 p.m.
Greene Sports	CBM—CBF—CBL—CBC—CBFT—CBMT—WBKB—WCBS—WNBT—WPTZ—6 p.m.
John W. Vandercook Ice Show	CBM—CBF—CBL—CBC—CBFT—CBMT—WBKB—WCBS—WNBT—WPTZ—11.10 p.m.

INSPECTORS AT SERVICE OF POTATO GROWERS

London, Ont., Aug. 20.—(CP)—District farmers may obtain the services of inspectors who are qualified to recommend methods of control if potato potato crops show signs of bacterial ring rot, the Department of Agriculture said. They pointed out that hundreds of dollars worth of damage is annually done in this district by the disease.

Sixteen inspectors will work out of Toronto, and their services may be obtained through the local office of the Department of Agriculture.

Floodlight Baseball
Tuesday, August 20th
8.30 P.M.
MEGAFFIN STADIUM
KINGSTON
Two Leaders of Keen Rivalry in the District
Negro Baseball League
BOSTON BLUES vs.
PITTSBURG CRAWFORDS
Regular League Scheduled Game.
A18-20



BOAT-TO-PLANE PARACHUTE SHOW

Rehearsing for the A.M.V.E.T.S., Flying Tigers' air circus at Willow Run, Detroit, Mich., Tommy Walker, former U.S. Flying Tiger war ace, is shown minutes before he was whisked into space by a plane that flew low over a border patrol boat in Lake St. Clair. The stunt is a boat-to-plane-to-boat parachute thriller.

35-MAN RUSSIAN TEAM READY FOR MEET IN NORWAY

Purported to Have Broken World Records in Nearly All Events

London, Aug. 20—(CP) — A 35-man Russian track team, cloaked in mystery and purported to have broken world records, makes its western debut this week in the European Amateur Championships at Oslo, Norway.

Not since 1922 have the Cossacks of the cinder lanes competed against the outside world. And they are expected to spring some surprises against the 20 other European countries entered in the biggest sports carnival since the last of the Quadrennial meets in 1938.

The four-day track and field meet, opening Thursday, has been switched closely as a preview to the 1948 Olympic Games in London.

At the same time, the International Amateur Athletic Federation — including delegates from United States, Britain, Russia, Norway in Oslo, and Russia has been invited to the meeting sessions.

An authoritative Norwegian source claims Russia wanted to join the I.A.A.F. provided her athletes, subsidized by the state, are therefore considered professionals by some countries, are admitted to world events.

Professionalism is scheduled to be the hottest topic at the I.A.A.F. meeting, with sweeping decisions affecting the roll call at the 1948 Olympiad possible.

Sweden is expected to ask for reinstatement of her star runners such as Gunder Haegg—recently barred for amateur competition — after short spanking periods of suspension.

Britain, where athletes from Russia and six other countries attended many events last summer, officials announced that 291 men and 72 women had entered the various events.

The carnival will get under way Thursday with the 41-kilometre marathon.

Glen Ross Defeats Stirling to Win Rawdon Softball Title

Stirling—Glenn Ross proved themselves worthy champions when they took the measure of Stirling nine in the third game of the Rawdon Softball finals at Stirling Fair Grounds. The score was 13-7 and it well represented the play. Stirling batted off in the first half and made three runs but couldn't get the third click until the seventh innings but couldn't make up the difference. R. Pryar pitched for Glenn Ross and had things well in hand until the seventh when he was replaced by Brooks who put out the last man. Catcher Bowerbank of Stirling gave way to Rodgers in the fifth and he performed creditably, the double-plays which kept the fans on their toes and bone runs died. Batteries: Pryar, Brooks or Glenn Ross and D. Rodgers of Stirling. The Stirling players their supporters a good season they bowed out to the champions.

Stirling—Fraser 2nd b. Dafoe cf. Bastedo rf. McGee ss. R. Rodgers 3rd b. Thompson p. Bailey, Eggleton and Armstrong 1st b. D. Rodgers c.

Glen Ross—H. Brown c. R. Pryar p. D. Brooks 1st b. H. Brooks ss. G. Pryar 1b., B. Hearns cf.,Donohue 3rd b, Laverty rf., Urman lf.

Umpires — Plate P. Boston, bases F. Mayhew.

Wrote His Own Death Notice

Windsor, Aug. 20—(CP)— Rev. Frank Alfred Crighton, 54, minister of Westminister United Church, died Sunday after a long illness.

Aware of his impending death, Mr. Crighton had written his own death notice for a Windsor newspaper.

He served during the years as Protestant chaplain at St. Luke's road barracks here.

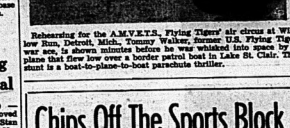
They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

What looks like the baseball epic of the season thus far should be that Peterboro Ezra-Belleville Juniors will stage at the Alemite Field here on Wednesday afternoon. The game starts at 4 o'clock and in view of the Elwards being pocketed and the bleachers overflowing.



It is the second game of the two-of-three series in the first round OBA junior playdowns, and with both teams going all out — Belleville to win the series in two straight and the Petes to even matters and force a third bout. The baseball faithful should be as neat a package as has been dished up to them this year.

Speedy St. Louis' kids realize that there is a very close call in Peterboro on Saturday, and every member clouted the game away by costly errors. They are ready to show the fans that the bobbles just happened and like good little boys will see that it doesn't happen again.

The Royals coach Loucka, however, is the optimist that his charges can get back that game with a vengeance. He will toss a left-hander against the Elwards gang while Coach St. Louis will assign Bobby Bonton to the mound.

Tickets for the game went on sale today and indications point to a good turnout. As an added attraction to the fans the team manager Jack McVeigh announces that there will be two drawn during the game. One will be for a handmade quilt donated through the courtesy of Quick and Robertson and a pair of wrlens, donated by McNabbs Limited.

Holders of the lucky tickets do not have to be in attendance to win the prizes. The gamebooths are being set up at the Alemite Field as we write. Manager Jack McVeigh announces there will be two bonfires on the way down that tough championship secretary treasurer Stafford McKenna or members of the Juvenile Junior Baseball Club. So buy a ticket and help the kids bring back that championship bacon.

President Don Thomas of the Belleville Baseball League announced today that the game between Elwanis Juniors and RCAF schedules for tonight has been postponed due to the play-down game on Wednesday and in its place the battle between SWACO and RCAF will take place. Game starts at 6:30 at the Alemite Field. SWACOS are riding high, having won their last three starts and wins under their belts and if they can knock off the Elwood Mathews game tonight, they hop one more game into the win slot over the Bata Shoemen. Looks like it might be a neat bit of baseballing.

Manager Don Barrett of the Bandstand Junior's softball squad has arranged an exhibition tilt with the six-time champion SACO squad tomorrow night at the Fair Grounds. It should be a tasty dessert for the Kiwanis-Peterborough "C" softball circuit. The game will start at 6.15 or thereabouts and should be worth seeing.

Both squads are seated on the well-known fence awaiting their chances at the playdown opposition, SACOS will meet the winner of the DVA-Canoe clubs in the playoff equable now going on in Kingston. By the way, the DVA'ers dusted the Legion by a lopsided score Saturday night and might now be top of the squad to battle in the playdowns. But yuh never can tell.

Goodman Juniors are resting their softball muscles and lying in wait for the winners of the Oshawa-Peterborough Junior A contest. Oshawa or Peterborough will send their sheriff here in the first round first game on August 30 and here's the time I've a team to sit idle.

Mountain View softball squad took the measure of the Lakefield Juniors in the "Spanish Town" on Saturday gloaming by a 10-8 count. The fine game of the first round Intermediate "C" playdowns. The squads go back at it again tonight at the station diamond, so we are informed, and it looks as though the air boys are in. If however, the Imperials win tonight's tussle the teams fight the third battle in Picton on Thursday. Mountain Junior fans paid admission to see the Saturday night tilt in Picton and that's just an ordinary crowd. Over there if they have less than 900 paid customers they send someone downtown to see where the fire is.

FERRY HITS DOCK

Toronto, Aug. 20 — (CP)—An estimated 30 persons suffered minor injuries Sunday night when the Toronto Transportation Commission ferry John Inglis struck a dock at the foot of Bay Street.

Police and T.T.C. officials said the collision was caused by failure of the boat's engines to go into reverse. They said damage to the ferry and the dock was slight.

About 150 passengers were aboard the John Inglis at the time.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

England's eleven was almost being outclassed yesterday as the second day closed in the test match at the Oval, London, with the Indian Tourists, the home side being 236 runs behind. The English cricketers were all out early for three wickets against India's first-innings total of 331 to which a certain amount of fleeting fame when the front office announced the loss of a strapping pedometer to his hind leg now far be traveled in a practice session for purposes of publicity.

The gadget showed be went past the five-mile mark; but some experts have scoffed at the figure as rather excessive.

That point is unimportant, but what seems more serious is the storm, though all possibility of pedometers might be used to check up on players to see if they are slacking on the job and not giving the boss the required amount of trotting.

If such a practice might have interesting angles at that. We wonder what Billy Conn's pedometer or speedometer would have read by the time Joe Louis clicked the stop watch on him.

Who Doctors Doc?

It wasn't exactly a case of biting the hand, but there's a medical man who isn't too happy about the way he was treated at the Toronto Glider - Montreal Carnival soccer game here Saturday. Doc was handling not a bit of first aid to a character who had the wind knocked out of him when a joker on the sidelines booted the ball back on the field with win and vigor. Doc says he got the full force on the logical spot as he was leaning over, and promptly plumped to the ground minus some wind himself.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Maybe there's nothing sadder or more pathetic about it, but it's our opinion the brethren of the athletic fields should be on their guard against infiltration by the pedometer column.

Les McCance of Montreal Alouettes' shiny new football apparatus recorded a certain amount of fleeting fame when the front office announced the loss of a strapping a pedometer to his hind leg now far be traveled in a practice session for purposes of publicity.

The gadget showed be went past the five-mile mark; but some experts have scoffed at the figure as rather excessive.

That point is unimportant, but what seems more serious is the storm, though all possibility of pedometers might be used to check up on players to see if they are

Cleaning the Cuff

Pete Cawthon, who scouted players for the Detroit Lions all winter, figures there's about a half dozen good ones including Camp Wilson, ex-Tube fullback and Tennessee's Bobby Cifers... The New York Knickerbockers of the new pro basketball league are going to run a fall training camp, an innovation in that business.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 20 — (AP) — American track officials who have been dickering to get some United States college team to make a tour to Melbourne in the near future or so, are likely to make Louisiana State and coach Bernie Moore their No. 1 selection... For the first time since the war, Cornell's football team will hold "daily double" sessions when drills begin Sept. 2 That isn't surprising when Coach McCaver discovered there was poison in the Ivy League last fall.

His Lucas Good

A Roanoke, Va., baseball fan, Lawrence Lucas, became famous recently because his home town wasn't hitting enough home runs for him... Lucas' Red Sox have blasted only five all season:... Instead of just cussing the management, Lucas took things into his own hands and offered one dollar a homer to the man socking them in the home park... In the past two days, 13 games, the Red Sox connected for 10 homers, which gave Mr. Lucas the thrills he wanted but cost him $250.

Noise About Joyce

The A.A.U. has a strange way to think when you're out of the swim if you go in for a drink.

JUNIOR O.B.A. PLAYDOWNS
AT ALEMITE FIELD ON WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21st
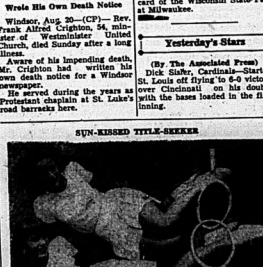
at 4.00 P.M.
PETERBOROUGH ROYALS vs. KIWANIS JUNIORS
Belleville won first game in Peterborough and are out to repeat done. Splendid game is assured.
Admission: 35 cents. Children 10 cents.
ADMISSION TICKETS ON SALE AT WEEKLY STORE; BILL COOK'S CIGAR STORE; BILL JACKET (courtesy JACKSON and ROBERTSON); LARRY NYLONS (courtesy McNABB'S.)

WRESTLING
HUME ARENA
FRIDAY, AUGUST 23rd
MAIN BOUT
TOAR MORGAN vs KARL DAVIS
FRANKIE TAYLOR vs. WARREN BOCKWINKKLE
JAN GOTCH vs. PAT FLANNAGAN
DOORS OPEN 8.00 P.M. BOUTS AT 8.45 P.M.
Popular Prices Tickets, Cook's Tobacco Sho

SUN-KISSED TITLE-SEEKER



Relaxing gracefully on the greensward during a rest period in their practicing are Jerry Jackson, LEFT, of San Diego, Calif., and Nancy Chaffee, of Ventura, Calif., both of whom are 17 years old and candidates for honours in the girls' U.S. national junior tennis championships.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Dick Siefer, Cardinals—Started St. Louis off right by 6-0 victory over Cincinnati on his double with the bases loaded in the first inning.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kindness

Mrs. Second Hand Low is a sweet character. Her lovable nature matches her goodness. She is the real Miss Asherton. Does her heart beat? Aid she belongs to the weekly bridge club.

Here is where the girls talk over their community problems. This is where they discuss details of the monthly church dinner and social. And who is to bake and cook and bring what.

Among them they spend $38.35 of their own money for foodstuffs. They put in $185 worth of generous time and liberal effort. For weeks they sell tickets at 25 cents a head. And take in $7.25 to turn over to the church.

Years ago she was told to play second hand low. From that day to this, she smiles that modberty, friendly smile of hers and does it.

Come rain, come shine, come headaches; she does it.

Look at the diamonds spread over the four hands in this deal.

North
♠ J 3

West — East
♠ Q 9 7 5 — ♠ 10 8 6 4

South
♠ A K 2

You are declarer. In the south at a contract of three no-trump. In order to make your contract, you need three diamond tricks. It looks hopeless with the dummy cards and your own.

If you lead any diamond from dummy, you can expect to take no more than two tricks. Even if you stood on your head. You see that.

Nonchalantly, as if you didn't have a care in the world, lead diamond deuce from your south hand. Even if she stops to consider, Mrs. S. H. L. will assume her partner has the king or ace.

So, she will play from west a small second hand low. Win it in dummy with your Jack and later take two more with your ace and king.

The sweet thing will look at your deadly and advise: "Oh, you should always lead king when you have ace and king together!" Don't you dare say anything but "Yes, dear. Thank you."

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 30 (AP)—You'd think after all these years Shirley Temple would be able to handle any movie scene. But no—she finds making love difficult.

"I can't see what people think when they make love on the screen," Shirley (now 14) said, blushing through her makeup.

"My kind of acting is to pretend that everything in a film plot is real. And to do that in a love scene with anybody but Jack is—well—sort of embarrassing."

The shock she speaks of is her husband, John Agar. There is a good possibility that Shirley will some day be able to make movies love with confidence. Her boss, David Selznick also has John under contract and the couple may be co-starred.

"That would be swell," she said, "because he's the only leading man I'd feel at ease kissing."

"What, No Mickey Mouse?"

This familiar cry may be heard increasingly in the future, now that short subjects are facing a crisis. With costs up and rentals almost the same, producers are pondering how much longer they can make shorts at a profit.

Pete Smith, the droll voice of MGM shorts, comes to the fore to defend the art form. Said he: "It is the most underestimated and the most underpaid phase of the industry."

Pete said theatre managers should realize the value of "selling" the new of them. Instead of a "B" picture, the program would be shortened, providing a quicker turnover and more change keeps the box office.

Now that Bing Crosby has signed his radio deal, the trade is talking about the many deals the group has offered. One company offered $1,000,000 as a gift, if he'd work for them. He wouldn't . . . as if he isn't making enough. Bing also rented his tennis court for scenes in "The Emperor Waltz."

AT THE CAPITOL — Warren William uses some strenuous hypnotic stuff on Jean Lydon in "Strange Illusion," in which they are co-starred, at the Capitol Theatre tonight. On the same program, "Why Girls Leave Home," starring Lola Lane.

AT THE McCARTHY — Brian Donlevy and Susan Hayward, stars of Walter Wanger's Technicolor production "Canyon Passage," held over for two extra days at the McCarthy Theatre.

Lovely Margaret Henry, popular CBC songstress, will be with Norman Harris and his King Edward Hotel orchestra, of Toronto, when they make a personal appearance at the Trenton R.C.A.F. Station, the night of August 31. The event will play for the dance in connection with the 13th. Annual Field Day.

AT THE McCARTHY — Brian Donlevy and Susan Hayward, stars of Walter Wanger's Technicolor production "Canyon Passage," held over for two extra days at the McCarthy Theatre.

LISTEN
TONIGHT
to
THE BATEMAN MOTOR HOUR
A PROGRAM OF FINE MUSIC.
8.00 to 8.30 P.M.
ABB-47c

She's Chatty! She's Fun! It's that fascinating CLAIRE WALLACE on the air again for ROBIN HOOD FLOUR
-bringing you scoops and news a-plenty in her own friendly happy way about your enterprising friends, neighbors and fellow Canadians.
beginning MONDAY AUG 29 C.B.L. 1.30 P.M.
Trans-Canada Network Coast-to-coast every Monday Wednesday, Friday

CJBQ
"The Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

CJBQ (1230 k)

TUESDAY
4.15 p.m.—Tea Time Topics
4.30 —Hits of the Day and Week
5.00 —Dinner Hour Music
5.30 —3-2-1 Club
6.00 —Supper Hour Dance Time
6.45 —Program Review
7.00 —Hits of the Day
7.05 —Table for Two
7.15 —Melody Time
7.30 —Rhythm Ranch Riders
8.00 —Behind the News
8.15 —Sports Roundup
8.30 —Behind the News
8.45 —Who's Who in Music?
9.00 —In the Spotlight.
9.15 —Intermission
9.30 —Bateman Motor Hour
10.00 —News
10.40 —Report from Parliament Hill
11.00 —Late Evening Melodies
2.05 —Junior Board of Trade
2.30 —Dance Time
3.00 —Touring the Clubs
3.30 —Dance Music
10.45 —Reverie

WEDNESDAY
7.00 a.m.—Overnight News
7.05 —Up With the Sun
7.30 —Early Bird Time
8.00 —Farm Fair
8.15 —Interval
8.15 —Sunset Valley
8.30 —Morning Devotions
8.45 —Morning Meeting
9.00 —Melodies of the Wildwood
9.30 —Music for Shopping
9.45 —On the Mall
10.00 —Going to Town
10.30 a.m.—News
10.45 —Women's Magazine of the Air
11.00 a.m.—Betty and Bob
11.15 a.m.—Melody Time
11.30 a.m.—The Walts Lives On 11.45 a.m.—Music Appreciation
11.30 a.m.—Novatime
12.00 noon—Tena Lopez
12.15 noon—Five Minute Mysteries
12.30 p.m.—Noon Day Melodies
1.00 —Melody Moods Baker
1.30 —News
1.45 —Interval
2.00 —Market Quotations
2.30 —Radio Variety Time
3.00 —Dream Time
3.30 —Matinee for Women
4.00 —Dance Time
4.30 —Melody Strings
5.00 —Dinner Hour
5.30 —Supper Hour Dance
6.00 —Baseball: Almeta
6.45 —Melody Memory Time
7.00 —Program Review
7.15 —Hits of the Day
7.30 —Behind the News
8.15 —Sports Review
8.30 —Rhythm Ranch Riders
8.45 —The King's Men
9.00 —Behind the News
9.15 —Behind the News
9.30 —Who's Who in Music?
9.45 —In the Spotlight
10.00 —Intermission
10.15 —Report from Parliament Hill
10.30 —News
10.45 —Ireland and his Out-
11.00 —National Council Y.P.U.
11.30 —Evening Melodies
12.30 —News
12.45 —Reverie

Network Programs

TUESDAY EVENING

—4.30 p.m.
WEND—Sports; 4:35—Sport
WJR—Sports
WEND—4:45—Frontier of Science
—5.00 p.m.
CFRB—Jim Hunter, news
—5.15 p.m.
CFRB—Wee McKnight on Sports
—5.30 p.m.
WGR-CKLC—News Till Now
WEND-WBEN—Dinner Hour
WEND-WBC—Lowell Thomas
—5.45 p.m.
CFRB—Day is Done
—7.00 p.m.
WGR-CKLC—Lone Greene
WEND-NBC—Supper Club
—7.15 p.m.
WEND-NBC—John W. Vandercook
CFRB—Gaylord Show
—7.30 p.m.
CFRB—Join 'n Abner
WEND-CBS—American Melodies
CHL—Prelude to Evening
CFRB—Dinner Hour
WEND—Buffalo Univ. Round Table
—11.30 p.m.
WEND-NBC—Margaret Whiting
CFRB—Bing Crosby
—11.45 p.m.
CBL—Ragtime Octette

Diplomats Look To Marshal Tito For Explanation

By GEORGE PALMER

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 29 (AP)—Diplomats looked to Marshal Tito himself today for an explanation of an eye-witness account describing how a large transport—believed to be a missing American C-47 plane — was shot down in flames by two Yugoslav fighter planes over the Julian Alps yesterday.

In Washington, the United States Department announced the state of near war between American and Yugoslav troops at Trieste, accused Yugoslav forces of making illegal forays into the American occupation zone and of unprovoked attacks on American soldiers.

The British foreign office in London said that it had protested in the strongest terms against invasion of the Allied zone and attacks on British and American troops.

The transport was the second United States craft reported missing over Yugoslavia this month, on the Vienna-to Udine, Italy, run of the European air transport service. The other, also a C-47, was forced to land under gunfire Aug. 8.

The eyewitness, whose reliability is unquestioned, said the two fighters closed in on the transport yesterday morning southwest of Klagenfurt, Austria, 16 miles north of the Yugoslav border.

This dispatch did not state whether the attack occured over Australian or Yugoslav territory. The area is near the new Yugoslavia-Austria border in the region where Yugoslavia juts northward to join Italy and Austria.

The witness said the transport was seen to "sputter done and go in a column of black smoke," and that at least two persons parachuted.

The area is approximately 25 miles from the place where the other American C-47 was forced down by gunfire, 5 days ago. One passenger of that transport was seriously wounded.

It was indicated here that the Yugoslav Foreign Office might make a statement during the day on the machine gunning of the plane forced down Aug. 9. Foreign circles said it was plausible —some circles said it was inevitable—that Premier-Marshal Tito would attempt either to explain or apologize for the activities of his fighter pilots.

Union Employees Of Oshawa Firm Out on Strike

Oshawa, Aug. 20 (CP)— Union employees of Duplate (Canada) Ltd., a plastics manufacturing firm, went on strike at 7 a.m. today in support of wage-hour demands. The workers are members of Local 222, United Automobile Workers of America (C. I. O.)

Three unionists set up picket lines in front of three main gates and the other entrances to the plant, which employs between 100 and 150 persons. One line was made up of girls and another of pickets marched slowly in small circles.

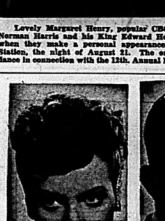
Union demands included union shop and check-off, reduction of the work week from 48 to 40 hours with no decrease in take-home pay, an hourly boost of 12 a day and two weeks' vacation with pay.

The company offered a reduction in the work week from 48 to 45 hours with a 10-per-cent increase in the basic wage rate, one week's holiday at two per cent of the annual earnings for employees with one to five years' service. Workers with service of five years or more would receive holiday pay of four per cent of their annual earnings with up to two weeks vacation at the discretion of the company.

Pickets allowed employees of the Associated Company of Fibreglas (Canada) Ltd. to go into their plant but union men said the union would meet the company concerning the Fibreglas workers later in the day. Foremen were permitted to enter the Duplate plant "to check up" but it was expected they would come out.

1946 Fall Fair Dates

Demorestville	Sept. 4
Picton	Sept. 30-21
Napanee	Sept. 6-8
Napanee	Sept. 16-17-18
Bellevill	Sept. 23-24
Campbellford	Sept. 8-9
Centreville	Sept. 10-11
Denbigh	Sept. 12
Kingston	Sept. 26-28
Lindsay	Sept. 11-14
Mohawk (Deseronto)	Sept. 18
Norwood	Sept. 12-13
Shannonville	Sept. 13-14
Stella	Sept. 19
Tweed	Sept. 18-19
Tweed	Sept. 17-18
Madoc	Oct. 1-2



AT THE BELLE — Lovely Maureen O'Hara plays her first musical role in "Do You Love Me", the new 20th. Century-Fox Technicolor musical romance featuring Harry James and Dick Haymes. Closing at the Belle Theatre tonight.

Maritime Union Lessens Demand For Work Week

Detroit, Aug. 20 — (AP) —The National Maritime Union (C.I.O.) today was waiting for a reply from Philip Murray on whether his C.I.O. steelworkers will support the Great Lakes shipping strike of United States seamen.

With the walkout in its sixth day, here was the situation:

The 40-hour week was the longer the battle-cry of the strike, for the union has formally proposed a regular week of 44 hours with overtime pay after that.

More negotiations were in prospect between the strikers and two shipping companies.

The Lake Carriers' Association said at Cleveland that 86 per cent of its fleet of 316 freighters was still moving on the lakes, with 44 ships strike-bound.

The family argument between C.I.O. sailors and steelworkers went on. Yesterday the N. M. U. protested to Mr. Murray, who is president of both the steelworkers and the C.I.O., that steelworkers were hurting the strike by loading and unloading iron ore vessels.

While Mr. Murray pondered a reply, N.M.U. officials told reporters at Cleveland that steelworkers bite unloading 9,000 tons of iron ore last night from the steamship, Joliet, of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company.

Yesterday's negotiations with two companies produced no agreement but they seemed to indicate one thing:

The week-end finally agreed upon — when and if — probably won't be less than 44 hours nor more than 48. It's now 56.

Hot, Dry Weather Hampers Pastures, Delays Late Crops

Toronto, Aug. 20—(CP)— Hot Condition of late crops for the permitted rapid progress in grain harvesting but seriously hampered the growth of pastures, potatoes and other late crops in Ontario, the department of Agriculture said in it's monthly crop report.

Harvesting of spring grains started "Exceptionally early" this year and now is almost completed in southern, western and central Ontario. In Northern Ontario the harvest has just begun. Condition of late crops varies throughout the province. Roots, potatoes and buckwheat are reported to be "Below normal" in the dry sections of the province. But in parts of southwestern Ontario these crops and beans, soy beans and corn —show good prospects.

Additional rainfall is badly needed in many counties.

Condition of late crops for the province as a whole are reported by the department as follows: Buckwheat, 68 per cent of normal; Potatoes, 92 per cent; Roots, 92 per cent; Corn for husking, 91 per cent; Corn for fodder, 91 per cent; Soy beans, 96 per cent; Dry beans, 94 per cent.

Pasture conditions are worse in Eastern Ontario, where a rudimentary feeding of dairy cows has become a necessity on many farms. Milk flow has fallen sharply and cheese production is expected to continue to be decreased.

TODAY — WED.

Complete Shows 7.15 - 8.40

2 FIRST RUN HITS

HIT NO. 2 LOLA LANE

LAUGHING LOVER! SINISTER SLAYER!

"STRANGE ILLUSION"

JAMES LYDON — SALLY EILERS — WARREN WILLIAM

STARTS THURSDAY
WHO IS THE KING OF THE COWBOYS?
ROY ROGERS
"SONG OF ARIZONA"
GENE AUTRY
"GUNS AND GUITARS"

CAPITOL

PLAYING
ALL THIS WEEK
QUEEN CITY SHOWS
CARNIVAL
C.P.R. Station Grounds
NEW AND THRILLING RIDES
• MERRY-GO-ROUND • FERRIS WHEEL
• AUTO CARS • RIDEE'O • SKYRIDE
• AEROPLANES • KIDDIE RIDES
• ROLOPLANE • SPEEDWAY
Special Prices for Children Wednesday and Saturday Afternoon
ADMISSION FREE
COME AND ENJOY YOURSELF

Yes, We're holding it!
CANYON PASSAGE
in TECHNICOLOR
DANA ANDREWS SUSAN HAYWARD
BRIAN DONLEVY Patricia ROC
TODAY WED. & THURS.
COMFORTABLY COOL
McCarthy

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

DO YOU LOVE ME? — Maureen O'Hara, Dick Haymes, Harry James — 2.55 — 7.25 — 9.45

McCARTHY — CANYON PASSAGE — Dana Andrews, Susan Hayward, in Technicolor

CAPITOL — WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME — Lola Lane — 7.35 — 10.30 — STRANGE ILLUSION — James Lydon — 8.40

THE SCREEN'S FULL OF STARS WITH THEIR ARMS FULL OF LOVE!
ANN SHERIDAN, DENNIS MORGAN, JACK CARSON, ALBERT SMITH, JANE WYMAN
ONE MORE TOMORROW
DO YOU WANT ONE MORE TOMORROW OR IMMEDIATELY?
IT'S THE CARESSIN' AND CAROUSIN' WARNER SPECIAL!

TOMORROW BELLE
DAILY 2.30; 7.00; 9.15
A FAMOUS PLAYERS THEATRE
LAST TIME TODAY—
TUNEFUL ROMANTIC MUSICAL
MAUREEN O'HARA
DICK HAYMES
"DO YOU LOVE ME?"
(in TECHNICOLOR)

MARK TRAIL — By Ed Dodd

BRINGING UP FATHER — By George McManus

LIL' ABNER — Love's Labor Lost — By Al Capp

POP — Lasting Impression — By J. Millar Watt

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

By Frank Robbins

BLONDIE — On a Limb — By Chic Young

IRWIN COULD CARE FOR YOUR HORSES
BAH! HE'D SCRUB, AN' SCARE 'EM!
IRWIN HUMPH! SOME PATIENTS COULD BE AS ALLERGIC TO CROONERS!
IRWIN COULD WORK IN YOUR PET SHOP
PHOOEY! ALL THE PARROTS'D BE PINK! EATIN' HIS CROONS!
WELL, THERE'S A PLACE WHERE A CROONER COULDN'T ANNOY ANYBODY!
CRASH!
CRASH!
CRASH

TO LET

THREE ROOMS AND TWO ROOMS, newly furnished. Phone 3267W1. A18-3

BOATS, OVERNIGHT COTTAGES, Beach Lots, one mile from town. A18-3t

3 ROOMS, STM CON, THURLOW, 1st floor, modern, no bath, no children, references need apply. Phone 1196 Belleville. A17-3t

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

OPTOMETRISTS

NORMAN E. EDWARDS, R.O.
G. S. WONNACOTT, R.O.
OPTOMETRISTS
257 FRONT ST. PHONE 1167W
OFFICE HOURS—9.30 to 12 3.30.1 to 5
WEDNESDAYS 9.30 to 12 noon
Closed for Summer

CONTRACTOR

FRED ELGIE
BONDED BUILT-UP ROOFING
CONTRACTOR
Residential, Commercial
BELLEVILLE — 2469

OLD TAVERN BAR-B-Q
Highway 2, Belleville
Open every day and evening. Welcome Chas. and Evelyn Pauli, to our friends from Brock.

MEDICAL

DR. LILY B. MATHIESON
200 PALMER STREET
Phone 262 BELLEVILLE
OFFICE HOURS:
2.30 to 3.30 p.m.
7.30 to 8.30 p.m.
Or by Appointment
WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY
2.30 p.m. to 11.30 a.m.
Evening hours confined to children.

ACCOUNTANTS

VIOLETTE and SAUNDERCOM
General Accounting Service
Income Tax
Trenton Bldg., Belleville Dial 9726
KINGSTON

A. M. RICHARDS & CO.
Public Accountant
Phone 2226 229 Front Street
BELLEVILLE

DAVID STONE & CO.
PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
Royal Bank Building
BRIDGE BLDG. — 202 FRONT ST.
Phone 2-2-2

W. S. STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT
202 PINNACLE STREET
(Bridge Building)
Telephone 269

PHILLIPS M. TILL
Certified Public Accountant
Bridge Building
Office Ave., BELLEVILLE
Phone 2226

MILLER & STONE
CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS
Bridge Bldg. 202 Pinnacle St. W
Phone 1191 Belleville
Phone AD-321

CHIROPRACTOR

WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist. Office and residence, 144 Dundas St., Belleville. Phone 1167W. Consultation, manipulative surgery and drugless therapy. Office hours, 2 to 5 p.m. and by appointment.

INSURANCE

Thought of fire loss hurt it to think about it? Then see SANDY BURROWS and HOWARD FROST FIRE AND FIRE INSURANCE Front St. Phone 889

HALL & EARLE
RESIDENT and PLATE GLASS Insurance. Phone 2-2-2. Belleville. FRONT ST. PHONE 1167W

LOST

BELLEVILLE, ON SATURDAY, Tuesday dog, answers to "Pat". Finder please notify Annie Moore, or phone Queen 2-3. Reward. A20-3t

RED-TWO YEARLING HEIFERS, Reg. John Wright's property. One white heifer and one red heifer with white star in front of left ear. Any person finding same please notify Mrs. R. R. 2, Stirling. A18-3t

BUSINESS LINERS

TO RENT—Store for sale with living quarters. Apply to J. GOODMAN (Realtor) — Associate Member of Real Estate Board of Real Estate Association of Real Estate Boards of Ontario, Inc. 189 Front St., City Hall. Phone 89—Night Phone 2—. A20-3t

AUCTION SALE

Auction Sale of Household Furniture, Antiques, Etc. at the West Bridge Street at Moira, Belleville, Ont., on Wednesday, August 21st, 1946, at 2 p.m. sharp. Small tables, electric plate, bedroom suites, 4 bedroom suites, 4 bedroom suites, 4 bedroom suites, wicker suite, lawn furniture and many other articles. NORMAN MONTGOMERY, Auctioneer Belleville, Phone 3178

NOTHING TO FIND

Shipping, Aug. 20 —(CP)— Full of little surprises, Parker of Winnipeg reShe locked up her ed July 1 and went on a Where she returned found three new ile tires under her bed.

WANTED

TO RENT — 3 OR 4 ROOM APARTment or house, by reliable party. Apply Box 30, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3

IMMEDIATELY, 1 OR 4 ROOM APARTment, small house or flat, furnished or unfurnished. Apply Box 29, Ontario Intelligencer, stating address, with and without bathroom, or Phone 2-2-2 Belleville, ask for Mr. Edwards. A20-3t

WANTED TO RENT—SMALL FURNISHED bungalow or house, for permanent tenant. Phone Trenton, Fy. 7-1. A20-3t

TO RENT OR BUY — UNFURNISHED house, Belleville or Trenton. Phone Trenton, 964. A20-3t

3 ROOM APARTMENT, TRENTON, to trade for one in Belleville. Apply Box 44, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

WILL INVEST ONE OR TWO THOUsand dollars at active partner in established business. Apply Box 43, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

TO RENT — SMALL FURNISHED bungalow or house, for permanent tenant. Phone Trenton, 964. A20-3t

TO RENT OR BUY — UNFURNISHED house, Belleville or Trenton. Phone Trenton, 964. A20-3t

3 ROOM APARTMENT, TRENTON, to trade for one in Belleville. Apply Box 44, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

WILL INVEST ONE OR TWO THOUsand dollars at active partner in established business. Apply Box 43, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

WANTED TO RENT — 3 OR 4 ROOM apartment or house, by reliable party. Apply Box 29, Ontario Intelligencer, stating address, with and without bathroom, or Phone 2-2-2 Belleville, ask for Mr. Edwards. A20-3t

YOUNG MAN, 17 OR 18 OF GOOD appearance, wanted at once to learn printing trade. Apply Weekly Intelligencer, Trenton. A20-3t

'36-'39 MODEL CAR IN GOOD CONdition, cheap. Phone 2152-J. A20-3t

WANTED TO RENT — SMALL FURnished bungalow or house, for permanent tenant. Phone Trenton, 964. A20-3t

WANTED TO RENT — SMALL FURnished bungalow or house, for permanent tenant. Phone Trenton, 964. A20-3t

WANTED TO RENT — SMALL FURnished bungalow or house, for permanent tenant. Phone Trenton, 964. A20-3t

WANTED

BY YOUNG BUSINESS GIRL, ROOM and board, preferably in East End. Write Box 31, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

CLERK FOR GROCERY STORE, GOOD —17 or over. Write in own handwriting to Box 38, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

FOR SALE

ONE 200 LITRE ELECTRIC FRYAC-ity, good condition. Apply at Grant Bros. Ltd., Belleville. A20-3t

BABY CLEAN MILKING MACHINE, double bucket, as good as new. Apply Box 37, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

USED UNDERWOOD TYPEWRITER, in good condition. Apply Box 36, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

TO RENT — SMALL FURNISHED bungalow or house, for permanent tenant. Phone Trenton, 964. A20-3t

TO RENT OR BUY — UNFURNISHED house, Belleville or Trenton. Phone Trenton, 964. A20-3t

3 ROOM APARTMENT, TRENTON, to trade for one in Belleville. Apply Box 44, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

WILL INVEST ONE OR TWO THOUsand dollars at active partner in established business. Apply Box 43, Ontario Intelligencer. A20-3t

WANTED TO RENT — 3 OR 4 ROOM apartment or house, by reliable party. Apply Box 29, Ontario Intelligencer, stating address, with and without bathroom, or Phone 2-2-2 Belleville, ask for Mr. Edwards. A20-3t

LIVING ROOM RUG, 9 x 9½, GOOD condition; sanitary ice box, 50 lbs. Cunningham, 23 Holloway St. A20-3t

COOK STOVE, QUEEBC HEATER with reservoir, 40 gal. tank, 2 bedsteads, 10 wash. Apply R. Donaldson, Box 32, Foxboro. A20-3t

MARLIN POCKETKNIFE, CHARLOTTE Street corner of Washington, Belleville. Finder please return to Intelligencer. A20-3t

SEMI-DETACHED 7 ROOMS, BATH, separate entrances, vacant October 1. Hot air furnace. Can be seen at 75 Dundas. Dwelling with little change. House is insulated and has aluminum storm windows and work shop. This is a good proposition for a tradesman. Apply Intelligencer, Trenton. A20-3t

FIVE LOTS, 99' x 197', on FOXBORO highway. Apply A. H. Wynne, R.R. 3, Belleville. A20-3t

ELECTRIC RANGE, 4 PLATES, OVEN and warming shelf, good condition. Also wood; one international gas engine, 6 h.p. Lot, Lingham, R.R. 2, Stirling. Starting St., afternoon or evening. A20-3t

FLAT HOUSE, 7 x 9 x 8. PHONE 2917-J. A20-3t

LARGE QUEEN CIRCULATOR; double bed, springs and dresser. Apply 30 Bridge St. E. A20-3t

'39 CHEVROLET COUPE, SPECIAL deluxe, 1939 motor, $175. Don Woodhouse, Phone 1793. A20-3t

ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER PAPER for sale. A20-3t

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC WASher, rapid, good as new. Phone 2-2-2. A20-3t

FULL SIZE BED, SPRINGS, MATtress; one dresser, 3 arm chairs; all reasonable. Phone 2-2-2 Belleville. A20-3t

1931 HUDSON SEDEX, SERIAL 128287, selling $250, will sell for less. Frank Wright, Phone 2187W, Belleville. A20-3t

MANY C.C.M. BICYCLE, EXCELLENT condition, laundry tubs. Phone 388-M. A20-3t

SILVER FLATWARE — SPOONS, forks, knives, etc. Adam and Alexander. Phone 2-2-2 Belleville. A20-3t

ONE SMALL WOOD LATHE, MOtor, tools, complete. Phone 2-2-2. A20-3t

BLUE GO-CART, IN GOOD CONDition. Phone 200-J. A20-3t

3 BURNER GAS PLATE, PERFECT 1374. A20

'31 PONTIAC SEDAN, SERIAL NO. 1819852. Calling price $375. Apply 2 Bridge St. E. Phone 2-2-2 Belleville. Ask for Jones or Mr. Sills. A20-3t

SIX BROOD SOWS, DUE BETWEEN September 10th and 20th, also one Yorkshire hog. Apply to Mrs. Mary Cooke, 2nd property, R.R. 2, Belleville. A20-3t

BLACK PRAM, CRIB AND MATtress. 443-W. A20

FROST STEEL WELL RIG, 4 TIERS of 2" casing, 1 of 1½", 1 of 1¼", 1 of 1", 1 of 3/4", 1 of 5/8", 1 of 1/2". Bruce Brooks, R.R. 2, Frost Mills, Madoc. A20-3t

STOVE, BEACH COMPANION, WOOD, coal, combination. Apply Dominion Bowley, Trenton, 800-J-12. A18-3t

CABINET STYLE VICTROLA; RIS-ing C.C.M. bicycle. In good condition, $25. Apply 119 Church. A18-3t

MOTOR BOAT, 18½ FEET LONG, 6 foot beam. Phone 3553-J. A18-3t

BABY'S STEEL CRIB WITH SPRING mattress. Phone 200-W. A18-3t

McCLARY FURNACETTE, LARGE size, in A1 condition. Apply 30 Cleveland St. A18-3t

WINTERIZED CABIN TRAILER, Apply 179 Mary St. A18-3t

1 MATCHED TEAM, GREY PERCHeron mares, 6 yrs., 1600, 1 matched team, black percherons mare, 5 yrs., 1600, harness, 1 set single, 1 set team harness, 1 springer Holstein cow, 5 yrs., due Sept. 1st, 1 Holstein cow, 5 yrs., due Oct. 1st. Thompson, Cow, R. Belleville. Phone Ilitrd. A18-3t

QUANTITY OF HARD AND SOFT wood. Phone 1232 or 1233 R. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn. A18-3t

MOTORCYCLE, "HARLEY - DAVIDson," 1942, Model "U". Apply Ted Saunders, c/o Smith Transport. A18

LADY'S BLACK WINTER COAT, silver fox collar, size 16. Phone 1083-J. A18-3t

SAXAPHONE, "CONN" E FLAT alto, gold lacquered. Perfect condition. Phone 2-2-2. A17-3t

M-50 "NEW FAVORITE THRESHER". Apply to Ernest Outwater, Canning, R.R. 2, Telephone 117, Ivanhoe. A17-3t

PERCHERON MARE, CHOICE 7yr three, 2 to 5 yrs old. Apply Jos. Dent, Coryville. A17-3t

MAN'S C.C.M. BICYCLE, BUP TENT, portable oil kitchen table, 2 folding curtain cranes. Phone 30. A17-3t

PERSONAL

STOP SMOKING! BE 12 weeks $5, at all DRUGGISTS A2

SECURITY MARKETS

Quotations furnished by BIGGAR & CRAWFORD
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Belleville Office — Phone 2140 and 2161

QUOTATIONS AT 1.00 MINES

Amer 400
Bankfield 18
Beattie 17
Bidgood 34 1/2
Bralorne 12
Brealam 42
Buffalo Ank. 4.02
Calgary and Ed. 1.32
Can. Malar. 77
Central Pat. 2.24
Chesterville 3.10
Dome 21 1/8
East Mal. 1.31
Falconbridge 8.05
Francoeur 4.03
Gillies L. 1.23
Hardrock 23
Hinis Oil 39.03
Hollinger 1.13
Howey 3.23
Hudson Bay 43 1/4.3
Jason 23
Kerr Add. 13 1/3
Kirk Lake 1.15
Lake Shore 15 1/2
Leitch 1.35.3
Little L. 1.30	3.06
Macassa 3.60
McIntyre 3.53
McLeod 1.39
McMillan 23
Mining Corp. 3.40
Monets 80
Obalski 3.03
Omega 34
Paymaster 80
Pamour 1.38
Perron 1.30.3
Pend. Oreille 3.03.3
Pickle Crow 3.00.3
Pioneer 80
Powell 7.43
Prestonl E. D. 3.02
Royalite 17 1-3.3
San Antonio 4.55
Sherritt G. 3.85
Sicoe 7.93
Slaites 42	43
Sullivan 1.97
Sleep Rock 2.65
Sylvanite 2.70
W. Hughes 3.00
Ventures 1.1
W. Amulet 4.30
Wr. Hargreaves 4.30
U. Canada 2.36
Malartic 1.55
Madsen 3.15
Noranda 58

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 3.06
B. A. Oil 27 1-4
Brewing Corp. 23
Brss. Trac. 23 1/2-3/4
Can Cement 2.23
Can Ind. Alcohol 21.3
C.P.R. 13 3-4.3
Canada Car 1.31
Cockshutt Plow 18.3
Con Smelting 94 1-3
Dominion Foundries 26 1-4.3
Dominion Stores 26.3
Fanny Farmer 16 1-4
Ford "A" 24 1-4
Gypsum 16 7-8
Imp. Oil 13 7-8
Int. Nickel 36 1-4.3
Inter Pet 17 1-3
Imp. Tobacco 14 1-3
Loblaw 34
Massey Harris 17 1-2
McColl Frontenac 22 7-4.3
Power Corp 13 1-4.3
Steel of Canada 84.3
Walker's 153
Walker's Pfd. 3010.3
C.P.A. 20
Mar'n Leaf 14 1-3.3

NEW YORK

General Motors 83 3-4
U.S. Steel 59 3-4

HOGS

Toronto, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Grade A, dressed, bacon hogs were unchanged at Brantford at $21 plus transportation, in market reporting early this morning.

May Use Mine Detectors to Find Automatic Pistol

London, Aug. 20. (CP Cable)—Slides were flashed on motion picture screen in Scotland Yard on Sydney Silverstein's case last night asking that two girls, believed to have been out with them, be Canadian soldiers Saturday night, come forward to help police in the investigation of the slaying of Leonard Warren the crime night.

Canadian Provost authorities said there still is no foundation for the belief that Canadians were involved in the death of the office clerk other than a statement by a woman who lives near the spot where the body was found. She said she had seen three soldiers running near the scene of the crime.

"At that time of night how can anyone say that a soldier is British, Polish or Canadian unless one had a good look and heard him speak?" a Provost officer asked.

However, Canadian Special Investigation Service personnel have begun a roundup of all men absent without leave to check on their whereabouts when the crime was committed.

Detectives are considering using mine detectors in their search for a small, Belgian-type automatic used in the killing and possibly thrown into the underbrush in the park where the body was found. Another theory that the weapon may have been thrown into the Thames at Kew Bridge will be tested with an electromagnet.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Aug. 20 (CP)—The gold and western oil issues posted small gains during early trading today, on the exchange and the industrials and base metals were mixed moderately. The general price tone improved in the early afternoon, however, as a number of medium-priced golds. Volume was up to the week's level of 247,000 shares for the first three hours.

The Larder Lake stocks were leaders in the action. Amalgamated-Larder touched 25 and was holding a gain of 15 cents at 1.70 in the third hour of trading. Chesterville was up 25 cents to 3.30.

Mining Corporation gained 12 cents and Sleep Rock added a few cents.

The weak tone in the industrial section affected mainly the food, liquor, utility and steel issues.

British-Dominion was a feature of the western oil list, trading in heavy volume on a gain of 5 cents to 37.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, Aug. 20 — (AP) — Selected stocks crawled into the recovery area today but many market issues continued the dull play notable rising apathy. Dealings picked up at times after the opening. Slowdowns were plentiful. Advances or declines to a point or so predominated near the fourth hour.

The Canadian group, Malartyre was up 1/2. Distillers Seagrams eased 1/3 with other issues holding unchanged.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

Montreal, Aug. 20.— (CP) — Quality was mostly plain and prices about steady to 25 cents lower at Livestock Markets here today.

Receipts: Cattle 51, calves 134, hogs 40 and sheep and lambs 370.

The few steers offered were mostly of medium to good quality and sold for $9-$12. Heifers $9.50-$11.50. Good cows made $8.50-$10, mediums $8.50-$9.25, and commoners $7-$8.25. Canners and cutters were 50 cents lower at $6 and $7.25 up and bologna bulls $7 and more.

Vealers were $13-$14.50 with a few a shade higher. Canner and cutter drinkers sold in mixed lots were $7-$10.

Most lambs exchanged at $16.50 with some at $16. Sheep made $8-$7.50.

Grade A hogs were $21 and sows $18 dressed.

DEATH SENTENCE APPROVED

Sapporo, Japan, Aug. (AP) — Death sentences imposed on Pte. Gerald N. Mucller, 30, Leavenworth, N. J., and Cpl. Marion R. Brown, 19, of Danville, Ala., convicted by court martial of kidnapping and raping a Japanese girl, were approved today by Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Swing of the United States 11th Airborne Division.

WANAMAKER'S GARAGE
Prompt repairs to all makes
ACETYLENE WELDING
Guaranteed Workmanship
47 PINNACLE ST.
(In Sherry's "Old" Building)

TRENTON TRAILERS REG'D
TRAILERS MADE TO ORDER
Cabin Trailers in Bow Trailers.
Bayside - Trenton —800J13

RAWLEIGH PRODUCTS
MR. O. COLES
223½ FRONT ST. APT. 5
PHONE 2218W

An experienced Gestetner mimeographist is trying to take complete charge of your duplicating and addressing. Send address to THE JAMES TEETZ LIMITED Mechanical Publishers 179-181 Front St. Phone 888

801
DIAMOND TAXI CO.
Mike's 195 LaMorte's 460

World Shortage of Eight Million Metric Tons Bread Cereals Foreseen

Geneva Park Lake Couchiching, Ont., Aug. 20 (CP)—A possible world shortage of 8,000,000 metric tons of bread cereals for the winter of 1946-47 was foreseen in an address prepared for delivery here today by George R. Stevenson, Canadian member on the International Emergency Food Council's Central Committee.

Mr. Stevenson, director of agricultural affairs to the Canadian Embassy in Washington, D.C., said the United States Office of Public Affairs that even if this shortage does not occur, requirements to bring many people to pre-war dietary levels will not be fulfilled.

Mr. Peterson estimated the defined areas would require, in the 1946-47 season, 30,000,000 metric tons of bread grains.

"This vast amount, even if it could be made available and financed, would still leave unsatisfied the requirements needed to return many people to the pre-war dietary level," he said.

The important point was that important food items will also continue to remain incapable of fulfilment during this period — cereals, fats, sugar and dairy products."

Mr. Peterson said the estimates of the shortage "must not be based on pre-war consumption because a vast section of the population lived on a semi-starvation level.

"An attempt to measure the food needs of the people of the world must be approached from the point of view which comes closest to reality and which combines the factors of custom, dynamics and nutrition in the light of sober judgment," he said.

Admits Dropping Arsenic in Well To Make Wife Sick

Holly Springs, Miss., Aug. 20 (AP)—J. B. Wooten, 50-year-old Negro farm worker who admitted dropping arsenic in a well near here "just to make his wife sick" is being held in jail today in connection with at least four deaths in the community, Sheriff Lawrence Tucker reported.

Tucker said at least 20 other persons had become seriously ill after the well water, poisoned early in June and that 15 to 18 were still under treatment.

The sheriff said Wooten, in a written statement, admitted he dropped arsenic in the well 10 miles south of here early in June, hoping his estranged wife would get ill and allow him to come to see her.

The well was used by three large Negro families, Tucker said. Six members of the families died in June and more than 20 others become violently ill.

The officer said bodies of the dead would be exhumed today for autopsies.

Executed for Torturing
Paris, Aug. 20 — (Reuters) — For torturing Marcelle Bidault, sister-of-deputy Georges Bidault, French president and foreign minister, during the German occupation of France, Jean Lemassin, a member of the French Gestapo, was executed by a firing squad today, with six other members of the organization. At the trial in June it was stated that her torturers hit Mlle. Bidault with a blackjack and put pins in her in an attempt to obtain information on the underground movement.

BIGGAR & CRAWFORD
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
50 KING ST. EAST, TORONTO
BELLEVILLE BRANCH:
33 BRIDGE ST. EAST - PHONE 3160
R. S. CRAWFORD, Manager
DIRECT PRIVATE WIRE TO TORONTO

USED TRUCK TIRES FOR SALE
Sizes: 34 x 7; 825 x 20; 900 x 20.
BILL DELINE
FIRESTONE
285 Coleman St. Phone 338
J30eTuFri

RADIO SERVICE
AND
REPAIRS TO ALL ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES
PHONE 1181
VAN DUSEN BROS. LIMITED
Home Appliance Store

A SCIENTIFIC AND PROFESSIONAL OPTICAL SERVICE
by
OUR REGISTERED OPTOMETRIST
LEWIS OPTICAL COMPANY
280 Front St. BELLEVILLE Phone 1406
J5-S-S-T-Th-tf

NOW IS THE TIME
To check your insurance, residence, contents, auto, accident.
We cover you for fire, windstorm, water leakage etc., all in one policy. Let us explain it.
Residence Contents Fire Insurance
Jamieson Bone & Co.
157 Front Street

When it's BEST to BORROW be BUDGET and BELLEVILLE WISE, Your BEST BET
BELLVUE FINANCE CORPORATION
LIMITED
230½ FRONT STREET
(Quick and Robertson Bldg.)
9 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. Daily except Saturday. Wednesday 9 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.
Phone 427 Res. 2614-J
WILLIS JACKSON, Manager.

AUTO LOANS AT CAMPBELL'S
Are the fastest, simplest way to get ready cash in a hurry. Campbell Finance will not ask Loan Specialists. Owner's signature you can get from $20 to $1,000 quickly and in a friendly, private interview arrange convenient repayment terms. There are many plans to choose from and all are explained to you in accordance with Ontario Finance Act regulations. Life Insurance at no extra cost. For 19 years this Belleville company has given sound and helpful loans to over 30,000 satisfied customers.
CAMPBELL
FINANCE CORPORATION LIMITED
34 BRIDGE ST., EAST
Phone 2219
TED TURRINGTON, Branch Mgr.

FOR RENT
Fully equipped spacious garage, good location, on highway. Application must be filed before September, 1946. Write Box 2, Ontario Intelligencer.
A17-6t

WE HAVE THE LATEST EQUIPMENT FOR Sanding and Finishing Hardwood Floors
CALL
HAZZARD and ELLARBY
(VETERANS)
97 CATHARINE STREET
Phone 1250-M for Estimates
A19-3t

RENTAL BATTERIES
150 OF THEM.
We cannot afford a fast charger, therefore we have to charge in the only method used in our shop.
Fred's Battery Shop
140 FRONT STREET
Phone 109
J24-1m

A-N-T-I-Q-U-E-S
BOUGHT and SOLD
L. G. ROBILLARD
46 QUEEN STREET
PHONE 258-M
A14-6t

FOR Car Ceiling Information
PHONE 716
J17tf

CLARE'S TAXI
24 HOUR SERVICE
PHONE 196
A3-1m

MONEY TO LOAN
On First Mortgages, City Property and Farms
INTEREST 5%
BELLEVILLE INSURANCE AGENCIES LIMITED
Dominion Bank Bldg. Phone 2077
A9-1m

HEARING AID BATTERIES
For All Types of Hearing Aids
STOCK ALWAYS FRESH HITCHON
RADIO SERVICE
339 FRONT ST. PHONE 854

TORNADO DAMAGES BUSINESS SECTION, INJURES 25 IN MINNESOTA

Every business building in the town of Wells, Minn., was damaged by a tornado. ABOVE is the main street of the town. At RIGHT can be seen the remains of an apartment damaged by the twister. The number of persons injured was placed at 25.

STEAMER WRECKS SCHOONER

Owner Walter Telfer (left) inspects damage done his Nova Scotia auxiliary schooner Streamline by SS Dalhousie City (right) Saturday at foot of York St. Sailing craft's berth is shown in foreground. He and his passengers escaped unhurt; approximately five feet was sheared off schooner's bow.

MARMORA

Dr. H. V. Pitcher Enters Practice In Village

Marmora—Dr. H. V. Pitcher has joined Dr. Hamilton Crawford, as assistant in his medical practice here. Dr. Pitcher is a graduate of Queen's University and served four years with the Royal Canadian Airforce medical corps during the war, where he gained much valuable experience. His home was formerly in Belleville, where he is held in high regard by a large circle of friends.

Dr. Crawford and Pitcher are also opening an office in Springbrook.

Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Margaret McAvoy quietly celebrated her 91st birthday on Thursday, August 15th. Born in Madoc Township, her maiden name was Margaret Laffin. For the past forty-seven years she has resided on the farm in Marmora Township, now owned by her son James McAvoy. She is held in high regard by a large circle of friends, who wish her many happy returns. Mrs. Rose Maloney of Marmora and Mrs. Hugh Maloney of Marmora, Township are daughters.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. T. Tisdale of Toronto spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Armstrong of Cleveland, Ohio, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shannon.

Miss Janie Wyllie of Peterborough spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Rayman Gray of Niagara Falls, are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. H. M. Gabs of Glen Ridge N J., and Mrs. H. Smeaton of Toronto were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Pearce.

Mrs. James McManus of Syracuse, N. Y., and her sister, Mrs. S. B. Cheeseman, of Ottawa are visiting relatives here.

Mr. Ed. Wood and Mr: S. Kyles of St. Catharines were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scott.

Dr. B. R. Burwash, Mrs. Burwash and daughter of Saskatoon, Sask., are visiting the former's brother, Mr. H. A. Burwash and Mrs. Burwash at Crowe Lake

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nakkula and son Tom of Dearborn, Mich., are spending a week at the Royal Hotel and renewing acquaintances in Marmora and Deloro.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Mumby and son Alan of Deloro and Mr. and Mrs. Carnrike, Canseon, have returned from a motor trip through western Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Quakenbush of Havelock spent last week with relatives here.

The chest clinic completed its work in Marmora Town Hall on Thursday evening having x-rayed approximately 220 persons.

The committee assisting were: Mrs. C. Crawford, Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. W. Lavender, Mrs. W. M. Regan, Mrs. Thomas Dickson and Mrs. A. M. Jones.

Veteran Confesses To Sex Slaying Of Two Youths

Vancouver, Aug. 20 — (CP) — Police in Vancouver and Calgary prepared to press two murder charges against Donald Sherman Staley, 30-year-old war veteran, now a prisoner in the Lethbridge, Alta., provincial jail.

He is accused of the slaying of two boys — 11-year-old Garry Billings of Vancouver, and six-year-old Dennis Goss of Calgary. Both were crimes of a sex-pervert.

Staley, a five-year Canadian army veteran, is said by police to have confessed both crimes.

Nineteen days after his death, July 5, the body of Garry Billings was found in a shallow, log covered grave on Second Beach in Stanley Park. He was nearly nude and he is believed to have been beaten to death.

The Calgary boy was stabbed to death and his body found 36 hours after he disappeared July 23 while at play in St. George's Island Park.

Police here started a hunt for a soldier after a companion of young Billings told them that the Vancouver boy had a date with a soldier at the beach July 5. They had met one day before and he treated them to ice cream and peanuts.

Staley was arrested in Calgary Aug. 13 for a $671 safe robbery, convicted and sentenced to one year in jail.

He was discharged from the army at Little Mountain barracks here June 24, and was believed to have arrived in Calgary around July 22.

Textile Workers Reject Proposals To Settle Strike

Valleyfield, Que., Aug. 20 — (CP) — It was just another Monday morning — and the 80th day of their marathon strike — to the 3,000-odd employees of Montreal Cottons Limited, following Sunday night's rejection by the United Textile Workers of America (A.F.L.) of the latest strike settlement proposals set forth by Antonio Barrette, Provincial Minister of Labor.

The Labor Minister urged Friday that the workers be back on the job Monday morning, and within two weeks time above Dominion Textiles will conduct a secret ballot among employees to ascertain which union they prefer as bargaining agents. The choice would presumably be between the United Textile Workers or an independent union. Jos. Textile director of the union, said that the U.T.W.A. was recognized as bargaining agent by the Federal Government.

In a series of counter-proposals Mr. Rowley proposed that an agreement be drawn up similar to the strike settlement: late last month at the Montreal plants of the parent firm, the Dominion Textile Company Ltd., which allowed wage increases of from seven to 11 cents an hour, and that a 50-hour week be granted, of which the last five would be a time-and-a-half basis.

Three Million Bushels of Wheat Dumped on Ground

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 20 (AP) —Three million bushels of wheat in the Pacific northwest, left begging for storage space because of an unprecedented crop and a shortage of railroad cars, are being piled in great mounds on the ground at the mercy of the weather, a survey disclosed.

In the Big Bed country and other eastern Washington areas where the harvest is bearing its finish, railroad sources said 2,-00,000 bushels of grain have been spilled out in the open near elevators during their rush of way alone Willard N. Crawford, Portland, Ore., field secretary of the Pacific Northwest Crop Improvement Association, said that more big mounds will be added as the harvest in the Palouse district of Idaho and Washington, now about half completed, nears its end.

Rains, if they came before the grain could be moved, would cause a varying amount of loss. The wheat forms a protective coat as a result of any moisture and when piles are properly cooled, only the crust is lost, elevator operators said. However, on smaller mounds the loss will be proportionately greater.

One reason for the storage problem was the bumper crop. The Washington State Production and Marketing Administration estimated it will total at least one-fourth more than the previous record crop of 1944.

Railroad officials reported that sustained warm weather this summer brought on the harvest of spring and winter wheat at nearly the same time, throwing a heavy burden on their overtaxed facilities.

Verdict Given In Two Deaths

Marmora — At the inquest held at Marmora Town Hall on Wednesday afternoon to inquire into the circumstances of the deaths of the late Edward Flynn and George Rice, the following verdict was returned.

That Edward Flynn died at the village of Marmora in the county of Hastings on the 27th day of July, 1946 and George Rice died in an ambulance while proceeding to the village of Marmora to the city of Belleville both deaths being the result of personal injuries sustained when a motorcycle driven by George Rice, upon which Edward Flynn was a passenger collided with a motor car driven by Gilbert Steenburgh on Highway No. 7 in the village of Marmora in the County of Hastings.

Dr. S. Eagleson of Madoc presided at the inquest with Crown Attorney R. C. Donnan conducting the investigation.

The jury was composed of Vincent Lynch, foreman, William M. Regan, Gordon Jarvis, William Shannon and Donald Robertson.

Evidence was given by Dr. H. Crawford, Provincial Constable C. Hatch, F. R. Wells, James A. Rice, Jack Williams and Vernon Morgan of Toronto, (friends of the two men) and Gilbert Steenburgh.

SMUTS REACHES PARIS

Paris, Aug. 20.—(AP)— Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts veteran of the Versailles peace conference, arrived Monday to head South Africa's delegation to the present conference.

Eire News Letter

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Dublin, Aug. 20 (CP)—A greater incentive to Irishmen to join their own army and marine service is provided in a new scale of pay and allowances effective in September.

Everyone from the lowliest recruit to a Lieutenant-General benefits. An unmarried recruit will get £2 13s ($10.60) a week instead of £2 4s. While a Lieutenant-General's annual pay will be increased from £1,000 to £1,500.

To encourage men in the ranks to take technical training, new classifications are being drawn up. Recruits, after preliminary training, will be posted to a unit either as line soldiers or technicians, with the latter getting a few shillings a week extra.

Even a line soldier will have a chance of bettering his income. Starting as a "one-star" private he can work up to "three-star" grade, when he becomes eligible for promotion to corporal. A "two-star" corporal 's in line for elevation to sergeant.

Soldiers on retired pay also are likely to benefit if recommendations for larger pensions are approved. The new scale will cost the government £420,000 a year.

Ships wanted: The Irish government, anxious to build up its merchant marine, is seeking everywhere for new ships, so far without much luck.

Two 7,500-ton cargo ships with passenger accommodation, which will be used on the North Atlantic run, are being built at South Shields, Durham, England, and will be completed by the end of 1947, but many yards, including those of Harland and Wolff at Belfast, are so busy they refuse to accept orders.

Offers of ships have been received from Canada, the United States and European countries but have been turned down, chiefly because delivery could not be made before 1949.

Outlook good: Irish farmers can look forward to good conditions says D. Twomey, secretary of the Department of Agriculture.

"As far as one can see, the future of farming in this country is exceptionally bright, and, so far as we can grow more crops, and produce more and more livestock and livestock products, there is going to be continued prosperity for the farming industry," he told a meeting of the Young Farmers' Club.

BLACKHEADS

Get rid of them at once, regardless of how deep-set they are or how long you've had them. Herbicide on a hot, wet cloth soon makes blackheads ripe. Soap and water will easily be followed. The sun and wind heal will be dissolved. The sun and wind and simple way to remove blackheads.

"SALADA" TEA
Outstanding Quality

D'J'EVER?

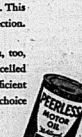
DAWES BLACK HORSE BREWERY

"It's Alloyed" Means LONGER MOTOR LIFE

THAT'S exactly why Peerless Motor Oil, since "It's Alloyed", is more than a GOOD lubricant. It's the BEST!

Developed after intensive war research, this remarkable "alloying" process builds up the resistance of this superior lubricant to heat and pressure. This means it stays oil longer, giving extra protection.

For better performance at lower cost, you, too, should switch to Peerless Motor Oil. Unexcelled products, together with the friendly, efficient service of your B-A dealer, makes B-A the first choice with most motorists.



"It's Alloyed"
THAT'S WHY PEERLESS STAYS OIL LONGER

THE BRITISH AMERICAN OIL COMPANY LIMITED

Probabilities
Lake Ontario Region: Clear. Thunderstorms spread locally by or a few hours during the afternoon. Slightly warmer. Low 58, high 78.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	73	55
Year Ago	82	63

Weather—Fair.

Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 21, 1946

3c Per Copy. 18c Per Week

TITO DEFENDS ACTION IN PLANE INCIDENTS

U.S. Opposes Russian Demands on Dardanelles

Note Says Turkey Should Continue To Control Straits

Three of Russ Proposals Approved by Americans

By ALEX. H. SINGLETON

Washington, Aug. 21. (AP)—In an historic claim to direct interest in Black Sea affairs, the United States today expressed its opposition to Russian demands for a share in military control of the Dardanelles.

An American note to Russia—drafted after consultation with Britain and France—is the first that sent relations between the United States and countries within the Soviet orbit to a post-war low.

The other was the United States' protest to Yugoslavia over the "outrageous performance" of Yugoslav fighter planes which attacked and forced down American transport plane to make a crash landing. Premier Tito asserted that his country wants peace "but not at any price."

Bearing the signature of Dean Acheson, under-secretary of state, the Dardanelles note expressed the "firm opinion of this government that Turkey should continue to be primarily responsible for the defence of the Straits."

It noted that the Russian proposal contained no reference to the United Nations, a reminder that an international organization has been set up to handle all such problems.

Saying that the United States "government holds that the 'regime of the Straits' is a matter of concern not only to the Black Sea powers, but also to other powers, including the United States," the government cannot, therefore, agree with the Soviet view that the establishment of the regime of the Straits should come under the competence of the Black Sea Powers to the exclusion of other powers.

The note, however, did set its seal of "general agreement" on three of the Soviet proposals, namely:

1. "The Straits should be always open to the passage of merchant ships of all countries.

2. "The Straits should be always open to the passage of warships of Black Sea powers except as permitted or required by exceptions provided for.

Mr. Acheson handed the note to Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian Charge D'Affaires in Washington Monday, but no comment was not disclosed officially until 1 p.m. E.D.T. today.

Copies were sent to Britain, France, Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia, and Romania who were, along with Japan, signatories to the Montreux convention under which the Straits are controlled.

NOTE SAYS—Page 11 col. 6

SWEDEN, ICELAND, AFGHANISTAN FOR U.N. MEMBERSHIP

Poland Challenges Bid by Transjordan as Being Premature

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

Lake Success, N.Y., Aug. 21 (AP)—Sweden, Iceland and Afghanistan passed muster for membership in the United Nations in a screening report handed today to the security council.

The report carried the elements for favorable action when the council over the disposal of six other would-be members:

Albania—Sponsored by Russia, opposed by the United States and Britain.

Outer Mongolia—Sponsored by Russia, opposed by China.

Siam—Opposed by France and Russia.

Portugal, Ireland and Transjordan opposed by Russia.

In a strongly-worded argument before the prolonged final session of the council's membership committee here last night, Chairman Jerzy Michalowski of Russian-backed Poland challenged Transjordan's membership bid as premature.

Mr. Michalowski declared there is a close relation between Transjordan and Palestine, which were under a combined British mandate until the Hashemite kingdom was set up earlier this year, and said:

"Incidentally, I would like to add that there must be some connection, as yesterday's newspapers published news that troops of the Hashemite Kingdom of Transjordan were pouring into Palestine and were already in the streets of Jerusalem."

Poland's contention that Transjordan seems a fit candidate for trusteeship rather than membership had been sharply challenged on Monday by British representative Victor Cavendish-Bentinck.

Russian representative Alexei Kisselyov also gave his endorsement to Sweden and Iceland "with reasure" after having previously approved only Afghanistan.

The three countries alone are unopposed on all of the seven applicants the security council will pass upon with the vote probably held by each of the big five. Final approval is up to the general assembly.

ABANDON MEMORIAL

Trowbridge, England. (CP)—Because people here "seem to want to forget the horrors and the sacrifices made" Trowbridge's War Memorial scheme, an extended services club—has been abandoned.

Espionage Investigation Intended To Distract Canadians Says Ehrenburg

By ROBERT JAMES

Moscow, Aug. 21 (AP)—Ilya Ehrenburg, writing in Izvestia, said today that Canada's investigation of a Soviet espionage ring was intended to distract the average Canadian from his real difficulties; the increasing cost of living, strikes, and unemployment.

"Canada is now in the front line of the anti-Soviet campaign and it remains for me to explain to this audience why and no kind of honorable place," Ehrenburg said in an article telling of his recent visit to Canada.

"The extent of Canada's dependence on both New York and London was strikingly felt there," he said. "Everywhere the Americans understood that dollars were more in place here in the field, and Canada became a field of battle between English and American capital. It is difficult to state whose power here is more perceptible—the power of Great Britain or Wall Street."

Commenting on Canada's dual languages, Ehrenburg wrote:

"This is why the big shops, hotels and restaurants English is spoken and by the language of the bourgeoisie. French — these are the workers and the poor farmers."

He said the people of Toronto and Montreal met him hospitably but that he could not say the same about newspapermen.

"If we did not answer their questions," they cried: 'You are not able to express your opinion, that we were 'slaves'," Ehrenburg said.

REDUCE PICKET LINE AT STEEL PLANT TO TEN

Will Call on Outside Help if Unable To Enforce Law Say Hamilton Police

Hamilton, Aug. 21 — (CP) — At the request of police who said they would "have to call on outside help" if they were unable to enforce the law, the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) today reduced their picket line at the Steel Company of Canada from an estimated 600 men to 10.

Picket captains opened the line to permit about 100 persons to enter and leave the plant during the morning.

Deputy Chief Constable A. J. Chamberlain told the captains: "I am asking you to reduce this to only 10 men . . . we have been instructed to enforce the law and if we can't do it we will have to call on outside help. If you cooperate with us we will treat you with the utmost fairness."

He told the captains: "Don't talk to them — instruct them (the pickets). We have plenty of men ready to come down here if necessary."

Ten men were chosen and the rest of the crowd grouped on both sides of the plant gate.

Later a union official told strikers in the driving of several trucks had refused to cross the line. His announcement was greeted with cheers.

The same official warned: "We will get into trouble by trying to hinder the men going into the plant. We are not trying to enter."

The picket line was opened yesterday for the first time since the strike started July 15.

The Stelco plant had been operating at partial capacity, with the assistance of 2,500 workers back on the job, since the strike began but a handful reported weekly work of $33.60 and a 40-hour week. But papers published here that troops of the Hashemite Kingdom of Transjordan were pouring into Palestine and were already in the streets of Jerusalem."

Mr. Michalowski declared that Transjordan seems a fit candidate for trusteeship rather than membership had been sharply challenged on Monday by British representative Victor Cavendish-Bentinck.

Russian representative Alexei Kisselyov also gave his endorsement to Sweden and Iceland "with pleasure" after having previously approved only Afghanistan.

The three countries alone are unopposed on all of the seven applicants the security council will pass upon with the vote probably held by each of the big five. Final approval is up to the general assembly.

Setting off the blast that almost cost him his life, Premier Drew is shown here as he pushed the plunger to send a shower of rocks 400 feet into the air at Red Lake, where he visited a construction camp. A 15-pound rock thrown up by blast missed the Premier by only 30 inches.

Barkway Man is Killed In Vain Attempt to Save Wife as House Burns

Gravenhurst, Aug. 21 (CP) — Arthur Tyson, 56, was killed early today in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue his sleeping wife when fire razed their home at Barkway, 13 miles east of here. His 71-year-old grandson Garnet LeMay was rescued by his father who sprinted a quarter of a mile to the burning building to waken the boy.

The boy had been spending the night with his grandparents and uncle to celebrate his grandmother's 68th birthday, his father Maurice LeMay — saw the glow of the fire and roused to the house. LeMay fought his way through the smoke and brought the boy out of the house, then went back in to waken Mr. and Mrs. Tyson.

Mrs. Lemay said her husband was unable to mount the stairs because of the heat.

"When the front of the house collapsed we could see my father lying at the foot of mother's bed," she said. "I think he must have been dead then. Mother was in bed.

"About three o'clock the whole house collapsed and an hour later when the last of the flames died down we were able to get father's bodies. Both were badly burned."

Mrs. Lemay said she thought that her father could have escaped from the house if he had tried to save his wife. For some time he had been sleeping downstairs while his wife had occupied an upstairs bedroom.

Cause of the fire was undetermined. All the occupants of the house had gone to bed approximately an hour before the fire started; no stoves or lamps were burning.

Photo Finish In Lacrosse Loop

Toronto, Aug. 21 (CP)—Three days and five games from the end of the regular season, the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior league is set for photo-finishes for first and third places.

Minico Mountaineers and St. Catharines Athletics are tied for top position, each with 23 victories, five losses and one tie. Hamilton Tigers, now third, have won 17 and lost 11 but Owen Sound is only two points behind with 16 triumphs and 12 defeats. St. Kits and Minico meet tonight in a game which should break the first-place tie but each team has another game Saturday. Barrie and Brampton, in fifth and sixth places respectively, will make the playoffs but are not expected to prove serious rivals for the high-flying top four clubs. Barrie, with only two victories in 28 games, brings up the rear.

C.N.R. REVENUE LOWER

Montreal, Aug. 21— (CP) — Canadian National Railways today announced net revenue of $5,-510,000 for the month of July, a decrease of $3,966,000 or 39.2 per cent for the like month last year. During the first seven months of the current year operating revenues totalled $210,602,000 a decline of $33,113,000.

Two Men Injured, Gas Pump Broken As Cars Collide

Hamilton, Aug. 21 — (CP) — Two men were seriously injured, their automobiles badly damaged and a gasoline pump smashed in a head-on highway collision on the nearby Stoney Creek today.

Lewis Puddicombe, 21, of Winona, Ont. suffered knee and arm injuries and driver Ellis condition is described as fairly good. Reginald Fevez, 38, of Stoney Creek, suffered a possible concussion, lacerations and a chest injury. Hospital attendants said his condition was fair.

Police said Fevez was thrown from his car. The Puddicombe car careened across the highway, struck the pump and stopped at a door of a service station.

FRAISE STRENGTH UP 15.5 PER CENT

Paris, Aug. 21 — (AP)—British circles at the Paris Peace Conference praised today what they described as the "strength" of the United States note to Russia on the Dardanelles.

These sources indicated that in the present dispute Britain would much prefer to "take a back seat" and let the United States lead opposition to the Russian demands.

LABOR SITUATION FULLY DISCUSSED IN PARLIAMENT

Members Agree in Need For Action to Improve Relations Between Employers, Employees

By JACK WILLIAMS

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 21 — (CP)—The Commons, scanning Canada's turbulent industrial situation, yesterday found agreement in the need for action to improve relationship between Canadian workers and employers.

The labor situation was discussed when the report of the Industrial Relations Committee came before the House for consideration. The report last week called for dress debate which brought enormous warnings from a group of Progressive Conservative members of the danger of Communist elements going from emotional unrest.

Reconstruction Minister Howe sounded the most optimistic note of the day when he expressed belief that the present wave of strikes — which involve some 50,-000 workers, was nearing an end. He said they had reached a point where their effect would be felt throughout the country and in industries where there was no dispute.

"It seems to me that a situation can get so bad that it becomes impossible, and I believe this situation has reached that point," he said. "I believe that these strikes are going to be settled where they will either solve themselves or be capable of solution."

A majority of the speakers supported the general thrust of the committee's report which made proposals for a national labor code and other steps toward improvement of industrial relations. Only point on which there was definite disagreement was the suggestion that a labor minister should be empowered to conduct strike vote in a dispute after before or after a stoppage had taken place.

LABOR SITUATION—Page 4

Three Men Charged With Drowning Widow

Macon, Mo., Aug. 21 — (AP)—Three men were charged in this city today with first degree murder in connection with the drowning of a 73-year-old blind widow who, officers say, had given one of them $1,000 in cash in exchange for a promise she would be cared for as long as she lived by him and his family.

Prosecutor Hall Edward Hulsebosch, 36, had confessed in a signed statement that he and Lester Turner commitment: "A year and a half ago they welcomed our planes now they shoot them down." said a The Yugoslav note, which terminated Monday's incident — "a deplorable accident," made no reference to the United States report plane downed Aug. 9 nor to the seven occupants of that plane now held at Belgrade.

DECLARES—Page 2

Prime Minister King Views Bunker Where Hitler and Companions Died

By ROSS MUNRO

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Berlin, Aug. 21 (CP)—Prime Minister King today began a tour of Berlin ruins, including the Reichschancellery and where Adolf Hitler died, Prime Minister Mackenzie King today received an account of German problems and outlook for the future from the highest representatives of British France and the United States.

He received these views at a private luncheon attended by Marshal of the R.A.F. Sir Sholto Douglas, Gen Lucius Clay of the United States and Gen. Noiret Murphy France.

A highlight of a morning of sightseeing in the city was a visit to the wrecked Hindenburg Palace where in 1937 Mr. King had a 1-1-2 hour interview with Hitler and Foreign Minister Von Neurath. At that time, Mr. King and the other Dominions would enter immediately on Britain's side.

The Canadian Prime Minister today recalled the details of that interview and pointed out where it took place.

Earlier he walked through the smashed wilds of the Reichschancellery and went downstairs to Hitler's bunker in the garden, where he inspected the control and no longer is open to the public, but special permission was granted by the British for Mr. King's visit. Two Red Army gunners followed the party with curiosity.

In the dank depths of the bunker Mr. King looked around at the wreckage and said: "It is an extraordinarily appropriate place for the Nazi leaders to meet, indeed. With the mentality of rats and vermin they came back into this hole to die."

Declares Country Intends to Insist Upon Sovereignty

Yugoslavia Wants Peace But Not Peace at Any Price

By GEORGE PALMER

Belgrade, Aug. 21 (AP)—Marshal Tito, in a speech published today, stoutly defended Yugoslavia's course in which two American transport planes have been brought down in 10 days, declared the country intends to insist upon its sovereignty and shouted that Yugoslavia wanted peace "but not peace at any price."

"We have come to realize," Tito said, "that certain countries which during this war of liberation marched together with us do not wish a peace of liberation but an imperialistic peace."

Saying he had witnessed the downing of one of the unarmed American transport planes, Tito denied the craft was lost in the clouds as was fired upon after it landed. He admitted, however, that an American plane had been forced to land. Previous eyewitnesses and official American accounts said the first plane strayed over Yugoslav territory from its course on a flight from Vienna, Austria, to Udine, Italy, Aug. 9 and was forced to land after Yugoslav fighter planes wounded one of the passengers.

Witnesses One Incident

Although Tito mentioned witnessing only one incident and did not mention the date, he was believed to have seen both. The second involved an aircraft brought down Aug. 10 near Bled.

Tito said Bled Aug. 10.

The Yugoslav Foreign Ministry in a note acknowledged last night that Yugoslav fighter planes attacked the transport and set it crashing, probably with some fatalities aboard.

Tito spoke before iron factory workers yesterday at Jesenice, near Bled. He charged that almost every day brought "incessant new violations of our frontiers and territory."

"Now, I repeat," he said, "that almost every day not only civilian but military planes flew over our frontiers, even civil ply planes alone, but even whole concentrations."

Tito added that "certain Allied circles do not observe or professed principles of their care for the independence of small nations, and do not wish to see the allied country such as Yugoslavia."

"There can be no question today of two fronts; western and eastern, western democracy, eastern countries," he said. "No, the question today is one of true and false democracy." Tito denote dispatched by the Ministry said that the United States Ambassador Richard C. Patterson, — ter comment: "A year and a half ago they welcomed our planes now they shoot them down."

ALL MEATS IN U.S. GO BACK UNDER O.P.A. CEILINGS

Dairy Products Free But If Prices Jump Controls Will Go Back

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—Pork chops, bedsteaks, hamburger and all other meats in the United States are going back under Office of Price Administration ceilings "at or close" to June 30 prices.

Milk, butter, cheese and all other dairy products remain free of ceilings, but controls will be slapped back on if prices of those items jump further.

These main decisions announced by the Price Decontrol Board last night prompted widely varying reactions.

The meat industry spoke of dangers that black markets might spring up again and that the public would find less meat to buy.

And the C.I.O. cost of living committee said consumers face a keep daily products free of controls "will bring greater inflation to the American people."

On other points in its first decision the Decontrol Board:

1. Ruled against restoring ceilings on nearly all grains.

2. Authorized livestock and meat ceilings to be paid again, at June 29 rates.

3. Order price controls restored on soybeans and cotton seed products, including salad and cooking oils.

On flaxseed and by-product grains used in the case of meats, soybeans and cotton seed products, the Board said it had discussed the matter "carefully" because it had found that Prices had risen "unreasonably" above June 30 ceilings; supply was scarce, and prices regulation was practicable, enforceable and in the public interest.

The board said it had decided ceilings are unnecessary on any other grains because "Supply will be adequate, when crops are harvested, to meet anticipated demand" and "prices are expected to level off at ceiling levels."

Smuts Welcomed At Paris Parleys, Was at Versailles

Paris, Aug. 21. (Reuters) — Field Marshal Jan Smuts, prime minister of South Africa, took his seat at the Peace Conference today and thus became the only statesman to attend the representatives of the 21 countries who was also at the Versailles peacemaking after the First Great War.

Wearing uniform and escorted by Sir Alan Cobham, British air liaison, deputy leader of the South African delegation, the 76-year-old field marshal was warmly greeted and received a salute as he made his way down the aisle of the conference chamber at Luxembourg palace.

MORE OUT AT G.M.C.

Oshawa, Aug. 21 — (CP) — General Motors of Canada yesterday announced approximately 1,800 employees or of the plant here have been laid off this week as a result of shortages of materials. R. B. Reddock Industrial Relations manager of the company, said "This is just a start" and that other departments probably would be laid off progressively as they catch up with the tailend of present production.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Aug. 21—(CP)—Synopsis at 7:30 a.m. — Cool air of Polar origin now covers most of the eastern half of the area and southeastern United States is becoming more settled. The cool air and somewhat drier air that Ontario and Canada from the polar has now moved over most of Ontario and through western Quebec with rain ending in the leading edge. The widely scattered showers that occurred Tuesday mostly disappeared but a few showers are expected in southwestern Ontario Wednesday afternoon as the colder air continues to settle down. Temperatures are expected to continue several degrees below normal Wednesday as today becoming slightly warmer Thursday.

City and District News

AGED SIDNEY MAN MISSING FROM HOME

Jack Sargent, R.R. 2, Belleville reported to police on Tuesday that his father, Sidney, 75, was missing from his home. The old-timer was last seen wearing a light shape and left his home early Tuesday morning. He is one of the neighborhood to Sidney township is being conducted.

ARRESTED MAN HELD FOR CAR THEFT

City police arrested one named John Brady, 20, Belleville, last night in connection with the theft of an automobile. Brady is alleged to have been stolen from East Bridge Street about six o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The car was reported stolen by its owner, Charles Grae, R. R. 1, Belleville and later police discovered the car parked outside the James Texts shop on Front Street.

Ladywood police stated, was attempting to start the engine with a pair of keys that did not fit. Later the Grae keys were found in the car. Brady, police say, is being held in the police station pending investigation and charges.

YOUNG BOYS ATTEMPT TO LIGHT GRASS FIRE

Two young boys eight and nine years of age respectively were discovered attempting to light a grass fire in the vicinity of Johnson Street by police on patrol. Police investigated and warnings were issued to the youths to be more watchful eye on their offspring.

GIRL PICKED UP BY POLICE CRUISER

A young girl, said to be sixteen years of age, was picked up by a police cruiser on Tuesday following complaints that she was seen fraternizing in a suspicious way near the Y.M.C.A. grounds where the "midway shows are in progress. The girl was brought to the police station and held.

KENNETH LLOYST REMANDED ON BAIL

Kenneth Lloyst, Kaladar, deputy game overseer of Frontenac County, was arraigned in connection with the shooting of Alvin Patterson, Kaladar, while following a dance hall altercation on Friday night last, was arraigned in Frontenac County police court, Kingston, Tuesday afternoon, and remanded for a week on charges of assault with intent to commit grievous bodily harm.

Lloyst was admitted to bail of $1,000 following the remand. Patterson, who was shot in the stomach during an alleged fight, is in a fair to North hospital seriously wounded.

VANCOUVER MAYOR PAYS VISIT TO CITY

Mayor Jack Cornett, of Vancouver, visited the city on Monday day en route to his British Columbia city following a combined holiday in his native town of Gananoque.

Mayor Cornett, who by the way, is an accomplished corner boy, paid an informal visit to city officials and also Mayor Frank Fowler.

MAYOR F. FOLLWELL NAMED ON EXECUTIVE OF ONTARIO MAYORS

Mayor Frank S. Follwell, was appointed to the executive of the Ontario Mayors' Reeves and Wardens' association at the recent convention held in Fort William. Further honor was paid to the chief magistrate when he was named regional chairman of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

The convention, recently concluded was attended by Premier Gordon Daley, Hon. George Drew, Minister of Municipal Affairs and the Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario Minister of Labor as well as other Provincial notables. Up-to-the-minute addresses on the conference table were marked by discussions on many of the important business pertaining to municipalities of Ontario.

CRUISERS GUARD ENTRANCE TO CITY

City police cruisers guarded each entrance to the city last night, starting at 8 o'clock in the evening and their occupants in an effort to locate J. W. Johnson and George Hale, inmates of Pet Farm, Kingston, who escaped from that institution on Tuesday afternoon noon.

Johnson is serving sentence for manslaughter while Hale will undergo a penitentiary term after he convicted of aiding and abetting the enemy.

Both escaped by apprehended eight miles west of Kingston at 3 o'clock this morning by members of the Royal Canadian Army Provost Corps.

Shortage of Paper Bags Reported Serious in City

Salt, soap and shopping bags, cardboard, and wrapping paper. Housewives should mark these items down on their "short-ly" shopping list as they are scarcely scarce at the present time with no immediate alleviation of the situation in sight for the near future.

Chain grocery stores are hard hit insofar as paper bags are concerned, and while court houses at the present time, and the stores are appealing to the shopping public to bring their own baskets and other containers.

Mr. D. Ross Wallace, Dominion manager here, stated today that the shopping bag shortage is serious. "People could help out a lot by bringing their own baskets, or boxes, if they have them," he said. "We are getting very low in stocks and there is no indication that more will be forthcoming."

Salt is another rarity in grocery stores these days. Three large shops reported today that they hadn't a sound of the stuff on their shelves, and could not predict future supplies. Some stores are carrying notices "No Soap Here."

One chain store was nearly swamped with frantic house wives this week when it was rumored that it produced three or four cartons of soap. It was then that a line-up of a number of shoppers were forced to wait outside.

Shortening is another scarce item. Dibs and dabs appear periodically, but the supply is not kept up before rushed employees can get their orders.

One housewife, who reached for a package of the precious stuff, only to have it taken from beneath her eyes, lost her temper, smote a clerk over the head with a package of toilet paper, threw down her basket and walked out of the store in high dudgeon.

'Lunge Are Biting At Adolphustown

There are other uses for a rope than hanging, such as handling packs, or unloading hay.

Ask the veteran fisherman, A. Allen, of Adolphustown, for instance. He is a firm believer in the "lunge" as a bait for big muskellunge. And it works.

Ordinary fishermen can use their fancy silk lines, and what not, but give this old timer of the Bay of Quinte a length of line, a hook and bait, and he will laugh at the modern method of luring the fighting muskies.

And he doesn't dawdle over the fishing grounds. His white boat travels at a fast faster speed than the ordinary lunge mere would go—but it gets results.

Saturday night, when using his trusty rope line hauled in a 30-pound muskie, and from the day off his native village—and not satisfied with a feat like that proceeded to get himself another beauty. The second lunge tipped the scales at thirty pounds, three ounces.

Know the future — Consult
MADAME • CLEO
Handwriting Expert
Palmist — Card Reader
25 Station St. — Phone 2823
A16-1n

SUMMER COLOGNES
—RUBENSTEIN
Aspic Blossom, Enchante
Etc $1.25
—HENLEYS
Country Garden $1.25
—AUBERGINE 65c
—LOTUS $1.65 - $2.25
—ZARA SPUN $1.00
—BALALAIKA $1.50
McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE
Phone 128
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

FLOOR SANDING
New Floor SANDED and Old Floors REFINISHED and Old Floors REFINISHED and Stairs Refinished
GLEN ELLIOT
Phone 3-2-3
A16-1m

MOTH KILLER CRYSTALS
IN STOCK AGAIN!
39c LB. TINS
GEEN-DRUGS
MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

TRENTON

Thirty-Four Cases Heard in Court

Trenton Thirty-four cases were heard in Trenton Police Court on Tuesday afternoon last before Magistrate Ernest Guss. Crown Attorney S. C. Denison, K.C., prosecuted.

Gordon Mulligan of Ontario St., Trenton, appeared on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences. He received assault and vagrancy. The case last week was remanded, and drawn. After hearing evidence on the charges, Magistrate Guss committed the trial after preliminary hearing. Mulligan was defended by Malcolm Robb of Belleville.

Remanded Week

Ila Corrina Icke of Stratford, aged 23, appeared on a charge of false pretences. On Monday last the accused walked into a local store and bought a $5 wrist watch cheque. She then proceeded to a bank and attempted to get the cash another cheque but was recognized by the teller from a visit she had made previously, as she was wanted in other towns on the same charge. The teller notified the police and the girl was arrested a short time later. She pleaded guilty and was remanded until August 27th.

Clarence Addit R. R. No. 4 Trenton, charged with drunk driving and having liquor had his case remanded to Sept. 3rd.

Gerald McAdam, age 18, Havelock, Ontario, appeared in police court last week with theft and allowed out on bail. He was to appear in court today to answer the above charge. During the week-end a break was made in the owner of a home in Frankford ransacking her rooms when she was absent from the village. He was arrested by Chief Constable Ed. Reynolds and charged with breaking and entering. The accused has a previous police record. In court today he was remanded until August 27th on both charges.

Goldwin Fraser, Trenton, charged with causing a disturbance while in a state of drunk had his case remanded until August 27th.

Not being intoxicated the following eight persons were paying from $13 each: Stanley Perry, Lewis Secretariat, Arthur Berman, Fred Picke, Floyd Generous, Thomas R. Dunn, William McFarland.

Second Offence

Fred Aziz, Trenton, charged with a second offence under the Liquor Control Act, was fined $53.

Ivan Stewart, Trenton, charged with being intoxicated was fined $10, costs $13.

Hugh Ferguson, Hector Dobbie and Edward Elwood and John Cook were each fined $13 for having liquor in a public place.

Jesse Filbetts, Robert Johnson, Archibald Jenkins and Joseph Hall were each fined $4.50 for failing to obey the traffic signal. Each defendant was fined $7.50 for speeding.

Three offenders were fined $2 each for obstruction of the parking by-laws.

Car Reported Stolen

Don Freeman R.R. No. 4, Trenton, reported a car which he owned was broken into during the night, a restaurant adjoining the garage was entered and the following stolen. About 30 pounds of cigarettes and about $30.00 was stolen from the till. The thieves then entered the garage and stole from two other cars with part of the air hose and they had to leave. They put the gas in car owned by Freeman forced the garage doors open and left with the car a 1938 Ford coach, color blue, license No. 2-8-220.

Victim of Negro Assailant Improves

Chatham, Aug. 21 (CP)—Hospital authorities today reported improvement in the condition of Mrs. Mary Carey, who was kicked and beaten yesterday by an "unidified man who demanded money. Police said the assailant was at large.

Search spread from the woman's home at the city's outskirts to nearby civil areas as farmers joined in the hunt.

Mrs. Carey described her attacker as a tall Negro who carried a dark overcoat. She said she gave him 80 cents but he insisted he knew a large sum was hidden in the house. When she denied it, he felled her with his first and struck her several times in the face and chest. Then he ransacked the house.

EXPLOSION AVERTED

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 21 — (CP) — Police Chief William Hamilton of Stamford township yesterday said an explosion was narrowly averted at Queenston Quarries, three miles north of here when a runaway automobile came to a stop against a shed filled with dynamite. The car was being pushed along, a road near the quarry when the motor suddenly started and the car rushed across an embankment, struck the quarry and stopped against the shed. Some construction pegs near the shed held the car.

MOSLEM LEADER

Sir Muhammad Zafrulla Khan, Moslem leader and high court judge in India, "safe in Canada, says that the Calcutta riots are "distressing."

East-West Hills Stage Exciting Horseshoe Tournament

On Tuesday morning and afternoon in the East-West Hills Playgrounds Horseshoe Championships were fought out, amid many cheers and groans and the clank of striking shoes. A special pair of dividers was produced for the occasion to measure the close ones, while the eagle eye of the official scorer, Wm. Taylor, watched for any contestant who tried to hedge past the tossing line. A large contingent crossed the Moira from West Hill to take part and provide a very strong in the Senior Boys division when Gordon Webber 21-14 in an all-West singles final, and Rayvcott and Cornell defeated Dolan and Cornell and Donovan 21-14 in the doubles.

In the other contests: Don Lockyer won over Bovay to win the Junior Boys' singles, but combined with his rival to beat Dolan and Bovay. Kay Mills beat the girls' singles by beating Nadine Lawrence 21-9; Mills and Lawrence secondary, Arthur Berman, Fred Picke, Floyd Generous, Thomas R. Dunn, William McFarland.

Second Offence

Fred Aziz, Trenton, charged with a second offence under the Liquor Control Act, was fined $53.

Ivan Stewart, Trenton, charged with being intoxicated was fined $10, costs $13.

Hugh Ferguson, Hector Dobbie and Edward Elwood and John Cook were each fined $13 for having liquor in a public place.

Jesse Filbetts, Robert Johnson, Archibald Jenkins and Joseph Hall were each fined $4.50 for failing to obey the traffic signal. Each defendant was fined $7.50 for speeding.

Three offenders were fined $2 each for obstruction of the parking by-laws.

Car Reported Stolen

Don Freeman R.R. No. 4, Trenton, reported a car which he owned was broken into during the night, a restaurant adjoining the garage was entered and the following stolen. About 30 pounds of cigarettes and about $30.00 was stolen from the till. The thieves then entered the garage and stole from two other cars with part of the air hose and they had to leave. They put the gas in car owned by Freeman forced the garage doors open and left with the car a 1938 Ford coach, color blue, license No. 2-8-220.

Victim of Negro Assailant Improves

Chatham, Aug. 21 (CP)—Hospital authorities today reported improvement in the condition of Mrs. Mary Carey, who was kicked and beaten yesterday by an "unidified man who demanded money. Police said the assailant was at large.

Search spread from the woman's home at the city's outskirts to nearby civil areas as farmers joined in the hunt.

Mrs. Carey described her attacker as a tall Negro who carried a dark overcoat. She said she gave him 80 cents but he insisted he knew a large sum was hidden in the house. When she denied it, he felled her with his first and struck her several times in the face and chest. Then he ransacked the house.

PICTON

Plans Completed For Financing Sewerage System

Picton, Aug. 21.—At a special meeting of the town council last week, the details of the proposed sewage system were completed, it was announced by a Toronto firm with interest rate of three per cent. The estimated cost is $450,000, the town's share $1, which, it points of the town, it was felt the debenture would still at the present time. The "ways and means" arrangement was adopted.

The plans were submitted with the H. J. McFarland Construction Co., Ltd., a portion of the new sewerage disposal plant at a cost of $30,000. The same firm has been awarded the general contract for sewerage.

Public Health Engineer of the Ontario Department of Highways, parallel parking by the introduction of the system. This will be in the main business section only, from Bloor to Bridge Streets, on both sides of Main. The remainder of the Main Street will continue with angle parking.

Fire Destroys Barn

Fire completely destroyed the fine residence on Big Island owned by Mrs. Ernest Bowerman during the night. When discovered the roof was ablaze and it is thought the outbreak was caused by sparks from the chimney. Strong winds carried wind blowing at the time and the flames soon swept through the house. The barn was also burned to the ground. Fire was prevented from the rooms downstairs were saved by the Picton fire department. The firefighters were quickly on the scene and aided by neighbors as well as preventing the fire from spreading to other buildings. Loss is partly covered by insurance.

Seems to be Hold

In connection with Picton Fair, Sept. 10 and 11, a re-union of the Loyal Regiment, and Prince Edward Regiment, is to be held. The first regiment was first organized at a meeting of the Fair Board, Tuesday night. It is reported that Lt.-Colonel A. A. Kennedy, of Owen Sound, a former commanding officer would attend and also officially open the fair. Lt.-Colonel Kennedy's name.

Horse Takes

The Bay of Quinte is yielding some wonderful bass these days, and some of them are taken from the Consecon waters. Mrs. Ernest Allen, Eleven-year-old Peter Lightfall caught one weighing 4 lbs. 12 oz. and succeeded in landing the fighting fish safely. Clarence Chase, of Picton, caught one 4-lb. 4-oz. muskellunge shore which weighed 22 lbs. and measured 37 inches in length. He got smaller one again. Mrs. Harold Saunders, of Toronto, landed a 14-pounder outside the harbor, while Mrs. Ernest Allen reported that not only can men land them, sometimes they do. Specimen: There have been quite a number around the bay, taken in the past few days and each evening scee many followers of Isaac Walton on the Bay.

Turner Family Reunited After Son Returns Home

Sergeant Max Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Turner, Grier Street, and the last of four fighting sons overseas, arrived with the armed forces during the war to return to Canada, received from a surprise on the other day.

Sergeant Turner enjoyed the first family reunion of nine children in eighteen years at the family home yesterday afternoon. Present were his three veteran brothers, Percy, Jr., Lieutenant Gordon and Douglas, of the navy and also Leon, who served with the Canadian Forestry Corps. Sisters present were Mrs. M. Sulyer, Belleville; Mrs. Ernest Ivey, R.N., Whitby; Mrs. Hazel Browning, Toronto and Miss Hazel Turner at home. Mrs. Frane's husband is another veteran of the war.

Sergeant Turner served overseas five years and was attached to the Royal Canadian Electrical Mechanical Engineers. A experienced mechanic, he was held in Britain during his stay overseas and was employed principally at many RCEME stations there.

He is 31 years of age and prior to enlistment early in 1940 was assistant manager of the Canadian Company here. He married an Irish girl, Helen Kelly of Dublin, who will arrive in Canada next week on board the S.S. Duchess Bruce.

The reunion was more or less a family affair as Mr. Sam Turner, father of the family is a veteran of the First Great War.

DON'T KNOW OMELETTES

Paris, Aug. 21 — (Reuters) — Twenty English children, brought to France under evacuation conditions, have refused real French omelettes made from fresh eggs—because they didn't know what they were. The London and Coventry Society for children, which has 1,000 British Soldiers, Sailors, and Airmen's children in Switzerland, because of their war experiences to be brought to Switzerland for the French railway resistance movement, is spending a two months' holiday in France.

Son of Member Of Kiwanis Club Becomes Member

An unique occasion occurred at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club of Belleville Quinte on Tuesday when Douglas Mc-Intosh, son of Dr. and Mrs. Douglas McIntosh, was initiated as a member of the membership committee. This is the second time in the club's history, that a son of a member of the club has joined the club. The other occasion was when Dr. Gallinger's son, Bill, being the son of Past President William Gallinger, Q.C., became a member. Lieutenant Governor, Clitt Saraiyar, had the honor of initiating the sons into the club. Also accepted and initiated at the luncheon was Earl Dawes of the Belleville Cab Company. William LePorte introduced Doug McIntosh and Ralph Hutchinson introduced Earl Howe and both were sincerely welcomed by President Wilfred Vanier. Among the guests were the Past President of Kingston Kiwanis Service Club and a Kiwanian from the Montreal club. Dr. Gallinger of the Belleville Club in the person of Charles A. Tripp was welcomed back into membership. His sponsor was Ross Silver.

Has Been Appointed

It was announced by President Mark Vanner that Elmer Cogle, Q.C., Belleville, had been named as Lieutenant Governor for the Kiwanis District. The guests were the Past President of Kingston Kiwanis Service Club and a Kiwanian from the Montreal club. Dr. Gallinger of the Belleville Club in the person of Charles A. Tripp was welcomed back into membership. His sponsor was Ross Silver.

It was announced by President Mark Vanner that Elmer Cogle, Q.C., Belleville, had been named as Lieutenant Governor for the. The guests were the Past President of Kingston Kiwanis Service Club and a Kiwanian from the Montreal club. Dr. Gallinger of the Belleville Club in the person of Charles A. Tripp was welcomed back into membership. His sponsor was Ross Silver.

Outlines Plans

The field Secretary of the Community Welfare Council of Ontario, Mr. Hutchinson, gave a comprehensive outline of the Province's endeavor to provide athletic welfare and recreation. He gave a brief description of the means of several towns in providing recreational facilities and hobbies for the residents and quoted the efforts of Kingston, Riverside, Oakville, Dundas, Picton, Lindsay, Weston, Port Hope, Brockville, Oshawa and St. Mary's in this regard. Nearly all these towns have employed full time directors of welfare and recreation, while others have part time and buildings constructed to supply the greatest needs. Mr. Hutchinson's remarks and observations have been formed embracing all the services of the Y.M.C.A. and with a five-man board to direct the effort. Mr. Anderson also spoke and approved very effective and juvenile delinquency in the province will be greatly reduced.

The meeting was then adjourned by Lorne McDougall.

DECLARES

(Continued from Page One)

The Yugoslav version said: "Since the Italians refused compliance with the invitation to disembark, they were put in land. On its landing the aircraft got afire and exploded with the whole of the crew parachuted out. There are signs that unfortunately there was a fatal accident."

Three Airmen Die

The Rome radio indicate that three United States airmen died, since the European war transport started, previously had announced that the plane carried three others but did not mention their nationality. There was no indication as to whether the three had parachuted have been found.)

Rome, Aug. 21 — Yugoslav news agency Tanjug issued a translation of a talk broadcast by Foreign Minister Premier Marshal Tito in which he said he had with Germany and Italy and that he would not allow the passage of planes. The text did not make this clear.

Tito complained of "incessant new violations of our frontiers" and declared by "not only civilian planes but military planes not single planes alone but even whole squadrons."

"Furthermore," said Tito, "islanders are being thrown against our army. Recently it has been made that the plane was not given a signal to land, but was fired upon when it had already landed, stretcher, wounded. All this is not true, as I have been myself a witness of this event."

The Yugoslav note, which listed several illegal unauthorized flights over Yugoslavia territory, which reached Mr. Patterson as he was preparing to leave for Belgrad for a conference with Marshal Tito, relative to the plane incidents.

BIRTHS

ENDICOTT—At the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, August 20, 1940, to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Endicott, Kent, a daughter.

COWLES — To Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cowles, at the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, August 20th, 1940, a daughter, Patricia Ann, a sister for Mary Ann and Ronald.

DEATHS

YARDY—At Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, August 20, 1940, Frederick Yardy, aged 72 years.

The funeral will be conveyed from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Everett Street, Belleville, to Bancroft. Service will be held in the Bancroft United Church on Thursday, August 22nd, at 2.30 p.m. Interment in Bancroft Cemetery.

MUNRO — At St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, on Monday, August 19th, 1940, Nelson Ross Munro, Tweed, in his 69th year.

The funeral will be held from the Funeral Home, until this Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, thence to Tweed where the service will be held at 3 o'clock. Interment in St. Carthagh Church for Solemn Requiem High Mass at 9 a.m. Interment in Rosehaugh Cemetery, Tweed.

Obituary

NELSON ROSS MUNRO (Tweed)

Nelson Ross Munro, C.N.R. telegrapher and resident of Tweed, died in St. Michael's hospital on Tuesday after a short illness. He was in Quebec 24 years ago being the son of George H. Munro and the late Miss Elizabeth Ross.

He entered the employment of the Canadian National Railways system and for a time was stationed in Toronto and six years ago was transferred to Tweed as agent. He was a member of St. Carthagh's Church, Tweed, and belonged to the Holy Name Society. He was also identified with the Order of Railroad Conductors.

Surviving are his wife the former Agnes Quinn, one son John and one daughter. Jean at home. Also a brother, Reed Munro of Beaconsfield, Quebec, and Craig Munro of Ottawa.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. ANNIE M. CURRY (Tweed)

After a lengthy illness, Mrs. Annie Margaret Varley died in the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday. She was born in Lennox County, 77 years ago, and a young woman went to St. Paul's Corners where she has resided throughout her life. She is a faithful member of the Pentecostal Church and took an active part in the activities of that religious body. Fraternally was a member of the Loyal Orange Lodge No. 618 of Willow Glen.

Surviving are her husband Albert Varley, one daughter, Mrs. J. M. Walker of Albert and one brother Alexander Price of Green's Corners.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

POINT TRAVERSE

Whistling Swans Are Observed On Lake Ontario

Point Traverse, Aug. 21.—A bevy of eight swans, according to Jack Island lighthouse keeper, are disporting about in the waters of Lake Ontario off there.

They are believed to be the Whistling swan, and their early appearance is very rare and unusual, as in the southern part migrate over the various parts of the interior of America, and are seen in lofty and numerous flights at the mouth of Winter in the valley of the Mississippi.

Whistling swans arrive in Hudson Bay from the middle of May in small flocks, accompanied by geese, and remain in large numbers along the shores, islands and inland lakes.

The Trumpeter swan is a bird of the interior, and is rarely seen on the Atlantic slopes. They breed north as early as February, and a few specimens have been seen on Lake Ontario.

The Whistling swan is a rare and irregular migrant through Prince Edward County. In the Province of Quebec, Dayton Murphy, Wellington, saw a flock of geese on Lake Ontario, which were no doubt of this species. Geese and ducks in large numbers were also reported during the next few days at Point Traverse, and Jack Island lighthouse. Mr. Charles McIntosh noted on Lake Lake, April 1934 a flock of whistling swans close to shore near the Sand Banks

AN AMAZING ESCAPE

Doylestown, Pa., Aug. 21 (AP)—Gen Sales staff they had reported the "most amazing escape" in Bucks county prison history, a seasoned safe and thief that 21-year-old Robert Hendrickson of Philadelphia broke back in a cell. He broke out of a solitary confinement cell and climbed three steel mesh grating, broke the panes from a skylight, made the way across a roof his 170 pounds thru a space 5 1/2 by 13 inches, scaled a 30-foot wall and leaped to a residence — and climbed a 31-foot wall.

Houses in Belleville

Definite proposals for the erection and completion of 75 - 100 LOW RENTAL HOUSES will be submitted to the City Council on THURSDAY, AUGUST 22 at 8.00 p.m.

VETERANS and OTHERS interested in securing homes in this city are ADVISED TO ATTEND.

A 10-DAYS' CAMP MEETING will be held on the STANDARD CHURCH CAMP-GROUND at IVANHOE, Ont. Commencing AUGUST 23rd.
Rev. E. H. Thompson, President, in charge.

YOUR FACE IS THE JUDGE
It can't be "Too bad I like it."
Nelson's Shaving Cream
Nelson Chemical Co. Limited
Established Kemptville

DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
Phone 128

HAY FEVER RELIEF
LANTIGEN E
HANGEN
HAYVAX
INHALANTS
George Pauley
DRUGGIST Phone 105
WE DELIVER

Canada-Wide Students in Holiday Camp Work in Factories

Study group of university students from coast to coast, some from India, China and the British West Indies, in Student-to-Industry camp, Brantford, includes ex-ser-vicemen and women, and Japanese-Canadians from secondary schools and universities. Ronald Smith, Queen's University, and Margaret Smith, University of Toronto (right), are workers in a candy factory. The camp is the only one of its type in Canada.

In academic discussion are Ian Kelsick from Montserrat, B.W.I.; John Rowe from Vreed-in-Hoop, British Guiana; and Esmond Simmons from Trinidad, B.W.I. Kelsick and Rowe are at McGill, Sinanan at Mount Allison University, N. B. They are shown at the camp headquarters, Winston Hall.

Government Wins Close Vote In House of Commons

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Aug. 21 (CP)— By a slim margin of 13 votes, opposition parties failed yesterday in the Commons in a move to make the government reconsider and alter its plans covering the taxation of co-operatives.

By a vote of 82-69, members turned back a Progressive Conservative motion that would have returned to committee for alteration the bill amending the war income tax act and covering the major tax changes announced in the budget June 27.

The motion was moved by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative Leader, who said the method the government planned to use in taxing co-operatives would make these institutions like to nothing more than investment companies.

The vote was preceded by feverish excitement among some Liberals and after a debate that was marked more by a discussion of political doctrines than of matters of taxation. Division bells left Parliament Hill unused, but brought, in a sufficient number of government supporters to make defeat of the motion certain.

Walter Tucker, Liberal member for Rosthern and newly-elected Saskatchewan Liberal Leader, described the C.C.F. as the "waymaker for Communism" and said that many C.C.F. members did not know whether they were Socialists or reform-minded Liberals. He expressed the hope that C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell would join the Liberal party.

Clarence Gillis (C.C.F.-Cape Breton) described Mr. Tucker's speech as a "demonstration of hysteria." There was "all the difference in the world" between Communism and the C.C.F. "We believe in parliamentary government and we're ready to fight for it," said Mr. Gillis.

Mr. Tucker explained he would vote against Mr. Bracken's motion because if the government was defeated there was not another party which could form a government representative of all the country.

But he was opposed to the plan to tax three per cent of the co-operatives' income on working capital and if he had more liberals from Saskatchewan to support his views the government would not have introduced that part of the taxation plan.

Britain to Name Board For Iron, Steel Industry

London, Aug. 21. (CP)—The government announced tonight it has decided to appoint a board "for the general control and supervision of the iron and steel industry".

The announcement said the Board would include members of the privately-owned steel concerns. It declined to discuss previously announced plans for eventual public ownership of the mills.

The Board will be responsible to the Ministry of Supply, John Wilmot, when last April announced in the House of Commons that the government had decided to extend a "large measure of control" over the iron and steel industry.

Nationalization of the industry was one of the Labor Party's campaign-announced goals.

Ottawa Citizen Back to Production

Ottawa, Aug. 21 (CP)— The Ottawa Citizen was back to full production today, publishing mail and city editions of its morning paper yesterday for the first time since its commencement. Employees went out on strike last Jan. 31.

With the output of the 16-page newspaper yesterday, officials said the paper now is back to pre-strike publication. Besides the daily news broadcasts over a local radio station (CFCO) has been discontinued.

Resumption of one afternoon edition was resumed shortly after the strike began, and for several weeks the paper has been published in two editions—mail, home and late—on a full basis.

Centenary

Centenary—Mrs. Nellie Kelley, of North Toronto, is spending some time with her cousin, Mrs. Minnie Kelley.

Mrs. J. Ray and Mary Ann are in Sunderland, the guest of Mrs. Ray's daughter, Mrs. E. Hall and family.

Miss Worden, of Toronto, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ray and family.

Mrs. Frank Sowyer and children, of Fort Whyte, Man., will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Richardson, during the week.

Rev. Mr. McCallum was welcomed back on Sunday, after a pleasant holiday in the West. A fair attendance enjoyed the message of the pastor on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Zigler and small son, of Kitchener, were guests of the latter's father, Mr. Roy Thrasher and Mrs. Thrasher, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thrasher, of Hollowell, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Sills were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fair, 5th Line.

Mrs. F. Alkens and Teddy, returned home on Friday evening, after a delightful holiday, spent at Scugog Point, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, at their Summer cottage.

Mrs. Kelley opened her home on Monday evening for a Sunday School executive meeting. At the close of the business period, the hostess served dainty refreshments and a singsong was enjoyed. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Kelley for her gracious hospitality.

Feller Throws Ball At 98.6 Miles an Hour

Washington, Aug. 21 — (AP)— Science has proved what American League batsmen have known for a long time—that Cleveland's Bob Feller has a whale of a fast ball. A United States Army chronograph device used to measure the speed of a rifle bullet, timed Bob's fast one in a test last night at 145 feet a second, or 98.6 miles an hour. According to the Army, this is a new world record; in 1939, Atley Donald of the New York Yankees threw a ball 139 feet a second, or 94 miles an hour.

WEDDINGS DE LUX

Ryalmere, Australia (CP)— George Pritchard has gone into business as a wedding organizer, arranging everything from invitations to wedding-trip reservations. If necessary he will also act as master of ceremonies at the reception and prepare speeches for the principals.

VERY MUCH OF MUCHNESS

When Mrs. Peter Marlino, of Philadelphia, saw a newspaper story to the effect that an Australian was offering to give $25 to charity if his twin boys were not the most identical in the world, she "hawhawed" softly, for she has double trouble in her home. She is the mother of these solemn-eyed identical twins, John, LEFT, and Peter, Jr., eight months old. The only way Mrs. Merlino can tell them apart is that the vaccination mark of one is visible and that of the other is not. They have identical birthmarks — a tiny hole in the skin behind the right ear.

4th Sidney

4th Sidney — Mrs. George Sweeney and Billy, have returned to their home in Toronto after a holiday spent with Mr. and Mrs. A. Wright Jr., and family.

Mrs. A. Cranston and Miss Sandra Read spent a week camping at Crowe Lake.

Mrs. 'Bob' Bennett, Bellville, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Woods last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daly, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Allison of Big Island, called on Mr. and Mrs. H. Gray, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kent of Bellevile, and Mr. and Mrs. 'Bob' Redner and family, of Corbyville, called on Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Tucker on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Faul and Jean, of Bellevile, called on Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gunter on Wednesday evening.

Miss June Wright has been visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morrison, Rawdon.

Mrs. Clare Finkle and children spent Tuesday with Mrs. Ruby Lough.

Miss Margaret Hillis is attending C.G.I.T. Camp at Moira Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gray and Anna Corinne spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. Dafoe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. G. Evans and Nancy, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. Bushel, Bellevile.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wright Jr., and family were supper guests on Friday evening of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morrison, Rawdon.

Miss Edith Looker is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cranston.

Misses Vilma and Wanda Lough have returned home after holidaying with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lough, Chatterton.

Miss Maude Phillips spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phillips.

Several from this community spent Sunday at the Outlet.

Marmora

Marmora—Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Connor and family, of Copper Cliff, are visiting relatives here.

Miss Jean Cook is visiting relatives in Havelock.

Mr. D. E. LaPlante of Peterborough, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shannon.

Mrs. Richard Dunlay, of Campbellford is visiting Mrs. M. J. Maloney and other relatives here.

Major Percy Gray is a patient in Kingston Military Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bartlett are visiting relatives in Colborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones and family of Wyandotte, Mich., spent the weekend with Mrs. James Jones and other relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Baker, of Peterborough, spent the weekend with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jones and family of Peterborough, spent the weekend with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Young and family, of Oshawa, spent the weekend with relatives here.

Miss Shirley Rennie and Miss Ruth Nayler are attending the C.G.I.T. camp at Moira Lake, as Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pritchard and family, of Peterborough, are occupying Mr. C. J. Byrnes' cottage at Crowe Lake, this week.

Mrs. Margaret Harper, of Brasebridge, is visiting relatives here.

Ladies' Auxiliary Can. Legion Organized

A Ladies' Auxiliary for Marmora Branch, No. 237, Canadian Legion, was organized at a meeting held in the Legion room at the Memorial Building on Thursday evening. The organizer was Mrs. L. Long, of Toronto. Those elected were President, Mrs. T. Dickson, 1st Vice President, Mrs. G. Osborne; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. F. Lloyd; Secretary, Mrs. C. Handy, Treasurer, Mrs. (Major) P. Gray; Standard Bearer, Mrs. N. Hipson; Executive, Mesdames James Bell, F. Leal, J. O'Neill and L. Williams.

Mrs. F. Leal was elected Social Convener and her committee will be elected at the next meeting.

Sick Committee, Mesdames H. Boudreau and P. Gray.

Visiting Committee, Mesdames C. Tandy and G. Osborne.

The auditors will be those of Marmora Branch 237 - Canadian Legion.

Meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of each month.

Shower Held In Town Hall

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. William Knox were tendered a miscellaneous shower in the Town Hall and received very many useful and attractive gifts. Mr. Knox is a returned prisoner of war and his wife, the former Sergt. Leah Simpson of Sheffield, England, arrived in Marmora, a few weeks ago to rejoin her husband. The event was held to welcome her to the community. Dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by Doug and Myrt Jones. Refreshments were served.

Narrow Escape From Injury

Mr. Wesley Henderson, retired cheesemaker, had a narrow escape from injury about 10:45 a.m., on Saturday, as a rock weighing about five pounds crashed through the roof of the back verandah of his residence, less than a foot from where he was sitting at the time. The rock was dislodged by blasting operations which were being carried on some distance away.

"From Highway to Eternity a Matter of Seconds"

AIR-SEAL

Offers Safety and Savings to Cars — Tire Users — Trucks

HAVE AIR SEAL applied to your present tires. SEALS PUNCTURES AS YOU RIDE. Prevents loss of air, quick flats, ruined tires, and broken side walls.

BLOWOUT DANGER IS REDUCED — by retarding the escape of air, so that the car or truck can be brought to an orderly stop, avoiding ditches, turnover, and smashing into traffic.

AIR-LEAKAGE and UNDER-INFLATION is reduced in porous and leaky tubes—in many cases increasing mileage and tire life up to 25 per cent.

AIR SEAL EFFECTIVENESS PROVEN over a period of ten years in OVER FOUR MILLION DOLLARS worth of equipment in the City of Toronto. Ask to see PROVING GROUND and NATIONAL RESEARCH COUNCIL REPORTS, also hundreds of reports from nationally known firms.

COSTS LESS than 1½¢ a Day for Average Car.

CIRCULARS AND DEMONSTRATIONS.

Cliff Baragar

118 Front Street BELLEVILLE Phone 346
PICTON TRENTON

GOODYEAR
DISTRIBUTOR

Ask for Demonstration at Your Local Goodyear Dealer

JUST ARRIVED!

A Shipment of Self-Generating

"NEWMAID" DELUXE

VACUUM CLEANERS

- NO MOTOR TO GET OUT OF ORDER.
- SHOVE IT ALONG THE FLOOR — AND WATCH IT PICK UP THE DIRT.
- PRICED AT ONLY $29.25. IMMEDIATE DELIVERY.

EVERY HOUSEHOLD SHOULD HAVE ONE.

SEE THEM ON DISPLAY AT

CHRISTIAN'S

ELECTRIC and HARDWARE
210 Front Street Phone 820

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Ontario Established 1842 — Incorporated 1927

ONTARIO'S OLDEST DAILY NEWSPAPER

ONTARIO'S PIONEER PUBLISHING HOUSE

Belleville, Canada, Canada

Subscription Rates:

By carrier in Belleville, 10c a week.

By mail in Canada, $5.00 per year, $2.50 for six months, $1.25 for three months.

By mail in U.S.A., $6.00 per year.

Member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association.

The Intelligencer is published in the city by the publication of all news contained herein. All rights of republication of special despatches herein are also reserved.

Young People's Unions

This week there is meeting at Albert College a convention of the young life of Canada, some two hundred delegates representing 3,400 Young People's Unions of the United Church throughout Canada. In this momentous era of the history of all nations, it is fitting that youth should study the problems and potentialities that are theirs. These young people are thereby fitting themselves for the demands which will be made upon them it a time freighted with possibilities of the greatest importance not only to themselves but to Canada and to other lands.

Canadian youth is living in an age unlike any other period in history. Never in view of the complexity of the problems of this time was the narrowing of the bounds of earth more marked and more the interests and opinions of men everywhere the world because they affect not one nation but all nations. In this lies the hope that despite all differences and problems of individual nations there will develop a truly worldwide or international civilisation of United Nations.

The convention meets under the most favorable auspices in an atmosphere of high idealism of youth and under the guidance and consecration of religion, the greatest power working for co-operation and mutual understanding of individuals and people.

The young of today stand before the greatest adventure of world history — a new world in the making. They have the inspiration of the achievements of another racy during the late war and of the rich heritage into which they were born and they will have much to do with the future course of history in what they hope and pray will be a united world of brotherhood.

Belleville greets these young people and congratulates them on their interest in the absorbing problems which press for solutions—problems which they will not fail to face and help solve.

Fruit Crops

Ontario expects the peach harvest this year to yield nothing less than 1,566,000 bushels, 350,000 bushels more than last year and 548,000 bushels above the ten-year average. In British Columbia peaches are also a very heavy crop, 206 per cent over the ten-year average.

Canning of peaches now will go far toward marketing this crop and at the same time put aside on shelves for the winter's use a food which is enjoyed by even the most exacting taste.

Canada is fortunate in being a land which grows in such plenty such delicious fruits as peaches. The same may be said of Canada's late harvest of apples which are much to the wealth of Canadian farming and so much to buyers of our apples in Britain. During the growing year month after month Canadians have the privilege of eating all sorts of fruits in season and of putting them away as jam or canned fruit for the rest of the year and also of consuming vegetables and fruits which this country produces in plenty, not only during the growing year but serving throughout the year until the new harvest and crops come around to the following year.

Soapless Soap

The British housewife has been hard hit by the further cuts in the soap ration, made necessary by the world scarcity of suitable oils and fats. But Science promises to come to her aid with new and improved types of "soapless soaps"—cleansers which do not include the edible oils used in ordinary soaps.

In a recent BBC radio news reel, Mr. Alan Brinton told us something about these "soapless soaps." For centuries normal soaps have been made by boiling a suitable fat—animal or vegetable oil—with an alkali such as caustic soda, but even now, he said, the exact way in which such soap cleanses baffles the scientists. They know that washing is divisible into three phases: first, a reduction in the surface tension of the water (in effect making the water more penetrating); second, the soap molecule has to worm its way in and push among the dirt to loosen it; third, the emulsion thus formed is carried away from the material by the water. Thus the soap molecule is rather like a whip with a lash that threatens out dirt. But chemists, it appears, have produced other molecules with yet longer and more powerful lashes by the sulphonating alcohols, and it is these that are the basis of most soapless soaps. The important factor is that these sulphonated alcohols can be made from vegetable or whale oils, they can come also from petroleum residues or as a by-product of the gas works. And of course, the less that edible oil is used for soap the more will be available for food use. Other substitute washing powders contain a little ash but again helping to save precious oils. But many housewives are puzzled because most soapless soaps give little or no lather, but the experts say that with most of these soaps the lather makes little or no difference to the cleaning properties.

The Ministry of Food has promised to do everything possible to encourage the development of these soap substitutes.

Restoration of Fairfield

John R. MacNicol, M.P., deserves a lot of credit for the interest he has taken in the restoration of the site of Fairfield on the Thames river near Thamesville.

It was in 1792 that Moravian missionaries from the United States, bringing with them a band of Delaware Indians, settled on the present Indian reserve and built a village which they called Fairfield. They remained there in the same year Governor Simcoe on the occasion of a notable trip through Western Ontario. The whole settlement was obliterated in 1813, but three years later the Moravians returned and built across the river a church and mission house which still stand.

Through the efforts of Mr. MacNicol, who interested the United Church, which inherited the Moravian property, and on the Indian Reserve, and the work of Wilfrid Jury, curator of the museum of the University of Western Ontario, the original site of Fairfield, on Highway No. 2, was identified and plans of many of the original homes, along with a number of valuable relics, discovered.

—London Free Press

Fond Farewells

If you are thinking of travelling by plane from London Airport you would do well to remember that the Air Ministry's constabulary take a very poor view of last-minute kisses.

Fond farewells between travellers and their wives and families are now limited to a place especially provided for these embraces and must be made at least half an hour before the aircraft is due to take off. The passenger may kiss his wife (or anyone else's) in the "clear" tent or on a roped-off enclosure of the airport.

Beyond these limits he comes into the domain of the civil aviation officials — who discourage close embraces because of the facility they provide for passing currency and dutiable articles to passengers whose baggage has already been cleared.

—Manchester Guardian

To Be Fewer Germans

The German population of Europe today —now estimated at 72,000,000—will decrease by 50 percent, within the next 50 years, Prof. Heinz Sauermann, a noted German economist, predicts.

The present death rate in Germany is far outstripping the birth rate, Prof. Sauermann pointed out in an analysis of German life rapidly decimating population. This development will have serious political and economic implications for the future of Europe.

Prof. Sauermann disclosed that at present "in the rural districts of Germany the death rate is twice as high as the birth rate; in the medium-sized cities the death rate is 300 percent. higher, and in the large cities it is 400 to 500 percent. higher than the birth rate."

—New York Herald Tribune

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

CRIBBAGE PLAYER'S WAIL

At golf I've made a hole in one.

At bridge I've bid and made a slam.

At other games right well I've done,

But still dismountable I am.

As yet I've never drawn and scanned

The cribbage player's perfect hand.

It happens now and then, they say.

My father said that it could be—

Who taught me years ago to play—

But never has it come to me.

Four fives I've held, always to Jack

That most important, proper jack.

For years I've pegged the hours away.

I've many times made twenty-four—

Always with hope, some night or day.

I'd draw that perfect cribbage score.

But never has the luck been mine

To peg the board for twenty-nine.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

"I think it was a mistake sending both of us out to rescue him!"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

August 21st, 1926

Mr. and Mrs. T. Wilson of Windsor, Ontario, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Bell, Queen Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Middeland, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Earl McQueen motored to Kingston today.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McInnes and daughter, Miss Mary Wilder and Mrs. James E. McInnes of Rochester, N.Y., and Miss Mildred A. MacDonald of New York City, are visiting Mrs. W. J. Wilder, Grier Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cherry will leave shortly to reside in Guernsey in the Channel Islands. Mrs. Goodsell is the composer them in England and will reside at Norwich, England.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ryan of Chicago, Ill., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Howie.

30 YEARS AGO

August 21st, 1916

Mr. and Mrs. Myers Tilbert have returned home from their camp at Horse-Shoe Lake, near Arden.

Mrs. Fred Hick and children of Lethbridge, Alberta, are visiting relatives in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mills of Chicago, Ill., and the Misses Mills, Forin Street, who have been camping at Stella, have returned to the city.

Mrs. Gordon McMillan and children of Aurora, Ont., are visiting at the home of Mr. George T. Woodley, Holloway Street.

Willie Hinds is visiting relatives in Tweed.

Mrs. Harold Gunn, Sr., will leave shortly to visit friends at the Pacific Coast.

Recitals will be given at the Riggs Music Store by Mr. J. A. Dillon, on the wonderful Edison Disc Phonograph on the afternoon of August 21st. All are invited.

40 YEARS AGO

August 21st, 1906

Mr. Robert Sills is spending a vacation in Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. F. Armistead of Toronto is spending his vacation with his parents at their home on Church Street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Garrett, who are staying at Wellington, were in the city to day. "Billie" is an old Belleville boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Armistead of this city have returned from their visiting friends in Chicago, Ill. They will leave shortly to take up residence in Vancouver, B.C.

50 YEARS AGO

August 21st, 1896

Mr. J. M. Hurley, M. P., left to day for Ottawa.

Mr. George Sneaton of Brockville, an old Belleville boy, is home on a visit.

Mr. Henry Hampton is visiting Deseronto and Picton advertising the Foresters' excursion to Belleville.

Mr. R. Musson, accountant at the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, has returned from his vacation.

Mr. Herbert Northcott, son of Mr. John Northcott, of Sidney street, left recently of Belleville, paid a short visit yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. George R. Brown in this city.

The Carman Opera House has been leased for a term of years to a new firm of theatrical managers, Messrs. LeClair and Lesee of Montreal. They will take the house further the second week in September.

Ald. Hart was in Peterboro yesterday on business.

London Letter

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Aug. 21 (CP)—Echoes of the past sound daily in dusty second-hand stores along Charing Cross Road. Here collectors listen avidly to the recorded voices of singers and entertainers of bygone days.

Enrico Caruso, Dame Clara Butt, Mabelle Ilk the violinist and others less well known to fame ring out in the stores that specialize in records of the past.

One typical buyer was an elderly gentleman who gave Dr. Dre displayed a copy of "O Sole Mio" recorded by Clara Butt soon after the first Great War. He had 12 or 13 of her recordings," he said, and was anxious to obtain every available record she had ever made.

Caruso's impressions are much harder to find. They are usually snapped up by phonograph specialists and sold for as much as 25 or 30 shillings ($6) when the original price was probably no more than three or four shillings.

Early favorites by Sir Harry Lauder, made when he was earning $7 (£1.8s) a week on the music halls, are in great demand —such old songs as "it's nice to get up in the morning but it's nicer to stay in bed" "Roamin' in the gloamin'," "Road to the Isles" and "I belong to Glasgie."

Many artists long, too, are of an historical turn of mind and unearth such early bars dealing with "Sir Walter Raleigh" by the original Dixieland Band of 1920 and "Whispering" by Paul Whiteman's first recording orchestra.

Some collectors seek records by the Savoy Orpheans and Havana bands which broadcast from the Savoy Hotel, London, in the first days of radio. Only a few of these directly Italian's first radio "crooner" — A Canadian soldier named Donald Newton who came to London from Edmonton early in the last war.

"Newton was more robust than the gramophone of today," one collector said. "He was actually a regular baritone but with a breezy, vigorous style particularly suited to dance music."

Collectors manifestly get as much fun seeking the records as they do listening. You see their eyes gleam with enthusiasm when they turn up an "old timer" that may have eluded them for weeks, months—or even years.

PICKETS PERMIT

(Continued From Page One.)

Expect Protection

The Police Commission was told by George B. Elwin, vice-president of Stelco, that the company expects to re-open the picket lines "forthwith" and expects "to have our men, trucks or trains go through without hindrance." Elwin added "We expect protection."

But the picket captains had received from the instructions earlier which permitted workers in cars and steel, and trucks with supplies, to pass through the picket lines. They were still going through the lines late last night with picket captains shouting "Break that line, boys; all right; open it up." Those passing the picket lines were greeted with boos and cheers — the boos predominating.

Working employees were passing the lines in both directions—out of and into the plant. Food and other supplies moved in.

Petition Presented

The special Police Commission meeting decided that it could not put police questions in control of the situation as long as Chief Conroy can't be posted vacation order. A resolution instructed the chief to bring before the board anyone found breaking the law concerning the intimidation of any picket regulations.

A big labor rally at Woodlands Park last night, called by the Commonwealth of Mayor Samuel Lawrence, who is chairman of the board, signed by 34,000 citizens calling on the Ontario government to settle the various strikes in Hamilton on the basis of union proposals presented to the Ontario parliamentary committee on industrial relations. The committee will be taken to Ottawa by a delegation.

All charges against Controller Donald A. Clarke, who was under pickets in connection with an incident on the picket line Aug. 13, were dismissed in court by Magistrate Harry Burville. The controller had been charged with careless driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident in the incident.

LABOR SITUATION

(Continued From Page One.)

Voice Strong Opposition

David Croll (Toronto Spadina), a former Ontario labor minister, Angus MacInnis (CCF — Vancouver East) voiced strong opposition to the measure as interfering with the rights of unions and, Mr. Croll said, laying the government open to strike-breaking charges.

On the question of wages there was little inclination to make constituents. Several of the members said they were inclined to accept the opinion of Mackenzie King, Prime Board chairman, that wage increases much in excess of 18½ per cent would be fatal to price control.

The Prime Minister's present interruptions in production were doing more than anything else, he said, to prevent the 10-cent limit which Labor Minister Mitchell has said he would like to see. Mitchell said he had imposed no 10-cent ceiling.

The Prime Minister opened third reading of the government's bill to continue wartime provisions in the 1946 budget.

Arthur Smith (PC — Calgary West) fear of the labor debate and gave the keynote speech for his party on the measure. It was his suggestion which led to the committee's investigation.

He spoke of "the canker of Communism" which had attached itself to a part of the labor movement with the ultimate goal of a general strike to overthrow what the Communist party control in Canada. It was unfortunate that the majority in the labor movement were following it.

Not Entirely Convinced

On the matter of price control Mr. Smith said he had not been entirely convinced of the merits of Donald Gordon, Wartime Prices and Trade Board chairman, id arguing that wage increases of more than an hour would shatter price control. On the other hand, he said, two percentage is to say Mr. Gordon was wrong.

The fact that there was to direct liaison between the administration of price control and labor was a matter of "major criticism."

In proposing government-conducted strike votes the committee was already in operation of the secret ballot.

Eit secret to the individual by ballot the right to determine his own future, Mr. Croll said, he, assisted by labor against me, then let them resent it." Mr. Smith said he was for the man who wishes to run his own life in his own home.

Mr. MacInnis said the plan for government-conducted votes gave the prime minister the right to go over the heads of the unions.

"I don't like the way of destroying the trade union movement by saying this, one of at to my attention yet," he said. "I'm suspicious of it."

Mr. Croll said such a plan would mean rejection of the bill. Labor opinion had been the settlement of the 1944 Ford strike at Windsor. The formula gave the union financial support from all employees and imposed penalties in the event of improper work stoppages.

Lack of Strikes Liberal

Mr. Howe said evidence given before the committee had established that most of the current strikes were illegal. There were difficulties with differences between the committee and the union insisting on a uniform settlement while basic plants are idle by recreating plants.

"It was obviously a dispute directed toward the government for only by the action of arbitrary power by the government could the many factors in the dispute be settled," he said.

While the amount of wage increase could not be exactly gauged, it would be considerable, Mr. Howe said. A 10-cent increase was applied to the steel workers.

Helpful in Future

The recommendations which the committee had made would be helpful in future dealings with labor matters. The suggestion of a government strike votes was a constructive one and was not likely to be abused.

Meantime, while the committee was sitting, strikes continued growing.

"Not only have they paralyzed industries directly affected but they are extending to industries that are dependent on any labor dispute," he said. "That situation is serious at this moment. There is scarcely a section of the country which is not beginning to be affected by these strikes."

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

PROGRESSIVE DEAFNESS

Mr. Buttinsky remarked in behind the mail man—assured an outpost secretary that he had an appointment, passed the door clerk somehow, and, first thing I knew, there was a big man who wouldn't have licked me so much, but, improper explosive, he had me pulled at once.

Now, blankety-blank-blank it, you've got to listen at all deaf—head not sore you—but my notion of deafness is old-fashioned.

After the storm has cleared and we were ready to settle down to work again the doctor explained that he hadn't believe the man meant any harm — he had given her the impression that I had asked him to demonstrate his hearing and, that's all, she was very sorry.

Long long afterward—oh, well, the man pretty much an understanding sort that I didn't feel ashamed when we both laughed about it.

After all I'm only half deaf—one ear totally deaf—and I know most persons with hearing sense what happens in both ears do not react to noises as one-eared persons do. In a public place a monaural hearing is as good or better than the person with binaural hearing—I mean I can hear sounds so faint that most normal hearing ears hearing can't hear; but if there is ever so little noise—the noise of a step of a roomful of people in conversation, or the noise of typewriter or vacuum cleaner in use I'm out of luck, and so are you if you turn on the radio to get through to me.

So much for auditory nerve deafness.

Chronic progressive deafness is otherwise called otosclerosis or more properly otospongiosis, otherwise known as bone growth in the internal ear, especially about the oval window or partition between internal ear and middle ear cavity—this operation is occupied by the base of the stirrup bone (stapes), one of the three little bones (hammer, anvil and stirrup) in the middle ear space within the drum.

If not actually inherited, this type of deafness is frequently frequent in some families. At least there is a predisposition to consumption in some families. The deafness is generally so insidious or slow in developing that "the physician sees nothing and the patient hears nothing" whether a tendency or predisposition to this type of progressive deafness be inherited or not, one theory of the nature and cause of otosclerosis is that it is due to faulty calcium metabolism. However this theory may be, I do not know. However, if I had otospongiosis I'd give myself the benefit of the doubt by following high calcium diet and exposing myself to sunlight at every opportunity and by supplementing my diet with a good addition of calcium and vitamin D daily the year around.

The vitamin D treatment for progressive catarrhal deafness is worth a few months' trial even though the condition is probably otospongiosis—take an optimal daily ration of vitamin D complex for not less than twelve months that is, at least three times as much as is required to maintain good nutrition.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Technical Errors

In regard to your statement that all eyes are blue at birth, I beg to state that one eye is not blue at birth were black, not at all blue. (Mrs. C. E.)

In regard to all eyes being blue at birth, I am positive that my baby daughter's eyes were blue as was a week old. I could not tell definitely what they like like that. (Mrs. A. W. T.)—

Answer—Now have a go at this technical error.

All eyes are brown. There are not "black" "blue", "grey", "green", "hazel" or other colored eyes. The pigment that gives their color is brown in every instance. There is no white race or skin color or complexion. When the pigment is absent there is at least the eye look "blue"—and the eye looks blue for weeks after birth. The pigment increases when the child grows and then the eyes look first "grey", then "brown" or, if enough pigment is deposited in the iris, "black".

Blue eyes do not—at birth or at any time of life.

(Copyright 1946 by John F. Dills Co.)

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

How did Casper, Wyoming, receive its name?

Casper, Wyoming, was named after Casper Collins.

Is it correct to spell the name of Casper, Wyoming, with an "s" instead of an "r" as the final syllable.

Records in the War Department at Washington show that on July 26, 1865, Lieutenant Casper W. Collins, commanding Aurora, Colt Companies D and K of the Eleventh Kansas Cavalry and Company G of the Eleventh Ohio Cavalry, had a skirmish with between 1,000 and 1,500 Sioux and Cheyenne Indians on the North Platte River near the Platte River Bridge in Dakota Territory, now in the state of Wyoming.

The troops under Collins were part of Brigadier General P. E. Edward Connor's Powder River Indian Expedition of 1865. In a dispatch dated July 27 of that year General Connor reported that Lieutenant Collins and four of his men were killed, and that nine Indians were killed.

Four months later November 14—Major General John Pope issued the following order: "The military post situated at Platte Bridge, Deer Creek and Rock Creeks on the Platte River, will be hereafter known as Fort Casper in honor of Lieutenant Casper Collins, Eleventh Ohio Cavalry, who lost his life while gallantly attacking a superior force of Indians at that place."

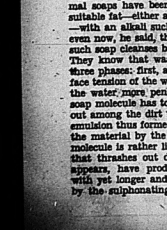
According to the U. S. Geographic Board, an examination of old maps running back to 1850 and records of 1876 shows the name uniformly spelled Casper with a double r. military engineer Lieutenant Caspar Collins, Company K, 2nd U. S. Cavalry, wrote: "The town which is located about two miles below the Fort Casper ferry takes its name from the same source and should be spelled the same way."

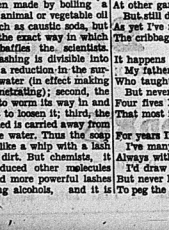
The name is spelled Casper on a monument dated July 4, 1849, by the Fort Caspar Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. General P. E. Connor died of Caspar Collin's battle with the Indians.

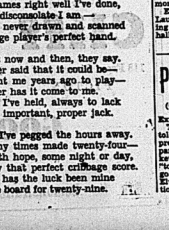
The place was known as the Platte Bridge Station from the fall of 1847, when the Mormons established a ferry there and built a bridge which was sold to Mormon Crossing. It became Platte Bridge Station when a bridge was built in 1858. Casper Mountain, an 8,000-foot mountain, also received its name from Caspar Collins. Fort Casper, Colorado, was also named after him.

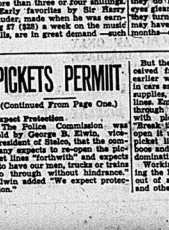
SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT









Allegedly Misused Discharge Papers Again Debated

Ottawa, Aug. 21 (CP)—The case of the allegedly misused army discharge papers came up for a fourth time in the Commons Tuesday.

Justice Minister St. Laurent rose to chide John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) for the latter's remarks he had used in contending that a file of correspondence tabled in the Commons had been "stripped" of at least four letters. The correspondence concerned the alleged use of discharge papers at Camp Borden, for vetoed purposes.

The Minister, thumbing through papers on his desk, contended that letters of the four letters were there all the time." Mr. Diefenbaker had been mistaken in reading the file.

The other letters were confidential correspondence between J. J. Robinette, K.C., Toronto lawyer, and the government and therefore were not supposed to be made public.

Mr. Diefenbaker's statements "are just not true," he said.

Diefenbaker Reads File

But Mr. Diefenbaker, wagging his finger, charged that "truculence is no substitute for information." There was "a very good reason why the documents through the instrumentality of the Minister of Justice, should produce the full record."

The minister was "participating in the concealment." He "didn't dare" produce the letters taken from the file.

He then read from the file as it was tabled, finding that all it said the R.C.M.P. had investigated and that a later probe by crown counsel had "also" come to the conclusion DDA in prima facie case had been established.

Mr. Diefenbaker came to a reference to one Lennox who had been convicted of "uttering" (saving false medical discharge papers) He said Lennox had testified that he gave one Bagley $1,200 for a false certificate.

Next was a letter from Deputy Justice Minister Varcoe referring to "Mr. J. A. Elliott et al" and asking Deputy Labor Minister MacNamara for comment on the report of Mr. Robinette. The Robinette letter itself had been left out.

In reply, Mr. MacNamara had said he thought the file on "the prosecution of Brother Arnold and Maj. Elliott" should be put away for three or four months. Three months or so later, in April 1946, Mr. Varcoe had asked for an answer and shortly after Mr. MacNamara had recommended that the file be closed and no prosecutions undertaken.

Charges Privilege Misused

These letters alone "established all I have said" about the case itself, Mr. Diefenbaker said, and in addition "the privileges of parliament have been flouted by refusal to produce the entire file."

(The file said Mr. MacNamara had recommended against prosecutions because the war had ended and because there was no evidence that money had been involved.)

YOUR FAMILY NEEDS PROTECTION

Let us discuss ownership or rental of property may be the cause of a claim against you.

It is wiser to be safe than sorry so call us today for full information on this economical and complete liability coverage. You are, of course, under no obligation at all when you bring any of your insurance problems to us.

LORNE W. POLGALL
INSURANCE AGENCY

AT LAST—A Tooth Paste Developed Endorsed and Prescribed by Dentists*

C.P.A. Registered

APPROVED

AMAZING

HUTAX

THE MODERN TOOTH PASTE

NO SOAP!
NO GRIT!
CLEANS WHITER,
SWEETENS BREATH!

* Leading Dentists after years of research to find an ideal dental disinfectant, produced amazing HUTAX. The all-purpose Modern Tooth Paste that gives you and your children whiter teeth. Modern Tooth Paste that gives you and your children whiter teeth. Modern Tooth Paste that gives you and your children whiter teeth.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

AT HOME

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Carleton, of Stirling, will be at home in their friends,—Saturday evening, August 24th., from 7:30 to 11:30, on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

Miss Genevieve Tracey left on Tuesday for Britania Heights, where she will spend the rest of the season with her sister, Mrs. Jessie Bolyvert.

Mrs. John Sheridan, Bleecker Avenue, is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Emma Haslette, Picton, has taken up residence in this city.

Mr. Eddie Clarke, Rossmore, has left for Mantario, Sask., to assist his uncle, Mr. A. A. Seeber, with the harvest.

Miss Helen Hubbs, Picton, is visiting the Rev. E. Farnsworth, and Mrs. Farnsworth, Bleecker Avenue.

Alderman and Mrs. Charles L. Hyde have returned home after a pleasant holiday at Grimsby Beach and Niagara Falls, N.Y. While in Grimsby Beach Mr. and Mrs. Hyde took part in several lawn bowling tournaments.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McGrath, of this city, visited recently with latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Enright, Tyne.

Miss Barbara Sager, Queensboro, is spending this week with her sisters, Mrs. Wilfred Fitzgibbon, of this city, and Miss Alicen Sager, Trenton.

Mr. Jim Huffman, Grove St., has returned to the city after spending the past week with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nolan, Muriel, Mary Jane and Jerry, of Detroit, Mich., have returned home after spending a holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sills and family, Marshall Road.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Fairman and Barbara Ann have returned to the city after spending several days with Mrs. Fairman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sherfield, Plainfield.

Mr. A. W. Robertson has returned to the Seigneury Club, Quebec, after spending the past week with his sister, Mrs. A. B. Collins and Mr. Collins at their Summer home on the Trent Rd.

Barbara and Joseph Derzyw are Holidaying in Gananoque, Burr's Mills, and Clayton.

Lovely Deaf-Mute Dancer 'Hears' With Feet

Blond Frances Woods became a dancer despite the fact that she has been deaf since birth and has not the faintest idea what music sounds like. Her partner, Billy Bray, plays the music which Miss Woods "hears" from the vibration of the piano through her extra-sensitive fingers and feet.

Dance partner Billy Bray explains each step in sign language to his pretty deaf partner, Frances Woods, who is being told by the sign letter "R" above to lean more to the right.

To avoid shopping for clothes, Miss Woods has become a skilful creator of gowns, one of which she wears above. She has made all of the 60 gowns in her current wardrobe.

Mr. Bernard Williams of Detroit, is visiting his aunts, Miss Williams and Mrs. Kennedy, at 236 Coleman Street.

Miss Mary Donovan has returned home after spending two weeks' visiting friends in Detroit and Toronto.

Rev. Sister Mary Annette is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. Kennedy at 236 Coleman Street.

Miss Helen Sulman, Bridge Street East, entertained at her home recently at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Helen Brown, bride-elect of this month. Helen received many lovely gifts for which she expressed her sincere appreciation. Later dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

S. L. Alan Vanderwater, his wife and daughter, Mr. Albert Vanderwater and Mrs. Saylor, all of Trenton, Mrs. Sara Shuiler, of Watertown, N.Y., Miss Carolyn Vanderwater, Reg.N., of Picton, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gardner, Purdy Street, Belleville, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coulter in Prince Edward County

Mrs. L. J. Pickering, (nee Mary Lu Lazier), was entertained at a delightful miscellaneous shower held in honor of her marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Flower, Massassaga Road. A suitable address was read by Miss Hester Cook and a large number of gifts on an attractively decorated table, was presented by the guest of honor by Mrs. W. Jose and Mrs. A. Wallbridge. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and an enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

Manilla Shaken By Moderate Quake

Manila, Aug. 21 — (AP) — An earthquake of moderate intensity shook Manila today but more than an hour later there were no reports of injuries or property damage. The quake was felt sharply in downtown Manila at 4:59 p.m. and lasted for 20 seconds.

RAWDON

Double Shower Held at Rawdon

Rawdon.—On Friday evening, August 16th., about 155 guests gathered at Mount Pleasant Church Hall and tendered Mr. and Mrs. Cornel B. MacMullen and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Glover, a miscellaneous shower.

Rev. N. Cole was master of ceremonies and Marguerite McMullen led in a round of community singing. Mrs. Will Jeffs delighted with two vocal solos with guitar accompaniment. Mrs. Carleton Potts sang a sentimental number and Miss Ruth Linn contributed a piano solo. Mrs. Edgar McKenzie, Mrs. Cyrus Summers and Mrs. Roy Thrasher each gave humorous readings and Mrs. John Mulheron a piano selection. Marguerite McMullen sang a vocal selection. The accompanists for the evening were Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, and Miss Betty McConnell.

Mrs. Herb Smith read an address of appreciation to Winnie and Alex Glover and Mr. Harold White read an address of welcome and appreciation to Ormel and Jean MacMullen and Mr. Kenneth Weaver made the presentation of a large array of miscellaneous gifts, pyrex, linen, china, glass, granite, etc.

The addresses were signed by Nellie Smith, Marion Barry, Doris Sine, Marguerite McMullen, Harold White, Edith and Bert Jeffs.

Each of the four newlyweds spoke briefly and thanked their friends for all their kindness to them. The ladies served an appetizing lunch and all enjoyed a social half hour

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Fred MacDonald and their granddaughter, Miss Ethel MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. David McConnell, Frankford, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stickle and Theima, Johnstown, Mr. and Mrs. John Byan, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Brady, Bethel, attended the shower for Mr. and Mrs. O. B. MacMullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy White, of Brantford, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White and all enjoyed a lovely motor trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver recently enjoyed a trip around Rice Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Remington, Newburgh, were Friday callers with Mr. and Mrs. Will Potts.

Mrs. Allan Bailey and granddaughter, Isobel Bailey-Turner spent the weekend at Haliburton with Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Phillips

On Friday evening, around midnight, a thirty-five friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips and tendered Mr. and Mrs. Alex Glover a notey charivari. All enjoyed a treat of cookies peanuts and marshmallows.

On Sunday afternoon, August 18th, at Wellman's United Church Rev. Nathanial Cole, was officially inducted as minister of Rawdon charge with Reverends A. M. Lavelye, of St. Paul's, Stirling, and Rev. C. Cadigan, of Marmora, Wellman's choir rendered them will be suggested.

Intimate and personal relations were discussed by the Rev. B. Switzer on Tuesday morning. Mr. Switzer, who is a professor at Union College, Vancouver, is believed to be the first minister to be ordained by the United Church after union, and is widely known as a leader among Young People's groups in Western Canada.

Reason Helps us Realize

"We must build our personal relationships on the basis of what we consider to be eternally right" stated Mr. Switzer, "How can we find out what is God's will? Reason helps us to realize there is a Great Artist behind the world. We see the beauty of the world and we can ask ourselves, 'If He painted my life, would it be beautiful?' We see the natural law at work, and the stars in their long orbits and we know there is a great Intelligence behind the Universe. God does not have formless plan for the people he has created. It then, there is a great formula we should be trying to fit into it. Man has acquired an inner intuition of conscience. We cannot defy the law of gravity and neither can we defy the moral law, because our behavior is responsible for the consequences. This is like that.

Service to Fellowmen

"Reason and argument may help us to understand, but knowing God is not in explaining the last trace of mystery, but it is in venturing in some kind of service. The fundamental purpose of religion is not to explain things—it is to serve our fellowman.

"No one can explain what electricity is no one can explain the ultimate meaning of life, but we know religion gives warmth and light, and it teaches men to live victoriously and to overcome in spite of difficulties.

"Turn to the job nearest you," the speaker urged, "and do it well. You'll find there is power in the universe to see it through." Do Not Wait

"Do not wait until you have all the answers. Livingstone would never have reached Africa if he had waited. Start with what you do know. No one could have had a humbler beginning than Jesus, born of a lowly peasant girl, without a place to lay His head during His ministry, yet that one Life has influenced the world more than all the armies, all the politicians, all the artists, all the great writers and leaders since."

"Jesus had four positive assumptions which were axiomatic. He believed in a Supreme Being Whom He called Father; He believed also that the Supreme Being had some basic plan; that man could follow that plan; and that if he did he could give maximum service to his fellowman.

"That is the belief that keeps a man marching after the band has stopped playing," concluded the speaker.

Caravan on Long Journey

Of interest to the delegates at the Young People's Council is the motorized caravan at Albert College which will be used as an officers' headquarters for the Crusade services. This truck was originally made in Australia, and is wired for sound. It will be sent out officially from the General Assembly of the United Church at Montreal on September 11, and will give visual demonstrations across Canada stopping at Cornwall, Brockville, Kingston and Belleville in the first stages, spending four days at each stop, and taking two years to complete the trip. At each place it will be met by department officers and it will be used by rallies, local and Presbytery leaders of departments. It will carry missionary work to small areas.

The caravan was recently used at Wasaga Beach for evangelical work among the holiday visitors. It was in charge of Rev. Jack Thompson, field secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance department. He was assisted by the Rev. Donald Amos of Belleville.

Young People Trying to Find Satisfactory Solutions to Some Post-war Generation Problems

Study Groups Formed to Discuss Various Topics in Every Day Living

The young people of the United Church of Canada as they meet at Albert College this week are making an earnest attempt to find satisfactory solutions to some of the problems which confront the post war generation. Consideration is being given to such topics as personal relationships between employee and employer; working conditions; labor problems relating to security, wages and salaries, business principles and responsibilities; rural and agricultural problems relating to education, health services, cultures, social service and research.

Among other things thoughtful study is being spent on national problems of education, under the headings of inequality of education, teacher training, school curriculum, adult education, religious training, co-operation between school boards, the community and the school; the question of vocational guidance and general problems of professional workers is also being studied, under the guidance of leaders and educationists of the Church.

Study Groups Active

On Monday and Tuesday the study groups concentrated on the discussions of the problems presented in every day work-a-day living without attempting to come to any decisions. The remainder of the week these problems will be discussed and ways and means of helping young people to meet a selection. Among those attending from Mount Pleasant were Mr. and Mrs. F. Spencer and Mrs. John Reid and from Bethel, Mr. C. U. Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips and Carleton, attended the funeral of Mr. Harold Worley at Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robertson and granddaughter, of Petrolia, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McAdams. They attended the morning service at Mount Pleasant and renewed old associations.

On Sunday morning at Mount Pleasant, Mrs. Carleton Potts rendered a vocal solo.

Mrs. Fred Clarke and son, of Markham, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orono Sharp and Mr. Claude Sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver, Mrs. Don Campgell, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver and Lois, Mrs. Gordon Linn and Ruth, attended the Nelson-McMullen nuptials at Eggleton Church.

Mr. Thomas Andrews is confined to hospital after his recent illness.

Mrs. Gilbert Smith is visiting her son in Peterborough.

Mrs. Ernest Weaver has been holidaying at Bridgenorth and Guelph.

Mrs. Elwood Johnson is slowly recuperating from her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Glover, Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brooks and Margaret, Carmel, attended the dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Alex Glover, Friday evening.

Miss Ferne Easton, Corbyville, is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jeffs.

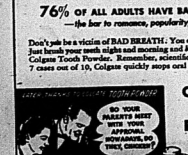
A large number of Rawdon people still have attended the final games last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Morton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Teal at Colborne.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Burkitt, on the birth of their daughter at the Campbellford Hospital.

76% OF ALL ADULTS HAVE BAD BREATH—
—the bar to romance, popularity, success

Don't you be a victim of BAD BREATH. You don't need to offend. Just brush your teeth nights and morning and before every date with Colgate Tooth Powder. Remember, scientific tests prove that, in 7 cases out of 10, Colgate quickly stops oral bad breath.



COLGATE TOOTH POWDER

Cleans your breath as it cleans your teeth!

25c 40c

MARIE MURDUFF
OUR RESULTS ARE GUARANTEED.
Over 12 Years' Experience in
REMOVAL OF SUPERFLUOUS HAIR AND MOLES
For over 12 years we have served the people of the business and professional world.
MARIE MURDUFF
WILL BE IN BELLEVILLE AUGUST 29TH — 31ST — END
PHONE 1499
325 COLEMAN STREET

SUITS ARE MAKING THEIR APPEARANCE AGAIN . . .

With cooler days and nights occurring more frequently your favorite suit will be much in demand. Freshen it with Thorough "MODERN" dry cleaning.

PHONE 2277
MODERN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
LIMITED
325 Pinnacle Street

Taste Tells SO CHOOSE HP SAUCE

Makes your meals more enjoyable

For heart-starting Bran Flakes, look for Kellogg's. Besides other goodness, they're the big economy size. And that's the reason 9 of the people need Kellogg's Bran Flakes. Yes, all the people need Kellogg's Bran Flakes for some of the time . . . so isn't it lucky they taste so good.

Vegetable Salad that's a Meal
... Delicious with Real Mayonnaise!

• For a main-course salad that's wonderfully tempting and satisfying, mix equal parts lima beans, corn, diced beet and celery . . . add finely-minced onion . . . and moisten and flavor with Blue Ribbon Real Mayonnaise. Lima beans give the main-course value — Blue Ribbon gives such appealing flavor and texture!

Mild and fresh-tasting, Blue Ribbon is made from "Fresh Prest" salad oil, selected eggs, choice vinegars and a secret spice formula. It's double-whipped — so full-bodied and creamy it can be s-p-r-e-a-d-d with cream or relish without going watery.

SANDWICH TIP—Delicious as lettuce, plain or fancy, sandwiches are extra-delicious when you use Blue Ribbon Mayonnaise. Enjoy the unique flavor of Blue Ribbon—serve meats time on bread.

BEST FOODS
BLUE RIBBON
Real MAYONNAISE

Ice Blue Satin Toque

By PAUNELLA WOOD

SATIN ice blue, and the slightly deeper tint usually called "baby", so far appears to be the high style color accent for the formal cool season next coming up. Its hats, like this beauty, in dinner frocks, in fact touches for important daytime dresses, it is a current pet of designers who get best-dressed women into the limelight.

This particular ice blue satin hat tops one with a platinum mink coat, and it makes the best possible alliance. The trim is mae kaigretie, black and blue. Black-veil.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Silver Threads In Your Hair

Mid-channel time brings the problem of what to do about greying tresses. The first few snowy shafts at the temples may not mean much. Just one of Nature's mistakes, like creases around the eyes. But these few, often enough, seem to collect a good many relatives. How active is my nervous system, or why seem to appear over night.

What's to be done depends upon a woman's mental attitude. There are several paths open; she must decide which she is to take. She may have an "Oh, heck, what's the difference?" feeling. Maybe she's fifty, is the type that takes what is coming to her without fretting or grumbling. Maybe she believes in predestination, which certainly saves one a lot of worry.

"My face," she may comment to herself when having one of those secret conferences before the mirror, "is not precisely what it was when I was eighteen. It has held up pretty well considering the battles I have had with life, unpleasant relatives, debts and lost illusions. I believe that a snowy topknot will make less noticeable those tissue detours in my skin. Anyhow, why bother with hair dye? I understand that regaining the pristine color takes much time and money."

She is Mrs. Wise. But then, you see, the white hair doesn't make her unhappy, as it does some women.

In contrast, there is Mrs. Yussy. She flies into a passion of resentment against time and fate. She will not tolerate white hair. She is rabid on the subject, drives the family frantic taking about this new affliction. She dyes. She bleaches. She dyes. She is dyed when she is dead. As application of coloring agents are used, one upon the other, her hair acquires a heavy solid look, gets darker and darker, loses more light and has shadows.

There is a third type the one who talks and does nothing. She belongs to that class of women who should do.

"Wish He Were Here"

can do, of course, by taking stock a wandering boy friend. However much the conventions that govern the relations between the sexes may have changed in some ways, nothing I know of has altered the fact that if a man is interested in a girl, he goes after her and conversely, if he doesn't go after her, the assumption is that he's not sufficiently interested.

However, if you want more definite proof of his feelings, you can't do the situation any harm by writing him a friendly note and giving him an invitation to come to see you on a specific night. Your angling for his attention would be less obvious if you gave a little party to which it might seem perfectly natural to include among the guests a man who had taken you out.

If this doesn't waken his apparently flagging interest, I'm afraid you'll have to consider him a lost cause, so far as anything yourself can do about it is concerned.

Is He "Just Passing The Time" With Her?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17 and I am in love with a fellow of 23. I fell for him when I was 14, and could never get him off my mind.

I see him a few times a week but have never gone out with him. He has asked me to take him but he will ask me to go out, but I never accept. He sits with me nights and puts his arm around me and tells me he is my boy friend. As you see, Miss Fairfax, it is all mixed up. I am the type of girl who falls for a fellow very deep if I fall for him at all.

Should I accept his dates or do you think he just picks me to pass the time? I will admit he does fool around with other girls.

Undecided.

Don't you think you're a little bit inconsistent in your attitude toward this young man? You won't accept his invitations to go out on dates, but apparently you're perfectly willing to sit around and pet with him! If you are as crazy about him as you say, it seems rather odd that you turn him down on dates. Is it just because you feel uncertain as to whether or not he's merely "passing the time" when he pays attention to you, or is there some other reason—perhaps parental objections—why you don't go out when he asks you?

Frankly, I think you're quite right about it being a careless flirtation. I doubt if he takes you very seriously since a youth of 23 considers himself quite a man and any one in her teens a mere child. Undoubtedly he enjoys your obvious admiration, but why make a sucker of yourself to feed his vanity? I'd suggest you find yourself a boy friend nearer your own age. You will have a lot more fun.

She Wants To Know Where She Stands

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 19 years, and am very much in love with a boy who lives across the street from me. I used to go steady with him and we had a fight and broke off our relationship. Then we made it up and he is starting to act as if he cares for me again, although I can't be too sure as he likes to kid around with me.

What I would like to know is this: Is there any way in which I can lead up to the subject without his suspecting anything, because I'm afraid he might not care and I would look foolish. I have tried going out with other fellows to see if he would be jealous, but he doesn't notice, or doesn't seem to, yet he tells my girl friend he wants to know if I really like these fellows. I want to know where I stand with him, so could you please advise me on what I should do?

Perplexed

You girls all seem to have an idea that boys are so bashful they're just waiting for you to give them a subtle shove or two before they dare come right out and ask you what they want to know. Some of them are, no doubt, but not many. If this boy really is interested in you or not you like other boys better than you like him, why doesn't he ask you himself? There's nothing to stop him. Since you say you've made up your quarrel. Or is it that you've been trying to play hard to get since your tiff, and unfortunately overplayed your hand? Maybe he doesn't know how he stands with you, either.

Don't you think the best way to "lead up to the subject" would be just to act the way you always did before you had the fight? Friendly and natural, I mean, instead of putting on airs, and doing things to make him jealous. He'd probably take his cue from your own behavior, and if you gave him the chance would be glad to take up where you left off in your friendship.

Her Boy Freind Is Too Long In Coming To The Point

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Mid-Channel Time Has a Problem In Greying Tresses

Actress Lynn Merrick wears pre-party fitting stockings for shoe comfort

The Heel in a Woman's Life

By HELEN FOLLETT

PREHISTORIC woman, who had her feet solidly on the ground, who climbed rocky cliffs to reach her unfurnished cave, probably never suffered from weak ankles. The woman of today who has always worn sensible, properly fitted shoes and who has taken care of her trotters, isn't bothered either with this affliction.

She may not be a carbon copy of the "real" lady who pranced around on spikes, but she doesn't sit on the edge of her bed at night, clasp her hands over aching feet and emit loud groans. Unnatural Position

The unnatural position of the foot, caused by the wearing of heels that are much too high for comfort, throws the body out of balance, puts a strain on the muscles of the calves of the legs, stretches the tendons of the foot, causes the fibres of the ankles to weaken and lose tone.

Observe the high-heeler as she walks ahead of you. The ankle is not ask him his intentions!

J. E.

If you are really in love with your young man, as you say you are, I should think you would want to give him a little more time before quitting him cold. The fact that you feel so impatient about the situation, and evidently feel that you ought to be out looking for someone a little more eager, makes me feel that perhaps you are not as much in love with him as you think you are. If it were, say, a couple of years that he had kept you waiting, I'd think it was certainly time for you to make some sort of move. But a girl doesn't usually tire of the company of a man she is in love with in six months, even though he hasn't yet talked about a wedding. She'd rather wait a little longer. So maybe you'd better examine your own feelings a little more closely to see if perhaps the answer to your question doesn't lie there.

END. TEAR IN BELLEVILLE.

"One Only" COATS
IN THE
AUGUST FUR SALE

To our customers who like individuality in the Fur Coat they buy, we recommend the following August Fur Sale Values.

ALASKA SEAL SKIN	$750.00
Persian Lamb, Tuxedo Trim
RUSSIAN SQUIRREL TUXEDO	$595.00
MUSKRAT TUXEDO—Marten Blend	$398.00
NATURAL LYNX CAT TUXEDO	$275.00
RUSSIAN MARMOT TUXEDO	$275.00
ELECTRIC SEAL DYED RABBIT (Silver Blue Mink-cat Trim and Cuffs)	$269.00
BROWN KID SKIN TUXEDO	$240.00
MOUTON TUXEDO SHORTEE (Processed Lamb)	$198.00

LAY-AWAY and BUDGET PLANS

Approved by W.P.T.B.

BUY IT NOW!

WOODLEY ✦ FURRIERS

373 FRONT STREET

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

He's Disappeared — She Wants To Hear Him Up

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 18 and lately have been going to several dances.

At one of these dances, I met a very nice gentleman. He is 31 years old and seemed to like me. I met him quite a few times and went out with him.

Lately I haven't seen him at the dances and haven't gone out with him. I like him very much and would like in some way to get in touch with him once again. Please advise me as to what I should do.

There isn't very much a girl

INDIGESTION
Help clean up basic trouble with gentle
ABBEY'S
EFFERVESCENT SALT

Foll Fashions with a College aptitude . . . Select your basic wardrobe from our wide variety of SUITS, DRESSES, SWEATERS, BLOUSES . . . at popular prices.

Why Paradol is Always in my Handbag

What a comfort it is to know that you can always get quick relief from headache and other pains, so long as you have Paradol at hand.

It gives you confidence and poise and you need not miss engagements whether of a business or social nature. Paradol does not disappoint.

35cts. Economy size $1.00.

Dr. Chase's PARADOL
For Quick Relief of Pain

It's About Time

By DOLORES BOLAND

IT'S ABOUT TIME to salvage that worn taffeta evening dress for your teen-ager. These usually wear out at bodice and hemline, so make a new short evening skirt out of it. Have several blouse to mix. One of them, while chiffon with full sleeves,

Take your choice...
IT'S THE SAME EXTRA-DELICIOUS
MAXWELL HOUSE BLEND!

Buy Maxwell House and you'll always get the world-famous coffee blend that has extra-delicious flavor, extra-smooth, satisfying body.

Whether in Super-Vacuum Tin or Flavor-Saving Bag, Maxwell House contains choice Latin-American coffees . . . expertly blended . . . Radiant-Roasted to develop every atom of this extra goodness.

Maxwell House is always "Good to the Last Drop"!

A Product of General Foods

NAPANEE LOSES TO LATTA SQUAD BY 7-2 COUNT

"Letty" Hall Scatters Seven Hits to Win Easily From Napanee

Holding the Napanee baseball squad scoreless every inning except the second, Letty Hall, Latta southpaw, limited the visitors' hits at Napanee last night defeating the home town squad by a 7-2 score.

Hiuett, on the mound for Napanee was kicked for eleven errors by the Latta hitters who bunched their bouts in the fifth and sixth when hits meant runs.

Latta scored two in the first; one in the second, one in the sixth when they clustered four blows.

Hall struck out three and walked one with Hiuett whittling five and issuing three free tickets to first.

Napanee scored their two runs in the second off singles by Curry and Van Vlack, a Latta error and a base on balls.

"Doc" Empson was the big noise with the willow for Latta getting three hits. Red Carson and Laurenson got two each as did Chilton Con. Van Vlack and Bwller net belted two hits each for the losers.

Box Score:

Latta	AB	R	H	PO	A
Carson 3b.	4	2	2	4	1
Chilton cf.	4	0	1	2	0
Empson lf.	4	0	3	2	0
Chapman ss.	4	0	1	1	3
Laurenson rf.	4	0	2	0	0
Rogers c.	3	0	0	7	0
Williams 2b.	3	0	1	1	2
Shannon 1b.	3	2	2	9	0
Hall p.	3	0	1	0	2
Totals	29	7	11	21	10

Napanee	AB	R	H	PO	A
Van Vlack ss.	4	0	2	1	3
Turner 3b.	3	0	0	3	0
Jocko rf.	3	0	1	2	0
Murphy c.	3	0	0	7	0
Switzer 2b.	3	0	2	2	2
Leary lf.	3	0	0	1	0
Curry cf.	3	1	1	1	0
Vick 1b.	2	0	0	6	0
Bluett p.	2	0	0	0	0
xButcher	0	0	0	0	0
xxHolmes	1	0	1	0	0
xxxMack	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	25	2	7	21	5

xRan for Murphy in 1st.
xxBatted for Vick in 7th.
xxxBatted for Bluett in 7th.

Latta	0	1	0	1	1	0	0	2	0	7
Napanee	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	2

Summary: Errors: Van Vlack, Turner, Curry; Runs batted in, Curry, Van Vlack, Laurenson, Two Hall, Carson, Empson 2; Two base hits, Jocko, Switzer, Carson, Stolen bases, Curry, Carson, Laurenson, Shannon, Hall; Double plays, Chapman - Williams - Shannon; Chapman-Shannon; Left on bases, Latta 6, Napanee 4; Bases on balls, off Hall 1; off Bluett 2; Strikeouts, by Hall 3, by Bluett 3; Hits off Hall 7 for 7 runs in 7 innings; Bluett 11 for 7 runs in 7 innings; hit by pitcher, by Bluett (Curry); Passed balls, Bluett; Passed balls, Rogers; Winning pitcher, Hall; Losing pitcher, Bluett; Secretices, Hall; Umpires, Plate, Schreider; Bases, Richardson. Scorer, B. Shapiro. Time 1.30.

Floodlight Baseball
Wednesday, August 24
8.30 P.M.
MEGAFFIN STADIUM
KINGSTON
Two League Teams of U.S. Negro Baseball League
BOSTON BLUES (2)
PITTSBURG CRAWFORDS
Regular League Scheduled Game.

TIRES
FOR SALE
We have on hand a few real good used CAR and TRUCK TIRES, for immediate sale.
ALL SIZES
BATEMAN MOTORS LTD.
31 MOIRA ST. WEST PHONE 2380

BASEBALL RULES

THE SUMMARY

The summary or box-score of a ball game must contain the following:

The score made in each inning of the game and each team's total runs. The number of hits, total hits. Total sacrifice hits, totals of two-base hits, three-base hits and home runs. The number of double or triple plays with the names of those participating in same. All the runs batted in.

The score must keep a record of the number of base hits made off each pitcher in the game, including the kind of pitched. Also the total number of strikeouts and bases on balls for each pitcher. A record of balks, hit by pitcher and wild pitches must be kept.

Passed balls by the catcher, and finally the time of the game, the names of the umpires and the attendance.

Baseball Results

By The Canadian Press

NATIONAL

	W.	L.	Pct.
Brooklyn	70	44	.614
St. Louis	69	44	.611
Chicago	61	53	.535
Boston	55	55	.500
Cincinnati	51	63	.447
New York	50	63	.442
Philadelphia	47	64	.417
Pittsburgh	35	78	.310

Tuesday: Boston 1, St. Louis 4; Brooklyn 2, Cincinnati 3; Philadelphia 3-2, Chicago 5-10; New York-Pittsburgh; Philadelphia-Chicago; Boston-St. Louis.

AMERICAN

	W.	L.	Pct.
Boston	83	36	.697
New York	67	49	.578
Detroit	64	50	.561
Washington	58	60	.492
Cleveland	56	62	.475
Chicago	53	64	.453
St. Louis	50	65	.435
Philadelphia	34	81	.296

Tuesday: Chicago 9, New York 2; St. Louis 1-3, Boston 4-5; Detroit 5, Philadelphia 2; Cleveland 4, Washington 3.

Wednesday: Chicago-New York (3); St. Louis-Boston; Detroit-Philadelphia; Cleveland-Washington.

INTERNATIONAL

	W.	L.	Pct.
Montreal	86	44	.662
Buffalo	71	62	.534
Newark	68	62	.527
Rochester	68	65	.537
Syracuse	66	65	.504
Toronto	61	69	.469
Rochester	51	75	.402
Jersey City	49	79	.383

Yesterday: Toronto 5, Montreal 6; Jersey City 4, Newark 6; Buffalo 6, Rochester 7; Syracuse 6-17, Baltimore 1-3.

Wednesday: Toronto- Montreal; Jersey City-Newark; Syracuse-Baltimore; Buffalo-Rochester.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Norfolk, Conn.— Ronnie MacDonald, 151, Edmonton, and Joe Maxim, 200, Bridgeport, Conn., drew (10).

Union City, N.J.—Sol Cantor, 138, Toronto, T...O., stopped Giorgio Gomella, 136, Brooklyn (4).

New York—Tommy Haines, 127 1-2, Hamilton, outpointed Donald Scanlon, 126, Jersey City (10).

Jack Kenny, 168 1-2, Livingston, N.J., knocked out Jim Lake, 170, Montreal (4).

Elizabeth, N.J.—Danny Martin, 158, Newark, outpointed Jerry Fiorello, 160, Bronx (10).

West Springfield, Mass. — George Lawyer, 141 1-2, Philadelphia, T.K.O. Humberto Zamorano, 142, Mexico City (10).

New York—Patsy Giovalsiello, 139 1-2, Brooklyn, outpointed Billy Garcia ,137 1-4 Puerto Rico (8).

JERRY MONAGHAN, pictured above, the well-known wrestler who fought Balboa Bills here with his "Mental Marvel" antics, is the ring is lying dangerously ill in a Buffalo hospital, it was carried to day today. Many of the popular Jerry's fans have rushed to the hospital to give their blood in an effort to save his life. Reports state that Jerry underwent a major operation on his stomach.

Chips Off The Sports Block

By George H. Carver, Sports Editor

That Peterboro Royals a Senior baseball team in name only is on the air right now. So if you are in Bangor, Maine, on the tilt by looking after junior, or for any other reason, tune in at 1230 and you'll hear a play-by-play description of the game.

Thanks to the Goodman firm, the game is being aired for the benefit of shutins or those unable to get out. Also for those fans throughout Prince Edward and Hastings County.

For the benefit of those who have an excessively soft attributed to the Leo Geyer Benefit game by their partiality to the "big" boys, we're also in receipt of the Ottawa-Kingston series in the next round of the Ontario Baseball Association junior playdowns. Well, well, at last we have a chance to see Elmer Lach, the elfin Wonder if the Blue Moon is still in circulation? So seith'rah, Mame. If the better half reads this, we're only foolin'.

Back to the Goyer Benefit Game for a moment, the tickets are now on sale for the magnificent sum of 25 cents, and players of all squads in the Belleville Softball Association have them for sale. Buy a pasteboard and not only see a baseball game but help out a grand guy, who gave everything to bring sport to the city, and who played five and one-half years on the winning team of Civilization against Tyranny on that blood-drenched dirt mond in Europe.

Friends, especially Ken Colling, of Jerry Monaghan, well-known wrestler who performed here for some time as the Masked Marvel and as himself, will regret to hear that he is lying dangerously ill in a Buffalo hospital. Stomach trouble, we are told. It is any event his friends of the wrestling circuit rushed to Jerry's aid when they heard of his illness. The Sharpe Brothers, Mike and Pete, Al "Bunny" Dunlop, Phil Lawson and Whipper Watson and others made a special trip to Buffalo to give Jerry much-needed blood. Fans hereabouts are pulling for the recovery of the popular Jerry who is well known hereabouts, especially in fistic circles.

Niagara Falls Flores defeated St. Catharines 5-3 in the 1st series of the OBA junior playdowns in Niagara Falls the other night. No information as yet of the Kingston-Ottawa series.

Retawa Shoemen and the Trenton Flyers meet in the first clash of their two-of-three OBA Intermediate "A" playdowns at Retawa on Tuesday, August 30th, Convener Ernie Summers announced today. The second game is scheduled for the Alex Mite Field here, Wed. Sept. 4 at 3 p.m. The first game will get under way at 6:30 on the Bata diamond.

Lalla and Bancroft, North Hastings rivals meet in their first intermediate bout at the Alemite Field on Monday, August 29th at 4 p.m. with the second game scheduled for the northern village on Saturday, August 31, game at four o'clock.

Napanee is waiting for Prince Edward to decide whether or not the "garden county" will be represented by Wellington or Bloomfield. Last reports stated that Bloomfield had won two games of the league finals series, and it is quite likely that village will represent the county, although you never can tell in this game of baseball.

"Moose" Matthews, Trenton Flyers pitching ace has been knocking the spots with more or less utter disregard to the feelings of opposing pitchers. The grey thatched veteran of the baseball battles is hitting around the .440 mark, and that Moose is thumping the pill with what is called in baseball parlance demised consistent. Moose has got nine clouts in his last ten appearances at the plate and that is something of a record in any man's league.

Flyers chalked up their league victory at the expense of the Bancroft Alemite Field last night. Ernie Smith was not up to his usual form awell but gave a good account of offerings aplenty, winding up with the strikeout selection act, like a parade in the last innings. Jack Curtis, slow-ball hurler did the mound chores for the air laddies and-turned in a neat performance, egad.

Wired, But Not For Sound

Wrestling is's soft game, huh? If you're asking Frank Hewitt, a local boy who went to the States to try out, it's a case of send more stamins, or more teeth. Wrestling is the "Rowdy Robert" Wagner. Hewitt had his jaw broken in four places and is currently doing the rounds here with his teeth well-clenched with a wire.

He'll be eating through a straw for six more weeks and by that time will be well before the busy clear. How did it happen? "Nothing unusual," Hewitt repeated. "Wagner bit me a few elbow smashes and when I went down he bit me a few more when I got up."

Latta split their two games this week with Napanee one to the RCAF Flyers 6-1 and winning from Napanee 7-2 on Tuesday night.

BALDY BALDWIN RESIGNS AS COACH OF OTTAWA TEAM

In Letter to Officials He States Their is a Difference in Policy Handling Club

Ottawa, Aug. 24. (CP)—Duties of piloting the Ottawa Rough Riders, Big Interprovincial Rugby Football Union play this season rested today on the broad shoulders of 35-year-old George Fraser—a comparative newcomer to coaching ranks. He's a star lineaman with Riders since 1932.

The sudden change in the Riders' general staff accompanied the announcement last night that Coach Fred (Baldy) Baldwin, imported from Guelph to lead the Ottawa team this year, has resigned over differences with the Board of Directors of the Ottawa Football Club.

In a letter to E. K. Emmerson, vice-president of the Rough Riders, Baldwin said:

"Due to a difference of opinion regarding policy and coaching of the Ottawa Rough Riders, I find it impossible to continue coaching and hereby tender my resignation."

The letter ended a brief tenure of office for Baldwin, former Queen's University star quarterback who was named Riders' head coach early last May after the resignation of Ken Preston and the resignation of Lew Barnes, ex-assistant to Baldwin at Guelph, where Aggies of the Ontario Agricultural College have won numerous intermediate championships under "Baldy's" guidance.

"There's nothing to add to what I said last night," Baldwin said last night. "I'm a professional football coach. I run things my own way. The Rough Rider directorate run things their way and that's the end of it."

"I think Ottawa fans would have liked to see me stay in town. But I'm strictly a hipper-dipper coach and don't like to be tied down. I think it would have worked out but that's something we'll never know."

Riders Undaunted

Riders themselves are undaunted by the mid-stream change of horses, although they drop their first game, an exhibition contest, with Ottawa Rough Riders of Ontario Rugby Football Union August 31. When Manager Jimmy McGuire announced the announcement after practice last night, they dismissed it calmly to the team said they will back Fraser to the hilt.

Pegged as an inside wing on every Big Four all-star team since 1933, the new coach was also an Eastern Canada all-star for five seasons. Last year he won the Russell Memorial trophy as the most valuable player in the Big Four.

He captained the team four times in his 14 years association with it and last year combined coaching duties with active work. This year, as assistant coach, he at first planned to retire, then changed his mind. With his new appointment he has changed his mind again, and promises to stick to coaching. "But I'll miss it."

Will Face Charge On Allowing Child to Wander

Midland, August 21. (CP) — George Lawrence, 47-year-old war veteran, will face charges under the Children's Protection act, arising from the finding of his three-year-old daughter wandering alone and alone on a Midland street, at 5 a.m., Sunday morning, police said Tuesday.

The child, Anna Charlotte Lawrence, stayed with grandmother, Saturday night, according to Children's Aid officials. They said police called to take her for a walk and the two failed to return. The grandmother's home, Saturday night.

Little Anna Charlotte was discovered wandering alone by R. W. Storey, 5 minutes by the child's Mobilig. Where she spent the night or whether she had wandered until he found her could not be ascertained.

Police, notified, well dressed, and giving every indication of having been well cared for. The little girl was taken by a neighbor of Mr. Storey's, Mrs. Frank Harpell, leader where she remained in the Children's Aid authorities.

Midland police conducted a daylong canvass of tourists camps, hotels and motels before they were able to discover the identity of the child and return her to her grandmother.

Jim Bagby, Red Sox, and Ellis Kinder, Browns — Bagby hurled stylish seven-hitter 3-1 opening win over St. Louis; Kinder won his first major league game as give Brownies even break 2-4.

Fielding Yost, Coach at Michigan University, Dies

(By The Canadian Press)

Famed University of Michigan football coach for 39 years, Fielding H. (Hurry Up) Yost, 75, died at his Ann Arbor, Mich., home today. He was master of Michigan's great "point-a-minute" teams which competed in American collegiate football from 1901 to 1926. He retired in 1940.

Born in Fairfield, Ind., Yost was a star of gridiron strategy and the development of the forward pass on offence, he won his famous nickname for repeating after almost every play: "You'll have to hurry, you'll have to hurry." The fast formula was popularly described as "a punt, a pass and a prayer."

Lloyd Tamblin, a former Ontario Senior amateur baseball pitcher from Waterloo, rolled up a brilliant pitching record of the game as Sunderland beat Cambray 2-1 at Cambray in the first game of a best-of-five series for the tri-county championship. The winning pitcher was 16-year-old Tommy Welsh, son of the club's trusty and public mimister.

A team of 29 junior track and field contestants representing Ontario Amateur Athletic Union day for the United States Junior Olympics at Cleveland Aug. 23 and 24.

Johnny Greco, Montreal belter who will meet Dave Castilloux, Canadian lightweight champion, in a welterweight bout, in a title bout at Montreal Sept. 2nd night was established an 11-5 favorite, 8-5 at the Forum have reached $16,000 in cash.

Four of six English county cricket championship games ended in draws yesterday. Yorkshire, leader in the play, tying with Middlesex, runner up, Yorkshire to take the tile.

Gerald Patterson, former world tennis champion and Davis Cup player yesterday became manager of Australia's Davis Cup team. Patterson will direct tennis play against either the United States or Sweden at Melbourne his birthplace.

The Meteor Cup defender, owned and skippered by Jonathan Heinrich of the Manhasset Bay Club, yesterday took the lead in the Canadian Trophy at Rochester, N.Y. She finished three minutes and 40 seconds ahead of Clarence Young's Nyanza, N.Y. entry. Aphrodite of Toronto was third.

Racking up a spectacular nine-under-par 63 in his second round yesterday, Big Jim Ferrier of San Francisco moved into the lead for quarterfinals of the National Professional Golfers Association championship at Scranton, Pa., with a 36-hole, total of 134. It was a qualifying record for the P.G.A. tournament.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Walker Cooper, Giants—Helped New York down Cincinnati with two-run homer 4-3 edge.

Dennis Pillis, Cardinals — Turned back Boston with three hit, 4-1, as St. Louis edged to within half game of lead.

Nick Strincevich, Pirates — Blanked Dodgers with four hits, 10-0.

Phil Cavarretta and Bi Bilborn, Cubs — Cavarretta collected 7 hits in nine trips during doubleheader sweep over Phils, 5-2, 10-2. Bilborn's relief pitching saved second tilt after Earl Wilson was knocked out in third inning.

Bob Savage, Athletics — Bested Hal Newhouser in mound duel, holding Detroit to three hits in 2-0 victory.

Taft Wright, White Sox — Paced Chicago's 11-hit attack with two singles and two-run homer in White Sox 7-1 opening.

Mickey Haefner, Senators — Handed Cleveland's Bobby Feller third straight setback 6-4.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES FINCH

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Winnipeg, Aug. 21 (CP)—Pigskin-pushing enthusiasts — not to be outdone by the fairway flailers, has talked their piece during the recent Canadian Professional Golfers Association tournament—are quickly changing local sport banter from golf to rugby football.

Their reason? The not-too-distant affair between Montreal Alouettes and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Western Canadian rugby football kings.

The Blues line up for a two-game exhibition series Aug. 31 and Sept. 3 and rugby fans are already discussing the prospects, the outcome, and the general possibility of Western-Canadian hopes in the all-Canada rugby picture this year.

They think this east-west tussle will give them a little inside dope on their calculations.

Inasmuch as the Alouettes are getting a $7,500 guarantee this pre-season excitement is strictly how we do against a good eastern all right with the Bombers' front team.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 21. (AP)—The big reason for having a New York team in the new Basketball Association of America, explains Coach Neil Cohalan is that about twice as many people as the Garden can hold want to see each college doubleheader. "We'll give them college basketball by professional teams, have young players, play fast break and all that," he says. In some other cities it'll be just the reverse; college games in will move into the big arenas on the heels of the pros.

No Names, Please

One of the best stories coming out of the pro basketball concave deals with hockey . . . it's about a certain minor league player was having a bad night at the wicket and was getting a fine every time he opened his mouth. When he had been charged $75 for razing officials, the athlete skated over to the ref and said: "Now, you soandso, make it $100." The referee looked at his angry face and replied: "Son, it's Christmas time. Let's call it all square." And the fines never were reported.

End Of the Line

Outfielder Jim Dealing, who recently signed up with Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association and started performing like a big league prospect, talked himself out of AAA and into the "C" baseball last Spring. Just out of the army, Jim asked to be sent until he could get his bearings. He batted his way up again with Evansville Evansville, (Wis.) in the Northern League.

Sports Before Your Eyes

Corby Davis, WCAU-TV sports official in the All-America Football Conference spent a week in a General Motors plant in Detroit to get well behind the lines, collecting information for an American attack. . . That sounds like the umpire's position—behind the team on defence.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The rule of "third hand high" was a necessity in whist. There was no reason why it cannot be helpful to declarer in bridge. It is still a good rule for players who cannot remember much else.

Skilled bridgers, however, modify the rule to: "If what they see in dummy. Other factors enter into their calculations, too. Like how many cards are left in that suit, entries, danger, and such.

South is declarer at a contract of three no-trump and the clubs in the deal are as shown here:

North
♠ K Q 10 9
West ♠ J 8 4 2 East ♠ 6 3 A
South
♠ 7 5

Suppose the dummy hand in the north has no entries except in the club suit. And suppose your partner leads what he starts with the lead of club deuce. West shows four clubs by that lead.

Seeing four clubs in dummy and three in your own hand, you know that south has only two clubs to start. After this first club trick is gone, south will have only one club left.

If dummy plays the nine on the first trick, you should not play your queen and lose it high. Instead, you should permit dummy to win that trick. It will cut dummy out of two club tricks.

Take the first trick with your ace and what happens? When south gets in, he will lead his second and last club. He can finesse dummy ten and take two more club tricks after that.

On the other hand, if you do not take third hand high with your ace on the first trick, you have only that one trick in clubs. After that your ace wins and south has no more clubs to lead.

The point brought out here may be put in the form of a rule. It is: When dummy has 3 suit to establish and no other entry, holding your blocking card until declarer is out of that suit.

The law does not nab you for a bishop in bridge.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Aug. 21 (AP) Hey, Hollywood! If one of your pictures is behind schedule, you can blame it on Bette Davis.

I mention this at the risk of being termed a squealer. Here's how it happened:

Mark Stevens was telling me on the set of "I wonder who's kissing her now" all about how he is going to retire in 10 years, some picked-up options or high wages. Yes, sir, another dream at stake and he is going to blow town and enjoy life by producing and directing. Now that he is in the big time he is living modestly and putting his money away for his retirement at 36. At least that's what the young man said.

Also on the set was June Haver, in dark makeup and a black wig and looking pretty much like Bette Davis in "Old Acquaintance." As I chatted with her, this fellow Casper walked on the stage.

He was escorted by his old side kick, George Jessel. Both of them could have given Bette Davis business for clipping coupons, but fame do not quit stuff for long. The tell jokes for any crowd, such as the one that gathered around on the set.

That's where the time loss came in. Jo Pagano, who could done since Jessel is producing the picture and Casper is also a big producer, having lost $300,000 on "Philip Dru" with Gregg Toland. And anyone knows that one doesn't interrupt a producer when he's talking.

Hollywood has finally been given a peak at England's expensive "Caesar and Cleopatra," written by a chap named George B. Shaw. It holds up very well.

Gabriel Pascal, great considerable money in providing massive sets, clamoring crowds and much sand, but wisely allows room to overshadow the stars of the Egyptian drama. These are Claude Rains, Vivien Leigh and this fellow Shaw's dialogue.

Rains makes you believe Caesar was a nice old guy after all, and Leigh makes you realize why Marc Antony was such a sucker. Although some say find it too intricate, the picture's script is refreshing. The author should go places.

FLYERS WIN TWO GAMES AGAINST SWACOS—LATTA

Trenton Team Can Hardly be Beaten for Championship of Baseball Loop

Trenton Flyers won their 24th and 25th victories in the Belleville Senior Baseball League this evening, when they defeated Latta and SWACO. The Flyers are firmly entrenched in the top spot and can take the Manitou gang by winning their remaining four games and the title they got with Flyers, providing of course Flyers do their remaining duals to Kiwanis Juniors. Flyers 18, Swacos 7.

The Flyers bats found the pitchers tough slants of Ernie Smith, SWACO eighthander to their liking at the Alemite Field, Tuesday night pounding him for 13 clouts which were good for twelve runs, six of them coming in the fifth when Smith ran out of luck and Smithy struck out eight and walked four.

Jack Curtis, Flyers slow-ball artist held the SWACO sluggers to seven scattered blows, their only run coming in the fifth inning following Larry Whitman batted a home run over Matthews' head in left field.

Flyers scored three in the first one each in the second fifth and sixth and pounced on Smith in the last innings for an even half dozen counters.

Thomas Matthews, hitting streak was broken last night, the first time in seven games he failed to get a hit. He has hit safely in the last nine times out of ten. Matthews walk and he got two hits for the winners. Fitzpatrick, Flyers catcher was the best hitter in SWACOS as did Latchford.

SWACO	AB	R	H	PO	A
Holdershaw, 1b	3	3	1	8	0
Garbas, 3b	3	2	2	1	2
Collins, cf	3	2	2	3	0
Lee, c	4	1	3	6	0
Matthews, rf	1	1	1	0	0
Gill, cf	2	0	0	0	0
Whitman, lf	2	1	1	2	0
Lebofsky, ss	3	1	0	0	1
Curtis, p	4	1	1	1	0
xHitchcock, cf	2	1	1	1	0
xxCox, lf	2	1	1	1	0
Totals	34	12	13	21	7

x—Batted and played for Gill in 5th.
xx—Batted and played for Hafferty in 5th.

SWACO	AB	R	H	PO	A
Genereux, lf	3	0	0	1	0
Booth, rf	3	0	0	1	0
Fitzpatrick, c	3	0	2	7	0
Gerow, 1b	3	0	1	7	0
Watson, ss	3	1	1	0	0
Latchford, c	3	0	2	9	0
Rowbotham, 3b	3	0	0	2	3
Smith, p	3	0	0	0	0
xxMcMorrow	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	27	1	7	21	11

x—Batted for Ronsky in 7th

R.C.A.F.	3	1	0	2	1	4	1	2	0
SWACO-	0	1	2	0	0	0	0	0	0

Errors: Rowbotham, Fitzpatrick, Gerow, Smith-Batted In: Matthews (4), Holdershaw, Collins, Curtis, Curtis, Whalls (2), Whitman, Two-base hits: Holdershaw, Matthews; Three-base hits: Whitman; Home run: Whitman; Stolen bases: Garbas, Matthews; Double play: Latchford to Rowbotham to Latchford; Left on bases: R.C.A.F. 7; SWACO, 6; Bases on Balls: off Smith 4; Curtis 2; Strike-outs: Smith 13 for 12 runs in 7 innings; Curtis, 7 for 1 run in 7 innings; Hit by pitcher, Lee (R.C.A.F., Lebofsky); Balk: Smith.

Umpires: Thaler, Hale; Young at bases; Scorer: John Francis; Time 1:35.

Flyers 7, Latta 1

Scoring three runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings, Flyers defeated the Latta squad 6-1 in game was called at the end of the sixth innings. Al Wade went the abbreviated route on the mound for Flyers getting out seven and issuing six walks. He held the Latta hitters to two hits.

Stocky Joe Marsh started on the mound for Latta but was yanked in the third after he had issued five hits for seven runs. Wade relieved him but he in turn gave way to Lefty Weeks after the Flyers had tallied 4 more for two runs off as many hits. Weeks lasted the remainder of the game giving up three runs for three hits. Marsh was credited with the loss.

Latta's lone run came in the sixth when Gardner, who singled, came home after stealing second and taking advantage of two Flyers bobbles.

Gardner batted Haffey's solid clout in the 4th drove home three runs while in the 5th Matthews drove Hafferty's single and two walks accounted for three more.

Matthews was again the big hitter with five hits out of six for Flyers. Holdersbaw got a brace. Lourenson was the only Latta hitter to connect with Wade's shoots getting two singles.

Box Score:

Latta	AB	R	H	PO	A
Carson 2b	3	0	0	1	4
Collins cf	3	0	0	2	0
Williams ss	3	0	0	1	4
Kingson 2b, lf	1	0	0	0	0
Rogers c	3	0	1	7	1
Colden 2b	2	0	0	1	1
Shannon 1b	3	0	0	7	0
Laurenson rf	3	1	2	0	0
Marsh p	1	0	0	0	0
xTrench p	1	0	0	0	0
xxWeeks	1	0	0	0	0
xxxClark	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	22	1	2	15	9

xPlayed for Marsh in 4th.
xxPlayed for Temple in 5th.
xxxBatted for and played for Colden in 6th.

R.C.A.F.	AB	R	H	PO	A
Holdershaw 1b	2	1	2	4	0
Garbas 3b	3	0	1	1	2
White 3b	2	0	0	3	1
Lee c	3	0	0	1	0
Matthews rf	3	1	3	0	0
Bridgman cf	3	0	0	1	0
Haffey lf	3	1	1	2	0
Lebofsky ss	2	1	2	1	3
Wade p	2	0	0	0	1
xGibb	3	1	1	0	0
xxCox	0	1	0	0	0
xxxCurtiss	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	25	6	10	18	4

xBatted and played for Hafferty in 4th.
xxBatted and played for Bridgman in 5th.
xxxRan for Matthews in 6th.

Latta	001	000	1	2	3
RCAF	000	030	6	10	3

(Not complete)

Summary: Errors: Weeks, Colden, Williams, Bridgman, Holdershaw, Lee; Runs batted in: Holdershaw, Lebofsky; Two base hits, Matthews; Three base hits, Garbas; Stolen bases, Holdershaw, White, Matthews 2; Sacrifices, Lebofsky, Garbas; Left on bases, Latta 8, RCAF 12; Bases on balls, off Wade 6, off Marsh 3; off Temple 2, off Weeks 2; Strikeouts, by Wade 7, by Marsh 3, by Temple 0, by Weeks 1; Hits off Marsh 5 for 1 run in 3 innings, Temple 2 for 1 runs in 1 innings, Weeks 2 for 3 runs in 1 innings; Passed balls, Rogers; Winning pitcher, Wade; Losing pitcher, Marsh; Umpires, plate, Townsend, bases, Lee. Scorer B. Shapiro. Time 1.45.

Major League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting— Musial, St. Louis .369
Runs—Musial, St. Louis 88
Runs batted in—Slaughter, St. Louis 91

Hits—Musial, St. Louis 167
Doubles—Musial, St. Louis 35
Triples—Musial, St. Louis 13
Home runs—Mize, New York 22
Stolen bases—Reiser, Brooklyn 26

Pitching — Higbe, Brooklyn; Roger, Philadelphia; and Dickson, St. Louis 11-4 .733.

AMERICAN

Batting—Vernon, Washington .347
Runs—Williams, Boston 120
Runs batted in—Doerr, Boston 108
Hits—Pesky, Boston 164
Doubles—Spence, Washington 40
Triples—Lewis, Washington and Edwards, Cleveland 11
Home runs—Williams, Boston 33
Stolen bases—Care, Cleveland 27
Pitching—Ferriss, Boston 23-4 .840

Dodgers in Need of Pep Talk From Durocher With Lead Cut To Half Game in Loss to Pirates

Pittsburgh Pirates Could Prove Deciding Factor in Championship Race

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

Brooklyn stands in dire need of some fiery pep talk from cheerleader Leo Durocher today with the National League lead shrivelled to half a game after shooting a 16-0 pasting from the resurrected Pittsburgh Pirates.

Stories that last-place Pirates were putting on a closing surge to save their jobs under the new owners had been accepted with a grain of salt. But since Frank McKinney, Bing Crosby and associates bought the Pittsburgh franchise, the Bucs have hustled to seven victories in 10 games.

With seven more games against the Cards and four more with the Braves, Pittsburgh could very well prove the decisive factor in the championship battle.

Athens Only Four Hits

Nick Strincevich, who lost his first seven starts in 1946, shut the door in the Brooks' faces, allowing only four hits. The Pirates climbed all over Vic Lombardi and three successors.

The Cardinals lit into Johnny Nigrelling for a 4-1 verdict over Chicago.

Chicago gained ground on both Brooklyn and St. Louis by whipping the Phillies twice, 5-2 and 10-2, but last second baseman Don Johnson with a fractured left hand.

New York advanced to within half a game of the slumping Stl- place Cincinnati Reds with a 4-3 decision engineered by Dave Koslo with home run help from Walker Cooper and Toronto's Goody Rosen nullifying a workmanlike effort by Harry Gumbert.

Boston's pennant-bound Red Sox added a pair with the low- ly St. Louis Browns but stretched their lead to 14½ games over New York with only 35 to go.

Jim Bagby grabbed his fifth victory in the opener 5-1 and Eli- kis Kinder of the Brownies fash- ioned his first major league success in the 5-4 final with relief help from Tom Ferrick. Ted Wil- liams hit his 32rd homer.

Both Cleveland's Bobby Feller and Detroit's Hal Newhouser fal- led in their attempts to hit the 22- win mark, Feller bowing to Wash- ington 5-3 and Newhouser losing to Philadelphia 3-0.

Randy Gumpert's eight-game win streak was snapped by Chi- cago as Ed Lopat turned back New York, 9-3, before a Yankee Stadium crowd of 23,000. Joe Di- Maggio collected his 30th homer in the seventh frame.

AT THE CAPITOL — Roy Rogers and The Sons of the Pioneers, currently seen in "Song of Arizona," Republic's latest and most unusual musical Western, coming next to the Capitol. The added western, "Guns and Guitars," stars Gene Autry.

AT THE BELLE — A handsome boss and a pretty young working girl generally spell romance, as Dennis Morgan and Ann Sheridan (above) prove in Warner Bros. sparkling new comedy, "One More Tomorrow," arriving today at the Belle. Also starred in the film are Jack Carson, Alexis Smith and Jane Wyman.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

B-E-L-L-E	McCARTHY	CAPITOL
ONE MORE TOMORROW	1.25 — 3.25 — 5.25	WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME
Ann Sheridan	7.25 — 9.25	Lon Chaney
Dennis Morgan	Dana Andrews	Jean Parker
Jack Carson	Susan Peters	7.25 — 10.00
1.50 — 7.25 — 9.40	CANYON PASSAGE	STRANGE ILLUSION
		Jimmy Lydon
		5.40

WANAMAKER'S GARAGE
Prompt repairs to all makes
ACETYLENE WELDING
Guaranteed Workmanship
147 PINNACLE ST.
(In Sherry's "04" Building)

LISTEN TONIGHT TO HITS OF THE DAY
STATION CJBQ
5.50 to 6.00 P.M.
MONDAY Through FRIDAY
Keep posted on what's new in records and hear periodic announcements regarding hard-to-get records.
DAVID'S ELECTRIC
Phone 859 240 Front St.
BELLEVILLE
A31,2tfS

LISTEN NOW!
BASEBALL BROADCAST
CJBQ —TODAY
Starting at 4 p.m.
Peterborough Royals
vs.
Kiwanis Juniors
Sponsored by
GOODMAN'S
STORE FOR MEN

TONIGHT
HOMEFOLKS
OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO FARMERS.
CJBQ—7.45 o'clock
Sponsored by entertainment by
BONN
MOTOR SALES
DISTRICT DISTRIBUTOR for WILLYS JEEPS.
STATION WAGONS
Cor. Front and Dundas Sts.
BELLEVILLE
A31-dMWF

CJBQ

"The Voice of the Bay of Quinte"

CJBQ (1230 K)
WEDNESDAY

4.00 p.m.—Baseball: Alemite
5.00 p.m.—Program Review Time
5.45 p.m.—Program Review
6.00 p.m.—Table for Two
6.15 p.m.—Table for Two
6.30 p.m.—Dinner Hour Music
6.45 p.m.—The King's Men
7.00 p.m.—The Lone Ranger
7.15 p.m.—Behind the News
7.30 p.m.—Meet Your Sweetheart
7.30 p.m.—In the Spotlight
7.45 p.m.—Homefolks
8.00 p.m.—Hour of Charm
8.30 p.m.—Music Hall
9.00 p.m.—Concert from Parliament Hill
9.45 p.m.—Dan Ireland and his Guitar
9.00 p.m.—National Council Y.P.U.
9.30 p.m.—News Broadcast
10.00 p.m.—Dance Music

THURSDAY

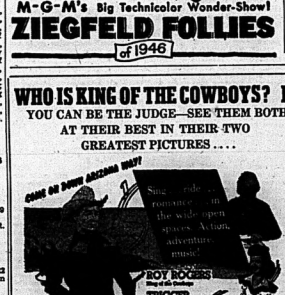
7.00 a.m.—Overnight News
7.15 a.m.—Early Bird Spot
7.30 a.m.—Farm Fair
8.00 a.m.—Breakfast
8.15 a.m.—Burnt Toast
8.30 a.m.—Music
9.00 a.m.—Morning Devotions
9.15 a.m.—Church in the Wildwood
9.30 a.m.—Morning Melodeering
9.45 a.m.—On the Mall
10.00 a.m.—Going to Town
10.30 a.m.—News
10.45 a.m.—Pet Luck
11.00 a.m.—Betty and Bob
11.15 a.m.—Treasure Time
11.30 a.m.—Second Good Cheer
11.15 a.m.—Let's Dance
11.30 a.m.—Lukewarm and Hawaiians
11.30 a.m.—Jumping Jacks
11.45 a.m.—Melody Time — Sammy Kaye
11.58 a.m.—Bess Sweet Home
12.00 noon—Luncheon Music
1.00 p.m.—News
1.15 p.m.—Luncheon Music
1.30 p.m.—Market Quotations
1.45 p.m.—Music of the Masters
1.30 p.m.—Shopping News in Belleville
1.00 p.m.—Donald Novis Sings
2.00 p.m.—Melody from the Skies
2.00 p.m.—Around the Bay
2.30 p.m.—Famous Trials
2.45 p.m.—Women's Interests
3.00 p.m.—Women's Magazine
3.30 p.m.—Symphony of Melody
4.00 p.m.—News
4.05 p.m.—Tea Time Topics
4.30 p.m.—Bobby Sox Serb
4.45 p.m.—Sports
5.00 p.m.—Program Review Time
5.45 p.m.—Program Review
6.00 p.m.—Table for Two
6.15 p.m.—Table for Two
6.30 p.m.—Rhythm Ranch Riders
6.45 p.m.—Music for Two
7.00 p.m.—Soldiers Sing
7.15 p.m.—Behind the News
7.30 p.m.—In the Spotlight
7.45 p.m.—Homefolks
8.00 p.m.—Transcribed Show
8.30 p.m.—Music Hall
9.00 p.m.—Report from Parliament Hill
9.00 p.m.—Variety Club
9.30 p.m.—Hour of Tears
10.00 p.m.—Dance Time
10.30 p.m.—Touring the Clubs
10.45 p.m.—Sports Roundup
10.45 p.m.—Reverie

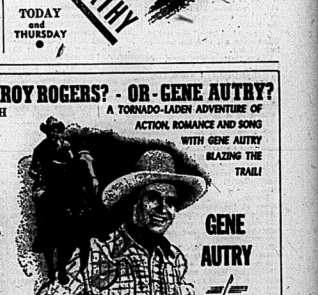
Network Programs

WEDNESDAY EVENING
—4.00 p.m.
WBEN—News; 4.15 Sports
—4.15 p.m.
CBL—News; Farm Markets
—4.30 p.m.
CFRB—One Time—Hit Tunes
—5.00 p.m.
CFRB—Jim Hunter, News.
WBEN—Kern Kobblers
WKBW—David Rose Show
—5.30 p.m.
CFRB—We McKnight, sports
—5.45 p.m.
WKBW—Lowell Thomas
CBL—Lowell Thomas
—6.00 p.m.
CBL—Did I Say That?
—6.30 p.m.
CKEY—Lorne Greene
WBEN—Hobby Club
—6.45 p.m.
WKBW—John W. Vandercook
—7.00 p.m.
WBEN—International House
CKEY—Dinner Gong
CBL—Cities—"Alan and Me"
WKBW—Ellery Queen
WKBW-ABC—The Lone Ranger
—7.45 p.m.
CKEY—Rex Ace
—8.00 p.m.
CFRB—Ben Grauer
CBL—Brig. McCarthy & Co.
WKBW-ABC—Lum & Abner
WBEN—Mr. and Mrs. North
—8.30 p.m.

CBL, CKOC—Hon. Douglas Abbott
WKBW-ABC—Fishing & Hunting
WBEN—Crime Photographer
CFRB, CHML—Treasure Trail
WGR—Charlie Chan
—9.00 p.m.
CFRB—Sad Sack
CBL—Dominion Story
WBEN-NBC—McGarry & His Mouse
—9.30 p.m.
CFRB—One Year From Victory
WBEN-CBS—Dist. Attorney
CBL-CKOC—The Veterans' Show
—10.00 p.m.
CFRB—Hollywood Screen Test
WBEN—Academy Award Theatre
WKBW-NBC—Ray Kryer
—10.30 p.m.
WBEN, CBL—Holiday for Music
WKBW—Rhapsodies
—10.45 p.m.
WKBW-ABC—Hoosier Hop
—11.00 p.m.
CFRB—News
WBEN-CBS—CHML—News
—11.15 p.m.
CHML—Nite Owl
CFRB—Dick Gallingwood Reads
—11.30 p.m.
CFRB—Memory Tunes
—11.45 p.m.
WBEN—Dale Sports Column
—11.30 p.m.—Tommy Tucker Orch.
WKBW—Gems for Tonight
CBL—Neil Golden Orch.
—11.45 p.m.
WGR-CBS—Invitation to Music

WHO IS KING OF THE COWBOYS? ROY ROGERS? - OR - GENE AUTRY?
YOU CAN BE THE JUDGE—SEE THEM BOTH AT THEIR BEST IN THEIR TWO GREATEST PICTURES ....
A TORNADO-LADEN ADVENTURE OF ACTION, ROMANCE AND SONG WITH GENE AUTRY BLAZING THE TRAIL!





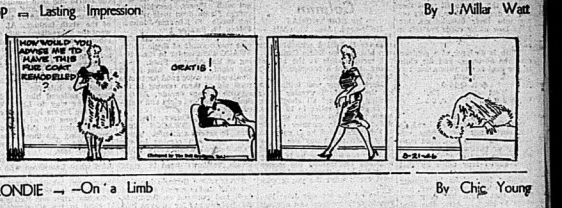
LAST TIMES TONIGHT: Sensational: "WHY GI IRLS LEAVE HOME", also "STRANGE ILLUSION."

MARK TRAIL — By Ed Dodd

LIL ABNER — Love's Labor Lost — By Al Capp

BRINGING UP FATHER — By George McManus

POP — Lasting Impression — By J. Millar Watt



TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS — By Frank Robbins

BLONDIE — On a Limb — By Chic Young

JOHNNY HAZARD — By Frank Robbins

TILLIE THE TOILER — The Annoyance Might be Lost — By Russ Westover

Dotted Line Honeymoon

By Joseph McCord

CHAPTER 13.

"How's your conduct?" he wanted to know. He balanced his hat on one knee, his head turned so that he commanded a view of the lobby.

"All right...I hope." She waited. Staples did not turn his head to look at her.

"Keep you pretty busy, do they?"

"Not as busy as I would like."

"I suppose not. Things are pretty dull everywhere. Guess a good deal of your business in here is with guest transients?"

"Most of it is."

"I figured it was." Staples' bald head came about slowly. "Ever do any work for a guest by the name of...Cutter?"

Jacqueline's heart skipped a beat. For a second everything was misty. A policeman asking her about...Larry! About her husband!

"Cutter..." she murmured, staring at the keyboard of her machine as if in an effort to remember. She even achieved a slight frowning of her smooth brows.

"Yes. That's right. He was around here for quite a while...until a few weeks ago, Good-looking guy. Would make about two of me. Thought he might have given you letters to do."

"Oh. I know whom you mean, now," Jacqueline marveled at her own composure. "He did give me some work. Several times."

"Happen to remember who he wrote to? Or what the letters were about?"

"No. I take dictation on my machine. I never remember what I write."

The little stenographer's heart was beating fast. It was almost the same thing that Larry had asked. And he had suggested it might be well for her to recall his letters...He had said something about an "alibi." Was there some reason for his saying that? Was this the reason?

"I guess they were just business letters, or you would have remembered," the lieutenant mused. His eyes were on the lobby again.

"I'm sure they were."

Jacqueline was thinking fast. She must try to find out what what this call meant. No time now to analyze reasons—whether it was an instinctive desire to protect herself. Or Larry. But she must know. Her face was as artlessly frank as Staples' when she asked:

"Is he a . . . bad man? She had intended to say "crook." But the word would not come.

"Best if I know, Miss Anthony. We got nothing on him, if that's what you mean. We've always sort of interested in strangers. That's all."

"He doesn't look very desperate," she smiled.

"Not a bit. I'll tell you..." Staples was looking at her closely again. "I can trust you...seeing you're an old customer of mine. I don't want this to go any further."

"Of course not. Please tell me. It sound very exciting."

It sounded corny to me, to tell you the truth. There's a fellow comes to me and asks me to sort of keep an eye on Cutter. I'm not mentioning any names, but this first guy is...well, he's quite a somebody. Otherwise, I'd have shooed him away. He didn't have any much of anything. Seems prosper charges to prefer and didn't want to lose any. May be nothing to it, to have any official check-up you know."

made. Just tipping me off in a fatherly way for whatever good it might do me. Wanted me to act in a sort of private capacity". Staples permitted himself a slight smile. "You know the force isn't incorruptible, when there's no strings showing."

"I can't believe that," Jacqueline helped.

"I was for letting it all go in one ear and out the other, until he happened to mention that this fellow was the son of old John Cutter. Then I thought it wouldn't hurt to play along a little."

"John Cutter?" Jacqueline repeated.

"Yeah. You wouldn't remember about him." Lieutenant Staples said. "I had to go through the files myself to get straight on it. Sort of a mystery that never was quite cleared up. He was one of them inventor nuts."

"Oh."

"Married into a little money when he was young and spent most of his life puttering around with his inside. Had a place about twenty miles out in the country. Quite a ranch, I guess. Anyways, he seemed to stumble into something that was going to revolutionize something. Interested one of the head of a concern and built a factory. Jobbed stock around among his friends, school teachers, widows and preachers. You know how that goes. There's always a flock of suckers...."

"I suppose there are."

"Well, something slipped. No one seems to know whether the whole thing was a phoney or whether old Cutter was a misfit whose ideas it came to business. He claimed he lost all his money and it's a cinch the suckers were taken for a ride. Feeling evidently ran pretty high. Cutter was accused of salting away the money and eventually was indicted for fraud."

"Was he found guilty?"

"No. Dead. Not long before he was to stand trial. From what I can find out, there was some evidence of foul play. It seems to have made quite a stir. That it was passed up as a suicide. Cutter's wife and son out of the picture. Now the boy's back in town and apparently not doing any harm. Couldn't be sure. It

"I see."

"It would be easy enough to check back on him. He blew in here from Canada. But my party doesn't want that. Doesn't want the department to get busy on him just now. He's trying to make me think he's doing me a personal favor with his tip, and wants to let it go at that. Looks funny, but I'm just coasting along and keeping a friendly eye on the boy."

"But you say he isn't here."

"Oh, no, I didn't. I said he was here. As a matter of fact, he came back today."

"He did?" Jacqueline could not repress a little start.

"Yes. He registered about one o'clock. I just happened to stumble on that one by dumb luck. That's all detecting is, anyway. It just occurred to...me you have met him in your official capacity ....taken some dictation. Well, I won't take up any more of your valuable time. Keep what I said under your permanent and, if he has any letters to write that sound tricky, I'd appreciate your tipping off a pal. So long."

Jacqueline sat at her desk scarcely breathing. Her brain was in a whirl. She had resolutely restrained from questioning Larry; just as resolutely had she smothered the little doubts that had arisen in her mind from time to time. Doubts that she knew she should be settled. But she couldn't associate any wrongdoing with Larry!

Suppose his father had been unfortunate...done ...something criminal, even. It couldn't have been Larry's fault. She knew instinctively that the memory of his father meant a great deal to Larry. He had said he would tell her about his father sometime. If only she had waited. But...

An ugly doubt. Larry's money. Suppose that stroke in the Val Verde was a myth! Suppose those bonds!

Jacqueline suddenly felt faint and sick. If there could be anything wrong with that money, she had compromised herself utterly. She was using that money to...to save her father's life. Oh, yes, but that didn't make it right! She couldn't continue. It would be too cruel.....

And she tried to assemble it all in her numb brain, Jacqueline was aware of a persistent thought. It grew until it overshadowed all else. She was Larry's wife. The police were watching him. That story of Lieutenant Staples might have been true, or he might have made it up partly....just to throw her off the track. One thing was sure. Larry wouldn't know that he was being watched.

Just where did her duty lie?

Before the afternoon was over, she had made her decision. That first feeling of...fear?...left.

Larry had not let her know he was back, vanished. She was profoundly thankful that he had not come to the office. There was no telling now might be watching. Larry would be almost sure to betray himself to any observer, show by his actions that he was more than a casual friend. He might be warned. He must be!

But how?

There was a problem. It would be simple enough— to call his room, but dangerous. Even if she went into the nearby drug store and called from a booth, the conversation might be overheard. The lieutenant might be checking on Larry's calls. That wouldn't do.

But she could write him a note. There was the solution! Type it. Use no signature and place it in a plain envelope. Jacqueline felt a little thrill run up her spine. She was trying to outwit the police!

In her excitement, she was able to appreciate the humor of that letter. The first one she ever had written to her husband. And to tell him—of all things—that the police were on his trail.

Actually, she realized her information a little more closely than that. But she hoped Larry would understand that, at least he would be on his guard when he saw the lobby.

She left the office promptly at closing time and went three squares out of her way to put the note in the postoffice, looking over her shoulder as she did so to trust the envelope through the slot. Every man in the lobby seemed a potential plainclothes officer.

For fear that Larry might be indiscreet enough to call her at the apartment, she decided to have her dinner in a nearby restaurant, from there go directly to the hospital.

It was a relief to have this duty tonight. Even when Vince told her that the doctor was much pleased with his condition and was planning to operate within the next two or three days. That came as no shock whatever to Jacqueline. It seemed perfectly fitting that Vince should undergo this possible peril just at this time. The unexpected was fast losing its power over her.

(To Be Continued)

PHYSICAL JERKS

Sydney, Australia (CP)—Sydney's Town Clerk promised that a new elevator would be installed at the town hall as soon as one was available. One alderman suggested that it was ridiculous to have to jump up and down in the present elevator to make it work.

MARCH OF PROGRESS

London, (CP)—Farms and cottages of the centuries-old hamlet of Charlton, near Bristol, England, will be torn down in order to build a second runway for the 110-ton Brabazon I airliner—biggest land plane yet made in Britain—now under construction.

GLIDERS TAKE TO THE SWISS ALPS

The Swiss Alps, long a challenge to mountaineers, are now being challenged by hardy souls who scorn their frail gliders for the peaks. It is a very thrilling to watch and very dangerous for the glider pilots. Then, too, it is hard work. For the glider has to be towed to a take-off point (as shown) before it can take the air. The second photo shows the graceful craft soaring past a jagged peak, which mountaineering enthusiasts will recognize as the formidable Matterhorn.

DODDS KIDNEY PILLS

TO LET

FURNISHED COTTAGE, RYDING, on Consecon Lake. Phone 6704 ... 34-tf

TWO SMALL ROOMS, GENTLEMEN preferred. Apply 257 Front St. ... A3-3p

FOR FURNISHED ROOM, APPLY 40 Dundas St. E. ... A3-3p

FRONT ROOM, FURNISHED, KITchen privilege. Apply 20 Victoria Ave. N.E. Corner Front. ... A3-1p

FURNISHED ROOMS OR PART, for two. Apply 70 West Lane. ... A3-1p

FURNISHED ROOM, SUITABLE for two. Apply 257 Front St. ... A3-1p

GARAGE, CORNER DUNDAS AND Charles St. Phone 1118, Linda Hall. ... A3-1p

FURNISHED ROOM FOR GENTLEman. Apply 257 Front St. ... A3-1p

MY HOUSEKEEPER — WOULD LIKE to get some time off, so I am looking for a housekeeper. Apply Box 1, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

MODERN, BY PRACTICAL NURSE. Phone 2626-W. ... A3-1p

CHRISTIAN MOTHER, SCHOOL age children, would have quiet home. Apply Box 2, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE DESIRE two or more furnished rooms. Apply Box 3, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

WILL PAY HIGHEST PRICE FOR standard 6 volt battery. Phone 1214 and Sun. 24 Station St. Phone 182. ... A3-1p

BY YOUNG BUSINESS GIRL, ROOM and board, quiet home. Apply Box 4, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

CLERK FOR CHICORY STORE, CHIC. —17 or over. Write in own handwriting. Write Box 5, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

TO RENT — 2 OR 4 ROOM APARTment or house, by reliable party. Write Box 6, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

YOUNG, SMOOTH HAIR, MEDIUM size house dog. Apply Mrs. Dunbar, Bridgewater. Phone 2-r-4. ... A3-1p

USED UNDERWOOD TYPEWRITER, in good condition. Phone 1214 or 182. ... A3-1p

TO RENT — SMALL FURNISHED apartment or house, for two adults. Apply Box 7, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

TO RENT OR BUY — SMALL HOUSE by October 31st. Phone 133-R-2. Reward offered. ... A3-1p

3 ROOM APARTMENT TRENTON, to trade for one in Belleville. Phone 133-R-2. ... A3-1p

WILL INVEST ONE OR TWO THOUsand dollars as active partner in new or established business. Write Box 8, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

TO RENT, DARKEN STORE, CENTRE of town. Possession Sept. 1st. Apply 257 Front St. ... A3-1p

20-36 MODEL CAR IN GOOD CONdition. Will pay cash. Phone 1214, Write Box 9, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

WANTED TO RENT — SMALL FURNISHED apartment or house, for two adults. Apply Box 10, Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

WE HAVE AN OPENING FOR SOMEone to learn the printing business. Also to sell a high class line of appliances. Permanent position for right party. Apply in confidential. Write Box 34, Ontario Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

POSITION BY YOUNG MAN, EXperienced in grocery, meat and general office routine, customer and credit work. Apply Box 35, Ontario Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

CERTIFIED MOTOR MECHANIC, capable of managing, to right man. Permanent position. Apply in confidence, stating full information treated strictly confidential. Apply Box 36, Ontario Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

TO RENT — SEED OR BARN FLOOR, 30 ft. or at least 30 x 16 feet. Phone 1214. ... A3-1p

MARRIED MAN FOR FARM NEAR Trenton. Steady man by year. Good house. All this and good wages. Apply Box 63, Trenton. ... A3-1c

PICKERS FOR 50 ACRES OF TOMAtoes. Apply Dominion Canners Ltd., Belleville, two miles south of Belleville. Phone 1214. ... A3-1p

20-36 CAR, ANY MODEL. PHONE 1187-R. ... A3-1p

SUITABLE LIVING ACCOMMODATION for family of five (3 school age children). Phone 1214. ... A3-1p

ADULTS REQUIRED TO RENT FURnished self-contained apartment or house. Apply Box 37, Ontario Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

WRITE BOX 40, ONTARIO INTELLIgencer. ... A3-1c

TWO ROOM APARTMENT, FURNISHed and heated, young couple, no children. Write Box 41, Ontario Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

UNFURNISHED, SMALL APARTment, two school age children, sleeping porch preferred. Will pay for it even 6 mos. ... A3-1c

UNIVERSITY HOUSE ON ROSSLYN, city or country within five miles of Belleville. Apply Box 42, Ontario Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

STAMP COLLECTIONS, ACCUMULAtions, accumulations, etc., by out-of-town party, visiting Belleville, will pay cash. Write Box 43, Intelligencer. ... A3-2c

TWO, THREE OR FOUR ROOMS AT once—no children. Write Box 44, Intelligencer. ... A3-2c

IMMEDIATELY — 2 - 4 ROOM APartment by young couple, no children. Phone 1214. ... A3-2c

GIRL OR WOMAN TO CARE FOR home for business couple — wages reasonable. Apply Box 45, Intelligencer. ... A3-2c

EXPERIENCED SALESLADIES

YOUNG MAN WITH SELLING AND personality, to represent Belleville and district. Apply Box 46, Intelligencer. ... A3-2c

LIVE POULTRY, HIGHEST CASH prices paid. Delivery given prompt service. Apply E. Bogart, 100 Front St., Belleville. Phone 1214. ... A3-2c

FEATHERS AND FEATHER BEDS OF all kinds renovated and sterilized. Write Queen City Feather Company, 32 Baldwin Ave., Toronto. ... M3-1

GIRLS TO LEARN SEWING, EXCELlent working conditions, good pay while learning. Apply The Bell Bird Co. ... D3-tf

WANTED FOR TEA ROOM, PERmanent position, Summer help not required. Apply Lattimer's Drug Store. ... A1-2

WANTED

EXPERIENCED WAITRESS. APPLY Quinte Tea Room, 257 Front St. ... A3-1p

TOBACCO OR CONFECTIONERY business, or will buy interest in same. Apply Box 47, Ontario Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

AMBITIOUS YOUNG MAN WANTED to work in grocery store, with opportunity to learn meat cutting. Apply Box 48, Ontario Intelligencer. ... A3-1c

HELP WANTED MALE

WANTED — MEN TO WORK IN WOOD at Wallbridge, Ont. Apply to Mr. Wallbridge, Ont. Apply to Mr. Wallbridge, Ont. Apply to Mr.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King To Return Home

BY STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Aug. 31 (CP Cable) — The likelihood that Prime Minister Mackenzie King will return to Canada on the fast passenger liner Aquitania from Southampton next Tuesday, was seen in Canadian circles today.

Tentative arrangements have been made for the Canadian Prime Minister to return from the Paris Peace Conference to London for a brief visit.

When he arrived for the peace conference Mr. King expressed hope he would stay to the end but the discussions obviously are taking longer than he anticipated.

The Canadian Press learned that cabin space has been reserved for him on the Queen Mary which is sailing from Southampton with a load of Canadian servicemen and their dependents.

Mr. King at present is touring Germany, expecting to be received by Hitler before going to Canada—in order to get a true perspective of the situation there.

(Reuters news agency in Paris dispatch said Mr. Brooke Claxton, Canadian Health Minister, will replace Mr. King as chief of the Canadian delegation at the peace conference.)

Easy to Sell Siesta Rights
Philadelphia, Aug. 31—(AP)—The War Assets Administration expects to have an easy time disposing of the Philadelphia quartermaster depot, now no longer needed by coast artillery as a training center.

The dozen-odd concrete structures will be sold to truck farmers, nurserymen, growers, says Frank L. McNamee, Regional W.A.A. director.

Youth Bodies Deplore Lynchings
Paris, Aug. 31 — (Reuters) — The World Federation of Democratic Youth, representing 45,000,000 young people in 94 countries, has sent a letter to James F. Byrnes, United States State Secretary deploring lynchings and reappearance of the Ku Klux Klan in the United States. It was announced at meeting of the Federation Council here yesterday.

Mental Hospital To be Constructed Near Smiths Falls

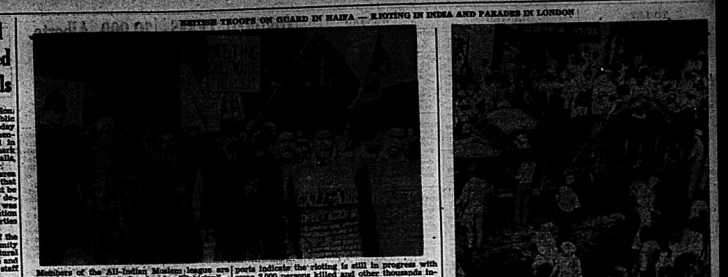
Toronto, Aug. 31—(CP)—Hon. G. H. Doucett, Ontario Public Works Minister announced today that Eastern Ontario's new mental hospital will be located in Montague township in Lanark, county, southeast of Smiths Falls, overlooking the Rideau River.

He said options on the site have been taken up shortly so that preliminary construction might be started with a minimum of delay. Selection of the site was made after a careful investigation of a large number of properties in that part of the province.

Reasons for the selection of the Smiths Falls site, he said, were proximity of railroad facilities, natural beauty, good natural drainage and an adequate water supply for staff housing and shopping.

Natural drainage and levels were favorable for the operation of the most modern type of sewage disposal plant which will be installed, Mr. Doucett said. The proximity of the hospital to the town would aid housing and shopping for the staff and allow participation in community activities. Lands to be utilized were in well suited for agricultural use and could afford recreation for patients.

Mr. Doucett said Smiths Falls had undertaken to furnish an adequate supply of filtered and chlorinated water, and the municipal officials had been of great assistance to the government in its undertaking.



Members of the All-Indian Moslem league are shown demonstrating in London for "Pakistan"—a separate Moslem state in India. The following day bloody riots broke out in Calcutta, India, between Moslems and Hindoos. Latest reports indicate the rioting is still in progress with some 200 persons reported killed and many injured. British troops in armored cars fired repeatedly on mobs of looters, but street battles seem to go on unchecked.

BRITISH TROOPS ON GUARD IN HAIFA — RIOTING IN INDIA AND PARADES IN LONDON

Crowds jibe the streets as the bodies of three Jews, killed by British troops when they tried to break into the port area in violation of the curfew, are borne on a single lorry during funeral procession. The riots took place when crowds surged down Mt. Carmel on the tightly blockaded port area, where two Royal Navy transports sailed for Cyprus with about 1,300 would-be immigrants for Palestine.

Madoc

Madoc—Mrs. T. L. Nickle, of Bancroft, is visiting her son, Hubert and Mrs. Nickle.

Mr. and Mrs. Cluffe returned to Ottawa, after spending a few days with the latter's sister, Mrs. C. F. Aylesworth, Front St. Mrs. Cluffe is spending a few weeks with his aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Storey and children, of Thorold, are visiting in Madoc, with relatives.

Major Rev. John Foote, V.C., of Ottawa, is spending a few days with friends in Madoc.

Mr. Jim Moorcroft, Mrs. Myrtle Rooke, Miss Shirley Rooke, of Toronto, are spending their holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Whytock, Moira Lake.

Mrs. R. C. Scott, of Windsor, has returned to her home after visiting relatives in Madoc.

Mrs. Janet McKinns of Detroit, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Moon and Cl. T. Moon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brady have returned home after a holiday trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whytock, Mr. Norman Whytock, Miss Helen Whytock, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Whytock, Miss Jean Whytock and Mr. and Mrs. John McCaffrey attended the Whytock reunion at Napanee, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. MacGregor.

Miss Mary Davies, School of Nursing Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, is spending her holidays at her home in Madoc.

Mrs. S. S. Ashley is visiting her son, Archie and Mrs. Ashley, at Yankleek Hill, Ont.

Mr. Ronald Smith of Alexandria, Ont., spent the weekend at his home in Madoc.

Mr. Harry Dulmage and Miss Dorothea Dulmage, of London, Ont., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. George West.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Wellington and family, of Chatham, N.J., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. West for the past two weeks left for their home on Sunday.

Madoc residents regret to learn of the passing of two former Madoc ladies, Mrs. Jean Sinclair McKay of Toronto, and Mrs. David Wright at East Orange, New Jersey.

Mrs. Jean Sinclair McKay, formerly Jean Sinclair, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Sinclair, was a missionary in India for forty years. First as a missionary of the Presbyterian Church and latterly as a missionary of the United Church. Of late years she has been residing in Toronto, and it has been the privilege of many Madoc people to listen to Mrs. Sinclair in the church of her own home town. She is survived by her husband Rev. J. S. McKay of Toronto, and one brother, Mr. Will Sinclair, of Madoc. Interment took place in Toronto on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. David Wright, formerly Miss Mary Hutgins, passed away at the home of her son, Rev. Melville Wright, of East Orange, N.J. She was well known by the older residents of Madoc village and community. Service took place in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, on Tuesday, interment at Lakeview Cemetery.

The T.S. Patsi clubs sponsored by the Shriners' Club, on Friday and Saturday, August 16-17, was well attended over 950 registered and received free X-rays.

8 Lose Lives as Ship Hits Magnetic Mine

Rome, Aug. 31 — (Reuters) — Eight men lost their lives when the British merchant ship Bengali, whose home port is Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, hit a magnetic mine off the Adriatic port of Ravenna Monday night, sources here said last night. The 1,167-ton vessel was proceeding to Ancona to load grain. The entire body of the 22-man crew were Maltese.

WE ARE EQUIPPED TO RENDER

MOTOR SERVICE THAT SATISFIES

Efficient Workmanship
Performed By Licensed Mechanics
With
Modern Time Saving Equipment
In a Bright Clean Well Organized Shop
WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED
A LARGE NEW STOCK OF REPAIR PARTS
FOR ALL FORD PRODUCTS
Try Our Service — Become a Customer

Belleville Motor Car Company, Limited
Mercury-Lincoln Cars — Mercury Trucks
Cor. Bridge and Coleman Sts. Phone 111
A. C. "Al" Reynolds, Prop.
"THE PLACE OF FRIENDLY SERVICE"
A16,18,31,35

YOU GET More for Your Money WHEN YOU BUY THE LARGE SIZE

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY AT
Dolan The Druggist — Luttimer's
Geen Drugs — George Pauley Druggist
McKeown's Rexall Drug Store

WEDS FRAULEIN AND LANDS IN JAIL

Ex-Sgt. Daniel E. Millitello, of Brooklyn, and his bride, the former Katherine Trost, pictured following their marriage in Bad Nauheim, Germany. The army arrested him shortly after the ceremony. Germany, Dan, who fell in love with the German girl while he was with the army of occupation, promised to come back for her and her expected child after he was discharged. After the wedding application for a passport was denied, Dan shipped to Germany as a seaman aboard a freighter which he jumped at Bremerhaven. He then made his way to Bad Nauheim, where he and Katherine were married. Then the army arrested him for illegally entering Germany and sentenced him to 30 days in the Frankfurt stockade.

Albania's Record Justifies Claim, Hoxha Declares

Paris, Aug. 31 (AP)—Prime Minister Enver Hoxha of Albania today told a plenary session of the 21-power Paris peace conference that his country's war record justified its inclusion as a full-fledged member of the conference.

British Foreign Minister Bevin, making his first appearance at the conference, presided over the meeting, called to hear statements from Albania, Egypt, Mexico, Austria and Iran.

The session interrupted a series of conciliatory speeches on the four treaty proposals, and turned the Luxembourg palace conviction platform over to countries involved in the second Great War but not invited to participate actively in peace decisions.

Mr. Hoxha said Albania's war record gained her that right, but sit at this conference with the representatives of the 21 victorious powers." Albanian resistance forces tied up 170,000 German and Italian troops, he stated in his 50-minute speech.

He said Albania "scornfully rejects" what he said were claims made at the conference by Greek Premier Constantine Exadaris "to southern Albania," and Mr. Tsaldaris' accusation that Albania was an aggressor."

The first Italian attempt to ease the terms of her proposed peace treaty ended in a stalemate following a meeting yesterday of the conference's political commission on Italy.

The commission declined to endorse a formal Rome request for greater consideration as a co-belligerent against Germany, but left the door open for future consideration of putting Italy for her help to the Allies after Mussolini was overthrown.

The Italian request touched off a 7 1-2-hour debate within the commission regarding the right of defeated countries to submit proposals on the treaties.

Andrei Vishinsky, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister, urged that such proposals be rejected "right now." Western powers, however, arguing that it was hardly proper for defeated countries to propose their own peace treaty terms, nevertheless rejected Mr. Vishinsky's suggestion on the grounds that it might close the door to concessions that western powers might want to propose.

The question finally was left just about where it started.

Warrants Issued Against Lama Charging Murders

Cornwall, Aug. 31 (CP)—Police said today warrants had been issued for the arrest of William Lama, 46, on charges of murdering his wife and daughter, whose stabbed bodies were found Friday near the Lama farm at Harrison's Corners, 10 miles northwest of here.

The warrants were issued on information laid by Chief Constable R. H. Hawkshaw of Cornwall township. Lama had been continually questioned by police during in connection with the double slaying.

Police also said they had in their possession a diary, said to have been kept by Lama since he and his wife were separated three months ago. They said the diary contained information which would have "a definite bearing on the case."

Daniel Page, of London, Mrs. Lama's brother, was said to have been active he had received several letters from Lama in which he threatened to kill his wife. Page said he immediately burned the letters.

Searches for Lama continued throughout eastern Ontario. A Lama, said to answer Lama's description, was reported seen at various points in the district.

Search Near Ottawa

Ottawa, Aug. 21 (CP)—Search for William Lama, 49, wanted in connection with the slaying last Friday of his wife and nine-year-old daughter in the Black River district near Cornwall, swung suddenly to Ottawa yesterday as police learned of the appearance of a man answering Lama's description.

The provincial police here received a telephone call from a man who said he believed he had seen Lama walking along Sussex Street. He said he recognized him from newspaper pictures.

A further lead was supplied by Mrs. E. W. Harrold, widow of the former associate editor of the Citizen, who told of giving tea and sandwiches to a man who appeared at her home last Saturday evening and asked for food.

Peach Crop Worth Over $2,000,000

Toronto, Aug. 31. (CP)—With harvesting scheduled to start next week fruit-growers in Ontario's rich Niagara Peninsula are completing on a successful climax to an unexpectedly productive year during which they have noted a "pronounced recovery" from the "set-backs" of 1945.

George Wilson, director of the Fruit Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, said yesterday that peaches, biggest product of the district, will be worth about $2,000,000 to the growers. The crop this year is estimated at 27,800 tons, worth another $1,700,000 to the growers.

He said a combination of almost ideal weather, adequate help and good hard work by the farmers themselves had resulted in a surprisingly early return to normal after the disappointing 1945 crops, one of the worst on record.

Peaches look best, said Mr. Wilson. "Growers will have all the peaches they need."

The expected peach crop of almost 1,000,000 bushels is 110 per cent of the five-year average from 1940 to 1944, he said. The grape crop should reach 114 per cent of the average.

Apples and cherries, about 75 per cent of the average, and pears, only one-third of the average, do not look well by comparison but still will represent a "pronounced recovery," he said.

"Growers have never taken better care of their fruit than they have this year," said Mr. Wilson. "Good spraying of trees and constant attention have made all the difference in the world."

Hard-working boys and girls of the Farm Services also have played a big part in development of the crop. Government authorities estimate some 3,000 are in camps and on individual farms in the Niagara district. Their impending return to school as the harvest starts is one cause for concern, said Mr. Wilson.

Tito Recalls Ambassador At Athens

Athens, Aug. 31 — (Reuters) — Marshal Tito's government has recalled the Yugoslav Ambassador in Athens, Isador Cankar, it was learned here today.

Cankar has asked Greece for safe conduct visas to return for Belgrade Friday. The Embassy will be left in the hands of a charge d'affaires.

The background of the move was not immediately clear, but followed hostile references by the Yugoslav delegate during discussion of Greece's claims at the Paris Peace Conference.

The Associated Press in an Athens dispatch quoted diplomatic circles as saying Cankar has been ordered home by his government because of attacks on the relations of the monarchist press against Tito, together with accusations that autonomist bands armed in Yugoslavia were operating in Greece.

Threaten Reprisals If 18 Executed

Jerusalem, Aug. 21—(Reuters) —Warning of "wholesale individual assassinations" which British authorities in Palestine if the 18 members of the Stern gang sentenced to death at Haifa last Friday are executed was given today in Knesset, (The Jews') monthly organ of the Stern gang.

Hamas said that should the 18 be executed the "laws of the Jewish underground" will be put into operation immediately.

These laws, the paper added, provide for death penalties and the outlawing of all members of the British administration in Palestine and members of the Palestine police and any Briton carrying fire-arms.

Dog Gives His Life, Saves Master, Chum From Grizzly Bear

Kalispell, Mont., Aug.21—(AP) —A small, mongrel dog trotted along behind his master, Donald Baertsch and a companion, William Barbee, as the two did trail maintenance work in the Spotted Bear country, and suddenly a grizzly bear roared out of a patch of huckleberries. Baertsch tripped and the bear attacked. The dog hurried the bear until it turned, giving Baertsch and Barbee time to climb trees. Then, with one sweep of a paw, the bear mangled the mongrel's back. Baertsch suffered only a sprained ankle and bruises.

100 Houses, Buildings Destroyed by Quakes

Baghdad, Aug. 21 — (Reuters) —One hundred houses and government buildings have been destroyed by a number of earthquake shocks in Penjin and Sulaimaniyah districts in northeast Iraq it was reported today. The shocks began Monday. Six persons have been killed and 14 injured. The Iraq government has voted help to the stricken population.

ASTHMA REMEDY

Wantage, England (CP)—William Morris, 54, who received an 11,000-volt electric shock from a live wire, later reported his asthma much improved.

MUSSOLINI'S WEALTH IN MILAN $3,168,000

Milan, Aug. 21 — (Reuters) — Mussolini's fortune in this city alone, excluding Carnegal property, amounted to $3,168,000, the Milan Tax Office announced including two large modern printing houses, one of which now houses several daily newspapers and a number of foreign news agencies, it was officially estimated here today.

$50,000 People's HOUSEHOLD FINANCE
At Toronto Women you borrow $50 to $1000 quickly, simply, privately on your own signature and repay in easy amounts over long or short terms. You get just one interest charge. It's 3% a month on unpaid balances. $100,000 people financed at Household in 1937
Choose a monthly payment plan
Amount | 12 months | 18 months | 24 months
$ 50 | 4.50 | 3.50 | 2.75
100 | 8.75 | 6.75 | 5.50
200 | 16.50 | 12.75 | 10.25
300 | 24.00 | 18.50 | 14.75
400 | 31.00 | 24.00 | 19.25
500 | 37.50 | 29.00 | 23.25
600 | 43.50 | 33.75 | 27.00
700 | 49.50 | 38.25 | 30.75
800 | 55.50 | 43.00 | 34.50
900 | 61.50 | 47.50 | 38.25
1000 | 67.50 | 52.00 | 41.75
HOUSEHOLD FINANCE
Offices in principal cities across Canada
Toronto, 301 Bay Street
Phone 6602 PETERBORO, ONT.
A.C.Fisk, Manager

C.D.S.
PHONE 2000

The "Tops" In "Toppers"

Skirts, shorts and slacks need just such fashionable "tops" as these! Soft wool and "Angorine" sweaters in long sleeves, "Sloppy-Joe" pullovers and cardigan style —delicate colors: turquoise, pink, yellow, beige, navy, rose and black to make gay almost any sports ensemble. Sizes 34 to 40 in the group.

Pullovers, Each 8.95

Cardigans, Each 9.95

—C.D.S. Second floor

Girls' Sturdy Loafers

Popular loafer style shoes in easy fitting lasts for comfortable wear. Sturdy hip leather uppers with leather soles and heels. Color: brown only. Sizes 4 to 8 in the group. Price, pair 2.98

—C.D.S. Main floor

Good Quality Velveteen

Soft, rich velveteen, with dull finish and deep pile. Suitable for making skirts or covering wraps. Colors: wheat, copen blue, sand and olive green. Sizes about 36" wide. Price, yard 1.7

—C.D.S. Main fl

"THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES"

The Ontario Intelligencer

Probabilities

Lake Ontario Region: Cloudy this evening and Friday after-noon, thunderstorms today and Friday. Low 46, high 72.

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	87	53
Year ago	77	58

Weather—Cloudy.

Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 22, 1946

3c Per Copy, 18c Per Week

U.S. SENDS 48-HOUR ULTIMATUM TO YUGOSLAVIA BRITISH SURROUND TEL AVIV FOLLOWING THREATS

Vessel Carrying Immigrant Jews To Cyprus Mined

Swimming Saboteurs Use Limpet Mines on Ship

Jerusalem, Aug. 22 (CP)—Swimming saboteurs using limpet mines blew a hole eight feet long and three feet wide below the waterline of the British troopship Empire Rival in Haifa Bay shortly before midnight last night, but failed to sink her the government announced today.

The announcement came only a short time after British troops moved into the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv and four other towns in Palestine in the wake of new Jewish underground threats of violence.

"Three swimmers were observed around the stern of the ship and the military guard aboard opened fire on them, though apparently without effect," the announcement said, in describing the attempt to sink the Empire Rival, which had just returned from transporting a group of Irgad of Illegal Jewish refugees to Cyprus.

"Approximately a half hour later two explosions took place and the stern of the ship the Empire Rival began to fill with water. The bulkheads which had been closed held and the next hold remained clear of water."

Serve No Smoke Water

After an investigation by divers the 7,045-ton vessel moved to shallow waters under her own power. No immigrants were aboard at the time and no casualties were reported among crew members.

The Haifa harbor area was under-dusk curfew the early morning hours until 5 a.m., because of the imminent departure of one other transport, the Empire Heywood, for Cyprus with a load of illegal immigrants.

The Heywood was damaged in a sabotage attempt last Saturday when two small gelignite bombs were ignited in her hold. The damage was serious enough to force her to turn back to port for repairs.

Jammed With Military

In Tel Aviv, strong forces of soldiers and police moved in shortly after dawn today and roads leading into the city were described as being jammed with military traffic but there was no immediate indication of what was afoot. The towns of Petah Tiqva, Ramatgan, Bat Yam and Rishon Le Zion also were reported cut off by troops.

Many Jews predicted the British would impose new curfews and launch widespread searches, possibly leading to further arrests.

Just before the troops entered Tel Aviv the Irgad Zvai Leumi were thrown into a state of excitement by the accidental explosion of a bolter in a mill, causing a report which was confirmed to burn while British patrols and mobile police units drove through the city.

Earlier a curfew was caused by an anonymous telephone call to the north police station in Tel Aviv saying that a bomb was about to be blown up. The premises were searched and searched for two hours but no explosive was found.

The tension in Tel Aviv was further heightened by an unconfirmed report published in the evening newspaper Hadshot Aharonot, which said that not one, but three, vessels filled with illegal Jewish immigrants were approaching the Holy Land.

The military conducted a spot identity check of all cars entering or leaving the city of Jerusalem shortly before noon today, throwing up roadblocks at barbed wire manned by Bren gun carriers. Troops also manned on several streets while soldiers searched identities and searched cars.

The roadblocks were moved from place to place every half hour or so under a new practice of making "surprise" checks.

Broken Leg Nothing New

Waterloo, Aug. 22 — (CP) — A broken leg is nothing new for Ruth Natziger, 13, of Waterloo She now has her 17th fracture! leg. She started at the age of two when she was bowling a hoop and the break invariably occurs between the knee and the hip.

Polio Cases Now Total 688 With 46 Deaths

By The Canadian Press

Montreal, with a total of 380 cases of infantile paralysis reported to date this year, was the focal point of a Canadian polio outbreak that today reached a total of 688 cases, including 46 deaths, according to a survey by The Canadian Press.

In the province of Quebec, where the total was 416 cases under observation and 36 deaths, consideration was being given to a postponement of school opening dates and a ban on public meetings, holidaying in the country were advised to remain there as long as possible.

Figures in Ontario were 128 cases under observation and 10 deaths, with the polio incidence running well behind that of 1937 an epidemic year.

Included in the figures are a number of cases now considered cured.

At Callander, home of the famous Dionne Quintuplets, extra precautions were being taken after a case had been reported there.

Strict adherence to established public health practices was suggested by medical authorities as the best approach to the situation.

In Ontario, the Health Department prepared an advertisement for insertion in provincial newspapers, urging parents to follow these simple rules: Peel or scrub all raw fruit and vegetables before serving; protect all foods from flies; teach children to build excellent health habits, and pool, and swimming in dirty water; avoid over-fatigue. It possible do not have children rest for two hours after meals; observe rules to prevent children from suffering pseudo chills or exposing themselves before bath, and to make sure that children wash their hands before meals.

YOUTH IN CAR CHASED BY POLICE

Toronto, Aug. 22 (CP)—William Bennett, 26, of Toronto who, police said, stole an automobile to take a girl for a ride was chased by police for 30 miles last night by motorcycle officer Albert Mills and arrested at the end of a bolter in a mill, causing a report which was confirmed to burn while British patrols and mobile police units drove through the city.

Earlier a curfew was caused by an anonymous telephone call to the north police station in Tel Aviv saying that a bomb was about to be blown up. The premises were searched and searched for two hours but no explosive was found.

The tension in Tel Aviv was further heightened by an unconfirmed report published in the evening newspaper Hadshot Aharonot, which said that not one, but three, vessels filled with illegal Jewish immigrants were approaching the Holy Land.

The military conducted a spot identity check of all cars entering or leaving the city of Jerusalem shortly before noon today, throwing up roadblocks of barbed wire manned by Bren gun carriers. Troops also manned on several streets while soldiers searched identities and searched cars.

The roadblocks were moved from place to place every half hour or so under a new practice of making "surprise" checks.

GREEK PREMIER ATTACKS ALBANIA AT CONFERENCE

Serves Notice He Will Propose That Northern Epirus Be Awarded To the Greeks

Paris, Aug. 22 (AP)— Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris sharply attacked Albania in a speech today before the peace conference and served notice that he would produce an amendment to the Italian Treaty to cede northern Epirus (Southern Albania) to the Greeks.

Greek claims to the territory "go back several centuries," he declared, and it was from a "practical and political point of view that the issue has a capital importance for the Greek people." He said the state of war still existed between Greece and Albania.

Albanian Premier Enver Hoxha, in close association of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, tried to create false impressions" in his speech to the conference committee yesterday, Tsaldaris declared.

Brazil asked the conference to prepare a "just peace" treaty, saying that otherwise "posterity will judge us with severity."

At the same time it proposed amendment to the Italian treaty to establish a new public which will be moved by China on behalf of Belgium, Brazil, Canada, China and the Netherlands.

Criticizes Albania

An Italian memorandum had criticized omission in the preliminary draft treaty of the role of Italian partisans in the resistance war. The Italian representative said that the present draft refers to Italy's participation in the war "under the pressure of military events." The amendment would change the text to "in consequence of the victories of the Allied forces and with the assistance of the democratic elements of the Italian people."

Iraq, through her Minister Tahsin Kadry, asked to be admitted to the conference to state its views on the peace treaty with Italy.

Australia proposed that the conference appoint a special commission to investigate the Venezia Giulia territorial dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia. Factual basis for recommendations to the Foreign Ministers Council "has not been made clear."

FIGHTING REPORTED

Manila, Aug. 22 — (AP) — Fighting between peasant guerrillas and Philippine constabulary troops was reported raging in three Central Luzon provinces today, with the regulars using aerial support, it was said.

The military police themselves said they had brought the war and opened fire on Leftist Hukbalahap supremo Luis Taruc's village in Nueva Ecija province, Central Luzon.

The guerrillas are demanding land reforms.

London Press Believes U.S. Action Will Affect World Politics for Years

London, Aug. 22 (CP)—London papers printed news of the United States ultimatum to Yugoslavia today under banner headlines reminiscent of the war years and the evening newspapers declared editorially that the outcome may have a profound effect "on the future of world politics for many years to come."

Declaring that "behind the insubstantial Premier Tito stands the massive Stalin," the News Chronicle commented:

"News of the ultimatum will come as a profound shock to the people of Britain who are bound to view with grave alarm the revelation of the dangerous relations which Anglo-American powers have now reached—but to precede such action by a short term ultimatum is a high-handed methods into the new language of international conciliation."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said: "Our policy is identical on the United States note but we cannot forget that are the intentions of the Russian government!"

The Express said Russia had suffered slaughter which "far surpasses that of any other belligerent," and added that Russia's security-seeking policy emerges from a "sense of weakness, from the knowledge of an almost miraculous deliverance and from a resolve that danger so terrible should never return."

Discontinue Subsidy On Whole Milk Sept. 30 Abbott Tells Commons

Ottawa, Aug. 22 (CP)—The Federal Government has definitely decided to discontinue the producer subsidy on milk as from Sept. 30, Acting Finance Minister Abbott said today in the Commons.

Mr. Abbott made the announcement in reply to a question of Mark Senn (PC-Halifax-mand) who asked if the government definitely had decided to stick by its decision to discontinue the subsidy.

The subsidy amounts to 65 cents per 100 pounds of whole milk.

Earlier, Robert Mayhew, parliamentary assistant to the Finance Minister, told R. E. Mc-Kenzie (CCF-Churchill) that no change was contemplated the government's milk subsidy policy announced last May.

At that time it was announced that the two cent per quart milk subsidy for consumers would be discontinued as from June 1 and the producer subsidy would be discontinued as from the end of September.

Today it was announced that control of milk prices would be returned to the control of provincial milk boards as from June 1.

PICKET LINES AROUND STEEL PLANT REFORMED

Scuffle With Police on Wednesday Brings Six Arrests; Commission to Meet

Hamilton, Aug. 22 — (CP) — The Hamilton Board of Police Commissioners was expected to hold a special session today to receive a report from Chief Constable D. R. Crocker on the new explosive situation which developed yesterday on the picket lines surrounding the Hamilton works of the Steel Company of Canada.

Both United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.), which called the strike July 18 at the plate steel plants in Hamilton, Sault Ste. Marie and Sydney, N.S., permitted workers and supplies to move through the picket lines Tuesday for the first time since the strike began for a minimum basic hourly wage of $53.60 and a 40-hour week.

Three men went through the picket line early today, two of them after police and pickets battled for 30 minutes and turned away. A man in an automobile arrived, conferred with police and drove away.

But yesterday there was a series of incidents and disturbances in police taunting with a crowd of more than 1,000 pickets and sympathizers. Six arrests were made during the day.

The Police Commission previously had decided against calling in the Provincial Police, but after yesterday's disturbances however Controller Lloyd Jackson Henderson, who has been active in demanding activities of free passage through the picket line, declared it is plainly obvious that the chief of police must apply for assistance.

C. E. Millard, national director of the steel union, said last night in a telegram to Ontario prime minister St. Laurent at Ottawa that "the employers association and strike-breaking activity by the Stelco management with support apparently of the Ministry of Labor has brought about a critical and dangerous situation for which the government is responsible and which it is spreading to other plants and communities."

Capt. Kathleen Durant Faces Charge of Theft

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 22. (AP)—Capt. Kathleen R. Nash Durant of the United States Women's Army Corps today was arraigned before a court martial in the $1,500,000 theft of the Hesse family jewels from Kronberg Castle.

The 30-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., woman is accused of larceny, embezzlement, conspiracy and absence without leave.

Her lawyer told the court Mrs. Durant had been denied permission to make her detained husband, Col. Jack W. Durant, her special defence counsel.

Durant, 35, who married the defendant shortly before the bulk of the jewels was discovered in the United States, is awaiting trial in the same cast, but has not been formally charged.

TRENTON WOOLER MEN BURNED TO DEATH IN TRUCK

Transport Carrying Eight Tons of Waste Paper Ditched Near Grafton

Grafton, Ont., Aug. 22 (CP)—Everett Bryant, 39, of Wooler, Ont., and Jack Leland, 21, of Ferry Street, Trenton, were killed early today when Bryant's truck went out of control and crashed on No. 2 Highway two miles east of here. The truck was carrying eight tons of waste paper. Flames broke out when the gasoline tanks burst and fuel was thrown over the hot engine and the load.

Police said markings on the road indicated the trailer had left the road and was dragged along in a straight line for approximately 150 feet before it overturned and pulled the cab of the truck with it. Both men were trapped in the crushed cab, their bodies burnt beyond recognition.

Leland, an old age pensioner, was a resident of Trenton and left his daughter. He was given a ride by Bryant who was on a routine freight run from Trenton to Toronto.

Rescue workers were unable to recover the bodies for several hours until the charred remnants of the truck cooled.

Provincial Const. W. Van Everett Bryant, a veteran of the war last October went to the assistance of Leland, who was taken on by Bryant into the cab. Both men were thrown out of the cab, Const

City and District News

JOY MacLENNAN TAKES PART IN SCOTTISH GAMES

In Tuesday evening's edition, under a photograph of members of St. Andrew's Girls' Pipe Band of Toronto, which took part in the Scottish Cup competitions, it was reported that the leader was one of the Scottish dancers as Joy McKenzie. This should have been Joy MacLennan who comes from Brookdale Rd., Toronto. This picture is of interest locally as Miss MacLennan is a niece of Mr. Albert Clarke, Bleecker Avenue, Belleville.

ANOTHER GROUP WAR BRIDES TO REACH HALIFAX ON SATURDAY

Another contingent of war brides is expected to arrive in Canada aboard the S.S. Mauretania docking at Halifax approximately August 24.

Included for this immediate district are Mrs. Ivy Bollwell, D. R. File, Point Anne; Joyce, wife of Pte. N. H. Plates, 39 Charles Street, Belleville; Mary E., wife of Pte. P. W. Fairfield, Campbellford; Ina, wife of Gnr. F. C. O'Neill, Napanee, and Doris, wife of Pte. E. N. Woodcock, Trenton.

Obituary

LATE MRS. PEARL VARDY

The funeral of the late Mrs. Pearl Vardy was held from the Martin Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Canon C. Ansell of Bridge Street United Church conducted the service in the chapel and at the graveside. Interment being in Belleville Cemetery. There were a large number in attendance and the floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

The bearers were: Walter Aselstine, James Blanchard, Ivan Beamhouki, Lawrence Miller, Joseph Archer and Walter Abrahams.

LATE MRS. MARY I. WRIGHT

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Louise Wright took place from the Grant Funeral Home on Tuesday afternoon, many of Mrs. Madge being in attendance to St. Peter's Presbyterian Church under charge of this city and in Madoc, the service there being conducted by Rev. H. S. Graham.

THE DOMINION PHOTOGRAPH

DON'T BE CAUGHT WITHOUT THE THRESHING MACHINE YOU REQUIRE FOR NEXT SEASON

By placing your order with us NOW we can guarantee you delivery of a brand new Goodison Thresher at the proper time for next season's crop.

DON'T DELAY — ORDER TODAY.

BATEMAN MOTORS LIMITED

11 MOIRA ST. WEST

Phone 2380

A23-1m

Know the future — Consult MADAME CLEO

Handwriting Expert

Palmist Card Reader

23 Station St. Phone 3833M

A16-1m

23 SENTENCED IN POLAND

Warsaw, Aug. 22 (AP)—Military tribunals at Katowice, Krakow and Bialystok yesterday sentenced to death 23 defendants accused of "anti-government terroristic activities." Seventy-two others were given prison sentences ranging from two to 15 years.

SUMMER COLOGNES

—RUBENSTEIN
Apple Blossom, Enchante 85c $1.25
—HENLEYS
Country Garden $1.25
—ADRIENNE 65c $1.10
—LOVELY $1.25 $2.35
—TAILSPIN $1.50
—BALALAIKA $1.50

McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE

Phone 123

MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

FLOOR SANDING
New Floor SANDED and FINISHED
Old Floors RESURFACED and MADE LIKE NEW
GLEN ELLIOT
184 Dundas Ave. Phone 4181
A16-1m

HAY FEVER REMEDIES

★ ALLERSOL
★ ALLERGI-TABS
★ ASTONE TABLETS
★ BENADRYLINE TABLETS
★ ESTIVIN
★ FELDENE
★ HAYTONE
★ HAYTONE TABLETS
★ HAY-VAX
★ KEATING'S
★ MENDACO
★ RAZMAH
★ SUPERIN
★ VITAMIN C.

GLEN — DRUGS

MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

Chimpanzees Used To Find Vaccine For Poliomyelitis

Baltimore, Aug. 23—(AP)—A vaccine against poliomyelitis may be one of these days be found at the Johns Hopkins Hospital and if it is, it will be because of monkey, sing, as guinea pigs, will share in the credit.

Year-long experiments on six chimpanzees with children's feces results are not expected for another 12 or 14 months, but Dr. Dorothea A. Howe said the experiments thus far tend to establish that poliomyelitis virus from the mouth of the crippling disease are resistant to it the second time.

He declined to give particulars of his findings until further studies are complete — and they are now at a temporary standstill. The six original chimpanzees have become the only longer are useful research tools.

"The chimpanzees were exposed many times to the poliomyelitis virus," Dr. Howe reported. "Although none were paralyzed at any time, they developed temporary carriers.

"They remained carriers thru the normal polio period of two or three weeks. After recovering, most of them were resistant to carrying the virus in their feces. Five have explained most persons contracting polio are not paralyzed but become carriers through the alimentary tract. Many, he said, have suffered tems of polio but none of the after effects.

Strong Municipal Government Best Insurance

Geneva Park, Lake Couchiching, Aug. 22 (CP)—G. Crerar Thompson, Queen's University Institute of Public Relations, said today the maintenance of a strong municipal government is the best insurance against the possibility of mistaken policies of senior governments.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs, Mr. Thompson said that many danger resulting from increased governmental centralization was "the relatively weakening interest of the people in their local institutions by the effects of the gradual sapping of their effectiveness as a unit of government."

"The greatest of the problems of municipal government is to arouse and maintain public interest in the affairs of the community and the efficiency of its administration," he said.

"Growing complexity of municipal affairs has made councillors dependent upon permanent administrative officers and the councillor's only with respect to the staff will be reflected in the success or failure of the council, he said.

"It is obvious that if the policies determined upon by the elected representatives are to be made effective it cannot be done through a system which, a group of laymen in their spare time try to supervise the work of departments carrying out a wide range of complex operations."

FACTORY HANDS USES BRUSH

Symphony, simultaneously. Here is a foundry worker in Keighley, Yorkshire, using a hair dryer in the top-to-bottom treatment provided in the plant for the help. These supplant the pre-war "bath in the kitchen kettle" system for grime-smeared industrial workers.

Male Wolves Can Be Spotted Says Daily Express

London, Aug. 22 — (CP) — Male wolves can be spotted, says the Daily Express, and gave its readers some recognition pointers.

Stock phrases of the wolf, said the paper, include the following:

How enchanting! A sophisticated girl! And old-fashioned ideas.

Don't let inhibitions spoil your life.

I'll wager for two people to be happy than four to be miserable.

Put your two little hands in my big one.

I like a girl whose head isn't turned by flattery.

Don't look at me like that; I can't concentrate.

I like to play with fire, but this time I'm getting my fingers burned.

You're made for Paris and the spring.

It's as hard to be good sometimes.

I can't believe we only met an hour ago.

Be careful too, the Express warns, if he wears tan suede shoes; sun glasses with colored rims, fancy birthday cards, a white wrist watch strap or gold identity bracelet and carries a cigaret case inscribed "To my darling."

PICKET LINES

(Continued From Page One)

Passing Through Lines

Many factory workers and supplies were still passing through picket lines around the plant where an estimated 2,500 workers have continued partial production.

But trouble started around noon today. After one incident involving attempted entry of trucks, police arrested Ert Dalrymple, picket representative, on a charge of criminal charge of vagrancy, and arrested John Gagiel, laborer, on charge of obstruction.

Later in the afternoon a car carrying supervisors from the plant was stopped at the picket lines. Someone threw a rock through the car windows, and when police dashed through the crowd they caught a man with the stone-thrower a series of tussles ensued. Two men were arrested on charges of assault.

Pickets Form Line

Then came the most serious outbreak of the day. Strike pickets ran through police, shoulder-to-shoulder, across the plant gates as a company truck with an escort of two policemen attempted to leave with a load of finished electors.

All police in the vicinity joined in attempting to open a passage for exit of the truck through the mass of pickets and sympathizers. Considerable shoving and jostling followed but the picket lines held. Then the truck turned back into the plant.

In this melee, men who faced a crowd of pickets and symphizers had to call for reinforcements before order was restored. Two of the pickets' tents were trampled to the ground before police dragged another two men into custody.

In addition to Dalrymple and Gagiel, those arrested were Thomas Cella, Ernest Polengo, George Cele and Nick Ernito, all charged with vagrancy.

Supplementary Budget Estimates Tabled in House

Ottawa, Aug. 22 (CP)—Acting Finance Minister Abbott Wednesday tabled in the Commons supplementary estimates totalling $142,644,256 to cover expenditures not provided for in the regular estimates brought down earlier in the session.

The supplementaries raised to $2,811,894,111 the estimated expenditures for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1946. Expenditures for the 11-1/2 months of the year were estimated at $4,850,340,945.

The bulk of the supplementaries covered expenditures expected to arise out of the process of demobilization and reconversion.

Pensions, allowances and discharge benefits are expected to cost the Veterans Affairs Department some $21,318,932 already provided for in the ordinary estimates of that department.

Also in the supplementary estimates was an amount of $97,000 to cover charges arising out of the termination of war contracts.

Broken Down

This is how the normal supplementaries were broken down by departments:

Agriculture, $1,424,098; Civil Service Commission, $36,390; External Affairs, $100,000; Finance, $5,587,000; Fisheries, / $522,500; Insurance, $7,700; Justice, $240,; 993; Labor, $149,600; Legislation, $44,120; House of Commons, $77,000; Library of Parliament, $1,500; Mines and Resources, $1,951,567; National Defence, $102,675; National Health and Welfare, $790,561; National Revenue, $182,; 959; Post Office, $6,299,216; Privy Council Office, $142,880; Public Printing and Stationery, $56,500; Public Works, $6,100,000; Canadian Mounted Police, $169,; 949; Secretary of State, $4,500; Trade and Commerce, $675,179; Transport, $1,187,833; Veterans Affairs, $7,000,000; Total $48,- 680,213.

The demobilization and reconversion estimates were split as follows:

Agriculture, $1,500,000; Civil Service Commission, $180,206; Finance, $2,360,001; Fisheries, $168,000; Labor, $2,040,468; Mines and Resources, $113,050; National Defence, $11,754,815; National Health and Welfare, $857,433; Privy Council Office, $26,673; Public Works, $68,200; Reconstruction and Supply, $37,250,000; Transport, $3,556,191; Veterans Affairs, $31,637,250; Total $93,- 963,188.

Also in the supplementaries was an item of $10,000,000 under the heading of loans and nivestments. The amount will be used for the purchase of land and equipment for veterans establishing themselves under provisions of the Veterans Land Act.

LADY OAKES TO WED

Toronto, Aug. 22—(CP) — The Toronto Telegram said in a newspage story that Lady Oakes, widow of the murdered Sir Harry Oakes, soon would marry Albert Porter, an American who lived for many years in Toronto. The paper said the wedding—"not as yet announced"—would take place in England.

"Albert Porter, known in local Rotarian circles as Bert, was born in Chicago," the paper said. "He is a widower and has one son, Albert Porter, Jr., of Toronto. Both he and Lady Oakes are in England at the moment."

Moderator of United Church Appeals For Consideration Between French and English

Rev. Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, will address a group of Belleville Kiwanis Club's Council on "The Unified Plan of Finance" tonight at Albert College.

Rev. Dr. W. J. Mooney, treasurer of the United Church of Canada, will address a group of Belleville Kiwanis Club's Council on "The Unified Plan of Finance" tonight at Albert College.

Rev. Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, Moderator of the United Church, speaks to Toronto Church at Young People's Union Convention at Albert

"The Christian Church was at its worst and most unchristian at the most basic institution in the world," declared Rev. Dr. Raymond Jesse F. Arnup, B.A., D.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada, in response to a toast to the Church proposed by Rev. Clifford McMurtry, Saskatchewan, at the Church and State Banquet held at the Second People of the National Council at Albert College.

"I was brought up in a community in the depths of economic poverty," went on the Moderator. "We were so poor that we thought that anyone who was paid a salary of some $600 from a missionary board was rich. We were so deprived what in the world he did with all his money. We were so poor that we thought the eternal truths and moral principles that I learned there that I stayed with me all my life, and even though I lost my money, still family and friends, I would still have those and I thank God for it. The outstanding sin of Christianity since the days of the Apostle Paul is the failure to realize the brotherhood of man than does any other organization."

President Problem

Mr. Ray Lewis of Winnipeg presided at the banquet at which Rev. David Forsyth of Waterloo was the principal speaker. Mr. Forsyth has been nominated by the nominating committee to succeed Rev. C. A. Meyers who is retiring, as secretary of the Board of Education of the United Church. His appointment will be made at the General Assembly in Victoria next in September.

Mr. Forsyth, who was born and raised in Montreal spoke on the subject of "Unity in Canada".

Two Great Nationalities

"The fact that we have two great nationalities in Canada, the Anglo-Saxon and the French, is responsible for a division of the people. It seems queer to an English speaking person to go to Quebec and hear a different language and see signs along the way printed in French, and we hear the rest of Canada criticizing Quebec, and we head the French complaining about the English.

In analyzing some of the things with which the English charge the French, Mr. Forsyth mentioned the lack of support in the late war. The speaker quoted figures to disprove that. Then it is said that the French are trying to dominate Canada politically, having had 25 years in the cabinet. Again one hears that their morality is superficial, that they are lacking in lack of intelligence. This also the speaker disclaimed. And finally the charge that they are not as English country and why should Canadians speak another language?

Feels he is Superior

On the other hand the French claim that the Englishman feels he is superior to the French and shows it in the way he approaches him, and speaks to him. In this instance Mr. Forsyth cited the case of an English speaking Judge who was sent in to arbitrate a strike in a town of 35,000 French speaking Canadians, and the Judge could not speak French. The French Canadians grievance is that although the French form 85 per cent of the population of Quebec 85 per cent of the wealth in Quebec province is controlled by the English. The French accuse the English of using them for cheap labor. It requires the Frenchman that although the English profess loyalty to England they really are but Canadians.

Has Wrong Philosophy

They think too, that the Englishman has a wrong philosophy of life, a French woman told the home, his own bit of Quebec to which he can be loyal, his wife and children, but he sees the Englishman deserting his family for the city until whole English-speaking communities are gone. They refuse to let all people coerced, having one language and one faith. But we can't use strong arm methods. Then there are those who say, let us have, one canada, become a separate country and go their own way, or we could become part of the United States. This is the kind of thing which would cause trouble for generations.

Can Live With French

"Personally," Mr. Forsyth continued, "I think with God's help we can try to live with these people who are just as Canadian as we are. We can never condemn the whole of Quebec. We can praise for education so that the French may be better fitted for better positions in life. We can praise for and encourage immigration. Quebec's destiny is with Canada, it is going through changes, and becoming more industrialized. Let us make the French feel that we are friendly with them, and not separate. And then we must set to try to speak French to them, they like it. Then they are reaching out in friendly hand, and they are just as good as we are and when we come close we'll find that we are brothers."

Program of Music

A program of music preceded the speaking and community singing was led by Mr. Billy White of Belleville.

Rev. Charlie Dawes provided excellent entertainment with his ventriloquy of the piano, presenting his own arrangements and accompanying with unusual vocal explanations.

Miss Mabel Stevenson played two piano solos with exceptional ability, and vocal numbers were given by Billy White, the only two Negro spirituals, and by Dr. Gordon Agnew gave two humorous songs in the Chinese language. A violin solo by Mr. M. Wright of B.C., brought the evening to a close.

Former Student Of Albert College Given Scholarship

Miss Nancy L. Edwards of Vancouver, B.C.; formerly a student of Albert College was presented with a scholarship to the value of one hundred dollars following the meeting on Wednesday morning of the National Council of Young People of the United Church of Canada. This scholarship is in the nature of a memorial to those youths of the Young People's Unions of British Columbia, who gave their lives in the Second World War, and so were unable to complete the tasks begun in their youth. The originator of the idea was Mr. Doug Bailey who gave his own life overseas.

A fund of $4,000 has been set aside to aid by means of the Memorial Scholarship a student who is prepartaic for full-time service in the Christian Church. Mr. Maxwell Rae, who made the presentation of this scholarship for the first time to Miss Edwards charged her with the sacred responsibility that went with it, that the broken work of other young lives might be fulfilled by her. A gold signed ring which accompanied the cheque was symbolic of the sacrifice of life and a constant reminder of the memorial. Miss Edwards will be prepared to enter the Deaconess Training School in Toronto.

Thursday Market

Tomatoes dropped to 25 cents the six-quart basket with 11-quarts selling for 50 cents on the city market today.

Corn was quoted at from 20 cents the dozen with new potatoes offered at 50 cents the peck.

A truckload of peaches sold at $1.00 the basket with new canning pears selling at the same price. Peaches apples were quoted at 50 cents the basket with crabapples selling at 25 and 35 cents.

Sanders and Shiro plums were offered at from 60 to 80 cents the basket. Bunch vegetables sold at prevailing prices.

SEVEN ESCAPE

Singapore, Aug. 22 (CP)—Seven of 262 British parstrooopers charged with mutiny escaped from a prison in Singapore but were recaptured early today.

Houses in Belleville

Definite proposals for the erection and completion of 75 - 100 LOW RENTAL HOUSES will be submitted to the City Council on THURSDAY, AUGUST 22 at 8.00 p.m.

VETERANS and OTHERS interested in securing homes in this city are ADVISED TO ATTEND.

Belleville Industrial Commission

A16-3t

RUPTURED

READ THIS MAN'S EXPERIENCE:

R.R. No. 6, Picton, Ont.

J. L. Armstrong, Esq.,
Specialist, Ottawa, Ont.
Dear Sir,

For some time past it has been my intention to write you appreciating the service you have done for me.

Ruptured in early childhood, cause unknown, the hernia eventually descended into the scrotum, and at times caused me considerable inconvenience, pain and anxiety, in later years greatly interfering with my work.

I wore trusses and tried various methods to control my rupture. Your patented appliance being highly recommended by a friend, I tried it out. It fitted perfectly, held securely and was very comfortable to wear. IT CAUSED A COMPARATIVE CURE OF THAT LONG-STANDING RUPTURE IN LESS THAN SEVEN MONTHS. I have not worn it or any other support for over 10-years now and there is not any sign of rupture whatsoever. As I am personally interested no one can readily appreciate what a cure has meant to me. I am now thankful of my age and strength to farming. I do strongly recommend your patented appliance to any who are ruptured. I know of others who have worn it with entire satisfactory. You may use this letter if you wish to.

Yours faithfully,
ERASTUS JESSUP.

J. L. Armstrong, Specialists of 102 Bank St., Ottawa, will be at the
NEW QUEEN'S HOTEL
BELLEVILLE, ONT.
Saturday, Aug. 24th
9.00 a.m. to 10.00 p.m.
Come early for private consultation and demonstration. There is no charge.
No buckling tight around body. No pressure on crest of hip bone or spine. No medicine.
OVER 4,000 TESTIMONIALS AND REFERENCES

BIRTHS

LAKE — At the Belleville General Hospital, on Tuesday, August 21, 1945, to Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Lake (Ruth Hawkins), 19 Cumberland Street, Portland, England), a son, Robert Alan.

MACKEMAN — At Belleville General Hospital, on Tuesday, August 21, 1945, to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mackeman, 85 Forin Street, a daughter, Joan Frances.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Pearl Vardy wish to thank Rev. Canon Ansell, Dr. Graham, the pallbearers, flower bearers, and those who sent floral tributes and cars for the funeral of the late Mrs. Vardy. Also for the kindness and sympathy shown during her illness.

BRITISH INDUSTRIALIST DIES

London, Aug. 23 (CP) — Sir Bernard Andrew Polson, 81, British industrialist, died today in his living quarters at the exclusive Cavalry Club of London. He was chairman and director of many large British manufacturing and banking firms.

PICKLING NEEDS

—SPICE OILS
—PRESERVING ACID
—FRESH SPICES
—JAR RINGS
—MEMBA SEAL
—PAROWAX

DOLAN

THE DRUGGIST

Phone 128

MOTORCYCLE DELIVERY

TWEED

COLOGNE PERFUME
TALCUM
DUSTING POWDER

FOR SUMMER DAINTINESS

GEORGE PAULEY

DRUGGIST Phone 105

WE DELIVER

Dr. G. H. Craig

Announces the opening of an office for the general practice of

DENTISTRY

224 Front St. Phone 2366

Over Shaw's Clothing Store

A15,16,17,20,21,22,23

WEEKEND SPECIALS

THIS WEEK WE ARE FEATURING TABLECLOTHS, TOWELS, ETC., AT PRICES THAT ARE SURE TO PLEASE.

HOMESPUN BRIDGE SETS, 36 x 36. Reg. $3.50	sct $2.98
COTTON BRIDGE SETS, printed designs	sct $1.98
RAYON CLOTHS, 36 x 36, floral and fruit designs	ea. $2.35
PRINTED COTTON TABLECLOTHS, 52 x 52	ea. $1.98
PRINTED COTTON TABLECLOTHS, 52 x 70	ea. $2.98
PRINTED COTTON TABLECLOTH, 54 x 54	ea. $2.98
PRINTED COTTON CLOTH, could be used for tray cloths	ea. 75c
FANCY LINEN TEA TOWELS	ea. 45c
IRISH LINEN TEA TOWELS	ea. 69c
SPECIAL LETTUCE TOWELS	2 for 15c and 25c
LACE EDGED TOWELETTE SETS, 3 piece	set 75c
LACE RUNNERS (white), 16" x 40"	each 75c
1 Only MARSHALL FIELD BLANKET, 64" x 84"	$25.75

IT PAYS TO SHOP AT

THOMPSON'S

296 FRONT ST. (Opp. Victoria Ave.) Phone 336
Dry Goods Housefurnishings Bedding

We Invite you to listen to "HOME SWEET HOME", Tuesday and Thursday, Time: 11.45 a.m., Station CJBC.

C.C.F. OPPOSITION

(Continued From Page One.)

Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent said the policy of the government was that "Canada's overseas diplomatic posts would be filled with career men and delays were "a matter of definite policy." Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) had queried him after asserting that "some of the major posts in our diplomatic service have been vacant for up to six months."

During the labor debate, Mr. Coldwell said that the same players in the report there were implications which might be construed as being contrary to the interests of organized labor.

The job of the committee had been to tackle particularly the steel strike. The report showed no sense of urgency nor the slightest willingness to grapple with the real problem at stake."

May Have Delayed Settlement

The appointment of the committee might actually have delayed settlement by buoying up hopes and resulting in postponement of other negotiations.

"The major point, it seems to me, which emerged from the committee was that the government and its agencies had become responsible for the situation that has occurred," Mr. Coldwell said. "It is their arbitrary and obstinate insistence upon placing a 10-cent maximum on the amount that may be permitted in a wage increase which has brought this about.

"... but this report, the struggle becomes not a struggle between a union and a corporation but one between a union and the government."

There was no scientific justification for the 10-cent limit. There should be a study of industry to consider the relationship of wage costs to total costs and the productivity per man.

Nothing of Positive Value

Mr. Bentley described the report as "in some respects a most wishy-washy affair. There was little in it of positive value and some points needed clarification from the government, particularly the proposal for government strike votes. If workers could be polled by snap votes taken by the government then there should be provision for shareholders to be polled too.

The committee had taken the view that though wages and prices should be controlled profits should not be interfered with.

Mr. Herridge said the strike vote proposal was undemocratic and resembled somewhat legislation that had been in force in Hitler's Germany. The vote should rest with the union involved.

Rodney Adamson (PC-York West) said a national labor code was particularly necessary to meet conditions which flowed from the rapid expansion of Canadian industry. Employers challenged behind in industrial relations and until workers and management sat down together there would be continued trouble.

Urged Labor to be Careful

M. J. M. Lockhart (PC-Lincoln), supporting the government strike vote, said he had found dissatisfaction in the ranks of labor about the conduct of strike votes. That would be serious if the Labor Department conducted them. He urged labor to be careful in choosing its leadership because the type of leadership would determine the extent to which they enjoyed public confidence.

C. E. Johnston (SC-Bow River) said he considered the steel union's objective of an annual wage of $1,750 reasonable. Living costs were advancing rapidly and as a result living standards of workers were being reduced.

Both Mr. Johnston and Lawrence Skey (PC-Toronto Trinity) were critical of an absence of liaison between wage and price administrations. Mr. Skey suggested that Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, should be taken into the cabinet.

WHOLE STRUCTURE

(Continued from Page One)

These outrageous acts have been prepared by a government that professes to be a friendly nation," the ultimatum said.

Planes Unarmed

Citing the fact that the planes were unarmed, it declared that their flight "in no way constituted a violation of the sovereignty of Yugoslavia." Then he added, significantly:

"The use of force by Yugoslavia under the circumstances was without the slightest justification in international law, was entirely inconsistent with relations between friendly nations, and was a plain violation of the obligations resting upon Yugoslavia under the charter of the United Nations not to use force except in self-defence.

The deliberate firing without warning on the unarmed passenger planes of a friendly nation is, in the judgment of the United States, an offense against the law of nations and the principles of humanity."

Given One Choice

With that array of charges laid down, the American note gave Yugoslavia one choice — or else.

"If when 48 hours from the receipt of this note by the Yugoslav government these demands are complied with, the United States will determine its course in the light of the evidence then secured and the efforts of the Yugoslav government to right the wrong done."

But, it added:

"If, however, within that time these demands are not complied with, the United States government will call upon the Security Council of the United Nations to meet promptly and to take appropriate action."

EIGHT ESCAPED DEATH AS TRANSPORT PLANE CRASHES!

Eight men aboard a B-25 of the air transport command miraculously escaped death when the plane overshot a Washington National airport runway, crashed into a gullet and burst into flames. Photo shows wreckage on a railroad embankment adjacent to Mount Vernon Memorial Highway.

Schoharie

SCHOHARIE—Ronald Leavitt, of Wooler, spent last week with his cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stone and Barbara.

Mrs. Harper Shaw and granddaughter, Jean Wager, of Picton, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hobson.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Istead entertained the latter's brother and family, of Alberta, for several days last week.

Mrs. Clare Mathie spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Mildred Benson.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Calnan and Mr. Keith Foster, spent Sunday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster.

Mrs. Mildred Benson spent Thursday in Picton with her sister Mrs. Robert Sayers and Mr. Sayers.

Mrs. Ed. Peeling of Utica, N.Y. is the guest of her sister, Mrs. B. Payne and Mr. Payne.

Melrose

Melrose. — Mr. and Mrs. Fred English and Misses Jean and Joy English of Beamsville, spent the weekend with relatives here. On Sunday, the families of Arthur, Jack, and Fred English enjoyed a picnic in Kingston.

Miss Annable Forestell is enjoying her holidays at her home here.

Miss Evelyn Callahan is spending her vacation with her sister in Rochester.

Mr. C. E. Sexsmith attended the wedding of her nephew, on Saturday, in Bath.

Miss Mae Toppings has returned to her work at the store after a few days' illness.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Macfarlane returned home on Wednesday from their honeymoon in Ottawa and Montreal. A charivari party serenaded them on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Pringle have moved into part of the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Snider, now the property of Jack Macfarlane.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lloyd and Mr. Gordon Lloyd also Mr. and Mrs. Brian Smith and baby, Sharon, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLaren.

Mr. N. Tripp, of Windsor, has been visiting relatives and renewing acquaintances in this community.

Malcolm McLaren lately returned to Oshawa, after his holidays.

Misses Jean McLaren and Ruth Blatherwick, of Belleville, enjoyed a recent motor trip to Watertown via the Ivy Lea bridge.

Rev. Mr. Lougheed and Mrs. Lougheed spent the Sunday dinner hour with Mr. and Mrs. McMechan and family.

The community extends congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgibbon, nee Helen Lazier, who were married on Wednesday last.

Mrs. John Leitch has returned home from a visit with her son, Rev. John Leitch.

Malone

Malone. —Mr. and Mrs. William Carman and son, Billie, Niagara Falls, N.Y., are spending a few weeks with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fox, Gerald and Mary Ann spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. McCarvey, Napanee, also Mrs. Charlie Fox, Point Anne, called on Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fox on Sunday afternoon last.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pack, Belleville visited one day last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelly.

Mr. Pete Lucas, Marmora, is spending a few days with his brother, Mr. Alex. Lucas.

Miss Doreen Ferguson, Bancroft, is spending a couple of weeks with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McCormack, Peterboro, and Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, Marmora, visited on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Deline.

Miss Dorothy McCann, Belleville spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McCann.

Mrs. Walter Gawley, Norman, Ray and Leland, Peterboro, visited on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Deline and Mr. and Mrs. H. Wees.

Mr. Ford Chambers, Mrs. Russel Fox and granddaughter, Mary Ann, called on Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wesse on Saturday afternoon last.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Fox returned home last Thursday after spending a few weeks at the home of their son, Mr. Wm. Fox, Sarnia.

IF IT'S ABOUT YOUR EYES . . . SEE McFEE

tempting, hot PARKER HOUSE ROLLS

Made in Canada

• This active fresh yeast works fast because it's full-strength. It saves you time and extra steps. And the Parker House rolls you bake with Fleischmann's will be especially tasty — tender, light, smooth-textured.

IF YOU BAKE AT HOME, order Fleischmann's active Fresh Yeast—the dependable yeast with the familiar yellow label. It's been Canada's favorite for more than 70 years.

Always fresh... at your grocer's

FOR THAT HAPPY WELL-DRESSED FEELING

Regular cleaning by "MODERN" will give you that the year round.

CALL TODAY!

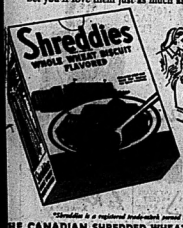
PHONE 2277

MODERN

CLEANERS and DYERS LIMITED

335 - Pinnacle Street

"Yes; you sure will go for Shreddies. They're crisp and crunchy with a swell flavor that makes you come running to breakfast when you see a dish of these spoon-size morsels waiting. Why don't you try Shreddies* for breakfast tomorrow, too? I'll bet you'll love them just as much as I do."



Cheese or Chocolate "Nibbles."

"I tell your mummy that Shreddies are tops for her dinnertime tea party too, served with cheese and chocolate nibbles. Mummy and your daddy will love them."

*Shreddies is a registered trade-mark owned in Canada by

THE CANADIAN SHREDDED WHEAT COMPANY, LTD.
NIAGARA FALLS, CANADA

PAUL MERCIER

JEWELRY of Lasting Beauty

Do you want something dignified — something exquisitely lovely in Jewellery of unique charm — traditionally distinctive diamonds of lasting beauty? Then come to PAUL MERCIER'S, in his newly remodelled store. New location at

338 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE

Gladstone — Elgin — Cardinal

WATCHES

For Men and Women

MANTEL CLOCKS
ALARM CLOCKS
SIGNET RINGS
CUFF LINKS
ELECTRIC RAZORS
POCKET BOOKS PEARLS
BRUSH AND COMB SETS
BRACELETS
COMPACTS
CIGARETTE LIGHTERS

NICE SELECTION MANTEL CLOCKS

English Movement Cathedral Chimes

Ask About Our Personalized MADE-TO-ORDER JEWELLERY

Exclusive designs, sketched by art craftsmen and made specifically to your requirements.

CROWN DIAMONDS

Quality diamonds of beauty and charm, priced below market.

COSTUME JEWELLERY
CHAIN AND LOCKET
FLAT SILVERWARE
EXPANSION BRACELETS
BIRTHSTONE RINGS

COMPLETE WATCH REPAIR DEPARTMENT

Under competent supervision. Experienced workmen.

USE OUR LAY-A-WAY PLAN NOW FOR CHRISTMAS BUYING

Paul Mercier

338 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

Ontario Established 1867 — Intelligencer Established 1927
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, LIMITED
Belleville, Ontario

Subscription Rates:
By mail or in Belleville, 10c a week.
By mail in Canada, outside Belleville, $3.50 for six months, $6.50 for three months.
To U.S.A. $7.00 per year.
Member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, Member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Publishers Association, Member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.
The Canadian Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all the local news printed in this newspaper as well as all the Associated Press and Reuter news.
All rights of republication of special despatches are reserved.

At Versailles And Paris

Field Marshal Jan Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa, is the only representative statesman at the Paris Peace Conference who was at the treaty making at Versailles after the First Great War. The Field Marshal is one of the outstanding statesmen of the British Commonwealth and of the world. During the Second World War his service to the United Nations counsels was of invaluable importance and his utterances were among the most inspiring addresses made in those trying years of 1939-45 when the steadying power of a great statesman was a tower of strength to the British cause and to that of the Allies in the war against the Axis.

Time has wrought many changes since he attended the conference at Versailles, so many that only he remains of the great company of statesmen who there wrote the treaty named after Versailles. Today though he is seventy-six years of age, he is vivid in mind and body and truly an elder statesman whom the world honors for his wisdom.

Paper Bag Shortage

Those who have done their marketing and shopping with baskets for the years of the war will be in fashion now with the shortage of paper bags which has been brought to the attention of the public in Belleville and in all other places. Those who do not carry baskets can help out the situation by bringing their own bags of paper or other material for the shortage is quite acute.

Modern shopping does require use of a very large number of bags or containers. These bags should be treated carefully by the purchaser and stored so that on the next visit to a shop one or more of them may be brought by the buyer to carry home the new purchases. In view of the scarcity it seems too bad to have used only once are thrown away or destroyed. To help the situation with these bags will be invaluable at this time. To waste them by not using them again or by destroying them is a wrong which cannot be condoned.

It should become the fashion to carry a bag or basket from home just as it is fashionable to carry parcels home in bags.

To ease a shortage in paper helps in other ways. If every individual will try to remember to bring a bag when buying, a great service will not only be done all purchasers, but also the shops and clerks staffs as well as the country at large which has its many problems of shortages in other lines.

'Carry on Literary Tradition

Of the three elder British writers who for nearly two generations have made an immense contribution to the literature of the age, Kipling, Wells and Shaw, only the latter now remains in lonely greatness at the height of years (he has just passed his ninetieth birthday.)

An age which can produce men of this calibre is a period which will be remembered.

Kipling's contribution in short stories and longer stories and in poetry were an adornment to letters for the world literature and in the later years of the great Victorian age of literature and continued for three and a half decades beyond the reign of Queen Victoria. Wells started writing in the late Victorian days and wrote on down to the present. Shaw as dramatist, critic and propagandist, also had his start well within the Victorian era. Whether at ninety he will still write drama remains to be seen. It is forty-eight years ago since he published seven plays, "Plays, Pleasant and Unpleasant," three being unpleasant and four pleasant. All he has written since then forty-five and fifty dramas, a few of them short. Two of these plays are not of this age at all, one goes back to the time of Caesar and Cleopatra and another to Joan of Arc. The latter play was produced in the Griffin Opera House a little over twenty years ago with great success.

With Shaw there stands another great writer of this age, England's poet laureate, John Masefield, who however, is much younger than Shaw.

In the vast production of publications of the modern world, British writers have produced something that will outlast the years. Kipling is sure of immortality of fame for story and poetry, Wells will live in story and novel and possibly for his scientific work and Shaw seems assured of immortality of fame for his work in drama and his command of language and his wit. Shaw and Masefield carry on the high tradition of English literature.

Is This Meat Really Necessary?

If we make it a habit to buy only what we need and to waste no food that is bought, the surpluses available for export will quickly disappear.

Some of us with expanding waistlines may do more.

As Australians we may keep before us the picture of Europe's starving children, who might have been our own, had Hitler been successful, and ask ourselves, paraphrasing the wartime travel slogan, "Is this meal really necessary?"

—The Printed Word, Toronto

Name or Number County Roads

There cannot be any insuperable difficulty to the naming of country roads and lanes and it would greatly facilitate public convenience. Everyone has met the difficulty of trying to locate people and places in rural districts. The naming and numbering of rural roads the same as city streets so that every rural citizen and every visitor could have an address would be a great help to all and strangers could be more easily directed to their homes than under the present methods, which confuse the outlanders there.

—Brandon Sun

Pilot at 80

It is considered worthy of mention in the news that Mr. Bernard Douglas Fawcett of London, England, is still-piloting aircraft at the age of 80. No such story is ever carried on the cables about men driving cars at that time of life, and the day will come when the air activities of octogenarians will be similarly overlooked.

Flying is not a "young man's game." Aerial combat, of course, is not for oldsters, but when it comes to piloting about on private businesses in light planes, there is no reason why a a great-grandfather should not do it as well as a youth. It is all a matter of perspective, and we have not yet become sufficiently accustomed to the air age to see these things in our stride. But we shall learn that piloting an aircraft with the safety devices which are now standard equipment is a routine procedure.

—Windsor Daily Star

Newspaper Facts

The experience that comes with running an individual business as a boy, eventually pays off. Douglas Grieg, new President of Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited, sold newspapers as a boy at the corner of Queen and McCaul Streets in Toronto.

J. R. M. Brunwell in a talk in the BBC service on Art and Advertising, recently indicated something of the age of advertising. He said "About two thousand years ago in a Roman market place on a pillar which is still in existence, the following advertisement was written: 'The gladiators will fight at noon; there will be awnings against the sun.'"

The merit of originality is not novelty, it is sincerity. The believing man is the original man; he believes for himself and not for another.—Carlyle.

Suit the action to the word, the word to the action; with this especial observance that you o'erstep not the modesty of nature.—Shakespeare.

Our passions are like convulsion fits, which, though they make us stronger for the time, leave us the weaker ever after.—Swift.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST
(Copyright, 1946, Edgar A. Guest)

ASPARAGUS

When there's asparagus, I hope
It will not come chopped up in cream.
I like it better as a rope
That loosely dangles from a beam.

I want it bud and stem entire,
Thick buttered or in hollandaise.
It always sets my blood on fire
When it is dished in thrifty ways.

I scorn the pitiful pretense
By which 'tis shredded into bits.
As if the diner had no sense,
And only cooks had subtle wits.

Give me the tasty viand whole,
That in my fingers I may lift
And glad my palate and my soul,
And do not spoil my joy with thrift.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

30 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 22ND, 1916.

Mr. E. W. Worth, manager of the American Optical Company here, and Mrs. Worth, have returned after a seven weeks' visit to the Old Country.

Miss Mildred Minns, who has been visiting Miss Margaret Goyer in this city, has returned to her home in Toronto.

Miss Jessie MacTavish has returned home after visiting friends in Madoc.

Mrs. H. G. Doyle of Toronto is visiting her sister, Mrs. MacTavish, Bridge street west.

Miss Bessie Jeffrey has returned to Toronto after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jeffrey, Albert Street.

Miss Grace McCoy, nurse-in-training at Niagara Falls, N.Y. has left to resume her duties after visiting her mother at her home on Holloway Street.

30 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 22ND, 1916.

The tax rate at Picton this year is 24 mills on the dollar.

The children at the shelter enjoyed an outing to the Sand Banks today. The picnic was made possible. Through the kindness of several citizens.

Mrs. M. Cole and son Lorne, of Toronto, are visiting Mrs. W. J. Andrews, Coleman Street.

Mrs. Albert Baker of Chatham is visiting at the home of her cousin, Mr. J. N. Hudgins, Dunbar Street.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Farrell and family are spending a week at Lake Consecon, the guests of Mrs. R. McCurdy, Lakeview cottage.

Mrs. E. Frechette and George Frechette are spending two weeks' vacation at Kingston, Brockville, the 1000 Islands and Montreal.

40 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 22ND, 1906.

The awful heat continues. At one o'clock this afternoon the thermometer registered 98 degrees in the shade. Victoria Park is the mecca of many suffering people these days. Front Street was deserted this afternoon; all citizens who could get away left the heated city in search of cooling breezes.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Simpson of Rochester, N.Y., are visiting friends here.

Mr. R. Lancaster of Dungannon township, Warden of the county, was a visitor in town today.

Work on the building of the Hastings County House of Refuge is progressing satisfactorily.

50 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 22ND., 1896.

Judge Hoyt of Syracuse, N.Y., is here to spend his annual vacation with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thompson are spending a vacation at the 1000 Islands.

Mrs. Bonar and Miss Bonar have returned home after a visit to New York City.

Mr. Harry Hungerford is home from Montreal on a visit.

The financial committee in connection with the recent regatta here has issued a statement showing a deficit. The total obligations incurred by the committee amounted to $4,-388.33; receipts $2,584.70; deficit $2,053.63; less balance of guarantee subscriptions to be collected $1,154.50, making final deficit $899.13.

CAUGHT OUT ON A LIMB

John Kopanyder, Greensburg, Pa., hangs on for dear life to the stump of the tree limb on which he was marooned until firemen with extension ladders came to his rescue. John was pruning a big limb.

MACKENZIE'S COLUMN

War of Nerves Over Control Of The Dardanelles

By GLENN BABB
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst, Substituting for De Witt Mackenzie).

All the note and economy of the Paris Peace Conference thus far has been overshadowed by what is compared with a clash of wills between Russia and Britain and the United States, going on in the classical manner of secret diplomacy behind doors of foreign offices.

The great powers are locked in a test of nerves and will over one of the oldest issues of world politics, the Dardanelles question, or to use the popular name, the Dardanelles.

Since this involves one of the primary elements of world strategy and since Russia has been on one of the most cherished ambitions of her rulers for some 2½ centuries and since it they determine control of the vital Middle East, there is a grimness about this clash beyond anything yet developed at Paris.

The other powers involved have political bearing and trading at the Straits question at least since the beginning of the nineteenth century, some of them longer. But now for the first time the United States, exercising her new international consciousness, has declared itself in a vital way.

The issue is this: Russia has pressed demands on Turkey for guardian of the Straits — besides the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora, which neither Turkey nor the Soviet Union can find acceptable. These are, first, that the Black Sea powers alone have control of the Straits and, second, that Turkey and Russia jointly assume their defence.

The Black Sea powers are Russia, Rumania, Bulgaria and Turkey. Since the first two are now firmly in the Soviet orbit they seem destined to remain there, giving Russia control and a permanent minority of one in any Dardanelles conclusion. Russia's demand would mean that Russia would move in alongside Turkey in military strength on the shores of the Straits. The junior partner to the Soviet Union would have little chance to hold his own.

The United States, Britain and France have ranged themselves against Russia's demands and thrust through the Straits. They are not opposing all Russian desires, however. They are willing to alter the existing regime for the defence of the Straits, embodied in the Montreux convention of 1936, so as to considerably facilitate the movement of Russian and Black Sea warships and aircraft between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean.

But they want to do this within the framework of the United Nations and the Montreux convention.

The question worrying the other capitals is how much in earnest is the Kremlin in its demands, how far is Stalin prepared to go in pressing them. The answer will be given more in the aspects of world peace than anything achieved at Paris.

Cost of Living Bonus to be Paid Civil Servants

Toronto, Aug. 22 — (CP) — Announcement was made by provincial secretary Roland Michener of Wednesday that effective July 1 the cost of living bonus will be incorporated into the basic wage rates of all Ontario civil servants rates of all Ontario civil servants earning up to $2,400.a year. The new schedule which will incorporates automatic annual increases will be effective July 1, 1947.

Under the new plan there will be no distinction made between single and married persons. For the majority of the civil servants in this wage group the benefit will amount to about $240 a year. The schedule also applies the bonus to those who joined the service this year and is intended primarily to adjust the wages of returned men who will be back in the service to find they were not entitled to the cost of living bonus.

'No Time to Pussyfoot Or Write Sharp Notes'

Boston, Aug. 22—(AP)—Senator Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) declared yesterday that "the United States should not take time to use military force against the Tito government of Yugoslavia."

The Senator said:

"This is no time to pussyfoot or for writing sharp notes. It's time for action, action that Tito and Stalin, his master, understand."

Meets Bear Near Main Street

Haliburton, Aug. 22 (CP)— A bear and Mr. Henry Brohm met within 200 yards of Haliburton's main street early yesterday morning, but Mr. Brohm wasted no time on pleasantries. Suspecting that the animal was after his pig in the farmyard for feed, he grabbed a piece of wood and drove brute back to the woods.

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

POOR MAN'S INSULIN

Some years ago, when I began recommending the treatment of diabetes should be sure to get an optimal daily dose of vitamin B complex, some good doctors knew nothing about it. Many good doctors didn't believe vitamin B would or could keep the patient sugar-free with the insulin and one noted authority on diabetes told me in a private conversation that he had not been able to believe himself up to that time that vitamin B could lower the patient's insulin requirement.

But, dear me, times change, just the same. It remained for the Big Noise, the Voice of Science, the Great Pooh-Bah of the A. M. A., who never bar practice good enough to speak of anyway — to tell the medical world, in an editorial recently entitled "The Misrepresentations of William Brady," that there was no scientific evidence to warrant this statement. Well, in a statement that vitamin B improves carbohydrate metabolism and thus enables the diabetes patient to keep sugar-free with less insulin).

From experience I have learned that, having worked my way to one o'clock on the limb, the best is just to keep quiet and hold tight for a while. When the others are all over maybe the big shots will catch up.

From a medical review published in May, '46, I quote:

"Stadol and Demerol recently have . . . shown beyond any reasonable doubt that vitamin B be a most important place in the therapy of diabetes. Exp. Med. and Surg. 3:299, Nov. '45) . . . and they concluded that the best results were those that had been obtained in vitamin B therapy were due to improper administration of the complex, inadequate quantities and over too short a period. They reasoned that if vitamin B complex were given properly it should so recondition the liver that the insulin intake of the diabetic could be materially reduced or even eliminated."

In the booklet "Training for Diabetes" (for copy send 10 cents and stamped self addressed envelope) I say this about "poor-man's insulin":

Numerous diabetes patients have reported that they have found it plausible or necessary to reduce their daily dose of insulin after they have started on a daily ration of B complex (not pure B.) for several weeks.

That's all I know about it except that any one who has minimal daily intake of B complex (preferably three or four times the minimum daily requirement) can do no harm. Indeed often improves general nutritional efficiency and well being whether it has any specific effect on carbohydrate metabolism or not.

There you are, folks.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

No. 822

I don't like eggs, yet mother insists I eat one every day. Please suggest a substitute that will contain the same amount of vitamins and minerals as that in boiled fish and meat which I hate for breakfast. (R. L.)

Answer—If you don't care for egg don't eat any. This applies to any other particular item you don't like. Minerals, vitamins, calories, amino acids et cetera are pretty widely distributed in food, so we need not fash ourselves about getting such things as mashed potato, cowsmothers, eggs, if these foods do not appeal to our taste. But we must play fair on this, kids. If you use my advice to avoid eggs because of objections to your nonexistence in pap, don't go and substitute fudge, colored, carbonated sugar water, I'll put you somewhere there on the lower frame thing.

Typhoid Carrier

How long can a person carry dormant typhoid germs? (E.J.)

Answer—Two years, thirty years. Some outbreaks of typhoid fever have been traced to carriers eliminating the germs from the original attack of typhoid fever was many years ago.

(Copyright, 1946
by John F. Dille Co.)

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

By GEORGE W. STIMPSON

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Is it unlawful to dun a person by postal card?

Under the United States postal laws it is unlawful, in so far as mail a card dunning the person to whom it is addressed for a debt or an account past due.

This is based on the following provision in Section 471 of the U. S. Postal Laws and Regulations of 1932:

"All matter otherwise mailable by law, upon the envelope or outside cover or wrapper of which, any delineations, epithets, terms or language of an obscene, lewd, lascivious, or obscene, libidinous, lecherous or scurrilous character, or calculated by the terms or design or style of display and obviously intended to reflect injuriously upon the character or conduct of another, may be written or printed, or otherwise represented or appear, are hereby declared unmailable matter, and shall not be conveyed in the mails nor delivered from any post office nor by any letter carrier, and shall be withdrawn from the mails under such regulations as the Postmaster General shall prescribe."

The Post Office Department has ruled that this clause prohibits sending cabalistic letters to relatives unfortunately upon the character or conduct of another, or to make public the original attack of typhoid fever was many years ago.

(Copyright, 1946
by John F. Dille Co.)

Justice Richards to be Elegant Comedian

Ottawa, Aug. 21 — (CP) — Appointment of Justice R. S. Richards of Winnipeg as an Industrial Disputes Commissioner to deal with a dispute between the International Packinghouse Workers (CIO) and two companies was announced Wednesday by Labor Minister Mitchell.

The union has threatened strike action in a move to enforce its demands for new agreements with Canada Packers Ltd., and Burns and Co. Ltd.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

ONE PERSON IN 10 IN THE U.S.A. SUFFERS FROM HAY FEVER OR SOME OTHER ALLERGIC DISEASE

HOW MANY STAMPS IN ONE SHEET? BILLBOARDS BRING YOU MESSAGES

300 MILLION

Le Roman
A WOMAN... WAS THE SUCCESSFUL BIRTH CONTROL IN SPAIN FOR 15 YEARS

NO BACK SEAT DRIVING

Chicago, Aug. 23 — (AP)—Pte. Charles Breed guaranteed against back seat driving. The building an auto with two front ends. Breed, 19, of Paw Paw, Mich., made his mechanical ingenuity by altering in half two 1929 model A Fords and welding both front ends together.

"There is only one engine at present but Breed plans to instal another so he can go in either direction.

King Attends War Crimes Trial

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Nuremberg, Aug. 22 — (CP) — Cabinet Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada today attended the international war crimes trial, sitting in the gallery overlooking the court, listening to the full account by a German defence lawyer, trying to prove from documentary evidence that the Gestapo, S. S. organization was not a "criminal" body.

It was the first time that Mr. King has seen Goering, Ribbentrop and Von Neurath who are on trial as war criminals, or any other Nazi leaders since he visited Berlin in 1937 when Hitler was nearing the height of his power.

The highest ranking statesman who has visited the international tribunal, Mr. King dined last night with Judge Francis Biddle and Tom Clark, United States Attorney General, after arriving at Furth airport from Berlin in a two-hour flight by air.

Today the Canadian prime minister lunched with six other tribunal judges including Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence presiding British judge at the trials.

Last night Mr. King slept in the Visitors' Mansion at Furth, near Nuernberg. This morning he drove to the courthouse in a limousine which formerly belonged to Ribbentrop.

Later in the day Mr. King plans to leave for the Paris peace conference by air.

Mr. King hadn't been in Nuernberg since 1900 when he was studying German there.

After sitting in the court for an hour and a half Mr. King was shown through a prison behind the court house by Col. B. C. Andrus, tough, salty prison commandant.

In the cell block where the accused Nazi leaders are housed the Prime Minister first entered the cell of Arthur Seyssinquart, former commissioner for The Netherlands, captured by the Canadians in Holland shortly before the war ended.

At the time of Mr. King's visit all prisoners except Rudolf Hess were in the dock in the court room but the Premier, peering through a small opening in a cell door, was able to see Hess who was away from the dock because of stomach trouble.

The first time Mr. King glanced through the opening the one-time No. 3 Nazi was sitting with his back to the door eating lunch. On a return walk through the block the Prime Minister glanced in again and this time Hess was lying on the bunk looking straight at the opening. He gave no sign he recognized Mr. King, who quietly looked at the prisoner for a moment without saying a word.

For more than an hour, Col. Andrus showed Mr. King highlights of the prison, its work routine and security precautions.

Blind Man And Dog Missing

Philadelphia, Aug. 22 (AP) — A 30-year-old blind man and his dog are missing. Eddie Piccioli and "Vic" disappeared from their West Philadelphia home three days ago shortly after his wife—Ida—also blind—and two-year-old daughter, Tanya, went on an outing.

Rose Jets Use System Used In Nazi Flying Bombs

Moscow, Aug. 22 (AP)— The newspaper Evening Moscow said today that Russian jet-propelled planes displayed for the first time in an aviation show last Sunday used the "pulsating jet system used by the German flying bombs." These planes are being quickly improved and will soon make distance still more conquerable by man."

Kiwanis Booth Dispensed Samples of Belleville Cheese

That flashing smile that Kiwanian Jack McVeigh is wearing epitomizes the good neighbor feeling that existed at the Kiwanis international convention held in Atlantic City recently.

Not only that, but Jack is doing a good job of salesmanship for Canada in general and Belleville and the Bay of Quinte District in particular. When the above picture was taken, he and Mrs. McVeigh were busy presenting appreciative American Kiwanians with samples of Belleville's Black Diamond cheese.

Kiwanian and Mrs. McVeigh were in charge at the time of the All-Canada booth in Convention Hall, a magnificent affair which housed booths from all states of the union. They were totally unaware that the photograph was snapped until Mr. McVeigh received a print through Kiwanian Dick Kuntze from Kiwanian J. Fletcher Beach, Lakeland, Florida, an ardent admirer of the All-Canada booth and especially the Belleville cheese.

Belleville Kiwanians and their wives were present at the convention which was attended by 10,000 Kiwanians from all parts of the continent.

The Belleville representatives took 120 pounds of the tasty cheese with them and dispensed it as far as the amount would go. It was cut into small squares about an inch square and presented to the curious Kiwanians on toothpicks.

The reaction to the idea of advertising this city's famous foodstuff exceeded all expectations of the donors. Americans crowded around the booth after sampling the cheese and orders came flocking in.

The Belleville Cheddar Cheese people here have been swamped with orders and requests for the cheese from all parts of the United States.

1946 Fall Fair Dates

Demorestville	Sept. 4
Picton	Sept. 20-21
Brighton	Sept. 4
Napanee	Sept. 16-17-18
Belleville	Sept. 23-25
Campbellford	Sept. 25-26
Cobourg	Sept. 10-11
Denbigh	Sept. 12
Kingston	Sept. 26-28
Lindsay	Sept. 11-14
Mohawk (Deseronto)	Sept. 18
Odessa	Sept. 12-13
Shannonville	Sept. 13-14
Stella	Sept. 19
Stirling	Sept. 18-19
Tweed	Sept. 17-18
Madoc	Oct. 1-2

Grants For Fairs

Ottawa, Aug. 22 — (CP)—Supplementary estimates tabled Wednesday in the Commons by Acting Finance Minister Abbott provided for a grant of $60,000 to Canadian fairs and exhibitions.

The grant included $25,000 for the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto and an amount of $10,000 for freight on livestock shipments to that fair. Grants of $5,000 each were earmarked for the Ontario Provincial Winter Fair at Guelph and the Winter Fair at Ottawa among others.

17 Persons Injured When Street Cars Collide in Montreal

Montreal, Aug. 22. (CP)—Seventeen persons were injured when two street cars collided here today near the downtown intersection of Notre Dame and Inspector Streets in the western section of the city. Thirteen of the injured were taken to hospital, where three were detained, two more were being kept under observation in the X-ray department and eight were sent home after treatment.

Hospital authorities said the injuries of the three persons admitted were not considered very serious.

Police said the accident happened when one street car crashed into another proceeding in the same direction.

GUARD THAT RATION BOOK

Toronto, Aug. 21 — (CP) — R. Martin, Prices Board rationing superintendent, yesterday warned that people who have lost their ration book will be "out of luck" when new books are issued next month. He said the old ration book must be turned in before the new ones are issued, or else an affidavit must be submitted.

Fort Erie Police Trophy At Revolver Shoot

St. Catharines, Aug. 22 (CP)— Fort Erie police captured the Premier Trophy at the seventh annual police revolver shoot here yesterday and Provincial Police team No. 1 won the City of St. Catharines Trophy. Individual honors went to Chief Constable T. R. Platt of Wingham, with a score of 242, Inspector A. E. Lamb of Guelph with 82 points won the senior officers shoot. Chief D. F. Robinson of Fort Dalhousie was second with 78.

BORN IN DOWNTOWN STORE

Philadelphia, Aug. 22 — (AP) — Ronald Pacyniski, 6½ pounds, arrived one month too soon—and right in the middle of a downtown department store. The stork caught his mother Mrs. Herminia Pacyniski, by surprise. She had gone downtown to pay a bill. Ronald is going to get a complete layette — a gift by the store to its unexpected Godchild.

YOUR FAMILY NEEDS PROTECTION . . . because the ownership or rental of property may be the cause of a claim against you.

It is wiser to be safe than sorry so call us today for full information on this economical and complete liability coverage. You are, of course, under no obligation at all when you bring any of your insurance problems to us.

JORNE W. DOUGALL
INSURANCE

WHY Daly's is Delicious

● Daly's Tea is delicious because it is a high quality tea. Ask your grocer for Daly's Tea. You'll enjoy it.

FOR ALL YOUR WASHING—ALL YOUR HOUSE WORK!

NEW RINSO

NEW ALL-PURPOSE RINSO WASHES Everything

WHITEST, BRIGHTEST, QUICKEST

MORE CANADIAN WOMEN USE NEW 1946 RINSO THAN ANY OTHER SOAP!

NO WONDER more and more housewives are using gentle, creamy-rich Rinso suds to save time and work! New 1946 Rinso makes whites gleaming white, colors bright and sparkling! It gets out MORE dirt—FASTER, SAFELY! Finest rayons and woolens, as well as grimy work clothes, come fresh and spotless. Walls, woodwork, dishes are easiest to do with New 1946 Rinso. Get a package today!

A LEVER PRODUCT

FASHIONABLE FURS — LUXURY — BEAUTY — AND FINE QUALITY ARE FEATURED IN OUR

AUGUST SALE OF FURS

A DEPOSIT WILL HOLD YOUR CHOICE
W.P.T.B. Terms

ASHLEY FURS

294 Front St. "Walk Upstairs and Save" Phone 2340

FARRAR'S

SALE STARTS FRIDAY
DOORS OPEN 9.00 A.M.

AUGUST CLEARANCE SALE

Despite shortages of merchandise, we have decided to again offer in our Annual August Clearance Sale, items of quality at sharply reduced prices. Remember it's Farrar's for your furniture needs.

RECORD CABINETS Lovely Walnut Tops 19.95 up

LAMPS

TABLE LAMPS	$4.50
PLASTIC BED LAMPS	$5.50
PLASTIC PIN-UP LAMPS	$5.50
SILK BED LAMPS Complete with cord.	$2.99
TRI-LIGHT LAMPS	$19.95

We have at the present time a complete stock of Silk Lamp Shades — Table — Boudoir, Bridge Lamp Shades. SEE THEM!

25 PAIR ONLY
Roller Skates
DOUBLE BALL BEARING WHEELS 3.95

FOR BABY
High Chairs
WITH METAL TRAYS
6.50 - 6.95

PLAY PENS - 5.95 up
FOLDING FLOORS AND CASTERS

STUDIO COUCHES
49.50 up

FOLDING CARD TABLES
Takes the place of Fireplace Screens
3.99 — 4.95

OLD FASHIONED KITCHEN ROCKERS
3.95 — 6.95

CHROME CHAIRS
9.95

BOOK CASES
We have just received a large, new shipment of double and single bookcases.

GENUINE COWHIDE CLUB BAGS
17.95—24.50

COMBINATION BRIEFCASE & OVERNIGHT BAG
14.95—12.95

WARDROBES
Large, new shipment of double and single wardrobes.

Wicker Fern Stands
4.50

DROPSIDE BED COUCH—18.95
for that Summer Porch or Cottage.
COMPLETE WITH MATTRESS

Sunshine Saniboy 6.50

Three Piece
Chesterfield Suite
A well-constructed suite of combination velour, marked down for quick clearance 159.50

Electric Air Conditioner
1 ONLY for that warm, stuffy living room. 37.50

FARRAR'S HOME FURNISHINGS

Opposite City Hall BELLEVILLE Phone 793

8.30 P.M. SUNDAY EVENING — LISTEN FOR SPECIAL PROGRAM, CJBQ— "IN HIS STEPS"

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

MARRIAGE NOTICE

The marriage is announced of Muriel Bernice Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murdock Taylor, of this city, and Edward Arthur Rendall, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Rendall, of Toronto. The wedding took place very quietly in the Church of Messiah, Toronto, on August 11, 1946, at 9 o'clock.

MARRIAGE NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Terry, Toronto, announce the marriage of their only daughter, Hester Evelyn June, to John Cameron Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith, Windsor, on July 27, at St. Mark's Anglican Church, Parkdale. (Madoc paper please copy)

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Clarke announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Margaret Grace, to William Donald Clark, son of Mrs. W. E. Clark and the late Mr. Clark. The marriage will take place in September at the Church of St. Thomas.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shoalcross wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Thelma Audrey to Michael James, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lynch, Belleville, the marriage to take place on September 7.

Miss Ida Daisbury, Picton, is holidaying at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Percy Hart, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Degeyer, Northport, have taken up residence in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Scott, Charlotte Street, and Miss Judy Scott, Kingston, have returned to the city after a holiday spent near Gananoque, Mr. Scott will remain in the city for some time.

John Goodman, of this city, has returned home after spending a week with his cousin, Earl Boldrick, 6th Tyendinaga.

Captain and Mrs. E. C. Long, with their son, Bobby, have returned to their home in Toronto, after visiting with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chapman, Burnham Street.

Mrs. Grace Minaes and daughter, have returned home after a plane trip to Buffalo and Keithley.

Guest of Miss June Mabbs of this city, is Miss Jessica Miss Joy McKenzie, 6th Tyendinaga.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Langbear, Picton, Ont., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Street. The wedding will take place in September.

Mr. Langbear has made here in ten years.

Miss Janette Ashbury, Bain'sville Street, left on Monday to spend twelve days at C.C.I.T. Camp Colin Mitchell Lake, as representative of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. John Mcclelon, Sr., has left for Washington, D.C., for six months to visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. R. Bannerman. She accompanied her on the trip, after a short visit with her mother here.

Mrs. L. Culhane, Front Street, was hostess Wednesday evening, at a surprise party in honor of Miss Margaret Bateman, who is leaving Belleville soon to take a position in Cornwall. During the evening a gift of a set of linguerie was presented to Margaret, who expressed her surprise and delight at this gesture of friendship. A pleasant evening was spent playing games after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

ADD PERSONALS — SET—A

Rev. and Mrs. M. A. Kerr, of Gananoque, and Mr. and Mrs. Currin, of Rochester, N.Y., spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Kerr, Turnbull Street.

WEDDINGS

DOWNEY—CREEGGAN

Assisted by Provost R. S. K. Seeley, of Trinity College, Rev. J. P. Creeggan, of Prescott, solemnized the marriage on Tuesday in Trinity College Chapel, Toronto, of his sister, Isabel Susannah, daughter of the late Archdeacon and Mrs. A. H. Creeggan, formerly of Gananoque, to Rev. Thomas Edward Downey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Downey, of Carp. Professor C. B. Hollo, of Toronto, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother, F. G. Creeggan, of Belleville, the bride wore a gown of white silk jersey, with a full skirt. Her fingertip veil was arranged from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress, and an arm bouquet of yellow roses was carried.

Miss Kathleen M. Creeggan was bridesmaid and the best man was G. Stewart McKeown, of Princeton University. John Garrett, of Vankleek Hill, and Cosmo Downey, of Carp, were ushers.

Following the reception at Trinity College, the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride travelling in a gold colored wool suit with matching hat. They will reside in Amherstview.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

ROBINSON—SYMONS

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized at Bridge Street parsonage, on August 3, by Rev. D. C. Amos, when Barbara Audrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Symons, of Belleville, became the bride of Eldon James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Robinson, of Montague Valley, Ontario.

The bride looked lovely in a white silk jersey dress with white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Jack Symons, sister-in-law, of the bride, made a charming bridesmaid in a baby blue dress with white accessories and corsage of American Beauty roses.

Mr. Jack Symons, brother of the bride, assisted the groom.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom motored through to Niagara Falls, Ont., for the bride's relatives in Fort Erie and Buffalo, and the groom's sister, in Galt.

FITZGIBBON—LASHER

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, August 7, at three p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lasher, Shannonville, when their only daughter, Helen Frances, became the bride of Martin Fitzgibbon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fitzgibbon, Belleville. Rev. J. Longhurst performed the ceremony. Mrs. Ralph Lasher, mother of the bride, played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in blue crepe and her blue shoulder-length veil was held in place by a semi-circle of roses. Her corsage was of Talisman Beauty roses and fern. Attending the bride was Miss Ruth Bush, who was gowned in pale gold with matching veil and dress and carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

Mr. Wilfred Fitzgibbon, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

During the signing of the register Miss Marion Blatherwick sang "I Love You Truly".

Following the ceremony a reception was held for about 35 guests. The marriage table Miss Keitha Wess and Miss Marion Blatherwick, assisted by Mrs. Jack Blatherwick.

For a wedding trip to western points, the bride chose a grey dressmaker suit with black accessories and corsage of roses. On their return they will reside in Belleville.

Women's Clothing Soon Unrationed In Great Britain

London, August 22. (AP)—British's wives and daughters received good news today: Clothing may come off the ration list soon.

Visions of that long-delayed new dress, maybe even a pair of smart new shoes, swept the feminine half of the country after John Belcher, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, told a press conference:

"I hope that we shall very speedily reach the position where we can supply the home market without any (clothing) ration."

Women now have an average of 40 clothing coupons a year and practically everything "wearable is rationed. Men get the same number of coupons but the man who can keep his wife from "borrowing" has not been discovered.

Questions and Answers

Readers may address their questions, giving their name and address and mentioning the name of this paper to Information Branch, WPTB, 400 Sussex Street, Ottawa, Ontario.

Q. I heard that it is no longer necessary to obtain a priority for a new car. Is that correctly

A. Yes...effective August 15, issuance of priority certificates and the priority system of distribution was discontinued. All priorities previously issued for new cars and trucks have also been cancelled.

Q. Earlier this year we made reservations at a summer hotel. The price quoted was $10 per person per week. When we checked out of the hotel we were charged $8 more than the price originally stated. The proprietor explained that he had been allowed to increase his price 10 per cent due to increased operating costs. He also removed one butter, one sugar and one meat coupon from each ration book although we only remained 13 days. Is there anything we can do about this?

A. Summer hotels come under the Rentals Regulations the same as any other type of accommodation. The hotel would not be allowed to increase their rates without first securing permission from the Board and we will investigate these charges at once. As far as ration coupons are concerned the hotel proprietor had no right to remove these coupons from your book. Coupons may only be taken when a person rents a room at a hotel for a period of for two weeks or more. The Board will also check on this practice if complaints are properly made.

Q. Can you tell me the maximum interest a pawnbroker is allowed to charge on a 30-day loan?

A. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board does not have a regulation governing this subject. Interest rates, etc. come under the jurisdiction of Federal and Provincial "money lenders" laws.

Q. The other day I overheard someone speaking of a temporary ration card. Could you tell me just what a temporary ration card is and to whom they are issued?

A. Temporary ration cards are used by persons not requiring a complete book and are issued to members of the armed forces, tourists or used as a replacement for a lost book while waiting for a new one.

FRANKFORD

Mr. and Mrs. R. Utman Honored at Shower

Frankford, (Special)—About one hundred friends and neighbors from Frankford, Stockdale and surrounding community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Utman, on Tuesday evening, last to do honor to their daughter Muriel and daughter-in-law and Mrs. Ralph Utman, who were recently married. Mr. Robert Jandrew of Stockdale, was chairman for the evening. A short program was enjoyed consisting of readings given by Miss Harold Bonisteel.

Mrs. Harold Mikel of London and Mrs. Harry Slingerland of Frankford. Ingenious Bubble contributed a vocal solo. Mrs. Harold Terry and Mrs. Ralph Utman sang a duet. Mrs. Harold Terry read an address, signed by nearly all the guests, and presented it on behalf of the many friends, wishing them and the bridegroom health and happiness. Mrs. Utman thanked all the many friends present for the many gifts.

Prior to her marriage Mrs. Utman was entertained at the home of Miss Muriel Mikel of London and Mrs. Harry Slingerland of Frankford, in which Miss Bubble contributed a vocal solo. Mrs. Harold Terry and Mrs. Ralph Utman sang a duet. Mrs. Harold Terry read an address, signed by nearly all the guests, and presented it on behalf of the many friends, wishing them and the bridegroom health and happiness. Mrs. Utman thanked all the many friends present for the many gifts and presented to the bride and groom a "Kenny Kitchen" which consisted of silver and china, etc. The Young People's Union of the United Church, Rawdon, presented them with a beautiful floor lamp. Mrs. Utman very graciously thanked their friends for the many gifts.

Getting younger all the time, that's Persian lamb! Smart, flattering, luxurious coats of this fur out of the mature woman class, and given them a bright, youthful air. Gray Persian is used for a 26-inch jacket cut on rippled lines, with wide scalloped cape sleeves that split open along a deep-closed line in give a cape-like silhouette.

Dressing up the Salad

Salad dressing are quite a problem these days aren't they? What with commercial ones being practically non-existent and salad oils very scarce the homemakers have had to fall back on their own concoctions. Some of these are quite strange. Several years ago, when one ran short of mayonnaise or other salad dressing, one simply added a little bit of vinegar or lemon juice to thick cream and made a sour cream dressing. None of these stifles.

It is a well-known fact that there is no such thing as one perfect salad dressing — that is, a dressing that will equally good with all salads. For instance, a highly seasoned dressing which would be excellent on a bland vegetable, fish or meat salad, would simply ruin a fruit salad.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture say that a quantity of salad dressing will go a long way if it is added to the salad just before serving and not left to the more or less saturated hand of the members of the family. A thick salad dressing, to which a small quantity of table cream or rich milk is added before it is mixed with the salad will also go farther. Cottage cheese mixed with salad dressing or mayonnaise is one more way of stretching the dressing.

The following salad dressing recipes are suggested by the home economists of the Consumer Section:

TOMATO CHEESE DRESSING

(Keeps well and excellent for raw vegetable salads)

1 tablespoon fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup tomato juice
2 cups grated cheese
1 egg, well beaten
½ teaspoon salt

Melt fat in the top of a double boiler, add flour and seasonings and blend. Add tomato juice and cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture is smooth and creamy. Add cheese and continue cooking about 1 minute longer. Remove from heat and cool.

BOILED HONEY DRESSING

(A good all-purpose dressing)

1 teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cayenne
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons honey
1 egg yolk
½ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon butter
Mix dry ingredients in top of double boiler, add milk, honey and slightly beaten egg yolk. Stir well. Cook over hot water until thickened. Add vinegar and butter. Mix well until smooth. Yield, 1 1/3 cups.

COTTAGE CHEESE DRESSING

(Specially for fruit salads)

1 cup cottage cheese
4 tablespoons juice from canned fruit
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
Mix all ingredients together and beat until smooth with a rotary beater. Yield: 1 cup.

CUCUMBER CREAM

(Use with tomato, lettuce, meat or fish salads)

½ cup cottage cheese
½ cup grated cucumber (drained)
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons vinegar
Dash of pepper and dry mustard.

Mix all ingredients and beat well. Serve on sliced tomatoes or plain lettuce salad. Yield: about 1 cup.

Individual touches mark many of the pre-dawn breakfast suits. Gray woolen is used for a suit that has an unbelted cardigan jacket and a round, square shoulder yoke detailed with bright red smocking. Smocking, too, for the cuffs of the full sleeves that are gathered at the wrist.

NEW Trashmatic! QUICK Relief!
HAY FEVER
SNEEZING
SNIFFLES
ITCHING
ALLERGI-TABS

JUST ARRIVED!
A Shipment of Self-Generating
"NEWMAID" DELUXE
VACUUM CLEANERS
• NO MOTOR TO GET OUT OF ORDER.
• SHOVE IT ALONG THE FLOOR — AND WATCH IT PICK UP THE DIRT.
• PRICED AT ONLY $29.25. IMMEDIATE DELIVERY.
EVERY HOUSEHOLD SHOULD HAVE ONE.
SEE THEM ON DISPLAY AT CHRISTIAN'S
ELECTRIC and HARDWARE
210 Front Street Phone 820

New Season Beauties
Hats are getting prettier all the time! Our Fall collection do exciting things for your wardrobe and your spirits.
WOODLEY'S
273 FRONT STREET

Why do People keep on Shopping at Zeller's? Ask the People Who BUY there
ZELLER'S
GREAT BIG VALUES FOR SMALL BUDGETS
KIDDIES' BRUSHED RAYON CARDIGANS
1.19
Cardigans that will add to any youngster's appearance, bright, lively colors with contrasting trim. Sizes 2-4-6.
INFANTS' CREPE
DRESSES
2.09
Infant's crepe dresses with smocked yoke and floral design. White and peach. Sizes 1, 2 and 3.
WASHABLE
HIGH CHAIR PADS
High chair pads that fit the back, seat and sides of junior's high chair. Washable rubberized material with comic design on front and back. Zeller-Priced 1.69
MEXICAN PATTERN BRIDGE SET
Smart Mexican designed tablecloth, 36" x 36", with four matching napkins, attractively boxed. A beautiful gift for any occasion. Zeller-Priced 2.29
Tea Towels with Colored Border Pattern
Tea towels with over 55 per cent linen, border patterned in yellow, blue, green and red. Zeller-Priced, each 39
Two Piece Chenille Bath Mat Sets
Chenille Bath Mat with matching seat cover — attractively colored to brighten any bathroom. A matching design on both pieces. Set 1.69
Printed Cotton Drapery Material
Printed Cotton Drapery Material with five color floral print and background, about 40 inches wide. Zeller-Priced. Yard 1.69
LACE HANDMADE DOILIES
White lace handmade Doilies, made in India. Various Irish crochet designs. Round and oval. Various sizes. Zeller-Thrift. Priced 23c to 1.69
STORE HOURS
DAILY
9.00 a.m. to 6.00 p.m.
Except
WEDNESDAY
9.00 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.
SATURDAY
9.00 a.m. to 9.30 p.m.
WHISTLING RANGE TEA KETTLES
1.98
A glass flameproof teakettle that whistles when it boils. 64 oz. capacity. Ribbed design.
SMARTLY DECORATED
TUMBLERS
10c
Beautifully designed, brightly colored 9 oz. tumblers, floral, nautical and stripe designs. A bright spot on your table.
ZELLER'S LIMITED — THRIFT CENTRE

Costume Jewellery Sale Continues
AT THE
ELITE CREDIT JEWELLERS
Novelty and Fine Jewellery!
YOUR CHOICE:
MATCHING SETS—BROOCHES—NECKLETS
LAPEL WATCHES— BRACELETS — EARRINGS.
HAIR BERETS — COMPACTS — CHOKERS — RINGS and PEARLS. In Sterling Silver — Gold Plate — Enamelled Metal — White or Yellow Metal.
Prices Cut in Half!
Priced as low as 50c
and UP
Bulova

A. GODDESS OF TIME 17 jewels...$57.50
B. EILEEN 14 kt....17 jewels...$57.50
ELITE CREDIT JEWELLERS
301½ Front St. BELLEVILLE Phone 1379

Fluttering Paper May Have Pushed Japan Out of War

By CLARKE BEACH

Washington, (AP)—A propaganda leaflet which fluttered to earth in the Tokyo palace gardens may have ended the war.

Marquis Koichi Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal and adviser to Emperor Hirochito, told the story to a representative of the United States Army's psychological warfare branch at Guampo prison while awaiting trial as a war criminal.

Kido's narrative and other accounts of what went on behind the palace walls in the last days of the war are contained in a hitherto unpublicized report on the psychological warfare campaign against Japan.

The report discloses also that several hundred Kamikaze pilots plotted a mass suicide attack on the battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay and that a providential typhoon in late August, 1945, probably prevented an attack on the first United States troops to land in Japan.

This is the story as related by Kido and others:

Early in the morning of Aug. 16, 1945, he saw American bombers over Tokyo. Down came a shower of small rectangular gray sheets. Each bore a copy of the Potsdam declaration and the Allies' reply to Japan's first offer of surrender, submitted three days earlier. Kido carried one to the palace in great alarm and obtained an immediate audience with the Emperor.

The leaflets, he said, might cause an outbreak by the 2,000,000 soldiers in the home islands. They did not know that the Emperor had sued for peace. They had not even been told anything to indicate that the war was being lost.

A faction of army extremists was insisting on fighting to the last, and an uprising by the rank and file might give them an opportunity to seize the government. Every moment the surrender was delayed was dangerous, Kido warned.

Cabinet Summoned

Kido, found Hirohito thoroughly alive to the situation and eager to assume responsibility. He summoned a meeting of the cabinet and the supreme council for the direction of war.

The cabinet and the supreme council gathered before the throne. All were there but the war minister, Amami, who had just committed suicide. The militarists would agree to no surrender if the Emperor's power was to be in any way abridged. But Hirohito no longer listened to them.

"It was decided by the imperial judgment," as Kido expressed it, that Japan would accept the Allies' terms.

The Emperor and Kido worked on the rescript all day. Hirohito made a recording of it, and it was broadcast the next morning at 11 o'clock. A surrender message had been dispatched, meanwhile, to the Allied governments.

On June 22 the Emperor had summoned the council and directed it to take steps immediately to approach Russia on the subject of arranging peace. Not until July 10, after Hirohito had repeated his command many times, did the council make plans to send an emissary to Moscow. Even then the militarists' only thought was that by diplomatic manoeuvres they might possibly keep the Red Army out of the war.

Military Held Out

On July 26 the Potsdam declaration was published in Japanese newspapers. Enlightened Japanese considered it an acceptable basis for surrender, but the army contended it could defeat the Allies on the Japanese beaches, or at least inflict such heavy damage that a favorable peace could be negotiated.

After July 28 the great men of Japan conferred repeatedly with Kido and other officials on the one topic, "saving the situation". Calamity followed calamity. Atomic bombs desolated Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Russia declared war.

As for Hirohito, court ladies reported hearing him say with great emotion, "I am going to stop this war, and I don't care what happens to me personally."

On the morning of Aug. 9 the Emperor commanded the council to surrender. The militarists agreed, but they laid down certain conditions: No occupation of Japan by Allied troops; free withdrawal of Japanese troops from foreign soil; trial of war criminals by the Japanese government, and maintenance of the authority of the Emperor.

All day the controversy went on heatedly. Conflicts warned the Emperor the Allies would not accept such terms and that to submit them might cause the Allies to withdraw the Potsdam declaration.

Then Hirohito commanded surrender, on the sole condition that the imperial household be retained.

Kido said that, although the Emperor was not in personal danger, the militarists on the night of August 14, tried to break into the palace to seize the recording. Soldiers searched six times for Kido in order to assassinate him. He hid in an underground passage in the palace until the danger passed.

"Our fight with the militarists," he remarked dryly, "actually continued longer than our fight with the United States."

Hands in pocket, this young man saunters past the United Steel Workers Union picket line at main gate of Hamilton Sigelco plant. Picket lines appeared to permit many workers and officials to enter and leave the plant yesterday. (Photo by Lloyd Bloom)

"BACK TO SCHOOL" SPECIAL OFFER for the

JUNIOR MISS

and

LITTLE MISS

PERMANENT WAVES

Regular $7.00 Cream Oil $4.95

Regular $5.00 Oil $3.95

GOOD UNTIL SEPTEMBER 15th.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

THE MANAGEMENT IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE THAT WE HAVE OBTAINED THE SERVICES OF

Miss Gussie Mallory

Stylist with years of experience.

ROYAL

BEAUTY SALON

OPEN EVENINGS

330 Front Street Phone 3226

CAMPBELLFORD RACING FANS SEE GOOD CARD

Dr. Welbanks' Carol Dale Easy Winner of Slow Class in Straight Heats

One of the best cards of racing in the Kingsbury Circuit this season was held at Campbellford on Wednesday afternoon. The track was not in first class condition but the spirited racing made up for this objection. A Belleville horse, Carol Dale, owned by Dr. Welbanks, easily won the slow class in straight heats. Oxford Lad, gilts pacer from Kingston had a tussle before disposing of Markie Wade's trotter, Miss Bessie Volo in the Free-For-All. Maude Grattan, a consistent performer on the circuit dropped a heat in the 2.19 class but came back to win the last two and race. The summary:

Free-For-All—Purse $200.

Oxford Lad, McKane, Kingston	1	1	1
Miss Bessie Volo, Wade, Brighton	4	3	2
Silent Joe, Dawson, Kingston	2	3	3
X-Ray, Allard, Brighton	3	4	4
Miss Witty Boniet, Wilson, Kingston	5	2

Time 2.13 1-2, 2.15, 2.16.

2.19 Class—Purse $200.

Maude Grattan, McKane, Kingston	2	1	1
Hal Worthy, Wilson, Kingston	1	2	2
June Barr, Pacey, Roseneath	3	3	4
Charles Strathmore, Sutherland, Kingston	4	4	3

Time 2.18 1-4, 2.16 1-2, 2.17.

2.25 Class—Purse $200.

Carol Dale, Welbanks, Belleville	1	1	1
Dorothy Abbey, Frizzlin, Kingston	2	2	2
Signal McKinney, Saunders, Bath	3	3	4
Abbey Dale, Christian, Fallis, Peterborough	5	4	3
Birmingham Harvester, Pacey, Roseneath	4	6	6
Vivian McKinney, Bluett, Peterborough	6	5	5
Princess Harvester, Saunders, Bath	7	Dr.

Time 2.20, 2.25, 2.23.

Running Race

If Remember	1	1
Miss Orland	2	2
Miss Belleville	3	3
Wee Crim	4	4

Time .51 1-2, .53.

Starter: Geo. O. Tice, Belleville.

Judges: Charles Gallogly, Kingston, James Hales, Brighton, Morley Simpson, Brighton.

Timers: J. McCook, Campbellford, Jas. McIntyre, Peterborough.

RAIN-FACED FIRE SURVIVORS

Here are the solemn-faced survivors of the Petite Riviere St. Francoise fire which took nine lives and left 100 homeless with complete destruction of 16 buildings in the little Quebec village.

JAVEX is liquid cushion for toilets. Only a few drops are needed—to clean like magic, brighten whiten, disinfect and deodorize. It is wonderful for whitening clothes and removing stains from sinks and drainboards.

AT YOUR DEALER'S

$1,500 In Purses at Windsor

Windsor, Aug. 22 — (CP) — Entries from stables in London, Stratford, Galt, Embro and Detroit will participate in the Windsor Horsemen's Association second annual horse show tonight at Wigle Park. Purses totalling $1,500 are being offered in the 3-day program.

TURKEY REPLIES TO RUSSIA

Ankara, Aug. 22 — (AP) — Turkey replied today to Russian demands for joint control of the Dardanelles. Contents of the note were not disclosed immediately, but it was reasonably certain the message contained a rejection of Russian claims.

School Wardrobe Winners

START OFF THE NEW SCHOOL YEAR AT THE HEAD OF YOUR CLASS IN S-T-Y-L-E.
PICK THE WINNERS FROM OUR WIDE SELECTION —

For The Junior Miss

SKIRTS

WOOL PLAID SKIRTS. Sizes 3 - 6 ..... 3.75

PLEATED ALPINE SKIRTS. Sizes 8 - 12 ..... 3.25

ALPINE SKIRTS. Sizes 3 - 6X 2.95

BLOUSES

TAILORED WHITE SILK BLOUSES. Sizes 8 - 12 ..... 1.95

TAILORED WHITE COTTON BLOUSES. Sizes 3 - 6 ..... 1.09

Complete assortment of Striped, Checked, and White Blouses in variety of styles.

DRESSES

We still have a complete selection of COTTON and SILK DRESSES in Sizes 3 to 6X. Just right to start out the school season.

FROM OUR YARN DEPARTMENT

60% ANGORA YARN—

PINK, GREEN, BEIGE. ¼-Oz. Ball ..... 59¢

For The Teen Ager

SKIRTS

All Wool Skirts in new Fall shades, solid pastels and lovely plaids and checks, in a variety of styles. These skirts are the basis of every teen-ager's wardrobe ..... 4.95 to 6.50

BLOUSES

You will find a blouse to go with any skirt or suit in our complete assortment of Crepes, Sheers and Tailored Blouses.

Prices to suit every pocket .. 1.98 to 8.95

SWEATERS

Pure Wool Pullovers, in Sloppy Joe and Short style, long and short sleeves, in a wide choice of colors ..... 2.98 to 5.00

DRESSES

For the real winner in the teen-ager's wardrobe pick one of the Wool Dresses in our selection in high Fall shades. Or a two-piece dress—Corduroy Skirt and colorful plaid jacket.

Sizes 10 - 14X 16.95

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:—

WE ARE PLEASED TO ADVISE THAT WE HAVE OBTAINED A SUPPLY OF HOSE WHICH ARE AVAILABLE AT THE FOLLOWING PRICES:

Substandard-Bareleg NYLONS ..... $1.00 Substandard Full Fashioned BEMBER ... 85c

WISEMAN'S FASHION SHOPS LIMITED

TELEPHONE 282 302 FRONT STREET

DELANEY'S

August

FUR SALE

ENDS AUGUST 31st

ONLY 8 MORE DAYS

TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE STUPENDUOUS SAVINGS AT DELANEY'S.

HUNDREDS OF New Coats TO CHOOSE FROM

DISCOUNTS UP TO 50%

4 WAYS TO BUY—

- CASH
- CHARGE
- BUDGET
- LAY-A-WAY

ACT NOW!

A SMALL DEPOSIT WILL HOLD ANY COAT.

DELANEY'S

EXCLUSIVE FURRIERS

FREE STORAGE UNTIL PURCHASE DELIVERED

17 Campbell Street (Opp. Y.M.C.A.) BELLEVILLE

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

This Doctor's Wife Should Stop, Look and Listen

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I, I am a doctor's wife, and re-cently we moved into a new home in a small colony. Because the colony is so small, I went to call on my neighbors, as I always do, but found, as I thought this was the friendly way to do, I failed at walking to be introduced by the hostess. Instead, I met her after waiting for the neighbors to call first. Was this the wrong thing to do? Since then I have noticed a coolness toward me, which I attribute to jealousy, as my husband is the only doctor in the neighborhood.

I also have another problem. When referring to my husband, I say, "Doctor did so-and-so . . . or 'Doc' said so-and-so". In other words, I never use his first name or refer to him as "my husband". Recently a friend of mine has told me that by using "Doctor" each time, I sound too squeaky-retracting, as though I wished to impress everyone with my own and his importance. And how is I am right in being proud of my husband's profession, and I see no need to refer to him to others except by his title. Also, my young son's first name is the same, and I think this would only be confusing. Please let me know what you think about what my friend told me.

A Doctor's Wife

1. Your question as to what you did has been answered, and very happily, by your neighbors. An invitation is the privilege of courtesy and sure social judgement, and they have shown that they are willing to let them call on you to welcome you into their social colony. A hostess' sense of taste and discernment walks very gaily in her procession of her guests, and not all her family as desirable neighbors and friends as the first comers and you.

Please don't be so foolish as to be offended at what you mistook to "jealousy". It is childish, of you to blame others for something you would carefully avoid yourself. Your job now is to do everything in your power to show that I don't imagine it will be easy to convince these neighbors that you regret doing something that makes you appear pushing and presuming. Make your next social steps gradually and carefully, and from now on be more than, and more than half way in showing you what cordiality and hospitality they wish to show. As a doctor's wife you should show the standard of courtesy and discriminating manners and a gracious-ness that will make your neighbors rejoice that you have moved into their colony.

2. Your friend is completely right, and she was indeed a real friend to be willing to set you straight about this. It is incorrect provincial too, for a doctor's wife to say "Doctor did so-and-so" or "Doctor says". (And horrible for her ever to refer to her husband as "Doc".) To begin with, "Doctor" is a title, not a name, and for you to say "Doctor says," is like a lawyer's wife saying, "Mr. says". And like your friend, I believe that your constant reference to your husband as "Doctor" undoubtedly does make you "appear overbearing, as though wishing to impress everyone with your own and your husband's importance."

Of course you should be proud of your husband's profession, but you should make this pride by revealing that you know what's what in the use of his name. You say, "my son has his first name" . . . this is incorrect, for when you are speaking of your husband to a friend, you should always refer to him by his full name. When you are speaking to an acquaintance (for example, when you were calling on one of your neighbors), you should say "my husband". When you are speaking to a tradesperson or servant, you would say, for example, "Doctor Smith asked me to tell you". Also you might properly say to a patient, particularly to a new patient, "Doctor Smith will return at twelve o'clock". But always, when you use the title, you should use the last name. . . "Doctor Smith".

REPORTED CARRYING GUN

Toronto, Aug. 22 — (CP) — After a tussle in a Chinese restaurant on downtown Elizabeth Street late last night police arrested Christopher Shields, 21, and Peter Semik, 24, on charges of having an offensive weapon. The police entered the place in search of two men, one of whom was reported carrying a gun, and in a fight which developed Detective Bernard Loveridge suffered cuts on the left arm when the glass of a juke box was smashed.

. . . only the smooth softness and the immaculate whiteness of White Swan Toilet Tissue will be fine enough for your family.

White Swan is made of scientifically bleached pulp, with pure filtered water.

3 LARGE ROLLS 27c

AN Eddy QUALITY PRODUCT

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Illness Makes the Face Grow Older

Activity is a law of life. If you don't add to your health and beauty in your old age it is well to remember that illness does, too. You haven't any business create one. There is much work to be done in the world, and it is pretty well wrecked. This suggestion is selfish, of course, but encouragement walks very gaily in her procession of her guests, and not all her family as desirable neighbors and friends as the first comers and you.

Please don't be so foolish as to be offended at what you mistook to "jealousy". It is childish, of you to blame others for something you would carefully avoid yourself. Your job now is to do everything in your power to show that I don't imagine it will be easy to convince these neighbors that you regret doing something that makes you appear pushing and presuming. Make your next social steps gradually and carefully, and from now on be more than, and more than half way in showing you what cordiality and hospitality they wish to show. As a doctor's wife you should show the standard of courtesy and discriminating manners and a graciousness that will make your neighbors rejoice that you have moved into their colony.

2. Your friend is completely right, and she was indeed a real friend to be willing to set you straight about this. It is incorrect provincial too, for a doctor's wife to say "Doctor did so-and-so" or "Doctor says". (And horrible for her ever to refer to her husband as "Doc".) To begin with, "Doctor" is a title, not a name, and for you to say "Doctor says," is like a lawyer's wife saying, "Mr. says". And like your friend, I believe that your constant reference to your husband as "Doctor" undoubtedly does make you "appear overbearing, as though wishing to impress everyone with your own and your husband's importance."

Of course you should be proud of your husband's profession, but you should make this pride by revealing that you know what's what in the use of his name. You say, "my son has his first name" . . . this is incorrect, for when you are speaking of your husband to a friend, you should always refer to him by his full name. When you are speaking to an acquaintance (for example, when you were calling on one of your neighbors), you should say "my husband". When you are speaking to a tradesperson or servant, you would say, for example, "Doctor Smith asked me to tell you". Also you might properly say to a patient, particularly to a new patient, "Doctor Smith will return at twelve o'clock". But always, when you use the title, you should use the last name. . . "Doctor Smith".

Doomed to Fourteen Days of Boredom

If you have a job, be grateful for it. It sticks you up out of bed in the morning keeps your circulation moving. Also, you may get a certain amount of pleasure grumbling about it. There is nothing dreadful, less inspiring, more aging than continued leisure, with no objective in life, no aims, no ambitions to fulfill. It puts heavy marks on your face. It makes you feel flat. And what it does to the form-figure is something terrible. Sitting comfortably on overstuffed furniture is the best possible way of acquiring an overstuffed figure.

Many a devoted wife and mother suddenly gets sick and tired of her family and her home. She feels like an ingrate and a traitor, but in reality she is in a state of rebellion. She wants to run away. The family should seize upon the idea, help her to drop her chains.

Fashion Flashes

LOOK OUT for smart afternoon is the bowler-type hat. Smoky white felt is used for a neat little derby, very high in back on the head. It is banded in wine-red grosgrain and punctured by a wine-red quill, making for a novel and interesting color scene.

Comfort plus charm is the theme of one group of hats very much in the luxury class now, but sure to be copied later. An off-the-face bonnet of pale beige felt, with a narrow visor brim, is trimmed around the crown with a wide band of mink that extends into a scarf. The scarf, to be wrapped around the neck under the chin, falls over one shoulder and exhibits a mink tail fringe.

It seems impossible, but actually there are new ideas for rainwear. A black nylon raincoat, I belted model, has a wide front plastron that extends below the waistline. It is green and black in a printed effect. Matching black hood is lined with the printed fabric.

That old favorite, white with black, appears as the color highlight of several evening frock collections. White starched chiffon is used for a beautiful evening frock, made with sequin-studded black satin midriff caught into a large, dipping, bustle bow. Flange- cuffs and shaped buttline.

LOOK OUT for smart afternoon frocks of black novelty jersey. This fabric is used for an attractive frock made with high, rounded neckline and deep-armholed long sleeves. A set-in panel of shrimp-pink wool, placed from shoulder to below the hip, at a slight slant has black embroidery and gold beading.

Contrast rules in the new coats, for when sleeves are full, there is likely to be a modest club collar. This styling is used for a coat of black suede woollen whose skirt fullness is cinched at the waist with a silver-studded self belt. Full sleeves have bell bottoms and are "push-up".

Not easy to wear—except for the perfectly groomed, finely dressed woman—is the very elaborate jacket with a plain wool skirt. Topping a tubular skirt of black woollen, one woman wears a jacket cut on classic tailored lines, fashioned of batiz woollen printed in a vivid green and purple scroll and leaf design, highlighted with sequins. Jacket closes with four buttons is just below hip length, and has pocket, flaps.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Her Fiance Boasts About His Other Conquests

Here's a man who's so much in love with himself—perhaps so unsure of himself—that he's rapidly talking his girl out of the idea of marrying him at all.

If he doesn't look out, he's going to find himself that oddity known as a perennial bachelor who loves to boast about what a dashing figure he cut with the ladies when he was a young fellow, but who can't look up those boasts by producing the adoring wife who couldn't resist his charms.

Here's what his fiancee says about him:

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am a girl 20 years old, and in a few weeks I am going to marry a man who is ten years my senior.

"He tells me he loves me very much, although when we go out together he talks about the girls he dated while with the army overseas. He also talks a great deal about a girl to whom he was once engaged, although she broke their engagement and married someone else.

"I think I love him, but when he talks—like that I begin to wonder. I am even getting so that I won't go out with other fellows, and so many people ask me if I am ready for marriage that now I am beginning to.

"What I want to know is, should I talk this matter over with the man I am to marry or should I go through with our plans for marriage, have the knot made, and the date set for the wedding. I don't know what to do.

"Bewildered"

Any man who boasts about the girls he has attracted, or any girl who likes to give other people the impression that she practically has to fight off her admirers, is almost invariably bolstering an inferiority complex. The chances are that neither is as popular with the opposite sex as he or she would like to be, so both indulge in a little wishful thinking out loud, trying to make themselves appear to others as they secretly wish they really were.

That's what's probably the matter with your fiance, "Bewildered". He wants you to think that you've made an enviable match; that you're a very lucky girl to get a man who, by becoming your husband, is leaving a trail of broken hearts behind him. But actually, he's a little scared, because he knows he's really no great shakes of a fellow, and he hates to have you find it out. He's afraid you might want to back out of your bargain.

So why don't you do just as you suggest—talk it over with him and tell him just how it makes you feel when he boasts of his past romances? Tell him that you fell in love with himself, not with any fabulous fairy prince, and that you got a little bored hearing about the girls he used to know, so bored that you almost wonder, sometimes, if you can bear to go on listening to his stories. And you might suggest that if his past adventures interest him so much more than the new adventure of married life with you, perhaps it would be better if you both waited a while before getting married to avoid making any mistakes. That ought to make him stop to think, and to change his ways.

And if it doesn't then I'm afraid you're going to have to choose whether to call the whole thing off right now, or whether you want to spend the married life hearing what a fine fellow you got for a husband.

Martha Logan RECIPES FOR

QUICK, EASY CLEANING

KITCHEN SINK

Easy does it on porcelain. Remember, porcelain is like glass and must be treated gently. Don't pound, or drop heavy objects on it. Avoid stains by wiping up spills instantly with a paper towel. Clean it after every meal with safe Swift's Cleanser on a damp cloth.

BROILER PANS

Broiler pans clean easiest if you remove them from oven immediately. Drain grease for salvage. Wipe out excess grease with paper towel, and clean with Swift's Cleanser before the pan is entirely cool. Swift's Cleanser cuts the grease quickly from the surface and doesn't leave a gritty sediment in the pan that must be rubbed away. Rest assured your pan won't be scratched!

KITCHEN CUTLERY

The blades of your kitchen knives will remain sharp longer if you use them only for food purposes. Don't cut paper or string with them. For quick cleaning, polish with Swift's Cleanser on a damp cloth. If there are fruit or rust stains on the blade, dip a cork in water and then in Swift's Cleanser and they'll quickly disappear.

Martha Logan has long been famous for helping homemakers with food and homemaking suggestions. Now, in her kitchens at Swift Laboratories, she has developed these new and better methods for cleaning. Write her for information on your cleaning problems. She'll be glad to help you.

CUTS GREASE FAST! DOESN'T SCRATCH EVER!

It purifies, and actually polishes as it cleans! Saves so much time because it never leaves a gritty sediment that has to be rinsed away. Try Swift's Cleanser now.

You can have the help of one of the country's leading authorities on home economics. Write Martha Logan for help on your special cleaning problems. She'll be glad to advise you. She invites you to: "Send for my new free booklet of cleaning tips."

Choice of 3 Colours Radiant Red • Gaie Green • Sunny Blue
Containers by match your colour scheme

Martha Logan, Dept. 99
Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Toronto 9, Ont.
Please send me a free copy of your "Martha Logan Notebook on Easier Housekeeping" at no cost or obligation to me.

Name .....
P. O. Address .....
City ..... Province .....

Canada's finest cleanser
by Swift Canadian Co. Limited

King Haakon Will View Opening Of Meet at Oslo

Oslo, Norway, Aug. 22 (AP)—A sellout crowd of 30,000 including King Haakon, is expected to fill Bislet Stadium today for the opening events of the four-day European amateur track and field championships.

Feature event of the opening program is the 41-kilometre marathon in which Al Mosiman of Finland will defend the title he won in 1938 against a field that will include Stylianos Kyriakides of Greece, who won the Boston marathon in April.

Twenty-one countries have entered 291 men and 76 women in the quadrennial meet, last held in 1938 and now viewed as a preview of the 1948 Olympics.

A 55-man Russian team has attracted much attention because of its reported strength in all events, although the Soviets' state-subsidization program for athletes may bar the squad from the '48 Olympics.

Sydney Wooderson, 31-year-old star, leads the British contingent that also includes Bill Roberts, who finished fourth in the 400-metre Olympic finals in 1936, and Alan Paterson, an 18-year-old Scot high-jumping sensation.

Wooler

Wooler.—Rev. F. A. Lawson and Mrs. Lawson returned on Friday from Toronto, where they spent a two weeks' holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Terrill and son, of Halifax, are visiting Mr. Terrill's mother, Mrs. C. R. Terrill, for a few weeks.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Rees, of Hastings, spent the weekend with their niece, Mrs. S. L. Terrill.

Mr. Reece Jenners of Brockville, was at his home here over the weekend.

Mrs. Eustacia McColl, of Glen Miller, visited for a time with Mrs. Rilla Scott, last week.

It was with deepest regret the many friends of Dr. T. H. Callahan learned of his sudden death at his home in Toronto on Wednesday. Dr. Callahan was born on the Callahan homestead where he spent his boyhood. He always maintained a keen interest in his old home and spent many week-ends, especially in the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Lawson, of Pickering, were weekend guests of Mrs. E. M. Wessels.

Mrs. H. Montgomery, of Frankford, visited her sister, Mrs. Lorne Whitney, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McColl were in Toronto, on Saturday attending the funeral of Dr. T. H. Callahan.

Mrs. A. Consaul and children, spent a few days last week in Frankford, with Mrs. Consaul, Senior.

Mrs. E. M. Wessels is visiting her sister, Mrs. Robt. Wade in Brighton this week.

Born—At the Belleville General Hospital, on Aug. 18, to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stacey, a daughter.

A miscellaneous shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Fox was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Fox on Friday evening. Mrs. Dean Fox is a British war bride, who arrived from England a short time ago. A very happy evening was spent. Many fine gifts were presented to the guests of honor after which refreshments were served.

Picton

Picton — Mrs. Mursey Howe, who has been a patient in Hotel Dieu, Kingston, has returned home.

Friends regret the illness of Mrs. Marjorie Dowe in hospital in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Corey left for Rochester, early Tuesday morning, to attend the funeral of the latter's brother-in-law, Mr. George Spalding, who passed away on August 19, at the age of 33 years. The funeral takes place in Rochester on Thursday. Mr. Ralph Gibson of Picton, also attended the funeral. Mrs. George Spalding was the former Helen Farrington, of Greenhush.

Mrs. Thos. Lightfoot and children, Miss Marion Steet and Mrs. D. A. Pounds visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bongard and Eleanor at their cottage at Pt. Traverse on Wednesday.

STRUCK WITH PIECE OF IRON

Toronto, Aug. 22 — (CP) — A man who walked in Gladys Blair Emery's apartment Tuesday night struck her on the head with a 2-foot piece of scrap iron after demanding $500. The thief escaped with $22 from the woman's purse. The thug was described as about 30 years of age, wearing glasses.

Plainfield

Plainfield.—Mrs. Fred Prindle is spending some time with Mrs. Jack Harrison and infant daughter at Mt. View.

Miss Lois MacIntellen of Winnipeg, Mrs. Lily Hall of Sidney, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Cronkright of Halloway, were Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Cronkright.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Fairman and Barbara Jean of Bellerville returned home after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sheffield.

Mr. O. Thomas, of Ohio, and his mother, Mrs. Chas. Thomas, of Wellington, Ont., were recent guests of Miss Annie Hamilton.

Mrs. Mabel Hubel spent a few days with Mr. Nelle Hubel, of Corbyville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Huffman of Belleville, were Thursday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Marshall.

Mrs. M. Cronkright attended the funeral of Mr. Sam Wright, at Marmora on Friday.

Mr. Harry Badgley and Mr. Frank Goodfellow have erected a new verandah for Mrs. Jas. McCreary.

A large crowd attended the lawn social at the church on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, Evelyn and Tim, spent a few days at the Parsonage.

Mrs. Maud Phillips of Thomasburg, returned to her home after spending a few weeks caring for Mrs. Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Fulton and Teddy, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Downey, Bev and Dick, of Valleyfield, Que., Mr. and Mrs. Bob Downey and Colleen, also Mrs. John Downey of Cannifton, were Saturday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Cronkright.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson and Donna, of Bellerville, were Friday evening guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Reid.

Mr. Gordon Anderson of Windsor, spent a few days with his wife and son here.

Miss Verna Prindle was a Sunday guest of Miss Beryl Platt, Mr. and Mrs. Rose Caverly and Shirley, of Madoc, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Cronkright and family.

Mrs. James Simpson returned home after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. E. Badgley.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marshall of Sidney, were Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Marshall.

Mrs. Edith Hubel, of Toronto, and Mrs. Nelle Hubel, of Corbyville, spent a few days with Mrs. Mabel Hubel. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Wood were Sunday callers at the same home.

Miss Olivia Gillespie, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Nesbitt to McKibbon st. Picton, to Sharbot Lake, on Sunday and spent the day visiting her nephew and family there.

Mr. David Gillespie of Oshawa, is spending his holidays with his sister, Miss Olivia Gillespie

Trieste is the main issue at stake between Italians and Yugoslavs. This picture shows a riot between rival factions at Gorizia when a hand grenade explosion ended a pro-Italian demonstration protesting international administration of the disputed territory.

This serene scene in picturesque Yugoslavia's Sarajevo, showing the market place crowds wearing their old-world costumes, was before the Nazi invasion. Note the minaret at left, and kiosk centre background.

CONSTIPATED??? YOU NEED MORE LIVER BILE

Science says from pints daily, you'll enjoy feel right

Liver bile helps digest your food and provides your body's nutritional benefits. Lack of bile causes constipation, headaches, indigestion, loss of energy. If doctor health tone up your liver and get nourished bile with prompt Fruit-a-tives, Canada's largest selling liver tablet. Made from fruits and herbs.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIVER TABLETS

Mr. Tradewell's ship is in!

(A SIMPLE TALE TO SHOW HOW BANK CREDIT WORKS)

THAT JAUNTY hornpipe means his whole year's supply of molasses has arrived from the West Indies . . . in good time, at a favourable price.

Quite a change from Mr. Tradewell's earlier days in the wholesale grocery business, when he bought his molasses month to month . . . in small quantities . . . and didn't do so well with it. Now he buys in bulk . . . barrels of it . . . and cuts his cost per gallon.

Of course this takes ready cash—often more than he has on hand at the moment. So he borrows what he needs from the Royal Bank. When the molasses is sold, he pays off the loan.

This is a simple example of how bank credit works . . . how by making working capital available it opens the door for enterprises large and small when opportunity knocks.

WHAT KIND OF BUSINESS MAY BORROW?

The answer is easy-kind—large or small—provided it's a sound business. Some of the Royal Bank's most valued customers are anything but "big". Among our larger accounts are many which have grown from small beginnings through the help given by credit. This service is at your disposal, too. Your local Royal Bank Manager will be glad to talk it over with you, any time you say.

WORKING CAPITAL FOR EVERY HONEST WORKING

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

BELLEVILLE BRANCH — I. G. HEFKEY, Manager

From overseas famous plantations to you... expertly blended
LOBLAWS
FINEST QUALITY ORANGE PEKOE
RED LABEL
TEA
1-lb. PKG. 39c
½-lb. PKG. 77c
ALSO AVAILABLE IN ORIGINAL
TEA BAGS 16 for 29c 58c
Include this FINEST QUALITY TEA on your next shopping list —You'll be in for a real treat and you'll save money too!
LOBLAWS
WHEN AVAILABLE Domestic or Lenifirst SHORTENING 1-lb. PKG. 19c
Hart's BRANDS ARTIFICIAL FLAVORING 2 oz. BTL. 22c
BREX WHEAT GERM CEREAL 2½-lb. PKG. 24c
CHAMP CLEANER REG. 9c
WHEN AVAILABLE MAPLE LEAF Cheese ½-lb. pkg. 19c
TEA BEVERAGE Vigor-S ½ H.C. tin 38c
CATELLI'S SHORT OR FINE Noodles 12 H.C. pkg. 13c
LOBLAWS DELICIOUS PRIDE of ARABIA COFFEE 1-LB. PKG. 35c
LOBLAWS HIGHLY FLAVORED TWO CUP COFFEE 1-LB. PKG. 31c
Preserving Supplies
ZINC JAR RINGS DOZ. 23c
RUBBER RINGS PKG. OF 12 5c
GLASS JAR TOPS DOZ. 24c
PARDWAX ROYAL 1-LB. PKG. 12c
CERTO 2-OZ. BTL. 25c
CRYSTALS PKG. 19c
JERSEY BRAND KELLOG'S COCOA MOTHER JACKSON'S JIFFY PORRIDGE ½-LB. TIN 19c ½-LB. PKG. 17c
ORANGE PEKOE TEA MOTHER PARKER'S A WARMINGTON'S INSTANT COFFEE ½-LB. TIN 38c 8-OZ. JAR 53c
QUICK QUAKER OATS 14-OZ. PKG. 7c
LIPTON'S ROCKS SOUP MIX 2 1½-OZ. PKGS. 25c
McLAREN'S IMPERIAL VANILLA 1½-OZ. BTL. 23c
MASTER BRAND DOG FOODS
• ASSORTED BRANDS • TENDER MORSELS • MIXED 2 for 25c
Baby Supplies
INFANT STRAINED BABY FOODS
INFANT STRAINED MEAT FOODS
CANNED BABY JUNIOR FOODS
STRAINED BABY VEGETABLES
STRAINED BABY FRUITS
BABY FARINA CEREAL MIXTURE
BABY BARLEY CEREAL
FRUIT SOUP (THREE KINDS)
3 5½-oz. tins 22c
6 5½-oz. tins 43c
2 8-oz. tins 27c
2 8-oz. tins 29c
2 8-oz. tins 31c
2 8-oz. tins 33c
2 8-oz. tins 35c
HEINZ WHITE VINEYAR
SUNKIST CALIFORNIA VALENCIA ORANGES
Size 176 Doz. 35c
Size 200 Doz. 31c
Size 216 Doz. 27c
Size 252 Doz. 25c
Size 288 Doz. 23c
Size 324 Doz. 19c
Size 360 Doz. 17c
Size 432 Doz. 15

St. Johnson is Late to Long Line of Card Castoffs Helping Keep St. Louis in Second Place

Pirates Defeat Cardinals to Put Them 1½ Games Behind The Dodgers

BY JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

St. Louis Cardinals, who have been chasing Brooklyn Dodgers practically from the start of the season, might be pocketing the top spot in the National League today were it not for former team mates now with rival clubs.

The latest ex-Card to help subdue his former team mates is Al Johnson, 38-year-old pitcher of Boston Braves, who went a St. Louis uniform from 1936 through 1938.

The veteran righthander turned back the Cardinals 4-3 last night at Pittsburgh. Johnson pushed the Cards 1½ games behind the pace-setting Dodgers who whipped the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1.

Johnson joins a host of other ex-Cards who have been directly responsible for St. Louis' losses this season. Oscar Judd, of Ingersoll, Ont., a former member of the Card organization and now with the Phils, has beaten them three times while Pittsburgh's Fritz Ostermueller and Boston's Mort Cooper both have done it twice.

Rebounding from their shutout defeat at the hands of the Pirates Tuesday night, the Dodgers banded on Ralph Branca, Ken Heintzelman and his two successors for 11 hits, three by Dixie Walker, to subdue the Bucs.

Dave Ferriss, the Boston "red Sox" standout pitcher, hurled his 3rd shut-out triumph, but needed help late after giving up 14 hits in five and one third innings. Ferriss, 10 and 7, beat Cardinal St. Louis' Braves after two innings. Ferriss was banged for six more runs before Bobo removed in the sixth and the Sox went on to win 13-8.

New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Chicago White Sox, 10-1 and 5-4, winning the second game in the 12th inning on Joe Dobson's ball. led off with a triple and after a relief pitcher Earl Caldwell had been purposely to load the bases, scored on pinch hitter Joe DiMaggio's single. Spud Chandler won his 16th in the opener. Joe DiMaggio homered in each game.

A's Win Two in Row

Meanwhile, Philadelphia Athletics made it two in a row over the third place Detroit Tigers when Phil Marchildon of Pennsylvanatown, Ont., pitched Victors. Trucks 4-1 with a neat seven-hitter. Marchildon, the A's leading hurler, was credited with his 10th victory.

Rookie outfielder Del Ennis' ninth-inning home run enabled the Phillies to eke out a 3-2 victory over the Cubs in Chicago and Early Wynn pitched Washington to a 6-4 victory over Cleveland last night. In a pregame added attraction, Clarence Beans of George Case outpaced Washington's Gil Coan, Jr., in a special 100-yard race.

Johnny Antonelli pitched and batted Cincinnati Reds to a 7-3 victory over New York Giants. The 24-year-old southpaw, Cincinnati allowed only seven hits and made three himself.

Major League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

NATIONAL

Batting—Musial, St. Louis, .369
Runs—Musial, St. Louis 85
Runs batted in—Slaughter, St. Louis 93
Hits—Musial, St. Louis 168
Doubles—Musial, St. Louis 31
Triples—Musial, St. Louis 13
Home runs—Mize, New York, 22
Stolen bases—Reiser, Brooklyn 27
Pitching — Higbe, Brooklyn; Rowe, Philadelphia and Dickson, St. Louis 11-4 .733.

AMERICAN

Batting—Vernon, Washington and Williams, Boston .345
Runs—Williams, Boston 122
Runs batted in—Williams, Boston 109
Hits—Pesky, Boston 167
Doubles—Spence, Washington 40
Triples — Lewis, Washington and Kokos, Boston 13
Home runs—Williams, Boston 33
Stolen bases—Case, Cleveland 27
Pitching—Ferriss, Boston 22-4 .846.

Baseball Results

(By The Canadian Press)

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct
Brooklyn	71	44	.617
St. Louis	69	45	.605
Chicago	61	53	.535
Boston	56	55	.505
Cincinnati	52	63	.452
New York	50	64	.439
Philadelphia	43	64	.428
Pittsburgh	37	77	.325

Wednesday: New York 2, Cincinnati 7; Brooklyn 2, Pittsburgh 2; Philadelphia 1, Chicago 0; Boston 4, St. Louis 3.

Thursday: New York-Pittsburgh; Brooklyn-Cincinnati; Boston-Chicago; Philadelphia - St. Louis (2).

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct
Boston	84	36	.700
New York	66	49	.582
Detroit	64	51	.557
Washington	59	60	.496
Cleveland	56	63	.471
Chicago	53	66	.445
St. Louis	52	68	.433
Philadelphia	37	81	.317

